FISHY ACCIDENT - Workers clean up a part of about 30,000 pounds of fish April 17 after this tractor-trailer rig overturned blocking the west bound lanes of Interstate 10. Traffic was rerouted for more than six hours due to the accident. The driver and a passenger suffered only minor injuries.

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

A tractor-trailer rig carrying approximately 15 tons of fresh fish overturned April 17 causing traffic on Interstate 10 to be rerouted for more than six hours.

Texas D.P.S. trooper L.D. Whitton said the driver, Agner C. Auzenne, 28, and his wife Patty Auzenne, sustained minor injuries. They were treated and released at Hudspeth Memorial Hospital.

A second accident April 17 on Highway 277 South slightly injured another man.

According to Whitton, Auzenne, from Eunice, Louis., was travelling west on Interstate 10 at about 9 a.m. when he apparently fell asleep and drifted off the road to the right.

Whitton said the rig overturned blocking both west bound lanes after Auzenne woke up and overcorrected.

After the rig overturned, the top of the trailer popped off and the load of fish spilled onto the roadway.

Texas D.P.S. officers, Reuben Terrones, Archie Crenwelge and Castulo Bimano immediately rerouted traffic through the median.

Cindy Cathey of the Texas Department of Health said cleanup of the fish took three dump truck loads which was estimated to be 30,000 pounds.

All the fish was taken to the Sonora landfill where it was covered.

Traffic on Interstate 10 returned to normal at approximately 3:30 p.m. when the fish was cleaned up and the tractor-trailer removed from the roadway.

Jimmy Lee Jones, 46, suffered bruises and abrasions when his tractor-trailer rolled over in a bar ditch 13 miles south of Sonora.

According to Whitton, due to the inattentiveness of Jones, the truck drifted off the roadway where he lost control and rolled the vehicle.

Sonora to host high school rodeo finals

Thanks to the people and the good facilities, Sonora will be hosting the High School, Region II, finals this weekend.

Participants from about 25 West Texas schools have traveled long and worked hard to accumulate points at each rodeo. The six individuals with the highest points in each event after 10 rodeo sessions will be eligible to compete in the state finals.

Several local boys and one girl will be performing on Saturday and Sunday. They are Lewis Baker, Kelly Kiowski, Mike Merrill, Mathew Smith, Chase Wardlaw and Mack Wardlaw. Rodeo events include cutting, calf roping, breakaway roping, steer wrestling, pole bending, goat tying, saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, team roping and bullriding.

The Saturday performance will begin with cutting at 2:00 p. m. Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for students. Members will also be selling tickets for a chance on a pair of Justin boots.

The Sunday performance will begin at 10:00 a. m. After the Sunday performance there will be an awards presentation.

The local High School Rodeo members invite everyone to come out this weekend and enjoy the final high school rodeo.

A concession stand will be available with Bill Keel serving great food. And yes, Bill Keel will have "Breakfast Burritos" Sunday morning.

Westside Lions host program about preventing child abuse

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

In keeping with the belief that knowing the problem can help solve it, the Westside Lions Club hosted a program on child abuse prevention Monday evening.

"Being aware (of child abuse) is 90 percent of solving the problem," said Lynn McFadden, a case worker with the Child Protective Services.

McFadden, along with Child Placement Supervisor Javan Vosburg, presented the program to about 25 people.

"Every day... there is a war going against child abuse," said McFadden.

Programs such as the one held by the Westside Lions allow for the information about child abuse to get out.

McFadden said common indicators of physical child abuse include frequent injuries such as bruises, cuts, black eyes or burns and aggressive, disruptive and destructive behavior. The child could also be passive or withdrawn.

McFadden also said abuse is not always so obvious as cuts and bruises. It is the emotional factors which are so difficult to work with.

Vosburg said Sonora is not any worse or any better than other communities as far as child abuse is concerned.

"We average 15 to 20 intakes, those are referrals, a year (from Sonora)," said Vosburg.

As with any small community, the problem is getting people who will go ahead and report abuse.

"They don't think it is any of their business," said Vosburg. "It's getting better."

What the law says is that it is another persons business. The family code requires any person, SMILES ALL AROUND - The Alexander family and Municipal Judge Maxine Locklin are all smiles during a presentation made in the honor of the Alexanders becoming foster parents.

Celebration for foster parents

One year ago the lives of Allan and Sharon Alexander changed. No doubt it was for the best.

In April 1990 the Westside Lions Club hosted a program on child abuse and the need for foster parents. Allan listened, became very interested and by December became foster parents of two boys.

On Monday evening, Allan and Sharon were honored as foster parents in Sonora. On hand to share the moment were the two boys.

The Alexanders received a plaque for the occasion.

Allan thanked the Westside Lions Club, the community of Sonora for their support and the Texas Department of Human Services for making it possible.

"Foster parents are the cream of the crop," said Lynn McFadden of Child Protective Services. "We couldn't survive without foster parents."

The Alexanders went through six months of training before the two children came to live with them. The amount of preparation is extraordinary.

Allan showed a folder three to four inches thick full of information and guidance that he and Sharon had to go through during the training.

Though, the key to it all is the children.

Sonora students honored

David Mirike and Julie Jones each received state honors.

Mirike was selected to the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches Academic All-State team while Julie Jones has advanced to the state competition in University Interscholastic League.

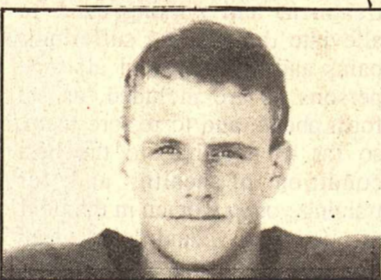

Mirike made the AAA Academic All-State team on the strength of his scholastic and basketball court achievements, said Sonora head basketball coach Doyle Carter.

To be named to the prestigious team, a student must have a 90 average in academics, be named first team all-district and be one of the top 10 applicants, said Carter.

Jones has advanced to state in the U.I.L. Lincoln-Douglass debate event, said Terry Marrs.

Marrs said the debate is one-on-one which stresses values rather than policy such as in cross-

Galvans return to Sonora

Sometimes a long wait is worth it.

Especially if the wait is for a loved one that has been away for so long and facing possible danger.

Javier Galvan and his wife Angie returned to Sonora April 18. While expected at 3 p.m., Javier and Angie showed up almost 45 minutes later.

The crowd gathered at the county courthouse lawn waited patiently and only grew as time went passed.

At 3:47 p.m. honking horns and sirens could be heard a distance off and it was obvious the long awaited reunion would occur.

It seemed the crowd stunned Javier a bit.

"I didn't expect all these people to be here, but I'm glad I made it back safely and my wife too," said Javier.

Javier then went about cutting the yellow ribbons for himself and his wife.

Slow movement in absentee voting

Despite contested races in the city council and school board races, voting officials say absentee votes are still scarce.

As of Tuesday afternoon just 40 ballots had been tallied in the city council race with even fewer in the hospital and water board races, said Melissa Teaff.

Absentee voting continues through April 30.

"You might remind people there are more (candidates) running than slots open," said Teaff. "I don't think they know."

The slow turnout is something of a surprise since Preston Love and Marie Barrera announced their candidacies challenging incumbents Bob Mooney, Butch Campbell and Lemuel Lopez.

City secretary Becky Covington said there are approximately 900 to 1,000 eligible voters in Sonora.

Covington said the change in absentee voting laws some years ago may still confuse people.

"They may still be thinking they can't (absentee) vote or don't have an excuse to vote," said Covington.

Texas law says anybody can vote absentee whether they will be available on actual election day, May 4 this year, or not.

From beginning to finish

When Alan Alexander and his wife Sharon were honored on Monday evening by the Westside Lions Club it brought back some fond memories.

I was present at the meeting in which Allan caught interest in the foster parent program.

As a matter of fact, it was one of the first events I covered after coming to Sonora.

What is really exciting is that I got to watch the entire process of the Alexanders becoming proud parents.

While I did not know the couple well at the beginning, we've become friends and it really is something how the whole program evolved.

Just Chatting

By Griffin Cole
DRN Publisher

The folks from the Texas Department of Human Services are not kidding when they say getting the word out about child abuse and the foster parent program is so important.

Why, Alan and Sharon may never have become interested if the program had not been held that evening.

What's even more important is that this type of information get to the smaller communities. It allows just another facet to pull the town together.

Just ask Allan and Sharon. They have received plenty of items and well wishes from the local folks.

"having cause to believe that a child's physical or mental health or welfare has been or may be adversely affected by abuse or neglect," must report the case to any local or state law enforcement agency.

Getting help in small communities is another problem, especially in wide-open spaces such as West Texas.

"The Child Protective Services has difficulty offering the services that are available in a larger city," said Vosburg. But there are benefactors for the small town.

"One thing is the quality of people," said Vosburg.

Vosburg said people continue to have high standards, churches are still strong and the people are active in the community and still care.

Case workers in larger towns will also specialize in a certain area. Vosburg said that isn't the case in rural areas, "They have to know the whole nine yards."

What is so important is that the public realize there is a big problem with child abuse and that the abuse can range from physical to sexual to neglect.

That is why programs like the one held by the Westside Lions Club and proclaiming April as Child Abuse Prevention month are so important.

A moment for mission

(as delivered at the Church of the Good Shepherd, April 14, 1991)

Any of you who saw "The Civil War" a few months ago may remember the vivid scenes of pain, blood and waste that made up the health care of 100 years ago. But that health care was also composed of charity, love and service.

Since then, many things have changed. In many places, health care has become "big business". Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital was first opened in July, 1951. Its charter, first signed on November 24, 1947 says: "The purpose for which this hospital is formed is for the acquisition, erection, maintenance and operation of a benevolent, charitable, scientific and educational hospital in the city of Sonora, Sutton County, Texas, or the purpose of administering to the sick, to the infirm, to the helpless, to the maimed and to the afflicted of all creeds, colors and nationalities, as may be brought to or presented at such hospital for treatment and nursing care; to alleviate the ills and sufferings, pains and afflictions of all such persons as are included, as set forth above, and to restore them, so far as possible, to the best condition of health; and for training young women in the field of nursing; . . . and doing of all acts and exercising of all powers and assuming all obligations necessary or incidental thereto."

Dear Editor,
I am writing a few lines in behalf of all the Servicemembers from Sutton County in Saudi Arabia. We would like to let the people know that we really appreciate all the support we received from the people in Sutton County. It was a real motivative factor to know that all the people from the U. S. were behind us 100%. We received letters from people of all 50 States, but, I was always happy to see one from the State of Texas.

All the support we received gave us the will to continue with our mission day or night until the last day of War.

It was our pleasure as servicemembers to defend our Country knowing that all the people are behind us 100%.

I would like to send a special Thanks to my Grandmother Emelia Beserra for sending me The Devil's River News every week.
Sincerely yours,
Sgt. Alfredo Luna

Healthcare

By M. Scott Gilmore
Hospital Administrator

A moment for mission? Our mission is still to heal the sick, the infirm, and the helpless. We are still a charitable benevolent, scientific and educational institution. We still "care" first. Time was when taking care of the sick was automatically labeled "charity care". Now, across the state, everytime a Medicaid patient is admitted to a hospital, the hospital (on the average) loses $1,300. For every Medicare patient we take care of we lose approximately 50%. The State of Texas and the Federal Government require minimum staffing and minimum requirements for certification of employees that is almost impossible to maintain in a rural setting. Texas requires all hospital districts to care for "indigents" because the Hospital District can tax to make up for the loss. But our Hospital District was conceived and came into the world at its maximum tax already!

Is the hospital going to close? Maybe.
The answer to the question is up to the voters of Sutton County. There is a bill in the legislature increasing our maximum taxing-ability from 10 cents per hundred-dollar valuation to 20 cents. Does that mean that we're going to tax you twenty cents? No. It means our maximum capacity for taxing would be twenty cents. Almost all hospital districts were created with a maximum cap of 75 cents. To get it past the voters, ours was created with a cap of ten cents.

Big Lake currently charges its citizens 13 cents for their Hospital District, Winters 28, Colorado City 30.4, and Eldorado 46.5, while Sonora charges only ten. The cost of supporting the hospital in Eldorado is $251 for every man woman and child in the county; in Sonora only $78.

In July or August there will be an election in Sonora to allow or deny an increase in our tax cap. If it passes, we keep the hospital open. If it fails, we do something else.

Without the hospital we all run the risk of one day having 45 minutes of life left, when it's a 60 minute drive to San Angelo.

Do we need a hospital? You bet your life.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
It's hard to say goodbye after almost 5 years of living, breathing, crying and loving Sonora.

We will never forget the friends we have made here, nor the trials and successes we have had. About a year after we had moved here, our daughter who was going to college at East Texas State University, said she wanted to come down and visit "the place where miracles happen."

Sonora has truly been a miraculous place. I suppose some people who have lived here for a long time may not know or have forgotten what a wonderful place it really is! Nowhere else in our lives have we lived where we could accomplish so much, give so much, or feel so welcomed. The Hospital, the Dinner Theater, the Nursing Home, Bits & Pieces.

. . . all have been a large part of our lives, waking and sleeping.

After making the decision to leave, we found it much harder to live with the reality of leaving. Someone once said, "it's not the divorce I mind so much, it's leaving the kids behind!" That's how we feel.

To all of those who have befriended us, we give our thanks and our love, and the promise that we will return often and that you occupy a permanent place in our hearts.

Go with God,
Scott & Charlotte

State Name: from Tejas, Indian word meaning friendly.
Motto: Friendship
Nickname: Lone Star State
State Bird: Mockingbird
The Mockingbird, an exceptional mimic that can imitate even farm tractors, became the Texas state bird in 1927. From the highest twig of a tree, the bird's exhilarating songests are accompanied by joyous aerial flips and rolls.

State tree: Pecan trees, (many specimens are centuries old) thrive beside Texas rivers and streams. A former Texas governor so loved the tree, he directed one be planted by his grave, and the nuts distributed to the people for planting throughout the state.

State flower: Bluebonnets, several species of Lupine native to wide areas of the state, are the beloved state flower of Texas. In late March-early April, masses of them mantle roadsides, meadows and hillsides with acres and acres

State grass: A state grass? Don't be surprised; without grass there'd be no ranching industry. Compared to dark-green Kentucky bluegrass, sideoats grama may appear thin and yellowish, but it's invaluable--richly nutritious and drought-resistant.
State gem: Topaz, a brilliantly transparent, pastel blue variety, is the state gem of Texas. Collected in several areas of the Llano Uplift, a region of ancient igneous formations, the most prized, gem-quality specimens are found near the town of Mason.

State stone: Geologic ages ago, palm trees thrived throughout most of Texas in a moist, jungle-like climate. Today, petrified palm wood--from jet black through a rainbow of delicate colors to white--is the popular state stone of Texas.
State dish: Texans love a bowl of red. . . that is chili, the official state dish. Virtually every Texan thinks his own recipe is the best, leading to innumerable Texas chili-cooking competitions, including the World Championship Chili Cookoff each November.

State seashell: The Lightning Whelk is appropriate as a state symbol because it's common to the Texas Gulf Coast. Among thousands of species of shells, it's unusual in that it has a left-handed aperture, or opens from the left instead of the right.

State fish: Guadalupe Bass
State capital: Austin

Capitol: The nation's largest state capitol, in Austin, was completed in 1888. Built of Texas pink granite, it was paid for by deeding three million acres of public land to a firm of Chicago businessmen. Within some 8.5 acres of floor space are nearly 500 rooms. The building is 309 feet tall from the basement floor to the top of the statue on the dome.

Food fight makes financial sense

The American Cancer Society is picking a fight, the Great American Food Fight Against Cancer, to make the American public aware of lowering risks of certain cancers through simple, inexpensive changes in diet. According to Lou Faulks, the Great American Food Fight Against Cancer can offer financial rewards, too.

"Of course, the financial savings in medical costs can be significant, for following the American Cancer Society guidelines is in line with good nutrition practices recommended by dietitians and other health organizations," says Faulks. "Our guidelines will make an impact upon reducing risks for heart disease, diabetes, and other diseases related to diet."

But the Great American Food Fight Against Cancer will also add a few extra dollars to consumers' pockets on a weekly basis, Faulks says. She points out that the money saved by making small changes in diet will quickly add up over a year's time.

Great American Food Fight Against Cancer recommendations are simple: choose a variety of foods rich in vitamins A and C, low in fat, and high in fiber, as well as cabbage-family (cruciferous) vegetables. American Cancer Society nutrition guidelines also include avoiding obesity and being moderate in consumption of alcoholic beverages and salt-cured, smoked, and nitrite-cured foods.

"These are easy to follow guidelines," says Lou Faulks. "The American Cancer Society doesn't ask the public to buy any special health or diet foods or dietary supplements, all of which can be expensive. A well-balanced diet, all that we're recommending, comes from the foods we buy everyday."

Fifty-seven teams compete in golf tourney

The Sonora Golf Club held their first tournament of the year on April 13 and 14. It was a two-man select shot format. There were fifty-seven teams entered. Results are as follows:

Championship Flight: 1st, Steve Enriquez/William Valdez, 124; 2nd, Ray Don Roe/Steve Alexander 128; 3rd, Joe Arzate, Sr./Joe Arzate, Jr. 130; 4th, Marshall Brown/Jim Grissen 131; 5th, Lane Duck, Sonny Perez, Sr./Sonny Perez, Jr.

First Flight: 1st, Erasmo Lumbreras/Primo Gonzales 131; 2nd, Richard McCormick/Barney Sisco; 3rd, Virgil Burge/Bob Jackson 137; 4th, Arthur Torres/Joe Lombrana 137. Since there was a three way tie, 2nd, 3rd and 4th places were determined by a score-card playoff.

Second Flight: 1st, Johnny Doan/Tommy Doan 140; 2nd, Dick Halsted/Jack Wirsing 141; 3rd, Jason Donaldson/Kyle Donaldson 142; 4th, Moses Hill/Adam Guana 146.

Great Texas bike ride to benefit diabetes research

The American Diabetes Association will host The Great Texas Bike Ride in Sonora on Monday, May 13 to help raise funds for diabetes. The event location will be at St. John's Episcopal Parish Hall, and start at 5:30 p. m. and conclude at 6:30 p. m. The length of the ride will be six miles.

Participants of The Great Texas Bike Ride raise funds for diabetes by enlisting sponsors, who pledge a certain amount of money for every mile the participant completes on the day of the event. Prizes will be awarded to participants who collect a minimum of $35 from sponsors. The participants who collect money in the community will win locally donated prizes.

If the participant collects $3,000, he/she will be eligible for the State Grand Prize of a $1,000 travel gift certificate.

The American Diabetes Association is the nation's leading voluntary health organization supporting diabetes research and education.

The banana plant is not a tree. It is an herb. The stalk is made of leaves that overlap each other, like a celery stalk.

The American Cancer Society asks that people buy more fresh fruits and vegetables, which are inexpensive in season. The Society also suggests smaller amounts of fat, which will reduce costs. Recommended substitutions when dining out -- for example, fresh fruit, for dessert or iced tea instead of a milkshake with lunch -- offer savings, too.

Methods of preparation will save money, according to Faulks. She says that poaching, steaming, and broiling meats, poultry, fish, and vegetables without expensive fats and oils can be quite economical.

"It's important to note that the Great American Food Fight isn't about denial," Faulks says. "The American Cancer Society wants people to make positive changes without feeling as if they're punishing themselves."

Consumers can call the American Cancer Society's toll-free 1-800-ACS-2345 for special tips about saving money. Other tips on shopping, cooking, and dining out according to American Cancer Society guidelines are available.

"We started the Great American Food Fight Against Cancer so that everyone can be a winner," says Faulks. "The financial savings make health eating more attractive."

Please remember that a volunteer will be calling on everyone with an educational message about nutrition. The leaflet contains recommendations that could reduce a person's risks for certain cancers. The ACS wants people to choose foods rich in vitamins A and C, low in fat, and high in fiber, as well as vegetables from the cabbage family. When the volunteer calls on you, please make a generous donation to continue the fight against cancer.

Third Flight: 1st, Joe Ramirez/Tony Stewart 141; 2nd, Vince Sikes/Rusty Barnes 142; 3rd, Tony Pierce/Robert Harris 142; 4th, John Gwynne/Randy Moore 143; 5th, Lane Duck, Roy Roach/George Tucker 151. The tie for 2nd and 3rd was broken by a score-card playoff.

Local winners included Erasmo Lumbreras, Primo Gonzales, Virgil Burge, Bob Jackson, Jason Donaldson, Kyle Donaldson, Roy Roach and Steve Thorp, who won closest to the pin on No. 9. Marshall Brown of San Angelo won the longest drive on No. 6.

It's beginning to look like Christmas

by Carole Thorp

The spirit of Christmas is descending upon our community through the people and organizations taking part in Sonora's first ever Christmas in April. This much needed home repair program will benefit 21 of Sonora's low-income senior citizens who, otherwise, would have to go without home repairs. Repairs will range from replacing screen doors to renovating an entire house.

Approximately 260 volunteer workers will do the actual repairs using materials bought by Christmas in April of Sonora, Inc. All money for this project, with the exception of a mini-grant from the Texas Dept. of Aging, was raised from private sources throughout our community. So if anyone thinks that the government is paying for this endeavor, think again! Not only have we received workers and funds from within our own community, we also have an army (being led by Linda Johnson and Virginia Jones) of women preparing food, drinks and snacks for the entire work day. Also, Belia Castaneda is supplying free day care for volunteers on the 27th.

On Saturday, April 27th, each team will gather at their respective worksite and the work will begin (of course some advance work has already been completed by professionals). Headquarters for the workday will be the Sutton County Senior Center where Lewis Allen and other board members, as well as, the sandwich crew, will be on call for anything needed by the teams. If a team member needs to be located or materials are needed, call 387-5657 or 387-3941 and help will be dispatched.

All selected homes will be easily recognized as each home will display a banner which identifies its team. If you would like to experience the true spirit of Christmas, drive around town on Saturday, April 27. You'll see people giving freely of themselves to help others less fortunate than most.

Golf auxiliary holds meeting

The Sonora Golf Auxiliary met April 17 at the Sutton County Steak House with Pattie Prather and Becky Covington as hostesses. There were twenty members present.

After the meeting was called to order by President Lauri Smith, the plans for helping with the Christmas in April program were finalized. The next topic of discussion was the upcoming ladies partnership tournament on April 20.

The Golf Auxiliary is starting "Ladies Day". All interested lady golfers are invited to come out on Monday afternoons to play. Tee-off time will be around 5:30. Beginners to accomplished players are encouraged to join the fun.

Also, there will be a golf clinic for anyone interested, on June 15. There will be two, four hour sessions taught by Barry and Sharon Fletcher of San Angelo. They would like to have at least eight, but not more than fourteen in each session, so space is limited. To sign up, please go by the Club House and put your name on the list. The cost is $25 per person.

Texas lamb and wool days set for May 3-4

SAN ANGELO - Texas Lamb and Wool Days, set for May 3-4 here, is designed to show the public the importance sheep and wool play in our economy. Fort Concho Historical Landmark will host the event, and most of the activities are free to the public.

Sponsors include the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, the TS&GRA Auxiliary, Fort Concho National Historic Landmark and Museum and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The event will officially begin May 3 at 8:00 a. m. when a wool hauling wagon train under the direction of wagon boss L. P. Bloodworth of Sonora and John Vaughan with Fort Concho leaves for San Angelo on a 25-mile trail ride. The ride starts at the Lee Pfluger Ranch southeast of San Angelo on Susan Peak Road. Just before reaching town, a band of sheep will be turned over to the trail riders who will then trail them down Oakes Street to the Fort grounds.

"We are striving for authenticity throughout the ride," said Dr. George Ahlschwede, TAEX sheep and goat specialist here. "No rubber-tired wagons will be allowed, and we hope all riders, whether on horseback or in wagons, will wear clothing appropriate for the early 1900s. The whole event is designed to highlight some of the fascinating historic and current aspects of the industry."

The trail riders and wagons are expected to reach the Fort late in the afternoon where they will circle the wagons and camp for the night, enjoying a lamb dinner, storytelling, "pickin', fiddlin'" and singing around the campfire. The public is invited to the campfire entertainment.

The activities May 4 will kick-off with a campfire breakfast featuring lamb sausage at 6:30 a. m. The breakfast is followed by the sheep dog trials at 7:30 a. m. under the direction of Tom Latham, San Angelo Sheep Dog Trial Master.

At 10:00 a. m. and again at 12:00 p. m., the public will be treated to a wool style show presented by the Texas Food and Fiber Commission, the TS&GRA and Gabriel's. Four models from Dallas Apparel Mart will show the latest wool fashions along with ten local models and the state's adult, junior and senior Make It Yourself With Wool winners. The models will also be wearing many of the fashion design winners from Texas Women's University at Denton as well as the most current wool fashions from today's top designers. There will be no charge for the style shows which will be held in the Fort Commissary.

A special attraction after each style show will be a lamb cutting demonstration conducted by Tim Bauer with the American Lamb Council. Lamb promotion will play a prominent role throughout the day's activities.

The Texas Lamb and Wool Days Lamb Cook-Off will get under way at 6:30 a. m. Saturday, featuring entries from throughout the San Angelo area. Entries will be judged at 2:00 p. m.

Awards presentations will take place between 2:00 and 3:00 for the Lamb Cook-Off, Sheep Dog Trials, and Shearing Contest. Prizes in conjunction with the Wagon Train will be given during the campfire entertainment.

No digging zone!

Call before you dig into someone else's conversation.

If you're planning to do any kind of underground digging, give a quick call to your telephone company. It can save time, trouble and interrupted conversation for unsuspecting telephone users.

Maybe someone's just about to pop the question. Or get a great job offer. Then the line goes dead because you cut into their telephone cable.

The telephone company has a free service designed to help prevent these accidents. Just call us 72 hours before the start of construction. By calling your local GTE office, you can help to ensure trouble-free service.

So if you're putting in fence posts, building a shopping center or expanding a roadway, call us. We'll come right out and mark the precise location of the underground telephone cable... so you won't cut in on someone's important conversation.

Cowboy Church Service to be held Sunday

Sunday at 9:00 a. m. there will be a Cowboy Church Service which will feature Dennis McKinley of Keller, Texas. His ministry is called Western World Missions, and it takes him to all levels of rodeo from our area in West Texas to Australia, Canada, and Panama. Dennis was raised in New Mexico in a ranching family and was called to help minister the "good news" of Jesus Christ to the western oriented world. He also spends much time in Mexico helping set up orphanages, churches, and gives food and clothing to the poor. He is a P.

R. C. A. calf roper, and won a National Calf Roping title in Australia in the mid 80's.

The music for the service will be presented by the New Creations of Lamesa, Texas. Gary and Judy Jones are cotton farmers and have been supporters of high school and college rodeos. Their music and song writing talent is unmatched in our area. Everyone is invited to "come-as-you-are" to these services which will begin at 9 a. m. in the grandstands at the arena with the rodeo performance following at 10 a. m.

It may be standing just fine. But eventually, all homes start to show signs of age. Take a look at what you have. Could a refinanced kitchen or an additional room make the place more liveable? Maybe you only need a new coat of paint or new drapes to give your home that bright new appearance.

Whatever you decide, we'd like to help you do some fixing up. So if your home could stand a loan, come see us. We don't think you should have to stand the cost alone.

The Senior Center Philosophy

The philosophy of the senior center movement is based on these premises: that aging is a normal development process; that human beings need peers with whom they can interact and who are available as a source of encouragement and support; and that adults have the right to a voice in determining matters in which they have a vital interest.

In accordance with these premises, senior centers adhere to the following beliefs:
*older adults, like all people, are individuals with ambitions, capabilities, and creative capacities.
*they are capable of continued growth and development
*they have certain basic needs, including opportunities for relationships and for experiencing a sense of achievement
*they need both access to sources of information and help for personal and family problems, and the opportunity to learn from individuals coping with similar experiences *they have a right to maximum opportunity for involvement in all aspects of a center's decision-making process Senior center staffs are obliged to create an atmosphere that acknowledges the value of human life, affirms the dignity and self-worth of the older adult, and maintains a climate of respect, trust, and support. Within this atmosphere, staff creates opportunities for older adults to apply their wisdom, experience, and insight, and to exercise their skills.
As an integral part of the aging network, a center serves community needs, assists other agencies in serving older adults, and provides opportunities for older adults to develop their potential as individuals within the context of the entire community.

Community

Definition of a senior center

A senior center is a community focal point where older adults come together for services and activities that reflect their experience and skills, respond to their diverse needs and interests, enhance their dignity, support their independence, and encourage their involvement in and with the center and the community.

As part of a comprehensive community strategy to meet the needs of older adults, senior centers offer services and activities within the center and link participants with resources offered by other agencies. Center programs consist of a variety of individual and group services and activities.

The center also serves as a resource for the entire community for information on aging, support for family caregivers, training professional and lay leaders and students, and for development of innovative approaches to addressing aging issues.

Principle - A senior center shall participate in cooperative community planning, establish service delivery arrangements with other community agencies and organizations, and serve as a focal point for older adults in the community. A center shall be a source of public information, community education, advocacy, and opportunities for older adults.

Rationale - A senior center, as a vital social institution closely related to and involved with its community, should work with other organizations to define the area and population of older adults it wishes to serve. The center's community or service area may be defined by geographic or political boundaries, by demographic clusters, or by factors that identify a "natural" community where people live, work, shop, and worship.

Through community linkages, a senior center coordinates service planning with other agencies, mobilizes resources, and develops and expands services and activities. Senior centers work with many organizations on both a formal and informal basis. These include other senior centers, area agencies on aging, United Way, social service providers, recreation and parks departments, religious organizations, hospitals, chambers of commerce, local businesses, schools, libraries, and others.

Cooperative planning among community service agencies sets up the framework for policies and programs that provide more effective services to older adults and stretch limited resources.

For many centers, the area agency on aging is a principal partner in the service planning process for the community. Designated by state units on aging as regional planning bodies, area agencies can be units of county, city or town government, or private, nonprofit organizations. They are responsible for: assessing the needs of older adults in the area; setting priorities for service; funding services through contractual and other arrangements; planning and coordinating existing services; acting as advocate for older adults; and offering technical assistance and training to service providers.

Center representatives often serve on area agency-sponsored advisory committees and provider councils, and many centers receive Older Americans Act funding and other funds through their area agency. In addition, the Older Americans Act directs area agencies to give special consideration to designating multipurpose senior centers as community focal points for service delivery.

Equally important as collaborative planning in the effort to improve the community's service delivery system are the senior center's cooperative linkages for referral and service delivery. By establishing relationships with other service providers, the center helps make the service system more responsive to older adults. Arrangements with other providers require the establishment of good working relationship; deliberate, explicit agreements as to each agency's responsibility; and careful monitoring and follow-up to assure that older adults are well served. Such arrangements should be formalized if they involve exchange of money through fees, contracts, or grants.

To complement its cooperative linkages, a center should make a public information effort to educate the community on aging issues through media sources such as television, radio, and newspapers. A center should work to publicize its mission and program and to enhance the image of older adults, through such activities as public forums. Public information can be used to create confidence in the center and to win community support.

A center should create a marketing plan that focuses on what is needed by the community's older adults and ways the center can attract them. A center should assess the needs of the entire community and make certain it is not duplicating services and activities already available. A center then concentrates on attracting the resources it needs and offering its own unique program.

Another way in which a center can be a valuable resource to its community is by providing field training opportunities for students and by conducting or participating in research to increase understanding about older adults or improve gerontological practice.
