Lone Star Gas CEO testifies

By Marti McLain
DRN Contributing Writer

At 5 p.m. July 15, both sides finished presenting testimony in the multi-million dollar lawsuit involving Martha Miers (along with Jodie Finklea, Bill Finklea, Larry Finklea and Marsha Finklea Cardwell) versus Lone Star Gas Company (joined Enserch Exploration, Inc. and EO Exploration).

The weary, but patient jury was asked to report Wednesday at 9 a.m. to hear the final arguments in the case.

The 13-member jury panel, six men and seven women, began hearing testimony in the case on June 3 in the 112th District Court with Judge Brock Jones presiding.

The final week of testimony included numerous depositions read to the jury. Depositions included Lone Star pumper, Aaron Burns and Railroad Commission employees; Bart Huffman and Dennis Purvis.

Short depositions of Rainey, a meter expert and Cauley, a reservoir engineer were read.

The major testimony of the final week came from David Biegler, the Chairman of the Board of Lone Star Gas Company. The final witness in the case was Lonnie Morrison, an attorney from Wichita Falls.

The testimony of Burns described his job as a pumper and confirmed that after 1986 he stopped keeping daily reports. He had kept them prior to 1986, but after 1986 he started taking them back to Junction with him and throwing them away.

Goat sale to be on July 25

About 65 yearling bucks will sell at the annual Angora Goat Performance Test Field Day and Sale July 25 at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station near Sonora.

Almost 250 goats were on the 112-day test at the station, located on Hwy. 55 about 5 miles east of Hwy. 277.

Lunch will be served at noon and a program explaining the results of the test begins at 1 p. m.

During the program, Dr. Butch Taylor, resident director of the station, will give a presentation on "The Insidious Invasion of Cedar: How Can We Survive?"

Dr. Brian May, executive director of the Mohair Council of America in San Angelo, will update the mohair market.

The fine-haired goat project and the use of inbreeding in animal production will be summarized by Dr. Maurice Shelton, professor-sheep and goats, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, San Angelo.

The British Mohair Spinners Award will be given during the program.

Additionally, awards for certified bucks will be presented. The top 30 percent of the bucks are eligible for certification based on indexing requirements. Indexing measures weight gain, hair yield, staple length and fineness. A sifting committee also will judge the animals on structural qualities.

The sale begins at 2 p. m. with auctioneer Lem Jones of Harper.

Burns said he didn't remember who told him to start throwing them away, but he did. When asked about the bypass valve, Burns said he knew nothing about it. He didn't know what it connected and he couldn't be sure whether it was open or closed.

Larry Finklea was recalled to the stand and was questioned about a Railroad Commission report by Dennis Purvis.

Finklea was not familiar with the report, he was asked repeatedly, "Who turned the valve on?"

Finklea said that he could not name a person who did it.

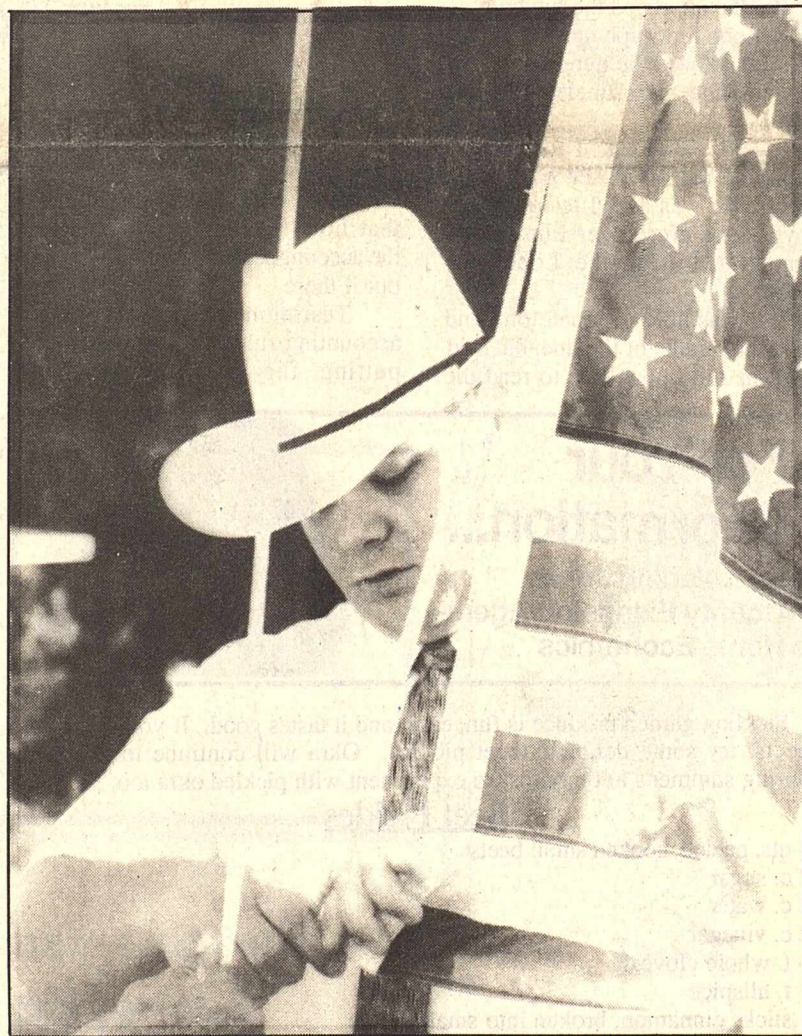

Hours of repetitious depositions from Railroad employees Huffman and Purvis were read to the jury. Huffman recalled again that he had asked Jamie Newberry about the

WTU to lower costs

West Texans trying to hold off the effects of summer temperatures received some welcome news from West Texas Utilities Co. The electric utility has lowered the cost of electricity 7.8 percent for July through September compared to costs for the last year.

According to Earl J. Johnson, WTU's local manager, the interim decrease is part of WTU's request to lower the fuel cost portion of the bill to reflect the price it is paying for gas and coal to generate electricity. The Public Utility Commission of Texas will decide whether permanently lower costs should go into effect beginning in October, Johnson said.

Those final costs are expected to be about 2.5 percent lower than they were during the last 12 months. July through September are typically the months of highest use as air conditioners and heat pumps work overtime to keep inside temperatures as much as 30 degrees lower than outside temperatures. The actual size of each customer's bill will be

Sonorans burning up Hot Rock Rodeo Series

The Sutton County Days Rodeo will wrap up the inaugural season of the Hot Rock Rodeo Series and it looks like Sonora fans will have plenty of locals to cheer for.

Through the first four series events, Arnold Felts is ahead in three events and Houston Powers one.

Felts is currently first in the all-around (determined by winnings), calf roping and in team roping with Cliff Davis.

A fifth place finish in average in the steer roping at the West of the Pecos Rodeo earlier this month has helped Felts continue his strong showing.

Houston Powers has had a strong 1991 in steer roping and currently leads in that event during the Hot Rocks Rodeo Series.

Mack Altizer, rodeo producer for the series, said the best thing about the Hot Rocks Rodeo Series is that the participants must compete in all six rodeos to make the Bad Company Finals. The finals will be held in Katy Oct. 24-26.

Prior to the Sutton County Days Rodeo Aug. 22-24, the series will make a stop in Lovington, N.M. for the Lea County Fair Rodeo Aug. 14-17.

The Series has been a popular one in its first season. Attendance records were broken at the Big Springs Cowboy Reunion by over 100 people.

Jaycees back strong

While it's an old idea, the Jaycees in Sonora are in a new form and hoping the club can be productive again.

After disbanding seven or eight years ago, the Jaycees returned to Sutton County in May of this year getting the needed 20 members between the ages of 21

Just Chatting

By Griffin Cole

It's best to keep contact

When it comes to keeping in contact with those relatives and friends far away I'm probably hanging on by my last fingernail.

Complaints are wide-ranging against me for my lack of communication. My answer varies little.

"Hey, I write for a living. Who wants to spend all their time doing their job away from the office?", I like to respond.

Then I add, "Me writing a letter is like a baseball player getting in a sandlot game after a July doubleheader."

Sometimes the complaints aren't always about my lack of contact. I had a friend who told me, "I didn't mind not receiving a Christmas card, but it really bothered me to get back the card I sent with 'No forwarding address' stamped on it."

My mother and father are always threatening me about the lack of mail.

I was bragging to a friend about how good Wisconsin cheese is and promised him some as a Christmas gift. I followed with a call to my parents telling them of my request. They said no problem, as soon as I sent them a letter, about anything.

My friends got their cheese as a Memorial Day gift.

There can be drawbacks to not keeping in close touch. If you are the favorite of a rich uncle who just might heap many favors on you, it is best to write and often.

Also, if you fall out of touch with a friend and then are desperate for money it can be tough to ask for a favor.

Though, this is just how I got sweet revenge a short time ago.

I have a friend in San Francisco who keeps in contact about as well as I do. One day he just popped into my mind so I called him on the spur of the moment.

I hadn't talked to this guy for three years and I get his answering machine.

"Ahem," I said, "This is Griffin Cole, Mike. I know you haven't heard from me in a long time, but I really need to borrow some money. Give me a call back soon."

This guy is a better friend than I ever thought. He actually returned the call, must have figured I was kidding.

Luckily for him I was, but next time I'm not kidding, I'll know who to call.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Lillian M. Hudspeth Hospital and Nursing Home would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you who are listed below for your donations of time, energy, and goods to make our Annual Nursing Home Barbecue a success.

The Nursing Home Residents' profit was approximately $395.

Thanks to: Coca Cola Bottling of San Angelo, Ronnie Cox of Western Drug Store, Bud Davidson, The Devil's River News, Bobby Dickenson, Dowell Schlumberger, Inc., Beto (Robert) Duran, First Baptist Church, Food Center IGA, Hospital Auxiliary, Hospital Staff, Smith Neal, Nursing Home Staff, Nursing Home & Hospital Department Supervisors, Lura Sawyer, Ruth Shurley and The Sonora Observer.

Special Thanks to Terry Surridge of the Staff who pulled it all together, from planning through implementation. Thanks for all your help, John Hempel, for the residents of Lillian M. Hudspeth Nursing Home

Dear Ms. Pool:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank The Sutton County and Schleicher County EMTs, Firepersons and Medical Personnel for their invaluable help during the weekend of July 6-7, 1991. You responded quickly and efficiently to our period of need. It is uncommon for a small hospital to have such a "wild and wicked weekend."

Knowing that there are still community members who are willing to volunteer their invaluable support services to their community and neighboring communities allows me to have pride in Rural Texas. I somehow find it appropriate that this spirit of volunteerism, efficiently and caring showed itself during the 4th of July weekend. Thank You!

A special thanks goes to Dr. Pajestka for his efficient handling of triage and treatment of the high number of trauma victims during the weekend. Thank You!

Sincerely,
John Hempel

Health news

by Dr. Rico J. Forlano

Obesity is one of the fastest growing health problems facing Americans today. Many people watch their weight so they can look good but it is very important to watch your weight to stay healthy. Some of the disorders associated with being overweight are diabetes, high blood pressure, arthritis in weight wearing joints, breast cancer in females, psychological and back pain.

Weight reduction may be achieved through medically supervised dieting and intensive behavior modification. This includes exercise, a low fat diet, eating fruits and vegetables and no snacking.

Gastrointestinal surgery which is endorsed by the National Institute of Health is another option for treating severe obesity. This is done by making a small pouch by the process of stapling off a large section of the stomach, creating a narrow restricted pathway to the intestinal tract. Significant weight loss is usually the result with this surgery, but it is not always successful. Death is rare but side effects may occur, including leaks from the sutures, diarrhea, vomiting, ulcers and gallstones.

If you are interested in a carefully monitored weight control program consult your physician.

Health news

Low back pain may be due to many things, but one thing that may be overlooked is a kidney infection. Women are more likely to suffer from kidney infections than men.

If you have a kidney infection here are some symptoms you could experience: weight loss, fever, fatigue, increased urination, painful urination, unusual urination at night, bed wetting at night, involuntary urination without warning, urination in smaller amounts than usual, hesitancy and straining on urination. The urine may be milky or brick dust colored. If you have low back pain without these symptoms it is probably due to either spinal misalignment or muscle spasm. If you have low back pain without the kidney infection symptoms consult your chiropractic physician otherwise consult your medical physician.

bypass valve and Newberry told him that it was always open.

Reports indicated that after coming to Sonora to investigate, two months of charts were hand integrated and it was decided that no further investigation was necessary.

In cross-examination, it was revealed the investigation was not concerned with theft of gas. No opinion of gas theft was expressed in the reports.

Much of the final week was the testimony of the CEO of Lone Star Gas.

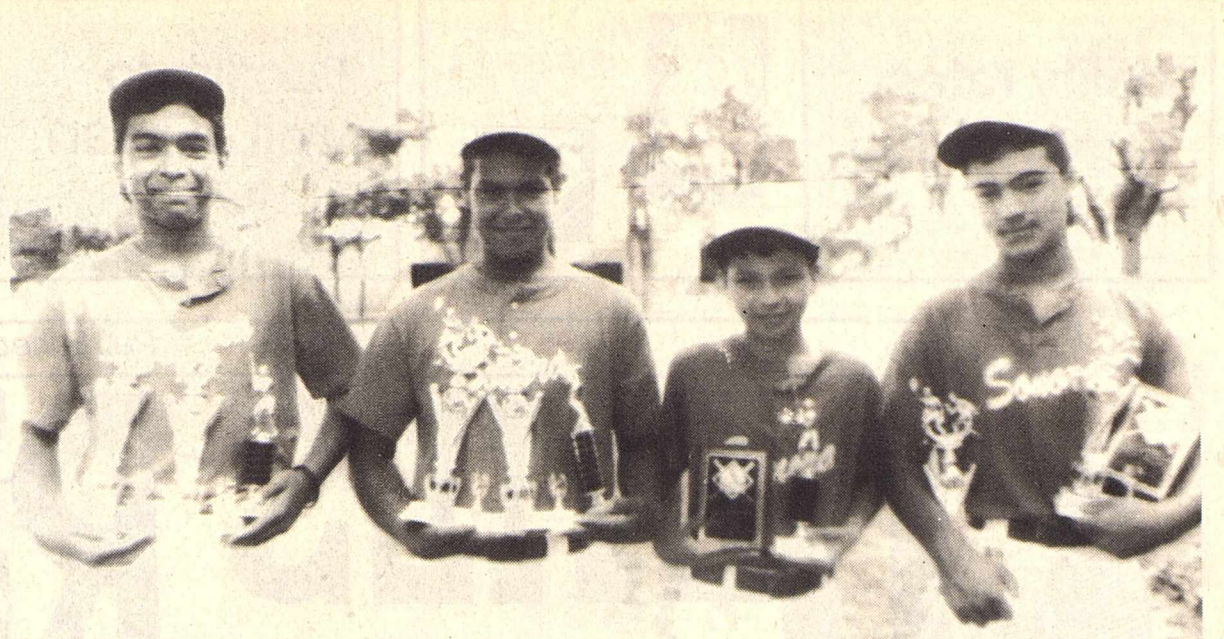

In outlining his career, David Biegler testified he had been head of the Engineering Division in 1976, when the gathering system had been reorganized. That is when the records show the bypass line and valve had been installed.

Records indicated (in a letter to Biegler from the accounting department at Lone Star) that the people in the Dallas office knew that the bypass line and valve were installed.

Biegler approved the funding. A Lone Star pipe map from that period showed the bypass line and valve. The map labeled the line cross-over.

Biegler was asked to read the pipeline map with the cross-over on it. He was asked to locate the bypass or cross-over line on the model by using the Lone Star map.

He was able to locate one end and the middle of the line, but said that he did know how to read the

Lone Star pipe map to locate the other end.

Biegler said that at the time the bypass was installed, many people had access to the maps, but he had never looked at it. He was simply in charge of approving expenditures.

Much testimony in this case has centered around Lone Star Gas Company's system of accounting.

In earlier testimony, Mike Claiborne had pointed to accounts in Lone Star's annual report. Claiborne testified that the money in this account reflected payments to Oakridge Energy for gas that had been bypassed. Money in this account, #801 must reflect payment for gas taken.

Railroad Commission rules do not allow payments for "take or pay" gas to be placed in this account. Therefore, if the gas payments to Oakridge Energy were placed in this account, they had to be payments for the bypassed gas.

If money paid Oakridge Energy was for gas bypassed, then the defendants would be admitting they had taken gas that had not been metered.

If the money placed in the Oakridge account was for take or pay gas, then the money was in the wrong account.

In answer to questions concerning this accounting decision, Biegler simply stated that Lone Star put the money in the account because they decided to put it there.

Testimony concerning the accounting rules indicated that by putting the payment in this account, a public utility is allowed to pass the amount on to their customers.

Testimony was given by Biegler concerning an earlier case in Wichita Falls. Oakridge Energy had sued Lone Star, Enserch, and EO Operating.

A settlement was made by the corporations which gave Oakridge $20 million cash, sold them the entire field for $3.5 million, guaranteed them a $3 price for their gas (spot market gas is about $1), will allow them to market their own gas if the price goes above $3, assures that Lone Star will transmit their gas to the new market and included a "take or pay" clause that requires monthly purchases of 80 percent.

Testifying concerning the Oakridge case, Biegler stated the two cases were not alike and could not be compared.

In rebuttal, a letter from Clint Adams (a Lone Star attorney) to Biegler described them as "the same case."

Biegler explained that the settlement was a calculated decision on his part to have peace in the area. He had explained much of the $20 million as "take or pay" costs and that none of the money was for gas "bypassing" the meters.

Miers' attorney, Jamie Baskin, questioned the placement of punitive costs in the account #801.

Rules quoted in the courtroom indicated only actual cost of gas can be placed in account #801, and only actual costs of gas can be passed on to the consumer.

Biegler was adamant concerning the settlement.

He said he made the deal, and he certainly knew what he was paying for.

Attorney Lonnie Morrison from Wichita Falls appeared as the final witness in the case.

He was the attorney who negotiated the settlement in the Oakridge case. "Take or pay" claims were never considered. He did feel that the settlement was overwhelmingly beneficial to Oakridge.

Biegler testified that Lone Star Gas Company had developed a reputation for some 80 years as a company that was fair and honest.

Baskin questioned Biegler concerning other settlements where punitive damages were passed on to customers as costs of gas.

Biegler was questioned concerning another case involving the bypass line and valve.

In this case, to be tried in Edwards County, he is personally being sued for fraud along with the companies involved in this lawsuit. This case involves the same bypass line and valve on the Wallace lease in Edwards County.

The case involves the same defendants, Lone Star Gas et al; plaintiffs are the Wallaces (George, Martha and Jeri).

Biegler was aware of the case, but not of any details.

The charge to the jury was debated Tuesday.

The lawsuit has been long and often repetitious, but final arguments were expected to begin Wednesday morning with the case in the hands of the jury by Thursday.

People with disabilities can earn more while receiving benefits

People with disabilities may work and still receive Social Security disability insurance benefits or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) disability payments. And, they may be able to earn more than they think under changes in the law, according to Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, Texas.

"The law has changed considerably in recent years, and many people may not be aware of how much they can earn and still keep their cash benefits and Medicare or Medicaid coverage," Upp said.

Special rules, called "work incentives", are designed to continue cash benefits and health care assistance, help with special work expenses caused by the disability, and provide rehabilitation and training.

"We had 21 members at the start and in the first two months we've gained six new members," said Jaycees President Jody Luttrell.

In the early stages, Luttrell said the biggest goal for the Jaycees is getting organized and people into the leadership positions.

"Later we'll see how we are man-power wise and financially see what we can do."

The main concern of the Jaycees is the youth of the community.

"(We're) more youth oriented. We get money for the community in general but aim for the youth mainly," said Luttrell.

Having members in the younger age bracket is a definite plus Luttrell believes.

"Since we graduated high school five, seven, 10 years ago, more teenagers can associate with us than with the older generations," said Luttrell.

The Jaycees have two events sponsored for the near future in which to help draw funds for the club.

First will be the dunking booth on the courthouse lawn during Sutton County Days in late August.

During the Labor Day weekend the Jaycees will be conducting a roadside stop at the rest stop located six miles west of Sonora. The club will be there from 6 p.m. Friday through 6 p.m. Monday serving coffee, doughnuts and soft drinks.

Still in its fledgling stage, the Jaycees are planning a membership drive soon and is open to anybody between the ages of 21 and 40.

Junior High student council members attend workshop

"Building Bridges" was the theme of the Texas Association of Student Councils leadership workshop. The workshop, which was for junior high students, was held at Angelo State University, July 7-12. The focus of the workshop was to teach and develop leadership, citizenship and other skills needed to operate effectively in American democracy.

Those ten Sonora Junior High students attending were: Levi Pool, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pool; Jeff Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Floyd; Chris Crowder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Crowder; Casey Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Fitzgerald; John Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Jones; T. J. Thorp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Thorp; Brandi Bible, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frisby Bible; Shawna Faris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Faris; Carla Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weaver and Sarah Marrs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Marrs.

Amy Patton, who will be a sophomore at Sonora High, was one of four students selected state-wide to be a Junior Consultant at the workshop. The Junior Consultants are selected for their outstanding leadership abilities. Amy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Patton.

The students stayed in the ASU dorms during the workshops and attended sessions held at the Student Center. Accompanying the students were Mona Simpler and Alice Cox, co-sponsors for the Sonora Junior High Student Council.

Local Cub Scouts attend camp

Eleven of Sonora's Cub Scouts have just returned from a four-day camping trip at Camp Sol Mayer. The boys who participated in the July 11-14 resident camp were Webelos Tanner Fields, Chris Presley, Russell Dempsey; Bears Joe Galindo, Ryan Hardgrave, Pete Samaniego, Anthony Sanchez, Corey Scheidemann; Wolves James Elliott, Sean Fields, and Stetson Hall. Brandon Scheidemann accompanied the group on the trip. The boys were supervised by five of their dads, including Al Elliott, Calloway Hall, Gary Hardgrave, Ricky Presley and Pete Samaniego.

All twelve of the boys braved the cool water of the swimming pool early each morning at 6:30 a. m. to earn their Polar Bear patches. Russell Dempsey took the overall award in archery for his efforts. Other activities available included BB gun shooting, hiking and fishing, arts and crafts, and nightly campfires. The weather cooperated nicely, as there were no scorching hot days and no rainstorms!

At the 4th of July parade in Sonora, the Cub Scouts carried small American flags and a banner announcing the Veterans of World War II. The boys plan to enter the Sutton County Days parade in August.

Boys are eligible to join the Cub Scouts at the beginning of their first grade year, and continue through the end of fifth grade. Any boys interested in becoming a member of Pack 19 are encouraged to call Cub Master Claudia Dempsey or Kathy Hardgrave for more information.

EMS to offer classes

Sutton County EMS will be holding a First Aid class for the general public on July 23 & 24 from 7:00 p. m. to 10:00 p. m. both evenings. This class is highly recommended for parents and teachers, but is a valuable course for those interested in saving lives and reducing the effects of sudden illness or injury.

A three hour CPR course will be given July 30 from 7:00 p. m. to 10:00 p. m. The First Aid course is $30 per person and the CPR course is $10 per person. To enroll for these classes, contact the Sutton County Emergency
