Slaying Spoiled His Holiday

A few short hours of glorious freedom, then imprisonment behind bars in the city pound. This sad-eyed, two-month-old pup, innocent cause of a slaying in San Francisco, has found life very cruel and bewildering. A man named Melvin Stone saw the pup in a pet store, and bought it. Later, Stone and a companion, Frank J. Butin, were discussing the question of feeding their pet when a passerby, Carlos Morales, broke into the conversation. In the fight that followed, Morales stabbed Butin, it was charged. Police arrived, and the dog was taken to the pound.

Pan-American said the big plane encountered a low pressure area and strongly adverse winds. It carried two passengers and a crew of eight.

Query was chosen manager of the local club by a group of business men meeting together Saturday. The men guaranteed him they would build a fence around the park and turn over to him a total of $1,000, money necessary in getting a team started.

Query left today for his home in Waxahachie to attend to business there for the rest of the month. He will return April 1 and the building of the park and getting it in readiness for the season's opening will be started.

National indoor pistol shot champions of 1936, the club members represent a group of steady-nerved men, whose daily occupations range from salesmen to dentists, Dr. Ware said.

"Most of our men would make the 'six-shooters' of the cowboy era turn over in their graves," he declared. "We shoot at a bulls-eye the size of a nickel at 50 feet and hit it 80 to 90 percent of the time. "However," he hastened to add, "the club members are all good citizens and do their shooting only as a hobby."

Local Ads Taken As Models by the Metro Ad Service

Five advertisements from The Reporter-Telegram have been chosen by the Metro Newspaper Service as models, and were reprinted in their magazine and advertising service books recently.

In the April promotional material, miniature copies of three Midland Reporter-Telegram advertisements appeared. One was the Addison Wadley Co. "Spring" full page ad which was run Sunday, February 7, written by Woody Wilson. Another was the Wes-Tex Food Market ad of February 18, featuring "dollar days" for February 19 and 20, written by J. C. Brewer Jr. The third was an advertisement of the Midland Steam Laundry, titled "Scat To Your Laundry Worries."

Two advertisements taken from November issues of The Reporter-Telegram also were exploited, one the "Better Times" ad of the newspaper, the other the eagle "looking after" printing needs, representing the Commercial Printing Company.

WOULD TAKE AWAY LAND OWNERS' RIGHTS

Representative Coke Stevenson's bill No. 579, introduced in the house at Austin, is a serious threat to ownership of state lands, if passed. Land Commissioner Bill McDonald Saturday issued some pertinent statements to show just what the bill would do to many West Texans who are still paying out their state lands. Midland land owners and interested citizens should immediately file protests against passage of the measure. McDonald said:

"Thousands of citizens are buying state school land in West Texas. These men have improved the land, have built homes, are rearing families and are playing an important part in the development of our great state. But many of these purchasers have fallen behind in their payments because of worldwide depression, combined with duststorms and drought.

"Under the provisions of the Coke Stevenson bill, the power to throw all these families off the land if they were behind as much as a single interest payment would be placed in the hands of an appointive school board consisting of three members of the State Board of Education. This is not to say such a board would be harsh and arbitrary but certainly there is no assurance the members would be familiar with the economic and climatic problems of West Texas and therefore they might lack a sympathetic understanding of the situation of these citizens.

"The present law vests authority in these matters in the hands of the Land Commissioner, who is elected by the people and is familiar with conditions in West Texas and is desirous of seeing these purchasers save their investment of money and effort by retaining possession of the land so long as they make every reasonable endeavor to carry out the obligation."

McDonald asserted the Stevenson bill would require the owner of forfeited land to obtain reinstatement in six months whereas there is no time limit under the present law, provided rights of third parties have not intervened. The commissioner said the owner would have to pay all past due interest and all past due principal to get reinstatement under the Stevenson bill but that, under the present law, only the interest would have to be paid.

"Only the owner would have a right to reinstate under the Stevenson bill while the law now permits the heirs to reinstate if the owner dies," McDonald said. "Also as is now is, the owner of forfeited land can transfer his equity to someone else and thereby salvage something from his toil and investment but under the Stevenson bill, no authority is given to the owner to transfer his interest in forfeited land and therefore he would see all the savings of years swept away."

The Town Quack

ing does not do the same thing, the first driver gets peeved and changes back to his bright lights. This isn't good sense, because if his bright lights blind the approaching driver, both cars probably will go into a crash. Anyway, the driver he is meeting may have had his dimmers on all the time.

I looked at cars around the business section Saturday and Sunday, to see how they were staying inside the diagonal parking lines. In practically every block there must have been at least a half dozen cars outside the proper lines. If you go into a block which isn't parked solid, don't line up by the car next to you. Line up in the white lines, then when the other car leaves, everything will be all right. Some of those cars which are out of the lines stay in the same position for a half day at a time.

Nearly all men get worried when they start losing hair, but, come to think of it, every bald headed man I know is happy. They must have a lot less to worry about after their hair is gone.

Soap Box Derby Will Be Held Again This Year By Chevrolet

DETROIT, Mar. 15.—For the fourth consecutive year, Chevrolet will again co-operate with the leading newspapers of the country in sponsoring the All-American Soap Box Derby, which is recognized by sports writers and enthusiasts as "the greatest, amateur racing event in the world."

The Derby, started in Dayton, Ohio, four years ago, has grown in popularity and appeal so that today it stands alone as the greatest single sporting event for boys. Thousands already are making plans for building their own racers for this year's event.

Last year there were more than 150,000 boys competing in various cities throughout the United States. Champions from 116 cities took part in the national finals at Akron, Ohio.

The national and international finals this year will be held at Akron on August 15, according to an announcement made this week by C. P. Fiskin, advertising manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Sales Corporation. City Champions from 120 cities will compete.

Entries from Canada, South Africa, Mexico and Hawaii are also expected to compete in the international finals. Plans already are under way for enlarging the facilities of the concrete track at Derby Downs, just outside the Akron airport.

B. E. Fulton, airport manager at Akron, will be national race director according to Mr. Fiskin, and he will have complete charge of all arrangements at the track. He will be assisted by James S. Schlemmer, sports editor of the Akron Beacon Journal, which is co-sponsor with Chevrolet in the national and international races.

Mr. Fulton has been closely associated with past Derbies and has been prominently identified with the National Air Races and with air shows at his own airport. The National Champion will be awarded a four-year college scholarship, and City Champions in each instance will win the M. E. Coyle Trophy. Many other valuable prizes will be given to place winners both in the city races and in the All-American race and the international race.

The decisions on the date for the national and international finals and on various track improvements were made last week when Mr. Fiskin made a flying trip to Akron to consult with Mr. Fulton and Mr. Schlemmer.
