Design an ad important part of this edition

The third year for Design an Ad may be the biggest and best yet!

It must be understood that this endeavor is possible only because of advertisers willing to let students design ads for them, for an extremely patient and cooperative teacher, Janet Patton, and a group of very talented students. Our sincere thanks go to all.

The group of judges, who wish to remain anonymous, had a difficult time deciding on winners of the ad design. First place winner is Stefany Roberts who will receive $25 from the Devil's River News and a large pizza from Pizza Hut. Second place winner and recipient of $15 from the Devil's River News and a medium pizza from Pizza Hut is Casey Thorp. David Davenport is the third place winner and will receive $10 from the Devil's River News and a small pizza from Pizza Hut.

The editorial content of the section was written by SISD students and topics posed to them were: What do you feel is the greatest issue facing the American public and what solutions could you give? If you could give President Bush one bit of advice on running the government what would it be? and President Bush says that he would like to be known as the "Education President." What suggestions could you make to him that would insure a good education to all students?

The quality of the responses to these topics will both delight and amaze you. We all know Sonora schools are blessed with an inordinate number of exceptional students, their editorials will also assure you that they are articulate in addition.

Due to lack of space in the Design an Ad section, several of the editorials written by the students appear on page two of the regular paper.

And yes, a copy of this edition will be sent to the White House.

Publishers Comment

Many Texas agencies as well as many private business concerns and groups have realized that one boon to the Texas economy comes in the form of tourism dollars. While much of this money comes from out of state travelers, a large portion comes from people traveling within the state.

Time away from the work place, a few recreations and a chance to rest are things we all relish whether we are going to relax for a week-end or a week.

While we are away from our homes, we spend money on food, lodging, gasoline, shopping and pursuing our hobbies or interests. We also take into consideration unexpected costs such as a new tire or mechanical problems on our vehicles.

To guard against "rip-offs" while traveling here are a few simple steps you can take to protect your rights.

It's always fairly safe to stay with well known chains of restaurants and lodging, however, by doing this we often miss some of the more exciting things about travel such as the true local flavor of the communities we visit so don't limit yourself. Be adventurous but remain in control of the situation.

It's possible to be both aggressive and firm in your decisions without being rude. Ask someone in the community where to eat or spend the night but remember that in this case, phrasing is important. In smaller communities, there is a strong trend to 'take care of one another,' so instead of asking "Where is there a good place to eat?", ask "Where would you eat?". The simple change in the question takes the burden from the person of protecting their community and gives them an opportunity to give you their honest choice.

When checking into a motel, ask the rate of the room and ask to see the room in which you will be staying. You have no obligation to stay if the accommodations are not suitable for you. If you have any question as to the honesty of the rate quoted, ask to pay in advance or go to another place. Beware of any business who tries to get your patronage by placing a feeling of obligation on you.

Have your vehicle checked by your dealer or mechanic before you leave home. In some cases this can avoid a breakdown on the road. If however, you find yourself stranded and facing a repair bill insist that the mechanic give you a written estimate of repairs. You might give him a margin of $25 either way on the repairs, then provide him with a telephone number where you can be reached if the bill is going to be more than the estimate.

Most small towns do not have a Better Business Bureau where you can check on the reputability of a firm before doing business with them. The Chamber of Commerce in each area, while a source of local information, must represent their membership with fairness.

If you find yourself in a legitimate situation where you have been quoted one price for an item or service, then charged another, you do have some recourse. By calling the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office, you will be sent a form to fill out and return to them for investigation. The number to call for this service is 512-463-2070.

Another option you might explore is a Letter to the Editor of the local newspaper of the community where the offense occurred. The newspaper holds an obligation to help its community put its best foot forward. Most publishers or editors will call you to verify the authenticity of the letter before publication and often this call will provide means of settling the dispute.

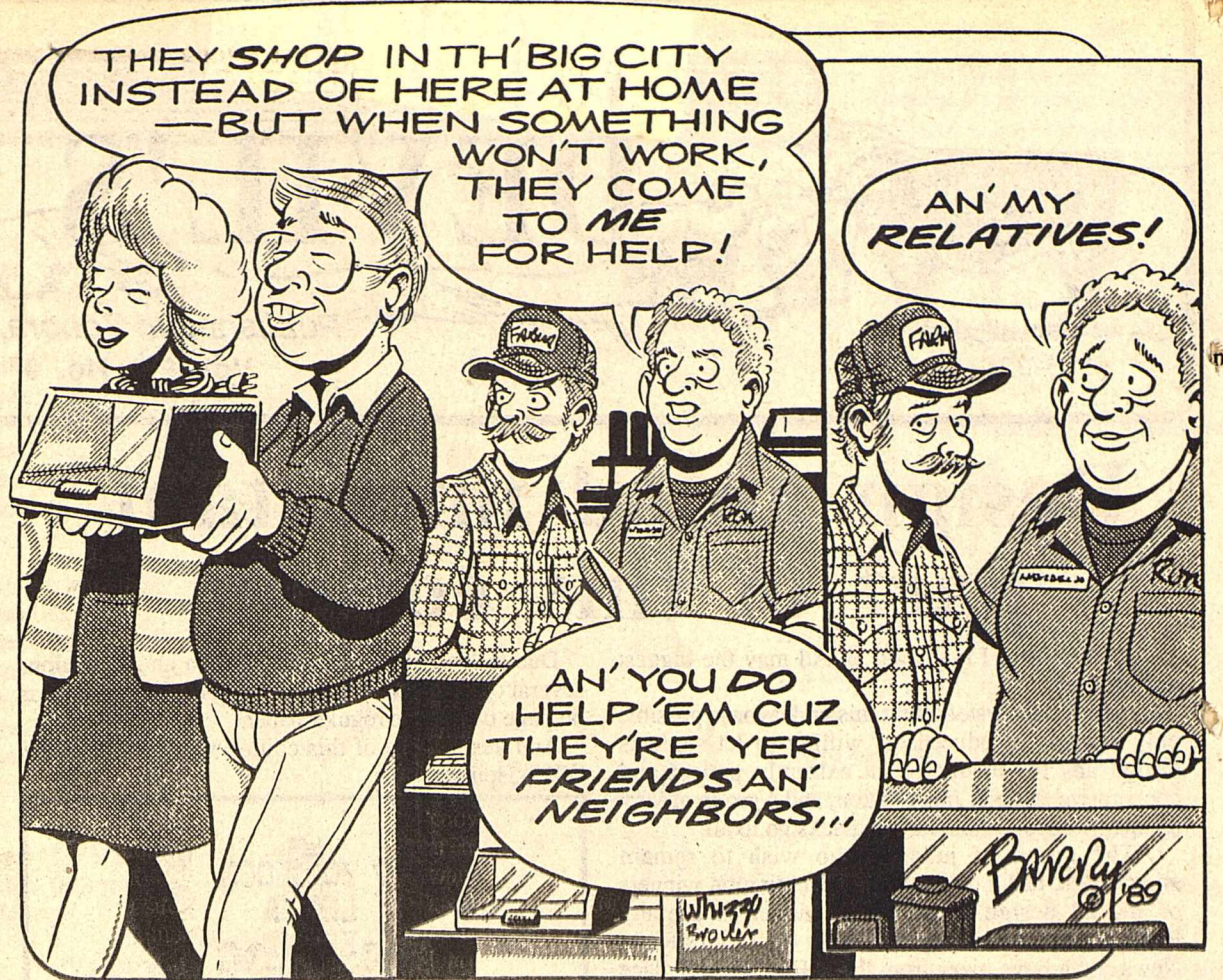

Switching gears, each person in a community has an obligation to treat these guests as they would wish to be treated. A survey conducted some years ago stated that the average person knows at least 250 people. This means that each encounter means a possibility of pleasing or angering 251 people.

If they are pleased they will come back perhaps bringing some of those friends and if they are treated unfairly, they certainly will tell their friends and all will avoid the area.

And this is a clear case of "one bad apple" because it's human nature to forget the more pleasant happenings while we tend to always remember the one bad experience. We are also more prone to relate the bad experience to someone else.

We must treat our visitors in a fair and equitable manner, charging them for goods and services as we do local persons. Go the extra mile and don't allow situations to arise where there can be any misunderstanding. Remember, these visitors are infusing our economy with "new" money that we all need.

As Texas grooms itself to attract guests, it's an excellent place to utilize the Golden Rule we learned at momma's knee-Do unto others as you would have them do unto you!

Social security reform

by Michael Todd Senior

In today's world, there are many problems we are forced to encounter on an everyday basis. One problem we face is the plight of Social Security and its recipients.

When Social Security was formed, its purpose was to be a supplement to other sources of income after retirement. Never was it intended to provide a retirement living for retirees at a pre-retirement standard of living. The program, when it began, was entirely self-funding--that is, the money put into the program would belong to the contributor upon retirement.

This system has had success, although that success is limited and in the future is apt to steadily decline until Social Security is such a burden on the United States government that it is abandoned. The nation would then be confronted by the dichotomy of the need to provide for its aged and the inability to do so at what the workforce would consider a reasonable cost.

Social Security, at its inception, had some eighteen workers contributing to the fund for each recipient of the benefits, so at the time there was no fear that the money would ever be in short supply. By the late 1970's, though, the numbers of workers had dropped significantly--from eighteen to seven workers for each recipient of benefits.

This situation is only going to worsen as the first wave of baby-boomers begins to reach the age at which they are eligible to receive Social Security benefits. It has been estimated that by the year 2000 less than two workers will be contributing to the program for every recipient.

The enormous drop in the number of workers supporting one receiver of benefits is an issue that must be reckoned with. If the current program is expected to survive, it must be either renovated or the people must be informed of its true use--that of a supplement to an already-existing income, not an income standing alone and able to provide an acceptable living standard for retirees.

In order to update this program, several changes must occur: first, the money put into the program must be used solely for the benefit of the program's participants. The program must invest the money contributed in such a way that the benefits will not out-weigh the initial contribution plus interest, which would put the program in the red.

One way in which the program could not only fund itself but also make enough excess money that it could be used to lower the deficit is to invest the contributions of the program's participants into one of several interest-earning, tax-free investments. The most profitable of all ways would be to have legislation passed saying the

Preparing students for tomorrow

by Sarah Marrs 4th grade

In order for our school district to prepare today's students for the unknown workplace of tomorrow, all must do their parts in the educational process. No one group of people can control the educational process. The school district, teachers, parents, and students must all cooperate.

The school district need to find teachers with a good education as well as provide them with adequate teaching supplies. This would include a budget for materials and computers. This would have to be approved by the school board at their meetings.

The teachers must motivate the students to learn. They need to encourage success in learning. To encourage success, they can give small rewards for good grades. If a child is doing well, or has improved, he might get more class time to play educational games on computers. Working on computers one to three times a week should be regular class work. Even the three R's should be part of computer learning. Teachers must have high expectation of performance for themselves and the students.

Parents need to realize how very important a child's education is. Parents should also have the responsibility of motivating the student. The parents' attitude will determine whether the child will be interested in learning or not. Parents should supervise homework. Parents and teachers need to communicate often. This can be done by notes, phone call, signing folder, or informal meetings.

The student should be enthusiastic and excited about learning. The student must want to learn. He must be hungry for knowledge. He must be let to work at his own pace so that he will want to learn. It is discouraging for a student to be forced to go too fast in class so that he doesn't really learn what is being taught. But the student must tell his teacher he is having trouble.

The school district, teacher, parent, and student all have responsibilities to provide the best educational setting for the student. A student who enjoys learning in all areas will be prepared for the unknown workplace of the future.

Drug addiction ruining kids potential abilities

by Kelly Kiowski 7th grade

I think the problem in the U.S. is Drugs. Drugs are ruining the minds of millions of kids with great potential. The future of our country is in the hands of a wide spreading fad. A fad that is not short term, but will cause damage that will last forever.

If kids of America care about the well-fare of this country they will just say "NO!"

Drug addiction is a disease, yet some people won't admit they have the disease. A way we can solve this and other problems is to make the drug-free program made more publicly. Make more of an emphasis on the parent role model attitude. Nine times out of ten the kid is going to follow the parents' doings. Like if a child is abused more than likely that child will abuse their children.

Parents should have to participate in clinics to learn about drugs like the children. This should be a drug-free program for parents as well as children.

Drugs are used as an escape. This often leads to a more serious problem or death.

A way to help prevent this is for an open relationship to exist between the parent and child. This can be achieved by becoming interested in each other's problems and lives. Also facing problems with an open mind can help. Having this trust will allow both the parent and the child a better chance to communicate with each other.

OVER THE HILL GANG

Hudspeth Nursing Home News
by Doris Cahill

Where else but here can nursing home residents watch deer playing on the hill side, and turkey foraging daily?

The snow flakes that fell on the 4th were a beautiful sight, but there was no ground coverage. I was in the hospital wired up to this, that and the other, but the nurses had a fun time pretending to ready me for the "Fling Ding" dance that night.

Resident Dan Cauthorn was one of a small group who organized the "Humdingers" Dance Club, before World War II, which became the present "Fling Ding." He reminisced, but interrogation stopped when he told me about two people falling into the lily pond in front of the building!

Mountain Man: "No, I ain't one of those fellus who'd say you can't git there from here. I just wondah why in tarnation you'd want to."

Begorrah, and while it was a wee bit early for "wearing of the green," Mr. G. gave a preview of songs. Some were lovely, other Irish ballads about battles and speers. Real nostalgic stuff, and we all know Charlotte Wilson, who accompanied him, is no slouch at the piano.

Rhonda Akins and Joshua, and Sheila Harris, Starla and Brandon were joined by Mr. G. with his guitar one Tuesday afternoon for hymn sing. Their weekly renditions rate high with us.

Bingo results for the month were- Cox, 7; Drennan, 5; Bruton, 5; Hardy, 1; Fuller, 5; Mazuca, 5; Cahill, 2; Mendez, 1; Hinojosa, 1; Rodriguez, 2; and Carpenter, 1.

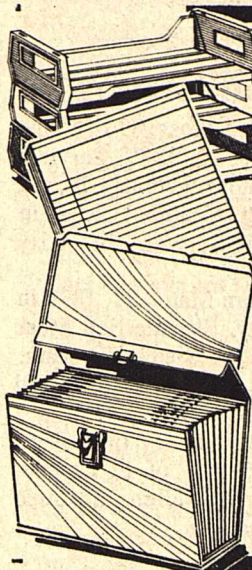

Mr. Jack Ward can usually be seen basking in the sun after his daily walks around the building. Welcome to Gene Wallace, who is our latest resident and an interesting conversationalist. And thanks to Mary and Barbara Earwood, and Lois McCalmont for the magazines. We also appreciate Sydonia Wilson bringing bulletins from the First United Methodist Church and visiting each week.

Abraham Lincoln, George Washington, Emma Fuller, Modesta Mesa, and Edna Crittendon were all born in February! Emma, Modesta and Edna were honored at the Auxiliary Birthday Party on St. Valentine's Day. Hostesses Vivian Crites, Dorothy Baker and Virginia Driskell served refreshments of a beautiful white double hearts cake, trimmed with red rose buds made by Clara Brooks, and punch. Favors were little red felt hearts and balloons. Photos taken by the 4-H club members were cleverly attached to Valentines and presented to residents who had been previously "snapped" and songs were sung to residents whose loved ones contributed to the activity department in their names.

Our prayers are with Adele Carpenter and Esther Locffler who are back in their rooms after having been hospitalized, and to Etta Turner and Maxine Reiley who are still in the hospital.

Sincere sympathy to the relatives of Wilma Elliott who passed away on February 20, 1989 in Hudspeth Nursing Home. Centenarian Elliott was the oldest nursing home resident.

Radon prevention in new homes

Many of the same techniques used to tighten up homes for energy efficiency also help to reduce the likelihood of a radon problem.

The Environmental Protection Agency and the National Association of Home Builders Research Foundation have produced information that guides a builder in choosing techniques that will reduce the likelihood of radon entering a new home. These techniques focus on closing radon entry points and reducing the air pressure effects that draw radon from surrounding soil.

Some of the most common measures used in new construction include:

- *placing a continous, six-mil polyethylene vapor barrier under the slab. Lap seams 12 inches, tape or seal plumbing penetrations and avoid puncturing the barrier during the concrete pour.

- *sealing floor and wall joints and control joints with flexible expansion joint materials that are then covered with a half inch of good quality, noncracking polyurethane caulk.

- *installing drains so they drain to daylight or a sewer.

- *sealing sumps at the top.

- *sealing or capping tops of hollow-block foundation walls.

- *sealing pipe or wire penetrations of below-grade walls.

- *carefully sealing or taping ductwork routed through a crawl space or beneath a slab, especially return-air ducts.

- *placing a continous six-mil polyethylene vapor barrier on the soil in a crawl space and sealing seams and edges to foundation walls.

- *choosing appliances that use outdoor air for combustion.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Covered Wagon Review

by Charlotte Gilmore

If success is measured by community support, then we've made it! Folks have been so supportive of the Off-Season Dinner Theater and this past Saturday night was no exception. Because of a few last minute cancellations or no-shows, there were a few empty chairs at the Steakhouse, but the dining room was quite full for the performance of The Midland Community Theater Singers. It appeared that all attending had a good time and, of course, enjoyed a wonderful meal.

The Midland Community Theater Singers turned out to be a group of lively, fun loving, dedicated volunteers who drove all the way to Sonora free of charge to us for the purpose of advertising Midland's Community Theater. They were not a professional performing group, but I sure hope their enthusiasm was contagious. Here was a group of local folks who believe in "their town" so much they are willing to make sacrifices to tell others about it. These are the kind of folks and that is the kind of attitude which brings growth to a town. We might be able to use a little of that in Sonora.

One of the purposes, you remember, of the Off-Season Dinner Theater is to have an opportunity to try out potential talent for the summer shows. So far during the off-season we have found two wonderful new entertainers out of three tryouts. Not a bad record.

You'll want to call the Steakhouse right away and make reservations for the March 18 and April 22 shows. March 18 we will celebrate St. Patrick's Day in style with an entire show of Irish music. Scott Gilmore will be singing and Roxanne Fargason from Junction will be playing bagpipe.

On April 22 Biscuits O'Bryan will read from John Gould's "Monstrous Depravity: A Jeremiad and a Lamentation" and Julie Carpenter from San Angelo will entertain us with her fiddle.

Mark your calendar with the dates June 16th and August 12th-the beginning and ending date for the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater at the Caverns. We will have eighteen really special performances this summer with lots of new additions to the amphitheater and the shows.

It's true. . .most Texas taxpayers saw recent decreases. . .But not everyone!

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I think your recent letter which accompanied the employer tax notices is misleading. For that matter, everything I have read recently about the unemployment insurance tax situation paints a very rosy picture and I, for one, am paying triple into this system what one of my ex-employees drew out in 1987. I also know other employers who continue to pay exorbitantly high taxes and yet all we hear is how taxes are going down. A less biased picture would be appreciated.

P.A. Waxahachie, Texas

Commissioner

Mary Scott Nabers

Texas Business Today

realize that paid claims and their resulting chargebacks will affect their individual tax rates for three years. No insurance system is a dollar for dollar payback system, so it is indeed possible for you to pay back into the system through increased taxes more than was paid out in claims.

I know these are hard times for Texas business. As a former small business owner myself, I can sympathize with the problems you and others are encountering. In order to be sure you have as much help as I can give you, I am enclosing a packet of information about the unemployment insurance system.

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: I recently participated in an Appeal Tribunal hearing on an unemployment claim that I feel was totally unjustified. My company prevailed at the hearing, but I think the whole time consuming and expensive process of a hearing could have been avoided if the local office had done a more thorough job of investigating the claim in the first place. There is no way this employee should ever have been awarded benefits. What can be done about this?

A.H. Bryan, Texas

Dear A.H.: Not a thing. Repeatedly I receive this complaint from employers who are convinced that had they won at the initial stage of the claim, that would have been the end of it. This is not necessarily so because a claimant, too, has appeal rights and can request a hearing whenever he or she receives an unfavorable decision. The local office makes the most thorough investigation possible on initial claims. On disputed claims, 50% of the parties involved are unhappy 100% of the time and that is why the law provides for an appeal process.

Ms. Nabers represents 336,000 employers throughout Texas. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 Texas Employment Commission Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Texas 78778.

HEALTH CARE

by Scott Gilmore, Hospital Administrator

Aspirin to prevent heart attacks? Ask your doctor

The medical community is all abuzz with the news reported in The New England Journal of Medicine. It says that, at least in men, 325 mg of aspirin taken every other day reduces the risk of a first (and often fatal) heart attack by nearly one-half.

But before you reach for the aspirin, call your doctor. So cautions the Journal's editor and the lead researcher of the study, which was conducted at Boston's Brigham and Women's Hospital and funded by the National Institute of Health.

For one thing, the study was conducted only with men, and no one knows for sure if the findings can be generalized and applied to women.

For another, in people with volatile blood pressure, aspirin can increase the chances of a stroke or bleeding in the brain, which can be fatal. It can also aggravate stomach ulcers.

Furthermore, while one aspirin every other day dramatically reduces the risk of heart attack, at higher doses the aspirin may actually increase the risk, warns lead researcher Charles Hennekens, associate professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

If one looks at it with any detail it results in an almost instantaneous feeling of fatigue with Government by Lobby; alias Democracy. It is an unforeseeable paradox, much like West Texas weather, because you do not have information on the distribution of Political Action Committee and Campaign "Donation" funds. The results are many and varied, you cannot follow them logically, but you and I feel the result. The examples are many, let us consider a few.

The United States, under the guise of protecting its citizens outlawed sodium cyclamate, a sugar substitute and left only saccharine for use by diabetics. This protection of the citizenry was based on Canadian experiments, and removed from the market the only substitute that was usable in cooking. It is significant to note that the Canadians felt that saccharine was a greater hazard to Canadians and outlawed saccharine, based on the same experiments; continuing the sale of cyclamates.

A carcinogenic chemical has been used for twenty-four years in apple production, a chemical that cannot be washed off. Consumers Union laboratories report that of 32 samples of apple juice tested only 9 were free of the chemical and two had prohibitive concentrations. Apple juice is provided in school lunches to children. It is unfathomable until you realize that the children have no lobby. Our vegetable and fruit supplies from Mexico are not given checks for residue of DDT and other banned chemicals--we also are not lobby protected.

The Senate Armed Forces Appropriation Committee sits in judgement on Tower as Secretary of Defense. The complaints are employment by defense contractors (almost every member of the committee has taken campaign contributions from defense contractors). Womanizing? My information is out of date by about 25 years, but if Congressmen guilty of womanizing then were removed, neither house could have mustered a quorum. How many teetotaler parties are given in the District of Columbia? When one observes the pot going to such great length to describe the color of the kettle, a capitalized WHY seems in order. There must be some big contributors who do not want Tower in that post.

These are obvious examples, there are hundreds more, that must be dealt with, but the question is who will deal with them and how? Possibly an approach would be to outlaw political campaign contributions and create a series of districts small enough for personal representation through contact to become feasible, then consolidate regional opinions in Washington, producing a simplified hub of government.

COWBOY ASTROLOGY

By Mary Ellen Doty

ARIES (March 21-April 19) All that winter hog-side has got you so fat ya have to throw a diamond hitch to keep you in the saddle. Either git t' sweatin' or quit yer eatin' or you won't be worth a barrel o' shucks come calvin' time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The Bull has some business to tend that requires you hittin' the trail for a piece this week. Don't matter if the airlines strike, your old Sunday horse gets gimpy and the Greyhounds won't bark, you get there. Big bucks involved.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You old Gemini boys been shootin' skeet with too many clay pigeons in the air. Dang it - ya can't do everything! Pick 3 top-dog projects and forget the others. You been goin' so hard by spring you'll look like the gear-shift off a Katydid.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Now, you old boys been knowin' t' slide by that old patched fence 'n' sorta turn yer head - then feel guilty as homemade sin 'n' go back later. Well, this month you got to feel good cause it's your turn to raise a little of what your mama warned against. Head for town!

LEO (July 23-August 22) All work and no play makes Jack...Don't worry your bones about that. Leo. The King of Beasts knows how t' shake a good hoof. It's work that's been dodgin' ya like a coyote in season. Get'er done now 'cause next month you'll get called away from your duties.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22) Listen, Virgo, listen. Your own mind has more lip than a muley cow concernin' a recent dilemma - and it's wrong. A close amigo has the answer but you been too swelled up with pride to hear him.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 22) Do you have a corner post tied to your leg. Libra? No? Then what's that extra tonnage you been carryin' around - looks like that burden is about t' kill ya. Get rid o' that dark situation or you'll get nothing else done for the next 7 weeks.

SCORPIO (Oct 23-Nov 21) There's a TRUTH hittin' your life that's 'bout as welcome as a pole-cat at a picnic. There ain't nothing you can do but say "Uncle", then git on down the trail.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22-Dec 21) '89 is a big year for change in you old Sagittarius boy. Maybe you'll take to the road 'n' be a roper. Maybe you'll quit the road 'n' be a rancher. Maybe you'll start servin' gutt-bombs at the local cafe. Whatever it is, you'll quit what you're doing now and there'll be a space before the new sets in. Fill it with good old-fashioned faith.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19) Now, Capricorn is a stubborn old goat. And you get ornery as a pet pig about your plans for the summer. You're goin' away and they know it. Buy your travelin' gear now.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 18) Worry, worry, worry. I swear, everything is goin' your way and still you worry more than a bullfrog waitin' for rain in Arizona. Write down those frets 'n' burn 'em. The stars are with ya!

PISCES (Feb 19-March 20) You've been keepin' a poker face with that little "blue eyes" for the past 6 months and hidin', scared as a rabbit in a wolf's mouth. She knows. She knows. Fes up.

Sonora ISD plan at work

The effort to comply with the multitude of regulations spelled out in the federal legislation know as the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act, or AHERA, has resulted in a flurry of activity in our local public school system, according to Superintendent James Bible.

The Board of Trustees entered into contract with Kiser Engineering of Seguin in the spring of 1988 to prepare the required Asbestos Management Plan for the school district. The plan involved taking numerous samples of materials which might contain asbestos from throughout the district. Upon completion of lab testing of the samples, the Management Plan, which encompasses both containment and removal schedules and techniques, was approved by the Board of Trustees on February 14, and will be filed with the State Health Department in March.

Schools in the district were inspected by an accredited asbestos inspector on August 11 and 12, 1988. The inspection process consisted of locating, sampling, and rating the condition and hazard potential of all material on the facilities suspected of containing asbestos. The results of the inspection and assessment conducted by Kiser Engineering revealed some asbestos-containing materials in the primary, intermediate, junior high and high school.

Inspection and laboratory analysis records were utilized to prepare the Asbestos Management Plan, which includes a notification letter to parents, the inspection and assessment report, and plans for education and training of school district employees in dealing with asbestos-containing materials. The training plans cover procedures designed to minimize the disturbance of the asbestos-containing materials, and provide for regular and frequent surveillance of the danger spots.

Sonora ISD has begun implementing portions of the plan, and full implementation will be underway by July 9, 1989. The superintendent stressed that the district intends not only to comply with, but to exceed federal, state and local regulations in the area of asbestos control. Long-time maintenance supervisor Max Hardegree is the designated Asbestos control coordinator for the district.

Mr. Bible continued with the statement that Sonora ISD will take whatever steps necessary to insure a healthy, safe environment in which our students and employees can learn and work.

The complete Asbestos Management Plan is available for public inspection on each campus and in the administration office during regular office hours.

March-safe deposit month

For over 120 years, American banking and financial institutions have had a very special relationship with their safe deposit customers.

Safe deposit is a highly specialized banking service. Customers are attracted to safe deposit services due to its availability and convenience. Plus, safe deposit boxes are one of the most economical ways to protect precious valuables and documents, and the rental fee is tax deductible.

The attractiveness of the service is not restricted to its costs. Safe deposit services guarantee its customers two endangered commodities—peace of mind and privacy. Peace from worry about the loss of important papers or momentos; privacy as only the renter may have use of the box with the freedom to place or remove items in complete solitude.

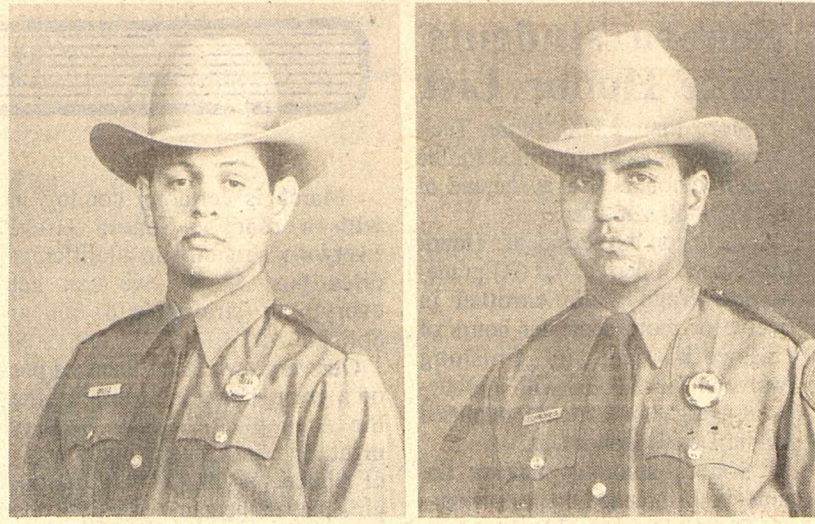

The dual lock and key control system used in safe deposit also instills peace of mind and privacy as it requires both the renter or his authorized agent and a bank representative to open the box.

Prior to entry, a signature is required to verify only authorized individuals are being admitted. When not in use, time locks and alarms maintain the security of the vault doors.

With all it provides, safe deposit services have never been considered a significant source of profit by financial institutions. They are considered, however, a source of pride in the role they play in the relationship between the customer and his bank. In a survey conducted by a safe deposit association, over half of those questioned stated they would keep their safe deposit boxes despite rental rate increases.

Sutton County National Bank believes in the importance of safe deposit services and we appreciate the trust our customers place in our ability to protect their treasures. Safe deposit may be an overlooked asset to some, but it's not to our customers... and they are not to us.

TROOPER NORBERT ORTIZ

TROOPER RUBEN TERRONES

Two new officers assigned to Sonora

Sonora will soon see two new State Troopers. Trooper Norbert Ortiz, 27, and Trooper Ruben L. Terrones, 22, have both graduated from the Department of Public Safety training academy and have been assigned to the Highway Patrol Service in Sonora.

They are among a group of over one hundred cadets recently commissioned as state troopers in graduation ceremonies in Austin.

Trooper Ortiz is a native of Lamesa while Trooper Terrones comes from Del Rio.

Colonel Joe Milner, DPS director, said he is proud of the new troopers and looks forward to their service with the department.

"These men have completed a vigorous 18-week course in basic law enforcement procedures," Milner said. "They have been well trained to uphold the laws of this state in routine as well as difficult and dangerous law enforcement situations.

"A Texas trooper is required to perform a number of different tasks in addition to traffic law enforcement. The trooper will assist in narcotics arrests and other felony cases as well as manhunts and disaster situations," Milner said.

The DPS training course included instruction in traffic law, criminal law, arrest procedures, accident investigation, and numerous other law enforcement related duties.

Service offering seminars

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is sponsoring four two-day Farm and Ranch Estate Planning Seminars during March and the first part of April. Dates and locations are as follows: Granbury-March 6,7; Austin-March 21,22; Corpus Christi-March 29, 30; Lubbock-April 4,5.

The two days are designed to give a thorough analysis of relevant income and estate tax rules as they affect families and their agricultural businesses. It is designed for each of a married couple in that it discusses estate administration and tax reporting requirements for the surviving spouse. This same information is useful for potential executors and trustees of estates and all who want to make their estate settlement less of a burden to their loved ones.

The goal is to give the participants knowledge sufficient to make informed choice as to the best alternative for their family and financial situation.

For additional information, contact your local Extension Service.

Tee Off

We hope 1989 has started off to be a great year for everyone in Sonora. The Sonora Golf Club started off 1989 with the election of a new Board of Directors which includes: Craig Bagley, President; Don Grider, Vice-President; Tom Clifton, Treasurer; Jo Neville, Secretary; Mike Perciful, Bob Cramer, Steve Anderson, Gary Hardgrave, Gene Thompson, Donnie Varner, A.W. Bishop, Board Members; Carolyn McKee, Accountant. We are always open for new ideas and suggestions to make our golf club a more enjoyable place.

We have a full schedule planned for 1989. The weekly scrambles will begin on Thursday, April 16th and 18 hole scrambles will be held on future weekends at regular intervals. The Ozona men will be coming to Sonora for a challenge in the Spring, and we will be trying to get night golf started. (Played under the stars and moonlight.) On April 1st and 2nd there will be a Two-Man Spring Select Shot. On April 22nd there will be a Ladies One-Day Partnership. We will have a Two Man Select on June 3rd and 4th, with the Junior Tournament being held on June 24th. The Three-Man Summer Select Shot will be held on the weekend of August 5th and 6th. September 16th and 17th will be a Couples-1 Lady-1 Man Tournament. On September 30-October 1st we will be having a Texas Shoot Out and a Fall Two-Man over 40 Tournament. As you can see, the 1989 season should be an enjoyable year filled with fun tournaments.

We would like to thank the Sutton County National Bank and the First National Bank for their participation in making the Hole-in-one Club possible. They will each pay any Hole-in-one Club member who makes an ace on the course $50.00. Thanks also go out to First National Bank, Grider Trucking, and Dono Oil Company for their continuous involvement in the golf club. Thank you for all the hard work and participation the Ladies Golf Auxiliary gives to the Sonora Golf Club. We appreciate your involvement in the tournaments and activities of the club. The success of our golf club depends on the participation of the local members. Please come out and play, participate in the tournaments, and make the Sonora Golf Club one of the nicest in Texas.

'SELF' CONTROL

by J. Michael Fish

Center of the Universe

Surely you've heard someone accused of acting as though the world evolved around them exclusively.

With regard to our perspective of our environment and relationship with family and friends, the statement holds true for every individual. We are all the center of our own universe.

It's as though we play the starring role in our own movie while everyone with everyone we have contact with having supporting roles. For instance: there are people in our lives that fill roles of parents, siblings, spouse, children, friends, employers or employees, etc. Each fill a particular need in our life as we fill needs in their lives with the varying roles we play.

What this means is that we are our own life's most significant person, with ultimate control of every thought and action, and have varying degrees of importance in the lives of others. Being the center of our own universe does not mean we are the most important person in the world.

If we limit our thoughts and actions to a part of any of the roles we play, we relinquish our own 'self' control. By the same token, being totally involved in 'self' denies the significance of the 'others' in our life.

Daily choices are presented us that involve denying our own needs and desires or those of others. They can make for very difficult decisions. Even with the most honorable of intentions, we are often misunderstood or are forced to refuse an obligation.

For this reason, priorities and ethics are required in which to conduct ourselves in relationships with others and the environment. Without some 'game plan' or 'script', we tend to live in confusion with no clear direction and "run around in circles."

Goals are needed to provide direction and make living worthwhile. They decrease opportunities for being misunderstood because, in a positive sense, they make us predictable. Objectives organize our thoughts and actions as well as keeping us alert to chances for personal advancement.

In a nut shell, we exist in sort of a "trade-off" in our relationship with others. We fill their needs and they fill ours. For time and service, we receive money; for love and affection, we receive love and affection; and the list goes on.

The key is fulfillment. At the center of fulfillment, us, the individual. We determine our own needs and desires, those we fill for others and the role we play with regard to our environment. We translate our perceptions of our universe and control our reactions to it.

We are the centers of our own universes.

SOCIAL SECURITY

About 10 percent of the people in the San Angelo Area will be paying income tax this year on part of their 1988 Social Security benefits, said Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo. Up to half of the Social Security benefits can be subject to taxation.

Taxation of benefits applies if a person has combined income--taxable income plus nontaxable interest plus one-half of the Social Security benefits--over the base amount, Upp explained.

Base amount figures are:
*$25,000 for an individual;
*$32,000 for a couple filing a joint tax return; or
*$0 for a married person filing a separate return if he or she lived with his or her spouse during any part of 1988.

The amount of benefits subject to tax is the smaller of these two figures:

*one-half of the Social Security benefits, or *one-half of the amount of combined income over the base amount.

By now, everyone who received benefits last year should have received a Social Security Benefit Statement (Form SSA-1099) showing the amount of benefits received. A worksheet is sent with the SSA-1099 to use in figuring whether taxes must be paid.

Anyone who has questions about paying taxes on their Social Security benefits can get additional information by calling the Internal Revenue Service toll-free phone number, 1-800-424-1040.

Questions about information or the SSA-1099 Benefit State can be answered at the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherman Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Take more time

Ray Pierce
8th grade

If I could give President Bush one piece of advice on running the government it would be to take more time and consideration in choosing his cabinet.

Some of those considerations should be the ability to carry out the job, ability to work with others, popularity, respectability, their past, and any abnormal activities (drinking, spendthriftiness, womanizing, etc.)

Even though President Bush is the top

Carry on negotiations

David Fisher
5th grade

If I could give any kid of advice to the president on running the government it would be to carry on the negotiations with Russia about reducing arms production. This needs to be done because we have too many nuclear weapons in the world.

If we have a war I would rather it be a war instead of having the world blown to pieces. Also I want a little population left in the world.

I think this advice would make our world a lot better if only President Bush would listen to me.

executive of the nation, he needs to consider all aspects of the people who help him govern the country or advise him.

If he chooses people that Congress will not approve, the American people begin to lose confidence in the country's leadership. Like the John Tower incident, if President Bush would have taken Tower's past into consideration, a better choice could have been recommended.

Cut back promises

Amber Barnes
5th grade

If I could give President Bush a bit of advice it would be to cut back on promises.

His promise to not raise taxes was good.

He could find ways to make money to pay for cleaning up the nation. His promise to clean up the pollution was good. If he does clean it up there would be more healthy people.

The way to raise money for community projects is to get people to help pay for things like A.I.D.S. patients and other unhealthy people.

A telethon is an idea. A telethon could be held more than once a year. A telethon is a good way to raise money other than raising taxes.

Endangered animals in suitable habitats

Michelle Cramer
4th grade

If one bit of advice could be given by me to President Bush it would be to make sure that all of our animals are put in suitable habitats.

Most of the animals in the United States are safe, but some are endangered.

If each of our workers at the forest, animal life park, and zoos could set up certain areas for the endangered species

Who has listened to a straight kid

Stefany Roberts
8th grade

I feel that the greatest problem facing the American public is the drug problem among the younger generation.

Many experts have written articles on drug abuse, but no one has really listened to a straight kid's point of view. The kid who can say "No" the first time is the smartest one. But what about the kid who felt he/she was pushed into taking drugs? They soon become addicted. The thing is that no one literally forced them to take drugs.

Advice for my boy George

Roy Ivy
8th grade

George Bush has taken a lot of heat over some of the decisions that he has made in his political career.

Probably the biggest thing that he was ridiculed for was the choosing of Dan Quayle as his running partner in the 1988 election. Hey, Kennedy was just as old as Quayle. Give ol' George and Dan a break. Dan hasn't done anything stupid yet, and such as buffalo and whales maybe some of these endangered animals could be saved.

This could be done every day of the year. When we have problems with a particular animal being threatened with extinction, it could be placed in a "protected home."

Saving these animals from extinction could help prevent serious problems in the future.

If you found out that someone you admire was taking drugs, it would be quite a blow. This problem has probably destroyed many families.

What do you think you might do while "high"? Some kids have jumped off buildings, thinking they could fly. And, those who survived this fall probably didn't remember what happened.

What it really comes down to is saying "No" the first time. Although I've never been offered drugs, I know what I would say.

the Quail/Quayle jokes are getting old.

Watching the news, I observed a press conference in which George Bush told reported that he wasn't going to ban automatic weapons from America. Smart thinkin' George. A criminal can get just as far with a revolver, I think. Anyway, George hasn't messed up yet. And why call him a "wimp." Kennedy didn't ever lift buildings or beat up fifty guys in a bar room brawl.

Well, to live up to the title of my editorial, I have to give my boy George some advice. Okay, how's this for an idea; give drug pushers the death penalty. Don't let them get away with anything. Drugs and alcohol are becoming the death of our great country. That's why I also say, "Raise the drinking age." It might get vetoed, but keep on trying. Persistence pays. Even though it is extremely easy for minors to get alcohol, the rise of the drinking age will make it a little harder for kids to waste away their lives drinking.

Kids will complain, and probably alcohol will be more popular because it will be less available, but who cares. Taking the bottle out of a person's hand is one best ideas around.

Here's a question. Why is alcohol advertised on television and not tobacco? I don't support tobacco, but my point is that alcohol takes more lives than tobacco does, but tobacco is considered more dangerous than alcohol by media. I've got another idea. How about gettin' Old C. Everett Coop, the surgeon general, to put warning labels on alcoholic beverages?

Could the popularity of alcoholic beverages be what the media makes it seem like? If life was a commercial and I drank beer, I'd be surrounded by beautiful women, drive a fast car, and have a good time with my sporting buddies. In real life, I'd probably be puking in an alley thinking, "Gee, Charles Manson would make a heck of a president."

Allow abortion for rape victims. That is the only support I would give abortion.

Good luck on getting re-elected for a second term, Mr. Bush. Say hello to Barbara for me. Tell her that I like her wardrobe.

No more raises

Leslie Carrasco
8th grade

One bit of advice that I would give to President Bush on running the government of the United States would be to veto pay raises to congressmen.

Congressmen make good salaries, plus they get alot of other benefits like free trips, free lunches, and payments for showing up at special-interest group gatherings. Congressmen should look at their position not only as a job, but as a service to their country.

Right now, the economy is bad so most Americans would look at a pay raise in a negative way. My advice to President Bush is no more pay raises for congressmen.

Arms threat

Tonni Balas
5th grade

Dear President Bush,
I fell the threat of nuclear arms are one of the greatest issues facing the American Public.

My solution would be for leaders of all major countries from around the world to get together, starting now, and agree to disarm nuclear weapons.

By working on building a bond for trust and not being secretive about saying they would disarm weapons and not doing this. This would help us be a lot more successful in our goal.

Doing all of this, would decrease threats of war between major powers. Hopefully, by 1995, we can have world peace.

Right for us

Beverly Cooper
7th grade

President Bush, my one bit of advice is right for us citizens.

If you added two hours of school to each day, besides Saturday and Sunday, I'm all for it. That would mean a better educated America.

If you wish to try to set up a peace treaty between Russia, U.S.S.R., and the United States, great! Go for it! That brings down the chances for World War III.

An idea to make these changes or others is to hire knowledgeable people in your cabinet to help carry along your plan. They need to believe in the same principles as you. Make the changes gradual, and all across the United States.

each other. Also they just kill for the fun of it.

There are also too, many robbers in America. Storekeepers get killed because they don't want to give the robbers their money. Storekeepers are killed by the robbers for the fun of it.

Most of these people have problems, like their family need money and food.

Programs need to be made to hire the unemployed. The government need to help these people.

If the government doesn't help these people there will be more robbers and murderers, I think if they didn't do this they need a little bit of money to meet there needs.

Homes for homeless people

Sarah Marrs
4th grade

If I were going to give President Bush advice on running the government, I would tell him to put shelters in all towns and cities for homeless people.

He should make sure poor, homeless people have nice, warm places to stay in winter and cool places to stay in summer.

He need to do this as soon as possible. What would you feel like if you had no place to live--no place to call home?

Since he talked in his inaugural address about the importance of individuals doing their parts to make our country better, he should encourage each city and town to make this a local project.

One person, a company, or a group of people like a church or civic organization could be responsible for building these shelters and taking care of them. Maybe several groups would have to work together, volunteering their time, like on the Whoopi Goldberg commercial about giving five hours a week to an important cause. This is the advice I think is most important for President Bush.

Lower taxes

Mary Gail Galvan
6th grade

If I could give some advice to President Bush I would tell him to lower the taxes in all states, let students chew gum in classrooms at school, improve the companies so all the people in the states can have jobs and families can have shelter. Most of all for the U.S.A. to be honest and healthy.

President Bush should also help the homeless by taking all the vacant buildings and have the homeless live in them and use candlelight for the electricity.

President Bush should understand more of what's happening in the United States so he can protect the people of his country and the people will respect him a lot more.

Here are some tips for Bush

by David Davenport
5th grade

Dear President Bush,
If you would like to be known as the education president, here are some tips for you.

First, fund more computers to school. If we need are going to learn to use computers starting in 1990 we should have the computers ready to work with.

Another recommendation that I think should really be stressed in education is giving homework more often. Teachers should give less challenging homework to those students who are not good at that one subject being worked on. The slower

Sources running out

by Casey Thorp
6th grade

I think the greatest issue facing the American Public is that our energy sources, such as gas, oil, and water, are running out.

Americans should save our energy resources everywhere across America by setting up and promoting a volunteer conservation program. If they don't, before too long our energy will be gone. Americans should start today, so we can have a tomorrow.

students should practice alot more. Students that are doing well in that subject should have more challenging homework.

Students by the age of ten should be able to choose some of their own classes. I an tired of having the same classes.

Students would still have to take math, spelling, science, English, writing, reading, and social studies (history). I am talking about the elective classes like physical education (P.E), computer, choir, art, and health.

Mr. Bush one thing you should do though is make the school day longer by 1 (one) to 2 (two) hours to allow for the elective classes.

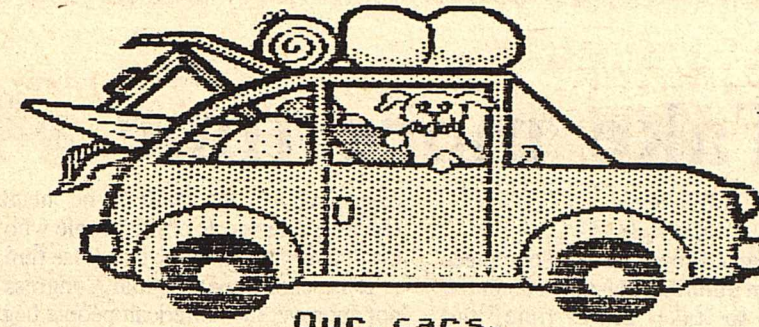

Please use my tips on improving education for U.S. school.

More jails needed

by Bonner Walch
5th grade

If I could give one bit of advice to the president, I would tell President Bush to make the government build more jails.

How would they get the money? They could start by cutting the salary of judges and senators by 25%. They would make these jails so prisoners would not have to be let go before time. This would help with many government and community problems.

Drugs only when ill

by Dawn Beebe
7th grade

I feel the greatest issue facing the American public is drugs. There are many kids and adults who ruin their lives because of drugs.

I think the doctors and pharmacists should be better monitored on the prescribing and selling of addictive drugs.

In order to get a class II drug of any type the doctor and pharmacist should have to register with a central data bank so a check can be made on doctors and pharmacists who issue too many addictive drugs.

With drugs I think all people need a good role-model. Most of the time the child will do what the parent does so if the parent takes drugs there is a good chance the child will too. The child needs to be taught that drugs are only to be used when ill.

citizens as we will be of him, he must remember that our country is very important. When we start believing in ourselves and our country no deficit or natural disaster will keep our beautiful country down.

Another bit of advice that I could give him is to work very hard at keeping peace between the world's many countries.

I feel that if he were to do these things, he would be known as a successful president. Then hopefully other presidents will follow in his footsteps and learn from him.

Remember working class

by Jeremy Yager
6th grade

If I could give President Bush one bit of advice on running the government of the United States it would be to remember the working men and women.

The working people are the ones who keep America running. The working man and woman vote in most elections and pay the majority of the taxes.

President Bush should look over all the taxes with the working class in mind. Also he could do away with or reconstruct the tax system to relieve the burden on the working class.

More field trips for kids

by Curt Dempsey
5th grade

President Bush wants to be the education president but how can he do it? I think that he should encourage schools to go on field trips each year.

This would be good because it would get students excited about school and learning. Most students learn better when they are excited.

He should make an announcement at the beginning of the school year and in public school week to the board of education about encouraging field trips. Trips would be paid for by the school and by fund raising activities. Students can walk to places in the community that are educational and some of the schools money will be saved because field trips don't have to be long and costly to be educational.

There would be more jobs for people who have lost their jobs in the past. We would have more money to build shelters for homeless people and to build more prisons.

The oil supply in other countries is undoubtedly running low. When they hit rock bottom they will start buying oil from us.

When we run out of oil we will move on to other resources like natural gas. In the future our scientists will come up with a synthetic material to replace oil and natural gas.

Don't spend so much

by Cole Crenwelge
7th grade

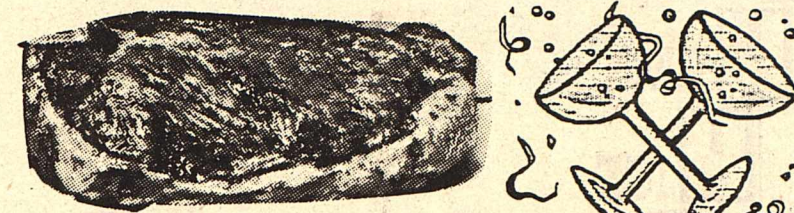

I think my bit of advice to President Bush would be not to spend so much.

He doesn't have to buy so many limos and other cars such as a $200,000 limo with everything, he can get the standard limo.

If he has to spend money on stuff, spend it to help other people buy things such as food.

So in George Bush's term I really do think he should not spend so much.
