AGREEMENT MADE BETWEEN ACTORS, PRODUCERS TODAY

Fears of Strike Are Allayed at Least Temporarily

TO ASK BOYCOTT

Crafts Head Sets A Deadline For Answer

HOLLYWOOD, May 10. (AP) - A tors guild and producers today allayed fears that actors would strike, but Charles Lessing, head of the federated motion picture crafts, said that the agreement was only tentative between the studios and actors.

He said that he would not halt picketing by his 11 unions, and that unless he gets an answer on his demands from producers by noon today he will call a nation-wide boycott of motion picture theaters.

PAIR ON AROUND TRIP FLIGHT TO ENGLISH CAPITAL

Non-Stop Flight To London Hope Of Dick Merrill

LONDON, May 10 (A)—Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie, American Tran-Atlantic flyers landed at North Weald royal airforce airdrome at 6:10 p. m. today, 11:10 a. m. central standard time, and took off immediately for Croydon airport, their original objective.

N5W YORK, May 10. (A)- Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie took off from Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn their monoplane "Daily Express" on a nonstop flight to London. They planned to land there in about 19 hours, flying at 140 miles an hour. They carried pictures of the Hindenburg disaster and were to bring back coronation news and Rules Governing All No Gauges Available fashion photographs.

The takeoff required only about two-thirds of the 1,200-foot runway, and the plane headed straight out to sea without circling the field.

"So long, I'll see you Thursday night," shouted Merrill, ace commercial pilot and transatlantic flier,

The ship was loaded with about 1,200 gallons of gas.

A crowd of about 5,000 people watched the departure, with am-bulances, fire engines and emergency rescue squads standing by.

TRAFFIC HAZARD GROWS-AT A KILLING PACE

We have had something like 20 years now to get used to the auto as a means of mass transportation. In those years we have widened and straightened our roads, studied innumerable traffic systems, built cars that are strong and easily controlled and experimented with all kinds of state license and insurance laws.

Sole result of all this education and experience is that we are killing more people with our cars now than

The National Safety Council finds that in the first three months of this year some 8500 people were killed by autos. This, alarmingly enough, is a rise of 26 per cent over the rate for 1936.

Why are we doing it? Why is our traffic getting constantly more dangerous instead of getting—as it should. after all these years—steadily safer?

There is no one reason, obviously. But it does not take much thought to figure out several contributory

First and foremost, perhaps, is the fact that we have tried to fit the auto into our traditional system of democratic individualism. We have assumed that it is every man's "right" to drive a car if he can get one. We have hardly begun to tackle the job of ruling dangerous drivers and dangerous cars off the road. The woods-or rather the roads—are full of men and autos who simply have no business on the highway; for the most part we let them keep rolling until they hit something.

Allied with this is the problem of liquor. We ought to be able to see by now that alcohol and gasoline make a mixture as dangerous and unstable as nitroglycerin. Yet we keep on making the mixture, day after day and night after night—and then we can't understand why it blows

Then there is the matter of speed. We insist on having cars that will go much faster than nine out of ten people can drive them safely. We shuttle those cars out into crowded roads, let everybody push the accelerator down according to his own sweet will-and then wonder why there are crack-ups.

And there are the cars themselves. They have strong bodies and fine brakes—but this new streamline vogue has produced cars with woeful big blind spots. Instead | WASHINGTON, MAY 8 - The lobby. # HOUSE OF THE KING FOR 250 YEARS

FIRE, in 1925, destroyed one of the oldest structures of the British government in the new world. It was the dull, stuccoed building called the "King's House," in Spanishtown, Jamaica.

From 1683, or perhaps earlier, the governor of Jamaica ruled the West Indian colony from a structure built for him with royal funds. At first it was a crude shelter "as common as the highway," as one of its early residents described it. But in 1700 it was enlarged, and in 1761 it was entirely rebuilt at a cost of $150,-000, a lavish sum for that time. It was a large building, two stories high, facing a square on which also stood the House of Assembly, the Guard House, and other public buildings.

For 100 years, this was the residence of the governor of Jamaica. Then the government seat was moved to Kingston, across the bay, and since then, until its

CARDS BEAT HOBBS 2-1; PLAY WINK HERE TODAY AND

GAME CALLED IN SIXTH BECAUSE OF SAND STORM

The Midland Cardinals continued their winning ways Sunday when they came out ahead of Hobbs, 2-1 in a game that was stopped in the sixth inning by the umpires because of a sand storm and rain.

Until the game was called off Manager Joe Davis, making his initial start of the year, and Gurule of Hobbs were hooked up in a pretty pitcher's duel with Davis having the better of the struggle.

Davis gave up only two hits, Pruett, Hobbs third baseman bag-ging a couple of doubles. Only two other men got to base, both on errors. The lone run made by the losers came in the first inning when Brown, lead off hitter, reached first on Orr's error and came home on Pruett's first hit. Fielder got a life on Serafine's miscue in the fifth but was left on second base as Pike struck out and Gurule grounded weakly to Davis.

The Cards tied Hobbs in the first inning when Orr walked, went to third on Randell's single and scored on a passed ball. The winning run came in the fifth when Randell reached first when he forced Orr out at second, advanced on walks to Nook and Serafine and came home after Frost hit a long one to Brown in center. Potocar doubled and Davis singled to start the sixth but the game was called off after Stein flew out to right field.

Pruett was practically the whole show for Hobbs, getting all their hits and turning in a fielding gem when he caught Schiffner's pop foul near the club house in the second. He fell just before getting to the ball but managed to spear it while tumbling.

Davis got half of Midland's six hits, coming through with a double and two singles in two trips to the plate. Big Jack Nook, who hit three home runs Saturday, never got a chance yesterday, being walked in The line-ups each trip up.

The Cards meet Wink here today and tomorrow and then will leave for six days during which they wil

Why Wrathful Duke of Windsor Sued "Coronation Commentary" Author Told by Glance at Book

BY BRUCE CATTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent Just what is there in Geoffrey Dennis' book, "Coronation Commentary," that caused the Duke of Windsor to file a libel and injunction suit against the author and

Dennis, a distinguished English novelist, wrote/this book—or most of it-a year or so ago. It was designed as a coronation-time specialty, apparently, and it was largely a review of the history of British kingship and British coronations, closing with a glowing tribute to the then king, Edward VIII.

Just as the book was finished Ed ward abdicated, and Dennis added a final chapter on the abdication. The book appeared, and the Duke of Windsor promptly sue both Dennis and the publishing house of William Heinemann, Ltd., for libel asking also an injunction against

Home Loan Bank Board Growing

WASHINGTON, May 10-With conditions improving, mortgage loans and savings are increasing in member savings and loan, and homestead associations in the Little Rock Federal Home Loan Bank District, Vice Chairman Will C. Jones Jr., of the bank, reported to the Federal Savings and Loan Advisory Council today.

Real estate prices are on the upward trend in Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico, comprising the bank district, he said At the same time, he stated, the ternd of interest rates is lower, benefitting the borrower.

Use of the "direct reduction" loan is becoming increasingly popular in the district, he said. This type of loan provides for the continual reduction of the principal by easy monthly payments like rent.

The Little Rock bank is enjoying continuous expansion, with new members being added all the time, Mr. Jones reported.
