BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—"Time is on our side," say the grim, determined opponents of Roosevelt's proposal to liberalize the supreme court. "Time is on our side," echo the supporters of the plan.

Anyway, time will tell. Neither side is rushing the issue.

The opposition hopes to pile up enough pressure to block the measure despite claims of administrationists the already have a small edge in the Senate. Attacks by some state legislatures, bar associations and other conservative groups, as well as an overwhelmingly hostile press, will be supplemented by further organized effort. This includes the work of Publisher Frank F. Gannett's National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government. Telegrams and letters reaching Capitol Hill are preponderantly against the Roosevelt bill.

While picked from both sides broadcast their sentiments by day, the president dines his arguments into members of Congress at night. Roosevelt's chief arguments are: the demonstration of popular approval he received in the election which he considers as mandate; the New Deal measures—which he insists can only be had under a changed supreme court; his recognized effectiveness over the radio which he hopes to utilize as never before when he feels the time is ripe for a supreme appeal to the people; and finally, patronage—which can be likened to a stick with which a farmer could either beat a horse or use to hold a bunch of hay before the animal's nose to keep it going.

Some of the antagonistic Democrats and liberals Roosevelt has been able to at least partly realign are working for a compromise. But Roosevelt, while he may not hold out ultimately for his proposal in toto, will not compromise on any basis which does not enable him to establish a liberal majority on the supreme court.

Would Be Delighted
The administration is interested in the bill permitting justices to retire on full pay ($20,000 a year) for three reasons:

1. It wants to let the public know the aged justices it wants off the bench would be "taken care of."
2. It will be delighted if two or three of the justices take advantage of the retirement privilege when the bill passes. (Heretofore Congress has passed a special pension act when a justice retired.)
3. Member of Senate and House see in vacancies caused by retirement their only chance of getting on the supreme court, since law forbids any member to occupy an office created during the current congressional session.

Even Senator Borah favors a constitutional amendment for compulsory retirement at 75. Others would put the compulsory age at 70. Senator Wheeler wants an amendment permitting Congress to veto supreme court decisions. Some members say it might be all right to let Roosevelt appoint only two or three justices. Others have alternative schemes. This division among a considerable segment of the opposition, which professes willingness to do something about the court, is an advantage to Roosevelt, as long as he can hold his forces solidly behind his own measure.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 22.—When it comes to being well-informed on current events and public affairs generally, a group of 26 "co-eds" at the University of Texas is perhaps unexcelled in this respect by any group of similar size in this state. The reason for this claim is that these students are required to read these students are required to read carefully, column by column, 131 daily newspapers each day, and 620 weekly and 20 semi-weekly papers each week. They are employees of the Students Clipping Bureau of the university, a non-profit organization, operated for the sole purpose of aiding worthy young women students in financing their way thru that institution. All receipts of the bureau are deposited to its credit in the auditor's office of the university and the employees are paid out of that fund.

Since its establishment twenty years ago, the bureau has given employment to approximately six hundred girls. These part-time employees are paid at the regular University per hour schedule of rates, amounting to $20 a month. They are selected on the basis of actual need of the money and their ability, education and otherwise, to properly

Letters To Editor

To The Editor:
The general election last November indicates conclusively that the American people desire a change. But what kind of a change? How many people know the answer to this question? Now, if the people had been asked to vote upon the question of a higher standard of living and greater individual freedom as against economic scarcity, regimentation and less individual freedom there is no doubt the former question would have received an overwhelming majority. But unfortunately they were promised the former and voted for the latter.

Great economic and governmental principles that vitally affect the lives of 130,000,000 people far transcend mere individual personalities.

Mr. Roosevelt boasted he would either be the greatest president or the last. It is now clear he considers himself the last. In order to bring this about he seeks to override the Supreme Court. He has carried on an unseemly and relentless attack, through propaganda, upon the Supreme Court. In applying pressure upon individual members in the congress he is prepared to be ruthless, in order to gain votes necessary to put through his so-called court reform. Rodney Dutcher says, "The Roosevelt record on appointment of federal judges isn't pretty and it may become worse."

Let us see if the attack upon the Supreme Court is not, during the entire existence of the U. S. Supreme Court, it has held unconstitutional, either in whole or in part, less than one-tenth of one percent of more than 50,000 laws passed by the congress of the United States. That is a far better record than re presidents, can claim on votes. So, let's have facts and less fiction!

The Brookings Institution, the most conservative school of economics in the United States, in its research found that during 1929, the greatest year of the boom, we did not produce as much economic goods and services as our factories were able to have produced; but we did not consume all that we did produce. The reason we did not consume them is not that we did not need and desire them; but rather because we did not have the money with which to buy them. Why didn't we have the money? The majority of the people do not know why we do not have the necessary money with which to buy all that industry can produce. Neither do they know that the constitution of the United States provides the only method by which such money can be obtained and that the United States Supreme Court has without exception held every act of Roosevelt's pertaining to the money system unconstitutional. The Supreme Court said concerning Roosevelt's absurd money reform that it was not passing upon the wisdom of the act but upon its constitutionality. Hence it is quite clear that any legislation concerning money would most certainly be held unconstitutional.

We are a nation of consumers as well as producers. We should be able to consume all that we can produce. This would raise immeasurably our present standard of living. Let us not plow up cotton and kill hogs and cattle, but let us produce several times more than we now produce and consume it ourselves. H. R. 31, now pending in congress, tells how to do it; but it is not Roosevelt's MUST CALLEBERRY.

Hollywood Glamour Gals

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23. —Once upon a time a great movie studio imported a little French actress who had been attracting considerable attention in Europe.

She spoke almost no English, and was completely bewildered by shadowland, its people and their methods. She was delighted, though frightened, to learn that she was going to be a movie star from the start—a glamor girl, a haunting, exotic languorous, esoteric creature of fire and tenderness, passion and compassion.

She wondered whether she could be all those things. "Don't worry," said her new bosses, "the publicity department will take care of that."

So a big campaign was launched. The French actress was told just how to behave, and what to say to interviewers. Meanwhile, she was taken to the makeup department, and so completely remodeled that, every time she looked in a mirror, she felt like asking for an introduction to her new self.

She had the leading role in her first picture, and it was a pretty good picture, too. But there seemed to be an undercurrent of resentment in the reception given her by fans. They took with a grain of skepticism the ballyhoo that was hurled at them. They said, "We dare you to make us like her!"

This actress was not Simone Simon. She predated Mile. Simon by two years. Her name was Ketti Gallian.

Fans Like Her Now

Miss Gallian now is making a fresh start. Without fanfare. Without initial stardom. But it is a more auspicious beginning than that first experience. All Hollywood is talking about her. Fans like her, and send an impressive amount of mail. Her studio has her in mind for the top spot in an important forthcoming picture.

Soon she will be seen in two new pictures, but in secondary parts. One is "Espionage", with Edmund Lowe and Madge Evans; the second is "Stepping Toes", in which she unsuccessfully competes with Ginger Rogers for the love—or maybe the money—of Fred Astaire, after chasing him across two continents.

"Burned Up"

Most of the stories written about Miss Gallian tell how she heroically struggled with English and mastered it in three months. After three years, though, she still is at grips with our tricky language, and still is taking lessons.

Ketti Gallian

She has been asked not to sing French songs, read French books, or even go about socially with foreigners.

She goes about socially with a variety of people. "When you are not in love with anybody, or engaged, you do not like to go always with the same boy," she said. "I am inflamed."

"Inflamed, darling," prompted her secretary.

"Inflamed with the writers of stories who have engaged me to at least 200 men."

A Nice Girl

Miss Gallian was born in Nice. She finished her schooling in a convent in Italy just over the border from the French Riviera. After leaving the convent at 16, she joined her mother, who had opened a dressmaking shop in Nice. (Her parents were separated then.)

Today she is one of the best-dressed, or most strikingly dressed, actresses in Hollywood. But fashion didn't interest her at that time, so she went to Paris and kicked in the chorus of a big revue. Her name in those days was Katherine Galliano.

Came an understudy job in a theatrical company. The star fell ill and Mile. Galliano stepped into the role to become an overnight hit. That won her a place at the Paris Conservatory, where players for the national theater are trained.

After a year she was engaged to go to London for the leading feminine role (there was only one femi-ing thud, she found it hard to take lesser parts. She said "no" to so many offers that finally there were no more offers.

Miss Gallian, her mother, and her secretary live in a house in Laurel Canyon. Her bedroom is done in pink mirrors. That's right—pink mirrors. She can't cook doesn't like gardening, has no pets.

She never displays temperament at the studio because, she says, "it is very rude." But she blows off steam at home by yelling. They say you can hear her in Burbank.

THE END

Can Sshe Yell

She had the leading role in "Marie Galante," with Spencer Tracy, and in "Under the Pampas Moon," with Warner Baxter. Those two adventures in stardom spoiled her, she says.

INDIAN BROOM PICKED TO WIN 100 'G' SANTA ANITA HANDICAP

There Really Is Gold In Them Thar Hills

Seabiscuit Is Chief Threat at 114 Pounds

By MAX RIDDLE
NEA Service Turf Writer

ARCADIA, Cal., Feb. 23—Through our binoculars, the third running of the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap of Feb. 27 appears to be a battle between the Maj. Austin C. Taylor entry of Indian Broom and Special Agent and Mrs. Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit.

I like the entry.

Apparently none of the entries in the world's richest race is a great rouser. The mile and a quarter will be a long distance for them all. But Indian Broom holds a commanding position because of this. The son of Brooms and Kawita will have the fast running Special Agent to kill off any sprinter which tries to steal the show while his staminate rated off the pace.

Moreover, the others cannot afford to overlook Special Agent which has developed into a horse of parts himself.

Seabiscuit probably will remain a slight favorite, and if the son of Hardtack is replaced as such it no doubt will be by the Major Taylor pair.

BROOM AND SEABISCUIT HAVE PULLS IN WEIGHT

Seabiscuit and Indian Broom alone should produce plenty of thrills, and neither can afford to forget such as Rosemont, Time Supply, Mr. Bones, and Chanceview, with the A. C. T. Stable having an added threat in Special Agent.

Roman Soldier, which has it in him to take it all, Whooper, and Azucar are remaining at Hialeah

BOULDER DAM FOR AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, Australia, (AP)—Australia has just completed a Boulder Dam of its own which gives it the eighth largest irrigation project in the world. The reservoir which was constructed under the joint auspices of New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia with the Commonwealth's aid, covers 33,000 acres, and holds 1,250,000 acre-feet of water.

Los Angeles is the largest city in the United States; it covers more ground than New York.

Indian Broom and Seabiscuit are ready to run for a man's life. Both have slaughtered opponents in preliminaries.

Rosemont, third a year ago, carries top weight in the Santa Anita 124 pounds. Time Supply, second last winter, lugs 122; Mr. Bones, 120; Indian Broom, Red Rain and Accolade, 116, and Seabiscuit only 114.

For once the handicapper has treated Indian Broom lightly. It doesn't seem possible that Rosemont can give him eight pounds, or that Time Supply can give him six. Indian Broom already has smacked Mr. Bones with each carrying 118. What will happen when Indian Broom drops two pounds and Mr. Bones picks up a pair?

RED RAIN IS BIDDING FOR SIR THOMAS' TITLE

For this reason, if any opposition is going to materialize, it must come from Seabiscuit. Seabiscuit has been trimming everything on the west coast for some time past. He has been even better treated by Handicapper Webb Everett, since he has been whipping such as Time Supply at even weights.

This would be a spot for Red Rain to come through. At present the son of Pennant is bidding strongly for the title which Sir Thomas now holds as the world's greatest disappointment.

For that matter, none of the rest appear to have a chance to beat Indian Broom or Seabiscuit. But Santa Anita is offering a horse race. And perhaps you remember that, though practically all of the experts agreed that there really was no use in running last year's Kentucky Derby, Brevity somehow failed to have his nose in front at the finish.

Another Azucar may appear out of the Santa Anita clouds. And with 100 grand waiting for the winner, plenty will take a chance.

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein

It now definitely has been decided to issue coronation commemorative stamps, similar in size to those of the late King George's jubilee, for Great Britain's 45 colonies. There will be three values for each colony. The stamps will bear the portraits of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, in a setting of coronation emblems. There will be no bi-colors, and the names of the colonies will mark the only difference among the stamps.

In addition, the dominions and other possessions are planning coronation sets of varying types and values. The stamps will be on sale from May 12 to Dec. 31.

The Boulder Dam stamp has been withdrawn from sale at the philatelic agency in Washington.

Canal Zone has ordered a new 14-cent stamp from Washington, to replace the current American Indian stamp of that value, with the "Canal Zone" overprint. The only remaining U. S. overprinted stamps in this territory will be the 17-cent Wilson and 30-cent Bison.

Russia has prepared two new sets of stamps. One, in two designs and six values, commemorates the centenary of the death of A. S. Pushkin, famous Russian poet. The other set is in eight values, each illustrating a famous Russian structure.

Constipated 30 Years

"For thirty years I had stubborn constipation. Sometimes I did not go for four or five days. I also had awful gas bloating, headaches and pains in the back. Adierka helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want and never feel better. Sleep soundly all night and enjoy life."

—Mrs. Mabel Schott.

If you are suffering from constipation, sleeplessness, sour stomach, and gas bloating, there is quick relief for you in Adierka. Many report action in thirty minutes after taking just one dose. Adierka gives complete action, cleaning your bowel tract where ordinary laxatives do not even reach.

Dr. H. L. Shubb, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierka checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your bowels a real cleansing with Adierka and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and stubborn constipation. CH Drug Store.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUBS TO MEET IN NEW ORLEANS FEB. 26-27

A conference of International Relations Clubs from colleges and universities in the southwest will be held February 26 and 27 at Tulane University, New Orleans, La. by invitation of the university and in cooperation with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. This conference will be known as the Southwest International Relations Clubs Conference.

The principal Carnegie speakers will be Dr. Otto Nathan, for the Carnegie Endowment, who is a well known lecturer and at one time economic adviser to the German government; Miss Carol Riegelman, who is on the staff of the International Labor office in Geneva, and Miss Amy Hemmway Jones, division assistant of the Carnegie endowment.

Miss Jones is in charge of the International Relations Clubs work and will take part in the program as the endowment's representative.

Dr. Mark Swearingen, faculty adviser of the International Relations Club of Tulane university is in charge of the conference. International Relations Clubs in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas are expected to send representatives.

Officers of the conference are: President, Mr. Alfred M. Porth, Tulane University; vice president, C. D. Richardson, East Central State Teachers College, Oklahoma; recording secretary, Louis Shackelford, University of Arkansas and treasurer, Jack Bornemann, Tulane University.

Registration will be held Friday, February 26 from 9 to 11 a. m. followed by an opening session which will last until noon and at which Dean Rufus Harris of the College of Law, Tulane University and Mr. Porth, the president of the conference will welcome the delegates.

The vice president, Mr. Richardson, will reply and Miss Jones will deliver an address. At the luncheon which will be held from 12 noon to 1:30 p. m. Miss Riegelman will speak on the "International Labor Organiation." The subjects for the first session of the round tables which will come immediately after the luncheon and continue until 3 p. m. include the "Spanish Conflict," "American Foreign Policy in the Far East," "The New Pan-Americanism," "Dictatorship vs. Democracy," and the "League of Nations."

Miss Jones will preside at the next meeting from 3 to 4 p. m., which will be a discussion of club work and club problems. Delegates will attend a tea at Sophie Newcomb College from 4 to 5 p. m. and Dr. Nathan will speak at the banquet that evening on "Recent International Economic Developments and Peace."

The second day's meetings will end at a luncheon and will include the second session of round tables and an election of student officers with Miss Jones presiding.

Miss Riegelman is in this country in connection with the International Textile Conference which is to be held in Washington, D. C., in April. She was a member of the International Relations Club at Smith College, from which she was graduated, and has also done graduate work at Columbia University. Since then she has been engaged in international work devoting her time especially to the study of the work of the International Labor Organization, where she has been a member of the staff since 1935.

Dr. Nathan held an important post in official banking circles in Germany and was a director of the division for research on international economic problems for some time. Twice he was loaned to the Ministry of Finance for special work and in 1930 became economic adviser to the ministry. Taking a leave of absence from the German government in 1930 he came to the United States and was the guest of the Institute of Economics in Washington, D. C., and later lecturer at New York University. While in this country he received the ap-

Lindys' 'Flying Holiday' Plane Skims Path Over Three Continents

Lindy and Anne went alone on their flying holiday, but they did not lose the interest of the world as they took their "second honeymoon" over the 5000-mile area shown on the above map. Leaving London they skimmed over Europe, touched Italy, northern Africa and southwestern Asia, keeping each new destination a secret. Their route is indicated by the white line on the map. Top photo shows the Lindbergh plane as it dropped out of the skies to the Littoria Airport at Rome, and at left, Charles and Anne Lindbergh just after they stepped from their plane to be greeted by Gen. The International Relations Clubs are groups of students organized under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, in universities, colleges and normal schools for the study and discussion of international problems.

The purpose of the endowment in undertaking this work is to educate and enlighten public opinion. As Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the endowment, states officially, it is not to support any single view as how best to treat the conditions which now prevail throughout the world, but to fix the attention of students on those underlying principles of international conduct, of international law, and of international organization which must be agreed upon and applied if peaceful civilization is to continue.

International Relations Clubs are organized in many countries in the world. There are 649 clubs at present in continental United States and 164 in other parts of the world, including Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and all the British Dominions, the British Isles, the Far East, Iran, Iraq, Syria, Palestine and Egypt as well as in ten countries in Central and South America.

Colleges and universities in Texas are North Texas Agricultural College, University of Texas, MaryHardin-Baylor College, East Texas State Teachers College, Southern Methodist University, North Texas State Teachers College, Texas State College for Women, Our Lady of Victory College, Texas Christian University, Texas Wesleyan College, Sam Houston State Teachers College, Our Lady of the Lake College, St. Mary's University of San Antonio, University of San Antonio, Austin College, Weatherford Junior College and Baylor University.

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Cooper verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies.
