BITTEREST FIGHT OF CIVIL WAR NOW WAGED ON FRONTS

Most Important Of All Battles Yet Waged

REBELS GIVE UP 4,600 Are Captured By Reds, Bilbao Drive Halted

By Associated Press
Battles in the northern sector near Bilbao, and in the southern province of Cordoba, the bitterest, bloodiest and most important of the Spanish civil war, raged today (Saturday).
The government rushed mobilization of available fighters to repel an insurgent Bilbao advance, capturing 4,600 at the foot of a hill and blocked one segment of the assault.
The armies were locked in a furious struggle for possession of the rich Cordoba mining country. Success or failure of the insurgent Bilbao drive was construed as likely to have a definite effect on the future of Generalissimo Franco. Success will give him control of all ports on the northern Spanish coast.

STREET FIGHTING BREAKS OUT IN MOROCCO

TANGIER, April 3. (P)—Reports of street fighting and bombings at Elksar, Spanish Morocco, reached here today as travelers said a house was destroyed by explosives and the sound of heavy rifle fire was heard.
The new reports were adding to the unrest against Gen. Francisco Franco's insurgent government in Spanish Morocco.

STUDENTS OF HIGH SCHOOL WINNERS OF VOICE HONORS

2 Firsts, 2 Seconds Won At Abilene By Students

Members of the Midland high school choral clubs won two firsts, two seconds and a third place yesterday at the eighth annual West Texas voice contest sponsored by the department of voice and choral music at Hardin Simmons university in Abilene.
Members of the girls' choral club finished first over all other high schools of West Texas, as did the boys' glee club. Members of the mixed chorus and girls' quartet finished second in their divisions.
The girls' trio won the third place honors while the boys' quartet failed to place. This was the first victory of the local high school that failed to win honors in their class.
Members of the girls' and boys' quartets were entered in class-AA while the other groups were entered in class-A.

New Improvements On Water Works to Double Capacity

The new $200,000 improvement project for the Midland city water works plant will more than double the daily pumping capacity, Mayor M. C. Ulmer said Saturday. There will be two new pumps installed at Cloverdale, also two high service pumps and a half million gallon concrete reservoir at a new Moody addition (southeast Midland) high service water station.
Not only will the pumping and storage capacity be increased, according to plans of H. N. Roberts, hydraulic engineer of Lubbock who has planned the project, but friction in carrying water through long line from Cloverdale will be reduced, thereby cutting down pumping costs and making possible slower pumping over longer periods.
Water consumption took a decided increase during 1936, records of City Secretary J. C. Hudman showed. Engineer Roberts, in making a survey of past records and formulating estimates of future consumption, praised highly the manner in which data has been compiled here, as well as the efficiency of the water system operation.
Whereas in 1932, Robert said, 89 1/2 million gallons of water were pumped to the city, the total in 1936 had jumped to 189 million, showing an increase during the four years of 100 million gallons per year.
Roberts estimated the population in 1932, at 6,200, showing a consumption of 40 gallons per day per capita. Estimating the population in 1936 at 7,000, the per capita consumption (Water Improvement) Page 4

Grieving Leopold Smiles Again

Victim of profound grief ever since the tragic death of beautiful Queen Astrid, his consort, a year and a half ago, Leopold of the Belgians has seldom since appeared in public in happy, relaxed mood. However, there is a twinkle in his eye and a slight smile on his lips as he waits his turn in a golf match at Ascot, England. His partner is Pamela Barton, British women's links queen.

More Interest Expected To Rise In City Election

Overshadowed by School Trustee Race; 'Last Drive' is Due to Start Tomorrow
Interest in the city election, overshadowed to date by the school trustee election, is expected to be increased during the remaining day between now and election date, April 6.
Nine men have filed for the six positions open; two for mayor, three for city marshal, three for aldermen and one for city secretary.
M. C. Ulmer, seeking his second elective term as mayor, is being opposed by J. V. Stokes, veteran Midland county ranchman. Ulmer is cashier of the First National Bank. He has served as mayor for the past three years, having been chosen in 1934 to finish the unexpired term of Mayor Leon Goodman. Previous to that time he had served on the city council for several years.
Three members of the city council are unopposed for re-election to the board. They are R. M. Barron, banker; D. H. Roetger, jeweler; Foy Proctor, rancher.
J. C. Hudman, who has served as city secretary for the past 10 years, is unopposed for re-election to the office.
The city marshal race, always the hottest contested of the city election posts, finds a trio of men, including the incumbent, seeking election. A. J. Norwood, elected in 1935, is seeking his second term in the office. He is opposed by Ben Driver, former member of the city police force, and J. H. Stanfield, ex-officer in Clovis, New Mexico.
The vote in the election is not expected to be as heavy as was the one in the school board election yesterday as none of the races loomed as "hot" as the one just conducted. A total of only 30 absentee votes were cast when deadline was reached Friday midnight.

NON-UNIONISTS OF DETROIT ACCLAIM WALTER CHRYSLER

Corporation Head Is Back to Resume Conferences

FORD WALKOUT

Kansas City Plant Is Closed as Group Quits Work

DETROIT, April 3. (P)—Walter P. Chrysler, cheered by a double line of non-union employes, returned to Lansing today to resume negotiations with United Automobile Workers.
Labor trouble also beset other members of the automobile industry's "big three" as sit-downers held the Kansas City Ford assembly plant, and General Motors officials at Flint conferred with union leaders to smooth the path for the return to work Monday of 15,000 Chevrolet employes.
Homer Martin, president of the automobile workers, said that strike sentiment was subsiding and that workers were realizing strikes were "harmful" to the corporations, and detrimental to their organizations.

TRAINING SCHOOL FOR FLIERS WILL BE OPENED HERE

New Plane Purchased By R. B. Cowden, Local Man

R. B. (Bum) Cowden recently purchased a Rearwin airplane and placed it at the Midland airport for use in a training school for aviators here. The new plane is equipped with a 90-horse power Warner engine, two-place, enclosed; one of the most popular models on present markets. The plane has a cruising speed of 115 miles per hour, and is equipped with all instruments for blind flying.
Cowden, who made his first solo flight after only three and one-half hours instruction, took his first cross-country solo trip Friday in the new plane, flying to Fort Worth in two and one-half hours, an average of approximately 120 miles per hour. He flew by compass, thereby cutting short the distance by following the railroad.
T. J. Richards, veteran pilot who is now connected with the Schermhorn Oil Company at Big Spring, will, with George McIntire, local pilot, give instructions at the school. Cowden is expected to return tomorrow with the plane, after which lessons will be started. Fifteen local men have already signed up for instruction with Cowden.

STRIKE SETTLED AFTER 4 PERSONS SERIOUSLY HURT

Minnesota Governor Arbitrates Fuss At Albert Lea

ALBERT LEA, MINN., April 3. (P)—An agreement was reached today, ending a strike at the American Gas Machine company here after a day of rioting in which four persons were injured.
The compact, signed by Governor Elmer Benson, Russell Hanson, president of the company, and labor leaders, provides recognition of the union as the sole bargaining agent "in the event workers receive their charter from a national labor organization within 60 days."
A conference followed Governor Benson's condemnation of what he called a "brutal assault" upon pickets.
Sheriff Helmer Myre and an augmented force of deputies used tear gas and arrested 48 men during a raid on union headquarters here.

ECLIPSE STUDY AIDED

PITTSBURGH, (U.P.)—The Allegheny Observatory of the University of Pittsburgh has sent to the National Geographic Society material that will be used in the study of a total eclipse of the sun on June 8. The eclipse will be visible over a wide area in the Pacific Ocean. It will last seven minutes and four seconds, the longest period the sun has been darkened totally in 1,200 years.

'Good Boy' Admits Girl Slaying

Thomas Smith, 18, above, was known in Buffalo as a "model youth" and when he invited Frances Fitzgerald, 14, right, to take an auto ride with him she consented. A few hours after their return, Smith was in jail charged with stabbing Frances with an ice pick, and had confessed, police said, to knifing and beating Mary Ellen Babcock to death two months previously.
Smith neither smoked nor drank and he quit college to support his mother. Neither of the girls was criminally assaulted, and Frances' stab wound will not be fatal. Smith told police, they said, that usually he did not care for girls, but that he killed Mary Ellen Babcock on a lonely lane because he was impelled by an "uncontrollable impulse."

Clean-Up Week Details Completed In The City

Actual Work in Drive to List City as One Of Cleanest in State Starts Monday

Details relative to the staging of the annual spring clean-up campaign in Midland April 4-11 have been completed and actual work in the drive to clean up the city will be started Monday morning, continuing through the week.
Mayor M. C. Ulmer last week proclaimed April 4-11 as clean-up week in Midland, the dates being in conjunction with state and national drives of a similar nature.
Loose papers, weeds, and rubbish of all kinds on vacant lots and in alleys in both the downtown and residential sections have given the city a very unsightly appearance during recent weeks, and special efforts will be made during the week to clean up the vacant lots and alleys thereby making Midland a cleaner and more attractive city.
Midland, as a result of loose papers blowing about the downtown section and along the Broadway of America, has gained much unfavorable comment from tourists and efforts will be made to remedy this situation during the drive.
The papers, weeds and rubbish not only give the city an unsightly appearance but constitute great fire and health hazards.

Individual Co-operation Urged

Individual co-operation is requested by those in charge of the drive who realize that without the help of the individual citizens of the city the clean-up campaign cannot be a complete success. Practically all of the service and civic organizations of the city have endorsed the drive and will assist in every way possible, are urged to clean up their premises as early in the week as possible. Owners of vacant lots are requested to have them cleared of loose papers and other rubbish, the high winds of the past week having scattered papers over practically every vacant lot in the city.
The city will co-operate in every way possible. A. B. Cole, street and water supervisor for the city, having advised that citizens may telephone No. 565 and a city truck will call for trash, tin cans and rubbish placed in the alleys.
Members of the two Midland Boy Scout troops have volunteered their services during the drive and the boys are anxious to co-operate in every way possible. The two troops have been divided into patrols for the campaign. Buster Howard is Scoutmaster of Troop No. 54 and Alvon Patterson is Scoutmaster of Troop No. 52. Those desiring the assistance of the Boy Scouts are requested to call either of the Scoutmasters or Claude Crane, Scout commissioner.

Production Test May Start Today On Slaughter Strike

BY FRANK GARDNER
Production test may be started sometime today on the Texas Company No. 1 Slaughter, southwest Hockley discovery and the second farthest north oil well in the West Texas district. At last reports, four high 500-barrel storage tanks were being erected. Before being shut in late in the week, the well had headed an estimated 100 barrels of 31.9 gravity oil into pits in six and one-half hours. It is bottomed at 5,022 feet in lime, with pay sections logged from 4,968-73 and from 4,980 to bottom. It was believed that the best oil increase had come in from 5,014-17.
Present indications are that the Texas Company well will be a larger producer than the Honolulu, Cascade and Devonian No. 1 Dugan, southeast Cochran discovery 11 miles to the northwest, which flowed 649 barrels on 24-hour gauge late in February. Natural performance of the Cochran well never approached that of the No. 1 Slaughter, although it responded well to nitro shot and two acid treatments. Location of the Slaughter strike is in labour 83, league 38, Zavalla county school land.
A wildcat in eastern Cochran, 14 miles north and slightly east of the Dugan well, Bond & Harrison et al No. 1 Cameron, is drilling below 4,095 feet in lime. Brown lime was topped at 3,760, 80 feet below sea level. It is located in labour 1, league 4, block F, G. & M. M. B. & A. survey.
A Winkler wildcat six miles north-east of the Keystone pool, York & Harper, Inc. and Sloan & Zook Company No. 1 Gunter & Munson, had drilled to 4,321 feet in brown lime without showing. It is 660 feet out of the northwest corner of section 7, block C, G. & M. M. B. & A. survey.
In the Scarborough pool of Winkler, Illinois No. 1-D Scarborough, section 4, block C-22, public school land, pumped 210 barrels on 24-hour potential gauge. It topped pay at 2,975, is bottomed at 3,073, and was shot with 100 quarts from 2,950 to 3,000.

Surprisingly Heavy Vote Is Registered

With a margin of votes that ranged from 71 to 131 three new members Saturday were elected to the board of trustees of Midland county independent school district number 1 in yesterday's election.

All three incumbents, Dr. John B. Thomas, R. V. Lawrence and Fred S. Wright were swept from office by a majority of voters who designated J. L. Greene, Chas. Vertrees and J. R. (Bob) Martin as new officials.

LEADERS READY FOR CONGRESS TO VOTE ON STRIKES

Both Houses to Rule On Decision Late Next Week

WASHINGTON, April 3. (P)—Administration leaders acquiesced today to demands that both houses of congress vote next week on the sit-down strike issue.
The senate faced the question in direct form—approval or rejection of a blunt condemnation of sit-down tactics. Senator Byrnes of South Carolina offered as an amendment to the Guffy-Vinson control bill.
The house is expected to vote Thursday or Friday on a demand for an investigation of sit-downs. Democratic chieftains predicted scant opposition to the house measure.
Lawrence, manager of the Rockwell Bros. & Co., received more votes than any other member running for re-election when he polled a total of 588. Dr. Thomas was next with 559 votes, and Wright was third with 553.
Voting in the morning was light, only about 400 persons having cast their ballots at noon. In the closing hours that the polls were open, however, judges were forced to work at top speed as a steady line of voters marched in, cast votes, marched out.
Interest in the election was at a peak as the number of ballots cast shows. With only 1900 poll taxes having been issued in the county, it is estimated more than 80 per cent of the qualified voters cast ballots.
The total number of votes cast was 1272.

LAMESA ROTARY CLUB ORGANIZED

Charter Presented To Club By The District Governor

Fred Wemple, Rotary district governor, was guest speaker Friday night at Lamesa to the newly organized club there. Wemple presented the charter to president Carl Rountree of the club and made a short address to the more than 120 persons present at the ceremony.
Kenneth Oberholzer, superintendent of the Lubbock schools, was principal speaker of the evening.
Rotary leaders from eight surrounding towns also made short talks to those assembled. A banquet was served by the host club.
Elmo Wasson, president of the Big Spring Rotary club, sponsors of the newly organized Lamesa club, along with a large group of members from Big Spring, were honor guests.
Attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wemple, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Debnam and Ily Pratt.

DUEL ENDS WITH DEATH OF OFFICER

Deputy Sheriff Expected To Die; Marshal Is Fight Victim

HEMPSTEAD, April 3. (P)—J. D. Shelbourne, city marshal, was killed and deputy sheriff Clyde Hutchins was wounded critically in a gun fight here today.
Physicians said that Hutchins, taken to a Navasota hospital, would likely die as an aftermath of a shooting that occurred in the center of town in the presence of several spectators.

Big Cattle Deal Is Consumed by Receipt of Stock

Ray Parks last week received 100 head of bull calves bought from Banning Lewis of Colorado Springs, Colo. The shipment represents one of the largest single purchases of registered her bulls to have been made here for years.
The calves, of strong Prince Domino breeding, were of exceptionally uniform type and quality. Parks preferred to buy them as calves, acclimating them to the country before putting them to use. Parks, who has continually improved his pure bred herd, topped two sales with carlot feeder steer calves last fall. His calves are sold each season to the Sibley Farms of Sibley, Ill.
Foy Proctor last week bought from Currie Bros., of Garden City, 250 head of steer yearlings, for May 1 delivery.
Hill & Pittman, of Hereford, who last week bought 550 head of steer yearling from the Connell and McKnight ranches in Ector county, bought an additional 100 head from Jay McGehee of Odessa.
Hugh Christian, Pacific coast buyer, bought from the B. N. Aycock estate two loads of feeder cows.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Apr. 1.—The new Wagner-Steagall housing bill, according to experts who are supposed to know most about it, should, in some instances, result in adequate new housing for families whose income is no more than $600 a year.

That would be a real approach to the ideal of "low cost housing for low income groups." If the estimate isn't too optimistic, the bill—if passed—would mean a substantial amount of subsidized housing for families whose income runs between $15 and $25 a week.

In four years, it is contemplated, local public housing authorities would be able to build 375,000 houses and apartments for families which cannot afford dwellings now being produced by private enterprise.

The bill, recognizing housing as a government responsibility, is similar in most respects to the Wagner-Ellenbogen bill passed by the senate last year. Early hearings and passage by the senate again are likely.

The measure outlines a federal policy to employ funds and credit to help alleviate unemployment, and "to remedy the unsafe and insanitary housing conditions and the acute shortage of decent, safe and sanitary dwellings for families of low income that are injurious to the health, safety and morals of the citizens of the nation."

Big difference between this draft and Senator Wagner's last year bill is that the federal subsidy will be put on rents instead of into the initial construction cost. This new feature will enable the government to retain some control over the housing projects and will avoid necessity of a very large appropriation for grants at the outset.

Nevertheless, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau is reported to question the proposal because of its expense in the long run.

To Issue Bonds
A United States Housing Authority of three members would administer the act.

The Authority would be authorized to issue bonds gradually during the next four years, to the amount of $1,000,000,000. It would be authorized to lend this money to public housing agencies of states or communities for periods of up to 60 years at the existing going federal rate of interest—which is now 2 1/2 per cent.

Grants would be paid to such agencies through uniform annual contributions for fixed periods of not over 60 years. The annual contribution could not exceed the existing annual going rate of interest plus 1 per cent of the development or acquisition cost of the project.

Thus, contributions on basis of the existing rate could go as high as 3 1/2 per cent and the total of them eventually could exceed capital cost of projects. The bill would take $50,000,000 from the Treasury to be paid out in increasing amounts as grants during the fiscal years, 1939, 1940 and 1941.

The individual grant could run as high as $175 a year on a $500 house and would cost rents 40 or 45 per cent, it is estimated. But rental sums would depend on whether projects were required to pay local taxes. The hope of reaching some $600 a year

There's A Lot Hanging On That One

families is based on a theoretical tax exemption, a maximum subsidy and a four-room, $4000 house which under those conditions could rent at about $250 per month per room.

Must Be Economical
Sponsors of the bill admit that to reach such figures it would be necessary to achieve extreme economy in design and location.

Land would have to be found on the outskirts of cities. Technological improvements in building would have to be combined with simplicity and mass production. Nevertheless, it is hoped that plenty of $5000 dwellings would be brought down to the $700 group at rentals of $35 a room per year.

The operation plan for the first four years calls for an estimated $500,000,000 of non-federal loans plus the federal billion and $50,000,000 for grants. After four years the annual grants would be about $47,000,000. Average annual subsidies per unit are estimated at between $100 and $125.

The proposed U. S. H. A. would also be authorized to lend to limited-profit housing agencies and to spend up to $25,000,000 a year on demonstration of low-cost housing or slum clearance—the projects later to be sold or leased. It would have the power to increase interest rates cancel loans or cancel grants, if necessary, to preserve low-cost character of projects.

Public housing agencies seeking aid would have to show in their localities a shortage of "decent, safe, and sanitary dwellings within financial reach of families of low income, which is not being remedied adequately by private enterprise." They would have to show that inhabitants of cleared slum areas would be taken care of in dwellings of at least equivalent quality and cost.

The Town Quack

This staff of ours is a puny lot. The editor got his hand burned, and now uses the one-hand-hunt-and-peck system.

The business manager has a deep chest cold and is worse burnt from a mustard plaster than the editor's hand. The circulation manager is in the hospital recovering from an appendicitis operation. The assistant ad man is a lot better from his recent flu attack. The city editor is well thank you; and all the society editor can complain about is that she doesn't like sandstorms. I won't burden you with a survey of the mechanical force, but if any of your family ever owned land where they struck oil, you will know how one of our printers is suffering from nervous indigestion.

The joke contest is picking up. Several people have told me that they are planning to enter. The chief thing to consider about that is that the contest closes Tuesday. Any jokes not received by 10 a. m. Tuesday morning will be too late to get in one the prize money of FIRST $1, SECOND 50c and THIRD 25c.

Here is Claude Crane's entry: Speaking of jokes I am reminded that truth is stronger than fiction. A story comes to me from the former home of preacher Eorum. It seems a man was charged with shooting a number of pigeons, the property of the preacher's.

Counsel for the defense was trying to frighten the preacher. "Now, he remarked," are you prepared to swear this man shot your pigeons?"

"I didn't say he did shoot 'em," was the reply, I said I suspected him of doing it.

"Ah, Now you are coming to it, what made you suspect this man." "Well, firstly I caught him in my back lot with a gun, secondly I saw some pigeons fall and thirdly I found four of my pigeons in his pocket and I don't think them birds flew there and committed suicide."

Mrs. S. H. Gwyn's entries: A country bumpkin was seeing the sights of London. Some smart city boys met him and, thinking to have some fun, one said: "Hey, country boy, did you see that wagon load of monkeys going down the street?"

"Fall off, did ye?" replied the country boy. The jury could not reach an agreement in a case. Finally the foreman asked that they be taken before the judge. When asked if they had reached a verdict, he replied, "Judge, here are eleven of the contrarist devils I ever had any dealin's with."

All but one of the jurors had agreed on a case. When meal time came, the foreman told the sheriff to bring them "eleven dinners and a bale of hay."

And this one on the Irishman: The foreman asked that they be taken before the judge. When asked if they had reached a verdict, he replied, "Judge, here are eleven of the contrarist devils I ever had any dealin's with."

RANDOM THOUGHTS

By W. I. PRATT

An automobile drive to Lamesa, our neighbor to the northeast of us, late Friday afternoon gave me the privilege of enjoying a picture of nature, the like of which no artist could paint. Acre after acre of the pasture land is fairly carpeted with golden yellow wild flowers while further up the highway where more farming is done, the rich luxuriant green of wheat fields offsets a beautiful contrast in colorings to the rich red soil that has been freshly tilled. Every section of the country has its beauties of nature, peculiarly its own, and at this season of the year the wide open spaces of the West afford a pleasing and delightful picture to the eye looking for beauty.

Something else that attracted my attention on my arrival in Lamesa was the traffic lights on each of the principal street intersections in the business district. Adoption of this method of traffic control in cities and towns has caused people to expect them where they are needed and as a consequence the town that does not have them suffers in a lack of control of the traffic on the streets. I understand that we are to have them installed in our town at an early date and it can't be done any too soon to please me. Any and every precaution against traffic accidents is worth while.

And while I am on this little jaunt eastward, I am going to express the hope that the highway department finds time and funds at an early date to widen and straighten that kink east of Stanton near the lake immediately to the north of the highway.

I don't believe there is a job on earth that gives one opportunity to notice the difference in people when times are good and when they are not so good, as does that of tax assessor and collector. Some folks even smile during the few minutes that it takes to render their property for taxes this year and I don't have to bite my tongue nearly so much to keep from giving back in kind that which was common "tax language" two or three years back. And, incidentally, if you are one of the many that have not rendered your personal or other property for 1937 taxes it would be greatly appreciated if you would do so right away. If not convenient to come to my office, I'll be glad to come to yours if you will just help out by letting me know when it will be convenient for me to call. A good way to do your daily good turn. It is to your interest to render your property. Not doing so does not save you any money. Don't forget doing this, please.

DEMONSTRATION CLUB NEWS

Frances Emory, the Prairie Lee 4-H Club wardrobe demonstrator plans to have her own room in which she will have a shelf near the top for hats and caps, shelves for folded garments, shoe rack and a rod with enough hangers for her dresses and coats.

Frances has already made four garments; a pot holder, cup towel, a kitchen apron and school dress.

Mary Alice Newson, Stokes 4-H Club garden cooperator has a hotbed 2 feet by 4 feet in which she will plant tomato and cabbage seed within the next few days.

Mary Alice will have a garden 8 feet by 35 feet in which she will plant carrots, lettuce, spinach, radishes and transplant tomatoes and cabbage.

She will irrigate her garden with a hose and cyphon the water from a nearby tank.

"My club dress is a yellow dress", said Irene Roberts, Stokes 4-H Club wardrobe co-operator.

"The reason I selected yellow is because it is my most becoming color. The design I selected is one that is very popular this spring—a princess effect. I will pink the seams to complete the finish because the dress will iron more easily and it is a nice seam finish.

The ten girls in my club are working on club dresses and plan to complete 100 per cent," concluded Irene.

PERSPECTIVE TAKES LEAP

HONOLULU, (U.P.) — Perspective increases was casualties, according to John F. C. Stokes of the Hawaiian Historical Society. When King Kamehameha pushed an army over a precipice in 1795 the number of dead mentioned was 300. Now Stokes, declared it is placed at 10,000. He believes that by 1950 the number will be greater than the population of the islands at the moment the battle was fought.

Magician

Delving into the supernatural—that unknown region where incredible actions take place—Durso the Great will present one of the weirdest performances ever seen on the Yucca stage at a special midnight show Wednesday only April 7 at 11:15.

"I am not a spiritualist, nor am I a vaudevillian," says Durso. "My presentation is a repudiation of materialism. You may expect to be convinced that the shadows of the material can stand apart from it, as the spirit or soul of man exists without regard for time or space, the body dies and mingles with common clay. My offering is an attempt to look beyond the veil, to gaze into the valley of the shadow and see what goes beyond."

Defying the laws of the various sciences, Durso will cause tables, chairs and other objects to rise and float through the air—"with the greatest of ease."

In keeping with the weird stage show, the screen offering is also of an eerie nature, being "The Ghost Walks."

Ford "60" owners report 22-27 miles per gallon

LONG BEFORE the 60-horsepower Ford V-8 engine was offered to America, we knew it was capable of unusual economy.

Two years' hard usage in England and France had proved that. Road tests of all kinds proved it again.

But in keeping with Ford policy, no mileage claims were made until they could be established in actual service.

Now the story can be told. . . The new Ford "60" is more than meeting expectations! Thousands of private owners, cab companies, fleet operators, and others who keep careful records, report averages of 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline.

That is the highest mileage in Ford history—and Ford cars have always been famous for economy!

If you want a big car for a small budget, see and drive the Ford "60." It's available in five body types.

It's just as roomy, sturdy and safe as the Ford "85." It has the same distinctive modern design. It delivers V-8 smoothness and quiet even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. And, best of all, it brings you its brilliant operating economy at the lowest Ford price in years!

[QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING]

"Why are Bankers usually conservative?"

A BANK is a semi-public institution. It receives money from depositors and lends that money to borrowers. In order to safeguard the funds of depositors a bank must be conservative in loaning their money.

Banks are anxious to make good loans—for their livelihood is derived primarily from this source. Yet safety—not profit—must be the first consideration. Consequently, it is not the function of a bank to indulge in speculation, or to make speculative loans, however promising they may seem.

Conservative banking policies do not, however, stand in the way of genuine community progress. In fact, they go hand in hand. The permanent, carefully-built progress of any community—not the false, temporary progress of sporadic booms—is dependent usually upon the alert foresight and conservative, experienced judgment of its business men and bankers.

BOOK REVIEW
By A. W.

An American Doctor's Odyssey, Victor Heiser; M. D.; W. W. Norton & Company, N. Y.

When the disastrous flood of 1889 destroyed Johnstown, Penn., Victor Heiser lost both his father and mother. By a series of miraculous escapes he survived. He was only 16 when the Johnstown catastrophe struck, but his education had been forced beyond his years and he was ready for college. He spent a year in an engineering school and then entered a medical school in Philadelphia. When he had finished his internship, he and two other medical students out of forty-two candidates succeeded in passing the examination for entrance into the Marine Hospital Service. Prevention of disease on the wholesale basis appealed to Heiser more than private practice.

One of the first assignments was examining immigrants who enter the United States. Then he was sent to Italy to examine the immigrants before they embark. Later he was made Chief Quarantine Officer of the Philippine Islands.

He found the people of the Philippines were extremely superstitious. He had to overcome many of these superstitions before he could make any headway with sanitation, vaccination, and the many other measures he had to undertake in attaining the goal he set for himself; saving 50,000 lives a year.

How Doctor Heiser spent twenty years of his life in ceaseless travel, peddling his ideas in Oriental lands carrying his health ideas of preventive medicine to forty countries; how he helped nations to blot out or control the Black Death, cholera, leprosy, smallpox, hookworm, and malaria make fascinating and informative reading.

In 1934 Doctor Heiser asked to be relieved of active responsibility in the International Health Division of the Rockefeller Foundation. A career such as his had naturally deprived him of close family ties. But he feels that the deprivation had been more than compensated by his opportunity to bring the knowledge of medical science to millions of diseased people who were without knowledge or hope.

Murder in Mesopotamia, Agatha Christie; Dodd, Mead & Co., N. Y.
Dr. Reilly recommended Amy Leatheran to Dr. Leidner because she was cheerful, robust, shrewd, and matter of fact. The doctor wanted a nurse for his wife who had "fancies." At first Nurse Leatheran thought that meant drugs or drinks. After she had seen her patient and had been in Tell Yarimjah for a day or two she knew that the woman's condition was due to something more sinister than drugs or drink.

Dr. Leidner was an archaeologist working on some ruins in Mesopotamia. In the expedition were two people who had been with him for many years and were devoted to him: Miss Johnson and Richard Carey. The other members were entirely new or had been with the expedition only one year: Carl Reiter, shy, clumsy, and willing to pay Mrs. Leidner a dog like devotion; Mrs. Mercado, dark and slinky, who obviously hated and was jealous of Mrs. Leidner; Mr. Mercado, a tall, thin, melancholy man, who was a great deal older than his wife; Mr. Emmott, quiet and steady—one never knew what he was thinking; Mr. Coleman, an Englishman who talked too much; and Father Lavingy, a French monk who translated the inscriptions. Dr. Leidner, whom everyone liked and admired; and his wife, lovely Louise who was beautiful and could be charming, but whom many disliked made up the group staying at the expedition house. Not a sinister group, but there was a tense feeling there of something about to happen.

After Nurse Leatheran had been at Tell Yarimjah for a few days Mrs. Leidner told her what her fears were. The next afternoon she was found, crumpled on the rug by her bed, quiet dead. Who could have hated or loved lovely Louise enough to kill her?

Hercule Poirot, the great French detective, happened to be passing through Baghdad and was asked to take over the case. The right detective, in fiction, always turns up at the right place at the right time, even if it's Baghdad, doesn't he? The case attracted the little Frenchman and he soon saw that he must work quickly and carefully to catch the murderer before other crimes were committed; for he realized that the guilty one was resourceful, intelligent, and determined.

If one likes the stories of Agatha Christie in which Hercule Poirot solves the mystery he will like Murder in Mesopotamia. But if the egotistical little man has previously proved uninteresting and a bit of a bore, then he should not read this book. It is just another Poirot yarn, and not even as interesting as some of the earlier ones.

Water Improvement

sumption had jumped to 74 gallons per day, indicating that not only had the population increased, but the consumption per person had almost doubled.

On the basis of 1936 records, the peak month was 164 per cent of the yearly average, or 121 gallons per person per day. The peak day was 230 per cent of the yearly average, or 170 gallons per person per day.

During June 1936 there were six days in which over 4,000,000 gallons were used, in July three days and in August nine days. Roberts estimated that in 1940, with normal growth of the population, the city will pump 248 million gallons.

The enlargement program, for which E. L. Dalton of Dallas placed the low bid of $20,787, will make possible the pumping to water consumers of approximately 2,750,000 gallons daily, more than double the present capacity, Mayor Ulmer said.

It will be acidized upon the return of Mr. A. H. Flaherty from Tulsa. The well topped pay at 2,242 and bailed a barrel of 36.7-gravity oil hourly after suspending drilling at 2,249. It is located 2,310 feet from the south and 330 feet from the west line of section 25, block 11, H. & G. VINCENT INFECTION OR TRENCH MOUTH

(Note: The following paper was written by Dr. K. F. Campbell, local dentist, and was read over the weekly health program by Mrs. W. B. Chapman.)

Vincent's infection is known as trench mouth by the layman. It was called Vincent's angina by our profession for a long time, but as the word "angina" refers to throttling, choking or smothering experienced when tonsils or pharynx are affected, it is not descriptive of the type of cases which dentists are called on to treat. For this reason the name "angina" is no longer used by dentists. Vincent's infection, taking the name from Vincent, the French physician, who first wrote of it in 1896, is a fitting term that has been adopted by the American Dental Association since 1923.

When dealing with Vincent's infection we are not dealing with a new disease. It has always existed, but, as many other diseases, when people are congested in great numbers, the organisms increase not only in number but also in virulence. For many years there has passed through our hands Vincent's infection that was unrecognized, misdiagnosed and mistreated, being regarded as symptomatic of syphilis, scurvy, pyorrhea and other diseases.

The term trench mouth, like many other non-scientific expressions, has an associative and historical significance. Prior to the World War the fusiform infection in the mouth was very rare in France, England and other central European countries and was seldom ever heard of in America. In France during the war, this epidemic broke out in the trenches and became more common than typhoid and malaria during the Spanish American war. Thus, the term trench mouth was acquired. With the return of our soldiers from Europe thousands of cases developed in a short time. It has grown steadily worse, increasing to the extent that today the number known to be affected constitutes a considerable percentage of the population of the country.

Vincent's infection occurs in two major forms, acute and chronic. Under the acute type we also have the sub-acute as under the chronic we have the latent type. Acute Vincent's, is found both in endemic and epidemic form. In acute cases, the oral examination will reveal a slight ulceration, most generally beginning in the region of the third molar and any place about the teeth, with a grayish yellow surface not easily removed, but bleeding easily when disturbed. There is a distinct odor unlike that of other infections or ulcerating diseases, and especially unlike that of pyorrhea. This fetid odor resembles that associated with acidosis yet differing enough not to be called a true acidosis odor. Once detected, the odor alone is almost enough to establish the diagnosis. In diagnosing the true Vincent's infection from microscopic smears it has been proven that two main types of organisms must be present for a positive diagnosis, namely the spirillum of Vincent's and the Bacillus fusiformis. The study of smears evidences a symbiosis between the so-called specific organisms of Vincent's infection and streptococci and staphylococci. If there is a predominance of the spirilla and fusiform bacilli we may diagnose the case as positive.

It is possible to find both Vincent's spirilla and fusiform bacilli in all mouths both healthy and diseased. Smears from the sub-gingival tissue may show both of these micro-organisms present, "in the absence of any clinical symptoms of true Vincent's infection." Thus, if at any time any portion of the gingival tissue should suffer a decrease in resistance, the spirilla and bacilli will multiply rapidly and the disease will become established. However, the finding of one or both of these organisms in a mouth or throat do not necessarily mean that the person has the disease.

Further symptoms in the acute stages of Vincent's infection are a foul taste in the mouth, especially on arising in the morning. The same taste persists in spite of the use of mouth washes and sprays, as long as the disease goes untreated. Pain is generally present and sometimes very severe, altho it may be absent. The patient complains about a dry raspy feeling in the mouth and throat. Loss of sleep and loss of appetite are common, and frequently an increase of temperature two or three degrees is found. The patient generally has a feeling of depression and discomfort. In some cases the patient may become ill enough to be confined to bed and such cases often require the assistance of a physician.

The subacute and milder form of Vincent's infection is slower in its progress and remains on the surface not affecting the membrane deeply. This is the type more often found in individuals who give their mouths proper care and attention. The chronic type of Vincent's is often mistaken or associated with pyorrhea, a fact which should not in any way interfere with the diagnosis or cure of the infection. In this type of infection, the patient suffers no acute pain. They usually complain of bleeding gums and general discomfort of the mouth. These cases will usually respond very readily to treatment, and are not hard to clear up.

All cases of Vincent's infection of the mouth and oral tissues should be treated by a dentist rather than by a physician. I say this because the dentist is more familiar with conditions of the mouth and oral tissue. The organism seems to first attack tissue that has been weakened and finds lodgment in areas that are not easily accessible to the tooth brush. We find individuals who have active or retarded pyorrhea, decayed teeth, retained roots, tartror gingivitis, malocclusion, ill fitting crowns, overlapping fillings and those whose mouths are in poor condition generally seem more susceptible to Vincent's infection than those whose mouth are in a healthy condition. However, a healthy mouth is not always immune. In fact, we occasionally find a clean healthy mouth involved in an acute attack, but this is rather the exception and not the rule.

Vincent's infection may become very mild and chronic after incomplete treatment, rendering the patient immune to its noticeable harmful effects, but making him a carrier of the disease. In every case of Vincent's infection of the mouth or throat, the mouth should be thoroughly treated for at least two weeks by a dentist, well versed in oral prophylaxis.

Vincent's infection may be transmitted by either direct or indirect contact, directly thru kissing or other contacts, and indirectly thru contact with drinking cups and glasses, mouths of bottles, eating utensils, pipes and cigarette holders, pencils, doorknobs, telephone mouth-pieces, towels and un-sterile hands and instruments.

In the treatment of this disease, the patient should be impressed with its serious nature, and should be warned against smoking and the use of alcoholic beverages, which lower the resistance of the oral tissues. The diet should include foods of alkaline reaction and of such character that elimination is stimulated and hastened. The use of fruits and vegetables mainly is advisable, but individual requirements should be taken into consideration. The use of ones own drinking and eating utensils is advised. The old tooth brush should be destroyed and the patient should not attempt to brush the teeth and gums until their case has been arrested and with their dentist's assurance that all danger has passed. Mouth washes, such as are directed in each individual case by the dentist must be used regularly and religiously. And last but not least the mouth should have a thorough prophylaxis and the patient taught the importance of keeping the mouth clean and free of all irritation.

This can be done by regular periodical visits to your dentist three or four times a year.

Ty Cobb Reports He Is Enjoying Health and Wealth In California

BY RICHARD McCANN
NEA Service Sports Writer

ATHERTON, Calif., April 2.—It's hard to believe that Ty Cobb, despite his health and his wealth, is happy.

You see, it's been nigh onto nine years since he's had a fight and in that time he hasn't spiked anybody or anything except maybe a scattered rumor here and there that he would return to baseball.

Since he retired at the end of 1928 season, leaving behind him a brilliant trail of never-to-be-equalled records, the Georgia Peach has been leading the quiet life of a country squire on his large estate here.

He doesn't have to work. He does not have to worry. He just lives comfortably with his wife and three of his five children. Everything is going along as smoothly as Walter Johnson pitching a week-day ball game against the Browns.

But Squire Cobb is so at peace with the world he must be miserable. And they do say that the fire-eating Georgian is thinking seriously of hiring a couple of umpires to come out and argue with him. Or maybe a second baseman or two that he can spike when he's in the mood.

Squire Cobb's chief diversion these days is playing golf. Like all ball players, he's naturally good at it. Like Cobb, he's better than the rest—when he wants to be. He shoots around in the low 80s, but the boys say that when he's in a head-to-head match with you he'll beat you, even if you are a normal in-the-70s shooter.

Doesn't Like Rabbit Ball

Now that he's out of baseball, Ty doesn't seem to have much interest in the game. For one thing, he doesn't like the so-called rabbit ball.

"The days of the dead ball were better," says Ty. "They've lost a lot of the fine points of the game these days, even though it has made for a lot of spectacular home runs. The old game was better."

"There must be something wrong with the baseball today. But, of course, it isn't so much in the game itself. You see, there are a lot more competing sports. In the old days we had few other sports and every-one played baseball."

"But now there's football, golf, swimming and all sorts of things to divide the interest of the sports fans. And another thing, the coaches in schools and colleges aren't familiar enough with the fine points sity of Georgia team.

Greatest of All Competitors.

There may be some question about Squire Cobb having been the greatest ball player of all time. But there can be no question but that he is the greatest competitor baseball—and perhaps any sport—has ever known. H. G. Salsinger, a Detroit sportswriter, once wrote that Cobb "could endure anything but defeat." No truer words were uttered by a typewriter.

He had the most furious will-to-win any athlete ever displayed. They say that he wasn't the greatest natural hitter, and yet he compiled a half-hundred hitting records; and he wasn't the fastest runner, yet he was the greatest base runner of all time.

They tell you that Cobb was only a fair hitter, a bad outfielder and a clumsy baserunner when he first broke into baseball in Augusta, Ga., back in 1904. Those who saw him bat 420 in 1911 and steal 96 bases in 1915 and throw out three men at first base in one game in 1907 find such stories had to swallow.

But the historians swear that the Augusta club thought it was getting a goody sum when Detroit paid them $750 for Cobb. It seems that he wasn't a born ball player, but was, instead, a made one.

Well, anyway, there's no doubt he was a born fighter. His battles with Buck Herzog and Billy Evans, to mention a few were the most famous, and that goes for the Old Orioles, too.

Squire Cobb created about 90 different records for fielding, hitting, endurance, base-stealing, and whatnot, by the time he finished his playing days.

Practically all of these records are still standing and probably will for all time. Who, for instance, will ever lead the league in batting 9 straight times like he did? Or steal 96 bases in one year? That's more than whole teams steal these days.

These two records give him his most satisfaction now as he sits back and thinks of the old days. But they, with all the rest, don't make up for the fact that there ain't nobody around to fight, dammit.

game in back of the Giants, then in fourth place. On July 15, Horace Stoneham and Bill Terry gave up on the Giants. They wanted to trade or sell all of them.

"Well, sir, in the first game of a double-header, we had the Giants beat, 4-3, with a Giant on third and another on first and two out in the ninth. Mel Ott was at bat. I told Paul Derringer, who was pitching, and Les Scarsella that Scarsella was to play well back of first base and close to the foul line because Ott frequently hits down the right field line.

"So, what does Derringer do? Well, he gets in position, and turns to throw to first base. Naturally, Scarsella who carried out instructions, wasn't in position to cover.

"Under the circumstances, all the dreaming Derringer had to do was let go of the ball easily, and it went, and he's been a balk. But he held it, and it was a balk. That sent the runner on third home to tie the score, and put the runner on first on second.

Yanked Derringer
"I yanked Derringer, for it was plain that he was thinking of something else that afternoon, and sent in Don Brennan with an order to purposely pass Ott. This Brennan did, and then Hank Leiber drove a line single to left field.

"And have you been wondering why baseball managers grow gray and go nuts?"

"Well, when Babe Herman fielded Leiber's liner, he stuck the ball in his pocket. I mean to say that he didn't make any kind of a throw. Obviously, he must have visioned the farthest advanced runner on third instead of second.

"Anyway, it beat us, the Giants took four out of five, and were off on their long winning streak.

"I fined Derringer and Herman. It is just as well for some players that managers do not carry guns."

FISH DEALER FRANK
ROCHESTER, N. H., (U.P)—Willis Pease, fish dealer, is a standard bearer for a "truth in advertising" campaign. Under a window sign in his store advertising frozen mackerel at 11 cents a pound, appeared another, reading: "Damn poor eating."

The PAYOFF

BY JESS RODGERS

The Pay-Off of the West Texas-New Mexico League as it stands now.

The towns are acting like a bunch of school kids when the principal leaves the room. (Joe Pate being the principal.) After having everything in what he thought was perfect condition, Joe left for home, only to make a hurry-up return trip when Odessa threatened to fold up. In less than two days he accomplished more in the town than had been done altogether before. No less than $2500 was anted up Friday and Saturday and another "G" was to be brought in last night. A manager for the club also was to be named last night.

As soon as Joe gets everything in Odessa "fixed" he has more work to do in Monahans. Seems like they are having troubles of some kind over there and it is up to Joe to go over and straighten them out. I'll lay odds he does just that. Midland, after lagging behind until all other towns were seemingly ready to go, appears to be the readiest of the lot now. All that is holding up actual work here is the return of Wray Query, and he is expected to arrive Monday. Players will be here shortly afterwards. Just as soon, in fact, as the park is built.

Ramblin' thoughts: Punk Stacy

Wonder if they will have a spring race meet here this year? . . . When is Dutch going to start writing all that stuff he promised to about the district track meet here April 17? . . . Not ALL the wind blowing around in the streets yesterday was made by candidates. . . . A trip past the old playground diamond almost any afternoon will find a bunch of men and boys out "working out." Honus Wagner, high mogul of semi-pro baseball, says softball is here to stay, but that it has reached its peak. . . . It has reached its peak and then some here. . . . If professional baseball fails here this year there will probably be softball next year but there is very little chance for it this year. . . . If Punk Stacy will bring in results of the Sand Belt matches each Sunday he is entitled to something. . . . About all I ever was able to find out last year was who were on the team the first match. . . . After that the results were harder to find than gold.

THE McCOY

Once upon a time Kid McCoy was behind the eight-ball, but now he's in front of it, and here you see the great fighter of other days shooting a bit of billiards at the pool room of his old friend, Jack Doyle, in New York City, where his Broadway pals gave him a party.

STACY IS CHOSEN CAPTAIN OF LOCAL TEAM; 8 TENTATIVE

The Midland Country Club Sand Belt golf team will play its first match of the year tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock when it meets on the local course the Stanton eight.

The team this year will be made up of practically the same men that were on it last year when they came out second to Big Spring in the flag chase.

Because of the inclement weather the club ladder is not yet complete, none of the players having been able to play the required number of rounds to decide their standing on the ladder. (Each player desiring a place on the ladder is required to play five 18-hole rounds.)

F. A. "Punk" Stacy has been named captain of the club this year and announced the following members would be considered in the line-up today, H. S. Forgeron, No. 1, 2—Paul Oles, 3—Don Sivalls, 4—Stacy, 5—E. B. Dozier, Sr., 6—Frank Johnson, 7—Pat Riley, 8—W. T. Doherty, 9—E. B. Dozier, Jr., 10—Bill Simpson, 11—R. T. Mobley, 12—Addison Wadley, 13—Sam Laughlin, 14—W. T. Thurman.

The first eight members compose the tentative line-up that Stacy will use today. However, Stacy stressed the importance of players being able to maintain their positions upon the Sand Belt ladder by being available to play at all times. Heretofore, he said, several maintained their positions while playing only the games booked for the home course. This system will be done away with and only players used who will attempt to play all matches, Stacy declared.

Six clubs compose the league this year, Lamesa, Big Spring, Midland, Stanton, Colorado, Odessa. For the past two years the Big Spring club has been the winner and Midland has finished in the runner-up position each time.

The season's schedule follows: April 4—Big Spring at Odessa; Colorado at Lamesa; Stanton at Midland.

April 18—Lamesa at Big Spring; Midland at Colorado; Odessa at Stanton.

May 2—Colorado at Odessa; Midland at Lamesa; Stanton at Big Spring.

May 16—Big Spring at Colorado; Lamesa at Stanton; Odessa at Midland.

May 23—Lamesa at Odessa; Midland at Big Spring; Stanton at Colorado.

June 6—Odessa at Big Spring; Lamesa at Colorado; Midland at Stanton.

June 20—Big Spring at Lamesa; Colorado at Midland; Stanton at Odessa.

July 11—Colorado at Big Spring; Stanton at Lamesa; Midland at Odessa.

July 25—Odessa at Lamesa; Big Spring at Midland; Colorado at Stanton.

AND NOW IT'S BARE BASKETBALL

Remember the old days when they used to play basketball in a hall? They were the days, huh, old-timer? Now they play the game in swimming pools and on ice skating rinks and now, lookit, they're playing on horseback. This particular version was committed at Pinehurst, N. C. It is played without saddles, prompting the title of Bare Basketball.

The PAYOFF

TAMPA, Fla., Apr. 2—Charley Dresen doubts that the New York Giants can repeat in the National League without Bill Terry at first base. The little manager of the Cincinnati Reds will be surprised if Lou Chiozza is satisfactory at third base for the Polo Grounds.

There still is some doubt about Stu Martin being able to spell Frank Frisch at second base for the Cardinals when the going gets tough.

Johnny Mize was removed from first base on three different occasions last season, and this trip there is no Jimmy Collins to take his place. Paul Dean scales 225 pounds, and Dresen doesn't like a report that reads "pretty good."

The Cubs will miss Lon Warneke's 18 games. Dresen does not believe that Tarzan Parmelee and Collins will offset the loss of a pitcher capable of breaking a losing streak.

Dresen suspects that the pitchers discovered a weakness in the batting armor of Augie Galan in that first year phenomenon's second year. With Woody English and Ethan Allen gone, he does not consider the Cubs as well fortified in the way of reserves, although he rates their infield the best in the National League. Gabby Hartnett cannot go forever.

Southpaw Ed Brant should help the Pirates, but Dresen sees more prairie than ever in a traditionally wide-open National League race.

On this he bases his prediction that his Reds will finish in the first division.

DEPENDS ON BREAKS
"It sounds trite, I know, but it all depends on the breaks," says Dresen. "Think of those Giants backing into the pennant last season. Yes, they put on a protracted winning streak, but neither the Cardinals nor Cubs could play better than 500 ball in the stretch."

"One game is so important when the clubs settle down to play for the money. We went into the Polo Grounds last July 26 just one-half

The PAYOFF

"Well, sir, in the first game of a double-header, we had the Giants beat, 4-3, with a Giant on third and another on first and two out in the ninth. Mel Ott was at bat. I told Paul Derringer, who was pitching, and Les Scarsella that Scarsella was to play well back of first base and close to the foul line because Ott frequently hits down the right field line.

"So, what does Derringer do? Well, he gets in position, and turns to throw to first base. Naturally, Scarsella who carried out instructions, wasn't in position to cover.

"Under the circumstances, all the dreaming Derringer had to do was let go of the ball easily, and it went, and he's been a balk. But he held it, and it was a balk. That sent the runner on third home to tie the score, and put the runner on first on second.

Yanked Derringer
"I yanked Derringer, for it was plain that he was thinking of something else that afternoon, and sent in Don Brennan with an order to purposely pass Ott. This Brennan did, and then Hank Leiber drove a line single to left field.

"And have you been wondering why baseball managers grow gray and go nuts?"

"Well, when Babe Herman fielded Leiber's liner, he stuck the ball in his pocket. I mean to say that he didn't make any kind of a throw. Obviously, he must have visioned the farthest advanced runner on third instead of second.

"Anyway, it beat us, the Giants took four out of five, and were off on their long winning streak.

"I fined Derringer and Herman. It is just as well for some players that managers do not carry guns."

Alien Propaganda, Still Thriving in U. S., Is Expected to Bear Fruit in 'Next War'

Forces Leading to Conflict 20 Years Ago Better Understood Now

Influences working today for and against United States participation in another world conflict are analyzed by Rodney Dutcher in three stories, of which this is the first, on the 20th anniversary of America's entry into the World War. The first article compares today's foreign propaganda in the United States with that of 1914-1918.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 3.—Twenty years ago an army of propagandists was celebrating the climax of a three-year effort to bring the United States into the World War on the side of the Allies.

Today a much smaller, subtler group of propagandists is working through Washington embassies and foreign offices abroad to obtain American financial assistance for the next European war.

When and if that war comes, we may expect another deluge of propaganda designed to enlist sympathy for one side or the other.

Perhaps it never can happen again. But in the 1914-17 period, this country was about as fertile a field for propaganda as had ever been sown. Allied propaganda was practically all that counted—partly because it was more efficient, partly because it was what most Americans wanted.

Widespread sympathy for "gallant little Belgium" and "poor little Serbia" appeared at the outset. Most Americans quickly came to believe that Germany was militaristic, autocratic, cruel and entirely to blame. Ties of blood and language with England figured in public reaction along with sentimental feelings for La Belle France and Lafayette.

PREJUDICED ARTICLES

Two of the most important categories of foreign propaganda are found in the efforts of foreign envoys to influence American policies through contacts with officials here, and in foreign influences exerted upon American diplomats abroad. This sort of thing goes on all the time and was in progress prior to the World War.

The British were especially successful in charming Ambassador Walter Hines Page at London, and Col. E. M. House, Wilson's intimate friend and unofficial roving ambassador.

The British cut German cables after war was declared and thereafter controlled most news channels. Sir Gilbert Parker set up a prolific London propaganda bureau for America's exclusive benefit, and such celebrities as Kipling, Wells and Galsworthy were glad to write prejudiced articles for America.

Droves of British authors, labor leaders and other lecturers came over. (Possibly you remember Arthur Guy Empey.) English public men such as Lord Bryce wrote long soulful letters to admirers in America.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador, had become an intimate friend of Theodore Roosevelt and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who grew increasingly jingoistic and pro-Ally as the war wore on. The Morgan partners still boast that they were from the start heart and soul for the Allies.

House was on such good terms with the British that when Assistant Secretary of State Lansing drafted a stern note protesting the British blockade, House took the note to Spring-Rice, and allowed him to revise it.

THEN—THE FLOOD

Atrocious stories, most of them faked, poured in from Allied nations. Propagandists effectively plugged the story that as soon as Germany had defeated England she would invade America.

A huge "preparedness" movement was built up largely on this thesis of German invasion, with T. R. Gen. Leonard Wood and munitions interests leading the whooping.

The country was flooded with books and movies in which "defenseless America," "preparedness," or "German bestiality" were central themes. Clergymen, business men, editors—nearly everyone—fell in line for "preparedness" and Wilson himself, in the election year of 1916, led one of the many big "preparedness" parades.

The relief campaign for "starving Belgians" enlisted more pro-Ally sympathy, although the British blockade served to starve Belgians and Germans alike. The submarine warfare, operative in the British-declared war zone as a valuable military retaliation to the starvation blockade, was commonly regarded here as merely an expression of German blood lust. British propagandists assured the world submarine warfare was otherwise unimportant.

The propaganda climax came with torpedoing of the British liner Lusitania with loss of 124 American lives. Foreign and native propagandists fanned the flames of national indignation. The captivated Page cabled that "America must declare war or forfeit European respect."

"GERMAN SPY" FEVER

German counter-propaganda was futile, partly because it was bungled, but largely because few Americans wanted any. Ambassador Bernstorff catered to Washington correspondents, press-agented his cause wherever he could get a hearing and had able assistance from Dr. Bernhard Dernburg and G. H. Albert.

But even his warning to Americans to keep of the Lusitania bounced back at him. The German publicity machine stalled, then died.

The Germans subsidized certain American writers, newspapers, alleged peace societies and arms embargo movements. Efforts were made to get all sympathizers with the Central Powers out of munition factories. Austrian Ambassador Dumba was trying to stir up Austro-Hungarians in this country. A message to his government describing this effort and slightly criticizing Wilson was intercepted and published by the British. Wilson demanded Dumba's recall.

THE NEW DRIVE

It is curious to note that the present German Ambassador, Dr. Franz Luthar, is being recalled 20 years later, partly because he has been unable to get any American money lent to Germany and partly because he has been unable to arouse any sympathy here for Hitler's Nazi government.

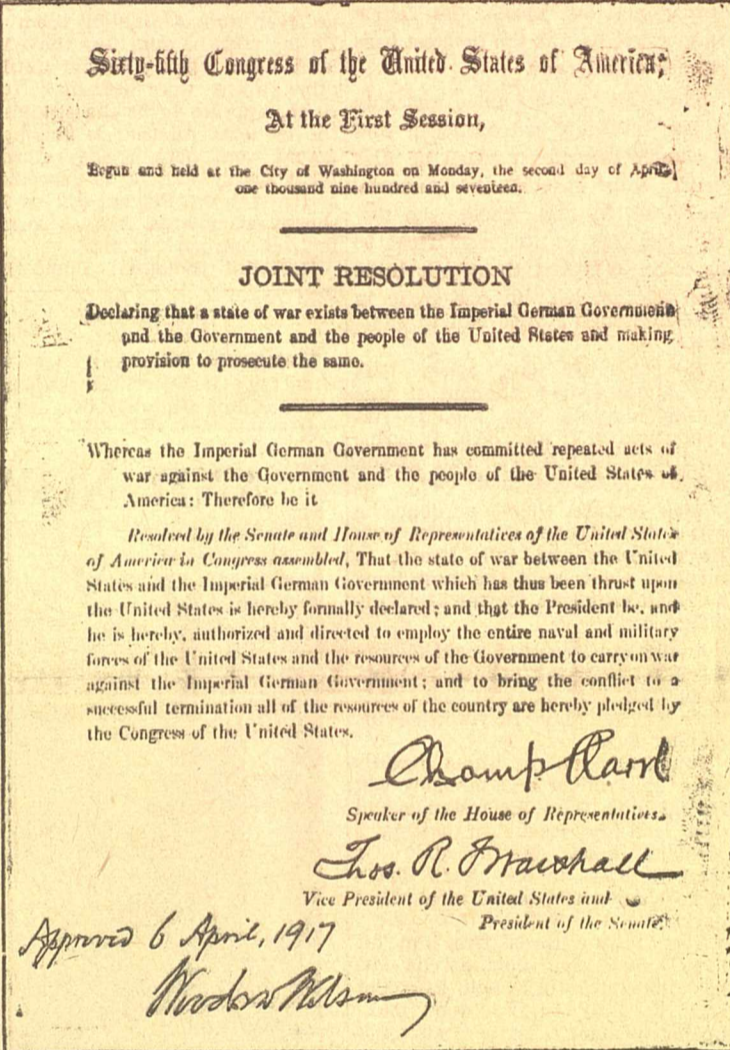

Germans, British, Italians, French through embassies here, have tried everything under the sun to find some loophole in the Johnson act which would give them access to American funds. They're all preparing for war.

Germany and Italy especially need cash. Fulvio Suvich, relatively new Italian ambassador, was sent here to wangle a loan. The new French ambassador, M. Bonnet, was sent to try to persuade Roosevelt to permit Morgan & Co., to act as fiscal agents for the new French loan.

Walter Runciman of England, a recent visitor, is understood to have urged a $500,000,000 loan to Britain which would be re-lent to Germany and France as an alleged measure to help keep peace. Runciman failed.

Everybody knows that any American money lent to Europe today is, in effect, inevitably destined for

As early as 1916, President Wilson was publicly appearing, as shown above, at the head of martial parades, many of which were staged to drum up preparedness for war. Left to right above are Joseph Tumulty, private secretary to Wilson; Admiral Cary Grayson, the president's personal physician; President Wilson, and General Dyer.

One of the most important papers in the history of the United States is shown above, the joint resolution declaring war on Germany. Note that it only formally declares the existence of a state of war which it avers has already "been thrust upon the United States."

munitions makers. Although the administration is engaged in a tripartite agreement with France and England to support each other's currency, there is no indication of any relaxation of the Johnson act.

Foreign propaganda here is relatively tame stuff in peace time, except for the sub rosa type. Embassies feed it out as best they can and ambassadors seek to make as many important friends and contacts as possible.

The Russian embassy entertains frequently and lavishly for officials and newspaper correspondents. The Germans give a famous annual "beer evening" at which many American officials, congressional leaders and correspondents make merry.

British propaganda is considered to be handled ably although unofficially by Sir Wilmott Lewis, correspondent of the London Times, a jewel among after-dinner speakers who knows nearly every Washington newspaperman by his first name.

The Spanish embassy is a center of propaganda for any-one who call for literature, but has not been aggressive.

Most foreign military and naval attaches have little espionage systems of their own, although their activities are seldom exposed. German Nazi, Italian Fascist and Communist organizations are known to exist in America, but none of them has yet been definitely connected with their respective embassies here.

At this writing America appears impervious to all types of foreign propaganda. The test as to whether we're really immune will come if and when European nations again begin to fight and turn loose the floodgates in an effort to obtain American help.

NEXT: Comparing America's old and new foreign policies and weighing their potentialities for either peace or war.

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN

THE literary world was startled in 1636 by the new form of drama which Pierre Corneille, great French dramatist, introduced in his "Le Cid," love story of Spain's legendary hero. A storm of criticism arose, and Corneille was forced to retire from the public drama for three years.

But when, at the age of 33, this young genius, from whom modern French drama is dated, returned to Paris, he forced upon his former critics his new idea of the three "unities" in stage presentations—time limited to a day, scene to a single locality, and action to a single theme. He wrote other great plays, but soon his literary power declined. He retired to his home in Rouen. Poverty crept upon him and, as he said, he became "satiated with glory and hungry for money." Two days before he died, in 1684, King Louis XIV sent him some money, but it was too late.

In 1936, on the 300th anniversary of "Le Cid," France issued a stamp picturing Corneille.

Pan American Fair Traces Mexico's Mails Back Through Centuries to Indian Runners

PAN AMERICA, Dallas, Texas, March 29.—From the days when Aztec runners carried hieroglyphs of tribal chieftains to Montezuma and emperors before him, through the centuries down to today's super-efficient postal system of Mexico, the means of communications below the Rio Grande will be shown in an exhibit planned as part of the Mexican participation in the Pan American Exposition at Dallas.

Mexico's Postmaster General Alfonso Gomez Morentin

Postmaster General Alfonso Gomez Morentin of Mexico has not committed his government definitely to the idea. In a recent visit with Director General Frank L. McNeny of Pan America, however, he described the plan he has for portraying an intriguing story; how the mail has gone through between Mexico City and points outlying from the capital since the days when it was Tenochtitlan.

Long before European governments first thought of systemized postal service, the Incas and Aztecs had a runner system of carrying their cochineal-dyed writings on silk and magney fibers about official business of empires that flourished before the Golden Age of Greece.

In Montezuma's reign, communications had developed to the stage that, when Cortez landed his conquistadores at Vera Cruz the news was transmitted in less than twenty-four hours to the emperor at the capital, 200 miles away.

The mails from Spain and how they were carried, how mail was speeded up when the horse was introduced as a new and faster beast of burden and developments from the very start of the Mexican national government are on record as part of a treasured collection in the postoffice department at Mexico City.

CCC Enrollees Will Find New Medical Service Provided for Their Welfare

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex., Apr.

—The 16,050 persons who will be admitted to the Civilian Conservation Corps from the 8th Corps Area during the period April 1 to 20 will be introduced to a new phase of the extensive medical service provided for their health and well-being.

This new phase of the health program is the traveling dental service unit, a service which has been inaugurated this year.

Under the new plan now in effect a dental officer supplied with full field dental equipment mounted on a truck and aided by two enrollee assistants, moves from camp to camp administering to the dental needs of enrollees. There are 20 of these units operating in the 8th Corps Area and 168 throughout the United States.

The dental officer examines enrollees for dental defects, fills cavities and administers emergency remedial treatment.

Under this operations system one of the dental teams spends at least two weeks in each camp. Each CCC district in the corps area has been assigned one or more teams, depending on the number of camps in the district.

Prior to the installation of these mobile dental units dental service was limited to emergency treatment such as extractions and relief of pain. This treatment was given either in government hospitals or by civilian dentists in the vicinity of the camps.

This additional service, coupled with the complete medical program now in effect, which includes the assignment of a medical officer to each camp CCC medical staffs in government hospitals, ambulance service, and strict attention to vaccinations and immunizations against disease, will insure the development of physically fit American citizens among CCC enrollees.

The enrollment of 16,050 new men for the Ninth Period will bring the strength of the CCC in this corps area to 41,664 enrollees. Of this new increment, 2,802 will be assigned as replacements in work companies of 8th Corps Area origin working on Ninth Corps Area projects.

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex., Apr. —The enrollment of 16,050 young men whose homes are in the Eighth Corps Area for admittance to the Civilian Conservation Corps will be affected during the period April 1 to 20.

Of the new juniors being enrolled, 14,050 will go to camps located in the 8th corps area and 2,802 will be assigned as replacements in the 32 companies of 8th corps area origin now on work projects in California and Oregon in the ninth corps area.

The replacement enrollment for the ninth period of the CCC will bring the strength of the work camps in the 8th corps area to a total of 41,664 enrollees. Replacements enrolled for the 9th corps area will bring the strength of 8th corps area companies in California and Oregon to 4,736.

A total of 38 veterans will be enrolled from Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, and Wyoming, bringing the veteran complement of the CCC in this corps area to 2,900.

Of the juniors being enrolled for the ninth period for service in the 8th corps area, Texas will select 5,540 white and 186 colored; Oklahoma, 5,300 white and 100 colored; Colorado, 1,200 white juniors; New Mexico 850 white juniors; Wyoming 500 white juniors and Arizona 375 white juniors.

Those being sent to the ninth corps area will include 1901 white juniors enrolled in Texas and 901 enrolled in Oklahoma.

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex., Apr. —The consolidation of the Oklahoma City and the Muskogee Oklahoma CCC districts into a single district to be known as the Oklahoma district will be made effective on May 1, 1937. It was announced at the headquarters of the CCC in the 8th corps area here today. Headquarters for the new district will be maintained at Oklahoma City.

The consolidation will reduce the number of districts in the 8th corps area to 10 after the Phoenix and Tucson, Arizona, districts and the Littleton and Grand Junction, Colorado, CCC districts are consolidated on April 1.

Major Everett M. Graves, now commanding the Muskogee CCC district will command the New Oklahoma district and Capt. Carley T. Marshall, now commanding at Oklahoma City, will be the new district executive.

Existing facilities at Muskogee will be used for motor repair and supply purposes and will be designated as the Muskogee point.

Plays Progressing Nicely

Miss Bruner states that the one-act play is progressing nicely. The faculty play, "The Bishop's Candlesticks" and the comedy, "Fourteen" will soon be ready for presentation. These plays promise to be one of the outstanding events of the year.

Declamations in Tip-Top Condition

Miss Agatha Bruner stated that the declamers have been doing fine work and that at the present they are in tip-top condition for the finals which are to be held the latter part of next week. At present about thirty declamers have reported to Miss Bruner for special coaching.

Easter Fashions

Easter time is beauty time and here's the latest fad, clothes of different colors are things that don't look bad.

A dusty pink bolero suit clad the figure of tiny Martha Flaherty. A darling blue off-the-face hat with dainty ribbons covered her curly brown hair. In her hand she carried a blue purse with gloves. On her feet were small blue toe-less sandals.

Another small figure could be seen among the beauties. In a thistle dress, white shoes, Wanda George peeped out from under her white bonnet hat and in her hand she carried a gorgeous white bag.

Kitty Gene Ellis was dressed in dark blue—a beautiful dress trimmed with plaited white pique. Her accessories were white with the loveliest mesh hose and white zipper shoes. John Turner sent her a corsage of pink, but it didn't match her dress, so she didn't wear it.

Mary Jane Harper looked so charming and sweet in her yellow print silk with its yellow coat. The dress and coat had puffed sleeves, her dress a swing skirt. Plaits were down the front of her blouse with two beautiful clips at the neck. There was a patent belt that could be worn with both coat and dress. On her head was the latest style in hats. It consisted of three large ribbons plaited together. She set it on the back of her head in a very attractive manner. White shoes, purse, and gloves, completed her dress.

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN

BUFFER PORT OF EUROPE

FOR many centuries, Ostend, picturesque seaport and pleasure resort on the coast of Belgium, was the helpless buffer between nations struggling for a shelter on the North Sea. It was the last stronghold of the Dutch in the 16th century. Spain held it for a while, then came France. In 1918, when Germany forced her way to the coast, in the World War, the British loaded the old warship Vindictive with cement and sank her in the mouth of the harbor. In this way the port of Ostend was bottled up during the war.

Until today a quiet fishing and resort center, Ostend again may become a thriving modern port. Its harbor is to be improved, a hydroplane base built, and a bid entered to make Ostend the western terminus of the proposed transcontinental highway to Istanbul, Turkey. An airview of the port appears on an airmail stamp issued by Belgium in 1930.

SPEED SKATING OFFERS THRILLS

Jacqueline Crawley, our first alto is only a freshman but that did not hinder her looks on Easter. She wore a handsome grey swaggar suit with a beautiful pink blouse. She set this off with pink sandals, light grey hose, and a grey hat with a veil—Lovey to look upon.

Next is our bass, Wanda Ticknor, or rather second alto. She wore a navy blue silk dress with a tiny white collar. Over the dress was placed a plaited cape that tied in a bow in the front. She completed her outfit with black high heeled toeless sandals, fresh from Fort Worth, and a navy blue straw hat, set off the face with ribbons down the back, last but not least, were blue lace gloves and a blue gaberdine purse.

This completes our Easter fashion parade but we're always seeing pretty clothes, so don't be surprised if you find you are being talked about.

Ford Announces Coupe With Box

PICTURED ABOVE is a new dual purpose car, a coupe with a pick-up box, designed for operators who require a light commercial unit with the comfort and style of a passenger car, which has just been announced by the Ford Motor Company. The new unit is available with either the 85 horsepower or the 60 horsepower V-8 engine.

This car is expected to find a wide field of usefulness among farmers, contractors, plumbers, oil field

FRAIL GIRL HOLDS PLACE WITH MEN IN TRUCKING PULPWOOD TO RAILROAD

BIG BAY, Mich. (U.P.)—Unto Makela is used to bossing square-shouldered, tobacco chewing "road monkeys" who truck pulpwood to a railroad station.

Consequently his eyes widened with amazement when a slender, corn-haired girl tripped into his lumber office, tossed her suitcase into a corner and her movie magazine on a chair as she announced: "I'm B. Lang, and I'm ready to go to work."

"Not the B. Lang I hired as a road monkey?" Makela asked.

"Sure, I'm your new truck driver, Beatrice Lang," the girl replied. That night she helped straighten a connecting rod, grind a couple of valves, and repair a transmission. At daybreak she was first in line of trucks that ply the rutty roads into the forests of the Huron mountains.

That was six months ago, and she's been first in line ever since, Makela admits.

Beatrice is 23, weighs 110 pounds and has been a "road monkey" for two years. A typical "road monkey" is big, rough, inured to harsh weather.

Three times a day through rain, snow, and sleet Beatrice races her truck loaded with two tons of spruce logs down the mountain to the railroad station. She averages more than 100 miles daily over a road corrugated with chuck-holes.

"Some of the boys she always stops to powder her nose before pulling into camp," Makela said, "but she's as good a driver as any man and a lot better than most."

Beatrice worked as a file clerk in Chicago to earn the money to buy a truck. Her parents live near Blaney Park, Mich.

She lives in the bunkhouse with two other women. She likes to fish, knit, golf, and dance—but she would rather tinker with a motor.

Irked Farmer Pastures Huge Wild Geese Flock
CHARLESTON, Mo. (U.P.)—Alphia Brown has been "pasturing" some 5,000 wild geese all winter on his farm near the Mississippi River.

He can't keep the geese scared away all the time, Brown said, and game preserve law prohibits him shooting at them. The geese are feeding off Brown's wheat fields.

Crocheting Job Takes 57 Miles of Thread

QUINCY, Mass. (U.P.)—Mrs. Margaret Glass figured she used nearly 57 miles of thread to crochet two bedspreads, set of curtains, chair sets, bureau scarfs and a tablecloth.

Mrs. Glass says the bedspread alone took 22,000 yards of thread and 2,500 "pop-orn" knots. The complete bedroom set took her 15 months to make.

Hawaii's Last King Is Revealed as a Gourmet

HONOLULU, (U.P.)—The original menu for the coronation of Kalaikoa, the last king of Hawaii, which has just been discovered, indicates he was not on a diet.

The official dinner was in the Iolani Palace, now the territorial governor's office. The menu included three soups, six varieties of fish, in addition to crabs and lobsters, seven kinds of roasted meat, two curries, potatoes, peas, corn, spinach, seven wines, six desserts, fruit, liquor and beer.

NORWOOD GIVES PLATFORM IN MARSHAL RACE

A. J. (Andy) Norwood, candidate for re-election for the office of City Marshal, gives the following as the platform upon which he is seeking the office.

"My duties as your present marshal prohibit me seeing each voter personally and stating my platform. I am taking this means to state briefly some of the reasons why I ask your vote and influence in the election Tuesday, April 6.

"My years as a peace officer in this city have given me unqualified experience to serve you better. I am thoroughly familiar with all the requirements of the office and sincerely believe that I have pleased a large majority of the citizens of Midland. I have let no other duties interfere with those of serving you as an officer. I am paid from the taxpayers' money, and as such am a public servant.

"I am seeking re-election on my merits. I have the highest regard for my two opponents and have nothing to say against them. I firmly believe that my experience as an officer places me in a better position to serve you better during a second term.

"I shall deeply appreciate your vote and wish to promise all that I shall serve you faithfully and impartially if elected to the office again." A. J. (Andy) Norwood. (Political Adv.)

Motorist is Sentenced For Uncoupling Train

O'FALLON, Ill. (U.P.)—Weary of waiting for a freight train to clear a crossing, James E. Cavins, 29, leaped from his automobile and uncoupled the train.

Their hose automatically disconnected and, frightened by the hissing, Cavins returned to his car and fled. In his hurry to get away he collided with two others cars and was arrested.

"I thought it was a good idea," Cavins said. He was sent to the Vandalia prison farm for a term of six months.

'In-Law' Illness Called Possible by Professor

BOSTON, (U.P.)—Mental illness may develop from a number of seemingly normal circumstances, such as the problem of "in-laws," according to Dr. C. Macfie Campbell, Harvard psychiatry professor and medical director of Boston Psychopathic hospital.

"Marriage involves not only the adaptation to the individual partner but also to the social group from which the partner comes," he says. "Adaptation to the problems of the in-laws is not always successful."

J. V. STOKES'

Platform FOR Mayor of Midland

First, I will personally supervise every department under the jurisdiction of the city; finance, building, streets, labor, safety, paving, water, and especially health.

The first thing I will take up will be to secure a purifier for the city, good water to drink. Something has been said about paving. I am for paving of course but let's pave first where needed worst; remember everybody pays a paving tax. Let's be fair.

"Safety." I am in favor of installing four or five stop lights at the most dangerous crossings. Those fast drivers must be stopped.

I will seek to obtain a more equal and uniform tax levy, with the additional taxable values that should accrue to the city.

I see no reason why taxes should not be reduced to an even dollar per hundred within the next twelve months, however, I can tell more about this or anything else when I get to it.

I am for orderly and economic development rather than a sporadic boom.

Thoughts are the product of man's years.

I have not undertaken to see many people personally, as I am well enough known that I do not believe this necessary. However, to those who do not know me personally, I suggest that you find out who I am, and then vote as you think best. I have never been accused of not being progressive enough, yet I will know where every dollar goes.

I promise you an honest, efficient, business-like administration.

Shortly after the above announcement was handed to the press, friends of Mr. Stokes submitted the following response to his suggestion, "to those who do not know me, please find out who I am":

J. V. Stokes has been in Midland county 45 years. He raised one of the best herds of Hereford cattle in the West, as he had the reputation of selling some of the highest priced cattle perhaps ever sold in America.

He served as a County and City official for 14 years, and has been the chairman of the board of the Midland National Bank a number of years.

Yes, we know who he is!
