10 years as chief Gesch, Sonora work together

Interesting, enjoyable, challenging.

Those are the adjectives that Sonora Police Chief Brent Gesch chose to describe his 10-year tenure as chief of police. March 5 was Gesch's 10 year anniversary as chief.

Gesch was named chief of police in 1980 by the Sonora City Council, following the resignation of former Police Chief Jerry Kemp.

Gesch described Kemp as a "good guy" that was hard to replace.

"I thought I might as well throw my name in the hat (when the council was selecting a new chief). When they chose me, I felt disbelief and ecstatic. I knew it would be different and difficult but worth the challenge," said Gesch.

"The people make the job easy, this is a good community. It is unique, while the town itself is small it is on Highway 277 which makes it an active small town" said Gesch.

Public service is the key to Gesch's reign as chief. He said most of what the police department does is in the area of public service.

"We help a lot of people who have locked their keys in their car. People don't know how important that is. It makes the person feel good when someone comes along and helps them out," said Gesch.

Gesch said the key to the low crime rate in Sonora is high visibility patrols. "If the criminals can see you, then they won't be committing as many crimes," said Gesch. He noted that Sonora averages about one aggravated assault per year.

Gesch said it is difficult to maintain high visibility with a four-man force but it has been easier since the city council recently brought the force to full strength

Gesch began his law enforcement career in Rocksprings in 1974. He attended Southwest Texas Junior College where he received an associate degree in law enforcement. Gesch has been certified as an instructor by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement and has received the on-going certification required by the State of Texas.

In 1977, Gesch joined the

Faris wins big at Houston Livestock Show

Sutton County 4-H'er Brian Faris' ewe took Reserve Champion Ewe honors over stiff competition at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo's Junior Rambouillet Breeding sheep show.

Twenty two 4-H members competed in three categories of the show: Market lambs, Angora goats and Rambouillet sheep. Placings in the market lamb classes were: Brian Faris, 3rd; Cody Renfro, 6th; Justin Morley, 10th; Amy Patton, 17th; Anthony Renfro, 18th; Matthew Smith, 24th; and Shawna Faris, 24th. Bobby Mogford made the preliminary cut and other participants were Jason Jacoby, John Jones, Julie Jones, David Fisher, Tammy Fisher, Hadley Smith, Shawn Wallace, Walker Wallace, Jason Morley, Sara Patton and Brandon Faris.

Judge Carl Menzies, resident director of research at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, said he was impressed with the quality of the sheep.

"Most of the good flocks in the state were exhibited here, so it was highly competitive," said Menzies, a veteran of the sheep industry.

Menzies was especially impressed with the Champion Ewe and Champion Ram.

The Champion Ewe, a ewe lamb, was owned and shown by Kallie Jo Kohls of Glasscock County 4-H in Garden City, Texas.

"She's a tremendously thick ewe lamb, with lots of size and scale to her," Menzies said.

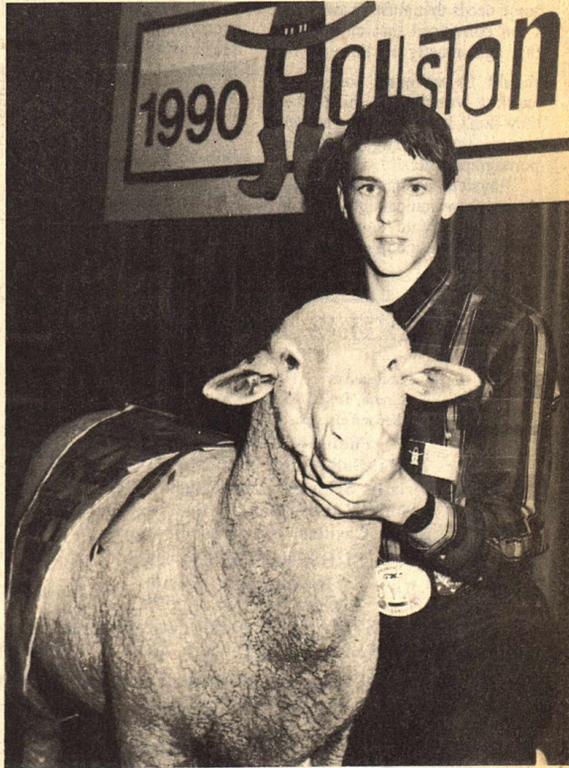

The title of Champion Ram went to a lamb owned by Donnie Eckhoff. Eckhoff, a member of the San Saba FFA, is from San Saba, Texas.

"This ram lamb has a nice fleece with a good stoutish-kind of body," Menzies said. "He stands extremely straight on his feet and legs."

Reserve Champion Ewe honors went to the ewe owned by Brian Faris, a Sutton County 4-H'er from Sonora.

A two-tooth ram, owned by Jeremiah Williams, won the Reserve Champion Ram title. Williams is a Sterling County 4-H member from Sterling City, Texas.

Are sinuses good for anything but trouble?

by Scott Gilmore

Sinuses are nothing more than small, hollow, air containing cavities in the skull. Yet these small cavities are the cause of throbbing pain, congestion and headaches for millions of Americans.

Are sinuses good for anything but trouble? Experts say yes... they add resonance to our voices, lighten the weight of our skulls and even improve our sense of smell. But, despite their physical function, at some time in life, these pesky little cavities cause problems for almost everyone.

What causes sinus trouble?

Each sinus is lined with a mucous membrane and is connected to the nasal cavity by a tiny duct. When mucous membranes become swollen, these small ducts are blocked and cannot drain or exchange air with the nose. Trapped air and secretions can cause sinuses to become inflamed and painful. Bacteria multiply easily in the inflamed sinuses, and often an acute infection develops. Inflammation or infection of the membranes lining the sinuses is called Sinusitis

The most common cause of sinusitis is a cold or upper respiratory infection. Allergies, a deviated septum (misalignment of the bone and cartilage that separate the nasal passages), polyps (benign growths) in the nose or enlarged and inflamed adenoids can also interfere with sinus drainage. Forced entry of bacteria or other infectious organisms into the sinus cavities may cause sinusitis as well. This can happen when infected secretions are carried into the sinuses by forceful blowing of the nose or by water that enters the nose during swimming.

What are the symptoms?

It's not always easy to distinguish a sinus infection from a simple cold, but there are some differences in symptoms. After about three days a cold will usually start to improve. But a sinus infection will get worse after two or three days and continue to worsen. Other symptoms may include a thick, yellowish nasal discharge, facial pain, fever and chills.

Sinus pain is generally characterized by a headache or facial pain, usually on one side of the head. Headaches are usually more severe in the late morning. Sinus pain can occur around the eyes, in the upper jaw, ear, neck and at the top of the head. Where the pain strikes depends on which set of sinuses are involved (there are four sets).

Sinus attacks can be acute, coming on rapidly and lasting about a week or ten days; or chronic, lasting for months with continual discomfort or periodic flare-ups. Chronic sinus inflammation can be triggered by smoking or inhaling someone else's smoke, exposure to an allergen, eating spicy foods, drinking alcohol or being exposed to chilly, damp weather.

There's no sure way to prevent all forms of sinusitis, but there are some things you can do to protect yourself. Stay away from smoke. When blowing your nose, blow gently and blow both nostrils at the same time. Use a humidifier to help prevent drying of mucus and blockage of sinus draining. See your doctor promptly. Following these preventive measures and seeking prompt treatment will reduce your chances of developing complications.

Who is a Junior High student?

by Smith Neal

Evidence from medical science, psychology, and other areas shows that junior high students are passing through a special, critical period of their lives. The change from childhood to adolescence is an important time of life. It is also a difficult time. Children from age 10 through 15 must endure more changes than they will for the rest of their lives. They are changing physically, sexually, mentally, socially, emotionally, and morally.

Parents and teachers of children in this age group see changes in how these children think, how they look, how they feel, how they act, how they eat, how they grow, and how they change in many other ways. If these changes are hard for parents and teachers to understand, just think how difficult it is for the child. If we adults are sometimes frustrated, angry, sometimes happy, and sometimes sad about our experiences with them, we should try to imagine how they feel. There are more important changes taking place when children are 6th, 7th and 8th graders than during any other three years in a person's life, except the first three years of life.

When I am interviewing prospective teachers for junior high jobs, I tell them that if they do not like working with this age group, then they had best not take the job. Children of this age will drive one bonkers if he doesn't really like this age child.

On the other hand, a junior high teacher has an opportunity to help children get through these difficult years without receiving or giving too many battle scars.

Junior high is a time of transition from elementary to high school, but it is not just a transition. These students have some needs that must be met now. I am convinced that children at this age, mostly 11 through 14, should be so busy doing and learning worth-while things that they don't have time to get into crime, sex, drugs, liquor, pornography, etc.

Physical changes that occur during these junior high years, in our time, create some of the problems that people of earlier generations did not have to face until later in life. Children are taller and heavier than their parents or grandparents were at the same age. Today's children are also

All these changes mean that in junior high we must provide instruction in personal health, sex education, vigorous physical education, and instruction in social skills. At the same time, we must continue to prepare students academically for high school, and this includes instruction in such innovative fields as computer technology.

The bottom line is that the junior high student is not who he was a few years ago, and the school and the teacher must adapt to the changes that have occurred.

Healthier and can expect to live longer. Junior high is the age of the "growth spurt." Children grow more in height and weight during these years than during any other period, girls before boys; but by the beginning of high school, most boys have begun to catch up and pass the girls in physical growth. Students are faced with new bodies, in muscular and skeletal terms which must be mastered again. Self-consciousness about appearance is probably as high as it will ever be. Parents wonder what these children do in front of a mirror so long.

Puberty, the arrival of sexual abilities, has been appearing earlier and earlier with each passing generation. One hundred years ago, puberty arrived for the average American girl at about 16.5 years of age. Today our average American girl reaches puberty at 11.5 years of age. Today's early adolescent is much more sexually mature in both a physical and a social sense, boys as well as girls.

This is happening because of improved nutrition and diets, more and earlier immunization to disease, better medical care, increased use of vitamins and minerals. For whatever reason, when it comes to sexual maturity, our children have changed. Today's twelve-year-old is motivated by things that used to be reserved for youths ten years older.

Farmers and ranchers start withholding taxes from employees

By Preston Faris, CEA-Ag.

Employers are required to withhold income tax, regardless of the number of employees, beginning in January 1990. In prior years, agricultural producers with 10 or less employees did not have to withhold federal income taxes when paying employees. Farmers were required to withhold Social Security contributions, but many were not required to withhold any income taxes under the old rules.

This change will require many producers to ask their employees to complete a W-4 form, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate." Next January, these same employees must be provided a W-2 form, "Wage and Tax Statement 1990," by their employer.

Income taxes and Social Security payments withheld must be submitted to the IRS on a regular basis. If the accumulated liability at the end of each month (employee and employer contributions) is $500 or more, the amount withheld must be submitted on a monthly basis by the 15th of the following month. These payments are made into an authorized bank using a preinscribed Federal Tax Deposit Coupon Form 8109-B.

If the total undeposited taxes for the quarters are less than $500, the payment is due on a quarterly basis by the last day of the month following the quarter.

Form 943, "Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees" is used to report a summary of contributions. This form is filed annually, but producers must remember that the payment of the tax liability is made monthly or quarterly.

In summary, here are the steps for the employer:

1) Get an IRS employer number. Request an employer number on Form SS-4. Call 1-800-424-3676 to request the form.

2) Have the employee complete a Form W-4. These forms are available from the IRS at the same phone number as in step 1. This completed form must be kept on file until the employee elects to change his withholding, at which time he completes a new form. Get the W-4 on file as quickly as possible, but in the absence of a completed form withhold tax as if the employee were single, with no withholding allowances.

3) Next, withhold the tax from the employee's paycheck. The amount of withholding is determined by using the tax tables in Circular E, "Employer's Tax Guide."

4) Make timely deposits of the taxes at the financial institution, normally a local national bank, designated as a depository of

Stuff Happens

Remember the glass-of-water test -- half full or half empty? Optimist or pessimist, which was it?

As you may suspect, this half-baked trial determines nothing. Everyone alternates between good and bad days, and positive and negative states of mind. Unfortunately, some people falsely conclude they are invariably one or the other after participating in such games. It becomes a trap. Good or bad, they are self-imposed limitations that prove to be upsetting to an otherwise peaceful state of mind when deviations occur.

A personality functions most efficiently with the fewest limitations and inhibitions. If you believe yourself to be an optimist, there will be times when you feel forced to behave as such when you may really want to react in another manner. No big deal, but this sort of internal conflict has ways that 'snowball' into confusion and further inhibitions - you may feel controlled by outside sources. Don't force yourself to respond categorically by anything or anyone in every situation. On the other hand, don't accept that you are a victim to every ill that may befall you.

You can control events and yourself if you clearly define an objective and earnestly try to achieve it. The control must be exerted at the very point of impact, that point before feelings and reactions have had a chance to develop. You control events by acting toward them in ways that will advance you in the direction of your goal. It calls for breaking old and undesirable habits, realizing the choices that accompany every situation and by accepting the fact that stuff happens.

Let's say today you want to maintain a happy, peaceful state of mind throughout the day (week, month, year or lifetime). This must be your uppermost objective, you've got to want it more than anything else.

The sun is rising to reveal a wonderful morning. Great! You're off to a good start. Then the spouse wakes in a foul mood which usually causes argument and tension. However, this morning you decide to make a casual, humorous observation concerning the negative state and react no further. You leave for the office cheerful.

Flat tire! You usually cuss and

Tips On Toys

How to make choosing toys more like child's play? Don't buy a toy just because it's popular, advise the experts--look for toys that not only have long term play value but also offer an educational experience. Toys that motivate infants and toddlers include musical mobiles, cloth blocks that jingle, plush toys in primary colors or even a soft ball that baby can roll. Art supplies, a tricycle and puzzles can be perfect playthings for a preschooler. Also fun: Miniaturized versions of items that mommy and daddy use such as a lawn mower, kitchens, calculators, typewriters.

One item that's fun to wear and may also be a perfect teaching tool is the Time Teacher from Sharp Watches. Available at local retailers and toy specialty stores, the water-resist wrist watch comes with a read-along story booklet, seven-minute audio cassette and an enlarged trainer flash card with movable hands.

By following a few simple guidelines, parents can help their youngsters have hours of fun and a positive educational experience.

Over $4 Million For America's Elementary Schools

One company will contribute more than $4 million to elementary schools across the country in 1990.

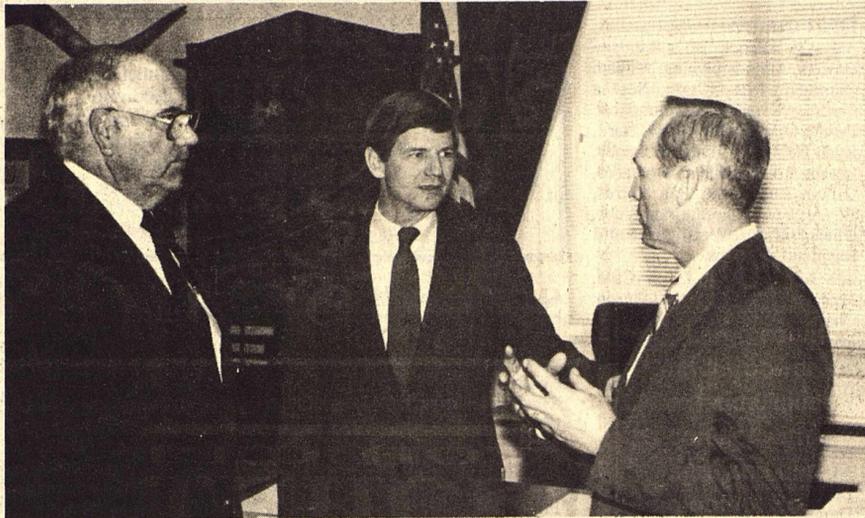

For every pound of Jif Peanut Butter sold in the U.S. between February 1 and April 30, 1990, ten cents will go to the Jif Children's Education Fund. The fund is expected to total at least $4 million; however, there is no upper limit to the contribution. There are no restrictions on how schools spend the money. Participation is easy. All schools have to do is register.

Money from this fund will go directly to parent-teacher groups in every elementary school registered by March 31, 1990.

Schools will get a share of the fund based on the student enrollment in grades kindergarten through six. They have the option to increase the amount they receive from the fund by collecting Jif cash register receipts. The peanut butter company invited all public, parochial and private elementary schools in the U.S. to register.

"We realize one of today's most pressing concerns for parents is education," explained Jim Stengel of Jif.

To maximize the number of schools which benefit from the program, Jif will allow sign-ups through March 31, 1990. Elementary school parent-teacher group presidents can call a special hotline at 1-800-544-6143, ext. 124 to enroll.

120,000 Texans named in Unclaimed Money Fund

State Treasurer Ann W. Richards said Friday that more than 120,000 Texans have $99 million in lost or forgotten money coming to them this year--up 65 percent from last year's $60 million.

The 120,000 are named in the 1990 version of the Texas Treasury Unclaimed Money List which was published statewide on Sunday, March 4 in 27 newspapers.

"Each year we try to locate as many people as we can and return this money to them," Richards said. "Last year about $26 million was given back to rightful owners."

All listed accounts are worth at least $50 with the largest account worth close to $103,000. All safe deposit boxes and stocks are listed regardless of the value.

Generally, accounts on the list are from checking and savings accounts, utility deposits, oil royalties, and corporate stocks.

Most accounts must be dormant from three to five years before they are turned over to the state.

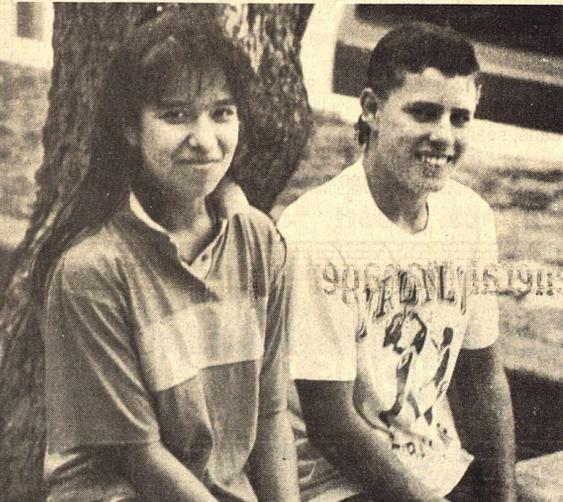

"There is no set time to make a claim on these accounts," Treasurer Richards said. "Money turned over to the State Treasury can be claimed at any time in the future by the original owner or his or her heirs."

Persons who find their names on the list can call the Texas State Treasury on its toll-free telephone line at 1-800-654-3463 or they can write the State Treasury at P. O. Box 17728, Austin, Texas 78760. The toll-free line opened at noon on March 4.

During the first few weeks after the list is published, the toll-free line is often tied up by the volume of calls. The lines, however, are kept open for an extended period and there is no time limit for making a claim.

The telephone hours are 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Monday through Friday from March 5 through April 6. April 7, the hours will be from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

THANK YOU

The people of Sonora: First I want to thank all of the people for the help that was given to us and to Isaak Fraire and his family, who work for us during the time of the accident at our ranch. Also to the different churches and to the Eastern Star for their recent Bake sale. Isaak and family received money, clothes, food and lots of prayers. All these were greatly appreciated. A few days ago Isaak received more food and he thanks everyone who did this. We now have some help from CIDC for his wife's therapy and doctor bills, etc. We want the people to know that Maria and baby (Liliana) are doing good and at this time don't need anything else but your prayers. Thank you, Mrs. Ray Flinn

THEY WIN, HE LOSES - His beard that is. Sonora High School School Choir Director John Zimmerman loses his beard - as part of the choir tradition - as Eric Galindo wacks off a few locks. Zimmerman started the tradition in which he loses his beard if the choir takes a first in competition. The high school entertainment group, Sounds Unlimited, recently took a first at the Solo and Ensemble competition March 3.

DID YOU KNOW?

They're a part of your life: Every day, each of us uses man-made chemicals called chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs). Here are some facts you may not know about these essential chemicals:

- If you live in a modern home or apartment, drive a car or work in a modern building, you will find CFCs. They are used in air-conditioning systems and energy-efficient insulation.
- When you eat perishable foods that were refrigerated at the supermarket or in your home, you use CFCs.

TOASTING TEXAS - Texas Independence Day was last Friday and local Sonorans held a Toast to Texas at Bits and Pieces of Sonora. Pictured is Colonel Jim Stephen of the Army of the Texas Republican offering a toast to the great state's independence.

Sonorans toast Texas

Over 50 local Texans gathered on Friday, March 2 under the protection of the six flags which have flown over Texas, to offer a toast to Texas Independence.

At 2 p. m. CST Colonel Jim Stephen, Texas Army of the Republic proposed the following toast to Texas . . .

To Texas

Joyous and sparkling,
Evergreen when it rains, enduring in drought,
Timeless, endless in boundaries, exciting,
Home to the adventurous of yesterday and today
With shrines from the past
And space and spirit for the future.

To Texas,
Everlasting in the hearts of your people!

Glasses of water were also raised in a toast to Sonora and Sutton County in honor of its 100 years as Jim Fish read a poem he had written for the occasion.

The local celebration was hosted by Bits and Pieces of Sonora.

Where's the Beef? On the Bird!

More than $100 million dollars worth of cattle were sold this year, yet not one head had to leave the ranch. Why? Because sellers and bidders conducted business right at home, through special auctions via satellite.

Sponsored by Superior Livestock (Fort Worth, TX), bi-monthly auctions feature cattle videotaped in their natural environment. Tapes are played back live via satellite and buyers phone in bids. Animals aren't transported, protecting them from disease, weight loss and injury. Buyers benefit because they can select from healthy herds, shop at home and still get the nation's best "pickins."

If you're simply interested in how beef is priced, you'll find these auctions informative. Dates and times of future auctions are available through Superior Livestock at (800) 422-2117.

There's only one network that's entirely devoted to the nation's largest industry, agriculture. RFD-TV (satellite W5, channel 17) offers 136 hours of programming per week. Each weekday begins with up-to-the-minute news, weather and commodity information. Coverage continues with live reports from virtually every major market in the USA and Canada—highlighting cash grains, livestock, futures, currencies and dairy-egg-poultry markets.

Price quotes from the Mercantile Exchange and Board of Trade tick across the bottom of the RFD-TV screen with only a ten-minute delay, and a prime-time version of "News" and "Commodity Wrap" airs before and after the evening movie. Firmly committed to family entertainment, RFD-TV dishes out over 30 hours of movies a week and fun weekend shows including outdoor sports, wrestling and a polka hour.

One program that sums up the "ag world" on a weekly basis is the "U.S. Farm Report," hosted by broadcast veteran Orion Samuelson. Airing Saturday mornings on WGN and KWGN, the show provides farmers with useful planning and marketing information.

If your area is serviced by a local electric co-op and telephone system, you may purchase programming directly through them. This service is called Rural TV. And, if network signals are not clearly received in your town, you qualify to subscribe to the Prime Time 24 package which brings you WBBM (CBS/Chicago), WXIA (NBC/Atlanta) and WABC (ABC/New York).

On the entertainment front this week, Eddie Rabbit headlines "Pairs and Festivals: Walworth County" (The Nashville Network, March 13) and Showtime airs two specials to celebrate the 20th anniversary of "Monty Python and the Flying Circus." "The Life of Python" (March 16) features special guests including Jane Curtin and Chevy Chase. "Twenty Odd Years of Monty Python" (March 17) contains the last professional appearance of the six original members and rare outtakes.

Sunday, catch horse racing's classic Louisiana Derby from the New Orleans Fair Grounds (Sunshine Network, March 18) and "The Blue Revolution," one of a series of specials covering man's relationship with the ocean (Discovery).

NOTICE OF TARIFF CHANGE TO CENTRANET® SERVICE

GTE Southwest Incorporated gives notice of its proposed tariff changes to CentraNet® service, which is a Central Office-based service that provides PBX-type features to multi-line business customers and is currently being offered in all company wire centers where such facilities exist to provide the service.

The Public Utility Commission of Texas approved a generic tariff for CentraNet® service up to 100 lines in Docket No. 7652. The proposed tariff revision would establish specific rates for CentraNet® service involving 101 to 400 lines. Other proposed revisions involve the rate applicable to changes, additions, or deletions to the data bases and a new rate is proposed for additional trunks.

The names of the three CentraNet® packages have changed from Standard, Premium, and Deluxe to CentraNet® 1000, CentraNet® 2000, and CentraNet® 3000, respectively. Direct Call Pickup has been added to the three CentraNet® packages while Multiple Call Park and Shared Speed Call 30 have been added to CentraNet® 2000, and Speed Call 30 and Call Forward Busy/No Answer Split have been added to CentraNet® 3000. Flexible Night Answer and Automatic Route Selection also have been added as new optional features.

The proposed changes and new service offerings have been assigned Docket No. 9251, and pursuant to Section 43(d) of the Public Utility Regulatory Act will become effective June 23, 1990. Rates for service will be applicable to customers who subscribe to the service as well as existing customers. Therefore, there will be no effect on any other rates of the company. The company's gross annual revenues will increase by approximately $399,600, or less than one percent annually.

The proposed rates are on file with the Public Utility Commission of Texas, and are available for public inspection at the offices of GTE Southwest Incorporated. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission. The deadline to intervene in this docket is 3:00 p.m., March 19, 1990.

A request to intervene, participate, or for further information, should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas, 78757. A Glimpse of Glory -- Matthew 17: 1-9

As the coming of God's Son into the world is the high point of all history, so the Transfiguration of our Lord is the watershed in Jesus' life -- standing between Christmas and Good Friday. Matthew is clear, as Mark and Luke are, to indicate the sequence of events that lead up to this spectacular scene. Jesus had asked His disciples: "Who do you say I am?" and received the answer: "The promised Christ, the Son of the living God" (16:15-16). Then our Lord said He must go to Jerusalem, suffer much from the elders, ruling priests, and Bible scholars, be killed and then rise on the 3rd day. Peter's disapproval of this prediction was as great a temptation to Jesus as that of "Satan" had been in the wilderness, and in response Christ said that not only He but also the disciples would have to deny themselves, take up their crosses, and come with Him. For from this mountain our Lord will begin that long and lonely journey up to Jerusalem and the Cross.

When we take time to be "alone" with Jesus -- that personal time to listen to & meditate on His Word for us, when we see Him for WHO & WHAT He is, when He is transfigured in our lives thru faith, then we begin our own journey, of costly discipleship, up to the 'new' Jerusalem. Although this divine glory was possessed by the Son of God from eternity, for most of the 33 years that Jesus lived visibly in the world He emptied Himself of its use-masking His divine nature behind His human nature. Yet on this occasion the Father permitted His Son's divine glory to shine thru His human shell.

Also on this occasion Moses and Elijah step out of heaven to stand with Jesus on the mountain. Moses, whom God had used in the original Exodus to rescue His people from the physical slavery of Egypt, represented the Law which he'd received at Mt. Sinai and presented to the Israelites. Elijah, representing the Old Testament Prophets, had been "very zealous" to defend that Word of the Covenant in an age of widespread unbelief among God's people. Moses and Elijah stand as a testimony that the Law and Prophets agree with the plan that Jesus would go to His death at Jerusalem. In his account, Luke tells us the topic of their conversation—that they were talking to Jesus about His 'exodus', His leaving this world, which was to happen at Jerusalem". So Moses and Elijah, having lived under the Law of Sinai, give evidence that they and the world, needed someone to pay for people's sins. This Exodus will lead Jesus to the Cross, where He will rescue people from slavery -- to the guilt, power and punishment of Sin.

Peter, who was anxious for the glorious Messiah to be unveiled but was offered at the suggestion of a suffering Christ, wanted to freeze this scene, to put such majesty on hold, and preserve this glorious moment. It wasn't the first time Peter had spoken when he should've been listening, and it wouldn't be the last—so he's interrupted by a bright cloud that surrounds them and a voice that says: "This is My Son whom I love and delight in. Listen to Him!" The bright cloud, which links the Transfiguration to a chain of important Old Testament events, indicates that God is moving His plan of salvation another significant step forward—one step closer to the Cross. The Father repeats the words He spoke at Jesus' Baptism, and adds: "Listen to Him!"— a quotation from Deuteronomy 18 that acknowledges Jesus as THE Prophet God had promised and Moses had looked forward to. Realizing that instead of paying attention to the Son of God—the "Word become flesh", they had been listening to others—notably the Jewish opinion that the promised Christ would appear as a Political Leader who'd expel the Romans and restore the land of Israel to the glory of David's day—the disciples fall in silent repentance.

In our listening today we may be greatly influenced by the 'opinion' of man—concerning the issues and problems we face in life and in the Church, instead of diligently searching the Scriptures and waiting for the Holy Spirit to reveal His divine truth. So God is here calling us back to that Word which "shall not pass away", saying "Listen to Him!"—to Him who is "The Way, The Truth, and the Life." And whatever else the Transfiguration may be, it is a story of a decision in our favor—in favor of all sinners. In this event we hear the first rumblings of the clouds of darkness that will surround Calvary, and just as Moses and Elijah step out of heaven onto this Mountain—so its just one step away for Jesus to enter there. But the decision is made, and we hear the results in verse 7: "But Jesus came and touched them, saying: 'Get up, and don't be afraid.'" Christ invites them—us, to stand—without fear, in the full and free forgiveness of the Father—which He will earn by His own suffering and death, as the sacrificial "Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world" (John 1:29). Thanks be to Jesus the Son, who in His great love for us will take no shortcut—but return home by the way of the Cross!

In our mountain-top experience of the Transfiguration, God's Spirit again urges us—in words of that spiritual song, to "Turn your eyes upon Jesus, Look fully in His wonderful face; and the things of earth will grow strangely dim, In the light of His glory and grace". As Christ's disciples, we are called to deny ourselves, take up our crosses, and follow Him. May Almighty God empower us to make this journey—all the way from the glory of our meeting Jesus up to the glory that shines in radiant splendor around the throne in Heaven.

Smith introduces bill to add 20 federal judgeships

"The Emergency Federal Judgeship Act of 1990" - likely to create nine new judgeships in Texas - was recently introduced to the U.S. House of Representatives by Congressman Lamar Smith.

"Despite the growing workload of the federal courts, Congress has not created any new judgeships since 1984," said Smith in a statement on the House floor. "Today our nation faces a critical shortage of federal judges."

The bill is the first piece of legislation in the House that addresses the nation-wide need for federal judges. It falls under the jurisdiction of the Judiciary Committee, of which Smith is a member.

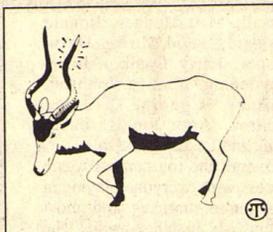

The assignment of positions will be based on the needs of those federal district courts that have been most severely impacted by the increase in drug-related crime cases.

"As we commit more resources and manpower to our drug enforcement and interdiction efforts, the strain on the federal courts will only increase," noted Smith. "Top priority must go to the areas where the drug war has put the greatest demand on our criminal justice system."

According to one estimate, the Western Division of Texas, including San Antonio, Midland, Austin, Pecos, Waco and Del Rio, could receive three new judgeships, the Southern District six.

Under Smith's bill, congress would act on recommendations from the Judicial Conference, the body charged with reviewing the workload of federal courts. Conference recommendations on judgeship assignments must be submitted to Congress 60 days after the bill's enactment.

Good News Comes In Three!

A 250-pound antelope called Doolin the "Duelin Addax" broke one of his three-foot horns during a fight with his father in Boston's Franklin Park Zoo. This left a six-inch stump and a long spear-like horn. Dangerous to himself and to others, he faced a life of isolation. Zoo officials remedied this by reattaching the horn using a combination of plastic adhesives. Doolin is now back with the pack.

A Miami couple survived an ordeal at sea because they were able to pump fresh water daily using a new plastic water purifier. The seven-pound plastic device kept the couple alive as they drifted for 66 days before being rescued this summer off the Pacific coast of Costa Rica.

Forty years ago, if someone lost a leg, he or she would probably have been fitted with a bulky artificial limb made from wood, metal and leather. Today, plastics technology and new prosthetic techniques have changed all that. Light-weight artificial limbs let amputees not only go back to work but also enjoy recreational activities. Although disabled, many of the nation's two million amputees lead physically active lives.
