The Planned Parenthood of West Texas, Inc. is providing campaign starts here Sonora merchants are asking local residents to share more than the Christmas spirit this year.

Christmas shopping

They want Sonorans to "Share the Pride" when they make their Yuletide purchases, keeping Sonora businesses in mind.

The new campaign begins today. According to the Sonora Merchants Association, at least 30 percent of the town's retail economy, including sales tax rebates, is generated during the six weeks preceding Christmas.

Although the name of the new "Share the Pride" campaign lacks the seasonal flavor of the traditional Christmas Drawing in Sonora, the idea remains the same.

Local shoppers will be reminded that Sonora retailers have a lot to offer, and local dollars can be kept circulating at home.

This year participating retailers will issue "Share the Pride" cards to customers, and as each of the card's 25 dots - representing purchases are covered, the cardholder comes closer to earning discounts of up to 15 percent.

Five cards are available for each Sonora shopper, the first of which entitles the bearer to a 5 percent honored guests at the Annual discount. The amount of the Chamber of Commerce banquet.

"We feel that "Share the Pride" can have a powerful impact on our local economy," said Sonora Chamber of Commerce and Sonora Retail Merchants' Association member John Tedford. "We feel it is a fresh idea, will be fun for all Sonorans, and will appeal to a general sense of pride in Sonora and in what it has to offer its citizens."

If some local residents think 'Share the Pride" means the end of sharing the presents, they're mistaken.

"All completed cards turned in by customers will be placed in a hopper," explained Sonora Retail Merchants' Association President Ronald Cox. "On each of the four Saturdays in December, drawings will be held with the winners receiving gift certificates donated by the non-discount participants."

After Christmas, Cox said, the 20 persons completing the most cards will be honored for having supported the local economy. They will also, he said, be extended a 15 percent discount at all participating stores for three months and will be

GAS REGULATORS URGED CHECKED

With the arrival of the winter heating season, Texas homeowners who fuel furnaces and appliances with liquified petroleum gas should double-check to make sure the regulator on thier propane or butane tank is properly installed and protected from snow and ice, say safety officials of the Railroad Commission's LP Gas Division.

If the regulator vent ices over, high-pressure gas can be released directly to home appliances. A normal 3/4-inch blue flame on an appliance could suddenly shoot up, becoming a dangerous torch. Over the past few winters, several home and business fires have been caused by such regulator freeze-ups, officials say.

Regulators on many home tanks are located under a protective metal dome on the top of the tank, shielding them from weather and insects. Homeowners with tanks where the circular regulator has been installed outside the dome cover should check to make sure the regulator vent is pointing down toward the ground, away from the weather.

Homeowners concerned about whether or not their regulator is properly installed should contact the LP-gas dealer who fills or services the tank. For further information, contact Brian Schaible with the Railroad Commission's Office of Information Services, 512-463-6710.

Birds of a feather flock together this Saturday SUPPORT THE TURKEY WALK

Hunting humor: an eye for an eye

I learned a few things last weekend, not the least of which is not to make fun of other people.

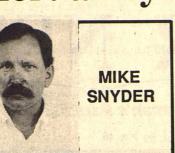

Because sometimes "other people" can be me.

It all began when Scott Gilmore, a decent, honest fellow, made the mistake of telling me about his first deer hunting experience last year.

It seems that Scott, spotting his quarry, quickly shouldered his rife, aimed, and BANG. He caught the scope right above his eye, a laceration that required immediate medical attention.

Well, I was in stitches when Scott told me that hunting tale, and I made the mistake of retelling it a few days ago - just as we were setting out on my first deer hunting trip.

My hunting partner must have thought I was above making a similar error, but just to be sure he showed me how to hold the rifle firmly against my shoulder. It wasn't all that different from shooting an M16 when I was in the Army, with one major exception. Most M16s don't have scopes.

We set a soft drink can against a dirt bank and I kneeled a good distance away, sighted in, and when then gently squeezed. I saw a puff of dust just inches from the can, and I stood up with a broad smile on my face.

By my partner wasn't smiling. "Mike," he said in a strained voice. "What happened?"

Just about then I felt something running down my face. I hoped it was just sweat, but even without a mirror I knew better. The scope got me just like it did Scott Gilmore.

I just felt embarassed, dumb and vulnerable as I held a napkin between my eyes. How in the world could it happen to me?

"What's really ironic," my hunting partner said shaking his head, "is that you just finished telling me how that happened to someone else."

Yeah, I thought, while holding an ice cube to the tender area, now it's Scott's turn to laugh.

I know I would if I were him.

In Praise of Canadian Medicine

After a recent encounter, I have recieved 14 federal documents and nine documents from other sources regarding a hospital stay of five days, and the deluge is only one half completed. Along with the aroma, a question arises. Is this necessary? Simply, NO, but our accounting system which would have done well with the "buggywhip" industry must be modernized. It has survived due to the occasional provider of medical care who has a propensity for monumental fraud.

Another question is the billing technique. When an individual goes to a hospital for medical care, why for its one-thousand dollars per day or more, can it not provide to medicare one bill with a confirmation copy to the consumer? If the janitor of a neighboring building sends me a bill, I am going to be very disturbed.

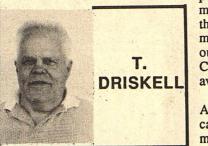

We talk about equal health care for all citizens, within, according to the American Medical Association, our present system, utilizing

Against the growing population in the below poverty level bracket, taxpayers should not be deluded, only shuddering.

I have been hospitalized in both British and Canadian hospitals, and other than the minimal number of tests, some of which were questionable substitutes for diagnosis, the care and drugs were identical. The billing, was sheer

An important first step in implementing elementary computing is the planning process; a step that will help districts effectively use technology, help increase student pleasure, one bill covered the entire medical care account, which says that their systems do not have the massive bureaucracy that sandbags ours. It has been reported that Canada has more hospital beds available than we have per capita.

The American Medical Association has spent millions campaigning against socialized medicine, and painting ours as the ideal system. Fine, but what happens if all federal grants, medicaid, and medicare programs disappeared? How do you define socialized? Look at the equipment around a modern hospital and ask yourself how much of it would be there if there were no federal money available?

It has been said that socialized medicine is here, but the low salaried taxpayers, especially in their later years do not have access to it. They represent the coming majority, somehow, the Canadian system is looking better and better.

About the time you think you have people figured out, they pull something new or totally out of character.

The recent Galindo trial attests to the fact that you never really know who someone is until you see them in action. Such is human nature. The character witnesses seemed to believe in Mr. Galindo and were willing to testify in his behalf, but experience has shown me that people are capable of incredible things, good and bad.

Peaked emotions bring the best and worse out of us all, some say our true selves are revealed. I would like to think that rather than our true selves, it is more an indication of our limits.

For instance, fear has caused me to react in many ways. Once I turned tail and ran from a threatening situation. Am I a coward? Another time I killed three unarmed teenagers who suddenly appeared in a dark alley

LETTERS -Although I am on the other side

Letter to the Editor I'm mad too, Eddie. You, the intors in the Alfredo Galindo trial the supposedly intelligent and conscientious people of Sutton County have really shown your ignorance this time. You sat there and listened (?) to the testimony in this trial. You heard Mr. Hood proven to be a liar time after time. You heard him say he was absolutely positively POSITIVE beyond any doubt Mr. Galindo sold him drugs on January 21 at exactly 7:45 p.m. When Galindo proved to have an unshakable alibi for this time, (surprise) J.W.. and Lonnie changed the time, this one he was absolutely positively POSITIVE of. This is just one of the many inconsistencies of this farce of a trial. I have known the Galindo family for many years. They are a fine, hard working family. A family I am proud to call my friends. Alfredo Galindo is NOT a drug dealer. But there are plenty of them still around. Our high school is even full of them. The question I want answered is "Why did Webster hire an incompetent snitch at the cost of over $10,000 when a real drug agent could be brought into Sutton County at little or no cost?" The answer is pretty obvious isn't it? A federal agent couldn't be told who he could investigate and who he couldn't.

- and the elderly, hard working and reasonably intelligent. However, it does not mean that my behavior can be predicted in all situations. I too, have 'skeletons in my closet' that will never be known to another individual..

I do not know Mr. Galindo and this is not to pass judgement on him. All I'm saying is that people will surprise you, even when you think you know them. To those frustrated character witnesses who yelled "prejudice" on the part of juriors, lawyers and other officials, you really need to stop and think. "Did I really know him?"

Most of the time our racially mixed community gets along well together. Do you think that our true selves change when such issues arise? Before you react to anything that involes your emotions, stop and think of these things.

Remember, people will surprise you.

people are guilty of selling drugs, then I have to wonder who is supplying them. Of all the 14

Suggestions for the planning process include: inventory of existing equipment and catalog software, planning with campus level committees, and considering budget needs to implement, such as, the initial investment, repairs, software, teacher training, and replacing obsolete equipment.

At the Intermediate School, we are in the process of training our teachers in general computer awareness, literacy, programming, application and program design (i.e., curriculum, instructional elements, delivery formats). The teachers receive this training on a voluntary basis at the High School and Jr. High computer labs one night a week. Our students are sharing the Jr. High computer lab on a rotating basis so each student will have access to the lab once every other week.

Our students and teachers are excited about the opportunity to learn more about technology and its applications to today's educational curriculum. If I am to believe all these Say what you will about Domingo Garcia. He stood up for truth and justice. He exposed Lonnie Hood for the deserting coward and liar he really is. Mr. Hood personally told me he was an ex-preacher. Move over, Jim Baker. He also said he didn't like beer, but he drank it in bars so no one would think he was a narc. Said he was a whiskey man himself. Makes a lot of sense.

As for J.W. Johnson, this man is an overly ambitious politician, a man who would do anything to win cases and look good in the public eye. Whatever it takes. I wouldn't vote for this man again if he were running for dog-catcher (no offence, Daniel).(Sic) We don't need people like him in public office. We need honest people, with at least a little bit of integrity and some scruples. Look them up, J.W. if you don't know what they mean. You were right on target about skeletons in people's closets. I remember your college days. Ever heard of grass houses? You also got your very first clients in that bar you so condemn now. How quickly we forget. Jean Danford

Land program seeks applicants

Pointing to the importance of recognizing and remembering the pioneer farm and ranch families in Texas, County Judge Carla Fields has invited long-time farming families to participate in the Texas Department of Agriculture's 1990 Family Land Heritage Program.

Registration for the program, which recognizes families who have had land in agricultural production for 100 years or more, is now open and will extend through July 15, County Judge Fields said.

"To date, four properties in Sutton County have qualified for the Family Land Heritage Program, and this year I hope we will be able to identify more," she said. Since the program was established in 1974 to honor pioneering families, 2090 such families have been recognized.

The basic requirements of the program include continuous agricultural production on the farm or ranch for 100 years, land ownership within the family, complete operation or supervision of the farm/ranch production by family members who are Texas residents, and a size of at least 10 acres with a minimum income of $50 from farm or ranch products. If the farm or ranch is smaller than 10 acres, sales must total $250 per

This year's certified registrants will be honored at state ceremony. to be held in Austin this month. Honorees will receive a certificate with an official sign/marker to be placed on the recipients gate or home designating their property as a "Century Farm" or "Century Ranch". Additionally, a Family Land Heritage Registry will later be published and distributed to all honorees.

Those who wish to apply may obtain an application from Carla Fields, Patricia Johnson, or the nearest TDA district office or by writing to: Family Land Heritage Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Tigers roar

The Tiger Cub Den of Sonora Cub Scout Pack 19 is off to a "roaring" start this fall, with 13 first-grade boys looking forward to a year to "Search, Discover and Share." New Tiger Cubs for 1989-90 are Cole Cearly, Jason Gutierrez, Ryan Hardgrave, Trey Johnson, Dusty Padilla, Pete Samiengo, Jerrad Solis, Walker Thompson, Stephen Vickers, Chris Weingart, Bryce Williams, Bobby Wilson and Austin Youngblood. Each boy is assisted by his adult partner in all meetings and activities.

Meetings are held on the second Thursday of each month, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., at the Boy Scout Hut. Claudia Dempsey, Cub Master, spoke at the October meeting to familiarize the boys and partners with the Tiger Cub program in general. At the November 9th meeting, Bryce Williams and his partner/dad Reggie (who is the Tiger Cub Organizer this year) presented the first of the Tiger Cub "Big Ideas" called "Getting To Know You." Each cub introduced his partner and told several things that the two of them enjoy doing together. Mr. Williams and Bryce presented the boys with orange, T-shaped wooden name tags to be worn at all the meetings. The adult partners received smaller nametags. Several games were played and the boys learned the Tiger Cub motto and promise. A light supper of hotdogs, chips and cookies was provided by the Williams family.

By now, all the boys have received their Tiger Cub uniform shirts to wear at meetings and activities such as the "Scouting for Food" drive that the boys will participate in on Saturday, November 11th. The boys also were eager participants in the recent scouting fundraiser, selling lots of popcorn and candles. In the Tiger Cub den, the top five boys for popcorn sales were first-Pete Samaniego, Second-Bryce

Williams, third-Ryan Hardgrave, Fourth-Trey Johnson and fifth-Dusty Padilla. In the candle sales, the top five boys were first-Pete Samaniego, second-Bobby Wilson, third-Ryan Hardgrave, fourth-Dusty Padilla and fifth Stephen Vickers. One of the Tiger Cubs, Cole Cearly, found a Mystery Prize certificate which had been hidden at a local home during the fundraiser. All the boys, their partners, and their customers are to be congratulated for their generous support of scouting in Sonora.

At the October 23rd Pack Meeting, two Tiger Cubs were

WTU cut rates

(November 10) Customers of West Texas Utilities Co. will see approximately a 10 percent drop in their rates beginning this month (November). The reduction is the result of using the lower winter rates which will be in effect for six months. Using higher summer and lower winter rates is part of the States' plan to encourage energy conservation during the summer when air conditioning creates the peak demand on electricity use.

According to the WTU Local Manager Earl J. Johnson "a residential customer using 478 kilowatt hours (KWH) of electricity a month, the average for November 1988, will see his bill go from $45.29 to $40.88." Other customer groups will see similar reductions Earl J. Johnson said.

Since mild fall weather has reduced many customers' cooling and heating use, the actual decrease in the electric bill from September, when average use was 959 KWHs, to November will probably be around 51.5 percent. That decrease includes the combined impact of lower winter rates and lower use resulting from mild weather. The actual size of a customers' bill is determined by their use.

While the higher summer rates are intended to encourage conservation, lower winter rates benefit the customer two ways Earl J. Johnson said. First is lower cost to heat homes and businesses. Second, winter usage makes more efficient use of WTU's facilities and helps spread the costs more evenly throughout the year.
