TEN YEARS AGO
Nov. 26, 1957

For the second consecutive year, Bovina Jaycees will sponsor an outside Christmas decoration contest for Bovina-area homes. Prize money totaling $30 will be given to the top three entries in the contest, Roy M. Crawford, Jaycee president, has announced.

A team of four Bovina FFA boys finished third in a district leadership contest which was at Muleshoe Saturday.

The local boys, Don Caldwell, Roger Ezell, Jackie Turner and Larry Webb, will receive a banner for their accomplishments at the district meeting which will be in Littlefield Tuesday night.

Tom Atkins, Parmer County deputy, who has worked in Farwell since March, has been named temporary deputy in Bovina, Sheriff Chas. Lovelace announced this morning.

Just as the weather was at long last looking hopeful, out of virtually nowhere the year's first snow blew in last week, capping the harvest again for another extended delay.

It's never happened before, but it happened last week. More than half of a record crop of grain sorghum was left standing in the fields as snow fell.

To aid in Parmer County law enforcement, a county two-way radio was installed in Bovina city hall the latter part of last week.

Pack 40, Bovina Cub Scouts, will have its monthly meeting tonight (Tuesday) at 7:30 in the American Legion Hall, Mrs. Paul Jones, one of the den mothers, announces.

Special joint Thanksgiving services will be held by the Baptist and Methodist Churches Wednesday night. They will be in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church with Rev. W.R. Beard, pastor of the Methodist Church, bringing the message.

SIX YEARS AGO

Erith Hawkins is winner of Bovina Businesses 1962 Cotton Bowl Football Contest.

Hawkins copped grand prize in the second annual contest by scant margin of one game. A dozen contestants pressed Hawkins in the 13-week-long race until final contest entry blank was graded this week.

Miss Judy Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Crawford, has been named Co-Ed Correspondent for the 1961-62 school year, according to an announcement made by Margaret Hauser, editor of Co-ed Magazine.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sherrill hosted a family reunion Thanksgiving for members of her family.

Miss Brenda Jones hosted a class reunion for members of BHS 1960-61 class Saturday afternoon at her home.

Cotton strippers began moving into Parmer County fields during the latter part of last week and the first of this week to take advantage of the few days of sunshine.

Parmer County sorghum producers and cattlemen are offered the opportunity to inspect commercial feed lots and develop grain markets in Arizona and California Jan. 14-20.

Mrs. Malcolm Kennedy hosted the Mary-Martha Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church monthly meeting Tuesday evening at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Grissom entertained members of their family for Thanksgiving with a dinner Thursday.

Mrs. Leon Schilling presided over a regular meeting of St. Ann's Society at the church rectory last Monday.

A turkey shoot, an event proved popular in Bovina recently, will be staged at Oklahoma Lane Community Center Thursday.

FEET OFTEN SIGNAL CHRONIC DISEASE

Chronic disease is the nation's number one health problem. According to recent estimates, more than 70 million Americans are afflicted by one or more of these conditions which place some limitations on their daily lives and on their ability to remain active members of the community.

Ranking especially high among these chronic ailments are diabetes and arthritis. Diabetes is now the seventh leading cause of death in the United States and the third leading cause of blindness. Arthritis affects one out of every 12 of our citizens. The effect of these diseases when measured in terms of personal suffering and the cost to society of supporting disabled victims is appalling.

However, the vast majority of those affected by diabetes and arthritis can be helped to live virtually normal lives if their conditions are diagnosed and treated at an early stage. And medical experts agree that the podiatrist's office and community podiatry screening programs are the places where much of this important early detection can take place. For many of the symptoms of diabetes and arthritis appear first in the foot.

During a symposium sponsored by the New Jersey Podiatry Society at the Rutgers University Institute of Microbiology, it was pointed out that in the diabetic, there occurs "a wide variety of changes of the feet, ranging from color changes to ulcerations, infections and involvement of bone." These changes are found even when the individual does not experience the excessive thirst, frequent urination and weight loss which are classically associated with diabetes.

When a podiatrist sees patients with an infected foot ulcer, evidence of muscle degeneration, or poor circulation in the foot, he immediately suspects diabetes and consults with the family medical doctor. It has been said that the podiatrist sees the earliest signs of joint changes, frequent indicators of arthritis. Other signs, evident to the podiatrist as he conducts his comprehensive examination, also tell of possible arthritis.

When such conditions as bunions, hammer toes, heel pain and nodules in the achilles tendon are presented to a podiatrist for treatment, he initiates a screening procedure for arthritis.

Similarly, early detection of circulatory problems by the podiatrist may enable the patient to avoid a cardiac condition later on.

Regular foot examinations, important in maintaining day to day foot health, are indispensable to the control of such chronic ailments as diabetes, arthritis and poor circulation, especially among the elderly whom they threaten with permanent disability or even death.

According to a prominent state health officer: "The public health approach to chronic disease emphasizes the mobilization of all the community's existing personnel and resources, as well as the development of new resources as they are needed. The podiatrist can and must play an important role in conjunction with the other members of this health team."

For additional information, write The American Podiatry Association, 3301 Sixteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20010.

BULB MARKERS

Seeds of bachelor's buttons with either white, pink, blue or red flowers may be sown this fall over bulb plantings to mark them so that they will not be dug into in early spring.

Bulbs of tulips, daffodils and many other flowers are planted in fall for bloom the following spring. When these are set in such well-defined places as planter boxes, the gardener will have no trouble at all in gardening "around" them.

It's when the bulbs are placed in groups in beds or borders with perennials surrounding them that the bulb plantings need careful definition. Otherwise the best-intentioned gardener may, in early spring, thrust his shovel or trowel straight through the heart of a bulb, the leaves of which have not yet grown above ground.

The best way to mark bulb plantings without destroying the appearance of the border is to sow over them, in late fall, annual flowers that will sprout in earliest spring and tell the gardener, by their presence, that bulbs are underneath.

Not only must these annuals sprout very early but they must be sufficiently delicate in growth not to interfere with the growing bulbs. Not many annuals fulfill these requirements.

Bachelor's buttons, Shirley poppies and sweet alyssum are three annuals that are well qualified as bulb markers. You need only decide which flower colors will blend or contrast with those of the bulbs you are planting, then scatter the seeds of the chosen kind over the planted areas. No need even to cover them with soil — the fall rains will take care of that.

White-flowered sweet alyssum blends with any other color so is particularly versatile.

Blue, pink, white or red are the flower colors of bachelor's buttons and seeds are available of the separate colors so it is easy to color-scheme with these choices.

Poppy flowers are white, pink, rose, salmon and scarlet; seeds usually available only in mixed colors. But there is a double, deep, rose-pink variety named Sweet Briar and single-flowered varieties Tulip, a red, and American Legion (also called Flanders Field) which is orange-scarlet with a black cross. Seeds of any of these may be used to insure flowers all of one color.

INSTRUCTION PERMIT

An instruction permit may be issued by the Department of Public Safety to persons 15 years of age who have satisfactorily completed the classroom phase of an approved driver education course and have successfully passed all parts of the driver examination other than the driving test.

TEXANS FOR TRAFFIC SAFETY note that this provision is in the new law to permit beginning drivers to legally take "behind the wheel" driver training. A licensed operator who is at least 21 years old must accompany and sit beside drivers with learners permits while they are operating an automobile.

That contest was over last week while The Blade's still has this week to run. Wonder if this is an indication that The Blade contest is more difficult than the one at Friona? John is down among the also-rans in the contest here.

This year's contest in The Blade has been highly unusual, Bobby Cumpston had a lead all season and then comes up the final week tied with Leroy Lance, and Wendell Garner is only one game behind the two leaders.

This week's contest will tell the tale of who is the 1967 winner. And it looks extremely difficult to us. We could even have a winner other than the three leaders.

The game's not over until the final whistle blows, remember.

| 1/2 teaspoon salt                | 1/4 cup chopped citron            |
| 1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine      | 1/4 cup seedless raisins          |
| 1/2 cup warm water (105°-115°F.) | 1 egg                             |
| 2 packages or cakes yeast,       | 1 tablespoon cold water           |
| active dry or compressed         | 1/4 cup whole blanched almonds    |
| 2 eggs                           |                                   |

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt, and margarine; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, 2 eggs, and 3 cups of the flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours.

Punch dough down. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead in chopped blanched almonds, citron, and raisins until well distributed. Roll dough into a 16-inch long rope. Place in a well greased 16 x 14 x 4-inch large loaf pan. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Beat 1 egg and 1 tablespoon cold water together until well blended. Gently brush loaf with egg mixture. Decorate with whole blanched almonds.

Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 45 to 50 minutes, or until done.

"Some days when things just don't seem to be going right," said 18-year-old 4-H'er Connie Bushey, "I retreat to the kitchen, forget my troubles, and make a loaf of bread."
"It's a real thrill to see the smiles when my family takes that first bite of my latest bread creation," she added.

A Winner
Connie obviously did not make all of her best breads "when things weren't going right," because in nine years she has made the equivalent of 1,930 loaves. She has given numerous demonstrations on yeast breads, rolls, and coffee cakes, appeared on television and has become an experienced judge of home baked foods.

She is typical of the top ranking young women who will be named $500 scholarship winners in November for outstanding 4-H Bread projects. Connie, daughter of the Ralph Busheys of Muncie, Ind., won a scholarship last year which she already has applied at Purdue University where she has finished her freshman year.

Honor Bakers
The scholarships plus trips to the National 4-H Club Congress for state award winners are provided by Standard Brands Incorporated. As national sponsor of the 4-H Bread program, the corporation will provide medals of honor for some 5,500 county award winners.

Altogether, well over a half million 4-H'ers have participated in a bread project this year, according to an estimate made by the National 4-H Service Committee, which arranges the 4-H programs in cooperation with the Extension Service.

Foreign breads are among 4-H favorites. One popular recipe for an old Czechoslovakia fruit and nut bread, Hoska, is given here.

TEACH HEALTH IN SCHOOLS, NOT HOMES, SAY EXPERTS

Health education belongs in the school not in the home.

This is the conclusion of a group of recognized medical, health and education authorities who have found that when facts and ideas about health are taught in the home they are clouded by cultural prejudices, superstitions, traditions, social forces and mass media.

In surveying health beliefs and behavior of 17,000 elementary and secondary students, the School Health Education Study uncovered "appalling misconceptions and superstitions."

To correct this problem, SHES has developed the first comprehensive 12-year course in health education covering more than 40 major topics, from accident prevention to weight control and including alcohol, drugs and narcotics, family life, mental health and personal adjustment, sex education and smoking. The course, which will be initiated in many schools around the country this fall, blends and relates the various topics into a unified curriculum that is concerned with the physical, mental and social well-being of the students.

Goal of the "new health" course is to prepare students for mature adulthood, capable of forming responsible and informed decisions specifically in the broad area of health and in general daily living choices.

"Education in health is as distinct a responsibility of the school as all other subjects which are most effectively taught in the school setting," SHES summarizes.

At Home In Parmer County

By CRICKET B. TAYLOR County HD Agent

Thanksgiving is gone for 1967 and left most of us a little over-stuffed with turkey and all the fixings.

For those who think food cost is high, you might ponder over this fact, according to Agriculture Research. Chicken and turkey cost less per edible pound today than they did in World War I - when they were marketed live! Our poultry comes ready-to-cook, chilled and frozen, cut up and whole, stuffed or deboned; as you like it. Now how's that for convenience?

Scientific production and advance in handling and marketing has brought this about.

"What makes my food bill so high," one may ask?

Could it be:--

- the "nick-nacks" or non-essential items you buy,
- not planning meals in advance to provide basic essential foods for a good diet,
- taking the children along on shopping tour (you know they see and want everything),
- lack of "shopping list", made from meal plans,
- impulse buying.

Another new bulletin, an excellent one on Home Kitchens, will be made available for people who plan to build, remodel or improve kitchen, upon request. The bulletin will be used with some result demonstrators now working on improving kitchens with the Home Agent.

Do you know that a convenient kitchen that makes most of space is not planned by contractors - it's up to you the homemaker to plan for your needs in convenient storage. Only basic shelves are included generally speaking. How is your I.Q. when it comes to knowledge of planning for convenience?
