USDA CONTINUES VIGILANCE AGAINST FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE

WASHINGTON, March 28, 2001 -- Agriculture Secretary Ann M. Veneman recently said the USDA will continue to be vigilant in its efforts to prevent foot-andmouth disease (FMD) from entering the United States, including intensified scrutiny and inspections at ports of entry and a temporary import prohibition of swine, ruminants and products that could potentially carry the virus from the European Union and other countries that have confirmed cases of this animal

In a get-acquainted meeting, European Union Commissioner David Byrne and Secretary Veneman discussed many issues of interest including trade, biotechnology, and the current FMD situation. The meeting was very productive and both look forward to working together on various issues in the

"We had a very productive and cordial meeting today," said Secretary Veneman. "We discussed a wide range of issues important to our countries and we look forward to working together and continuing to strengthen relationships.' Among other important issues, they discussed the current FMD situation in Europe and the current U.S. temporary prohibition of certain products from the European Union. The Secretary gave no indication of a regionalization or lifting of the temporary restrictions at this

"This is a very difficult situation, and we certainly recognize the extensive efforts that the EU and the member states are taking to control the current outbreak," said Veneman. "We will continue reviewing our policies but remain concerned about the spread of FMD within the EU and the risk of introduction into the United States. Given the current situation, we are not prepared to lift any restrictions at this time." The United States continues to safeguard American agriculture from FMD and all other foreign animal diseases. Since the outbreak of the disease in parts of Europe and other countries, USDA has strengthened its protections, which include: 1. Establishing an emergency operations center to coordinate communications, answer technical and questions, consumer/traveler information about FMD and other related issues. Toll-free numbers include: Technical questions - 1-800-601-9327: Consumer/Traveler Hotline: 1-866-

SAFGUARD. 2. Heightened alert and increased inspections at ports of entry, borders, and airports to ensure passengers, luggage, and cargo are checked as appropriate. This includes redirecting 150 inspectors to critical ports of entry and plans are underway to double the number of dog teams at airports to check incoming flights and passengers. USDA currently has nearly 2,000 inspection personnel assigned to these facilities and ports of entry. 3. Heightened alert and increased coordination of programs in states across the country. USDA has more than 450 veterinary officials throughout the country that partner with state and local agriculture officials to ensure appropriate protections are in place to prevent the entry and potentially detect FMD in the United States. USDA has been coordinating and meeting regularly with appropriate federal, state, industry and university officials since the recent FMD cases were discovered. These groups

Watercolor Horizon Group Returns to Sutton County

The Watercolor Horizon Group will be visiting and painting in the Sonora area the weekend of April 6 and 7, 2001. There will be artists from Odessa, Ozona, Big Spring, San Angelo, and Sonora. This is the 4th year that this group has painted in Sonora. Ken and Mary Rowland host this paint out, and all of the artists look forward to it each year. Some of the local people have been kind enough to model, and it has been quite an experience for both the models and the artists. Louis Balis, one of the models was full of local stories to entertain all who would listen. Maggie Davis added beauty to the paintings last year. Tom Glasscock will try to top that this year. Local ranchers, the Cahills, and the Vanderstuckens (Eddie Smith) have been kind enough to let the artists paint on their ranches. Historic downtown, and Fort McKavitt have also been subjects. A reception at the Playing on their home course, the Sonora High School boys golf team reclaimed the championship on Saturday, March 31. Last year, a strong team from Alpine beat them at home by two strokes, so the desire was definitely there to come out victorious. With a team score of 313, Sonora outpaced the 2nd place team, Eldorado, by 22 strokes and the third place team, Alpine, by 34 strokes. Other teams entered, and their scores, were Greenwood-348, Sonora II-350, Eldorado-352, Reagan County-353, Rankin-357, Iraan-361, McCamey-362, and Crane-391. Wall entered three single players for medalist honors. For the first time in many years, the weather for Sonora's tournament was perfect for golf. The day began cool and slightly overcast, warming up nicely by the second half of the 18-hole tournament. Winds all day were calm, with little or no effect on the players' drives from the teeboxes. The greens were in the best shape anyone could remember for a

AEP-WTU's "Louie The Lightning Bug" Buzzes Into Area Schools

Abilene, Texas - Fresh from his Saturday morning television gig, "Louie the Lightning Bug" is bringing his message of electrical safety to area schools next week, compliments of American Electric Power subsidiary West Texas Utilities. Louie will share his advice on the safe use of electricity with students of Sonora Elementary on Tuesday, April 10, 2001.

"Louie, Louie," a production of The National Theatre for Children, based in Minneapolis, Minn., brings together song, suspense and safety to relay the message, "Play it safe around electricity," The program teaches elementary school children the ins and outs of electrical safety by teaching how to avoid dangerous electrical situations. This fastpaced, action-packed program also shows children how electricity is made and how to use electricity

In the production, Nicki Neutron foils the villain, Electric Eel, and saves his friend Louie the Lightning Bug from shrinking into oblivion. Each dangerous electrical situation is making Louie smaller until Nicki learns how electricity is produced. With help from the audience, Nicki and the students trick the Electric Eel into playing it safe around elec tricity. Together, Nick and the students learn how to use electricity responsibly and their newfound knowledge saves the day. By the end of this year, Louie-

A few clean up sessions and we can turn the place over to the carpenters. Thank You all so very, very, much for your contributions to your community and your desire to see our history have a proper office and storage facility. Some of the men have volunteered hours to work with the carpenter and roofer to save more in building costs. They have been a wonderful group to work with over the past 2 1/2 months and did an excellent job of gutting the rock house and tearing off the back addition. I am so proud of all of them.

We are looking for copies of pictures of Mexican-American business men, vaqueros, oil workers, ranch hands, city employees, county employees, highway dept. employees, and anyone who lived her and worked here. I would like to do an exhibit on the Mexican-American contribution to the growth of Sonora. Please look through your albums and see if you have a picture that will copy well, you can get copies made at Business Basics, and bring your pictures in so we can put them in the exhibit. Thank You.

I've got a few interesting stories on children stealing peaches, strawberries and watermelons in the good old days. If you know a good, comical story give me a call and I will try to write a few of these up.

Lady Bronco Softball Makes History

by Heather Lawson

"Finally!" The Lady Broncos screamed after they pulled off their first win in Sonora Softball history!! The Lady Broncos have heard all season that "you're not supposed to win, its your first year." But that was not an answer for the Ladies! The girls are half way through the district season and ready to undergo the second half. In District play the Lady Broncos started their season with a loss to the Grapecreek Eagles. The game was a disappointment because the girls knew that they had not played to the best of their ability. With this in mind, the girls traveled to Junction and lost by only one run, letting the win slip right through their fingers.

Next in line was Wall, and again the Lady Broncos came out the underdogs. Still not giving up, the Lady Broncos got ready for the Eldorado Lady Eagles. Due to the weather, the Lady Eagles traveled to Sonora on Tuesday, March 28. When the game started the Lady Broncos were playing worse than they did on their first day of practice. But where there is a will, there is a way. The Lady Broncos started playing the type of ball that it takes to win. The game was the "funniest" game of the season for the girls.

Lady Broncos win their first game.

Maybe because of the win, or the cheers or just the unity. Although everyone had their "best spot", positions are not a very big deal. The girls are all very versitile. Most of the players are Utility players. The Lady Broncos are lead by senior pitcher, Kacci Lewellen. Behind the plate stays Koda Armke and Desiree Gonzales, taking turns as catcher. First base is Tamika Marshall, who does everything she can to stop anything thrown her way. At second base, Kara Hard watches and waits for action to come her way. At shortstop, our cheerleader, Ruby Galindo never gives up. Third base is protected by Japha Word, never missing a beat. The "people sandwich" in the outfield is made up of Heather Lawson (left), Ashley Parker (Center) and Heather Felts (Right). Other outfielders are Valorie Rennels, Shannon Vick, Brea Hughes, and Monica Lira. The girls receive ongoing support and help from Coach Hanson, family and friends. Better Texas Coalition Seeks Commitment From State's Top Leadership

Austin - The Better Texas Coalition, a diverse group of school district superintendents, campus principals, parents, business people, teachers and support personnel came together in the Texas capitol today to urge the state's top leadership to adopt a fully state funded comprehensive health insurance plan for Texas' public school employees, retirees and their fami-

It is uncommon for such a broad coalition to organize in support of a single educational priority. The Better Texas Coalition joined together to express their solidarity and persuade Texas' top ranking statewide elected officials.

"We feel it is time to make a full commitment to a properly funded healthcare plan for all retirees and active employees of public schools, for now and in the future," said Curtis Culwell, superintendent of Garland ISD.

on Teacher Health Insurance, chaired by Rep. Paul Sadler (D, Henderson), has been meeting regularly. Speaker Laney created the committee to address the recommendations of the Interim Select Committee on Teacher Health Insurance. The legislators heard from parents, superintendents, business people, current and retired school employees about the critical health insurance problems facing our school districts. Rural districts testified that they received bids of up to $1400 a month for family coverage. Some could secure no bid at all. Urban The House Select Committee district reported skyrocketing costs consuming a sizeable portion of their budgets. Active and retired employees across the state shared personal experiences resulting from poor, or no, health insurance. Parents and administrators reported on the effects of the states growing teacher shortage. The Senate Education Committee and the House Select Committee have identified the need for a statewide health insurance plan and explored possible funding sources. The next phase should be plan design and choosing funding mechanisms.

"This is no longer a question of whether we have the need or the money, both are there. The question is whether we are willing to make the hard choices to do what the voters have resoundingly asked us to do" said Rep. Harryette Ehrhardt (D, Dallas), author of HB12. A recently released Scripps Howard Texas Poll, confirmed that 87% of Texans believe the state should give the same health care benefits to school employees that it already gives to university, college, junior college, and state agency employ-

"The people of Texas have made their wishes known by electing those of us who promised health care coverage as a way to recruit, retain, and reward desperately needed public school personnel," said Senator John Carona, (R, Dallas) author of SB 135. "It is now time to fulfill our obligation.

Dating back to 1775 when the first call to prayer was made by the Continental Congress to the colonies asking them to pray for wisdom in forming a new nation. The call to prayer had continued throughout the years from President Abraham Lincoln in 1863 proclaiming a day of humiliation, fasting, and prayer; to President Harry Truman, in 1952, signing a joint resolution by Congress, declaring an annual national day of prayer; to President Ronald Reagan permanently setting the day as the first Thursday of every May.

As we come together to pray, we must also be thankful that we have the right to do so and for the protection of our religious expression as promised in the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitu-

Not only did our leaders, past and present, make it possible for us to join together as a nation to pray, they too, are participating in this American tradition: Cabinet secretaries, military chiefs of staff, senators, congressmen, and our President all have symbolic events and set dates to come together to pray.

Our founding fathers set a good example for us to follow, to come humbly before God and seek His wisdom and guidance for our future. By recognizing and participating in the National Day of Prayer we are saying that prayer is just as important for our nation today as it was in the beginning.

The National Day of Prayer is being observed in Sonora on Thursday, May 3rd at the Cauthorn Memorial Building (Depot) in the Ampitheatre. Believers of all denominations will be participating. If you have any questions regarding the National Day of Prayer please contact Jane Rushing at 387-3625 and watch the paper for more

Senate Passes Bill to Toughen Prohibition of Children Riding in Pickup Beds

AUSTIN - After debating the measure in two session days, the Senate passed a bill last Tuesday that would prohibit children younger than 18 years of age from riding in the back of a pickup or truck or on a flatbed trailer.

Current state law prohibits children 12 years old and younger from riding in the bed of a truck, pickup on a trailer at speeds greater than 35 miles per hour.

Senate Bill (SB) 399, authored by Lubbock Sen. Robert Duncan, first came up for consideration on the Senate floor Monday, but final action on the measure was left pending after several senators voiced their opposition.

Houston Sen. Mario Gallegos said Monday that the bill would lead to "open season" for police to pull over Hispanics because many Hispanics have only a pickup for transportation. "It concerns me, that under your law (SB 399), Latinos going to work -- not bothering anybody, looking like they're 16 but really are 36 -- are going to be stopped," Gallegos told Duncan. "We're trying to stop racial profiling and a lot of other things. This would be open season on those folks that I represent in Harris County."

Duncan responded that the bill is not intended to promote harassment of Hispanics but to protect children, regardless of ethnicity.

"This bill is designed as a public safety measure to prevent injuries to the 12-year-old Latino who is required to ride in the back of a pickup by an adult who hasn't thought committee.

Criminal Justice Committee Hears Racial Profiling, Indigent Criminal Defense Bills

Dallas Sen. Royce West outlined his proposal before the Criminal Justice Committee on Wednesday to end racial profiling by police.

The bill, SB 1074, also calls for police departments to implement policies and training programs aimed at curbing the practice. Police would also be required to collect ethnicity statistics in traffic stops and officers' interactions with suspects. West said that although most law enforcement officers do not engage in racial profiling, making police accountable for their actions is the most critical component of the exemptions could lower your property taxes! A homestead exemption lowers the property taxes on your home by lowering its taxable value. If your home is valued at $50,000 and you receive a $15,000 homestead exemption, your home will be taxed as if it were worth $35,000.

Who qualifies for an exemption?

Anyone who owned a home on January 1 (and used it as a primary residence on that date) is entitled to a $15,000 homestead exemption to lower school taxes this year...and it doesn't matter if your home is a house, condominium or mobile home. (Counties, cities and special taxing districts may also offer homestead exemptions.)

Are other exemptions available?

If you're disabled—or if you're 65 years old or older—you are entitled to an additional $10,000 school tax exemption on your home. And if you qualify for the over-65 exemption, you're also entitled to a permanent, locked-in "ceiling" on the school property taxes on your home. (The ceiling does not apply to county or city property taxes, and those entities may offer other exemptions.) The over-65 homeowner's exemptions and school tax ceiling transfers to the surviving spouse, if the spouse is 55 years of age or older at the time of death and lives in and owns the home. Over-65 homeowners also may transfer the percentage of school tax paid, based on their former home's over-65 school tax ceiling, to a new home.

Do I have to apply each year?

No. If you had a homestead exemption on your home in 2000, you won't need to reapply for 2001 unless your chief appraiser requires it. However, if you haven't received an exemption on your present home—or if you've moved to a new home—you'll need to file for an exemption for 2001. If you are 65 this year, you may file for the over-65 exemption up to one year after the date you turned 65. And if you became disabled during 2000, you need to file for the disabled person's

When and where should I file?

¡Varias exenciones de residencia pueden rebajar sus impuestos de propiedad!

Una exención de residencia reduce sus impuestos de propiedad. Por ejemplo, si su residencia tiene un valor de $50,000 y Ud. recibe una exención de $15,000, sus impuestos se calcularán como si el valor de su residencia fuera $35,000.

¿Quién califica para una exención?

Cualquier dueño de una residencia principal el día 1 de enero tiene derecho a una exención de residencia de $15,000 este año para rebajar sus impuestos escolares... y no importa si la residencia es casa, condominio o casa móvil. (Los condados, municipios y distritos especiales de impuestos tambien pueden ofrecer exenciones de

¿Hay otras exenciónes?

Si Ud. es incapacitado—o si tiene 65 años o más—tiene derecho a una exención adicional de $10,000 en sus impuestos escolares de propiedad. Y si Ud. califica para la exención para los que ya cumplieron 65 años, tambien tiene derecho a un "cielo máximo" permanente en sus impuestos escolares de residencia. (El cielo máximo no tiene que ver con impuestos de propiedad de los condados o municipios, y esas entidades pueden ofrecer otras exenciones.) La exención para los que ya cumplieron 65 años y el cielo máximo se pueden transferir al esposo/esposa sobreviviente si el o ella tiene 55 ó más años de edad y es dueño/dueña de la casa en donde vive. Tambien el dueño de una casa nueva que tiene más de 65 años puede transladar un porcentaje de cielo máximo del los impuestos escolares que le tocaron en su domicilio vieja.

¿Debo solicitarla cada año?

No. Si Ud. recibió una exención de residencia en 2000, no hay necesidad de solicitarla de nuevo en 2001—al menos que se lo pida su jefe de valoraciones. Sin embargo, si no ha recibido una exención en su residencia actual—o si ha cambiado de domicilio tendrá que solicitar una exención para 2001. Si Ud. cumplirá los 65 años durante este año, tiene hasta un año de esa fecha para solicitar una nueva exención. Y si cumplió los 65 años o resultó incapacitado en 2000, tendrá que solicitar las exenciónes adicionales.

> ¿Donde y cuando debo solicitar mis exenciónes?

Su solicitud debe llegar en su oficina local del distrito de valoraciones antes del día 30 º de abril. Si necesita más tiempo, favor de ponerse en contacto con nosotros antes:

child. Some parents are still children themselves. Child Protective Services (CPS) confirmed that nearly 47,000 Texas children became victims of child abuse or neglect last year. Almost 200,000 children were reported to CPS as alleged victims. And those are only the ones who are reported. How many more are put in harm's way because a parent simply isn't ready to be a parent? If we're not a member of that family, it's tough to know what we can do to help the children we see stay safe and help their parents keep them that way. April is Child Abuse Prevention Month in Texas and across the nation. It's a time to renew our communities' involvement in our children's lives because keeping kids safe is everybody's business. After all, an individual's actions, or lack thereof, can affect not only that child but also everyone in the community. The most tragic evidence is in National Institute of Justice statistics that tell us a victim of child abuse is 53 percent more likely to be arrested as a juvenile and 38 percent more likely to be arrested as an adult. The question remains, what can communities do?

Community members can support parents when they need help. We can offer to baby-sit and allow a parent to take a much-needed break. We can redirect a child's inappropriate behavior, attention or energy when a parent is at the end of their rope. We can coach a child's team. We can donate to programs such as Boys and Girls Clubs or our local YMCA. We can mentor a child through groups like Big Brothers, Big Sisters. We can get children help when danger or risk looms large. We can volunteer with Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) to help a child victim through the legal system in an already frightening time. We can become foster parents. We can become adoptive parents. We can turn our own outrage and discomfort in everyday situations into energy that helps protect Texas' 5.7 million children. It's Up to You.
