Chamber Banquet Sporting event of the year

Where would you find cowboys, baseball players, golfers, football players, couch potatoes, and lady wrestlers gathered in one place? At the 1988 Chamber of Commerce Banquet of course as the theme for the event was Sports.

The evening's theme was carried throughout the 4-H Center with delightful centerpieces of actual sporting apparel and students of the Junior High School art classes constructed banners depicting assorted sporting equipment.

The meal was catered by the Sutton County Steakhouse and, as we've come to expect from them, delicious from the Texas sized chicken fried steak all the way to the cherry cobbler.

Jim Stephen was Master of Ceremonies and with his ready wit, provided humorous relief as well as inspiration to all those in attendance.

The Chamber Board of Directors, past, present and future were introduced. Those leaving the Board are Jim Stephen, Smith Neal, Jo Ann Jones, Earl Johnson and Bruce Kerbow. Carry-over Board members are Preston Love, '88 President, Gil Trainer, '88 Vice-President, Royce Mears, Ronnie Bowers and Seco Mayfield. New members include Ronnie Cox, Kathy Davis, Michael Hale, Eddie Sawyer and Michael Smith.

In years past, the Chamber has paid tribute to one special local person as they were honored as Citizen of the Year. As Smith Neal pointed out, it was decided last year that it would not be possible to honor all of the deserving persons with only one person a year and more categories were added.

Selected by popular vote in the various categories this year were: Business Person of the Year-Doyle Morgan; Oil Related Business Person of the Year-Quade Sutton; Rancher of the Year-Gene Wallace; Educator of the Year-Bob Snodgrass; Organization of the Year-Sonora Downtown Lions Club.

For his many contributions throughout the years, George Wallace was honored as Citizen of the Year.

Cast members from Music Man provided musical entertainment with their renditions of selections from the upcoming SCAT performance.

The Guest Speaker for the evening was Jerry Larned from Midland. Not enough can be said for this man's easy, witty delivery.

He delivered an excellent message aimed at athletes but which could be converted to apply to every part of life and did it in such a way that those listening might not have even realized he had implanted the important steps for success.

Larned could be classed as "equal opportunity" since no subject or person escapes his satirical humor.

In all, the '88 Chamber Banquet provided an excellent evening of food, fellowship and fun.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Longer deer seasons proposed

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials have proposed lengthening the hunting seasons for both white-tailed and mule deer in 1988-89.

This and other proposals were announced in a meeting of the Parks and Wildlife Commission last week in Austin. The proposed changes will be aired in public hearing across the state during April. After reviewing testimony from the hearings, the commission will consider adoption of the changes at its May 12 public hearing in Austin. Dates and locations of the hearing will be announced later. Adopted changes would go into effect September 1, 1988.

A major change in hunting regulations would extend the white-tailed deer season by one week. Across most of the state, the season would open on the first Saturday in November (Nov. 5), which is one week earlier than in the past, and close on the first Sunday in January (Jan. 1). In South Texas, the proposal would add one week to the end of the season. Proposed dates are Nov. 12-Jan. 8.

Horace Gore, white-tailed deer program leader, told the commission the longer seasons are being proposed to offer more hunting opportunities. Also, the earlier opening is designed to coincide with deer rutting activity in the Edwards Plateau and East Texas. The extension in South

Gore said, because the deer in that region traditionally rut from mid-December into January.

In another major proposal, the staff recommended adding 62 East Texas counties to the either-sex bag limit regulation. This would bring the total to 142 counties where landowner-issued antlerless deer hunting permits are not required. Hunters taking antlerless deer with landowners' permission in those counties would be required only to use the appropriate tags from their hunting license to tag the deer.

Another proposal would add 17 counties to the late antlerless-only whitetail season in South Texas. This would provide the late season for 26 counties to increase antlerless harvest where an adequate harvest has not been achieved in the past.

If adopted, the late antlerless-only season would be in effect in Kinney, Uvalde, Medina, Atascosa, Live Oak, Bee and San Patricio Counties and all counties to the south and west of that line. The late season would be Jan. 14-29.

In an effort to increase hunter opportunity and better utilization of the herd, the staff recommended lengthening the mule deer season in both the Trans-Pecos and Panhandle regions of the state. Under the proposal, the season would increase from the present nine days to 16. If adopted, both seasons would open as in the past, with the extra days added to the end of the season. Proposed dates are Nov. 19-Dec. 4 in the Panhandle and Nov. 26-Dec. 11 in the Trans-Pecos.

Several minor changes are proposed for turkey hunting. As in the past, the fall season for Rio Grande turkey would run concurrently with the white-tailed deer season. The spring 1989 season would be basically unchanged, April 1-23 or April 1-16 for East Texas counties.

In other upland game proposals, the bag limit on pheasants would be increased from two cocks a day to three, with an increase in the possession limit from four to six, statewide. The 16-day Panhandle pheasant season would remain the same while the coastal pheasant season would be the length of the quail season.

Quail bag limits, which in the past have been set during August after summer counts are completed, would be set at 15 birds per day, 45 in possession statewide under another proposal. The season would begin on the Saturday nearest Nov. 1 and end the last Sunday in February.

To increase hunter participation, the chachalaca season is proposed to be lengthened. The proposed dates are Oct. 29-Feb. 26, the same length as the quail season.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will hold public hearings on the proposed changes to the hunting and fishing proclamations for 88-89 seasons. Anyone wishing to express their opinions should attend. The hearings will be held in the following locations:

B.J. New Braunfels

Now I'm 53 years of age, divorced with a senior in high school and I'm unemployed. When it happened to me in June of 1987, I never dreamed I'd be unable to find work! My salary then was $27,000 a year plus paid life and hospitalization insurance. I first started looking in my field of work, "management." At every door there were 50 or more applications ahead of me and about 1/2 of these fresh out of college, I was like all people thinking "experience" would win out. Then my 10 weeks severance pay ran out. Now I look everywhere. 7-11 had a stack of over 100 applications! If Mr. Texas Taxpayer thinks the unemployment check will pay bills he should try it sometime!

My 18 year-old senior goes to school 1/2 day and works 1/2 day to help buy groceries and help pay the auto insurance.

Chamber Notes

by Diana Trainer

The Chamber of Commerce Banquet was a great success, and those of you who were in attendance know what I'm talking about. The food was great and the speaker was outstanding. The Chamber wants to extend congratulations to George Wallace, Gene Wallace, Quade Sutton, Doyle Morgan, Bob Snodgrass and the Lions Club. These outstanding citizens deserve the recognition they received, and more. Thanks to a great Board of Directors for producing such a nice tribute to our local Chamber of Commerce.

We had a group German foreign exchange students in Sonora several weeks ago and they wanted to see a big derrick in action. Staier was kind enough to allow these students to tour their location and the Chamber of Commerce wants to thank you very much for your kindness and cooperation.

The second annual Chamber of Commerce Hoot n Holler Goat Cook-Off is coming up in May, so be prepared. There will be a B & C team roping, dog trials, dance, craft fair, dance and lots of food, fun and excitement. Be sure and mark your calendar for this fun event on May 14.

I will be going to Wichita Falls on April 12 to attend a Travel Fair. This fair will host Travel Counselors from all over Texas and we should get some tourist information distributed at this time. If you have anything you want to send, please contact me by April 9.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

The voting in the primaries for president provides a lot of information. The initial appraisal of the data was shocking. Jesse's power in the south was conceded. Seeing it extending into the industrialized midwest with a goodly smattering of hispanic and anglo votes spawned a deep analysis and interest. If it is viewed as a contest between the non-productive and protective society segments the implications for a capitalist economic system are devastating.

Dukakis came to Texas, advocating three things. One of decidedly dubious value and two were virtual disasters to Texan's economic endeavors. He advocated closed shops (labor unions) which would do away with our right to work laws. He advocated raising the minimum wage which, considering the state of Texas' economy, would cause 50,000 small-business jobs to vanish. He suggested no tax on imported oil which would deny the creation of 25,000 to 35,000 better paying jobs for Texans.

Dukakis suicide economics for Texas was presented in Spanish. They understood the language, but ignored what he said. The result—a solid vote from South—he carried Texas.

A survey of the results, several sociological conclusions emerge. First, the working population segments, of all racial and ethnic groupings are less prone to vote in primaries than non-working groups. A corollary is that a general election can provide acute primary surprises. SECOND, the primary voter is a pie-in-the-sky chaser, prone to vote with who promises the most, regardless of background. THIRD, the racial and ethnic divisions are still well defined, and may possibly be permanent. A rather depressing group of conclusions, especially under the shadow of the possibility that the United States is on its decline.

One major necessity looms. All racial, ethnic, social, religious and whatever other groupings exist must work constructively together for the good of the U.S. We must answer our number one (above all) question—Can We compete with the world? Can We out-precision the JAPANESE? We must achieve yes answers—the alternative is the standard of living of the Mexican peon for all of us. If you need clarification, interview a unit of the brown eclipse that is streaming northward under almost powerline coming north from the border. Animosity in this atmosphere is criminal and all luxurious niceties must be sacrificed for a path of objective accomplishment; otherwise everybody is a loser.

Tax deferral available

Texans aged 65 or older can postpone paying delinquent and current property taxes on their homesteads by taking advantage of a tax option called over-65 deferral. The elderly homeowner simply signs a deferral affidavit at the Sutton County Appraisal District office.

This special form of tax relief can also halt a lawsuit already filed to collect delinquent property taxes on an older Texan's homestead, according to Friess, chief appraiser of the Sutton County Appraisal District. To stop a delinquent tax suit, Friess said, the over-65 homeowner files the deferral affidavit with the court in which the suit is pending.

"This means that, if the proper affidavit is on file, an older homeowner cannot lose a homestead because of delinquent taxes," Friess said.

Once a homeowner files an over-65 tax deferral affidavit with the appraisal district, no taxing unit can initiate or pursue a suit for delinquent taxes as long as that person owns and lives in that homestead.

Friess stressed, though, that tax deferral for the elderly only postpones paying delinquent taxes on the homestead; it does not cancel them. During the deferral period, taxes and delinquent penalties and interest continue to add up, she said. "When the elderly taxpayer no longer owns or lives in the home, those accrued amounts become due. Taxing units can then sue to collect all the deferred tax, penalty and interest."

Forms for filing a tax deferral affidavit are available at the appraisal district office. "The homeowner should fill out the form and have the signature witnessed by a notary public," Friess said. For more information, taxpayers may contact the Sutton County Appraisal District, 387-2809, 300 E. Oak St.

Crusade monies benefit locals

The American Cancer Society Sutton County held the kickoff program for its 1988 Cancer Crusade on Tuesday, April 5. Last year Sutton County raised $9,259 for the society to help fight cancer in many ways. What many people do not realize is that Sutton County residents can and do receive direct benefits from the work of the American Cancer Society. Last year seven patients received services worth $3,062. That means approximately one-third of all monies raised here were spent to help Sutton County residents.

You can be a part of this helping program. Please give generously when your Cancer Society volunteer calls on you for this year's crusade. The Sutton County Unit has a proud record of 35 successive years in meeting or surpassing its goals. Help us meet this year's goal of $9,700.

Tourism expected to be number one industry

So said J. Don Clark, Director of the Travel and Information Division of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation at a recent meeting of the fledgling Texas Hill Country Tourism Association at Das Fest Restaurant in Fredricksburg.

The Texas Highway Department, recognizing the basic needs of Texas Commerce, has offered to distribute brochures of the Hill Country Organization at each of their twelve ports of entry. Don Clark told the 50 or so in attendance that his people could easily distribute 100,000 brochures about the Hill Country each month. Their research shows that over 3.5 million visitors to Texas annually come through their ports of entry.

Omer Mathiason, Sales & P.R. Coordinator for Kerrville's Inn of the Hill Resort and President of the new organization, was quick to point out that although the Highways Department's assistance is material and highly appreciated, The Texas Hill Country Tourism Association is going to "Walk" with a probable first order of 100,000 brochures before they ask the Department of Highways to help them "Run" their maximum efforts. But, Mathiason said, "The first project of the organization is the development of a brochure to leave at the State's Information Centers so as to identify the Texas Hill Country as a visitor destination."

Although just off the ground, the organization already numbers 86 paid members from many Hill Country communities. At the meeting were representatives from Vanderpool, Utopia, Mason, Uvalde, Kerrville, Leakey, Bandera, Comfort, Ingram, San Antonio, Johnson City, Center Point and Fredricksburg.

Membership is open to everyone. The initial organization is comprised of Resort, Ranch, Amusement Park, Retail, Financial Institution, Restaurant, and Hotel/Motel Operators, although one very unusual member promises to bring better health to city dwellers who come to the Hill Country; Margie Snowden of Fredricksburg, operates an "Ecology Lodging Service"-a condominium that is completely insulated from the very few toxic breezes that blow through the Hill Country and destroy the health of those affected by petroleum and hydrocarbon by-products, chiefly exhaust gasses.

In his question and answer period, Don Clark revealed that Department Research has determined some interesting and some significant facts, a couple of which need to be written in stone for the state's businesses:

1. Visitors to Texas ranked Friendliness as the quality they best remembered about Texas.

2. Visitors to Texas ranked Shopping as the activity they enjoyed most while in Texas.

3. 70% of the "Snowbirds" winter in Hidalgo County. (Get the Hill Country message to Hidalgo!)

Membership in The Texas Hill Country Tourism Association is open to everyone. After all, everyone prospers when business flourishes, and visitors spend big bucks while they're in the Big State. Write or send requests for membership to Omer Mathiason at the Inn of the Hills Resort, 1001 Junction Highway, Kerrville, Texas 78028. The telephone number is 512-895-5000.

Judy York among Wayland award winners

Sonora native Judy York was among 41 persons who received awards during Wayland Baptist University's annual Recognition Day Chapel.

Miss York was recipient of the Biology Award from the Division of Mathematic and Sciences.

Division awards are presented annually to the top Wayland student in each major field of study.

It was the second major award in one week for Miss York, who won a $450 scholarship during regional competition of Alpha Chi National Honor Society last Saturday in Seguin.

Competing against students from colleges and universities across the state, Miss York presented a paper discussing her research on plants and animals at Wayland's biological field station.

She was one of six scholarship winners from Texas.

A 1979 graduate of Sonora High School, Miss York is a senior at Wayland, where she is nearing completion of a bachelor's degree in composite science.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. York of Odessa.

RANDY GROVER AND KATHY HOWE

Couple to wed

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Howe of Shamrock, Texas announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Kathy to Mr. Randy Grover, son of Mrs. Marilyn Carver of Newman, Georgia and Mr. Howard Grover of Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Kathy is a graduate of Shamrock High School and Angelo State University and formerly a teacher in the Junior High School at Sonora.

Currently she is a teacher at Newman-Smith High School in Carrollton.

Randy is a graduate of LaGrange High School, LaGrange, Georgia and Auburn University, Auburn, Alabama. He is employed as an engineer with S.G.S. Thompson Micro-Electronics in Carrollton.

The wedding will be July 30 at 7:30 in the evening at All Saints Catholic Church in Dallas.

Engagement announced

Mrs. Milford Louis Powers is proud to announce the engagement of her daughter Trina Shane to James Walter Hadley son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harold Hadley of Thermopolis, Wyoming.

The couple plans a June 4 wedding at the First Baptist Church in Sonora.

Miss Powers is a graduate of Sonora High School and attended

Sul Ross College in Alpine.

The prospective bridegroom is a Wallowa, Orgeon graduate and attended Montana State College in Bozeman, Montana, Blue Mountain Community College in Pendleton, Orgeon.

He is engaged in ranching with his parents at Thermopolis, Wyoming and Wallowa, Orgeon.

Households notified about lead dangers

Households in Texas will soon receive information from local water utility companies informing them of the potential harmful effects from lead in drinking water supplies and plumbing pipes.

This is part of an educational effort, and should not be thought of as an official notification that the drinking water is unsafe or in violation of current drinking water standards, said Charles Maddox, director of the Division of Water Hygiene at the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

Amendments to the federal safe Drinking Water Act require local utility operators to inform their customers about the potentially harmful effects of lead in drinking water by June 19. The amendments also require the use of lead-free materials for the installation and repair of any public water supply and plumbing system after June 19.

In addition, the TDH is now revising its rules and regulations banning the use of lead in public water supply and plumbing systems. The state regulations banning lead are expected to become effective after approval by the Texas Board of Health this spring.

The only way to learn how much lead is in your household water is to have the water tested by a competent laboratory. Contact your local water supplier for information or assistance with testing. Or, your local health department may be able to refer you to a qualified laboratory.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has set drinking water standards for lead at 0.050 parts per million. Based on new health information, EPA may significantly lower this standard.

Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest when:

- *The home or water system has lead pipes;
- *The home has copper pipes with lead solder; or

*The home is less than five years old, has soft water, or water that sits in pipes for several hours.

Ironic consequences in raising minimum wage

In the next few weeks, the House will vote on one of the major pieces of labor legislation of the decade, which would raise the minimum wage by 51 percent during the next four years.

The bill would increase that wage by $1.30 in 1990 and by another 40 cents in 1992.

Advocates of this move say it is long overdue, and in fact the mandatory minimum has been $3.35 since 1981. That is the longest time it has stayed the same since Congress passed the Fair Labor Standards Act 50 years ago and created the first minimum wage.

Proponents note that the cost of living has increased 30 percent since the wage was last increased, and that a full-time, year-round job at that wage creates an annual income $4,600 less than the Government's 1986 poverty level for a family of four.

And they say increasing the wage, in addition to being smart politics in an election year, could stimulate the economy by increasing the purchasing power of the 4.7

Washington Update

By Congressman Lamar Smith

million workers who earn it.

But, unless some significant modifications are made before the final vote is taken in the House, in all likelihood I will oppose the bill.

In my view, raising the wage this much would do much more harm than good.

Contrary to the conventional belief, very few minimum wage earners are heads of households trying to support a family.

Three of every five are younger than 25 years old, two-thirds work part-time and almost 70 percent are single.

And it is these types of workers—young, single and temporary—who are most likely to be laid-off or never hired if the cost of doing business goes up. And clearly raising the minimum salary will raise the cost of doing business.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that each 10 percent increase in the minimum wage means that 100,000 to 200,000 jobs would be eliminated or not created. A 51 percent increase, then, could mean the disappearance of more than a million actual or potential jobs.

The loss of any job means an increase in the demand for unemployment and welfare benefits, but at no time is this more acute than when minimum wage jobs are lost. One estimate indicates the proposed increase would add $7 billion to the federal deficit.

But perhaps the most fatal flaw with a large minimum wage increase is this irony: it would hit hardest the very types of workers it is designed to help.

Lower paying jobs are usually the entry level jobs that require few skills.

The advantage of these jobs to students, single parents or working mothers in two-income homes is that they are a starting point for gaining the skills and experience necessary to advancement. Their advantage to the employer is that they get extra people through the workplace door at reasonable starting salaries.

But this mutually beneficial system would break down if those salaries become unreasonable, and increasing the minimum wage to $5.05 in four years fits that description.

My prediction is that Congress will agree on a compromise increase significantly less than that and the president will sign it into law.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

by Mike Smith

Master limited partnerships

Prior to the sweeping tax law changes that resulted from the '86 Tax Reform, many investors chose to ignore investment value in favor of larger tax write-offs. Because of this, thousands of tax shams were offered publicly with wild promises of cutting tax bills to practically nothing. Often these "investments" failed, leaving the buyer with a big financial loss. Later these shams were disallowed by the Internal Revenue Service, exposing investors to additional tax liabilities and interest. Fortunately excessive tax write-offs have been eliminated by the new tax legislation.

Many of these abusive tax shelters were offered in the form of limited partnerships. This doesn't mean limited partnerships were, or are, poor investments. To the contrary, if properly understood and prudently selected, many limited partnerships still offer excellent investment opportunity with some tax sheltering benefits as a bonus. They key is to buy partnerships primarily as investments and keep tax consideration secondary. If older, more conventional limited partnerships don't fit your financial plan but you wish to participate in such managed ventures as oil and gas or real estate, there is an alternative--Master Limited Partnerships, MLPs.

MLPs, a relatively new investment, are publicly registered and easily transferable. Like a stock, these partnership units may be listed and traded on the major stock exchanges, eliminating a major disadvantage of limited partnerships, no liquidity. If an investor sells a conventional limited partnership, he or she must find a buyer and then negotiate a price acceptable to both parties. MLP investors, on the other hand, are free to buy and sell units at present market prices with the convenience of regular stock transactions. Since the units are traded on stock exchanges, they're available to many more investors. The result is, unlike traditional partnerships where a few investors made large deposits, more units are available at much lower prices, and the current price of a MLP is available as quickly as any stock quotation.

There are currently more than 125 MLPs traded on the U.S. exchanges, with new ones forming regularly. They offer ownership in a diverse field of investments, including real estate, gas, cable TV, health care and more.

In addition to easy trading and liquidity, there still remains a real tax advantage to MLPs. Whereas shareholders of common stock must pay taxes on the dividends they receive, under current law partnerships enjoy the benefit of no corporate tax on income. Any income filters down, intact, to the MLP owners who pay only their own tax. Since the top corporate tax bracket is now higher than the top individual tax return, MLP investors get a real tax advantage.

Of course the real benefit, or risk, lies in the quality of the investment, not the taxing of it. Before you dedicate any funds to a Master Limited Partnership, investigate and understand the partnership you're considering. The industry quality and anticipated income should all play important roles in your decision. MLPs are yet another investment options that can add another dimension to your financial plan.

HEALTH CARE

by Scott Gilmore
 Hospital Administrator

Listening to the beat

Most of us experience palpitations, or fast heart-rate sometime during the course of our lives. It is not abnormal for people to feel occasional palpitations lasting for a second or two. This often happens when a person is nervous or excited. When palpitations are due to a heart problem, the electrical timing system of the heart is usually at fault. This is particularly likely to be the case when the patient is young. There is tremendous variation in the severity of the attacks of palpitations. One person might only have an attack lasting for a few minutes. Another might have attacks every week lasting for hours at a time. Clearly, it is the second person who needs treatment.

The heart's normal rhythm can be disturbed by a number of factors. Cigarette smoking, anxiety, and some cardiac abnormalities can contribute to irregular heartbeats. Preventive health care includes routine physical examinations. Contact Lillian H. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital, 308 Hudspeth, for professional attention to your medical concerns. Laboratory and x-ray facilities are provided. Tel. 387-2521.

Drugs can be very effective at stopping palpitations.

The Lower Colorado River Authority (hereinafter "LCRA") has filed an Application for Authority to Change Rates with the Public Utility Commission of Texas and the City of Austin. The effective date of the proposed changes, which involve the LCRA's 44 wholesale customers and 73 retail customers throughout LCRA's service territory, is April 18, 1988.

For the period ending September 30, 1989, the proposed changes are expected to result in a system-wide annual revenue increase of $37,499,136 which is a 16.06% increase when compared to the fully adjusted total operating revenues for the test year ending September 30, 1987.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas, 78757. ## Permian Basin Oil Show Spaces going fast

The "sold out" sign hasn't gone up for the 1988 Permian Basin Oil Show but officials are dusting it off as the show dates of October 19-22 draw near at the Ector County Coliseum in Odessa, Texas.

Jay Alvey, executive director of the show since 1960, said only a few scattered outside spaces were left with the remaining inside spaces being concentrated in two buildings.

"The oil show office continues daily to get numerous calls for exhibit space and we feel it will be sold out in the near future," Alvey said. Many of the calls we are receiving now are from companies having special requirements for their booths, such as a large number of continuous spaces or a block of spaces on the end of the rows."

As always the Permian Basin Oil Show has a new president for the current exposition.

Clarence Cardwell, retired vicepresident of ARCO Oil and Gas Co. in Midland, succeeds T. L. (Woody) Gregory, president of Gregory Rig Service & Sales, as oil show president.

"Each oil show offers new challenges for the show's board of directors in their responsibility of assisting our exhibitors in their efforts of offering the energy industry the latest in technology, goods and services," Cardwell stated. "Our show is blessed with a large number of people who have been working in the industry some 30 and 40 years and come October 19-22 they will be putting this experience to work for the Permian Basin Oil Show at no cost to the show and of great benefit to our exhibitors."

Cardwell said one of the greatest challenges for the show is replacing the retiring directors with new talent between shows. "We need to perpetuate the high level of skills we have had in the past so the tradition of the Permian Basin Oil Show can continue well into the future."

The oil show president retired from ARCO Oil & Gas Co. August 1, 1987, as vice president after working for the company for some 38 years.

The oil show president may be retired but he continually has his eye on the future of the energy industry. As president of the oil show he is hoping some of the major political candidates, and perhaps even the presidential candidates can be persuaded to visit the Permian Basin Oil Show to get a better grasp on the national energy situation and help them to formulate a better national energy policy.

"When the price of oil gets below $20 (a barrel) you began to run into problems and that's the reason it is so very important we develop a national energy policy that will enable the industry to make long range decisions with some knowledge of what the future holds," he stated. "We have to look upon our energy as a strategic and important item in our national scenario and not just a regional item to play one part of the country against the other."

He said he believed that political leaders must look at the big picture, but were not inclined to do so. He said political leaders and elected representatives must feel the strategic nature of energy and not feel it is a petty regional issue.

"Time is very important we must get this thing started," Cardwell said. "Somehow and someday it would be an opportune time for our presidential candidates to become statesmen and do more than just promise spot prices next winter."

Cardwell, who has worked with the oil show board of directors and various committees during each of the three times he has lived in Midland, feels the Permian Basin Oil Show is one of the leading expositions of its kind in the nation.

"Once every two years it offers the industry, both from the standpoint of the suppliers and users, so to speak, an opportunity to compare notes on the advancements in technology at very little expense to the supplier," he said. "It's an opportunity to give a first hand display to the new people in the industry and to the people who have been there and are not acquainted with the new technology a cram course on what has happened over the past two years."

"The Permian Basin Oil Show is staged in the center of the greatest concentration of activities in the Permian Basin and anyone working in the industry is within one day's driving time to the show," Cardwell noted.

Western Heritage Classic set for May 13 and 14

Mark your calendar. The third annual Western Heritage Classic, showcasing the best of Texas's ranching heritage, is scheduled for May 13-14 in Abilene.

To kickoff this year's Classic, a longhorn steer trail drive will commence May 11, and after a night on the range, finish at the Taylor County Expo Center, site of the Classic. The public is encouraged to come watch.

The weekend continues with a true Ranch Rodeo on Friday and Saturday nights, with 13 actual working ranches bringing their top cowboys to compete in the activities that they perform on the job, as well as some they don't like wild cow milking and bull fighting.

In addition to being classic Texas-style entertainment, the weekend offers visitors the chance to see first hand what life on the ranch is really like. Not only will the cowboys be their roping and riding like they've done for over 100 years, but their cooks will be on hand doing what they do best--cooking up the finest in Texas chuckwagon fare.

The cookies from 14 ranches will be competing in the "Chuckwagon Cookoff" on Saturday. In an effort to maintain the genuine feel of cooking out on the range, all food must be prepared on site. The cooks will fix a full beef meal with all the trimmings--a beef main dish, vegetable, bread, dessert, and coffee. These chuckwagons are the actual ones still used on the ranch today. To ensure that they are authentic Old West style wagons, the entries will be judged in two categories--quality of food and authenticity of the food and chuckwagons. Judges will be inspecting the wagons for quirks of the twentieth century such as synthetic materials.

A panel of distinguished judges from magazines including Texas Monthly and Country Home will name the Chuckwagon winners Saturday afternoon.

In addition to the rodeo and chuckwagon cookoff, the weekend also features a "Rhinstone Round-Up" party, a western art show and sale, a children's mock rodeo using stick horses, a bit and spur show, and dances both Friday and Saturday nights under the stars with music by Don Edwards of the White Elephant Saloon in Fort Worth.

The weekend provides one of the best opportunities anywhere to experience a piece of Texas history--the legacy of the cowboy and his cattle, proving the Old West still lives today.

Proceeds from the weekend benefit the Abilene Hospice and the Taylor County Expo Center.

Chuckwagons rolling for Cowboy Campfire Cookin' and Pasture Roping in Eldorado

Chuckwagons will be rolling, pots and pans clanking and ropes flying when the world Championship Cowboy Campfire Cookin' and Pasture Roping is held this Memorial Day Weekend, May 27, 28 and 29.

Events slated include the campfire cookin', western heritage art show and sale, goat roping, fiddlers contest, pasture roping, working stockdog contest, cowboy church service and dance.

"This event is being held to help preserve a part of the old west. The campfire-chuckwagon cooks were a different breed, and their culture and recipes need to be preserved. This is a family event and everyone, no matter how old or young is invited," a spokesman for the Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce said. The Chamber sponsors the annual event.

McCullough named head of Angelo district

Walter G. McCullough, a 17-year veteran with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, has been named head of the department's 17-county San Angelo district.

McCullough will succeed Benjamin W. Bohuslav as District Engineer April 1. Bohuslav will direct the department's Yoakum district.

McCullough is a native of Comanche and graduated from high school there. He received his Bachelor's Degree in Civil Engineering at Texas Tech University in 1971. He also holds an MBA degree from Baylor University.

He joined the department in the Waco district office, but most of his career has been in the San Angelo area. Presently, he is District Construction Engineer.

As District Engineer, McCullough will direct highway department operations in Coke, Concho, Crockett, Edwards, Glasscock, Irion, Kimble, Kinney, Menard, Reagan, Real, Runnels, Schleicher, Sterling, Sutton, Tom Green, and Val Verde counties.

He and his wife, Deborah, have three children. They attend Southland Baptist Church.

The cookin' will be held Saturday, May 28 all food must be prepared over the campfire, with no barbecue pits, smokers, etc. allowed. Cooks will prepare a meat-vegetable dish, bread, dessert and campfire coffee.

First through fourth places will be named in each category and points earned for each placing. The cook with the most points will win the overall championship. Campsite awards will be given in both chuckwagon and chuckbox divisions.

Another highlight of the weekend will be the pasture roping, where working cowboys get a chance to match their skills for buckles, trophy tack and cash.

In the roping 10 steers are herded into the center of the pasture and five teams of ropers are turned loose. The ropers must find the steer with their number on it, head the animal and heel it and get the paper number off its back and back across the finish line. In the finals each team must rope and get numbers off two steers. Last year's roping saw several spectacular spills.

Friday is setup day for the weekend, but a cocktail party for the top notch western artists on hand and prospective buyers is slated that night and a pickin' and singin' around the campfire will start about dark.

Saturday's events will include games for old and young alike, including the ever-popular horseshoes and washers and dominos and 42. Cowboy relay games will be held in the rodeo arena during the working stockdog contest that morning.

There will also be multitude of food concessions along with western arts and crafts, and several western tradespeople--spur maker, hat maker, horseshoer, etc. Children will enjoy the fishing tanks, spotted throughout the grounds.

Saturday afternoon will include the fiddlers contest, for all ages, and the goat roping, where 100 of Texas' ropers are expected to test their skills. Winners in the cookin' will also be crowned.

Saturday night a dance on the covered slab will be featured starting at 9 p.m. A band has not been selected yet, but last year's entertainers included Red Steagall and The Maines Brothers.

Sunday morning a cowboy church service will be held on the slab, followed by the pasture roping.

All of the activities will be held at the Eldorado Rodeo/4H Complex, just south of the city on U.S. 277.

Texas Tumbleweeds host meet

Recently, these youngsters competed at a meet hosted by the Texas Tumbleweeds Gymnastics School. The meet was held for students enrolled in the satellite programs taught by the Texas Tumbleweeds and Landa McIntyre's gymnastic programs. Students at the meet included those from Junction, Menard, Ozona, Sonora, Brady, Eldorado and Wall. Students were divided into groups according to skill level and age.

Competing for Sonora were (1 to 5): Laura Hearn, Tammy Fisher, Robert Teaff, Maibeth Woods, Erica Bernal, Brandi Bauldree, Kristen Shurley, Katy Cooke, Trista McIntyre and Kandra McIntyre.

Laura received the rosette for her group on floor, 2nd place on beam and 2nd place on mini-trampoline. Tammy received 2nd place on floor, 1st on beam and 2nd place on mini-trampoline. Maibeth received 1st on floor, 2nd on beam and 3rd on floor. Erica received 3rd on floor, 3rd on beam and 2nd on mini-trampoline. Brandi received the rosette on floor, 2nd on beam and 2nd on mini-trampoline. The meet was one of several held by the Texas Tumbleweeds yearly.

Second annual Gun, Knife & Indian Artifact Show April 9-10

The Second Annual Kimble County Gun, Knife, Coin & Indian Artifact Show will take place in Junction, Texas, on April 9 & 10, 1988, during the spring turkey hunting season.

The two day show will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $2.00 per person. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by their parent. The site of the show will be the Coke R. Stevenson Memorial Center one mile north of Junction on U.S. 83 & 377.

Dealers from all around Texas will be in Junction for this show. In addition to the approximately 70 trade tables set up for buying, selling and trading the show will feature display collections of guns, Indian Artifacts, and home crafted knives.

The John Ed Price Gun Collection will again be on display. The more than 75 early model Winchesters comprise one of the largest Winchester Collections in the Southwest, and other guns pre-date the Republic of Texas.

M.D. Turner of Junction and Dwain Rogers of Houston will be among those displaying Indian Artifacts. Items from Mr. Rogers' collection have been pictured in various books, including most recently Lar Hothem's Collecting Indian Knives. A strange, unidentified artifact from the sand hills will be on display for possible identification.

A huge two day out-of-door Flea Market held in conjunction with the gun show this year should offer something for everyone. There will be no admission charge for the flea market.

The show and flea market are sponsored by the Kimble County Chamber of Commerce, The Junction Rotary Club, and the Kimble County Senior Citizens Foundation. For additional information contact Roy Cooper (915) 446-3361.

Card of Thanks

The family of Simon Arevalo, Sr. would like to give thanks to all the people for their kindness, phone calls, food, flowers and special thanks to the ladies of the choir, the ladies that prepared the supper and for the people praying the rosary. Also thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Encarnacion Gutierrez, Sr., and Refugio for the goat bar-b-que they prepared for the whole family members.
God Bless You
