Guilty verdict reached in Ramirez drug trial

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

The 112th Judicial District Attorney's office made it four convictions in a row on local drug cases Tuesday afternoon.

A six-man, six-woman jury deliberated just 15 minutes before convicting Ernesto Ramirez on one count of delivery of a controlled substance.

Assistant District Attorney Albert Valdez was pleased with the quick verdict.

"None of them had any doubt," said Valdez.

Ramirez's attorney, Bradley Miles of San Angelo, did not want to comment on the verdict.

Ramirez is the fourth person of 14 arrested on drug charges in March 1989 to be found guilty. Prior convictions include "Tiny" Favela, Jose Galindo and Richard Carl Harris.

Two others, Norman Barbee and David Pendleton, pleaded guilty to charges. Galindo's verdict is currently being appealed and Harris is awaiting sentencing.

Valdez said the introduction of an O'Haus scale may have been the most damaging evidence presented.

During cross-examination of Ramirez, Valdez brought in the scale. Asked if the scale looked familiar Ramirez replied, "It looks like mine."

Valdez then asked if Ramirez used the scale to measure out drugs. Ramirez replied, "I use it for tomatoes and peppers."

"The last time I was at the store tomatoes and peppers were measured in pounds," said Valdez. "This (scale) measures in grams."

In an interview after the verdict Valdez said, "(The O'Haus scale) is the most popular brand scale of drug dealers."

Leaving the stand after being cross-examined, Ramirez said to the jury, "I'm just innocent."

As with prior trials, the prosecution built their case on the testimony of Sutton County Sheriff, Bill Webster; former deputy, Rusty Frazier; agent, William Lonnie Hood and David Lake, chemist with the Department of Public Safety in Midland.

Webster testified that he hired Hood in October 1988 as an undercover agent after meeting him in Odessa. Webster said Hood was payed $2,200 a month and given just the name of the three bars that were in business at the time.

Hood said the drug transaction took place at Ramirez's residence Feb. 24 after he heard Ramirez was looking for him.

Ramirez answered the door with pants on, but no shirt and said he would be right out, said Hood. He then went back to the van and waited for Ramirez.

Hood recounted Ramirez told him he had what he wanted, an eight-ball of methamphetamine. Hood said he paid $350 for what

No decision made on Galindo appeal

SAN ANTONIO - A one to six-month wait is expected before a decision of the Jose Galindo appeal will be announced.

In a telephone interview from Dallas Friday, Galindo's attorney Domingo Garcia, said he was told by the appellate court the decision will take longer than usual because of a back log. Garcia said he was informed the court will take into consideration Galindo is being held in the Texas State Penitentiary.

Garcia said the court appeared to be favorably disposed on the side of Galindo. When asked why he felt that was the case, Garcia said, "By the questions asked. They were defense oriented."

During the oral arguments Jan. 24, no attorneys for the defense showed up.

Garcia said he considered the line of questioning to be a good sign, but that did not necessarily mean the court would rule on the side of Galindo.

Galindo was convicted of delivery of a controlled substance and sentenced to 99 years on Oct. 27, 1989. He had been arrested March 6, 1989 along with 13 others during a drug raid.

Volunteer improvement program sets strong foundation for future

With a strong base of support built, the Christmas in April program looks like it will be a reality in Sonora.

Almost 30 people showed up at a meeting Jan. 22 at the First National Bank building to organize the project. To help get things organized a Board of Directors was elected.

Those elected included Johnny Jones, Nelda Mayfield, Lewis Allen, Louis Olenick, Carole Thorp, Harold Martinez, Sonny Anderson, Roberta James and Mike Street.

While the board has just been formed, the idea is not a new one. Senior Citizens named housing and home repairs as the most critical issue during a White House Conference on Aging meeting in Sonora last July.

The Christmas in April program, started in Midland in the early 1980s, appeared to be a natural solution.

Senior Center director Carole Thorp said a booklet on the program explaining how to get the ball rolling was provided. Thorp said Lewis Allen and Nelda Mayfield got together and studied the booklet.

After some background work, Allen and Mayfield believed following the booklet would provide the best way of getting the Christmas in April program organized.

That is what led to the Board of Directors election Jan. 22.

WORK NEEDED - Senior Citizens who live in homes that need work will be able to benefit from the Christmas in April program which is currently in the early stages of formation.

"We have had nothing but good response from the community," said Thorp.

The affect on the community will be wide. Thorp said there are almost 600 senior citizens in Sutton County and of that number 130 are in the low income bracket.

Of those 130 in the low income bracket, 75 are Hispanic.

"Those who don't have any kind of extended family don't have any way of getting help for their house," said Thorp.

That is where the Christmas in April program steps in.

Thorp said communities have found the volunteer home repair project works for one major reason, "It won't be any great sacrifice to a group or individual...because it is one day."

With the one day of work, it has been found that volunteers are much easier to find. At the same MIDLAND - Mary Turner will not collect any damages from 112th Judicial District Attorney J.W. Johnson Jr. in connection with her civil rights lawsuit.

"The (Federal) Court has entered an order where any judgement against J.W. has been deleted," said Johnson's attorney Eric Augsen in a phone interview Tuesday from Midland.

Augsen said he is expecting a supplemental from the court clerk on the case that will provide the details. He did say the most important point of the order was,

"There was just not any evidence to link him to wrong doing."

A judgement by the U.S. District Court in Midland earlier this month originally awarded Mary Turner $3.6 million as a result of violations of her constitutional rights. Johnson was hit for $1.5 million in the lawsuit.

The case was tied to the 1987 trial that followed Turner's arrest on drug charges in 1985.

Turner and her attorneys, Ray McKim and John Gunter, contended former Upton County Sheriff Glenn Willeford and snitch

It is about oil

Imagine the possibility of the boom in Sonora not ending in the mid 1980s, but continuing along for who knows how long.

From indications received most people would have preferred such an instance. It would have been possible too, if the government had continued the trend of increasing reliance upon the domestic oil and gas industry rather than looking to the Middle East.

An excellent article by John Paul Pitts of the Midland Reporter-Telegram appeared in the San Antonio Light last week.

Pitts did a story about Mack Wallace, former commissioner of the Texas Railroad Commission. Pitts wrote how Wallace showed Saudi oil which is purchased at about $20 per barrel actually costs $140.

Why? Wallace factored in the Middle East defense costs before the current buildup.

Wallace was quoted in the article, "We are better off paying our domestic producers $50 a barrel than $20 to the Arabs."

Fifty dollars a barrel! Just think how the oil industry would respond to that. There would be drilling permits all over the place.

Sonora has strong ties to natural gas. Wallace said he has been a big backer of an energy policy which would shift the demand to alternative fuels. Among the alternative fuels mentioned by Wallace is compressed natural gas.

Just right for Sonora. Again, there would be a lot more activity in the fields thus boosting not only the nation's economy, but Sonora's as well.

If the United States put more emphasis on domestic energy supplies it would be less inclined to be affected by Middle East political affairs.

The use of United States troops to protect that source would become less important. Perhaps even to the point where the government says forget it, we'll just provide our own energy supplies.

Ah yes, but what about the dastardly Saddam Hussein. The coalition was put together to kick him out of Kuwait for taking over the country and the terrible things he has done to the people.

No coalition was put together when Hussein gassed thousands of Kurds in northern Iraq during the Iran-Iraq war. The only reaction from the United States was a letter strongly protesting the action.

The reason we acted so strong to the invasion of Kuwait was that Saudi Arabia could have been next. They have a weak military so the United States helped out with a few hundred thousand troops.

If we produced a greater percentage of our own energy supply we might have just sent another letter strongly protesting the action.

 There is a lot of gray area concerning the war in the Middle East and United States troops being present.

One of the common news items seen and heard is about protesters of the war clashing with those who have turned out for a rally to back our soldiers.

These groups should not clash at all because it is two very different questions. Just because somebody is against United States involvement doesn't mean they are against the troops in the Middle East.

There should be little argument the troops are brave men and women representing the United States when they have been called on.

As a friend said, the nation "dropped the ball" on treatment of soldiers following the Vietnam War. It was a painful lesson to learn as a nation and one that should not be forgotten.

time, a lot of work can get done.

Businesses or individuals who are interested in participating are urged to contact any of the Board of Directors.

Senior Citizens who would like to have work done on their house will be asked to fill out a two-page application form. Homes to be worked on will be selected on the basis of greatest need, said Thorp. That will include work inside and out.

"A Senior Citizen will have a say in what is done in their house," said Thorp. "This is not going to be where we go in and say 'This needs to be done.'"

Thorp said only preliminary work is done by technical people, that is: electricians, plumbers and the like. Everything else will be done by volunteers from the community.

The first Board of Directors meeting is scheduled for Feb. 7 at the Senior Center. The board will look at matters including tax-exempt status, determining which homes to repair, fundraising and other items.

The date for the first Christmas in April program in Sonora has yet to be determined.

Ramblin'

It's not about oil

After listening to a panel of college students discuss our involvement in the Middle East, I've decided they are quite uninformed concerning issues.

Are they so callous that they disregard the innocent civilians and children who were brutalized when Saddam Hussein's military invaded Kuwait?

In their over-simplification of the matters to do with oil; do they not realize the world economy is presently based on oil as a commodity? It seems they would turn their backs on the needs of the less fortunate while we, as Americans, enjoy the excesses and benefits of a "land of plenty."

I cannot speak for all veterans, but when human rights are being ignored and have seen the brutalization of people; how can we not cry out, "No more!" while we watch a madman devastate a body of water with a valued energy source and cause his own people untold hardships; how can we not ask, "Why?" as we hear and see a world leader do his best to start a holy war among the Arab nations that would escalate into a world war? How can we not feel the compulsion to arrest it before it gets out of hand?

I shudder to think that our future lies in the hands of isolationists who would turn their backs on the rest of the world because they allow fear to dictate actions.

Someone should let them know that we can no longer ignore the plight of third world countries because they now have a direct bearing on our own national security.

Certainly; sons, husbands, fathers, daughters, mothers and wives will die as they place their lives on the line so that others might enjoy a taste of freedom during their short life-span.

What price do we put on such freedom?

Who has the right to say that life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is good for those of us who live in the free world but not for those who do not?

If I hear, "No blood for oil" one more time, I think I'll scream.

I became incensed at first by the tragedy endured by the Kuwaiti people at the hands of the Iraqi military. My sense of security fell on shaky ground when I realized the world economy rested in the hands of a militant, religious zealot.

Just look at what happened to the price of oil when only the fear of oil shortages began to surface.

Folks, if Saddam Hussein was allowed to continue his rampage, we would have been paying five to ten dollars for a gallon of gas within the year. The price of even a package of gum would have increased by the same percentile.

To say that this war is over oil, is not only irresponsible but a blatant show of ignorance.

I wholly support the right of free speech, but in this case I feel it is an indication that we are falling short of moral obligation and resolution.

I was amazed to hear the vocabulary of second and third year college students this past Sunday evening, blithely expose their lack of awareness.

We need to impress upon our children the importance of human rights and the fact that we can no longer rest in peace while the world at large is in utter turmoil.

Regardless of race, color, creed, or national origin, every individual should experience the prerogative of a free spirit, and respect for the rights of others.

However, it is comforting to know that such ignorance affects only a small percentage of our population. The vast majority of Americans support the reasons for our presence in Saudi Arabia and are proud that our military personnel are fighting for world peace. Never before has so many come together, so quickly and so adamantly.

For the first time since World War II, patriotism in the United States is displayed with dignity and fervor. It is a time when most of us spiritedly proclaim to the world, "I'm proud to be an American!"

should have been 3.5 grams of speed. Lab results in Midland showed 1.6 grams of methamphetamine in the package.

Ramirez contended Hood stopped by his house on Feb. 24 to inquire about the special rollbar on his truck and to see if Ramirez could find him something similar.

"There was no talk about drugs, no nothing," said Ramirez. "...We talked about the rollbar and then he came up with this. I don't believe it."

"Everyone's tried to discredit Lonnie Hood...they're (the jury) not being fooled," said Valdez after the verdict.

District Judge Brock Jones ordered a pre-sentence report and said the report will be made by the adult probation officer and given to him.

Jones said the punishment phase will begin in the next 14 to 30 days.

Valdez said the current schedule shows the trial of Eriberto (Beto) Bernal is to begin Monday with jury selection.

Bah humbug to the fat of holidays past

During the holidays we all have traditional favorites that we look forward to and, in moderation, we can enjoy these foods. But when we use the word 'enjoy', do we mean savoring the taste, savoring the ambiance of the entire event, or do we mean eating our favorite food until we are sick? Moderation is the operative word to maintaining our weight year round.

Nation of Dieters

Roughly 34 million Americans are obese, or more than 20 percent over their ideal body weight. And at any given time, one-third to one-half of the adult population is on some kind of diet. Magic weight-loss cures spring up in many forms: be it a liquid diet, protein diet, no protein diet, grapefruit diet, carbohydrate diet, celebrity diet, or any number of franchised diet-clinic diets, a nation of 65 million dieters has tried them all. Hungry to shed unwanted pounds, our weight rolls off...and too often back on again. . .to the tune of $33 billion a year.

Yet there is no magic to losing weight. If you eat fewer calories, whether it's ice cream or carrots, you will lose weight. Even if you only cut back 500 calories a day, in a week you can lose 3,500 calories (one pound). Just cutting out dessert can make a pound of difference.

Once you learn how food choices can sabotage your success, you get choosy about what you eat and discriminating about where you put your calories. It's not the potato, it's the topping. It's not the pasta, it's the sauce. It's not the bread, but the spread. Fat is clearly the focus. And, if you watch out for food fats, it gives you a lot more flexibility in deciding what other foods you can eat.

The word 'diet' suggests a short-term solution. But, in fact, diet should suggest a lifestyle, a question that people with weight problems ask themselves daily: Do I Eat Thoughtfully?

The people who are successful in maintaining their weight are not the people who never slip. The ones who are successful are those who, when they do slip, catch themselves and get back on their diet plan before letting that slip turn into days or months of overindulgence.

When people think of dieting and weight control, they often think of abstinence and denial, and that is a mistake. If you lust for a piece of fudge, eat that piece of fudge. . . just don't eat the whole plate. If you deny yourself, you'll probably overdose on something else.

If you overindulge at dinner or a party, don't try and make up for it the next day. Go back to your regular diet plan.

Many times when this happens guilt will step in and you'll starve yourself the next day to make up for it. . .but that only gets you in more trouble. If you overeat, the chances are high that you'll overeat at the next meal. And if you skip a meal, the chances are high that you'll overeat. The answer then, is truly moderation.

People need to learn to separate eating from the emotional and celebratory sides of their lives. If we can keep eating for sustenance and develop other habits for celebration and emotional outlets, we'll have a lot less trouble controlling our weight.

Moderation. It's an obvious answer. But for those of us who gain weight at the mere sight of pumpkin pie, moderation is the only way to eat the fatted goose without becoming one.

Rating shellfish look-alikes

A new form of processed seafoods, pseudo-shellfish, imitates the taste, texture and appearance of real shellfish, but costs a third to a half less than the real counterparts.

Imitation crab, shrimp, scallops and lobsters, found in supermarkets across the country, are actually quite nutritious as well as economical, providing a new incentive to include more low-fat, high-protein fish in your diet.

These shellfish look-alikes are made from Pacific white fish, primarily pollock. The fish is washed repeatedly to remove any color and odor and is then processed into products with the shapes, colors, taste and texture of a variety of different kinds of shellfish. The next processing step is steaming, after which the shellfish substitutes are frozen and packaged for the market.

The nutritional content of the pseudo-shellfish is comparable to whitefish rather than shellfish. While providing a low-fat source of protein and a variety of essential minerals, they are much lower cholesterol than some real shellfish, such as lobster and shrimp. This is good news for people who enjoy shellfish, but must closely monitor every milligram of dietary fat and cholesterol.

Salt is added to the fish, so be aware that the sodium content of these look-alikes can be much higher than that of unsalted fresh fish.

Convenience of imitation shellfish is a real asset. Since these products are fully cooked, they can be thawed and served cold in seafood salads. If you include them in a hot dish, be sure to hold them out until near the end of the cooking time. Put them in just long enough to heat through since over cooking can make them tough, just like real shellfish.

So, there's no need to bypass those tempting recipes that call for expensive lobster or shrimp. . . you might want to try the look-alikes. They offer sound nutrition at a reasonable price.

Walter Woolf Jr. planted dope in the store she and her father owned.

Johnson was the district attorney in the case. He dropped the case against Turner on the fifth day of court when it was learned Woolf had perjured himself on the witness stand.

Johnson eventually prosecuted Woolf and Willeford.

Augsen said Johnson was an innocent party caught in the middle of situation he could do nothing about.

"There is no way he should or could be responsible for the wrongful acts of someone else," said Augsen. "Clearly the order reflects J.W. had nothing to do with it."

Library news

New books available at the library are: GALAPAGOS by Kurt Vonnegut, THE FATAL CROWN by Ellen Jones, THE CITY WHEN IT RAINS by Thomas Cook, A PRIVATE CRIME by Lillian O'Donnell, WIDOWS by Ed McBain and CIRCLE OF FRIENDS by Maeve Binchy.

A review of CIRCLE OF FRIENDS: Brimming with the rich perceptiveness that immediately identifies the writing of Maeve Binchy, CIRCLE OF FRIENDS is that rare, intensely pleasurable novel to be cherished from first page to last. Beginning in an Irish village and moving to Dublin, this intimate portrait of friendship captures the coming of age of two unusual young women, Benny Hogan and Eve Malone, and the drama that emerges unexpectedly, in their lives.

On Sunday, February 3, 1991, the Hallmark Hall of Fame proudly presents "Sarah, Plain and Tall" on CBS-TV. It features exceptional performances by Glen Close (as Sarah), Christopher Walken (as Jacob), and Lexi Randall and Christopher Bell (as the children).

The film, premiering at 9 p.m. ET/PT, is based on Patricia MacLachlan's Newbery Medal-winning book. She was born in Cheyenne, Wyoming. A graduate of the University of Connecticut, she has worked as an English teacher and an active member of the board of a local family service agency. She is frequent lecturer on the subject of children's literature, and has conducted workshops at several universities and colleges. She lives in western Massachusetts with her husband, Robert, and has three children, John, Jamie and Emily. She is author of several picture books and three novels; ARTHUR, FOR THE VERY FIRST TIME, CASSIE BINEGAR AND UNCLAIMED TREASURES.

SARAH, PLAIN AND TALL is based on a true event in her family.

The book tells about how Caleb doesn't remember Mama, who died a day after he was born. But his older sister, Anna, says Papa and Mama sang "every-single day." Now Papa doesn't sing at all.

Papa places an ad in the newspaper for a wife and receives an answer from a woman named Sarah, who lives in Maine. Caleb wants to know if Sarah snores. Anna wants to know if Sarah can braid hair and make stew and-most important of all-if she sings.

Sarah writes, "I will come by train. I will wear a yellow bonnet. I am plain and tall." And so Caleb, Anna and Papa wait.

Sarah comes in the spring with her cat, who she calls Seal because she is gray like the seals that swim in the sea near her home.

Everyone hopes she will stay. But Sarah misses the sea, her brother and the "three old aunts who all squawk together like crows at dawn." When Sarah takes the wagon to town alone, Caleb and Anna worry. What happens tells much about happiness and hope, and what it is that makes a family.

Assault Victim Services announces logo contest

Assault Victim Services is conducting a contest to create a logo for the agency.

AVS offers assistance to victims of sexual assault and other violent crime and their families in Coke, Concho, Crockett, Irion, Kimble, Mason, Menard, Reagan, McCulloch, Runnels, Schleicher, Sterling, Sutton and Tom Green Counties. Although people contact the agency as a result of interpersonal violence, the goal is to provide support, resources and the courage to heal. Education and prevention are also important components of the program.

The logo needs to bear the mission of the agency in mind. Deadline for entries is February 25.

For more information, write to MHMR, 244 N. Magdalen, San Angelo, Texas 76903, to the attention of the AVS Director Linda Shelton or Phone (915) 944-8728.

The logo should focus on the hope and healing the agency provides, rather than the violence that has occurred. The AVS motto is, "A light of hope in the darkness of crime."

The first place winner will receive $50 cash, a $50 savings bond from Bank of the West in San Angelo, a $25 gift certificate from Sunset Mall, two dinners from Zentners Steakhouse, two movie passes from United Artists, one free golf lesson from Bentwood Country Club and a free carwash from Auto-Magic Car Wash. The runner-up will receive $25 cash, a free golf lesson from Bentwood and one free carwash from Auto Magic Car Wash.

Assault Victim Services will become the owner of the winning entry and will prepare it for reproduction. All entries will be displayed in Sunset Mall during the first week of March.

Local sales tax revenues could signal improving Texas economy

AUSTIN - State Comptroller John Sharp says his office sent checks this month totaling $91 million to the cities and counties across Texas that collect local sales taxes.

This month's sales tax rebates to cities increased 15 percent over the January 1990 figures.

"A good portion of that increase is due to Texas' stronger economy, but some of the rise is because more cities collect sales tax this year than did last year," said Sharp. "A few other cities have also increased their local tax rates which makes for higher rebte checks from the state."

Sharp recently reported in his Biennial Revenue Estimate to the state Legislature an increase of $1.9 billion in available revenue for fiscal year 1992-93 because of Texas' growing and increasingly diversified economy. However, Sharp also warned that the state could face a potential shortfall due to increased spending requirements.

Fling Ding members thanked for hard work

Another Fling Ding has wrapped up and a good time was enjoyed. As in most events of this size, a lot of work was put in by many people to make the gathering a success.

Melissa Teaff was decoration chairwoman and Ebie Sutton and Carolyn Earwood joined in as co-chairwomen.

They give a special thanks to Carla Fields and Rex Ann Friess for being in charge of the Fish Contest. Honey Hicks, Pam Armke and Anna Eustace get a big hug for the gorgeous mermaids and the merman.

The City of Atlantis was designed and created by Jessie Kerbow and Janice Caruthers. Ebie Sutton and Carolyn Earwood designed the shipwreck. Joining Ebie and Carolyn in painting all the wall was Sandi Elliott.

Melissa Teaff thanks all the Fling Ding membership who designed a fish for the ceiling decorations. Melissa said it added to all the fun of the night.

Best fish went to Sonny Anderson. Honorable mentions included Sam Dillard, Bob Teaff, Carolyn Earwood, Mrs. Robert Kelly, Joanne Wilkinson, Kay Campbell, Kathy Jones, Janice Caruthers, Ethel Olson, Rosalee and Glen Richardson, Matthew Jennings, Sandi Elliot, Bobbie Thompson, Linda Fisher, Kristen Hicks, Ruthie Cahill and all the others that made fish.

Submit applications for heroism awards

Wanted: A few heroic people.

Nominations are being sought for the state's annual rural heroism award, which honors an individual who saved the life of another during 1990 in Texas, preferably in circumstances related to farming and ranching.

Feb. 8 is the deadline for submitting nominations, said Thomas D. Valco of College Station, an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and member of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council that presents the award.

"The nominations should include a written account of the heroism incident," Valco said. "Include the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all persons involved. When available, include newspaper clippings and photos."

All nominations, Valco added, should be sent to the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, Box 2689, Waco, Texas 76702-2689.

The 1990 award winner will be announced March 18 during the 53rd Annual Texas-Southwestern Safety Conference and Exposition at the Convention Center in Arlington.

The 1989 rural heroism winner was Bill Penix of Garland, who rescued his stepfather, C.S. Hines of Quitman, from a tractor-posthole digger accident. Penix received his award during the council's annual safety exposition last March in Houston.

For more information, contact Valco in Texas A&M University's department of agricultural engineering, telephone (409) 845-3931, or contact the local Extension Service office.

SHAPING UP FACTS ONE FIGURES by Fred Adkins

Endurance athletes get better results if they refuel at intervals during exercise, a study at the Human Performance Laboratory in Austin found. Runners were able to ward off fatigue and keep going 22 to 35 percent longer by having high-carbohydrate drinks now and then.

Don't drink coffee before a workout, says a professor of medicine at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center. Both exercise and caffeine can raise blood pressure temporarily and the combination may push pressure too high.

Dried beans are best, but even canned beans help lower cholesterol levels, say researchers at the University of Kentucky. The higher the original cholesterol levels, the greater the drop, they found.

Floor exercises are effective to stretch and massage lower back. Lying on the back, lift knees toward chest, holding lower legs beneath knees. Then slide hands onto knee caps and circle knees four times to the right, four times to the left. Keep base of spine flat to the mat.

We'll show you some great exercises that really work at your fitness center.

Americans live longer nowadays. Up to five years longer, says one study, than in 1970. One reason is that people know more about reducing their risk of heart disease. And we've helped. This year the AHA will invest more than $70 million in cardiovascular research and organize 2.7 million volunteers to go out and spread the word. School funding

The funding portion of Senate Bill I has been declared unconstitutional by the Texas Supreme Court. The Supreme Court gave the legislature until April 1, 1991 to devise a finance plan that would achieve equity for all students in the state.

Sonora I. S. D.'s current tax levy is $.87, all of which goes to Local Maintenance (operating the school). In 1984, the I & S (Interest & Sinking) tax rate was set at $.20 for the purpose of paying off the new high school. This I & S tax levy was gradually transferred to Local Maintenance between 1984-1989 and, at the present time, the Sonora I. S. D.

does not levy an I & S tax. A simple explanation for this transfer of tax levies is as follows:

1. During 1984-85-86 (boom years) Sonora's values rose to the extent that reserves were created that could be put aside to pay off the high school. Values have declined since that time with the exception of a slight increase in 1989-90.

2. I & S Taxes (building fund) were not needed to raise revenue (bond payments) so they were transferred to Local Maintenance to meet rising costs within the district.

3. This transfer of tax levies increased the Local Maintenance (operating) Tax but at the same time decreased the Interest and Sinking (building) Tax.

With the school district debt free on February 1, 1991 the existing $.87 tax rate is, at the present time, very close to being sufficient to meet the operating costs of the district. However, the big concern is what type of plan the legislature will come up with to achieve equity. With a statewide local property tax averaging over $1.00 and with Sonora's having a tax rate of $.87, it is very likely that we will not be pleased with the legislature's equity plan.

Eighth-grade Lady Broncos fall in OT

The Sonora Eighth-grade Lady Broncos dropped a 27-23 decision to Eldorado in overtime Monday evening.

Sonora (5-3) opened a 9-7 lead at the end of one quarter then held Eldorado scoreless in the second period to extend its lead to 15-7.

Eldorado returned the favor of strong defense in the third quarter. While Eldorado hit for 12 points, Sonora went cold from the field and failed to score giving the Eaglets a 19-15 lead.

The Lady Broncos found their offense in the fourth quarter to tie the game at 23-23 at the end of regulation.

Eldorado outscored Sonora in the overtime 4-0 to pick up the victory.

Beth Covington continued to shoot well as she led the Lady Broncos in scoring with eight points. Candie Sessom added five, Vicky Richardson and Katie Burge four, Jennifer Covey two and Sara Reston one.

SCNB awarded five-star rating

Bauer Financial Reports, Inc., a Coral Gables, Florida research firm is pleased to announce that Sutton County National Bank has been awarded a five-star rating. This prestigious award identifies this institution as one of the safest, most creditworthy banks in the United States.

The award is based on a zero to five-star rating assigned by BFR based on its analysis of the June 30, 1990 financial data as filed with federal regulators.

A five-star rating, for the safest banks in the country, indicates that the bank's tangible capital exceeds 9.0% of tangible assets, that there are no excessive delinquencies or repossessed assets and that the bank is profitable. "Customarily," notes Paul A. Bauer, President, "the five-star rating is awarded to traditional banks, profitable, well capitalized institutions that serve the local community. Out of 12,504 banks reporting for that period ended June 30, 1990, 3,228 banks, only one out of four, received our five-star rating."

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Williamson County Commissioner's Court invites the submission of sealed bids for the lease of the surface estate (including grazing and hunting rights) to the following described tracts of land in Sutton County, Texas, which form a part of the Williamson County School Lands. Bids must be received by the undersigned prior to 10:00 a. m., February 11, 1991, at which time the bids will be opened in open court at the Commissioner's Courtroom on the 2nd floor of the County Courthouse in Georgetown, Texas. Bids received after that time will be returned unopened. As to each tract listed in this notice, the Court may either reject all bids or award a lease to the highest and best bidder.

All bids submitted must comply with the following restrictions, conditions and limitations which the Commissioner's Court has determined to be necessary and proper:

The proposed lease shall be for a term of one year, with the Commissioner's Court retaining the option to cancel said lease or leases in the event of sale or exchange of said property, with a pro-rata refund of any lease payments previously tendered.

The lessee shall be obligated to manage the land in a prudent rancher-like manner, and shall employ the highest degree of care in conserving the land and its produce.

It is the intent of the Commissioner's Court to award leases separately for each tract. However, any bidder who wishes to bid on more than one tract may do so. Unless the bid received expressly states that the bidder will accept only the award of all items bids, each item in the bids will be considered separately and will be rejected or awarded on a high item basis.

No more than one bid will be awarded for any tract. All bids may be rejected for some tracts, even though awards are made for others. The convenience of having a single lessee for several adjacent or close tracts will be taken into consideration together with the experience of the bidder and price in determining the highest and best bids.
