Winter's Coldest Wave Is Forecast

ZERO WEATHER IS FORECAST FOR THE PANHANDLE AREAS

Freeze Expected To Extend to South Tomorrow

WARNINGS GIVEN
Stock Warnings Are Issued Over All North Texas

(By Associated Press)

The coldest wave of winter was forecast for Texas tonight, temperatures between two and four degrees expected in the Panhandle with snow over the north portion of West Texas.

A freeze in north Texas, spreading to south Texas tomorrow is predicted.

Stock warnings have been issued to all stock owners in northwest Texas and eastern New Mexico. The new cold wave is arriving on the heels of one that recently invaded the north and middle west.

The predicted cold wave for this area will be the worst of the winter if the forecast is correct. Several other freezes predicted for this area have failed to materialize.

The lowest temperature recorded to date this winter has been 24 degrees. That minimum figure was reached on the night of January 1 and January 4. The mercury has dropped to 25 approximately one half dozen times this season.

Livestock warnings issued to stockmen to the north are expected to be largely disregarded by cattle and sheep men of this section as it is doubtful if the storm will be severe enough to materially affect stock in this area.

Snow forecast for the Panhandle and north Texas is not expected to reach this far south. Rain being the likely result rather than snow, according to the forecast.

DRILL-STEM TEST IN GAINES WELL SHOWS LITTLE OIL

Stanolind 1 Morrow Now Awaiting Orders

By FRANK GARDNER

Forty-minute drill-stem test taken from 4,500 to 4,720 in Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 J. A. Morrow, Gaines county well, showed 19 stands of fluid and no gas. Six stands were salty water interspersed with streaks of oil amounting to about one stand, and the rest were drilling mud. Drill-pipe was broken in thimbles, and each stand was figured at 92 feet.

Saltiness of some of the water was believed due to contamination by contact with the salt section. The well is now waiting for orders. It was cored from 4,608 to 4,720 and showed the best oil saturation from 3,637-62. Location is 1,760 feet from the south and 1,320 feet from the west line of section 20, block A-24, public school land, about four miles northwest of the Landreth discovery in the Kirk area.

Amerada No. 1 C. E. Robbins test a mile south of the Kirk, is rigging up Cardwell cable-tool unit after drilling to 4,400 feet in line with the McCarty well in the center of the northwest of the northwest of section 9, block A-22, public school land.

Last drilling depth reported on the W. L. Pickens et al No. 1 Lewright, southeastern Terry county well, was 3,810 feet in standing. Trouble with engine has been slowing up drilling, it was reported. Location is in the center of the northeast of the northeast of section 1, block C-37, public school land, ten miles northwest of Albaugh's well in Dawson.

Crane Wildcat Falls
A southeastern Crane county wildcat, Navarro Oil Company No. 1 Dawson encountered a half barrel of sulphur water per hour from 2,560 to 2,903 and will be plugged and abandoned. The future of the well in the McCarty district and is 330 feet from the northwest and 995 feet from the northeast line of section 2, block R. T. & M. R. R. survey.

R. H. Henderson et al No. 1 Edwards, Crane test in the Waddell pool, has been plugged back 15 feet from 3,854 and is standing. The well swabbed about six barrels of sulphur water hourly after acidizing with 6,000 gallons late last week.

Farther south, Gulf No. 2 Snodgrass encountered 15 gallons of sulphur water an hour from 3,546-50 and has been plugged back to 3,540. A two-hour test revealed that bottom-hole water had been successfully shut off.

No wonder Charlie McCarthy (center) is so popular with the girls! Second License For Exportation Of Ships Given

ACTION RUSHED

Hope Resolution To Pass in House Today

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (P)—Congressional leaders strive today to enact a neutrality measure designed to block the shipment of $7,000,000 worth of munitions to the Spanish government.

Chairman McReynolds of the House Foreign Affairs Committee expressed a hope the resolution would pass today. Senate passage tomorrow is the goal of Chairman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (P)—

President summoned the courts today to do their part "in making democracy successful" within the framework of the constitution at a time when "militarism has leapt forward" abroad.

The president told a joint session of congress that the vital need was not alteration of fundamental law but an increasingly enlightened view with reference to it.

He further said "broad objectives" of the NRA were "sound" adding the statute was outlined but the problems are still with us. He said "it is logical for us to prove we can meet the new national needs with new laws."

He confined his message to a broad outline for future problems, saying immediate action was needed to extend neutrality laws to cover the Spanish civil strife and to extend expiring statutes and make relief appropriations.

Pittman of the corresponding senate committee.

Action was speeded by the granting of a second license for exportation of planes and other equipment. Democratic leader Rayburn of the House asked President Roosevelt for swift action.

EMERGENCY EMBARGO SOUGHT BY LEADERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (P)—The Roosevelt administration raced Tuesday to get an emergency embargo through congress in time to stop shipment of more than $7,000,000 of airplanes and arms to the Spanish loyalist government.

Leaders sought almost unprecedented speed as the state department disclosed that Robert Cuse, Jersey City exporter, was striving to load his $2,777,000 shipment of airplanes and engines before congress can act.

Officials said that if Cuse carried out his intention of working stevedores all night, he would have a cargo of 18 planes aboard the steamer Mar Cantabrico in New York harbor by noon or early afternoon tomorrow.

The government previously believed that it might be two months before Cuse would make any shipments.

The drive for immediate congressional action to stop such exports was heightened by the licensing of another shipment of $4,507,000 of airplanes, rifles, machine guns and ammunition for the Spanish loyalists.

The state department said it had issued this license reluctantly upon the insistence of Richard Dineley of San Francisco, under the present neutrality act, which provides for embargoes against arms shipments to warring nations but not to those engaged in civil strife.

Officials said that if Cuse's shipment is within the three-mile limit when the legislation becomes law, it can be seized.

Whether congress could act in time to stop this shipment was doubtful.

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (P)—The court of criminal appeals set aside today the five-year prison term on conviction of Ranger L. E. Trimble on a charge of murder of W. R. Tomlinson, Bernard county commissioner in 1934 after a dispute over a pasture lease.

John E. Parks was assured a new trial on an 8-year term given in Hidalgo county on a charge of murder.

Mama Directs Every Detail of Marriage Plans of Daughter

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 6. —Juliana-of-the-apron-strings is still —Juliana-of-the-apron-strings.

And she's a Princess. And heiress to a throne. And getting to be a big girl now—twenty-seven years old. And on the eve of marriage (January 7).

But so far all that has made no difference to Mama, Mama, otherwise Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, is used to being boss. She takes no slack from mere cabinet officers. She makes courtiers toe the mark.

And as for her only child, well—it's going to be the girl's wedding, but Mama decided when it was to be. And where. And how.

Juliana is going to wear the bride's dress, but Mama has decided the material and color and decorations.

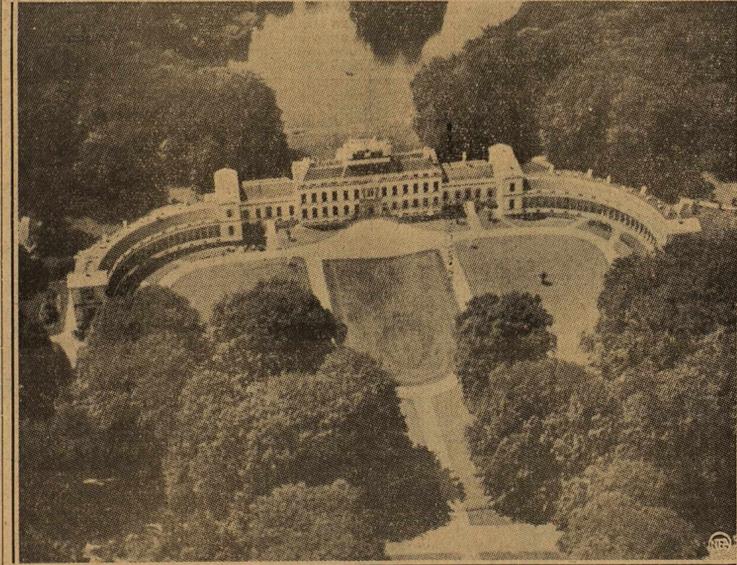

Queen Names Guests Also
Also Mama fixed up the list of guests who will be invited to the Great Church of the Hague for the ceremony. Also the musical program. Juliana is going to live in a "little" palace of her own (see cut) with her husband-to-be, 24-year-old German Prince Bernhard zur Lippe-Biesterfeld. But Mama has picked much of the furniture and even the curtains for the windows.

Recently Prince Benno—as his intimates call him—paid a final call on Der Fuehrer, Adolf Hitler for the ceremony. History does not record whether Benno is a believing and enrolled Nazi or not. But as a good German, he went to say good-bye prior to his adoption as a good Dutchman.

And shortly before Benno paid this call, Mama Wilhelmina did something else which balanced things between Holland and Germany. Bruno Walter, one of the most famous musical conductors in the world—as well-known in America as he is in Europe—is today an exile from his native Germany, being a non-Aryan. Not so long ago he conducted concerts by the famous orchestra of Amsterdam, the Concertgebouw, just as he has conducted concerts by great American orchestras. And, in recognition of the gifts, Mama Wilhelmina bestowed upon him one of the highest orders than can be given to a civilian.

Palace Is Wedding Gift
The historic palace of Soestdijk, in which the royal newly-weds will live, was given to them by the nation as a wedding present. The palace has been completely modernized and refurbished, the expense being borne by a fund raised through popular subscription.

Juliana has had 200,000 florins, a year in her own right since she was 18. Following her wedding she will draw 400,000 florins ($217,000). Parliament recently granted Prince Bernhard 200,000 florins a year, effective upon his wedding day.

He will never take the historic title of "Prince of Orange," but will only be "Prince of the Netherlands."

This follows the precedent set by the Dutch States-General in 1901 when Wilhelmina married Duke Henry of the German grand-duchy of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. The independent burghers, just a little jealous of Henry, suspicious of his German influence and a bit fearful that the ambitious neighbor on the east would some day try to gobble up the Netherlands, decided to take steps to protect their country's independence by putting the consort in his place—and keeping him there.

Queen Wins Easier Terms
They were quite hard-bodded about it, insisting that not only should Henry be naturalized a Dutch citizen, but should swear to fight against his Fatherland in case of war. Those were pretty hard lines for a proud German princeling and he almost kicked over the traces.

But the young Queen is said to have cajoled some of her crusty advisers so that the conditions were modified to permit Henry to resume his German citizenship in case of the Queen's death or a separation.

COURT UPHOLDS INTANGIBLE TAX MEASURE TODAY

Pipe Line Company Loses in Suit On State

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (P)—The court of civil appeals today upheld the constitutionality of the intangible tax act, affirming district court action in a suit against the state tax commissioner by the Texas Pipe Line Co.

The company alleged the act violated the Texas equal and uniform taxation clause and federal process clause. The court held the valuation on the company's lines at 48 percent and in line with the average assessment by various county authorities and prescribed a workable method of apportionment.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHEE
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. — Rex Tugwell tossed a last grenade among a group of his old enemies shortly before the midnight bells rang in the New Year and rang him out as Resettlement administrator.

Tugwell resigned recently to become executive vice-president of the American Molasses Company. Soon thereafter his digestion began to be disturbed by published reports that his chief function would be that of a Washington lobbyist. His name was bracketed with those of other men who had left the AAA to use their knowledge and influence in the capital in the service of private business.

Tugwell disliked some of these fellows intensely, having battled with them inside AAA at periods when he felt he was representing the farmer and the consumer and they were representing "predatory" corporations.

Finally, with one stroke, Tugwell underlined the fact that he was not going to be a lobbyist and at the same time moved to make life miserable for the large number of officials who have left the Department of Agriculture to take jobs in the food industries.

Puts Muzzle on Staff

Before departing Tugwell signed an order which simply says employees of the department must not discuss matter pertaining to administration or to legislation relating to the department's work with anyone who is employed by or connected with affected commercial interests and who has been an employee of the department within two years.

He signed it "R. G. Tugwell, acting secretary," to emphasize the fact that he would be governed by the order.

If the order is obeyed—and violators are subject to possible dismissal—the style of at least a few present and ex-employees will be definitely cramped. It brought no holiday cheer to several minor officials who were on the verge of resigning to become lobbyists.

Tugwell is known to have had in mind especially the AAA sugar section, whence there has been a large exodus to private jobs. Among several sugar sections men who have joined sugar refining companies are John A. Dalton, former chief, and James M. Dickey.

Landon's A Gay Loser

One of the stories Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas told on his recent visit in Washington was typical of the gay attitude with which the defeated presidential candidate charmed those who saw him. (His quips at himself and the proportions of his defeat were continuous.)

Landon said he rather felt like a Kansas farmer who was visited by a cyclone. The cyclone took away his house, barn, haystacks, henhouse, and everything else above ground except himself and his wife.

The farmer broke into gales of laughter and his wife headed him, demanding to know what was so funny.

"Well," giggled the farmer, "you see, it's just so darned complete!"

Gossip as to cabinet changes begins to take on a little more substance. All cabinet members will submit their resignations by inauguration day and the president plans to accept none except possibly that of Postmaster General Farley, who may be ready by that time to carry out his announced intention of quitting.

Thereafter, the probabilities are that the next resignation will be that of Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper. A large posse within the administration will be gunning for Uncle Dan and is sure to get his scalp sooner or later.

Likely to succeed Roper would be John H. Fahey, chairman of HOLC. Fahey is as able an administrator as has appeared in the en-

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

A newspaper in this territory claims to be the voice of a $10,000,000 annual payroll. A payroll like that doesn't need a mouthpiece.

Midland residents yesterday were receiving those big brown envelopes again. It isn't the social security it's the income tax. How will anybody ever raise the price of an overcoat.

Simile—as thin as a wool-moth just back from a nudist camp.

Progress has swept the country. Even in a backwoods church, someone dropped a zipper in the collection plate.

Tip on beating the income tax. Build you a new home and rent out the old one. A least I heard you could do it.

Old-fashioned stenographer. When told by the boss to sit down she looked around for a chair.

An Amarillo sports writer admits they are pickers up there. The Sandies won the state championship for the third consecutive year and got sent all the way to the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. The writer notes that the Midland Bulldogs, for winning the regional, went on the cushions all the way to the Rose Bowl.

A well known Texas columnist and editor says:

A determined fight will be made before the Texas legislature to knock out betting on horse races. Those who are preparing for the battle say that the races are so crooked and so rotten, for the most part, that they stink to the high heavens. They have secured a lot of material and information to submit to the legislature and much of it is interesting.

They are prepared to show, as an example, that some time back there was a race held at either Houston or San Antonio and much betting was done on it at Dallas where the bookies just about run the town. Anyway, there was a slip-up and the state officials say that the bookies in Dallas paid off on the race 16 minutes before the race was actually run.

When some problem arises in France an association always is created to remedy it. Births are no exception. A few weeks ago the National League Against Depopulation began a campaign to try to stimulate Frenchmen by pointing out their duty and by asking the government and employers to remedy economic causes for a declining birth rate.

"A nation without babies is a nation condemned to death," the league proclaimed. If things go on as they are today, in 50 years we will have lost half of our population and France will be finished as a nation in the modern world."

Grope for Remedy
It is clear that the French are on the defensive in tackling this problem of population. They know that the roots of the problem go back to the war, but they do not know how to remedy it. One thing is clear, the war broke up the traditional French family life, forced millions of widows and unmarried women into the factories and government posts, and naturally cut down at once the possibilities of motherhood.

Since then other hundreds of thousands of women have been forced out of the home to supplement the constantly falling wages of their husbands and menfolk. The mothers of France refuse to rear large families any more. The depression has made a bad situation worse, and the danger of war has made it a national calamity.

In principle the French lways have accepted the idea that workers with large families should receive additional pay according to the size of the family. Heads of families holding government posts today are paid $30 a year for the first child, $45 for the second, $92 for the third, $115 for the fourth and so on.

Industry Not in Step
What annoys the League Against Depopulation and many of the French political parties is the fact that in business and industry family allowances are three or four times less and in many cases give nothing for the first and second children in a family. In an economy where the producers are all consumers, prosperity naturally will run into a blind alley, they say, and announce that compulsory family allowances in all industry form one of the requisites of recovery.

Leon Blum, Prime Minister once said:

"The birth of a baby in a poor or modest family should no longer remain a piece of bad luck, which condemns the whole family to more poverty, and bad health. We agree that women's work should not be a necessity and that the wages of any worker should be enough to take care of the whole family."

But devaluation, rising prices, continued business stagnation and the imminence of an European conflict do not give much hope that Blum

FRANCE FEARS POPULATION LOSS OF 11 MILLION IN THE NEXT 50 YEARS

New Campaign for Larger Families on As Bonus Problem Stumps Government

PARIS, aJan. 5 (U.P.)—France today looks forward with fear as a declining birth rate seems likely to fall still lower during the next few decades, while at the same time the possibilities of war are rising.

There is a popular French saying that sums the situation in their eyes:

"A country with a falling population attracts the invader."

Moreover, the fear is more directly centered in discussions pointing to Germany as French vital statisticians announce figures showing that Germany's birth rate had fallen more sharply than France's before the ascendency of the Nazis, but since then has begun to soar.

Today Germany counts roughly a population of 60,000,000 compared to France's 40,000,000.

Depression Darkens Picture
Since the depression hit France, the excess of births over deaths have registered the lowest in recent history. If the present trend continues, experts announce, France will be reduced to a population of only 29,000,000 in 1985. Moreover, every Frenchman feels sure that his country will face a war before that date, and he knows that the population will go down even more sharply then.

The movement to get Attorney General Cummings out of the cabinet isn't proceeding very rapidly and may fizzle completely.

Farley May Be Leaving

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed. How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds. Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

'King of Hockey' Is Showing at Yucca

"King of Hockey," the stirring Warner Bros. romance with the popular ice sport as its background is showing today and tomorrow at the Yucca Theatre.

Staged in the atmosphere of Madison Square Garden, New York, the exciting incidents of the game, with the colorful crowds of spectators, are brought to the screen by crack hockey players, including Dick Purcell, the masculine lead, who was the former ice star of Fordham University.

The romance between Purcell, the hockey star, and Anne Nagel, in the role of a wealthy society girl springs up in the ice rink and is furthered by the debutante's seven year old sister who is one of the most ardent fans of the team's crack puck pusher.

The head of gambling syndicate tries to bribe the hockey star to throw the games to the opposing teams. Wayne Morris, the star's room-mate, sees the two together and when the team loses he jumps to conclusions and accuses his chum. A fight ensues in which the star is sent to the hospital with a cracked head.

The blow effects the optic nerve and the youth is slowly going blind without knowing it. This results in poor playing which leads the managers to think he's crooked. The star is fired from the league and winds up as a pathetic figure in the bread-line. But chance brings him in contact with the seven year old sister of the woman he had loved and lost. She senses the fact that he is nearly blind and relays the information to her sister.

But the hockey player cannot be found until one day a fortuitous circumstance brings him to arms of the girl in a most astonishing climax. Besides Purcell and Miss Nagel, the cast includes Marie Wilson, Wayne Morris, George E. Stone, Joseph Crehan, Gordon Hart, Ann Gilles and Andre Beranger.

Junior High P. T. A. Holds First Meet Of Year Tuesday

The Junior High P. T. A. met in regular session on Tuesday afternoon, there being a good attendance of mothers and teachers. Following the business session, Mrs. Schouten, chairman of the Health Committee, reported that there is an epidemic of trench mouth in Midland, and that precaution should be taken by parents as it is highly infectious. She also brought a warning in regard to influenza, the present epidemic in the north being of a pernicious nature. Proper precautions will prevent it from getting a start here.

After reports of committees Mrs. W. T. Walsh read an article from the December National Parent-Teacher Magazine which was a serious indictment of the effect marks and marking have on boys and girls. A lively and interesting discussion followed on the aim of education, the question of the desirability of the marking system, the teacher's relationship to the child, and her opportunity for great helpfulness or harm, the vital influence each school system has on the principal, teachers, and children, and the bearing marks have on character development. An excellent school system wherein marks were never used, and where there was

First Aid To Beauty Resolves

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

The very simplest beauty routines, repeated regularly, do far more good than complicated ones which you go through hap-hazardly only now and then.

This year, how about sticking to the fine hair-brushing resolution you have been making and breaking ever since your mother stopped brushing your hair for you? There are no two ways about it—if you brush every night for at least five minutes you will have brighter, glossier hair and a scalp that's free of dandruff and dry cuticle in less than three months.

You might, during dull January, when your social life just naturally subsides a little, treat your face and throat to a stress-free facial every night. You know, cleansing properly, applying night cream and massaging it in with the proper strokes, finishing with tonic. Repeat every night for a month, then look to your complexion. It's just possible that you will be inspired to keep up the nightly treatments all year.

Are you going to try to lose the pound or two you gained during the holidays or are you going to go right on eating everything in sight, thereby gaining another pound during 1937, another in 1938, and so on until you are actually fat? Remember, it's easier to lose one pound now than to wait until you are older, then try to get rid of twenty.

This ought to be a good time to break yourself of the taxi habit or the street car habit or whatever it is you take to save walking a few blocks. Exercise is important, as you know, and the very best way to get it is to walk at least a mile a day.

Church Women Honor Mrs. Standerfer At Shower Tuesday

Mrs. W. B. Standerfer, who was Miss Marion Cartwright before her marriage the morning of December 25, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening by the Loyal Berean class of the First Christian Church, and also by members of the church, at the home of Mrs. Glen Brunson.

Throughout the evening, diverting games and contests were enjoyed, the winners, Mrs. Lee Cornelius, Mrs. Joe Norman, and Mrs. J. E. Pickering, presenting their prizes to Mrs. Standerfer.

The climax of the evening was reached when Mrs. J. E. Pickering handed Mrs. Standerfer a string and read the following lines:

"When a teacher of Math Gives up all that she hath And answers, 'I will' to 'Slim'; Her pupils are sad Though their grades may be bad, For soon she'll be leaving them. We all were surprised Though we might have surmised That a wedding was coming soon. For the old Christmas bell Chimed a wedding knell, And started a honey-moon. So since you are wed, If you'll follow this thread You will find when you come to the end That we all wish for you In whatever you do 'The best happiness life can send'."

After Mrs. Standerfer discovered the huge basket of gifts and they were displayed, Mrs. L. A. Arrington and Mrs. Clint Myrick served a delicious refreshment plate to Mrs. L. A. Denton, G. H. Butler, L. B. Pemberton, M. A. Park, J. K. Graves, J. R. Jones, Lee Cornelius, Frances

Mrs. H. B. Prickett Hostess Tuesday To Bridgettes

Mrs. H. B. Prickett entertained the Bridgette club Tuesday afternoon at her home at 3:00 o'clock.

Emphasizing a color motif of white, the tallies were adorned with snow men and the prize wrappings and menu carried out the same theme.

A fiesta baking set was presented to Mrs. J. J. Kelly for first prize, and Mrs. S. O. Cooper won a lamp for second high.

A party plate was served during the afternoon to Mrs. A. P. Baker, J. J. Kelly, Don Davis, W. P. Knight, A. E. Horst, Sam Warren, Bill Van Huss, Kinzie Reese, Richardson, S. O. Cooper, R. R. Cowan, and a guest, Mrs. Wesley Chaney.

Stallworth, Joe Norman, John Casselman, Charles Klapproth, Bill Connor, B. W. Stevens, Lynn Butler, Jess Cole, Charles Brown, Zack Reader, J. T. Ragsdale, Clint Myrick, Louie Arrington, J. E. Pickering, Woody Elkin, Miss Gean Smith, Doris Jean Butler, Shirley and Nellie Elkin, Mrs. Glen Brunson, and the honoree.

never any feeling of superiority or inferiority amongst the students was described by Mrs. Stookey. Others taking an active part in the discussion were Mrs. J. L. Greene, Mrs. F. H. Schouten, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Mrs. Charles Brown, Miss Litham, and Mr. Lackey.

In conclusion Mrs. Walsh summarized the discussion as follows:

and Surgeon

Hours: 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.—
2 to 6 p. m.

"Herbert Spencer said many years ago that 'to prepare us for complete living is the function which education has to discharge' in this age education must be broader to fulfill that aim. It must be constantly undergoing revision, dropping former methods, adding to the subject matter, and adopting new methods. It is our task to see that our schools are not behind in this necessary preparation for a complete life.

"Marks are all right, I suppose, if considered in the light of an ideal or standard to be attained, but as an accurate estimate of the individual they are often sadly inadequate, frequently carelessly or hurriedly set down, under the pressure of haste or fatigue. I do not say that this is the tendency of any one teacher, but it is apt to happen anywhere at any time, human nature being what it is, with its physical and moral limitations. I have taught, and I have sighed and sighed over trying to represent a child's intelligence and ability, or lack of it, in numerical terms, or by letters of the alphabet.

I would say the teacher's most important relationship to the child is that of an understanding, sympathetic, and tolerant adult who desires to guide her pupils along the way to knowledge by the pleasant path of good sportsmanship, which inevitably leads to the recognition by the pupil that all knowledge must be gained by honest effort, and the ability to apply it is its reward; this constant application proves its usefulness or necessity, and brings the personal satisfaction without which any achievement seems a lifeless, worthless thing. I would say that teaching and helping students to apply what they learn as they go along is of vital importance. Otherwise of what practical or cultural good is the acquired learning? If a teacher fulfills these attributes of an intelligent guide she is a great agent for the future welfare and advancement of the nation. If he or she cannot do more than cram mere facts into children, then he or she is in the wrong profession. Teachers sometimes say, 'I can't give one child any more attention than the other.' I believe this is wrong, and a neglect of duty. The average child can generally develop normally with the group, and it is only the minority who need special help. The principal and parents can generally be called upon to share the burden.

"But to arrive at the fulfillment of the function of complete living, to be able to grade or rank children in some intelligent manner, to be able to carry out the highest and most practical methods of instruction, the superintendent, the principal, teachers, and children must be supported by the most adequate curriculum the present century has to offer. It is a matter of grave responsibility that rests on the shoulders of the school-board of every community."

FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cowden have returned from a trip to Wichita Falls, accompanied by their daughter, Walter Fay, where they spent New Year's day with another daughter, Mrs. J. C. Ward and family, and returned to Midland by Denton where Miss Cowden remained to attend school at T. S. C. W.

Furniture Company Manager to Market

S. M. Vaughan local manager of the Barrow Furniture Company left for Abilene last night to join A. B. and D. G. Barrow for a trip to the January furniture markets.

They will not only go to the Chicago markets but will go on to Grand Rapids which is the recognized home of the best in the furniture line.

General conditions are reflected in the demand for better furniture which necessitates a market trip at this time to replenish stocks for the Abilene and Midland stores for the largest of Barrow chain of seven stores, Vaughan said.

THE FULLER THE TANK THE LESS WINTER GRIEF and why—

The helpful idea we're talking about will give you extra protection against a freeze-up in your car's gasoline system. The smart thing to do first is to have your carburetor drained—a quick, simple operation for whoever takes care of your car. He will also empty the little glass filter bowl, or "trap." And if you want to be real careful, you will have a certain amount drained from the bottom of the gasoline tank. Thus you get rid of any water that might freeze on the first cold day.

This water was not in the gasoline originally, if you are careful where you buy. But you know that the air always contains more or less moisture, which can gradually form water in your gasoline system. There is less chance of this when you keep too much air out of your gasoline tank, by having it filled close to the top. It is still just as important as ever to get a gasoline that always fires away lickety-split in any cold... not dripping and flooding wastefully... not draining your battery by a lot of "false starts"... not thinning your oil by needless chocking. The most helpful thing you can do for yourself right there is to keep your tank full of sure-firing Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronze. Continental Oil Company

Penny Pitchers Had A Tough Time in Old Days, Wells Reveals

Illegal and punishable by law "to steal anything from a neighbor without that neighbor's consent or to pitch pennies or play marbles for keeps,"—and a criminal offense "for any person, male or female, brown or white, married or single or any derivation or degree thereof to wade, paddle, swim, dive or duck into the water of any irrigation ditch within the city limits!"

This did the first mayor of El Paso undertake to "clean up" what is now one of the Southwest's greatest cities, the history and attractions of which Carveth Wells will describe at 6:30 Saturday night.

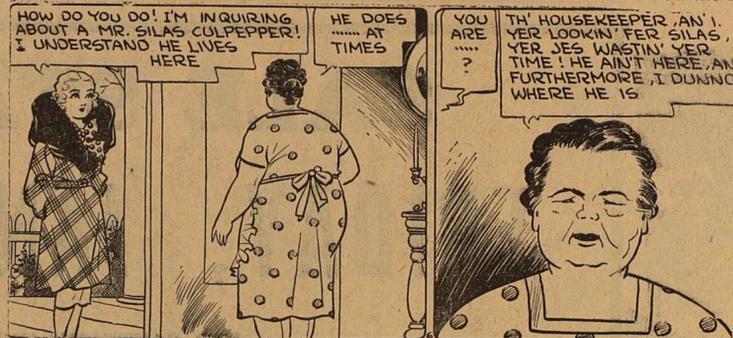

A week of old fashioned Clearance Sale bargains, beginning next Monday morning at Wadley's. (Adv.)

over station WFAA Dallas, in the second of the new series of "Exploring America with Conoco and Carveth Wells" radio programs sponsored by Continental Oil Company.

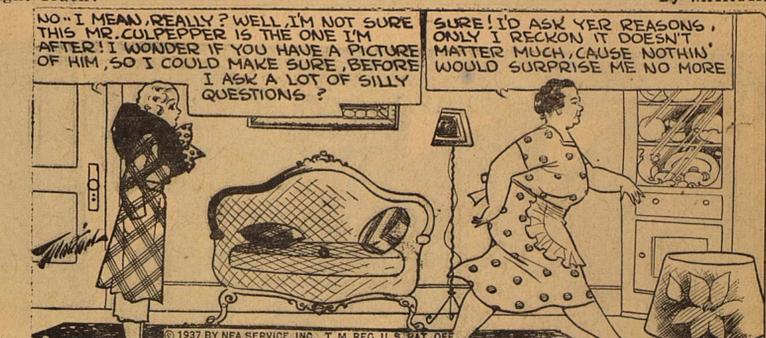

El Paso is a metropolis of sunshine and health," says the internationally known explorer, "since it can boast of 331 days of sunshine annually and a health-giving altitude of 4,000 feet. It is a land of January shirt-sleeve golf. Yet, within a three-hour drive to the snow blanketed timberland of the high Sacramento at Cloudcroft, you can use your ski, toboggans and snowshoes."

Furthermore, Wells declares, El Paso serves as excellent headquarters for side trips to nearby Carlsbad Cavern, White Sands at Alamogordo, the old missions of Ysleta and Socorro east of El Paso, the remarkable salt lakes known as Crow Flats northeast of the city, and Juarez, Mexico.

WHAT TO DO FOR ECZEMA ITCHING AND BURNING

Wash the affected parts with Resinol Soap and warm water to soften scales and crusts. Resinol Soap is suggested because it contains no excess of free alkali, and is especially suited to tender skin. Dry by patting with a soft cloth—do not rub.

Doctors recommend an oily ointment because it penetrates the outer layers of the skin more effectively. Resinol Ointment meets this requirement, and does even more. For over 40 years it has been—and still is—successfully used to relieve quickly the itching and burning of eczema. It contains soothing ingredients that aid healing.

Use Resinol Ointment today and enjoy comfort tomorrow. Get a jar, also a cake of Resinol Soap, at any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 1, Baltimore, Md.

INSULATING PEOPLE HERE FOR FEW DAYS

Mr. R. F. Currin with the Modern Home Insulators, Inc., of Fort Worth and Dallas, returned to this city yesterday from Big Spring for a few days' stay. He will move the company's insulating unit to San Angelo the first of next week and would like to contact anyone who wants to figure on the insulation of his home this week.

Mr. Currin says that proper insulation of a home will make it 15 degrees cooler in the summer and cut heating bills in the winter a third to one half.

Call him at Hotel Scharbauer for an interview and an estimate on your home or building without obligation to buy. If you want to know about insulation, ask anyone who has it in Midland. (Adv.)

ROSE BOWL TRIP IS REVIEWED TO CLUB

Lackey, Collins Heard By Members of Lions Club at Luncheon

Interesting and entertaining incidents encountered on his recent trip to California and the Rose Bowl football game were related by W. W. Lackey at the regular weekly luncheon of the Midland Lions club today noon, Professor Lackey, who proceeded the Midland Bulldog special to the Rose Bowl, telling of his trip to and from California, the Santa Anita race track, sight seeing trips to various points in and around Los Angeles, the Angelus Temple, the Tournament of Roses, the Huntington Library, the Rose Bowl game, various shows, and other amusements enjoyed during his stay on the West Coast. The talk was delivered in a very interesting and entertaining manner and was enjoyed by the 34 club members and guests in attendance.

Bill Collins, who accompanied the Midland Bulldogs and Coaches to the Rose Bowl game, spoke briefly regarding the Bulldog excursion, relating various incidents of the trip and telling what the boys did while in California. Collins stated that it was a glamorous trip which will never be forgotten by the boys, who greatly appreciated every minute of it. The publicity gained for Midland on the trip was also expressed. Members of the squad were lauded for their excellent conduct on behavior. The value of the trip cannot be termed in dollars and cents, he said.

Mrs. M. A. Parks was presented in two vocal solos which featured the musical part of the program. Mrs. Parks was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lee Cornelius. Guests present included R. W. Laughlin of Oklahoma City, and Messrs. Tom Parks, Tex Crawford, Col. Sparkman, and Rev. Jas. Camp of Midland.

The luncheon was served by the ladies of the Busy Bee Club. Sales have come and sales have gone, but for years there has been ONE REAL CLEARANCE SALE each season and that is Wadley's Clearance Sale. It begins next Monday morning, Jan. 11, at 8:30 sharp. (Adv.)

CHANGES ARE MADE IN CO. PERSONNEL

Rumored for the past several days, changes in personnel of the Midland district office of the Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company became official today.

W. A. Yeager, district land man for the company for some time, resigned to enter partnership with J. M. Armstrong who resigned his position as district geologist. The two have opened offices in the Petroleum Building.

C. F. Kimball has been transferred from the scouting department to the post of assistant district land man.

In the geological department, N. B. Larsh has been appointed district geologist succeeding Armstrong. Vacancies in the scouting and geological departments created by the resignations and transfers have not yet been officially filled.
