Dog Trials run January 24

The 4th annual Sheep Dog Trials will be held here in Sonora at the County Park on Sunday, January 24. Some of the top dog handlers in the United States will be competing. Contestants and their dogs will be coming from Illinois, California, Georgia, Arizona, Iowa, Tennessee, and all parts of Texas.

The judge for this year's event will be Allen Mills, an experienced Border Collie Breeder, trainer and judge, from Goldwaite. In addition to trophies of sculptured Border Collies created by Dr. Patti Strauch, prize money will be awarded in all classes. The competition will be stiff.

Local ranchers and dog handlers will get a chance to compete among themselves without having to run against the professionals.

If anyone needs a good trained ranch dog or young pup, several will be on hand as many trainers bring extra dogs to sell and good buys can be made.

There will be arts and crafts booths with all kinds of items on display.

Let's give our visitors a hearty welcome--they help our local economy by staying in motels, shopping for food, gasoline, and other items, and eating in local restaurants. Sonora is a good place for holding activities of all kinds. The more events we can host, the better.

Come on out and enjoy top performances by superbly trained dogs. And be sure and dress warmly.

Outdoor Drama Group gearing up for '88 season

Members of the Outdoor Drama Group are beginning to think about their 1988 season which will begin on Friday, June 10 and run through August 20.

The "Covered Wagon Dinner Theater" specializes in sketches from the past with performances for the entire family.

The grounds at the Caverns of Sonora will once again be the site for the shows but some exciting changes have taken place in preparation for the shows. A permanent stage is being constructed southeast of the Caverns office and attention is being paid to the seating arrangement. The adjacent area will provide for easier parking and walking access to the performance site.

The format of the shows will be much the same as last year with a new show each Friday and Saturday evening featuring talent from within the state of Texas. Several big surprises will be in store for theater goers as some excellent talent has already been contracted for the season.

The delicious fare from the Sutton County Steakhouse will once again be available for those attending. However, the beautiful grounds surrounding the Caverns are perfect for a family picnic, should you prefer, before the performance.

Persons interested in performing for the "Covered Wagon Dinner Theater" may either write to Outdoor Drama Group, Box 885, Sonora, Texas 76950 or call the Devil's River News at 387-2507 and an application will be sent by return mail. Auditions will be held within the next several months.

A Saturday retreat is planned for the first weekend of February for all Outdoor Drama Group members and parties interested in either becoming members or in helping in some way. There is no membership fee to become a member of the Outdoor Drama Group and all that is required is a willingness to work as all functions of the group are done on a volunteer basis. The Outdoor Drama Group is under the very capable direction of Charlotte Gilmore. For additional information call Ann Cates at 387-2507.

Another case of rabies reported

Contrary to popular belief, rabies occurs in all seasons of the year.

The fourth rabid fox in Sonora, in the time period from April '87 to January '88, was just confirmed. According to Guy Moore of the Texas Department of Health, "There is a 'hotspot' of rabies cases in town."

The disease is extremely dangerous, it's fatal to humans and animals alike. A young boy recently died of rabies in San Francisco, California.

Once a human or animal gets the disease, there is no cure.

Rabies is always present in our wildlife especially bats, skunks, foxes, and racoons. Pet dogs and cats do not have to leave the yard to be exposed to rabies by a wild animal; the wild animals will meet them more than halfway! In fact, mice and bats often enter homes.

If a pet develops rabies, the people most likely to be exposed to this deadly disease are the owner and his family. Rabies is a serious public health problem--help protect your neighbor, pet and yourself by vaccinating pets for rabies once a year.

Dear Commissioners Nabers:

Concerning I-9 forms, do I have to fill out a form on people I use for extra help during busy times? They are not full time employees and sometimes one or two will have a total of about six days for the entire year.

If someone comes in for only three hours to rake leaves at my place of business, do I have to fill out an I-9?

J.P.

Orange, Texas

Dear J.P.:

Yes, you do have to fill out the I-9 on these people. The only exemption from the process is for casual and sporadic domestic (in the home) labor.

Anyone who works for you less than three days must have a completed I-9 on file at the end of the first working day.

The I-9 is good for three years on these occasional workers. So

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Editor:

In behalf of the Sutton County Child Welfare Board, I would like to extend our "THANKS" to each and everyone of you for the tremendous response we received to the Christmas Angel Tree Project.

It is impossible to thank everyone individually. The response was far greater than we ever anticipated. Besides the First National Bank and the Sutton County National Bank who allowed us to decorate their tree with our little angels, there was Roberta James and Jeanne Jackson who assisted me in so many different ways. We received such warm, enthusiastic support from all concerned in both banks.

The members of the Order of the Eastern Star made and colored our little angels for the trees, and there were those who collected the list of children's name along with needed information.

Terry Kinard helped to address and label all the gifts and Virginia Jones drove and put up with my poor directions in locating and delivering all these gifts the bigger part of two days.

I was very aware that many of the gifts were purchased at home, which helped to make this project a success and our merchants help in correcting our errors and exchanging sizes.

Most of all a great big "THANKS" to those of you who went to the banks, picked up a little angel and saw to it that some child had a Christmas.

We are already making plans for next year. So when any of you get ready to have a garage sale or clean out a closet, we ask you to remember this project, and if you have any children's clothing that can be used as a gift, just lay it back for next Christmas.

So again, we the Sutton County Child Welfare Board (Monte Jones, President; Kent Kepler, Vice President; Maxine Locklin, Secretary/Treasurer and members Mary McCaron, Terry Kinard, Ben Solis, and Doris Samaniego) say Thank you, Thank you, Thank you!!!!

I can assure all of you of one thing. You made this Christmas the happiest and most rewarding Christmas, one with the REAL CHRISTMAS SPIRIT, that I have known in a long, long time.

Thank You!
Maxine

Dear Editor Cates:

Near the end of November my husband and I spent about thirty minutes in Sonora. We discovered hospitality there--information graciously given in a supermarket and a good reception from one of your staff members who was helping you meet a dead-line. We also met an interesting, friendly Spanish-speaking man on the court house lawn. He spoke with pride of his son who is employed in your local bank and of a daughter attending Midland College.

We have enjoyed the Thanksgiving issue of the News one of you staff gave us. I commend you for your active community involvement.

Although I was born in San Angelo over sixty years ago, my parents were residents of Sonora at the time. In fact, my father Mark A. (Bronc) Wilson, was editor-publisher of the Devil's River News during the years (as best I can calculate) of 1925 through 1931. We moved to Big Lake in 1931.

There are people and events that I recall from my Sonora days. A woman named Mrs. Gilliam, who had two daughters, Sue and Nora, cared for me while my mother assisted my father in the News office. I would like to get in touch with the Gilliam "girls" or anyone who remembers my family.

I attended First Baptist Church Sunday School, and I remember going to the local hardware store and admiring the brightly colored pane samples. My dad, without the knowledge of my mother, took me on a plane ride, which I do not remember.

My husband, Bill, and I are retired teachers. He now works for Postelle Rod Service, and I have done part-time teaching at Odessa College.

My father, Bronc, passed away in 1951; my mother in 1973. My only sister, Jane Brown, live in Giddings.

It would be interesting to me if, in your archives, you can find an announcement of my birth, June 18, 1927. Also, may I ask for a copy of your paper for my sister?

Sincerely yours,
Ruth Wilson Goree

Dear Mrs. Goree,

Bound issues of the News begin with the year 1928 so it's not a matter of finding your birth announcement easily, however we will keep your request and if the information can be found we will send you a copy. We are also mailing you two issues of this paper, one for you and one for your sister.

Thank you so much for taking the time to write your most welcome letter. The people of our community appreciate knowing how we are viewed by visitors and former residents.

Sincerely,
Ann Cates

Ask Bob Bullock

Dear Bob Bullock:

I own a small bakery with tables and chairs for customers to use when eating on the premises. Should I collect tax on orders that are eaten in the bakery and on orders that are "to go"?

B.L.M.
Waco

Dear B.L.M.:

That's a good question. You should collect tax on bakery good that are sold for consumption on the premises. You should not collect tax on baked goods that are sold "to go."

Dear Bob Bullock:

I am the treasurer for a for-profit private club, and I need to know if some of our club fees are taxable. The ones I'm not sure of are our liquor pool fees, membership fees and scholarship fund fees.

M.B.
Dallas

Dear M.B.:

I'm glad you asked. The liquor pool and membership fees are taxable since they are fees charged for an amusement service that entitles members to bar privileges. But fees for the scholarship fund are not taxable.

Dear Bob Bullock:

We provide chemical and cleaning services to residential swimming pool owners. All of our chemicals are purchased in bulk quantity and we pay tax to the supplier at the time of purchase. We bill our customers a flat rate each month for our services. Are we required to collect sales tax on our service fees?

T.J.O.
San Antonio

Dear T.J.O.:

Yes, you are. The total charge for materials, labor, transportation and other items is taxable, whether billed as a lump sum or charged separately.

But any materials that are transferred to your customer, such as the chemicals you put into a pool, can be purchased tax-free with a resale certificate. You do owe tax to your supplier on equipment and supplies you buy to perform the service, such as a suction hose or chemical container.

Dear Bob Bullock:

I rent, sell and lease plants and I'm not sure when I should be collecting sales tax, and on what items. Maybe you can clarify this for me?

G.P.
Fort Worth

Dear G.P.:

You bet I can clear it up for you. You need to collect tax when you sell, lease, rent or take care of plants. The collection of tax used to depend on who was responsible for the plant, but this changed when the new tax law went into effect on October 1 last year.

You can issue resale certificates for plants you buy and sell and for plant food, soil and other items that you transfer with the plant to your customer.

Landscaping services are now taxable, except for mowing right-of-ways, trimming trees for power lines, and some services performed on farm or forest land when the plants and trees grown for selling purposes.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

The comedy goes on and our stock market is no longer based on the economic performance. The new base is a "pie-in-the-sky Irish Sweepstake" sort of lottery with the object being to pick a takeover candidate, or a rumored takeover target mentioned on a national TV "business" show.

An example: Phillips Petroleum turned in the worst third-quarter financial report in two years. Phillips was mentioned as a takeover candidate. The following five trading sessions saw Phillips' stock increase forty-five percent which has the aroma of a two-thousand plus annual percentage (only an arithmetic exercise). Realistically a seven-day in and out would give (deducting negotiated brokerage fees) a net of about thirty-seven percent of invested capital. The ground for insider trading can be fertile.

The international comedy is even more delightful. Six central banks of economic powers and the U.S. Treasury are spending billions in hard currencies to check the fall of the dollar. Their purposes in these expenditures are diametrically opposed.

The U.S. Treasury is motivated by the urge to prevent a free drop of the dollar with the associated complexities in oil pricing. The drop they are trying to stop; they started to improve the trade deficit. The foreign central banks see the U.S. as the "goose of the golden egg." We have the freest export market and a non competitive work force. We also loan billions (which we borrow at eight plus percent) to third world countries to improve foreign trade. Foreigners outsell us in the third world, bleeding off our loan. We are a real "sugar plum!"

The two opposed dollar buying factions are main-line addicts. Who will quit first? It is a real melodrama, and the trade restriction bills in Congress boost it into a genuine dilemma.

Homemakers Update

blaming can improve family communication.

Avoid easy answers and meaningless questions. You can communicate more effectively if you take the time, and say what's really on your mind.

Also be aware of nonverbal communication. Watch for gestures and facial expressions which can convey a variety of emotions and subtle messages.

Effective communication takes practice, and requires skills beyond simply talking. Communication can help make family relationships stronger, and help members get to know each other better. Visit your County Extension agent to find helpful brochures on communication.

Don't just talk, communicate

Talking is a good step toward improving family communication, but don't stop there. Talking is just one of the many ways to communicate and draw your family closer together.

Being empathetic also facilitates communication. Try imagining what someone else feels like, and it may help you better understand their situation.

Placing blame and making accusations tends to close communication lines. Explaining your own feelings instead of

Publishers Comment

You must make frequent trips to Ol' Sonora Trading Co. in order to keep up with all the new things they continue to offer.

With this thought in mind, I do. In fact I've made three trips out there this week alone to view several paintings by Herman Walker. (I also like to see what new things LaVerne Benton has created. She is amazing!)

I've never met Walker and I don't know much about him other than the fact that the man is an absolute genius with a paint brush and palette. His works are so perfect that it's only on very close scrutiny that you discover they are oil paintings and not photographs.

As an amateur, and I stress amateur, with a brush, I am in awe of Mr. Walker and his ability to give every blade of grass its own distinct character.

You may not be affected by his work as I am but it's worth a trip to Ol' Sonora just to see it. In my opinion, I wouldn't be surprised to see Walker's name listed with those of Remington and Russell at some point in time.

We steered you wrong last week by stating an incorrect date on the Sheep Dog Trials. They will be held on Sunday, January 24 not the 31st.

If you have never attended a Sheep Dog Trial you might want to make plans now to attend. Even if you have no interest in ranching or sheep, you will be amazed at these dogs and their capacity to follow the commands of their masters.

The trials will start around 8 or 9 in the morning and continue through the day until the last dog has competed so you will have plenty of time during the day to drop by and watch for awhile. There will be trainers and working dogs from all across the U.S.

The Sheep Dog Trials in Sonora are held under the direction of Patti Strauch, DVM. Should you have any questions you may call her at 387-3784.

Speaking of out and about, stop by the 4-H Center this weekend where the 4-H Livestock Show will be in progress.

4-H is such a worthwhile youth organization because it covers so many facets of life and development for young people not the least of which is responsibility.

The young people who showing sheep have, in most cases, earned the money to purchase that sheep, have fed and cared for it and they also pay for the upkeep of the animal. Very little is "given" to them except the tireless assistance and support of family and 4-H leaders.

Incidentally, the Sutton County 4-H Club is rather unique among 4-H clubs in that it is self-supporting with most of its funding coming from the annual auction.

All are to be commended on their efforts.

Almost a year ago we established a "pen pal", Eric Moutter, in Palmerston North, New Zealand. He had somehow gotten the name of Sonora and wrote asking for any information regarding America.

We have sent him papers containing any of Sonora's special events since that time and have received some delightful replies from him.

Our mail several days ago contained a calendar from him depicting scenes from within New Zealand which is beautiful. We'd be happy to share it should you like to drop by and see it.

Thinking that calendars were standard regardless of their origin, we hung this one up to use. Then we discovered that all calendars are not created equal--this one runs Monday through Sunday instead of Sunday through Saturday. We will use it and enjoy though, not only because it is so pretty but also because it will keep us on our toes.

Convention set for San Antonio

The First American Sheep Industry Convention will take place in San Antonio beginning January 16 through the 20th. About 1,000 persons in various aspects of the sheep industry are expected to attend the event.

The National Wool Growers and Auxiliary, American Sheep Producers Council and the National Lamb Feeders Association will be holding their annual meetings in conjunction with the show.

The theme for the convention is "Connections" and will highlight how each of the industry organizations are making connections for the producers from legislative action to the lamb and textile industry and with educators and the industry leaders of the future.

Young people from across the U.S. will model their wool creations in the NWGA Auxiliary "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest finals.

In addition to the meetings and workshops of the four-day event which will be interspersed with the sites, sounds and tastes of San Antonio, the convention will also feature a Trade Show on January 19 and 20.

The Trade Show is aimed at giving sheep producers from across America a firsthand look at the agri-business people who make the industry work. From a local level, products from Ol' Sonora Trading Co. will be on display at the show.

Ol' Sonora Trading Co. is unique in the industry in that it uses locally grown mohair for all of the mohair products it distributes.

Chamber Notes

by Diana Trainer

The Sonora Chamber of Commerce Big Buck Contest was a big success this year. We had many, many more entries than we did last year and we are planning on making it bigger and better every year.

Trey Wardlaw won a double gun guard with the heaviest local doe, and David Martin won a Ruger 77 .270 with the local overall best buck. Ronnie Henderson won $30.00 worth of steaks from Vivian's Modern Way, Sam Nance won a nice Wrangler jacket from Spain's, Keith Wallace won a gift certificate from the Commercial Restaurant and Larry Finklea won a very large bottle of Wild Turley. The remainder of the prizes were won by lucky hunters from out of town, and hopefully they'll be back next year to try for more.

All you area ranchers need to start thinking about listing with the Chamber of Commerce for next years hunting. I would like to have the list ready by the middle of February so we can get the jump on other counties.

The Chamber of Commerce has lots of projects in the works for the coming months, including the Chamber Banquet to be held March 29, and the Goat Burnin' which will be May 14 this year, so watch the paper for information concerning these projects.

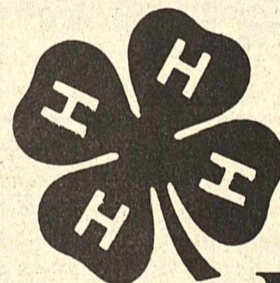

I will be in Austin Monday, through Wednesday of next week so if you need anything urgent, please contact one of the Chamber directors.

Thank you for supporting Sonora.

Scouting for cubs

by Jackie Jaquez
Yes, Sonora Cub Scouting is "going great guns!"

The scouting committee felt it would be nice to let-you-in-on what is going on.

First, let me say we have one of the finest bunches of boys there is. They are hard workers and have been a source of real joy as well as being a learning experience for each one of us.

Special thanks to all our den leaders and assistants and parents who have given of their time and efforts to make the year, thus far, such a success. A really special thanks goes to our Cubmaster, Claudia Dempsey, who has gone "above and beyond the call of duty" to make Cub Scouting the community and family oriented project it is meant to be; for making Cub Scouting fun i.e., the participation skits at the pack meetings (you'd just have to be there!), etc.; for her dedication.

We would like to encourage all parents to attend the pack meetings and participate in the other projects going on—not only parents but all the citizens of Sonora.

These boys are your future leaders, Sonora—and it's up to each one of us to help mold these boys into "trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean, and reverent" citizens.

So, come on, Sonora, let's back out Scouts in everyway!

Our December pack meeting was held on the eleventh at the Junior High Snack Bar.

Following the opening ceremony presented by Jeannette Thompson's den number 4, announcements were made and awards were presented.

Receiving awards were: Jamie Floyd, Handyman; Jerry Jackson, Bobcat, Artist and Showman; J.D. Jaquez, Handyman; James Jones, Bobocat; and Robert Carl Teaff, three silver arrows.

Then we had a participation skit followed by presentation of Christmas gifts to the boys. The gifts were Pinewood Derby kits for the Cubs and Lego Building sets for the Tigers and were from Pack 19.

Next we had refreshments of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, chips and soft drinks which were furnished Mike Hale's and Wade Fitzgerald's den number three and Gloria Lopez's den number two.

Then Joe Jaquez's Webelos den number one closed this portion of the meeting with a prayer of thanksgiving and dedication.

Sylvia and Daniel Ponces' den number one was in charge of clean up.

We then left the Junior High and proceeded to the Nursing Home where we were joined by the Girl Scouts and were afforded the opportunity to share the joy of Christmas with the residents through the singing of Christmas Carols.

After caroling, the Cub Scouts were invited to the Fire Hall where we were treated to hot chocolate and cookies furnished by the Girl Scouts and their parents and leaders—a truly super ending to a very rewarding and special evening. Thanks, girls!

One of the nicest treats of the month was the invitation from the Senior Citizens Center to share in their Christmas dinner.

This writer was unable to attend but has been told that the turkey, dressing and trimmings were delicious!

Everyone went away, not only stuffed, but also bearing gifts from the Senior Citizens. Each parent received a handmade pin to wear and the boys all received fruit.

Thanks to everyone who helped to make this event possible.

During the December den meetings the boys made gifts for some of the special people in our community. Each den made festive gift baskets which they distributed to the Nursing Home and the Senior Citizens Center following the meal with the Senior Center on the twenty-third.

In this small way the boys were allowed to learn the joy giving and sharing and loving which is, after all, the spirit of the season.

Our popcorn and candle sales in November and December were a terrific success. Thanks, Sonora, for your generosity and support.

Several boys received awards in the previous pack meeting and definitely deserve recognition.

The October pack meeting found Kerry Humphreys, Timmy Baldree, Jon Jon Zook, Junior Odom, Les (Robert) Holden, Mike Finn, Colely Thompson, Jeffrey Dietz, Jacob Mendez, Ricky Ponce, Pablo Moreno, Drew Dempsey and Jeremy Surber, all receiving Bobcat badges. Jamie Floyd, Curt Dempsey and Davis Hale all received Silver Arrow Points which were earned last year but not awarded.

During the November pack meeting Raymond Rainer received his Bobcat badge; J.D. Jaquez, Artist and Showman; Jamie Floyd, Artist and Showman; Second Lt. Larry D. Cade was presented the Air Assault Badge upon graduation from the U.S. Army's air assault school at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii.

Trainees learned to rapidly and safely exit a helicopter from a variety of difficult situations, whether descending into tree tops or lowering themselves or injured soliders down sheer drops.

He is the son of Clay and Gaile Cade of 108 Kesselburg, Sonora, Texas.

The lieutenant is a 1979 graduate of Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

Bronco's scratched by Bearcats

by Gil Trainer

Christi Adkins, Kay Williams and Traci Teaff scored eight points each while the Ballinger Girl Varsity came from behind to win 62-59.

The Sonora team held a comfortable 36-28 lead at the half and continued to lead until early in the fourth period. The Ballinger team went ahead to stay with about six minutes left in the game. Aggressive defense by Ballinger and cold shooting for the Broncos kept Sonora from getting any closer than three points.

The Sonora Boy's Varsity used a stingy defense and accuracy at the foul line to pull within three points of the Bearcats in the third period, but then Ballinger's height advantage came into play as they pulled away to win 60-39 and remain undefeated with a 15-0 record.

Michael Harris lead all Broncos scorers with 20 points.

Sonora's season record is 8-7 and 0-1 in District play.

In J-V action, the girls lost 35-31 and the boys were defeated by a score of 45-39.

HEALTH CARE

by Scott Gilmore
Hospital Administrator

Foods and drugs don't mix

Pickled herring, an aged steak, apple pie with cheddar cheese.

A delightful repast? Maybe. But if you are taking a particular blood pressure medication, it could be your last repast.

Mixing certain foods and drugs can be serious business. If you're taking a drug, the foods you eat can interact with it. They may make it work faster or slower--or keep it from working at all.

The meal described above features foods containing thiamine. When combined with drugs known as monoamine oxidase (MAO) inhibitors, the result can be headaches, brain hemorrhage and even death.

Fortunately, most food-drug interactions are not so hazardous. But they can still cause problems.

Here are a few you should know: dairy products impair the absorption of tetracycline compounds; natural licorice flavoring raises blood pressure and can counteract high blood pressure medications; eating lots of vitamin K-rich foods like liver and leafy green vegetables may hinder the effectiveness of anticoagulants.

Drugs can also affect the way your body uses foods. Colchicine, used to treat gout, and mineral oil, found in some over-the-counter laxatives can prevent nutrients from being absorbed into the body through the bowel wall. Oral contraceptives deplete folic acid and vitamin B6. Diuretics or "water pills" deplete potassium.

The good news is that undesirable food-drug interactions can be avoided. Start by asking your doctor or pharmacist exactly when you should take your medication and whether you should avoid consuming food or beverages. Be sure to read labels on all medications.

Take drugs with water. Don't take them with milk, soft drinks, or juice unless your doctor approves.

And remember: ALCOHOL IS A DRUG. It reacts badly with many other drugs including antibiotics, antihistamines, anticoagulants, antidiabetic drugs like insulin, high blood pressure drugs, MAO inhibitors, sedatives and antidepressants. Even alcohol and aspirin taken together can severely irritate the stomach lining. It's best to avoid alcoholic beverages when taking any type of medication.

Classified rates to increase

Classified advertisers in the Devil's River News could find themselves paying slightly higher rates beginning February 1, 1988.

According to Ann Cates, publisher and editor of the paper, the greatest difference in the pricing structure for the word ads will come in the form of the one time ad if it is not paid when it is placed.

"In the past we have offered a slight incentive to classified advertisers to pay for their ad at the time of placement. When the increase goes into effect on February 1, that incentive will be greater," Cates said. "It's a matter of simple economics, if we do not have the billing time nor the postage, we can offer the classified service at a lower price.

"It will also work as an inducement for people to pay for their ads. It's easy to forget to pay a two or three dollar statement when it's received. While, as a one time incident, this does not represent a great loss to the newspaper when it is multiplied by several users over a period of time it adds up.

"Each time that statement is forgotten, it costs us additional time to prepare and mail another statement and in time, the unpaid ad winds up costing the paper. To cover losses, most businesses eventually pass the costs on to their paying customers in some form. We wish to avoid doing this," Cates concluded.

The rate increase will not affect the cost of ads in place on the effective date of the increase. The new rates will be published prior to their implementation. This is the first classified ad rate increase since February, 1986.

Low income households may be eligible for energy assistance

Some low-income Texans may be eligible for help in paying heating bills this winter through the Home Energy Assistance Program, according to Texas Department of Human Services Commissioner Marlin Johnston.

Johnston said the one-time payment is available to many low-income households. Applications for energy assistance were mailed to households that receive food stamps, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, or Supplemental Security Income in December. Other low-income individuals may request an application from local DHS offices during the enrollment period of January 15 through February 18.

Eligibility is limited by gross income and resources. Aid is available for a one-income household having less than $589.49 gross income per month. The gross income limits are $781.49 for household of two persons, $973.49 for three, $1,165.49 for four, $1,357.49 for five and $1,549.49 for six.

Households are eligible if the cost of heating is included in the rent payment or if the household pays a portion of its home energy costs.

Energy assistance checks are sent directly to the people who are eligible for assistance. However, the checks are made payable to the energy provider.

State law takes effect

Under a law passed by the 70th Texas Legislature, hospitals are required to identify potential organ/tissue donors at or near death, inform the family of the option to donate, and document the approach and its disposition. The state law became effective January 1, while a similar federal law took effect November 20, 1987.

A written protocol for conforming with the state law is required of each hospital in the state, and hospitals in the Medicare and Medicaid program must comply with the federal law, according to Matthew T. Wall, staff attorney with the Texas Hospital Association.

"The protocol must provide for trained individuals to perform the approach to the family of a dying patient and inform them of the option to donate," Wall said.

"Neither the federal or state laws require asking the family for the organs or tissues of their loved ones. This is not the intent of these new laws. Rather, they envision the approaching of the family to determine/identify whether the deceased or dying patient was an organ or tissue donor, as evidence for example by a signed donor card. If not, then the hospital must simply inform the family of their option to donate or decline donation, and document the approach and its disposition," the attorney explained.

Under the new state law, no inquiry is required: if the decedent is medically unsuitable for donation, there is actual notice of objections to donation by the decedent or persons authorized to make a donation, or if the hospital has not been notified by a procurement organization as to current medical needs for organs/tissues and the organization's availability for retrieval.

"In considering organ or tissue donation, families should keep in mind that no costs are incurred by the donor family, and that the identity of both the donor and recipient are kept confidential. No visible alteration to the body and no interference with funeral arrangements is anticipated," Wall noted.

"The best time to think about organ or tissue donation is while you are well, and decisions to donate should be shared with family members," noted THA President Terry Townsend. "These laws were drafted in response to a critical shortage of organs and tissues. In complying with these laws which the health care industry supported, hospitals will be sensitive to dying patients and families. Organ and tissue donations from dying patients literally will provide life for others. For donors and their families, it can be a final act of love, a way to make death meaningful. For recipients, it's a chance to live a productive life once again."

Wax not harmful

Which would you choose -- a bright, shiny orange or one one with a dull matte finish?

The average consumer will choose the shiny orange, which is one reason why more varieties of fruit and vegetables are being waxed before they reach the market.

Marilyn Haggard, a food marketing expert with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, says that over 20 varieties of fruits and vegetables, including apples, cucumbers, eggplants, citrus, sweet potatoes and tomatoes are waxed.

"In spite of the fact that people like the look of waxed produce, we also get questions about its safety," says Haggard. "Like other food additives, food waxes made in the U.S. have been tested and found safe by the Food and Drug Administration."

According to the specialists, some of the most common food waxes produced in this country are carnauba, which is made from a type of palm leaf and petroleum-based waxes which contain the same ingredients as chewing gum bases.

Some imported produce may be coated with a substance containing beef tallow, Haggard says, although tallow-based wax is not used on domestic produce.

"In addition to eye-appeal, the waxes have the advantage of reducing the loss of moisture and keeping the product from shriveling," she adds.

Washing will reduce, but often not completely remove food waxes, the specialist observes.

What are the uses of a newspaper?

According to Publishers' Auxiliary, Gaither Perry, editor and general manager of the Clinton, North Carolina Sampson Independent wanted to know what its readers did with the paper once they got it.

Perry is reported as saying, "We decided to have some fun, so we sponsored a contest asking readers to submit a list of all the uses they could think of for a newspaper. The response in this rather difficult task was great. The responses themselves were extremely imaginative as well as practical. Well, most were practical."

Publishers' Auxiliary states that Perry said some of the more unusual uses submitted gave him a new outlook on how versatile a newspaper is.

- Wrapping paper for gifts.
- To carry logs.
- To hide Easter eggs.
- To make a four-leaf clover.
- To make life-size clothes.
- To find a date.
- To cover up ugly things.
- To puff up a book bag.
- To cut out letters for secret messages.
- To wrap hams.
- To roll up and kill bugs.
- To use as a hat.
- To use as a rug.
- To use as curtains.
- To wrap your used gum.
- To put false teeth in.

Incidentally, reading ranked number 107 on the list.

Trappers-beware

by Patti Strauch

Plague, or Black Death, as it was called in the middle ages, is an extremely infectious disease caused by the bacillus, yersenia pestis. It is primarily a rodent disease transmitted from animal to animal by fleas. Carnivores such as foxes, coyotes, bobcats, dogs and cats can be infected also.

Plague can be transmitted from infected animals to humans either by fleas or by direct contact (skinning varmints). Hunters and trappers are at special risk because of this.

Plague can take three clinical forms: Bubonic, Pneumonic and Septicemic. Since the mortality rates for untreated plague can run as high as 70%, anyone showing signs of illness after skinning varmints should contact their physician. Trappers can use insect repellants on themselves and spray the varmints for fleas before skinning. Rubber gloves can be worn to protect the hands from blood and body fluids.
