Yeah, this is a great area. Where else can you have a community celebration like Bull Town Days '70 and a good rain like fell Monday morning all in the same week?

* * * * * * * History students and old timers will, we think, find the story in Section II of this week's Blade especially interesting. Written by Eulalia Sprawls Hecox, who now lives in Paradise, California, the story tells of her memories of this area back in the Teens, when she taught school here. Many of the names she mentions are still known here. We're truly grateful to Mrs.

Celebration Features Galaxy Of Activities

This is Bull Town Days week in Bovina!

The seventh annual celebration officially gets underway tomorrow (Thursday) and will continue through Saturday.

Highlight of the three days of action-packed festivities will be the free barbeque scheduled for Friday afternoon at 6 p.m. Some 3,000 people are expected for the meal. The celebration will feature several new activities during that time.

* * * * * * * * * * *

Open jack-pot calf roping will kick off the celebration. It is scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday in the roping arena. Admission charge is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Hecox for the story and the pictures which accompany it. Her address, for those interested in corresponding with her: Mrs. Eulalia Sprawls Hecox 5785 Fickett Lane Paradise, Calif. 95969 * * * * * * Surprise. Surprise. Surprise. But not really. The professional football players ended their threatened strike in time to get this year's season started right on schedule. They didn't miss a single TV commercial.

We're glad they're playing and appreciate the opportunity to watch them on the boob tube, but we get disgusted when they bluff a strike for more financial benefits when they already have a better deal than they know what to do with.

It's our guess that playing football is more lucrative for them than some other occupation or else they'd been engaged in that other occupation.

There's nothing wrong with the players having an organization with which to get better deals for themselves, but most anything can be overdone and they almost overdid this year's threatened strike. And they didn't get all the things they were bargaining for, though they probably got more than they were entitled to at that.

Something else that's hard to understand is why a few of the big name stars turn against the game, or at least quit it, when the game is what put them in a position to afford to quit. That's kinda like biting the hand that's fed 'em, it seems from here, and shows complete selfishness and disrespect for their fans and fellow players.

As we said, we like a professional game on television as well as the next fellow, but seems like it would be better if we didn't have to read and hear about the players' personal bellyaches.

If they don't like the game. don't play it.

The finishing touches are being put on this year's community celebration ---- Bull Town Days '70.

To say there'll be a lot of things to see and do in the next three days is an understatement. Folks who take part or attend just half the activities will be plenty tired come Saturday night, we'll guarantee.

They will also have had a heap of fun. That, too, we'll guarantee.

There's so many things hapbening, it's difficult to say that any one is more important than any other, but the thing that traditionally attracts the most people is the free barbeque supper. This is as it should be, we'd guess. Not only is the meal and have it ready to go on the free to those attending, but the food is as good as money can buy. When you take the best beef | to be finished with the barbein the world, prepare it as it should be and put it on a plate with trimmings of equal quality, you have something that just about anybody is happy with. To prepare such a supper and "invite the world" to attend is a tremendous undertaking. And that's another understatement. We're proud to be a part of an area where the people have that much hospitality and energy.

Immediately after the queen contest, the spotlight shifts to Bovina Schools auditorium. The Bull Town Days variety show will open the curtain at 8:30 p.m.

The show, titled "The Roaring 20's to the Roaring 60's," under the direction of Mrs. Mike Barraza, will feature a number of skits and variety acts, with many talented Bovinians performing their specialty acts.

The show traditionally plays to standing-room-only crowds and the admission is $1 per family.

Winners in the beard growing, cow calling and queen contests will be announced at intermission of the show. Awards will be presented to the winners.

A chuckwagon breakfast at Bovina Gin yard will get Bull Town off to an early start Friday. Serving starts at 7 and continues until 9 a.m. Members of Bovina Roping Club will prepare and serve scrambled eggs, sausage, bacon and hot biscuits to give every Bull Towner enough energy to carry them through a busy day of activities.

Old-timers will begin registering at City Hall at 10 a.m. Bovina Woman's Study Club is in charge of handling the registration and community basket lunch to follow. The lunch is scheduled for noon in the Masonic Lodge Hall, and everyone is invited.

Also beginning at 10 a.m. and lasting until 2 p.m. are horsemanship activities at the roping arena. Awards to top contestants

An art auction by Galley Alley will be a new attraction at Bull Town Days 1970. Scheduled for Friday afternoon following the gun fight, Houston Bartlett will auction several paintings by local artists. Sponsored by Galley Alley, a commission from the proceeds of the auction will be placed in the general fund for Bull Town Days. Remainder of the funds will be used for projects of the new business venture, Paintings to be auctioned are on display this week at business places in town. Approximately 15 paintings will be placed on auction. Paintings now on display are by Billy Whitecotton, Mrs. Tom Caldwell, Mrs. J. A. Rushing, Mrs. Jerry Wright, Mrs. Neal Mager, Mrs. Jerry McClaren und Mrs. Tom Beauchamp. Several more paintings are expected to be added to this group.

Cantaloupe harvest will begin Monday and will be in full swing before the week is over, men predicted this week. Fewer braceros will be needed than officials expected in the Bovina area due to the small amount of hand cotton picking scheduled for this fall.

Money making projects have been planned to gain proceeds to be used for the care of the Oklahoma Lane cemetery, according to announcement made this week, and workers are asking citizens to aid in the worthy project.

Gateway Produce Co. will begin harvesting part of its mixed vegetable crop this week.

New players, new coaches and new hopes will be featured at the first football practice session Monday.

School teacher picture here at the moment isn't a pretty one, Superintendent Warren Morton reports. Five vacancies exist.

Clovis Country Club was the scene of a semi-formal party honoring young people of the community Friday evening. Host and hostess for the party were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wilson. Elaine Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Fuller, rated one of the eight flute chairs in the concert band at summer band camp at West Texas College in Canyon this week.

Mrs. J. E. Owens hosted the Quilting Club Thursday afternoon in her home.

will be given in barrel racing, pole bending, western pleasure and flag racing. Pony express races are also tentatively scheduled. C. E. Trimble will be in charge of activities there. There will be two divisions; 13 and under and 14 and over. There will be an entry fee of$2 for each event. Everyone is invited to bring a horse and participate.

Beginning at 4 p.m. Friday, the Bull Town Days parade will wind through Bovina, with awards being given in three categories; floats, junior and senior riding clubs.

The Clovis Shriners Drum and Bugle Corps will be a new attraction in this year's parade. Invitations have been sent to several Shriners groups and to the Amarillo Old Model "A" Club.

Downtown Bovina will be roped off Friday morning in preparation for the free barbeque to be served at 6 p.m. At 5 p.m. in the downtown block, the fiddler's contest will get underway, Fiddlers' will compete for cash prizes of $50, $35 and $15.

Over 2,000 pounds of barbequed boneless chuck will be served to hungry Bull Towners, along with pinto beans, onions, and sliced cantaloupe.

A mock gun battle will be staged by the Amarillo Gun Fighters Club during the barbeque. Also, an art auction by Galley Alley will be conducted during that time period.

At 8:15, awards for the winners in the days events will be presented. Following this, the square dance contest and downtown Eastview Addition. square dancing will take over the spotlight.

For members of the younger generation who favor a different paving while others didn't, type of dancing, "The Chords" of Amarillo will provide the music for dancing at the old Hartwell Machinery building on Highway 60. Admission is $2 per person and the dance starts at 9 and continues until midnight.

Mock Shoot-Out

Gunfighters

A mock gun fight conducted by members of Amarillo Gun Fighters' Club will be a new feature attraction at the seventh annual Bull Town Days celebration.

The gun fight will be staged in downtown Bovina during the barbecue Friday afternoon.

Ace Howard, who heads the gun fighters group, says the show will last approximately 30 minutes and consist of some 20 people, including four "saloon girls."

Howard, a former Hollywood stuntman, says the show will consist of some members of the group coming off the tops of downtown buildings.

The gunfighters have performed at Dodge City, Kansas, Clovis, Fritch and Clarendon. "We think the gun fighting show will be a fine addition to the Bull Town Days program by providing even more en-tertainment and excitement," Dolph Moten, general chairman of BTD '70, said in announcing this addition to the schedule.

Some Common Words

"QUIZ" - This word was deliberately created, in 1780, by a Dublin theater-owner on a bet that he could invent a meaningless word and get people to use it. He and his friends painted the word "quiz" on fences, barns, and pavements all night long - and soon people were asking what it meant. Quiz became ask - and spread all over the world.

Money may not explain everything but it makes clear the motives of many people.

1/4 cup sugar 1 teaspoon baking powder 3/4 teaspoon nutmeg

1 cup mashed fully ripe banana (about 3) 1/4 cup water

1/4 cup corn oil

Sift together flour, corn starch, sugar, baking powder and nutmeg into bowl. Stir in bananas and water. Heat about 1 tablespoon corn oil in skillet over medium heat. Drop batter by tablespoons full into skillet, flattening slightly. Fry until golden brown on each side, about 3 minutes total. Add additional oil as necessary. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes about 14 fritters.

Hearty and flavor-rich, the lean corned beef that comes in cans gives a decided lift to salads, making them fully satisfying main dishes with a bonanza of flavor.

Here is a handsome molded salad that combines the flaked meat with a delightfully seasoned blend of tomato soup, cream cheese, celery and mayonnaise. Horsemanship Set Friday

Bull Town Friday will find horsemanship activities at the roping arena. Competition starts at 10 a.m. and continues until 2 p.m. C. E. Trimble is in charge of the events. Awards will be presented to top contestants in barrel racing, pole bending, western pleasure and flag racing.

Competition in each event will be held in two divisions; 13 and under and 14 and over. Contestants may enter up to time of the event. There will be an entry fee of $2 in each event.

Plans at the present are to include 8-man pony express races in the activities.

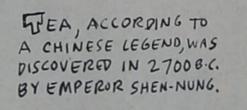

KEEPS GROWING AFTER 10,000,000 YEARS

It takes about 120 years of drippings to form one cubic inch of cave onyx at the famed Caverns of Luray in Virginia, but because the natural wonder is already ten to 12 million years old, it stalactites (growing down from the ceiling) and stalagmites (growing up from the ground) are big enough to attract more than 400,000 visitors a year.

OOPSI --- Pilot Duane McDaniel was uninjured late Saturday afternoon when this Stearman 450 spray plane crashed and flipped while spraying grain sorghum on the Buck Ellison farm west of Bovina. McDaniel, who has been employed by American Dusting Co. here for about a week, walked away from the accident. The plane was considered a total loss.

Days parade promises to be one of the best, according to parade marshal Edwin Lide.

Invitations have been sent to area riding clubs and approximately 10 clubs are expected to participate in the parade. Clovis Shriners Drum and Bugle Corps will be a new feature in the parade this year. Old Model "A" Club from Amarillo has tentative plans to participate with several antique cars.

The parade will begin at 4 p.m. Friday afternoon, from the baseball park on North Street. It will proceed east to Third Street, turn south on Third and travel to the Dimmitt Highway, turn west one block, then pro-

Back In Teens --

Ex-Resident Tells Of People, Places. Events

By Eulalia Sprawls Hecox When in 1910 the Bovina School board hired Mr. Joe E. Burnam to teach their school, as his next door neighbor at Scranton, I said, "Joe, if you need another teacher, let me know." Coming to Bovina was that simple for me. Besides my brand new teacher's certificate was burning a hole in my pocket!

At 17, I came from home on the first trains, I had ever been on by myself. From Putnam there was no direct way, so I came via the T.&P., The Orient, the Ft. Worth and Denver, and from Amarillo, the Santa Fe. I had a long sharp hatpin for protection and felt equal to any emergency. In Amarillo about 5:00 A.M., I nearly froze to death--the hatpin did not help a bit!

On October 17, I became the second teacher in the school. My schoolhouse was an old residence near the waterworks, | went to our first teachers' in- | and Mabel Killam at the XIT |

That morning all of us went | trustees. The list reads: Hoghto Mr. Burnam's school, where I was introduced. With about 20 children of the first three grades running ahead; I set off. No one had thought to give mea key, so we calmly burglarized a front porch window, climbed through and were in business.

My teaching was interesting from the first day. Within a short time, out in the country, I found a piano for rent. The Burnams boarded IT and me for $14 a month. Several of the parents were eager for piano lessons for their children, which I taught after school or on Saturdays. Within a few weeks we | er. She and I boarded with Mark | Townsend kept us there.

After we married we went back to school, had a program and "dinner on the ground." (Some ask, 'What's that?') I don't remember who taught there next year except I believe Madge stayed.

During the years Farwell, Friona and Bovina had contests in baseball, basketball, foot racing and such. Some of these were inter-school as were the spelling, arithmetic and speaking, while the athletics were more community events. One year Mrs. Aldridge coached Minnie Magee on her speech; she won in the county and went to the finals at Canyon City. We were so proud!

My husband was one of the first two men drafted in our county. When he went into the army in the spring of 1917, I worked second trick at the depot. (I had worked a short time before this, along with him to learn.) My brother, Aubrey Sprawls worked third trick and lived with me at our house righty by Berggrens, which we had just bought. He and Roy kept me from having to climb the semaphore pole in the absence of electricity. It is still a wonder that the big old Mallet engines did not sweep meup along with the hoops that I had to hand to the trainmen.

so my friends did not want me same friends' insistance, I went to Canyon College for a short refresher course and then became the fourth teacher in Bovina School. Mr. and Mrs. Waller from Hereford were teaching and if I am correct, a Miss Bertha Dameron was the third found no place in our register to record these days; besides teacher.

My own family helped me so much while Roy was away, else I could hardly have taught. Aubrey was with me all the time. In early 1918, my sister, Emma Ray and baby Owen came while her husband was in camp, but joined him later. She was such a help with our 'home work' and the baby was a joy. In the spring my sister Mabel stayed with us, took piano lessons and did much of my accompanying our school singing. An old birthday invitation, I found says, "Helen (Lambert), Leroy (Berggren) and Mabel (Sprawls) invite you to their birthday party, May 10th, at the Berggrens."

MORE CUSTOMS Much of our time was taken up with trips for the mail, going to drugstore, Mercantile, bank, or just to watch the trains. My diary tells of school, our walks, the weather, the churches and our recreation.

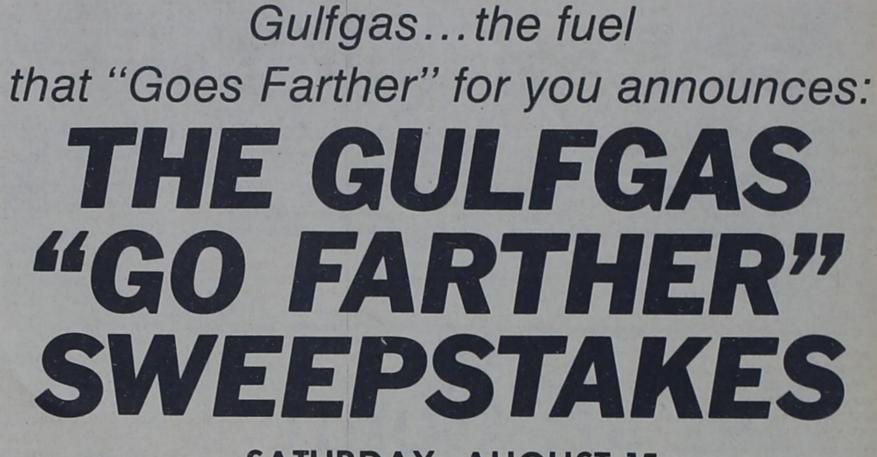

The parents who had either a piano or reed organ wanted music lessons for their children. These I gave after school or on Saturdays. The Burnams' home became a good place for "sings" or to hear plano music. You music lovers will re-tunes, such as, Perfect Day, Sympathy, Redwing, Memories, Angel Voices and Dream of Old Mexico. We nearly wore out Floreine Waltz as it was one of the new syncopated tunes.

We ladies did mostly our own cooking and swapped recipes, borrowed cups of flour, sugar or starch. Sharing our Everlasting Yeast was very important to keep it fresh. Bread and friendship were mixed well! Since we usually made our own clothes, we bought patterns, cloth, buttons and thread with care. And how happy we were to get hold of a new Delineator to study late styles.

We were told that Bovina was the largest local cattle-shipping point in the world, since water and grass could be had right up to the stock-loading pens. Possibly because of this we had a bank. My important $45 school check came by mail and I had to hunt up two trustees to sign it before I could either cash or bank it. It was fortunate for me, that my trustee, D. O. Stallings worked there.

It's a wonder that the whole town's people were not fat! Many nights we met at one home or another and always, always popped corn, roasted goobers (peanuts) and made candy, candy, candy. I see my weight kept close to 115 pounds and our men were lean and hungry looking, not fat at all. There were so few young people that it took whole families to play games at parties. Hannah Johnson from Nebraska, spent the winter with her sister, Mrs. Berggren, and how I loved her -- a young lady for me a friend. Later we were so excited when the Olivers got an unmarried lady for a cook. (Strangely, I have no name.) While I usually graced the "Amen" corner of the Baptist church, every Sunday morning, I don't know what Bovina would have done without the Epworth League of the Methodist church, Sunday afternoons. The Catholics met in the old school house; there were people of other denominations, but all helped with and enjoyed the League. I have one picture of about 50 people made after League. We were Sunday I see I played the variations of Sweet By and By on the League program ... Maybe that gave me strength to eat goobers and apples and jump the rope with the insistant kids afterwards --- and who knows? Maybe it gave me the calm I needed next day when a scary trustee visited our school.

On the 24th of March we had a spring-cleaning day. The kids brought rakes and little wagons, so we had a bang-up bonfire of trash and tumbleweeds at recess. In the afternoon, we, children and I took in the Dog ravine seemed to have been the along with most of the ladies of | and Pony show in the afternoon.

As I ran by a small tree the terrible wind wrapped my blue skirt around it tight. Honestly, I just tore that skirt all to pieces and straightened out all the hooks. Why, that skirt could no more be patched than a hole without

Before we caught the train Sunday morning, Mr. Britain, Mrs. Stallings' father, took us to his barn to see his animals and some deer skins and one wild hog skin. I seemed to have regretted that I was not in Sunday School as I had not missed since coming to Bovina, With all the beautiful green country and flowers, how foolish to feel that God could be worshipped in a building only.

History Of Bovina -- |

How exciting it was on May 5th, when we knew it was to be our last day at the little school house. The children made paper hats; used sticks for guns and had an old tin can for a drum and marched straight as soldiers all day. We cleaned up the place as well as we could, then made a flag out of an old window curtain. We wired this flag to the post near where we had first come in through the window. Who says we did not leave our school with flying colors!

Teaching in these rooms had been a monumental experience for me. I had paddled a few (mostly my own ignorance) settled disputes, doctored skins and bruises, and carried a fainting boy to the hydrant. I have eaten strange foods, and even taught them some of the three "R's" and loved them all. Maybe that is better done in a small house.

When we got to the new schoolhouse on Monday, it seemed so big; there were so many others around; we felt sort of loose and hardly knew how to have our usual lessons. Sunday, May 7th was one of those still, perfect days. Toward evening three couples of us went a few miles north to a lake and took our supper. My picture shows Frank, Barney and Ed Ross and Eva Killam, Hannah and I were the girls. The horse and buggy shows how we got there. The men (bless their hearts) insisted that we not worry about a thing and let them bring the eats. We loved that idea.

Can you modern young men top this menu?? PURE FUN

Every teacher remembers a precious Friday or some other day, granted to them in certain school years. My Memory Day came on Saturday, the 27th of May, 1911.

Six of us ladies decided to go for a good long ride that afternoon. I was thrilled because we had to go out into the country, round up and bring some horses to get one for Mrs. Tallings. The other ladies were, Mrs. Berggren, Mrs. Delano, Eva Killam, Hannah and I.

Aubrey and I were able to care for each other inside the house. But we needed the soups, puddings or freshly-cooked eggs our neighbor women brought in.

Mr. Berggren, Jim Martin, and Mr. Potts, a section foreman, and others came to our place to fill our coal scuttle; to throw fodder to our cow and turn in the calf with her. Then they'd have to break the ice on the watering trough for the snow was deep-deep. We appreciated the help of these friends and ever will.

In 1919-20 several babies were coming along. Some little misses were Imogene and Aletha Hastings and Catherine Wilson, Our Max, Alleen Moning's son, Melvin Stagner, Minnie and Marx Wells' boy, and someone you call Dean Hast-ings.... Am I right?

Girls will be judged on horsemanship, 60 per cent; and personality, appearance and beauty, 40 per cent. Judging of horsemanship is based on a riding routine performed by each contestant. She is also interviewed by the judges.

Contestants must wear blue jeans, white shirt and a straw hat during the competition at the roping arena. They may wear more colorful western outfits at the Queen presentation, however.

The new queen and two run-ners-up will be formally an-nounced at intermission of the variety show, Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. in Schools auditorium.

Mrs. Robert Read is chairman of the contest.

Rules specify that candidates must be between the ages of 14 and 21, at least a freshman in high school, and never married.

Queen candidates and their sponsors are Debra Kirkpatrick, Don's Medicine Chest; Vickie Kunselman, Gaines Hardware Co.; Christi Trimble, Bovina Roping Club; Pam Wilson, Parmer County Cattle Company; Brenda Dyer, Bovina Woman's Study Club; Holly Davis, Mustang Drive-In; Ruth Anne Hough, Bonds Oil Co.; and Terri Willard, Bovina Dry Goods.

begins at 10 a.m.," says Mrs. Robert Read, show secretary. | "We hope to have at least 100 entries this year."

R. C. Barham, Carrizozo, N.M., will judge this year's show.

Last year's show attracted 82 entries and the 1967 show had 93 entries. The 1964 show had the largest number of entries to date, 134.

Entry fee for halter and per-formance classes is $7. Junior cutting fee is $12.50 plus $7.50 office charge. Senior cutting fee is $17.50 plus $7.50 office charge.

Trophies will be awarded to grand and reserve champions and to first place class winners with rosettes to second through sixth place. A high point trophy will also be awarded. Bovina Quarterhorse Show is American Quarterhorse Association approved.

Competition will include 23 halter classes and 10 performance classes. Featured in the performance classes are junior and senior western pleasure, junior and senior reining, barrel racing - all ages, junior and senior roping, junior and senior cutting and high point trophy.

The public is invited and there will be no admission charge. The Roping Club will again sponsor a concession stand at the arena during the show.

Loses 128 Pounds

'Big Nick' Trienen Not So Big Anymore

And when it comes to losing weight, he's probably Bovina's No. 1 expert. That's because he lost 128 pounds in 18 months, from the big 348 that earned him his trade name, to the 220 where he now tips the scales.

"How did I lose it? By eating three meals a day and what I needed instead of what I wanted." Big Nick, Popular Bovina bachelor, says.

"I learned to eat all over again--just like a doctor told me once I'd have to do."

He took no weight reducing pills, but leaned heavily on will power.

Back in Nebraska where Nick Trienen was reared, even during the depression he says the family had plenty of meat and potatoes.

"You always hear of hungry people all over the world," he commented. "I never remember being any other way." By the time he was 17, Big Nick weighed 218--big enough for anyone's football team. He didn't play football though, because "I was born 30 years too soon. I had to go home after school and milk the cows." World War II came along and Big Nick joined the U.S. Marine Corps. When he came out at age 21, he still weighed 218 and stood six feet, two inches tall.

During the next 10 years Big Nick gained 138 pounds, "I could have reached 600," he says, "but had to start watching what I ate."

The jovial Bovina businessman, who became known over

Big Nick isn't so big any- ing weight when he was 40. "Only trouble," he says, "I never became 40," using the same dodge many women do about their ages.

People always liked for him to eat at their tables, since he always enjoyed good cooking. Then, too, after getting the trade name "Big Nick" he really didn't want to lose weight and lose his image. His Big Nick Machinery Company is one of the largest in the Panhandle. He began coming to Bovina in 1946, but went into business here about 10 years ago. Finally, however, the day dawned that Big Nick decided to lose weight. One doctor told him he couldn't lose without help. He did, though. He changed his eating habits.

Before going on a diet, Big Nick ate potatoes and bread three times a day, six dips of ice cream daily, and salad with Roquefort dressing at least twice a day. Those were the first items he took from his menu.

"I eat in a restaurant all the time," Nick said. "That makes it easier. You're not tempted with things you'd like to have."

Big Nick figured out a diet himself. First of all, he began eating three meals a day, regularly, not varying over 30 minutes from one day to the next. For breakfast, he ate two poached eggs (no toast) or a bowl of Special K cereal with no sugar, and plenty of black coffee. At lunch, Nick ate things like fried shrimp, a bowl of cottage

'Big Nick' --

If he ate both, he ate less of each. Salad with vinegar and oil filled out that meal.

At night, he ate eight ounces of meat and vegetables (but never corn, potatoes or dried beans.)

A snack while watching TV included an apple or an orange. Once a week, Big Nick treated himself to a baked potato with sour cream--never butter.

Along with the diet, Big Nick took his old Marine Corps exercises, mainly "pounding my stomach."

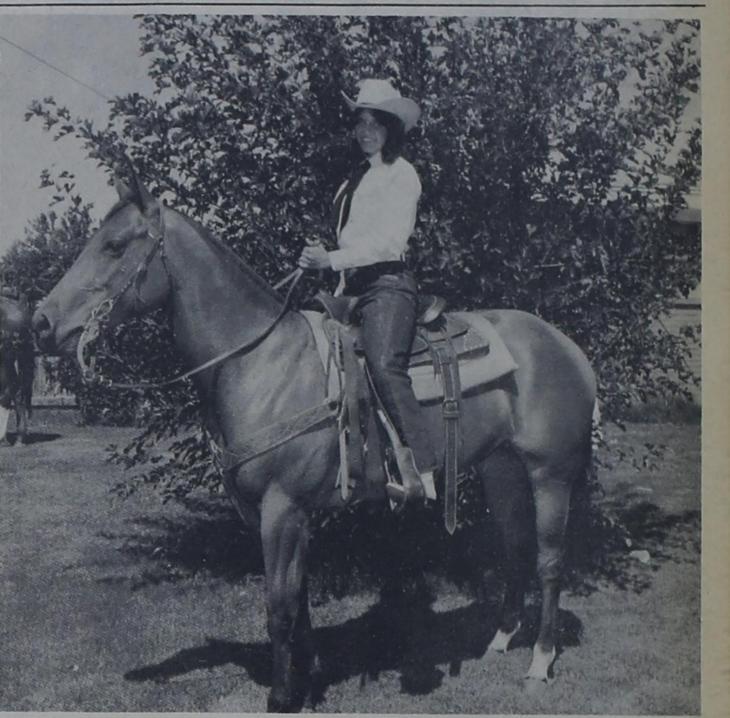

"I sure didn't want to lose all that weight and keep that stomach," he said.

By last December, Big Nick had reached his goal -- 220 -about six months before he thought he would.

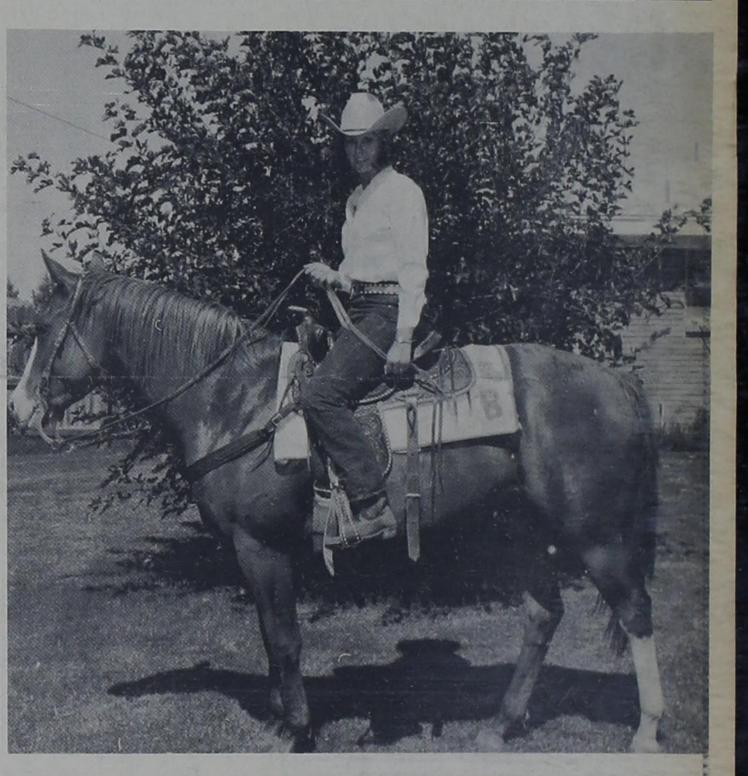

"I never lost over 10 pounds a month. If I did, I increased my calory intake a little." Since then he's been content to "hold his own." He eats more than when on the diet, but much less than before he started it.

Besides pounds, Nickhadlost from a 21 and one-half size shirt (which had to be tailor made) to a 17 and one-half. He's lost eight inches around the waist and from a size 12D shoe to a size 11D shoe.

He's still "Big Nick" though to everyone who knows him. After all, someone who weighs 220 and stands 6-2 isn't exactly what one would call "small

Whisker Judging Thursday

Men of the Bovina area, sporting various styles of facial adornment, will get a chance to show off their whiskers in the Bull Town Days beard growing contest Thursday night at 6:30 at the roping arena.

Men of the community who have neglected buying a shave permit may find themselves in the Bull Town jail if they are not sporting enough stubble to qualify as a beard grower.

Shave permits may be purchased from Darrel Read for the price of $2.

Judges for the contest will be from out of town. Last year's winners were Eugene Jackson, Happy, first place; Larry Scott, Bovina, second place; and Carl Bryan, Happy, third place.

Winners in previous years have been Pat Quintana and Larry Scott.

Approximately a dozen entries are expected in the contest.
