

Expect Defeat of Bill to Raise Relief Appropriation

MAVERICK'S BILL DEFEAT FORECAST IN FACE OF PLEA

President Says The Treasury Already Far Into Red MANY BILLS UP

150-Billion Asked In Measures to Be Voted On

WASHINGTON, April 21. (P)—Administration chief claims today forecast defeat for the proposal of Congressman Maverick of Texas to increase by nearly a billion dollars the appropriation for next year's relief. The forecast was expressed in view of the president's plea for economy.

WASHINGTON, April 21. (P)—President Roosevelt told Congress Monday that latest figures indicate the Government will go $418,000,000 into the red in the 1938 fiscal year—the eighth successive year of federal deficits.

However, he called for economy, said he would use "every means at my command" to wipe out the threatened deficit, and indicated that new taxes may be sought in the next session of Congress to close the gap between income and outgo.

WASHINGTON, April 21. (P)—The President laid the figures before Congress in a message which called for $1,500,000,000 for work relief in the 1938 fiscal year—which begins next July 1.

He overhauled previous financial estimates to take account of disappointing tax receipts which fell below Treasury predictions.

Two "definite steps" will be taken, the chief executive said, to narrow the spread between revenue and expenditures: 1. An effort will be made to save "a substantial percentage" of appropriations and (2) the flow of cash into the Treasury will be increased by liquidating assets of certain emergency bureaus.

CHILD HEALTH IS MEETING SUBJECT

First Conference of A Series Is Called At Abilene

ABILENE, Apr. 21.—A symposium on maternal and child health problems, considered from the angle of the practicing physician, and from the angle of the public, will be held in Abilene Thursday and Friday, according to word just received from Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

This is the first of a series of three meetings to be held in the Second Medical District of the State Medical Association. The second meeting will be held in Sweetwater on May 3 and 4 and the third meeting in Big Spring on June 7 and 8.

The meeting for physicians will be a postgraduate course in obstetrics and pediatrics. Valuable ideas on these subjects will be discussed.

More than 900 doctors have attended these meetings throughout the State and are most enthusiastic as to the results achieved.

Dr. W. E. Massey of Dallas will lecture on obstetrics and Dr. J. R. Lemmon of Amarillo will discuss pediatrics. Dr. J. D. Burditt of Abilene is in charge of local arrangements, cooperating with Dr. F. E. Hudson of Stamford. The lecture for physicians will be held at Hotel Wooten.

A meeting for the general public will be held at the First Baptist Church at 7:30 on the evening of April 22, for which outstanding authorities on public health have been secured.

During these two days, an exhibit arranged by the Texas State Department of Health will be on display at the Clinic Building.

"Sweetheart" to Represent City Is Contest Plan

Plans are under way for a contest sponsored by the chamber of commerce to select Miss Midland of 1937, to compete in the final contest for Texas Sweetheart No. 1 at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta.

Those girls interested in entering the local contest, which will probably be staged at the Yucca Theater, should leave their names at the chamber of commerce office. Definite plans will be announced this week.

Texas Sweetheart No. 1 will win an important role in Billy Rose's Casa Manana Revue, and afterwards she will have a chance in motion pictures. Even if the entrant does not win the No. 1 title, she will have a chance to gain a part in the Revue. Expenses from her home city to Fort Worth will be paid for each girl who represents that town.

The committee in charge of plans for the local contest are M. C. Ulmer, J. Howard Hodge, T. Paul Barron and Bill Collyns. The final contest will be held May 22, in Fort Worth.

If approved by two-thirds of the Senate membership, the amendment would be submitted to the people in August.

LEGISLATURE ON HOLIDAY TRIP TO BATTLE GROUNDS

Will Consider Overriding Veto Of Tax Remit

SALES TAX PENDS

Thousands See Jesse Jones Lay Stone At Memorial

AUSTIN, April 21. (P)—Legislators celebrated San Jacinto day by going to Houston where Jesse H. Jones, RFC chairman, leveled the cornerstone of Sam Houston monument.

Resumption of the session, however, will see the house consider overriding the Allied veto of the bill remitting taxes to Harris county; also the senate bill outlawing sit-downs.

The sales tax amendment still was pending in the senate.

HOUSTON, April 21. (P)—The $1,500,000 San Jacinto battleground memorial shaft was dedicated today, the 101st anniversary of the famous battle that ended the Texas revolt against Mexico.

A crowd of around 15,000 persons, including numbers of national and state dignitaries, was at the scene of one of the 16 decisive battles of the world for the ceremonies.

Substitute Inscription Jesse H. Jones of Houston, Reconstruction Finance Corporation head, laid the corner stone. When he spreads the mortar it was on a stone bearing a "substitute" inscription which grew out of a controversy on whether dead heroes or living men would be mentioned.

A proposal by the State Board of Control that the stone bear the names of President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner, Governor James V. Allred of Texas, Jones and others brought fire from members of the Daughters and Sons of the Republic of Texas, who suggested the names of those patriotic organizations be mentioned. Out of the disagreement came an inscription— which was adopted—mentioning only General Sam Houston's heroes collectively.

Around 100 members of the Texas Legislature and numbers of other state officials came to the ceremonies on a special train from Austin.

The battleground, 20 miles to the east of Houston, has been converted into a beautiful state park.

The memorial, still under construction, will be the tallest shaft in the nation. Towering 564 feet into the air, the shaft will be several feet taller than the sky-scraping Washington Monument. In the base will be room for an art gallery, museum and a large amphitheatre.

Federal and Texas governments co-operated in furnishing funds for the shaft.

Rain Reports of Range Continue

Weeds and Grass Boosted By Monday Night Showers

Reports of beneficial rains Monday night continued to reach Midland today as ranchmen returned from inspection of pastures in practically all directions from Midland. The fall varied from a quarter of an inch, in the vicinity of Midland, to as much as one inch thirty miles south. Growth of weeds and grass already well under way, was given considerable impetus by the moisture.

A hard sandstorm prevailed at Midland during a part of Tuesday afternoon, close on the heels of the shower which had brightened lawns over the city the night before.

Planting of feed crops was under way throughout the farming area of the county early this week.

Rains averaging from one-quarter to one and one-half inches fell over the San Angelo farming and ranch sections Monday night and light rains continued Tuesday. It was the first rain of any consequence in three months. San Angelo reported the precipitation northward to Sweetwater, west past Fort Stockton, south to beyond Sonora and east past Brady.

Lubbock reported rains on the South Plains area ranged from showers to three inches. It was the first good rain in some sections since last November. General showers were reported in Coleman county ranging from one-half to an inch.

Memorial Service Held for Victim; Body Unrecovered

A WORTHY CHARITY

Few appeals for public attention and support come with more reason and urgency than the one made annually in behalf of crippled children.

In a modern world which moves swiftly and sometimes ruthlessly, it is warming and satisfying to know there are agencies devoted exclusively to the welfare of these deserving youngsters.

Starting life, many of them with less than a full chance, most of the boys and girls crippled by disease or accident have acquired through modern science an opportunity to live a complete and happy life.

Problems arise in finding the children early enough in life for satisfactory treatment and in bringing them to the hospitals and schools where the wonders of modern treatment and education are available.

To these tasks the International Society for Crippled Children and its local affiliated groups, the Midland Chapter members have dedicated themselves. In furtherance of their duties in this field they annually place on sale Easter Seals to raise the necessary funds.

The Easter Seal campaign to be conducted here Monday, April 26 is one which pays happy dividends and is deserving of wholehearted public support.

It is a worthy pursuit in which these societies are engaged and it is singularly appropriate that their seal campaign comes around joyous Easter season.

The campaign slogan—"Joyous Life for Crippled Children"—is, indeed, a happy phrase.

Much can be done, much is being done for youngsters brought up short early in life by crippling accident or disease. There is a fertile field for high endeavor in this direction.

For bringing the problem out in the open and for working so unceasingly toward its solution, the society deserves public commendation and support. There should be no doubt concerning the success of the seal campaign which opens here in Midland.

TIP FOR "GOLF WIDOWS"

The wife of a noted golfer dramatizes the dismal lot of a "golf widow" by suing for a divorce. Her advice to prospective brides of fairway addicts is "Don't."

With all respect to the unhappy woman, however, it is wondered if she took every step possible to make her married life a success. If she simply sat home and waited for her mate's seasonal return, perhaps she got what she deserved. But a "golf widow" generally can avoid her bereavement by use of a little guile.

For instance, she could insist upon playing golf with her husband. Then, every time he prepared to drive, she could hum a little tune. She could take care that each of her drives would not carry over 10 feet, making it necessary for him to wait as she meandered slowly over the fairway. And she could chatter away about the beauty of nature, or the drabness of golf togs worn by other women nearby.

In this way, it would be only a matter of time until her mate exploded, broke his clubs, and thence became a home-body.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The chief lessons our own military experts have learned from the warfare in Spain have to do with psychology and morale.

Although it has sometimes been said that Spain has become a proving ground for the armies of the world and their weapons of death, army officers here say little of anything new has been learned about those weapons or their relative effectiveness.

But it has been demonstrated at Madrid that terrific bombardments from the aid do not necessarily demoralize a civilian population, even if carried on for months. On the contrary, it is pointed out informally at the War Department, bombardment appears to have stiffened the morale of the madrid population by intensifying the anger of the people.

Madrid is the first large city ever to sustain such a severe attack from the air and it was never possible to be sure as to these points before. The effect might have been different had the poison gas bombs been dropped, but the experts here say poison gas is not very effective in a city, that it is hard for planes to achieve concentration in a gas bombardment and that it is relatively easy for citizens of a city to protect themselves from gas. These considerations, rather than any of humanity, are believed to explain the failure to drop gas on Madrid.

On the other hand, the apparently low morale of Italian troops in Spain when under severe attack has also impressed American military strategists. It is believed that Mussolini failed to "whoop them up" with the proper amount of emotion and war hysteria, that they found themselves on foreign soil without conviction that they were fighting for a holy cause of any sort and that this lack of a proper admixture of bitterness, zeal and patriotism helps explain their willingness to retreat when fighting becomes fierce.

The Spanish loyalist troops, on the other hand, have been imbued with hatred and the conviction that they are fighting for their lives, homes and freedom against an invader.

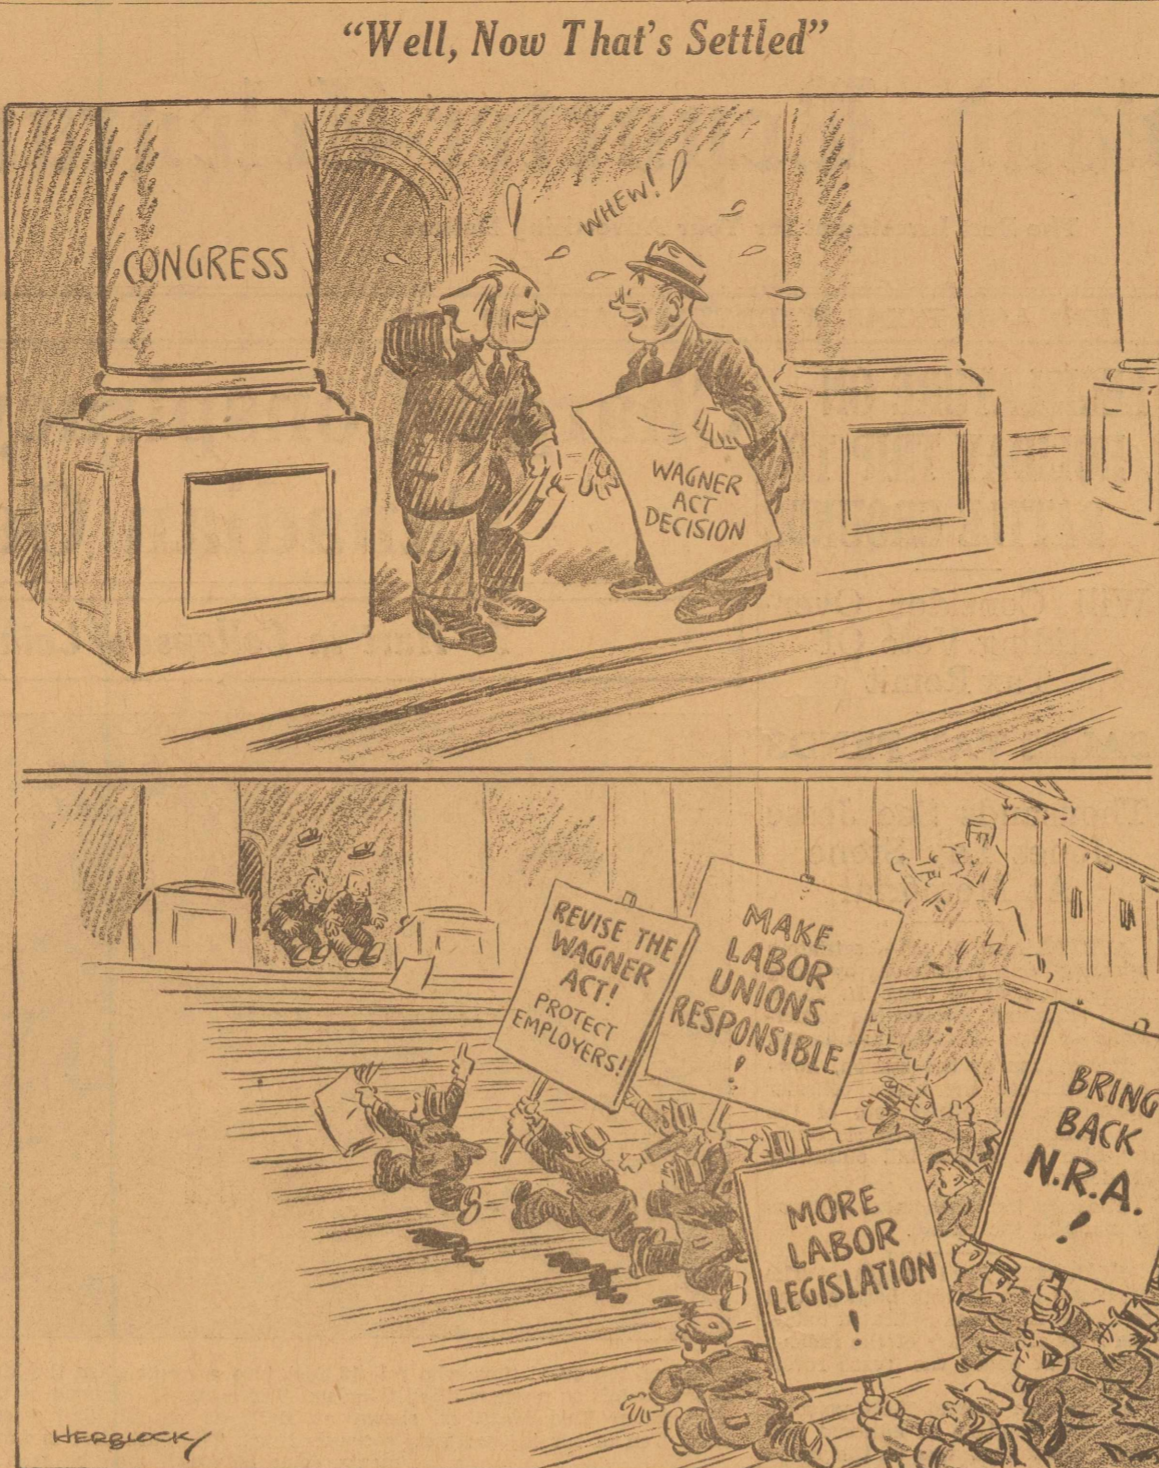

Infantry Still Basic
Stressing the fact that the Spanish war would be much more instructive if one strong power was using its best men and materials, general staff officers nevertheless are insistent that it has demonstrated their contention that airplanes, tanks, artillery, machine guns and all new or improved wrinkles of warfare are simply auxiliaries to infantry. No territory or strategic point can be captured or held without an adequate force of infantry, they point out, and the Spanish war has shown no change in infantry tactics. Mechanized units, meaning tanks or other armed and armored vehicles, are said not to have proved especially effective, although they're far speedier and more deadly than they were in the World War.

The rebels have received all their new planes and major armaments from Germany or Italy and the loyalists theirs from Russia or France according to war department information.

Italian bombers have been conspicuous, but Russian pursuit planes have done the most outstanding work. The latter appear to be a combination of pursuit and attack plane, "hedge-hopping" and spraying ground troops with machine gun fire, they have proved that this method of warfare can be extremely effective either in delaying reinforcements or in actual attack when supported by infantry.

Also noteworthy, according to our army men, are Spanish government's 20 millimeter machine guns which can fire 200 shots a minute and are said to be capable of penetrating tanks.

"Archies" More Effective

Anti-Aircraft guns are shown to have developed immensely since the World War. A new director, correcting the barometric pressure, wind and many other factors, operates electrically to keep guns of an entire battery trained on an enemy plane, with each gun firing 20 to 25 shots a minute. The high explosive shells, when exploding, each create a danger area for planes as large as a football field. Anti-aircraft guns have brought down 80 per cent of the planes disabled. At first France, with German batteries and German-trained crews, had a monopoly on anti-aircraft effectiveness. But Madrid, which had the equipment from the beginning, has recently appeared to have effective trained personnel to man them.

Our military men don't know which side will win the war. They say that's because no one knows whether Mussolini will insist on bringing in more arms and more troops.

Another curious machine that rides through the silent tunnels at night is the whitewashing car, which sprays the ceilings and walls of the station with whitewash while the wheels run along the platforms on either side of the rail ditch carry from one end to another of the enamel-vaulted stations the men whose job it is to give them their nightly bath.

PARIS SUBWAYS IDLE 4 HOURS OF 24; ALL-NIGHT SERVICE MOVE RIDICULED

PARIS (AP)—All-night subway service, a convenience unknown to Paris night-owls, has been proposed for the 1937 Exposition, but the company which operates the Metro (short for Metropolitan, name of the principal subway company) says it can't be done.

Reason No. 1 is that there isn't time to train enough new employees to run the trains at night. It would take plenty of them. There are 400 miles of track, the longest single line covering somewhat over 10 miles, approximately the same as the distance from Paris to Versailles, which it makes in 41 minutes.

Every working day sees 4,800 trains run over the system, covering a distance equivalent to two and a half turns around the earth at the equator. In 1936, the Metro trains clicked off the distance of 18,000,000 miles.

It takes plenty of employees to operate a system of this size, and skilled ones to handle trains traveling close to one another.

But an even more important objection to running the subway all night is that it gets a nightly cleaning, and the four hours when the trains don't run are all needed for the process. Some of the more complicated processes of upkeep along the tracks are long slow jobs, and four hours allows just about time to finish giving the system its nightly going over.

One of these operations is what is called the "milling" of the rails, performed by a special machine which can take care of two kilometers each night. This machine runs back and forth some 30 times, smoothing down any rough spots that may have developed in the rails.

Another curious machine that rides through the silent tunnels at night is the whitewashing car, which sprays the ceilings and walls of the station with whitewash while the wheels run along the platforms on either side of the rail ditch carry from one end to another of the enamel-vaulted stations the men whose job it is to give them their nightly bath.

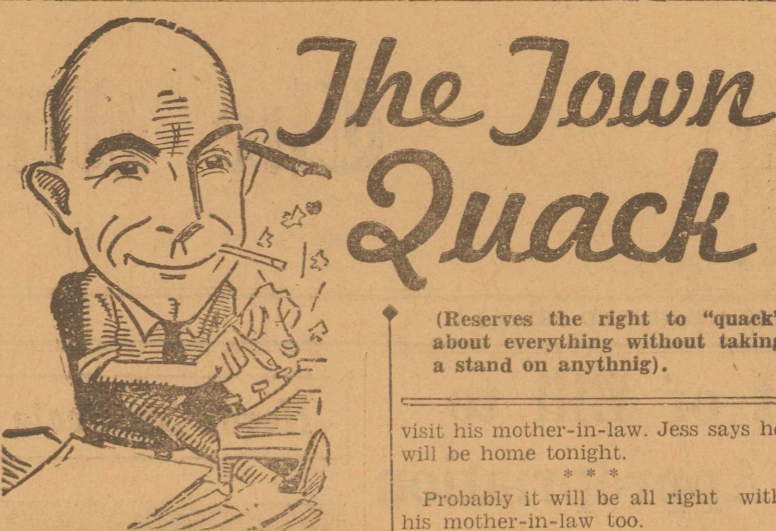

The subway even possesses a few snow plows, but they are rarely used, partly because only for very brief stretches does the Paris subway emerge into the open, but chiefly because it seldom snows seriously in Paris.

Bill Davis says this idea of staking goats in the yard to eat weeds out of the grass is nothing new. He once knew a fellow who bought a flock of sheep to keep the lawn mowed. When the man learned that the sheep had to be sheared, he said he hadn't saved any labor after all.

Some newspapers think Governor Allred will attempt to get a one-house legislature for Texas, now that he hasn't been able to get the senate to hurry action on some of his pet bills. The governor may be right in wanting faster action on these particular bills, but in the long run he will find the senate is a stabilizer and is not easily stampeded. Texas has been pretty well served by its senate.

Probably it will be all right with his mother-in-law too.

Which reminds me that kin-folks don't visit like they used to. The average guest room is fitted up just for show, not use. It is equipped with the choice furniture and the stuff the home folks don't want to wear out.

What an acorn needs is management

If the wind manages to drop the tiny acorn in the right spot... and rain and sun and Mother Earth manage to nourish it properly... you get a mighty oak.

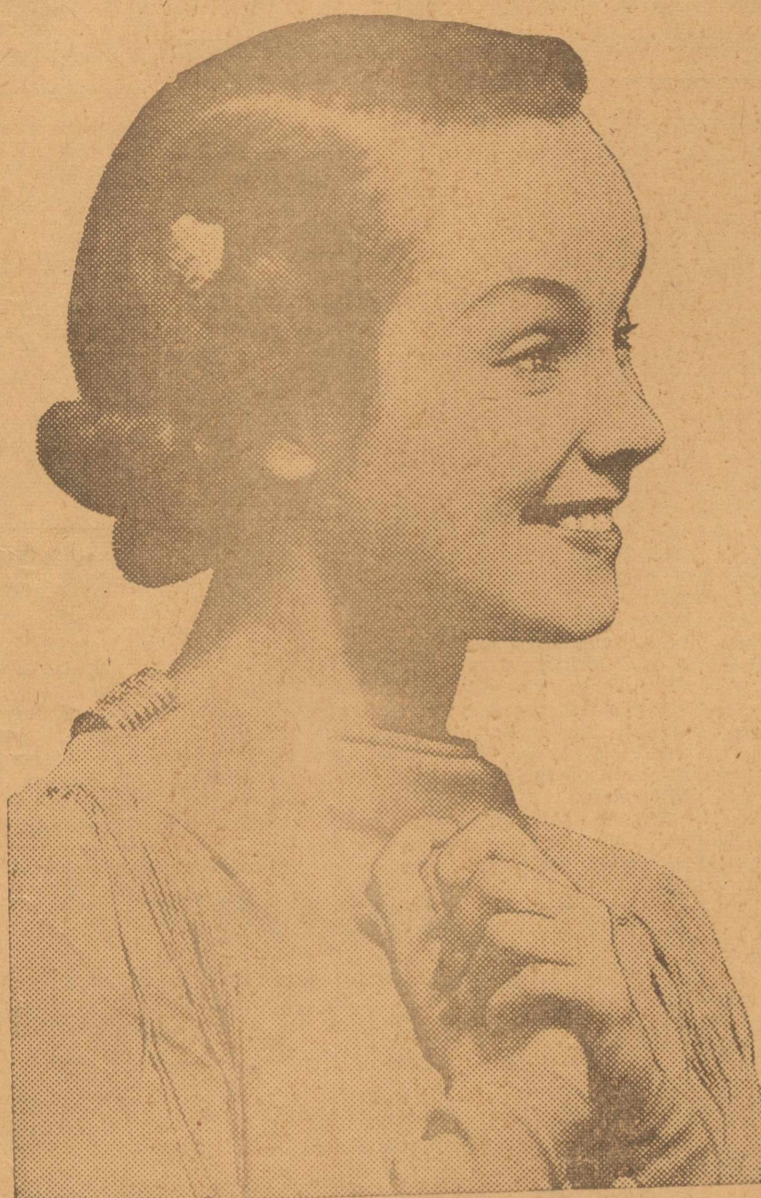

If the finest barley Nature produces manages to get together with the costliest of domestic and imported hops... and they in turn manage to have the guidance of priceless brewing skill... you get a mighty fine beer. If you want a fine beer with an utterly distinctive bouquet and taste, you ask for BUDWEISER.

Critic of Women's Press Work Blushes At Their Applause

HOUSTON, April 21.—Putting themselves on record as being un-animously behind the Advertiser Texas campaign, the forty-fourth annual convention of the Texas Woman's Press Association started Monday with Mrs. R. E. Fulton, associate editor of the Irving News, and president of the organization, presiding.

Some of the best newspapermen I know are women," Jacobs said. "I'd like all of you to come over and make yourselves at home on our three local papers by putting your feet on our battered typewriters. Women have at last gained that privilege, along with their right to report stories side by side with men and do an equally good job of it."

A resolution, which ties in with the further activities of advertising Texas as exemplified by the Great Texas and Pan-American Exposition opening at Dallas June 12, cited the great goal achieved last year by the Texas Centennial Exposition and urged the Legislature to allot necessary funds to carry on further advertising for Texas.

Allen C. Bartlett, editor of the Houston Press, detailed the opportunities which women have made for themselves in the syndicated newspaper realm by their sheer inventiveness of their minds in thinking up something new.

Twelve Guests and a Kitchenette

That's All You Need Besides These Recipes For Dinner Party

Sufficiency and flavor in a simple supper party for the kitchenette — from chilled fruit juice to hot creamed chicken on biscuits—it's a huge success to the last taste of strawberry sundae.

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer

Want to have a grand announcement party even though you have only a tiny kitchen and work during the day? Here's one worked out for 12 guests. It's luscious, easy to prepare, sure to be good, and has no ingredient preparation problem. You can put it together after a day in the office and have it hot and tempting when the guests arrive.

Hors d'Oeuvres
Celery stuffed with cream cheese and nut meats, olives gherkins spiked on toothpicks stuck in a big red apple surrounded by one package butter crackers and one package whole wheat crisps.

Pineapple and Tomato Juice Cocktail
(for 12)
Seven and one-half cups pineapple juice (3 No. 2 cans), 5 cups tomato juice, 3 cups water frozen into ice cubes.
Chill cans of juice, combine and paper's side of the question, and a frank and delightful expose of the trials of a cub reporter by Morris Frank of the Houston Post.

Mrs. Simmons Honored
Mrs. Geo. B. Simmons, contributor to magazines of national reputation, was guest speaker at the banquet Monday night at the Houston Club, with Mrs. O. H. Carlisle presiding. Mrs. Simmons chose as her subject "Roots of Democracy," and traced these roots through the fundamental backgrounds of home and community, showing the effect the printed word has on home life and national life. Other speakers included Mrs. R. E. Fulton, Tex Bayless and Mrs. Irene D. Wilson. Following the banquet an informal reception was given honoring Mrs. Simmons.

The program Tuesday included the business session and election of officers for the coming year; awards of prizes for outstanding literary work, and the selection of the meeting place for the next season. The luncheon program at San Jacinto Battlefield featured Norma Patterson of Dallas, nationally known author.

Harvard Uses Tiny Ship for Messages

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (U.P.)—The "Graf Zeppelin" causes little excitement at Harvard College as it makes daily flights from "Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen."

The Zepp, a 16-inch model of the German airship, is used to convey messages between the physics building and the engineering school, called "Lakehurst and Friedrichshafen."

The airship is operated electrically on cables stretching from the buildings, 150 feet distant. It was invented and installed by Acting Dean Harry R. Mimmo of the engineering school.

On leaving the station under its own power the aluminum tube touches off a switch as it rises from the base. The switch, attached to a small electrical motor, winds a small armature connected with a pulley spring which starts the cable rolling from the opposite side. When it arrives at its destination the "Zepp" releases a switch, shutting off the motor. A red light flashes to signal its arrival.

Whistler Etching Stolen, Abandoned by Robber

CORVALLIS, Ore. (U.P.)—Oregon State College students and faculty members are breathing easier now. A genuine, priceless etching, "The Little Nude Figure," by Whistler, was back in traveling art exhibit cabinet after having been stolen recently.

Apparently frightened by his act, the thief, after cutting the etching from a frame while on exhibition in Kidder Hall, abandoned it on a spot on the campus where it was recovered.

Superstition has it that a person at a dinner party who strikes a glass and makes it ring must place his finger upon the rim instantly "to save a sailor from drowning."

"So you are going to be married" is the title of a new little book by Virginia Courtenay, a gift copy has been reserved for each Bride-to-be.

A few of the many questions that are answered—Why do we have Weddings? When, Where and How? Why a "Wedding Invitation" . . . and how to use them. Why a "Marriage Announcement" . . . How does it differ? Informal or Formal, and why . . . What is the Distinction? Receptions, Breakfasts, Suppers . . . Where, When, How? How to plan a Formal Wedding . . . What the "Rules" say. When a Widow weds again . . . When a Divorcee reconsiders, and a wealth of other fascinating facts about one of our oldest and most sacred institutions.

Drop in at this office and get your copy; there is no obligation.

STYLES CHANGE SO . . . EVEN IN WEDDINGS. Her very best friends couldn't tell her what was just the right thing to do about invitations, announcements and such.

But Virginia Courtenay's clever booklet, "So You Are Going To Be Married," answered these questions and scores of others.

It's such an informative, intimate, "among-us-girls" sort of chat. Get your copy now. Write or phone if you haven't time to drop in. No expense . . . no obligation. And the new 1937 ART-POINT Portfolio of processed Wedding Forms is here.

Off to School They Go -- for Readin', Ritin', Rithmatic

Perhaps you think this is an unhappy picture of youngsters with braces and crutches.

Well, don't try to convince them. If they go only five miles into the country and return within an hour, it will be a gay occasion.

For these are boys and girls who have spent too many hours in bed, too many hours away from the sunlight and the scenes which the ordinary child accepts casually.

Crippled by accident and disease, they face a long, hard road beset by hazards and hardships which do not confront others more fortunate. Year by year that journey is being made happier and less difficult.

This is just one illustration of the benefits which some of these children are receiving through the generosity of persons who realize their predicament. Presumably doomed to move in a small circle because of their misfortune, they are shown here starting on a short trip which will open a new world to them.

There are other more pressing needs, of course. They must receive treatment which will give them the maximum use of their crippled bodies. They must acquire somehow an outlook on life not distorted by their afflictions.

In short, the way must be opened to give them the "Joyous Life," which is the slogan of this year's Easter Seal campaign.
To bring all crippled children in our state into contact with the fine facilities available is the laudable purpose of the International Society for Crippled Children and its affiliated state and local groups. Easter Seals provide the medium through which funds are raised for this work.

The 1937 seal, selling for a penny, shows a happy little girl, arm upraised and eyes upturned to the sun. Under the other arm is a crutch.

Oil News--

section 201, block D, is still shut down at 2,318 feet in red shale, but drilling will be resumed tonight.

Amon G. Carter and Continental Oil Company are reported to have derrick up on a new test in the southwest quarter of section 44, block AX, public school land, about two and a half miles northeast of their No. 1 A. L. Wasson test in northern Gaines county. The test is on the east six-section block of 12 sections held by Continental. The No. 1 Wasson, located in section 48, on the west six-section block, is trying to run 7-inch casing at 3,093; with about 20 joints now in the hole. Gas and air blowouts have delayed the casing job.

Lem Peters, Midland contractor, is rigging up tools on the Hugh Corrigan et al (formerly W. L. Pickens et al.) No. 1 Lewright, southeast Terry wildcat, and will probably start deepening tomorrow. The test is now bottomed at 4,975 feet, with sulphur water in the hole originating from 4,938 to total depth. Operator reported that water would be bailed down and drilling attempted without running another string of pipe. The test is located in the center of the northeast of the northeast of section 1, block C-37, public school land, ten miles northwest of Ray Albaugh's discovery in northwest Dawson.

Stakes Location

Fleetborn Oil Corporation has staked location for its No. 1 J. H. Taylor 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 18, block 33, township 3 south, T. & P. survey, Glasscock county. It is a diagonal southwest offset to the Dodson & Duffey No. 1 Carter discovery, which has been pumping 54 barrels of oil and an equal amount of water daily. Cellar and pits have been dug for Kemper Kimberlin No. 1 Humble-Mrs. Bertha Young, 2,310 feet from the southeast and 330 feet from the northeast line of section 49, block 10, H. & G. N. survey, between the Pecos Valley and Masterson pools in Pecos county.

BALDNESS

CAN BE CORRECTED WITH OUR NEW CROSLY XERVAC VACUUM MACHINE

In laboratory tests, a series of over 200 individuals were treated. Most patients received treatments twice a week, 30 minutes each. Definite, beneficial results were obtained in substantially all cases. Clinical work has indicated the following results:

1. Abnormal falling of hair was arrested in nearly every instance after 5 hours treatment.
2. After 7 to 10 hours of treatment, "previous fuzz" usually begins to grow and to develop color.
3. From this point persons treated progress towards a full growth of hair, dependent upon the follicles that are present, and living at the beginning of treatment. Growth usually occurs in the following manner: Up temporal regions, closure of bald pate, diminution of widow's peaks.
4. The time required for recovery of hair varies according to age, duration of baldness, amount of baldness, blood pressure, physical types (blondes respond slower than brunettes) and a multitude of other factors.
5. Hair already present apparently grows at a faster rate.
6. The hair present tends to become more naturally oily, as the sebaceous glands are also stimulated.
