DIRECTORS PLAN INCREASE STOCK TO INVESTMENT

Stockholders Meet Saturday to Perfect Organization and Work out Plans For $60,000 Debt Free Body

Stockholders of Midland Fair, Inc., at the annual meeting Saturday afternoon, elected eleven directors for the year 1937 and laid plans for immediate increase of the capital stock to the actual investment, approximately $60,000.

The eleven directors met at the close of the stockholders meeting and elected Clarence Scharbauer president. He accepted on condition that he would secure complete cooperation, and promised to give the job his best efforts.

Foy Proctor, last year's president, was elected honorary vice president and A. C. Francis was elected second vice president. The selection of a secretary and treasurer was deferred until a later meeting of the board.

Besides the officers, directors chosen included E. B. Dickenson, Roy Parks, W. M. Eple, Tom Nance, J. E. Martin, Fred Fuhrman, Fred Turner, Marion Flynt, and H. G. Bedford.

The immediate goal adopted by the board of directors was to perfect plans for making the corporation debt free by bringing the capital stock up to the amount of the actual investment. Although originally planned as a $30,000 project, the construction was expanded to make it an investment of approximately $60,000 one of the outstanding fair, stock show, racing and rodeo plants of the southwest.

More than two thirds of the stock was represented at the meeting Saturday.

Fractured Knee Is Received In Freak Accident Saturday

Mrs. E. L. Buck of Topeka, Kansas, received a fractured knee in a freak automobile accident just outside the east city limits of Midland Saturday afternoon.

The car in which the lady was riding with her husband suddenly started skidding on the slippery highway and despite his efforts to right it plunged into the bar pit at the side of the road. Mr. Buck was slightly injured but Mrs. Buck knee was thought to have struck the dash, causing the break.

Village Landmark Destroyed by Fire

Fire Saturday almost completely destroyed the old "Mims home" at 312 South Baird street, the entire inside of the aged structure being gutted before firemen were able to extinguish the flames.

The two-story home at the time of the fire was being occupied by four families, among them that of E. A. White, owner. White purchased the property approximately one year ago. Practically all the household furnishings on the lower floor were saved by volunteers before the flames could spread from upstairs, where they started, to the lower rooms.

L. C. PROCTOR IS REPORTED WEAKER

Ranchman Given Short Time to Survive Long Ailment

The condition of L. C. Proctor, Midland ranchman, was reported to be grave late Saturday, family members believing he could survive only a few hours. He had become worse late Friday after being ill for several months.

A few weeks ago he was brought home from a Temple hospital where he had been under treatment and had not gained strength. He is at his home seven miles south of Midland.

Convicted Drivers Lose Low Numbered Plates

BOSTON, Jan. 9. (U.P.)—Drivers here cannot have low numbered registration plates if they have been convicted of drunkenness.

These plates, which the motor vehicles registry has declined to re-issue to previous holders because of conviction on drunken driving charges, will be assigned to new applicants by Public Works Commissioner William F. Callahan, Registrar Frank Goodwin announced.

Gold Rush Avoided

ALAMO, Cal., (U.P.)—For once at least the finding of gold in a chicken's gizzard here did not precipitate a gold rush to the sand deposits where the chicken had presumably fed. The gold was merely a dental crown.

France Prepared to Use Arms to Halt Germans

PARIS, Jan. 9. (U.P.)—France threatened today to resort to arms to prevent German occupation of Spanish Morocco.

Foreign office sources feared a warning to Spanish insurgents against opening strategic North African territory to Germany would fall on deaf ears.

An official said France would go to any lengths to eject Nazi troops from the Spanish protectorate which separates French Morocco from the homeland.

The garrison at Fez, French territory capital, was being placed in a state of mobilization.

France is backing up her statement that German troops would not be permitted in Morocco, already having 100,000 men in French Morocco and the French Atlantic fleet at Casablanca.

France acted, official sources said, in complete accord with Great Britain. That nation was believed considering direct action following reports German engineers were supervising construction of a "second Gibraltar" at Ceuta 14 miles across the straits from the British naval base.

Idle Men Hang Out 'Shingles'

Sitdown strike technique evidently does not forbid strikers to express their enthusiasm. At the Fisher Body plant, above, in Flint, Mich., idle employees improvised window displays which included an American flag, an office suspended from a rope, and several signs, one of which indicated the "information window." Strikers themselves frequently leaned from the windows to shout at friends.

First Arrest of a Worker

Arrested in Flint, Mich., on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, Gerald DeMott, center, a Fisher Body plant striker, is alleged to have told police that strikers holding the plant were armed with between 800 and 900 blackjacks. Lieut. Ray J. Martin, left, said DeMott was carrying a home-made blackjack. They are shown with Judge Frank W. Cain, right, after the arrest, first in current labor disputes in Flint.

Trouble Threatened By Labor Union In Country

TAMPICO, Jan. 9. (U.P.)—The ship bringing Leon Trotzky, exiled Russian, to Mexico arrived here today.

Soldiers and police guarded the docks to prevent trouble after a threatened demonstration by the Tamaulipas state labor federation, which is opposing the Mexican government's offer of asylum to the one-time bolshevik leader.

Trotzky, no longer able to find refuge in Europe, left Norway December 19.

Mothers Fear Racing Dogs

MILLBRAE, Cal., Jan. 9. ANDREWS WILDCAT SHOWS LITTLE GAS

Getty No. 1 Moxley Given Two Drill-Stem Tests

BY FRANK GARDNER
George F. Getty, Inc. No. 1 Moxley, wildcat in Andrews county over four miles southwest of the Means pool, attracted some attention as the week closed when it showed gas on a drill-stem test. The test, of 15 minutes duration, was from 4-458 to 4-510, and revealed 65 feet of drilling fluid, 50,000 cubic feet of gas, and no oil or bottom-hole water. A previous test, from 4-408 to 4-458, had shown only ten feet of drilling fluid in 15 minutes, with no oil, gas or water present. Operators are now reaming rat hole, with the total depth of the well the same, 4-510 feet. It will probably be drilling ahead sometime today. The No. 1 Moxley, west of the highway three miles north of Andrews, is in the center of the northwest of the northeast of section 15, block A-45, public school land.

In the northwest part of the county, William Hannigan at No. 1 Logsdon is coring lime at 4,705 feet. The wildcat is in the center of the southwest quarter of section 5, block A-32, public school land. It showed 45 feet of mud and no oil, gas or bottom-hole water when a 15-minute drill-stem test was taken from 4,429 to 4,654.

Sinclair-Prarie No. 1 Emma Cowden, in southern Andrews in section 12, block 44, township 2 north, T. & P. survey, reported yield of 45 barrels of oil the last 15 hours of swabbing through tubing. The well has been shot with 330 quarts from 4,110 to 4,300.

Preparing To Test
In Gaines county, Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 J. A. Morrow, wildcat in section 20, block A-24, public school land, was preparing to test at total depth of 4,770 feet. A showing of sulphur water had been reported as the well cored below 4-756. Earlier in the week, it had shown about 90 feet of oil with 1-750 feet of drilling fluid when drill-stem tested from 4,500 to 4,720. The Stanolind well is about four miles west and slightly north of Landreth Production Company No. 1 Kirk, the first oil well drilled in the county.

A mile south of the Landreth well, Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 C. E. Robbins, in the center of the northwest of the northwest of section 9, block A-22, public school land, is drilling below 4,683 feet in lime. Cardwell cable tool unit was rigged up after the well had drilled to 4,690 with rotary.

W. L. Pickens at No. 1 Lehigh, much-discussed wildcat in the southeastern part of Terry county on a trend play from the Ray Albright discovery in Dawson, was reported drilling at 4,040 feet in anhydrite and lime stringers. The No. 1 Lehigh is in the center of the northeast of the northeast of

ONLY 310 POLL TAX VOTES ARE PAID IN MIDLAND COUNTY

Voters Warned Three More Weeks All That Remain

Only 310 poll tax votes have been paid in the county to date, officials of the tax-collector's office reported Saturday.

With only 21 more days left in which to pay these taxes officials stressed the importance of persons paying them soon. Being an "off-year" in elections, the final number is expected to be far less than last year when more than 2,000 persons paid.

A total of 1,698 persons have been assessed for taxable property and must of necessity pay the poll taxes this year when paying others.

Only city elections will be held this year unless some special election is called by the state legislature. The city election will be held April 6, at which time a mayor, city marshal, city secretary and three city councilmen will be elected.

To date no one has announced for the offices, not even any of the incumbents, but opposition for all the ones now holding office is expected to be made known before the deadline of filing names, March 2.

Here's Answer to Your Job Security Questions

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are questions and answers prepared by E. B. Anderson, chairman-director of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, which is an interpretation in simplified terms of the various provisions of the recently-enacted Texas Unemployment Compensation Act.

Further questions and answers in this series will appear in this paper from time to time.

When Benefits to Workers Begin
Question 1: "When will the payment of benefits to workers start under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act?"
Answer: Payments will begin on January 1, 1938. This is a very important fact for every employee to remember. Why? Because your possible compensation, if you become unemployed during 1938, will be figured on the basis of your employment record during 1937.

If you have steady employment during 1937, you will be entitled to more benefit in case you lose your job in 1938. On the other hand, if your employment record for 1937 is poor, your compensation will be strictly limited until you have improved your record of employment.

TEMPERATURES UP IN MANY SECTIONS OF COUNTRY TODAY

Six Persons Known Dead, Property Is Damaged Million Dollars Worth In State in Three Days

By Associated Press
The cold wave brought more sleet and snow to Texas Saturday, extending into the gulf region, but the weather bureau said relief was indicated in some sections today.

Temperatures in the Panhandle, which hit sub-zero Friday, were higher Saturday as snow was still falling. Amarillo reported 6 degrees. The minimum today is expected to be 19.

Six persons died in the nation's far west cold wave and three others are believed dead. Heavy damage to California's huge orange grapefruit industry was feared.

The severe onslaught of winter had already caused damage in excess of $1,000,000 in the state. The Southwestern Bell Telephone company was the greatest loser. The company reported 325 circuits, comprising an eighth of the toll lines in the state, were out because of ice forming on them.

Airplane schedules were canceled, highways were icy and communications were disrupted in the northern part of the state.

Midland residents today looked forward hopefully for the predicted let-up, beginning tomorrow, of the coldest wave of winter that has hovered over the city for the past three days.

Temperatures last night, for the third consecutive night, fell below 20 degrees. The minimum figure for Friday night was 15, two degrees higher than the Thursday night minimum. Maximum for Saturday was 25, recorded at 4 p. m. At the airport, the Friday night minimum was 14 and the Saturday maximum 23.

Snow covered everything in sight Saturday morning but melted in the streets under the onslaught of traffic during the day. However, a light snow that fell off on an all during the day kept it from disappearing on vacant lots and other spots.

Ranches were expected to be much improved by the moisture caused from the falling snow. With warmer weather expected shortly, it was not believed stock would suffer much damage before the snow had all melted.

Conditions are expected to remain about as they are in this area today, according to the Dallas weather bureau. Rising temperatures are foreseen Monday.

DOG KNOWS SUNDAY

ELYRIA, O. (U.P.)—Old Jack, an English bulldog owned by J. H. Patrick, doesn't believe in late Sunday rising. Six days a week he waits until he is put out of the house, but on the seventh he coaxes for an early release. Every Sunday morning he follows the newspaper carrier over his entire route.

Reasonable—But Not Guaranteed

HOUSTON, Jan. 8. (U.P.)—Reasonable but not guaranteed: Jesse A. Ziegler of Houston, an old-timer, says experience teaches him that all fish, fowls, and beasts can communicate with each of their kind—especially when in distress.

Says the veteran: "Many years ago while going from Cape Cod Light house to Portland, Maine, on a steamship, the Atlantic was dead calm. Thousands of porpoise dotted the ocean and we saw five whales, some spouting vigorously. The captain, deciding to give the passengers a treat, putted within a quarter mile of the porpoise and we saw an unusual sight.

"As usual, four or five large porpoise, acting as pilots, were swimming ahead of the ship. They made a good target and I fired a pistol at two. I presume I only stung them.

"I was less than 20 minutes the porpoises disappeared—not one in sight. They had, no doubt, received the SOS cry of their mates and plunged to the bottom. The whales did likewise.

"On a hunting trip I shot a curlew, breaking its wing and legs. There was not another curlew in sight but within less than an hour hundreds appeared and I shot until my ammunition was exhausted. These instances convince me that all fishes, fowls, and animals can communicate with each other, particularly when in distress."

ON STRIKE FOR TWO YEARS
LONDON, (U.P.)—There are 650 men in Manchester who have been on strike for nearly two and a half years. On June 31, 1934, the men struck in protest against the introduction of a system of speeding up production at the works of a wire manufacturer, and are still on strike, with no hope of an early settlement.

Content of Talk By Dr. Campbell At Health Hour Program

Considerable interest has been shown in mottled enamel during the past few years. Its wide occurrence makes it a complex problem of more than usual interest to the laity as well as the dental profession. In addition to its wide spread appearance in America it has been reported in several countries in Europe, Africa, the Argentine, China and Japan.

The most essential injury of Mottled Enamel to the teeth is the appearance. The teeth are of normal form but not of normal color. They may be stained brown or yellow or an opaque white. The injury is distinguished especially by the destruction and absence of the cement substance between the enamel rods in the outer one fourth (more or less) of the thickness of the enamel. A sharp explorer slides over the surface without catching, just the same as it would do over normal enamel.

The cause of the injury has been an elusive factor. Detailed study of the problem has been carried on since the year 1909. From the very first it was suspected that the water supply was accountable for the trouble but no one so far as was known had designated the particular element in the water that did the damage until 1931. At that time the American Chemical Society attributed the phenomenon of mottled enamel to the presence of Flourine in the water supply. After able and scientific study the Chicago Dental Society in February 1934 seemed to have established the fact that the presence of excessive amounts of flourine in the water supply is the main cause of mottled enamel.

Flourine is the most active chemically of the elements. It is widely distributed in soils, rocks, and waters, being estimated to constitute 0.1 per cent of the first half mile of the earth's crust, land and sea. It is placed twentieth in order of abundance among the elements in the surface half mile of the earth. In certain spring and well waters, it is so abundant as to cause mottling of the enamel of the teeth of children drinking such waters while the enamel is forming. Flourine is apparently universally present in plant and animal tissues. The question is still unanswered as to whether the element plays a physiological role or is present in the tissues as an accidental constituent because it is ingested in all foods.

Twenty-three states have reported traces of flourine in their water supply. This might be caused by the periodic and severe droughts that lower water and increase the amount of dissolved salts allowing flourine to enter the water supply. Seepage through rock phosphate, which has a high flourine content, will also give a troublesome amount of flourine.

It is reported from authoritative sources that 1 part per million of flourine in drinking water is necessary to produce mottling of enamel in human beings, although the flourine has to be absorbed during the period of classification (tooth formation) before it has any effect on the enamel of the teeth. This means any time from birth to perhaps twelve years of age. Any water containing two parts per million is considered on the border line of danger and water containing 2.7 parts per million will absolutely produce mottling of the enamel. The last analysis of Midland's water supply showed 2.55 parts per million.

We find that fully developed enamel is immune to the action of flourine. This is also true with the enamel of temporary teeth. Further investigations show that this injury is not developed fully until the teeth are exposed to the actinic rays of the sun. Stains are not under the free margin of the gums, and again, the lower teeth are formed at the same time as the upper teeth and should be just as susceptible, yet they are rarely injured because they are shielded from exposure to the sunlight by the lower lip. The mottling follows the lip line and is mostly on the central incisors, less on the laterals, and just on the tips of the cuspids. Mouth breathing has been suggested as a possible aid to the injury because of the finding of more stains on the mottled teeth of children whose nasal passages were obstructed for one reason or another.

At the present time mottling of enamel presents a baffling question to the dentist. He is unable to offer a possible treatment and can only explain its cause in a limited way. Why some are affected and others are not must be left to further research, as diet does not seem to play a very important part in this injury. General errors in diet apparently do not produce this definite form of interference.

The revelation that flourine in drinking water is responsible mainly for the permanent disfigurement of thousands of children and adults imposes a new duty on those who are responsible for the quality of water supplies, as well as those of us who are so interested. Hitherto, processes of chlorination and clarification have been deemed sufficient in water purification. Chlorination solved the problem of typhoid, but what about mottled enamel and stained teeth? The control of flourine concentration so that it never exceeds one part per million, will solve this age old problem of mottled enamel.

The distribution of mottled enamel in Texas is very wide-spread. However, recent surveys by government officials have outlined the highlands and south plains areas as those showing the greatest amount of flourine. Their water supply being obtained mostly from shallow wells and artesian wells with a sulphur content.

Methods of treatment of public water supplies for the removal of flourides are now being investigated by many states. Dentists and chemists have co-operated and found the cause, let us continue and remove the cause. The greater responsibility now rests with the water works

'The Many Mizners' To Be Reviewed By J. A. Seymour Soon

Book review, Friday, January 15 8 p. m. in the district court room, county court house; Mr. J. A. Seymour reviewing "The Many Mizners," by Addison Mizner. This is the story of Addison Mizner, his many brothers and one sister. Written in a witty, original style, he seems to summarize his philosophy with an epigram of his brother, Wilson: "Be pleasant to the people you meet on the way up—they are the same ones you will be meeting on the way down."

Addison Mizner, second youngest son of Lansing Bond Mizner—forty-niner, lawyer, and one time U. S. minister to Guatemala—was born in Benicia, California in 1874. Over six feet tall, weighing more than two hundred pounds, Addison was one of six brothers, built in the same proportions, whose eventual selections of careers made them notable. A lawyer, a physician, an engineer, an architect, a playwright (Wilson Mizner), and a West Point graduate who became a clergyman.

Addison won world architectural renown through his buildings in Florida. He had gone to Florida in 1918 after his association with Stanford White in New York. From the beginning of his architectural vocation which he had developed in Guatemala, he had been interested in Spanish design. When he was pitched out of school because of his brother's "playful" nature, he had been granted his desire of going abroad to study, and had chosen Salamanca in Spain. Here again he and the state boards of health to use means of prevention by changing or providing water supplies that are free from the element flourine.

became saturated with the beauty of Spanish architectural design, with which in time, he was to take the greatest liberties; only to increase the beauty and the utility of Spanish structures of all types. He died suddenly in 1933, believing that Florida would regain its popularity as a resort.

THE MEN'S CLASS
The Mens Class (undenominational) meets every Sunday morning in the Hotel Scharbauer Crystal ball room at 9:45 o'clock. A fifteen minute song service of familiar hymns is held prior to the regular meeting. Mayor Marvin C. Ulmer and Judge Charles L. Kalproth are the teachers. All men are invited.

MANAGEMENT INSURANCE

Banks buy many varieties of insurance to give added protection to their customers.

Management insurance, insurance that a bank will continue to be managed soundly and economically, cannot be bought, but it is the most important protection of all.

It exists in the names, the character and experience of the men who serve as directors and officers of this bank. They are guaranties, we feel, that conservative policies, adapted to the needs of the community, will continue to safeguard the interests of depositors, borrowers and public alike.

QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING

What happens to my money when I deposit it in the bank?

UNDER normal conditions your money goes into active business use. When you deposit bills or coins your account is credited on our books. A reasonable amount of cash for "till money" is kept on hand to meet the daily requirements of our customers. In the case of checks, when collected, they are credited to your account and deducted from some other account in this bank, or some other bank, thus completing a business transaction. Reserves, as required by law, and additional funds as desired are kept in other banks payable to us on demand. A part of our deposits is invested in government bonds and other sound, readily marketable securities. A part is loaned to individual customers and well-managed business enterprises, which helps the general business life of this community.

Children Forget They Remember

By Olive Roberts Barton

Memory is particularly strange in children. One never can tell what will register and what will be forgotten, or rather, not retained at all.

The younger the child, the more odd are the examples of experiences retained. A baby may retain impressions or haunting visions of people once known, but the outline never stays very clear, unless some extreme event brings certain pictures to the surface in later years. As the child gets a little older, say three or four, memory is confused with imagination, in many cases. He is so engrossed with new life and new happenings by the minute, that what has gone before is held by a mere thread. If something occurs to segregate the picture of that event, then, there it is, as clear as daylight.

Remembering Delayed
One example of this is that of the little boy who saw his father strike down his mother. She died and the police questioned the boy for hours. One day, four months later, the nurse in the Children's Home was bathing him. In the meantime he had gone on quite happily with his play and new companions, seemingly erasing from his mind all the tragedy of that fatal day.

Suddenly he said, "He stabbed her. I saw him. And she didn't get up." "Who?" asked the startled nurse. "My mother. My daddy did it. I saw him." And this four-year old babe continued with the whole story. He had actually forgotten, or blurred the day's events, in the excitement of living, in spite of close but kindly questioning. They thought he knew nothing about it. One lonely day, some lingering thought of his home and mother brought facts to the top of his memory. And so it is with all small children.

"Three Men on a Horse", which as a stage play is now well into its second year on Broadway and still going strong—and which has toured the country in seven road shows—comes in film form to the Ritz Theatre today and tomorrow. There is a grand cast headed by Frank McHugh and Joan Blondell. McHugh, whose faintly-queerulous laugh and outlandish antics have made millions laugh for the last six years—is cast as Erwin (pronounced Oiw-in)—a timid and hen-pecked writer of greeting cards—who keeps to himself his weird gift of picking the winner in horse races. He has a book in which he notes his prognostications and imaginary winnings until his wife finds it—and thinks he is two timing. Carol Hughes has the role of Oiw-in's weepy wife. His boss, Carver—played by Guy Kibbee, with bald and bland pomposity—has one day ordered Oiw-in to do no less than fifty Mother's Day greeting verses—before the noon whistle blows. To add to his distress, his wife, Audrey, has upbraided him for his stupidity—and in desperation he hotfoots it to the gin mill of which Ed Kennedy is barkeep and bouncer—to drown his troubles in drink. There fate overtakes him. At a nearby table are three small-time gangsters—played with rough-neck bravado by Allen Jenkins, Teddy Hart and Sam Levene—the latter two from the Broadway stage production. They are discussing the races—and the timid Oiw-ins dares to speak up and give them a tip on the winner. They give him the laugh, and bet on their own favorite—who loses. They realize Oiw-in's uncanny gift after several other tries—and without asking his permission—imprison him. Joan, best girl of one of the boys, guards him.

Fourteen Clubs? Willie Has Three

Willie Macfarlane, noted golf pro, isn't going to worry much about the U. S. G. A. edict that, effective in 1938, tournament golfers can carry only 14 clubs. Willie's carrying only three in this picture. The recent winner of the Nassau Open received the miniature set from a young admirer.

The law sets up a maximum and a minimum for benefits, but the average rate of benefits is 50 per cent of the weekly wage. With the following examples, you may take your own present wage and determine just what you could expect to receive if you become unemployed. (1) All persons who have a wage of more than $30 a week will receive the maximum benefits—$15.00 a week. (2) Those whose wage falls between $10 a week and $30 a week will receive an amount equal to one-half their weekly wage. If your pay was $20 a week, your benefit, if totally unemployed, will be $10. (3) Those whose wage is between $10 a week and $6.25 a week are entitled to benefits of $5 a week. Those whose wage is less than $6.25 a week will receive an amount equal to three-fourths of the weekly wage. If you are getting $6 a week and become unemployed, then you will get $4.50 a week.

The Effect of Part-Time Work On Benefits

Question 3: "Suppose I lose my job but have a chance to get another at considerably less money, say a part-time job. Would my taking the part time job deprive me of benefits? In other words, could I make more money by not working?" Answer: As was said before, this law was designed to encourage employment, not unemployment. Therefore, it has been worked out so that the man with part-time work will have a larger income than the man who is totally unemployed. You are eligible for limited benefits if you are "partially unemployed." The law says a man is partially unemployed when he ceases, in a new job, an amount "less than six-fifths" of the amount he would have received in compensation had he been unable to find part-time work.

Example: Suppose you were making $30 a week and lost your job. Being totally unemployed, you would be entitled to $15 per week as compensation. However, you get a part-time job paying $18 per week. The sum of $18 equals exactly six-fifths of $15; therefore, you would not be entitled to any benefits. But if your new wage is only $12, your wage is less than six-fifths of the compensation you are entitled to. Therefore, you are entitled to "partial employment benefits." The question now is—How much will I get?

The law says that in such cases the benefit shall be an amount equal to the difference between the possible weekly benefit ($15 in your case) and five-sixths of your new wage. Your new wage is $12. Five-sixths of $12 is $10.

The difference between $15 and $10 is $5, which would be the amount of your benefit. Now, this $5 added to your wage of $12 gives you a total income of $17.

Therefore, it paid you to get part-time employment. If you have any questions concerning the various phases of this law as it affects employers or workers, you can have your questions answered by writing to E. B. Anderson, chairman, Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, Austin.

Shirley, in China, Does as Chinese Do In Remarkable Role In New Film

Now she's in China! Who? None other than Shirley Temple! She even talks and sings Chinese, and she takes charge of a fascinating romance, faces danger in glittering Shanghai, performs in a Chinese Theatre and, in short, plays the most unusual role she's ever had, in her new and most thrill-filled picture "Stowaway," which shows today through Tuesday at the Yucca Theatre. It's a picture you "must" list—with a gripping story, a glamorous cast of great stars, Gordon and Reuel's latest song hits, and—first, last and always—the incomparable Shirley!

Little Miss Temple plays the role of a little orphaned waif adrift in China, a victim of the bandits. She becomes an unwitting stowaway on a cruise liner on which Robert Young, a bored millionaire, Alice Faye, and the latter's mother-in-law-to-be are traveling. Shirley brings Alice and Young together, much to the chagrin of the older woman, who promptly cables her son, Alice's fiance, to meet the boat at Hong Kong. Meanwhile Shirley, Alice and Young go out to do the town and have a grand lark. Shirley winning a prize in a local theatre by singing in Chinese.
