Local 4-H wins national title in wool judging competition

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

The Sutton County 4-H National Wool Judging team beat out opponents from Albany County, Wyoming and Burnet County, Texas to win the 30th annual National 4-H Wool Judging Contest held in Sonora.

The team was composed of Brandy Wallace, Shane Keller, Tracy Love and alternate Tammy Fisher.

Wallace led the Sutton County team to the win by taking high honors with 616 points. She wasn't alone at the top as Keller finished third with 612 and Love fourth at 611. Fisher had 590 points which put her sixth.

Lolabeth Jones of the Sutton County Agricultural Extension Office said Keller would have finished at the top but had some trouble with forms in the 1/4 blood category.

The team advanced to the national finals by winning the state finals the week before. Preston Faris, who coached the team, said the national title is especially sweet because a lot of people did not give them much of a chance to win the state title at the beginning of the year.

Faris said learning to judge wool is a time consuming event. Luckily he had been teaching these kids since the third grade. It hasn't all been smooth as Love quite for a couple of years, but returned strong.

Love finished with second honors at state behind teammate Shane Keller.

It is the dedication that each individual shows that pays off in the long run, said Faris.

"You'd like to see them come along faster than they do," said Faris. "You (the coach) just have to be patient."

Faris said the keys to a good wool judging team are learning to grade and placing classes.

The national championship comes on the heels of the 1987 national championship.

In addition to the national championship, Sutton County won the Sweepstakes Award as the best all around 4-H Club. The club wrapped up 4,707 total points compared to 4,287 for second place Kendall County. Menard County finished third and Kerr County fourth.

In overall high for individuals Shawna Faris and David Fisher of Sutton County finished tied for second in the novice division. Cody Renfro took second in the

In the senior division Todd Keller was second followed by Tracy Love in third and Shane Keller fifth.

In the judging contest Sutton County proved strongest in the range. Sutton County finished first in all three divisions by wide margins.

The novice team was made up of Justin Morley, Shawna Faris, David Fisher and Erin Payton, alternate.

The junior team combined Jason Morley, Cody Renfro, Davis Hale and alternate Jason Geske.

Todd Keller, Tracy Love, Brian Faris and alternate Shane Keller made up the senior division team.

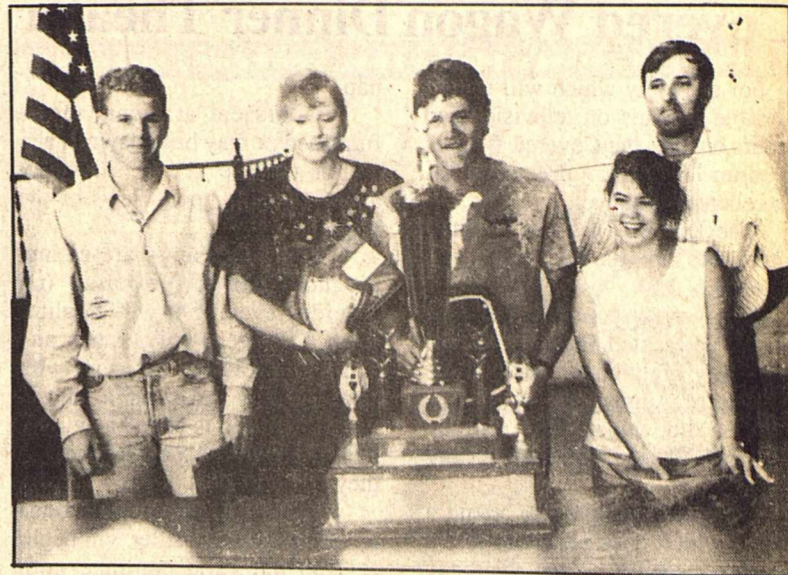

The Sutton County teams fell a bit in the wool and mohair judging.

In wool, the junior team gained a second while the novice and senior teams finished third.

Winning teams were Menard, novice; Kerr, junior; and Burnet, senior.

novice and senior divisions while Kerr County won the junior division.

Sonora also managed a pair of firsts in the livestock area. The novice team of Shawna Faris, Anthony Renfro, David Fisher and alternate Brady Lock won first as did the junior team of Chris Crowder, Walker Wallace, Cody Renfro and alternate David Hale.

The senior team finished in second.

Brian Faris garnered the grand champion bag of wool which earned him a Rosette and plaque donated by the Sonora Wool and Mohair Company.

During a mini-auction the bag of wool was sold for $500.

Faris also was the winner of the Joe and W.F. Berger Memorial Trophy which also goes to the premier junior wool exhibitor.

Preston Faris said the success of the Sutton County 4-H team is due to the dedication which is shown by each individual who is a part of the organization.

The 53rd annual Sonora Wool and Mohair Show and 30th annual National 4-H Wool Judging Contest was held June 12-14.

Sutton County: 100 years

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

Sonorans may feel the clock is going backwards as the centennial celebration continues in Sutton County.

With Lolabeth Jones as the Displays Committee Chairperson, the downtown area will be getting spiced up for the centennial. Among the special plans include displays in store fronts, flags, figurines and a mural.

"What we're going to have is a walking museum," said Jones.

Jones said fortunately plans have been progressing very smoothly. "Businesses have been cooperative."

The plans for the window displays have been worked so that a person could take a walking tour.

Jones said visitors will want to look for quilts to start appearing as they will provide the backdrop for the displays. Businesses will have displays for the centennial for viewing starting in the middle of next month or so to the end of the homecoming week in October.

Crowe big hit at dinner theater

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

For almost two hours Saturday night Laine Crowe talked to the crowd at the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater. During that span Crowe covered parts of Plains Indian history, weapons from the Revolutionary War to the late 1800's, a couple of Indian battles in Texas, sign language and more.

It wasn't enough time.

While Crowe admits he does not like to particularly stand in front of a crowd and talk, the subjects he covered appeared to intrigue most people. He is much more at home sitting in front of a small group and going into detail on one area or sitting with one person for hours on end.

Crowe is an oil business man turned mountain man. In a rather short interview following his show, Crowe explained that he was financially able to set himself to allow him to give up the business suits and meetings for fresh air and a chance to hunt.

He prefers it that way.

In the past 10 years Crowe has gained a vast knowledge of the Plains Indians. While his family discussed the history of Indians and passed stories when he was younger, Crowe said the story didn't hold any meaning for him then.

During the show Crowe put his knowledge forth. Having to be rather general due to the time frame, Crowe explained how the Plains Indians formed a common language through hand signals. In a simplified form the hand signals were formed because there was no common spoken language.

He read two accounts of different Indian battles in Texas.

One was when a white woman was kidnapped and not found until many years later. The second was how the Indians stopped hunters from further wiping out the buffalo.

Crowe also explained some about the culture of the Plains Indians and how they survived.

There was so much information given and it was so general that the feeling arose that Crowe needed about a day-and-a-half to even scratch the surface on some topics.

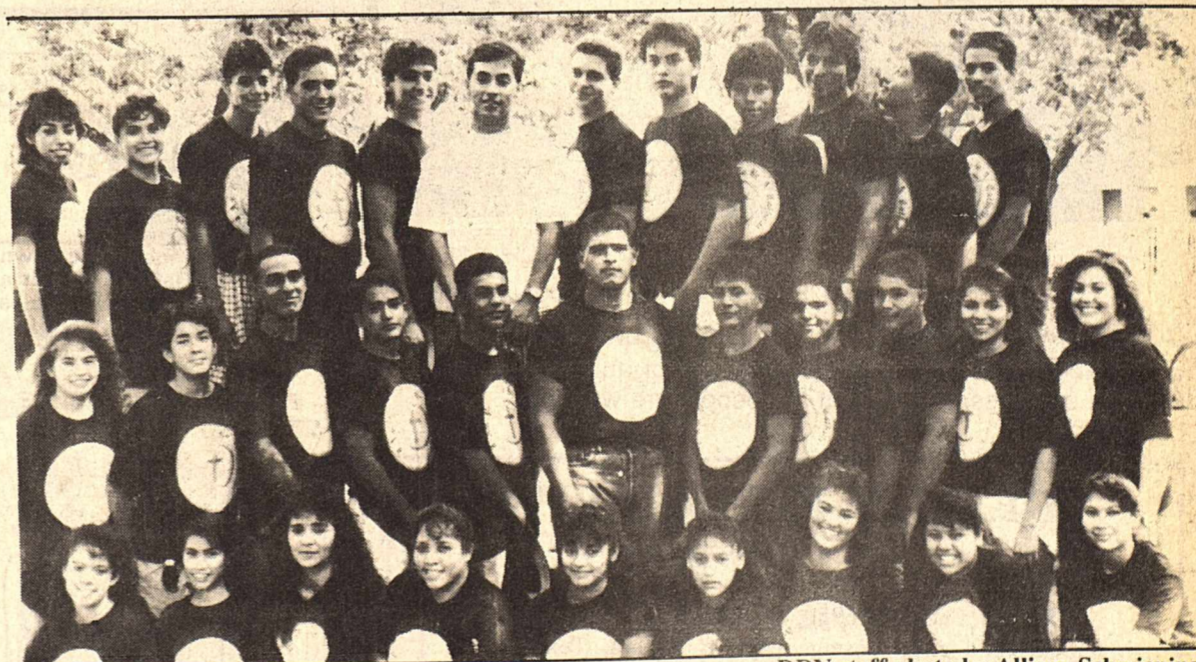

All this information is in addition to expertise on mountain men between the years 1808-35.

Crowe got help on the weapons portion from a gentleman called Tree. Aply named as he stood tall above the crowd.

Tree, a true mountain man, (Crowe says he is more of a hunter than a mountain man) explained fire arms from the revolutionary war through the late 1800s.

Don't pass up the chance to see Covered Wagon Dinner Theater

For a society which will watch terrible sitcoms on television for hours on end, the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater presents an excellent alternative.

The Dinner Theater's greatest attributes are its flexibility and variety.

The variety comes in the acts that are presented. Each Friday and Saturday night show through the middle of August, different story tellers and entertainers will be featured. There will not be any repeats.

If a visitor happens to attend a show which does not quite fulfill their expectations, that visitor is able to try again the next night or next weekend.

With the growing popularity of the Dinner Theater, the acts have been booked early. This has allowed for a schedule to be printed giving visitors a chance to plan on a show (or shows) they may wish to attend.

The flexibility of the Dinner Theater allows the visitors to show at different stages of the evening and to enjoy the surroundings as they may.

When a visitor enters the area the first thing noticed is the beautiful surroundings. The amphitheater is set across the parking lot from the main building at the Caverns of Sonora.

To all sides of the stage and seating areas are trees. A group of trees just to the right of the seating area allows for visitors to gain a bit of shade as it can be quite warm before the sun goes down.

Peacocks freely roam the area and their calls frequently are heard through the evening.

Guests who arrive before dinner will want to take a walk around to soak in the area.

Dinner is served at 6:30 p.m. and on Saturday features chicken and beef fajitas, rice, beans, peach cobbler and ice tea. The servings are big enough to fill a person to maximum capacity and they may find themselves wanting to take a nap. Visitors eat at picnic tables furnished or may bring lawn chairs which can be set up in many areas, all with good views of the stage.

While the visitors are eating, the hosts for the evening (on Saturday evening it was localities Scott Gilmore, Patti Strauch and John Zimmerman) entertain with guitar playing and a sing-a-long.

A nice touch is added as guests are provided with a book in which they may suggest songs.

Depending on the evenings schedule the story teller will begin at 7:30 p.m. and continue until they are completed. On some nights entertainment follows on others the story teller is on stage for an extended period.

The Dinner Theater's informal atmosphere allows the visitor to be comfortable through out the evening.

A person is able to get something to drink or go to the bathroom (which are located right next to the seating area) without disturbing the other guests.

Visitors should have no inhibitions about bringing children to the show. If the children become restless there is plenty of space for them to run around without bothering the show.

The shows are not to lengthy as to bore the crowd but do provide plenty of entertainment for ticket costs.

Tickets for the Dinner Theater run at $12 for adults and $6 for children. Included in that ticket price are the meal, two shows and comfortable surroundings.

It easily is a better bargain than the movies which will cost about $20 for a family of four and not include a meal and chairs which make you change positions every three minutes.

All in all, the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater is something that should be visited more than once by local people or visitors to the area.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Saturday, June 16, I was called to the County Jail and while visiting with Dispatcher Mary Jo Duncan an elderly man, from California traveling through Sonora and staying at the Devil's River Inn, came into the Jail to inquire about the Miers Museum.

During our visit he made this statement, quote, "I want to compliment you on the youth of Sonora. They are so polite when you ask them a question and one group also assisted me with my problem. He went on to say that in California if you ask a young person a question you would receive a good cussing."

Dispatcher Duncan said, "This lady here is happy to hear that as she works with and loves our youth."

And young people I was proud to hear it. The young people in Sonora are very SPECIAL to me. Thanks for respecting elderly people.

Dear Editor,

We are so proud of our 3rd graders and the effort they have made and will continue to make towards the establishment of some type of recycling gathering station here in Sonora! Following is a letter to the city council which was presented on Tuesday, May 15 at the city council monthly meeting. We would like to share this letter with you and your readers and I think you will agree that they have an excellent point to make.

If you are in favor of establishing a gathering station also, please contact one of your city council members or the city manager. I truly hope we will back these 3rd graders as a community. Thank you also Devil's River News for saving all your extra papers to be recycle. Thank you for your support.

Mr. Mooney, Mrs. Cascadden, Mr. Lopez, Mr. Trainer and Mrs. Campbell,

We are representatives of the 3rd grade from Sonora Intermediate School. We have been studying the Earth and what we are doing to our Earth. What we have learned is frightening! If we do not change our bad habits and be willing to do something good for our Earth, there is a chance that Earth will not survive for another 100 years! Think about that! That is in my children's and your grandchildren's lifetime!

Think with us for a minute about some facts that we have learned. By recycling one aluminum can, 1/2 gallon of fuel is saved. Recycling one glass jar can save enough energy to run your TV for 3 hours.

We are counting on you to get as excited about recycling as we are. We would like to ask you to begin some type of recycling here in Sonora. This could be a recycling gathering station for newspaper, glass, and/or plastic. Or perhaps even curb recycling cans available.

We desperately need a recycling station in Sonora. If each person sits back and says, "I'm only 1 person. I can't do anything," then NOTHING will be done. However, if every one person does do something to solve our pollution problem, we will make a BIG difference.

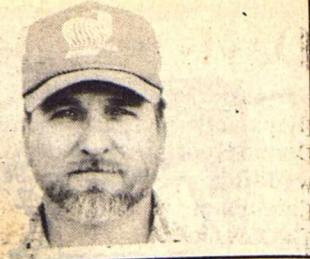

Every individual can make a difference in our world. Man must learn to take care of the miracles which he did not create. Not even the richest man could buy another Earth!

Thank you for your time and serious consideration.
Sincerely,
1989-90 3rd grade class

There oughta be a law

Rebirth of the flag burning controversy has stimulated emotions once again concerning whether or not we should stick violators in the slammer. Do it and you make the act something to be reckoned with, something you can respect.

Forget the U. S. flag represents varying profound ideals. Freedom, justice and the "American way" are viewed quite differently among individuals in our society. It is difficult to nail-down one particular ideal for our flag.

Those opposing such a law support the Supreme Court's decision, it is a matter of "freedom of speech". A few have stated to the effect, it is an act opposing the corruption and dishonesty in the government represented by the symbol. They say it is a freedom the flag, itself stands for.

"Bullhock!"

The emblem, as with any other banner, characterizes the positive qualities of that which it marks. Sure, we've got our share of corruption. The dishonesty exhibited by members of our administration makes me want to 'puke' sometimes. Watch television, the media is full of those who profit from their offices. I condone none of it with what I say here.

Old Glory stands for what we could be, if we get our act together. It is a tangible representation of those ideals we, as Americans, feel are important.

It is an icon to which we can look, when we need direction and are loosing faith in the people of our society. She is a symbol of the strengths we admire in ourselves, our ancestors and our fellow countrymen. Our flaws, faults and other negative fellow countrymen. Our flaws, faults and other negative characteristics have absolutely nothing to do with our flags symbolism.

Have you ever noticed the majority of those who commit such acts are caught squarely in their youth or seem to lack emotional maturity? It's true. They are like a bunch of children, ranting and raving for perfection but will not lift a hand in that regard. "They want their pie but they don't want to help make it", from a recent "Ramblin'".

To them, the Red, White and Blue is a symbol of our country. They have no concept of hopes and dreams which can materialize tomorrow with diligence and determination. They gotta have it now, and they want YOU to hand it to them on a silver platter.

Support the enactment of a law that will make it a criminal offense to deface, defile or in any other way harm the U. S. flag.

Make responsible citizens out of them. Let them think twice about their actions. If they risk going to jail, maybe they will get the idea it isn't just a piece of cloth flapping in the wind.

If they feel so strongly about an issue that they willingly jeopardize their freedom, I'm one son-of-a-gun who's gonna listen to what they say. It is that sort of dedication and fortitude of which Americans are made, and I admire.

Some say such laws carry us closer to being a police state. If they aren't going to police themselves and be responsible for their actions, someone will just have to do it for them. Our own disregard and lack of discipline is what will make this a police state. Laws of this nature would be unnecessary if we exhibited the proper traits in our interactions with society and other individuals.

Look, I would derive no pleasure from seeing someone go to jail for burning the flag. To me and many like me who served within "ear-shot" of its lashing and popping, ten thousand miles from home, where home seemed more a dream or a figment of our imagination, it means a hell of a lot more than a "piece of cloth" that can be violated by some 'spoiled brat'. Right or wrong, we stood by our homeland and work even now that she might aspire to the greatness for which Old Glory represents.

I believe in what we could be, what we should be, and am willing to work for it.

When Jones went to the gathering he stayed with what has been successful for him and that is some cowboy poetry and stories about the old chuckwagon crews.

It was his poetry which enabled Jones to take part in the opening memorial. Jones read a poem about Tom Blasingame, a 91-year-old cowboy who recently died.

Jones said this second gathering was a bit different as Alvin Davis, director of the Ranching Heritage Center decided that every aspect of ranching life should be celebrated rather than just cowboy poets.

As a result panels were set up through the day which the visitors participated in.

"The worst part about it (the symposium) is you have to make decisions on which panels you sit in on," said Jones.

Panels on management, clothing, horse training and many other areas were held.

While the panels have been set up the cowboy poets and entertainers continue to be the big attractions. Big names were a part of the gathering as Red Stegal, Rolf Flake, R.W. Hampton, Don Edwards and Ace Reed among others showed.

For Jones the story telling and entertaining is going one step further. He will be studying to get his Ministry Doctorate degree this fall in the creative arts from the Graduate Theological Foundation in Indiana.

 Stealing electricity is a felony.
 Some people tamper with their electric meters to avoid paying for the energy they use. Stealing electricity is a felony offense in the state of Texas and violators will be prosecuted. West Texas Utilities' Current Diversion Department is working hard to help combat the growing problem of energy theft.
Energy theft is dangerous.
 Not only is service theft a crime, but it is also very dangerous. Serious injuries can result from meter tampering.
A crime against you!
 When someone steals electricity, they are not only stealing from WTU — they are also stealing from you, as a rate-payer. Just as shoplifting increases the cost of items you buy in the store, power theft increases the cost of your electric service.
WTU will prosecute.
 Because we are concerned about the dangers and costs resulting from meter tampering, West Texas Utilities will prosecute energy thieves.

Conference on aging to be held July 25

A local forum for the Texas White House Conference on Aging will be held for the public on Wednesday, July 25, 1990 at 1:00 and 6:30 p. m. at the Sutton County Senior Center in Sonora, Texas.

The forum, sponsored by the Concho Valley Area Agency on Aging and Sutton County Senior Center, will provide local citizens an opportunity to discuss key issues affecting older persons and their families.

"Similar forums are being held all over the state, and the feedback gathered in local communities will be examined during the Texas White House Conference on Aging next fall," said Betty Ford, director of the Concho Valley Area Agency on Aging. "We are encouraging adults of all ages to attend. Aging is an issue that will ultimately affect all of us."

Topics to be discussed at the local forums may include such important issues as long-term care, housing, medical costs (including prescription drugs) and the future of the Social Security system.

"We want to have some grassroots input on these and other issues that will affect our elderly population in the next decade and in the next century," said Ford. "Voices we hear at our local forums can be instrumental in shaping future policy."

Local forums being held around the state will be completed by mid-August of 1990, and the Texas White House Conference on Aging is scheduled for October 17-19, 1990 at the Stouffer Hotel in Austin. A date for the national White House Conference in 1991 has yet to be called by President Bush.

Several other national forums on aging have been held in Washington since 1950, with official White House Conferences held in 1961, 1971 and 1981.

According to Gary Cook, Chairman of the Texas WHCOA Executive Committee, Texas' conference will be held whether or not a national event is scheduled.

"The statewide conference, along with the local forums that precede it, represents an opportunity for Texas to take the lead in addressing the needs of aging population in a changing society," Cook said.

Further information about the Sonora local forum can be obtained by calling Ford at 944-9666 or Carole Thorp, Director of the Sutton Senior Center at 387-5657.

Seniors who are homebound or otherwise unable to attend their local forums can still submit their comments in written form. Forms for this process can be obtained by writing to the Concho Valley Area Agency on Aging, Box 60050, San Angelo, Texas 76906.

St. Ann's takes olympics from page 1 supportive by letting us use the facilities we needed," Arturo Gandar, organizer of the event, said.

Parish teams from Eldorado, Midland, Crane, Stanton, and San Angelo gave Sonora's St. Ann's youth team stiff competition.

However, Sonora came out with top honors followed by Eldorado and Sacred Heart of San Angelo.

After a hard day of grueling athletic competition, the groups assembled at St. Ann's Catholic Church for Mass. The evening was concluded with a youth dance which ended at 11:30.

The olympics are very popular with the kids, Gandar said. He also feels it is a way to keep the youth involved and out of trouble at the same time.

The last time this event was held was the summer of 1988, and there is usually a bigger turnout, according to Ector Castilleja of St. Ann's.

"I like the idea of kids giving up their Saturday for our competition," Castilleja said. It was really fun and exciting he added.

"It took cooperation and work from a lot of people and they deserve a big thank you," said Gandar.

According to Gandar, because of so many people's generosity the olympics were a success.

All the individual winners received ribbons decorated with a wooden cross instead of the traditional medal. The parish teams which placed first, second, and third were awarded large wooden crosses with a plaque in the center. These trophies were made by Sandi and Gab Espinosa.

According to U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates, the job classification with the most openings likely between now and 1990 is that of computer service technician.

Public Notice

TO ALL FORMER AND CURRENT INTRASTATE WIDE AREA TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE (WATS/800) SUBSCRIBERS:

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has instituted a Class Action Lawsuit seeking judicial approval of a settlement reached in Docket No. 7297, an inquiry of General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission of Texas into possible overcharges which occurred between September, 1976, and February, 1987, due to rounding practices, on bills of intrastate WATS/800 customers sent by Southwestern Bell and other telephone companies which concur in Southwestern Bell's tariff. The suit is styled "Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Plaintiff, vs. MCI Telecommunications Corporation, A Member of the Class of Texas Intrastate WATS and 800 Service Customers Who Paid Overtime Charges From September 1976 Through February 1987, Defendant," and identified as Cause No. 471,460 in the 126th Judicial District Court of Travis County, Texas.

Pursuant to the settlement, while not admitting liability, Southwestern Bell, the other local exchange telephone companies in Texas, and AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. have agreed to pay refunds to those WATS/800 customers who paid overtime charges attributable to the rounding practices for intrastate WATS/800 services at any time between September, 1976, and February, 1987. The refunds will be based upon either the actual or estimated amount of overtime charges attributable to such rounding practices. An exact refund will be determined for customers able to produce copies of their WATS/800 service bills. For customers who do not have copies of their WATS/800 service bills to establish actual overtime charges paid, an average refund of $4.53 to $5.95 per WATS/800 service line per month will be applied. All claims will be subject to verification. The refunds will also include interest at the rate of 7.80% per annum.

Claim Forms And Additional Information

Those customers who think they may be entitled to a refund or who desire more information must call 1-800-782-3026, 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, or write to WATS Refund Pool Administrator, One Bell Plaza, Room 670, P. REQUESTING A WATS REFUND INFORMATION PACKAGE DOES NOT OBLIGATE YOU IN ANY WAY.

All claims for a refund must be received by the Refund Pool Administrator by Friday, October 5, 1990, and all rejections of the settlement (that is, requests for exclusion from the class action lawsuit) must be received by the Court by Wednesday, September 5, 1990. The mural is currently being designed and should be completed by sometime in July.
