150 Army Planes to Land Here During Four-Day Period

18 PURSUITS TO LAND AT AIRPORT THIS AFTERNOON

Ships Enroute to the West Coast For Maneuvers
ARRIVE HERE AT 4
Officials Prepare To Take Care of All Ships Here

Air minded citizens of the Permian Basin will have opportunity to witness the landing and taking off of approximately 150 army planes during a four day period, the first detachment landing at the army airway station, Sloan field, at 4 p. m. today.

The flights are made up of planes bearing officers, cadets and enlisted men en route from eastern army flying fields to participate in aerial maneuvers on the west coast. The ships will come from Selfridge field, Mich.; Langley field, Va.; Barksdale field, La.; and Wright field, Dayton, O.

The craft will consist of attack ships, pursuit planes, two place pursuits and possibly some transports. They will stop here to be refueled, with possibility that the first group, arriving at 4 p. m. today, will remain at Midland overnight. All of the ships will return by way of Midland late this month.

The army men located at Sloan field, with the regular ground crew, were ready to take care of the ships in prompt fashion, it was reported Saturday. Orders received here showed the landings to be scheduled as follows:

Sunday, May 2, 4 p. m., eighteen PB-2A two-place pursuit planes (probably overnight stop).

Monday, May 3, 11:50 a. m., 29 P-26 pursuits; later in the day, 28 P-26A pursuits.

Tuesday, May 4, from 6:20 a. m. to 8:50 a. m., 32 A-17 attack ships.

Wednesday, May 5, at 7:14 a. m., 28 P-26A two place pursuit ships.

Although the exact number of planes was not listed, another fueling order came from Wright field, Dayton, O., requiring 1,300 gallons of gasoline, for May 4, indicating a landing of from fifteen to twenty ships.

PRIVATE PILOTS' LICENSES GIVEN 2 LOCAL AIRMEN

Allen Hargrave, R. B. Cowden, Pass In Tests Friday
Private pilot's licenses were granted Friday to two Midland aviators. Allen Hargrave and R. B. (Bum) Cowden, who flew to Abilene in their own planes and stood examinations conducted by a department of commerce inspector. The two flyers were granted amateur pilot's licenses about a week earlier, in tests at Dallas, but deferred the tests for private pilot's licenses because of bad weather conditions at the time.

Under their amateur licenses, the pilots were not allowed to carry other persons in their ships, but since being granted private pilot's licenses they may carry other persons anywhere in the United States or countries having reciprocal aviation regulations.

Both men have comparatively new ships and are doing much flying at present, with Sloan field as a base. Hargrave uses his ship in his personal oil business and Cowden largely as a pleasure craft. Cowden took flying under "Little George" McEntire. Next higher licenses attainable are limited commercial and transport licenses.

Lewright Terry Wildcat Is Showing Little Oil and Gas

By FRANK GARDNER
Interest of oil men swung at the close of the week to southeastern Terry county where Hugh Corrigan et al No. 1 Lewright, test deepening below the sulphur water horizon, encountered little section of varying hardness bearing stains of oil and odor of gas. Carrying 4,300 feet of sulphur water, the well drilled a hard section from 5,021-23, and a very hard section from 5,023-25, requiring eight hours to drill that two feet. From 5,025-35 was somewhat softer, and the lime from 5,035-40 softened up considerably. Operators stopped drilling at 5,040 when the section appeared to harden again, and at last reports were running steel-line measurement to check the depth before drilling ahead, since a certain amount of "stretch" in the new drilling line may have indicated hole to be shallower than it actually is.

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.)—Mildred J. Weise, supervisor of literacy and Americanization, has figured that if all the illiterates of California were unchained in one city, it would be the third largest city in the state. And California ranks only 15th among the states in illiteracy.

FRANCE REFUSES TO RESPECT SHIPS INSIDE BAY BISCAY

Refusal Is Ignored By Masters of 9 Boats
TO REMOVE 4,000 Immigrants Will Be Given Haven In French City
HENDAYE, France, May 1. (P)—Captains of nine British merchantmen, ignoring the Spanish insurgent refusal to respect foreign ships inside the Bay of Biscay blockade, today agreed to evacuate as many children as possible for besieged Bilbao.

The captains said they hoped to be able to remove more than 4,000 to St. Jean de Luz, France. The entire crew of the insurgent battleship Espana, sunk by government aerial bombs yesterday, was reported saved.

Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco Friday night informed the British government he would not promise to respect foreign ships in Spanish waters taking part in evacuation of refugees from Bilbao. Officials of the British embassy to Spain said the insurgent high command had insisted it was determined to maintain the naval blockade of the Basque capital in conjunction with its land offensive.

This was in reply to a British inquiry as to whether General Franco would permit free passage to British and French ships removing women and children from Bilbao. Britain and France might still participate in a partial evacuation of Basque non-combatants, the officials said. They added, however, that "unsumountable physical difficulties" would prevent removal of 150,000, a figure suggested in Bilbao. Lack of sufficient vessels was one of the difficulties, they said.

ADD PATROLMAN TO POLICE FORCE IN CITY SATURDAY

Motorcycle Officer Placed on Job By City Council
The city police force was augmented yesterday when Lonnie Koon, recently named motorcycle patrolman for the city, reported for work.

The motorcycle ordered by the city has not yet been received but Koon will be work between now and the time of its arrival. Lack of the machine will handicap him in enforcement of traffic regulation but officials concede he can do lots of work while afoot.

Koon has served for approximately 7 years in Texas as a patrolman, recently being engaged at San Angelo on the force there. He was signed here after San Angelo officials had recommended him highly to local officials.

Mayor M. C. Uimer announced that Koon would be charged with rigid enforcement of the newest traffic laws passed by the city council and recommended the cooperation of the public in obedience.

Street lights were reported to have been ordered by the city council and their arrival and installation is expected shortly. Installation of the lights is expected to do much toward alleviating the traffic situation in the city, admittedly heavier than officials can efficiently cope with at the present time.

To Strip-Tease or Not to Strip-Tease

NEW YORK, May 1. (P)—License commissioner Paul Moss brought the city's burlesque situation to a dramatic head today by refusing to renew licenses of fourteen theatres where strip-teasers practiced their art.

Denial of the licenses came after two days of hearing protests of clergymen and women representing social and welfare organizations.

Music Week Provides For Young People

"Foster Local Music Talent" is the keynote for the 1937 observance of National Music Week, and the emphasis is to be placed on providing activities for young people, as being announced by the National Music Week Committee in New York. The date of the observance is May 2-8.

In commenting on the slogan, C. M. Tremaine, secretary of the Committee, said: "While our special concern this year is provision for the musical life of the young people after graduation from school and college, the National Music Week Committee wishes the fullest participation by young and old, professional and amateur, performer and listener. Music Week is, and always will be, comprehensive in character—a voluntary, spontaneous, cooperative movement to emphasize the value of music and to honor, through general participation, its service to the individual and the community."

National Music Week had its origin 14 years ago in Dallas. A group of Dallas musicians met to form the organization, which soon became national in its scope.

Local Recitals Miss Lydia Watson, local chairman of Music Week, is presenting Miss Clea Dee Tate in a piano recital Monday night in the Crystal Ball Room of Hotel Scharbauer. The public is cordially invited to attend. Monday Night, May 10, Shirley Ruth Jolly, 14, is being presented by the Watson School of Music in a Studio Recital. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Jolly, and will be assisted by Jacqueline Campbell, violinist.

Mrs. Lee Cornelius is presenting Norma Jean Stice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Stice, in an individual recital Tuesday night at 8:00 p. m. at the First Christian church. Although only ten years of age, the young pianist will present a program of merit. Margaret Ann West, an expression student of Mrs. R. Steele Johnston, will assist at the recital.

Friday night Mrs. Cornelius's students will be presented in a General Spring Recital at 8 o'clock at the First Christian church. Those students who will not give individual recitals this year will be presented Friday night in a diversified program.

The following piano students of Wallace Wimberly will play in the National Piano Playing Tournament to be held in Big Spring on Wednesday, May 5:

Payton Anderson, Dolores Barron, Nell Ruth Bedford, Lou Nell Hummer, Charlotte Kinsey, Doris Lynn Pemberton, Joan Proctor and Billy Noble.

Each of these students will play two of their tournament pieces in an afternoon recital on Tuesday afternoon at 5:15 at the studio. This will make the third year that Mr. Wimberly has entered students in the tournament.

Four From Midland Attend Convention

The Texas-National Exhibition and Convention, which brought hairdressers and cosmetologists from all parts of the United States to Fort Worth for a three-day showing of new coiffures and methods closed Wednesday evening, April 28, after setting a new record for attendance in the southwest. Between three and four thousand shop owners and beauty operators, the majority of them coming from all parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana participated in the convention, style shows and contests.

P. Richard, of New York, widely known as one of the world's leading hair stylists and president of the American section, International Master Ladies Hairdressers' Association, was in charge of the style and technical features of the convention. He told the hairdressers that red hair, in varied shades, is the coming thing and that the "platinum" effects are no longer fashionable, also that the hair styles of the next few months will stress tailored effects, with a rapid decline in the popularity of the "Page Boy" bob, which he branded as wholly unsuitable to any but girls under 20 years. A large part of the convention program was devoted to the execution of hair styles of many types before a capacity audience. Those who sat through the technical sessions of the convention were encouraged to ask questions and to familiarize themselves thoroughly with the new methods developed in recent months. A large exhibition of all types of shop equipment and merchandise, presenting the products of the leading manufacturers of the industry, was a feature of the convention.

The attendance from Midland included: Mrs. Earl Kinnead, Maedee Lee Roberts, S. N. Donovan, and Berle "uostuqor" eqi

Doctors Believe Babies Think 90 Days After Birth

MINNEAPOLIS, (UP)—Babies begin to "think" at the age of three months, according to a report of a study made by Dr. Donald B. Lindley of Brush Foundation and Western Reserve University, Cleveland. Using standardized procedure Dr. Lindley recorded the "brain waves" of 54 adults (40 men, 14 women) ranging in age from 18 to 64, along with similar records for 100 children varying from one month to 16 years of age. "Infants, the physician reported, "really begin to think at the age of three months. The doctor also discovered thru his research that women think faster than men, "as a general rule."

Watson School of Music Presents Miss Clea Dee Tate in Recital Monday Night

Observance of National Music Week Begins Here With Recital of Young Pianist

Miss Clea Dee Tate, pianist, is being presented by the Watson School of Music in a recital Monday night in the Crystal Ball Room of Hotel Scharbauer. Each year the School of Music observes National Music Week and Miss Tate's recital will begin the week's program. Miss Bettie Joe Tate, violinist, Miss Lucile Guffey, pianist, and a selected string ensemble will assist in the recital, which begins at 8 o'clock.

Miss Tate, a high school senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Tate, 214 North Weatherford. She has taken all of her music at the Watson School, and is very talented.

SATISFACTION WITH CARDINAL LINE-UP VOICED BY DAVIS

CONFIDENT BOYS WILL BE NEAR TOP ALL DURING YEAR

Confidence in the ability of the boys now making up the team to be in the fight for the pennant all year was voiced Saturday by manager Joe Davis of the Midland Cardinals.

Davis is particularly pleased with the form shown by the infield. Shifner at first, Orr at second, Stone at short stop and Serafine at third compose a line of defense that has sparkled each day in practice.

If there is any one thing that is causing worry to the skipper it is lack of a left hand pitcher. Only one, Jack Nook, is listed and he will be used mainly in the outfield. Davis realizes better than anyone that a club seldom wins a pennant without a dependable left hander on the staff and he is making efforts to land one.

Whether or not the pitchers will be able to pitch the club to the top remains to be seen as none of them

Bottle-Fed Moose Is Given Run of Ranch

DILLON, Mont. (U.P.)—Betsy, now nearly one year old, is believed to be the only fully protected bottle-fed moose in the United States.

She roams the swampy lowlands on the Beaverhead County ranch of Frank Hazelbaker, Republican gubernatorial candidate in the last general election.

The animal was saved from drowning in the Wise River last May by Charles L. Foster, of Butte. The animal was discovered marooned on a pile of driftwood in the river.

Cry of 'Poison, Poison' Applies to Wrong Man

LAGRANGE, Ind. (U.P.)—A physician stopped in a grocery store to get something to "nibble on." He picked a cellophane package of rat poison from the rack instead of candy.

The clerk chased him down the street, yelling "poison!" The doctor, not having opened the package, seized the breathless clerk, told him to cough hard and shouted for an antidote.

has pitched in competition recently. Present indications are that Davis, Dais, Smith and Noren will represent the starters with Little, Hurst and Nook serving for relief.

Davis has not yet nominated an opening day hurler, being content to wait until the game day to decide. He will probably decide between Dais, Smith and Noren with Dais probably having the inside track at present. He had tentatively planned on pitching the opener but a severe cold that he is unable to shake off has just about made him decide to use one of the youngsters.

Both Davis and Wray Query, business manager, have been particularly impressed by the work of "Emy" Potocar, catcher. Potocar is big, reasonably fast and handles the young pitchers like a veteran receiver. He appears to be better than average with the bat, each day lining them to all fields.

In the outfield Davis will probably start Murphy in right, Randell in center and Nook in left. Nook has probably more power at the plate than any other man on the team and several times in recent practices has lined the ball over the right field fence. Randell has been handicapped at the bat by a badly bruised hand but is expected to be ready Tuesday. He has not let the hand interfere a lot with his throwing, exhibiting bullet throws from all parts of the outfield. Murphy will be able to protect his position from all opposition and will get his share of hits, Davis says.

Arrangements for the big parade, closing of stores and other details relative to an opening day ceremony have not been worked out yet but will probably be completed over the week end.

In several of the towns in the league pre-season tickets have been sold for the opening game. Most of the other clubs plan on charging $1.00 for the first game but the stipulated price for all league, 40 cents will be charged here. Query has said more than once that he believes at least four times as many persons will turn out and pay the 40 cent admission than would pay the dollar quota.

Horned Frog Band of T. C. U. "Goes to Town!"

All over the Southwest, the Horned Frog Band of Texas Christian University, directed by Don Gillis, is known for its "swing" music. Following a series of radio appearances during the football season, along with other college bands in the state, the Horned Frog Band was voted the "Best College Band in Texas." Besides playing for all T. C. U. affairs, the band serves as official musical organization of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce. For the past 10 years it has had the contract as the official concert band of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, playing two concerts daily during the show.

Bigger Crops Suggested For Industrial Alcohol

ATCHISON, Kas. (U.P.)—A million dollar market for farm products to be turned into "agricultural alcohol" is attracting attention of farmers in this area.

The products which can be turned into alcohol for industrial uses are soybeans, corn, artichokes, potatoes and other similar crops.

At a public meeting here officials of a plant where agricultural alcohol is made urged farmers in this area to raise more of these crops for conversion into alcohol.

Because of the drought, officials said they have been forced to go to Arkansas, Louisiana, Colorado ### and other states for their products.

They particularly encouraged farmers to start raising Jerusalem artichokes, a tuberous variety of sunflower which is said to be especially adaptable to the Missouri Valley region.

COLLEGE WRESTLER UNPINNED

KENT, O., (U.P.)—Kent State University's heavyweight wrestler, Carmen Falcone, has yet to be pinned in collegiate competition. Falcone, after completing the regular season undefeated won the Interstate title, but lost on a decision in the national meet. However, his shoulders never have touched the mat.

Girl Ballplayer

Elizabeth (Babe) Lasocki above, wanted to play with the boys varsity of the Chicopee Mass. high school. But Principal Christopher Fitzgerald said no. Elizabeth's father William Lasocki thinks the game is good for his daughter. He took the matter up with the school board like beating Frank Dale at dominoes—a cinch.

Somebody please call in Monday and tell me to start my twice a month job of trying to find out how the Sand Belt golf club came out. They go to Lamesa today. Golf is bound to be a good game—witness the thousands of persons that play it—but we don't like it and here's why. You can't sit down and play it or watch it played. I'll take my physical work trying to put out words out of this broken down Underwood.

A lot about nothing: Wray Query says Roswell will be the club for others to beat in the West Texas-New Mexico League. Paul Trammell over at Monahans will probably back him up in that. Joe Davis would like to find a house or apartment for rent so he can bring his wife here. So would Query. Charley Bryan was plenty miffed at the League management because they took 30 per cent of his gate receipts on each game. The Odessa park will be built if the wind ever holds up long enough to let them get the segments braced. As fast as a wall is thrown up it blows down. Wonder if part of the wind isn't caused by Ralph Shuffler's constantly repeating how much better a town Odessa is than Midland? Ned Pettigrew returned to his Oklahoma stomping grounds to line up most of the members of the Hobbs club

George III Lost American Colonies for His Country But Won Esteem as a Family Man

Fourth of Line Reverted to Profligacy

"The First Gentleman of Europe" is the ironical title bestowed on King George IV (at right in his coronation robes), for his conduct toward Queen Caroline (above) was a royal scandal that alienated his subjects.

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, May 1. — The reign of King George III of England was of patriarchal length, 60 years. It was made tragic by suffering, blindness, total deafness, madness. It was embittered and acquired vast historic importance by the loss of the American colonies.

But it accomplished the downfall of Napoleon, thus eliminating the greatest menace to the life of Britain since the Norman conquest. It saw the expansion and aggrandisement of the nation's powers and wealth, the beginning of the nation's greater destiny. It cemented the kingship of the House of Hanover and made this house British for the first time. And it showed the people of the realm that a king could be a decent, simple, home-loving, deeply religious man—a tradition which the fifth and sixth Georges were to continue.

George III was the first Hanoverian king to be born in England. He was the first to live a godly, serene family life.

FELL IN LOVE WITH CHARLOTTE THROUGH CORRESPONDENCE

FATHER DIED WITHOUT ATTAINING THE THRONE

George was born June 4, 1738, son of Frederick, Prince of Wales and Augusta, who was the daughter of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg. His father died when he was 13 and the boy thus became heir to the throne of his grandfather. He learned French and German, but his English was bad and all his life he could not spell correctly. He grew up in a world in which the British peerage had all the fun and all the power and was dissolute, impious and immoral as it was powerful. George mounted the throne a moral and a pious man and such he remained all his life—a creature of simple tastes, who loved his wife, his children, his fireside. He liked to play at farming and so became known as "Farmer George."

They reared their 15 children. They danced long hours in simple family parties. George sat and listened while his Charlotte played on the spinet. He adored long sermons and church music. His mother long ago had pronounced him a dull but good boy and in his private life he remained exactly that.

REGAINED FOR THE CROWN MANY DORMANT PREROGATIVES

In his public life he was not quite so happy. He could not understand great men. He disliked statesmen like Fox and Chatham and Burke, and warriors like Nelson who shed lustre on his era. He had exalted ideas of the prerogatives of the crown and steadily and stubbornly resumed powers which had been taken by the cabinet. He seized much of the patronage and a party of "King's Friends" grew up. He used corruption both in elections and in Parliament to gain his ends and he did break the long oligarchy of the Whig party.

He disliked the American colonists because of their growing independence and was happiest when he found a ministry subservient to his ideas of crushing them. From 1770 to 1782 he virtually directed affairs. He heartily favored the long wars with France, which finally broke Napoleon's power and he stubbornly opposed emancipation of the Roman Catholics among his subjects.

The closing years of his life were as black as those of some protagonist in a starry Greek tragedy. In 1765 he was mentally deranged for some time, but recovered. In 1788 this required and the first bill was passed making his eldest son, the Prince of Wales, the regent. Again he recovered.

But in 1809 he became blind and in 1811, after the death of his favorite daughter, Princess Amelia, he became hopelessly insane and also deaf. He was a King in total darkness and isolation, a King often in a straightjacket. He died January 29, 1820.

GEORGE IV REVERTED TO TYPE OF EARLIER GEORGES

He was succeeded by his son who had been regent so long and who now mounted the throne as George IV. This king was born at St. James' Palace, London, August 12, 1762, and five days later was made Prince of Wales by his adoring father. Among his earliest toys were a set of Indian bow-and arrows sent him from New York by the still loyal subjects of the crown.

He grew up a handsome lad, with quick brains for languages and all kinds of learning. He played the cello, sang pleasantly, rode well. But as the years went on, the good-looking lad became the red-faced, bloated man of the world who cared more for the set of a wig and the fit of a coat than for anything serious. He was a dissolute as the rich patricians of his time, instead of moral, like his father and mother. In the days when he was Regent for his mad father, he made the "regency days" famous or infamous, according to the viewpoint. He made the seaside place of Brighton a resort of fashion. He became one of the most extravagant princes in England's history.

He was cold and heartless and not only dropped one-time friends like the famous Beau Brummel, but the doll women he had for a time petted and adored, and the woman he married. He was constant only in his inconstancy.

MARRIED MRS. FITZHERBERT, COMMONER, THEN A PRINCESS

Thus, antedating the Duke of Windsor in his love for a commoner, he contracted a form of marriage with a Mrs. Fitzherbert in December, 1785. To get Parliament to help with his mounting debts, he allowed an official denial of his marriage. Again to secure Parliamentary votes, he wed his cousin, Caroline of Brunswick. His conduct towards her was cruel and callous to the extreme and helped alienate the English. After the birth of their daughter, he deserted Caroline to climax his abominable conduct towards her and made attempts to secure a divorce from her. It was this rone, this top, this profligate who was called a little over one hundred years ago—"The First Gentleman of Europe."

His reign was marked by great events. While Regent, his England gave the mortal blow to Napoleon and fought the war of 1812 with the United States. When he was king, England helped the Greeks attain independence from the Turks, and the long fights of the Catholics to have full rights of British citizenship was at last won. George IV, regent by few, died at Windsor, June 26, 1830.

Physical Exams Feature Health Day Work in May

AUSTIN, Apr. 30.—One of the valued by-products of May Day—Child Health Day—activities of recent years has been the stimulus to physical examinations in the schools of our state, is the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. Early detection of these defects and their correction will assure better health and well being to our coming generation.

A child with defective vision cannot be expected to do the required work in school until this handicap is removed. Inflamed, watery eyes, granulated lids, chronic styes, nervous actions as habitual winking, may be caused by a defect and should have immediate attention. The far reaching effects of infecting tonsils on the system has been recognized by health workers for years. Many of the ills of later life, such as heart disease, arthritis, deafness, etc., are directly traceable to tonsils that become infected during childhood and were allowed to remain untreated.

Dental defects are found in more children than any other imperfection, and for this reason children should be taken regularly to their dentist for examination and cleaning of the teeth. This precaution keeps the mouth clean and makes it possible to discover dental defects as soon as they appear.

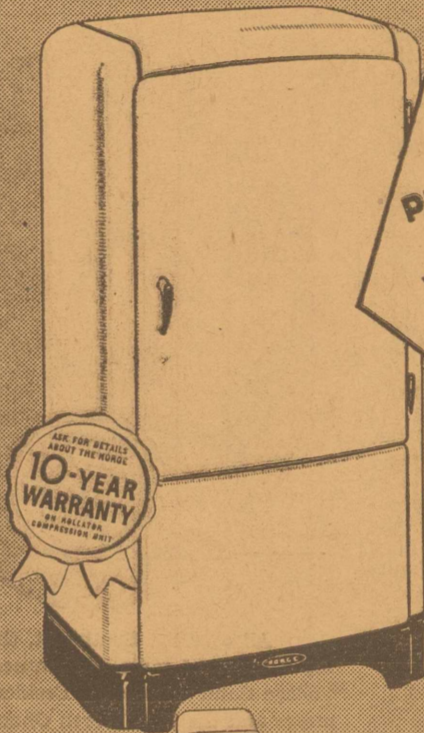

Postural defects appear in the life of a child much sooner than we formerly suspected. Have your family physician see if your child's shoulder blades project and if his arches are low. Simple exercises, diligently adhered to, when the child is young, will prevent later serious developments in many cases.

It will pay you to watch the classified column daily.
