Broncos Win District 2-2A Opener

by Tryon Fields

The Broncos opened district play last Friday, with a decisive victory over the Junction Eagles. The Broncos scored 46 points to the Eagles 7. Offensively, the Broncos racked up a total of 409 yards; 291 yards on the ground and 118 through the air. Defensively, the Broncos, limited the Eagles to only 189 total yards; 149 on the ground and 40 through the air. Bronco tailback, Graham Bloodworth was the leading ground gainer with 128 yards on 7 carries, while Brad Legan led all receivers with 82 yards on 2 catches.

The Eagles won the toss and elected to receive. This first possession was to be the only bright spot of the evening for the Eagles. After Andy Sanchez's kick bounced out of bounds, the Eagles took possession on their own 30 yard line. Manuel Ortiz, the Junction tailback, got 57 of his 130 offensive yards on this opening drive. On the opening play from scrimmage, Ortiz surprised the Broncos for a 35 yard gain to the Bronco 45. Casey Murr and T.C. Findley each contributed some yardage; however the big blow came on a 20 yard pass play, (Murr to Ortiz) with 8 minutes and 3 seconds left in the first quarter for the Eagles only score of the evening. Ortiz added the PAT to give the Eagles a 7 point lead. This was to be short lived, as Graham Bloodworth took the ensuing kickoff and returned it 58 yards to the Eagle 28 yard line. From this point, Anthony Renfro did most of the work gaining 17 yards on 4 carries, as well as the touchdown on a 3 yard run. Renfro added the PAT to knot the score at 7 points apiece. The Bronco defense led by Brad Legan, Tanner Fields, Lupe Ramon, and Michael Castilleja began to live up to its billing, as it began to deny the Eagles any positive yards on offense. After 3 plays, the Eagles were forced to punt. After the punt, the Broncos enjoyed excellent field position, as they began their second offensive possession at the Eagle 44. Renfro, once again was the main work horse, as he carried the ball 5 times for 44 yards. With only 3 seconds gone in the second quarter, Tom Jacoby got the honor of scoring the Bronco touchdown, on a 1 yard plunge. After a delay of game penalty, the Broncos were unable to convert on the PAT. Eagles 7 - Broncos 13

The Eagles met with much of the same on their next possession, Jacob West and Michael Castilleja each made excellent defensive plays to force the Eagles into a punting situation. After a twenty-five yard punt, the Broncos set up shop on their own 36 yard line. It only took the Broncos 3 seconds to score their third touchdown. Bryce Williams rolled to his left and lofted a pass toward Brad Legan, what looked like an apparent interception, led to a Bronco touchdown. Brad Legan took the ball away from the Eagle defender and out-raced the rest of the Eagle defenders for a 64 yard steal and run, to give the Broncos a 19 to 7 advantage. The Broncos elected to go for two, with Anthony Renfro doing the honors on a 3 yard run around right end. Eagles 7 - Broncos 21.

On the Eagles next possession, they found that the depth of the Broncos was more than they were capable of handling. Riggin Glascock, Jason Surber, and Jared Perciful came on to stop the Eagles and force them to punt once again. The Broncos relentless ground attack, by Renfro and Jacoby, moved the ball to the mid-field stripe. At the 50 yard line, the Broncos thought they would find the Eagle secondary asleep. Bryce Williams under threw his intended receiver and Casey Murr, a Junction secondary back, intercepted the pass at the Eagle 16 yard line, to thwart the Bronco drive. The Bronco defense swarmed the Eagles on the ensuing series of plays and forced them to punt. The Broncos took possession on their own 49 yard line. Tom Jacoby and Anthony Renfro alternated carries to move the ball to the Eagle 17 yard line. With a 2nd and 9 from the 17, Williams threw a bullet to Demetrio Castro for the Bronco touchdown. The 2 point conversion attempt failed, giving the Broncos a 20 point advantage; Eagles 7 - Broncos 27. The half-time buzzer sounded with the Eagles in possession of the football.

Junction 7 - Sonora 27
The Broncos received the second half kick-off and set up shop at their own 20 yard line. The Broncos moved the ball to their 39 yard line on runs by Jacoby and Renfro, as well as a 13 yard pass to Demetrio Castro. Enter Graham Bloodworth, a quick pitch around the left end, and it was off to the races. Bloodworth out distanced the Eagles on a 61 yard touchdown gallop. Javier Gaytan came on to split the uprights to give the Broncos a 34 to 7 lead. On the ensuing kick-off, Josh Horrocks, Eagle return specialist, gathered the Sanchez kick in at the 1 yard line. At the Bronco 46 yard line, a hustling Mikey Solis made a touchdown saving tackle. On the next four plays, Simon Murillo, Anthony Renfro, Breg Hughes, and Brad Legan ended any hopes that the Eagles might of had, as the Eagles turned the ball over on downs at the Bronco 49 yard line. The Broncos struck quickly, as it only took them 50 seconds to score their sixth touchdown of the night. After runs by Renfro (27 yards) and Jacoby (3 yards), Williams found Legan on an 18 yard pass play, for his second score of the evening. The PAT was unsuccessful.

Bronco J.V. Crushes Junction

In last weeks J.V. football article, we inadvertently left out a paragraph. In this paragraph, Chance Armke scored a touchdown on a 40 yard run. We sincerely apologize and hope that this did not cause any undue duress.

by Tryon Fields

The Junction J.V. football team turned the ball over 5 times last Thursday, and the Bronco J.V. took advantage of the miscues by scoring 36 points off of the turn overs. Chance Armke recovered 3 of the fumbles, while Danny Solis and Nick Lozano recovered the other 2. The Broncos amassed 13 first downs with 309 total yards of offense, while limiting the Eagles to only 82 yards of offense. Seven different Bronco running backs touched the football with four of them scoring touchdowns. The Broncos rushed for 205 yards, with Sean Fields being the leading ball carrier with 101 yards. The young Broncos also had 104 yards in the air with two of these passes going for touchdowns. Riley Crain led all receivers with 69 yards.

The Eagles fumbled on their first 3 possessions. The Broncos capitalized by scoring each time. After the first turn over, Bill Renfro scored his first touchdown of the afternoon on a 1 yard run. Stetson Hall added the PAT to give the Broncos a 7 to 0 lead. After the next turn over, Nick Lozano connected with Riley Crain for a 16 yard catch and run for the Broncos second score. Hall added the PAT to give the Broncos a 14 point lead with five minutes and 24 seconds left in the first quarter. After the Eagles third miscue, Sean Fields scored on a 5 yard run. The PAT was blocked; however, the Broncos now had a commanding 20 to 0 lead with just over two minutes left in the first quarter. The Eagles next possession, ended in a punt after the Bronco defense led by Ricky Lumbreras, Stetson Hall, Riley Crain, and Byron Williams limited the Eagles to only 6 yards. The Broncos began to drive the ball down the field; however, the drive stalled at the Eagle 1 yard line, when Lozano was sacked on a fourth down play. The Eagles mounted their only scoring threat of the afternoon, on the ensuing possession. The bend-able, but unbreakable defense led by Beau Hughes, Sean Fields, Danny Solis, Crain, and Hall forced the Eagles to turn the ball over at the Bronco 37 yard line. A jarring tackle by Nick Lozano jarred the ball loose and Chance Armke recovered his second fumble of the afternoon. Sonora's Bill Renfro and Sean Fields shredded the Eagle defense on their next possession with Renfro scoring the touchdown on a 5 yard run. Once again, the point after attempt was blocked, but the Broncos led by a 26 to 0 margin at the intermission.

The Eagles received the second half kick-off, but the turn over bug was not through with the Eagles. After only one play from scrimmage, the Eagles put the ball on the ground again. Chance Armke recovered it for his third recovery of the game. The Broncos struck quickly as Lozano found Crain for a 53 yard pass reception and run for the touch down. The Broncos added two more points, on the pass from Lozano to Cameron Sims. Bronco J.V. 34 - Eagle J.V. 0. The Bronco defense effectively shut the Eagles down on their next 3 possessions. Ed Mayfield, Joey Muniz, Brandon Adkins, Jared Solis, Jacob Perciful, and Bill Renfro, all played a major role in the shut down. In the second half, the Broncos' stable of running backs consisted of Brandon Adkins, Jacob Perciful, Pete Rameriz, and Tim Warden. Each of these running backs contributed greatly in the success of the Broncos. Rameriz and Perciful each scored a touchdown, with Rameriz's being on a 21 yard run and Perciful's being on an 8 yard run. The final score of the game was: Sonora J.V. 46 - Junction J.V. 0.

This Thursday, the Bronco J.V. will host the Lion J.V. from Ozona. Game time is 6:30 p.m. at Bronco Stadium. This will be an excellent opportunity for you to come out and support this group of young men. See you there!!!

Treasury finalizes electronic payments rule as enrollment numbers continue to rise

The Treasury Department announced Friday publication of the final regulation governing the electronic funds transfer (EFT) of Federal government payments to recipients.

The final rule emphasizes recipient choice and the importance of ensuring that recipients are not disadvantaged or forced into making a choice that is not right for their circumstances. More than 200 comment letters submitted to the Treasury by individuals and organizations were considered in determining the final rule. The payments covered by the rule include Social Security, Veterans benefits, Railroad Retirement benefits, Federal salaries and retirement benefits and vendor payments.

The Treasury's Financial Management Service (FMS) reported significant increases in the number of people signing up to receive their payments electronically. In August 1998, 70 percent of benefit recipients received payments electronically, up from 50 percent two years ago. The Social Security Administration and the Department of Veterans Affairs each posted higher EFT growth rates than initially expected bringing EFT participation totals to 73 and 71 percent respectively.

"The final rule protects the recipient's right to choose while encouraging the safety and convenience that EFT provides," Treasury Under Secretary John D. Hawke, Jr. said.

The final rule, implementing provisions in the Debt Collection Act of 1996 requiring Federal payment to be made electronically beginning January 2, 1999, details the conditions under which recipients can continue to receive paper checks if electronic deposits causes them a hardship. The rule also paves the way for the establishment of low accounts for recipients without existing savings and checking accounts that will enable recipients to receive payments by direct deposit.

The rule finalizes the waivers announced by the Treasury in June 1998. The final rule states that any individual is eligible for a hardship waiver if receiving direct deposit will cost him or her more than receiving a check. In addition, the rule provides for waivers covering physical or mental disability and geographic and language barriers. These waivers are self certifying, which means that payment recipients make their own decisions as to whether or not to sign up for direct deposit; if they choose not to sign up for direct deposit, they will continue to receive a paper check.

The Treasury will continue to work with other Federal agencies to ensure the recipients are notified of their choices under this regulation and can choose whatever payment option is best for their particular circumstance. The Treasury Department emphasizes that no payment will be withheld or delayed for any reason related to the implementation of EFT.

Direct deposit of payment through EFT has become increasingly popular because it is safer, more secure, and for most recipients, more convenient than paper

Police Reports

After-School Programs Keep the Doors Open

Every day, teacher Gabriel Estrada had to shoo children out of the building at the end of the school day. He'd see the same students hanging around outside when he was leaving. As Estrada observed, "There was just no place for these kids to go."

According to recent national studies, an estimated 28 million school-age children have working parents, but only 1.7 million children in grades K-8 are enrolled in formal after-school programs.

"After-school programs can make huge difference," says Ernesto Cortes, Southwest regional director of the Industrial Areas Foundation in Austin. In a recent article distributed by the Texas Lone Star Forum, Cortes argues that quality after-school programs "provide children with academic and social development, opportunities to form meaningful relationships of trust, responsibility, and respect with adults, and safety from violence and the pressures toward gangs and criminal behaviors."

And, says Cortes, "prevention is always better than remediation, and more cost effective."

Five million school-age children from urban, suburban, and rural communities are "latchkey" kids. Nearly 35 percent of children in this country are regularly left on their own after school from the time they're 12 years old.

In a recent comprehensive survey funded by the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation, an overwhelming 93 percent of American voters of all types and loyalties favor making daily after-school programs available to all children. In fact, 80 percent of those surveyed are even willing to pay more taxes to support the programs. Unfortunately, only 30 percent of the nation's public schools offer the opportunity.

The Charles Stewart Mott

Foundation is working in partnership with the federal government and other funders to support the creation of thousands of community-based after-school programs in rural and inner-city public schools over the next five years. The 21st Century Community Learning Centers Program, an initiative of the U.S. Department of Education, began this year with $40 million in grants to 321 schools. It is proposed to expand to $1 billion over the next five years. At the same time, state and local governments are also devoting funds to the development of after-school programs.

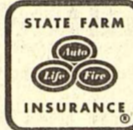

But, says Cortes, much more is needed. Texans must make after-school programs for all children who need them a priority. "Then children like Gabriel Estrada's students-- and there are many, many left-- will have something better to do than hang around closed doors."

FIRST HE OVERHAULED THE IRS. NEXT HE'LL ABOLISH IT.

This year, Henry Bonilla went on record, stating his position to eliminate the IRS.

Next year he will lead the effort to replace it with a more fair and simple tax system.

BONILLA

Protecting you from the IRS

Already this year, Henry Bonilla voted to reform the IRS, strengthening the taxpayers' rights and making the IRS more accountable. Those changes include:

- The burden of proof is now on the IRS, not the taxpayer;
- Innocent spouses who are divorced or separated are only responsible for their incomes;
- In some cases, taxpayers are now given relief from interest and penalties; and
- The IRS cannot seize a taxpayer's home without a court order.

In addition, Henry Bonilla will continue to:

- Support small businesses;
- Keep taxes down;
- Protect private property rights;
- Keep government out of our lives; and
- Demand accountability and responsibility.

"Whether eliminating the IRS or working to help you keep more of your hard-earned money, you have my commitment to continue fighting for your interests in Washington."

Turner Honored by Agricultural Groups

Rep. Bob Turner of Voss was honored recently with an Appreciation Award presented by the Texas Agricultural Council. The Council composed of more than fifty Texas agricultural associations representing all aspects of agriculture across the state.

Ed Small, who represents the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in legislative matters, made the presentation on behalf of the Ag Council. Small told those attending, "No one in the Texas Legislature does a better job of representing agriculture and rural Texas than Representative Turner. He is a common-sense, conservative who puts the interests of his legislative district and the State of Texas above party politics. Because of his hard work, knowledge, honesty and integrity, urban legislators often look to Bob's leadership and guidance when issues affecting rural Texas are debated in the Texas House of Representatives."

"The Texas Agricultural Council appreciates and respects your dedication and your ability to make sure agriculture's position is effectively communicated to your legislative colleagues when its time to vote on issues that literally determine the future of agriculture and rural Texas," he said to Rep. Turner.

A survey of agricultural associations across the state clearly shows agriculture's appreciation of Rep. Turner's record in the Texas Legislature. Every agricultural association that gets involved in political races has endorsed Bob Turner for reelection.

"A cultist is one who has a strong belief in the Bible and the Second Coming of Christ; who frequently attends Bible studies; who has a high level of financial giving to a Christian cause; who home schools for their children; who has accumulated survival foods and has a strong belief in the Second Amendment; and who distrusts big government.

Any of these may qualify a person as a cultist but certainly more than one of these would cause us to look at this person as a threat, and his family as being in a risk situation that qualified for government interference."

BAREGROUND VEGETATION CONTROL

by Henry Bonilla, U.S. Congressman

Did you hear the one about the guy who walks into a bar, orders a beer and begins munching on peanuts? He hears a faint whisper, "Hey, nice jacket." He looks around, but there is no one there. "Nice tie," says another whisper. He looks around again, but there is no one else at the bar. "What's going on?" he asks the bartender. "I hear whispering." "Didn't you read the sign," replies the bartender. "The peanuts are complimentary."

Well if the U.S. Department of Transportation has its way, those complimentary peanuts we all enjoy on airplane rides could be finding their way to the nearest exit. The Transportation Department recently wrote a letter to the nation's top ten airline carriers, telling them they must create "peanut free buffer zones" on their airplanes.

The intent is to protect the segment of the population that is allergic to peanuts. Granted, peanut allergies can be severe and in some cases even deadly, but doesn't the federal government have better things to do than regulate airline "peanut zones"? It's not the place of the federal government to dictate what can and cannot be served on commercial air flights. The individual airline companies are capable of determining what services best fit their customer's needs.

Many airlines now provide non-smoking flights, not because the federal government forced them into it, but because the airlines saw the need. At a time when Congress is working hard to limit the size and scope of government, the last thing we need is harebrained and intrusive federal mandates like this one. Where will it end?

Many people are allergic to cats. But cats are regular carry-on items and the federal government isn't putting a stop to carry-on kittens. And what about those people allergic to perfume? Will the federal government force the airlines to create "perfume free buffer zones"?

The idea of federally enforced "peanut free buffer zones" on airplanes is as ridiculous as the joke you read at the beginning of this column. Just as ludicrous, is hiring peanut police to enforce the "peanut free buffer zones" on airplanes. Have the bureaucrats at the Transportation Department gone nuts? This is a needless restriction. The airlines are perfectly capable of creating a safe environment on their airplanes without unnecessary federal regulations.

Leifeste Aims to Protect Rivers

Randy Leifeste, Republican candidate for State Representative, announced his proposals to protect Texas rivers.

Leifeste, a life-long rancher, operates a ranch in Llano and Mason counties with over 1 mile of Llano River frontage. "Our rivers are vital parts of the community and we must protect them," Leifeste said. "I want to insure that we keep our rivers clean and safe and that people take responsibility for their actions when they're on our rivers. People don't realize that there are 10 rivers in House District 73."

Leifeste is a member of the Lower Colorado River Authority's clean Rivers Committee and the Llano River Advisory Board.

"I want to keep people's trash and garbage out of our rivers. This is not only a concern for farmers and ranchers; filthy rivers also have an impact on tourism," Leifeste said. "I am opposed to the democrats, Clinton-Sponsored American Heritage Rivers Initiative. This plan might allow some upstream polluting and could take away downstream property owner's water rights."

"We don't need more grandiose government programs. Our current office holders must be told that people are tired of the government trying to solve all their problems," Leifeste said. "It's time people took responsibility for their actions and stopped looking to government for all the answers."

"And it all starts with each of us. We must individually take responsibility for our actions. We can't assume that the government is going to fix things after we've messed it up," Leifeste said. "So, I don't support more government programs, initiatives, or laws. I do support swift and just enforcement of the laws we already have."

Randy Leifeste and George Bush have a plan to

CUT YOUR TAXES!

As a county commissioner, Randy Leifeste cut taxes for the people of Llano.

With the state projected to have a multi-billion dollar surplus, it is more important than ever to send conservative leaders to Austin to return that surplus to Texas taxpayers, not spend it on more government programs and bigger bureaucracy.

Together, Randy Leifeste and Governor Bush will cut your taxes including:

- A $2 billion property tax cut.
- A $400 million sales tax cut.
- A $35 million small business tax cut.

checks. The EFT initiative will continue to significantly improve the way Americans receive their government payments. Additionally, EFT will enable the government to achieve significant cost savings and therefore save money for all taxpayers. Electronic Transfer Accounts.

The final rule provides that individuals receiving certain types of Federal payments will be eligible to open an electronic transfer account (ETA). The final rule makes the ETA-- a basic account offered at reasonable cost and with consumer protections-- available to all recipients.

Any Federally-insured financial institution will have the option to offer this account, subject to requirements to be set forth in a published notice next month. The Department of Treasury expects to publish a notice in the Federal Register outlining proposed specific characteristics of the ETA for comment. The public will have 30 days from the publication date of the ETA notice to provide comments to Treasury.

Although the final rule does not regulate non-ETA accounts opened voluntarily by recipients, Treasury continues to be concerned about arrangements giving recipients access to their EFT deposits through uninsured third-party providers. Treasury encourages Federally-insured depository institutions that have entered into, or have announced plans to enter into, arrangements with non-depository providers of payment services, such as check cashers and money transmitters, to disclose information about fees and costs imposed by all parties to the arrangement, as well as the legal relationship involved and whether the funds are protected by Federal deposit insurance.

Treasury will monitor these arrangements and may consider separate rule making in the future if warranted. Any such proposed action would be published for public comment.

A Danger in All Homes

What is the drug of choice for our youngest children today? Alcohol, Marijuana, Heroin, Cocaine? No, how about everyday items such as canned whipped cream, correction fluid, spray paint, or gasoline.

Inhalants have become the drug of choice for our youngest children. Cheap and readily available in any home, inhalants are destroying young lives at an alarming rate. Seven million children between the ages of 5 and 17 abuse inhalants. Inhalant abuse seems to peak around the age of 13, but more shocking is the fact that children as young as five have used inhalants.

What type of substance can be used? Take a look around your home and you'll find dozens of substances that have the potential to be abused. There are over 1000 products that can be abused. They range from the most notorious and obvious, such as glue, gasoline, and spray paints, to the not so obvious, vegetable cooking spray, room deodorizers and spray desert toppings. Yes, something as innocent as a can of good tasting whipped cream can kill if abused.

Some of the deadly chemicals found in household items are butane, tetrachlorethylene, toluene, nitrous oxide, and acetone. These chemicals cause damage to the body as soon as they are inhaled. Starting with damage to membranes in the mouth, nose, and throat. Once in the body they circulate, through the major organs, doing damage as they go, especially to the brain. Inhalants reduce the flow of oxygen to the brain, killing brain cells. Damage to the brain is permanent and irreversible. Inhalants cause permanent damage to the nervous system, kidneys, lungs, and other systems. Death from inhalant abuse can come after many uses or the FIRST use. When mixed with other depressants such as alcohol, or tranquilizers, the effect is often coma or death.

What are some indicators of someone abusing inhalants? Dried paint or spray on clothes, empty spray cans or tubes of glue, chemical breath, sores around the mouth and nose. Someone under the influence of an inhalant will appear spacey, be clumsy, have no sense of time or space. They will be fatigued, have blood shot eyes, and have a run down condition. Any combination of these should be cause for concern.

How do we fight inhalant abuse? Educate yourself and your children. Keep the lines of communication open between you and your children. Teach your children to practice refusal skills and most importantly, be observant of your child's behaviors.

If you or someone you know is having a problem with inhalant abuse or any chemical dependency issue, the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Council for the Concho Valley can be of assistance. A council representative is available in Sutton County every Friday at 1:00 P.M. Please call 1-800-880-9641 to make an appointment. All calls, consultations and screenings are confidential. All services are provided at no charge. The Council will also provide presentations to civic and school groups at no charge.

Jim Branton's qualifications win endorsements

Sutton County attorneys joined with others from across Texas in showing their respect for Jim Branton by electing him to serve as President of the State Bar of Texas in 1994-95, and he is receiving this same bipartisan support in his campaign for a seat on the 4th Court of Appeals.

All three of the former Chief Justices of the Texas Supreme Court have recognized Branton's qualifications and endorsed him.

"This is a campaign about qualifications," said Branton. "The first thing voters should consider in choosing a judge is the candidate's legal experience, knowledge of the law and respect for the legal system."

Branton, a recognized legal scholar, was asked by the Texas Supreme Court to help write the "Texas Evidence Code" and "Texas Lawyer's Creed," a professional code for all Texas lawyers. He is also co-author of the 10-volume

"Trial Lawyer's Series" and co-editor of the three-volume "Federal Practice Guide." As a member of the State Bar's Pattern Jury Charges Committee, he helped draft volume 3 of "Texas Pattern Jury Charges." Branton has written over 100 legal articles, including some that have been included in seminars for Texas' judges.

He has also served the Texas legal community as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Texas Bar Foundation, and helped found the Texas Center for Legal Ethics and Professionalism.

Fluent in Spanish, Branton was recently invited to address a national legal conference in Mexico City, which was attended by members of the Mexican Supreme Court. He has also conducted lectures in Spanish that were carried by satellite to law students in Mexico.

Branton, a former member of the American Bar Association House of Delegates, is board certified in the state and nation in civil trial law. He is active as a Fellow, American College of Trial Lawyers. He is a past president of the San Antonio Bar Association.

Branton began his law practice in San Antonio and in 1965, after service as a Captain, Judge Advocate, in the U.S. Air Force. He attended the U.S. Air Force Academy, and earned degrees from the University of Texas and the University of Texas School of Law.

He and his wife, Molly, live in San Antonio where they raised three daughters: Christina, Victoria and Claudia. Molly, daughter of Leroy Denman, Jr. and Mrs. F.L. Denman, is a fourth generation native of San Antonio and graduated with a degree in art history from Harvard.

West Texas Cowboy ropes Showdown title

Sudden-death competition was a good thing for Rusty Sewalt in Arizona last weekend.

The Del Rio, Texas calf roper saved his best run for last in Phoenix October 2-4 at the Original Coors Rodeo Showdown. The Showdown determines the champions of the $1 million Original Coors Chute-Out Series through a five-round, tournament-style rodeo.

Sewalt used four of the five rounds at the rodeo to rake in $7,063 in total Showdown cash. His first check came Friday evening after a 9.3 second run in the first round, for $625. Then, after not placing in the second round, the three time Showdown qualifier came back to win round three and $1,250 by stopping the clock in 8.4 seconds.

The calf roper's three-round time of 31.5 seconds earned him $938 for second place in the average behind four-time world champ Joe Beaver, who had roped his three calves in 26.5 seconds. But more importantly, it secured him a berth in Sunday afternoon's semi-final round, which featured the top six cowboys from the first three rounds.

After some miscommunication with his palomino calf horse, Sewalt reached and roped his semi-final calf in a long 11.2 seconds. But it was fast enough for Sewalt to earn $500 for fourth in the round and qualify for the sudden-death final round that night.

His place in the average meant he would be first to go Sunday evening, and he took advantage of the position to set the pace for the rest of the field with a blistering 7.6 seconds.

"I won third on that calf in the first round," Sewalt said. "I didn't tie him as well then, but it helped to know how he left the chute tonight."

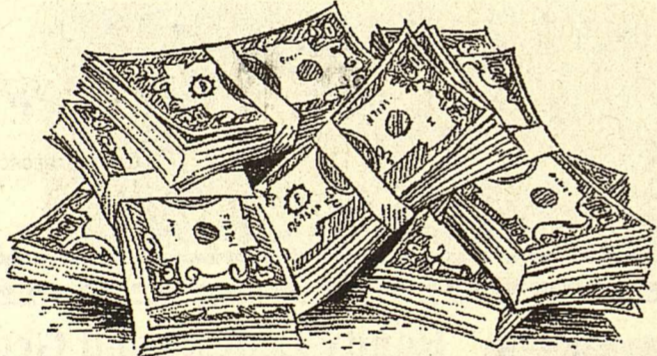

Fellow Texan Joe Beaver came the closest to Sewalt's time, roping his calf in 7.8 seconds to finish second in the competitive round. Sewalt won $3,750 for first place and the 1998 Showdown Calf Roping title.

"These are the four best calves from the week, so I knew it was going to be fast," he said. "I tried to take a couple of chances. I took a chance at the barrier, had a good throw, and everything fell together just right."

Although Coors Showdown earnings do not count toward the Crown Royal world standings, Sewalt currently sits 10th in the calf roping standings with $57,645.

"I only won $1,000 in the buildings (this winter), but I had a really good summer; I won Reno, Salinas, and Pueblo, so those firsts helped me out," said Sewalt.

Eagles 7 - Broncos 40. For the remainder of the third quarter and most of the fourth quarter, neither team could sustain a drive. The Bronco defense led by Sonny Lozano, Kino Marines, David Mayer, Jason Surber, and Riggins Glasscock effectively limited the Eagles to very little yardage. The Bronco offense, led by Tanner Fields and Graham Bloodworth, was able to move the ball down the field, but one turnover and several penalties kept the Broncos from being able to put together any scoring drives. Late in the fourth quarter, the Broncos put together a six minute, 74 yard drive to give the Broncos their last score of the evening. Seven different running backs, Simon Murillo, Sonny Lozano, Tanner Fields, Graham Bloodworth, Tom Jacoby, and Jason Surber, were used during the course of this drive. On a 1st and 10 at the Eagle 16, Jason Surber got the call. Surber would not be denied his first varsity touchdown, as he barreled over several Eagle defenders to gain the end-zone. The point after attempt was not successful, and with a minute and 20 seconds left in the game, the Broncos would let the Eagle offense run the clock out. This victory, gave the Broncos their first win in District 2-2A: Junction 7 - Sonora 46. The Broncos will travel to Ozona this Friday to face a much improved Lions squad. The game will be played at 8:00 p.m. at Lion Stadium. This will not only be a renewal of an old district rivalry, but it should prove to be a good game between the two largest schools in the district. Hope to see you there, if not you can catch the game on 92.1 KHOS, Sonora or 94.3 Ozona.
