War Admiral Repeats Derby Win to Cop Preakness

From Pitcairn Island to Southampton, where he is pictured on his arrival, David Young, 61, great-great grandson of David Young, a midshipman on the famous ship Bounty, stepped out of a page of England's naval history into the coronation scene. The first descendant of the famed band of mutineers ever to visit England, Young was Pitcairn's official delegate to the crowning of King George VI.

POMPOON AGAIN IS RUNNER-UP TO COLT OF RIDDLE

Flying Scot Comes In Third Ahead Of Mosawtre

WINS BY HEAD

Place Winner Makes Valiant Fight For First

BALTIMORE, May 15. (AP)— Samuel Riddle's War Admiral repeated his Kentucky Derby triumph over J. H. Loucheim's Pompoon in the $50,000 Preakness before a crowd of more than 40,000 at Pimlico today. Only a head separated the pair at the finish; John Hay Whitney's Flying Scot finished six lengths behind for third money.

War Admiral stood off Pompoon's great challenge to win by the narrowest of margins in the good time of 1:58.2 for the mile and three-sixteenths, over a track rated good despite yesterday's heavy rain.

After the first few yards War Admiral was in front all the way, but his victory margin was far less than in the Derby, when he easily beat Pompoon by a length and one half. Flying Scot broke in front but after battling the Riddle colt for a half mile dropped back and just managed to save third money from Julia M. Loft's fast closing Mosawtre.

War Admiral, one of the shortest priced winners in the history of the Preakness, paid only $2.70 for a $2 ticket; $2.30 to place, $2.40 to show. Pompoon paid $2.40 to place and $2.70 to show. Flying Scot paid $6 to show.

When Film Favorites Voted 'No' on Strike Proposal

Familiar faces of the screen entered the national labor spotlight when striking movie technicians demanded a boycott of actors who refused to walk out in sympathy. At left, William Powell is escorting Jean Harlow to the Actors' Guild meeting in a Hollywood stadium where the actors, accepting producers' offer of a preferential shop, refused to strike, thus enraging 6000 striking make-up men, hairdressers, painters and others. At right, Robert Montgomery, film favorite and guild president, is seen addressing the mass meeting. At his side is Aubrey Blair, guild business manager.

Seminole Well Shows Gas, Drilling Water on Test

BY FRANK GARDNER

Twenty-five minute drill test from 4,912 to 5,064 in Shell Petroleum Corporation No. 1 S. F. Mann, Seminole structure well in Gaines, showed 450 feet of gas-cut water and 4,380,000 cubic feet of gas. The water was drilling fluid which had penetrated the porous lime. After the drill test, core-barrel was installed, and at last reports, a core from 5,004 to 5,017 was being pulled.

No. 1 Mann is a direct east offset to Walsh & Adams (formerly Amerada) No. 1-A Averitt first oil producer drilled on the structure. The Averitt well was completed last December for initial production—averaging 200 barrels a day through 1-inch choke on tubing after being acidized three times at 5,029, the total drilled seven-inch casing was cemented at 4,912 feet in No. 1 Mann after it had stuck at that point and could not be freed. Location is 660 feet out of the northwest corner of section 220, block G, W. T. R. R. survey.

Further north in Gaines, Amon G. Carter and Continental No. 1 A. L. Wasson, section 48, block AX, public school land, is drilling anhydrite at 4,930. First lime stringer was encountered from 3,800-70. The same operators' No. 1 Langdon, three miles to the northeast, was setting surface pipe.

Wentz Oil Company No. 1 P. W. Dalmont, southern Gaines wildcat two and a half miles southwest of the discovery in the Kirk area, was running 7-inch casing, bottomed at 4,500 feet in lime and anhydrite. It is 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east line of section 5, block A-22, public school land.

New Deep Wildcat

Another Ordovician wildcat will be drilled in Crane as a result of the Gulf No. 4 Waddell's recent performance. It will be the Wilcox Oil & Gas Company No. 1 McKnight in the center of the southeast of the northwest of section 9, block 46, G. & M. M. B. & A. survey, in northwestern Crane about 11 miles north of the Gulf producer. Operations will start on or before July 1 to carry the well to 7,000 feet unless production is found or water is encountered in the Ordovician at lesser depth.

The block upon which the Wilcox well will be drilled was assembled by Gene Fitzpatrick of Fort Worth and Floyd C. Dodson of San Angelo. They turned 4,236 connected acres and four and a half sections checkerboarded to a Wilcox for drilling the well. Description of the original block, obtained from McKnight and the Ibbetson estate, is as follows: section 30, the south 396 acres of section 31 and the south 480 of 32 in block B-16, public school land; sections 11, 12, 13 and the east half of 10 in block B-17; sections 4, 5, 6, and 7 in block B-22; and in block 46, G. & M. M. B. & A. survey sections 7, 8, 9, 10, the east half of 23, section 24 except the southwest quarter, section 16, the north half of 17, section 15 except the northeast quarter and all of 18 except the part lying north of the T. & P. railroad.

The drilling block turned to Wilcox by Dodson and Fitzpatrick consists of section 9, the south half of

MERCHANTS URGED TO BE AT BANQUET TUESDAY NIGHT

Good-Will Trippers Of El Paso Will Be Honored

STAG AFFAIR

Expect 100 Men Will Pay Honors To Visitors

Desirous of having a large and representative attendance of local business and professional men at the chamber of commerce banquet to be staged in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer here Tuesday evening in honor of a group of good will trippers from El Paso, chamber of commerce officials yesterday issued a statement urging all merchants and professional men of the city to purchase tickets and make plans to attend the banquet which will be a stag affair. It is hoped that at least 100 local citizens will be present.

In a special effort to have a large crowd in attendance, a ticket sale drive was started in the city Saturday afternoon and will be continued Monday morning, the ticket sale committee being composed of Marion Flynt, J. Howard Hodge, R. C. Conking and Bill Collyns. Due to the shortage of time, the committee will not be able to see all local citizens, all missed in the drive being requested to purchase tickets at the chamber of commerce office where they are also on sale.

Members of the Good Will Tour will arrive here about 5:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the banquet being scheduled for eight o'clock. They will spend the night in Midland, leaving early Wednesday morning for the Big Bend area by way of Crane, McCombe and Ft. Stockton. Wednesday night will be spent in Alpine.

The welcoming address at the banquet will be delivered by T. Paul Barron, after which the program will be turned over to the visitors who will present a snappy and entertaining program. Marion Flynt, president of the Midland chamber of commerce, will preside at the banquet.

The good will tour, sponsored by the El Paso chamber of commerce, will be in charge of L. P. Bloodworth, assistant manager of the El Paso chamber.

Against Flights

Accidents that befall pilots on "unnecessary" transoceanic flights were denounced by Col. J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, as impediments in developing regular inter-continent commercial schedules. Colonel Johnson, shown above in a recent photo, included Dick Merrill's London hop for the coronation and Amelia Earhart's recent world flight in the list of "stunt" flights he would forbid.

A NEW SESSION

Allred Reiterates Special Session To Be Called

AUSTIN, May 15. (AP)— The general session of the present legislature will adjourn May 22 under a resolution approved by the house and senate today.

The house adopted the resolution several days ago, the senate accepting by viva voce vote today. The senate has already passed the measure.

The governor said that he would not submit any other subjects to the special session until repeal of wagering is acted on. He did not say whether or not he would regard a vote to table the bill as direct action, but indicated he would not.

OFFICERS SEARCH FOR QUARTET OVER EAST TEXAS AREA

Escape Is Made From Longview Jail Friday

LONGVIEW, May 15. (AP)— Officers today centered their search for four desperate prisoners who escaped the Gregg county jail last night near Gilmer and between Big Sandy and Pittsburg.

Three of the men fled in a squad car which was abandoned near Overton, the party splitting up. They were last reported to have been seen near Pittsburg driving west in a green sedan stolen there.

The fourth, officers said, stole an automobile near Gilmer but later abandoned it and was last seen afoot. Officers believed he was heading to Mount Pleasant.

REMOVE SHAW AS SUPERINTENDENT OF LONDON SCHOOL

Relieved of Job 60 Days After Blast In Building

NEW LONDON, Texas, May 15. (AP)— W. C. Shaw, tragic figure of the New London school explosion was relieved Friday of the superintendency of the London Independent School District.

The small, sorrowful educator's bond with the school was severed by the board just short of two months after a tremendous gas blast beneath the building rocked it into ruins and killed hundreds of children, including a son of Shaw.

The board members, saying their action was an "outgrowth" of "better judgment" although their hearts were "cut deeply," concluded Shaw's health could not stand the " enormity of the burden."

Hinting at recent strife between parents demanding Shaw's removal and those pleading his retention, the statement released by E. W. Reagan, board president, said "We believe an entire community will have a more co-operative feeling if you were replaced."

4 ARE SLIGHTLY INJURED AFTER CAR OVERTURNS

Family Enroute To Memphis Escape Luckily

Bad luck overtook one family in the Broadway of America motorcade Saturday morning. Shortly before reaching Odessa from the west, the automobile of D. W. Campbell, head of the convention bureau of the San Diego chamber of commerce, was sideswiped by a speeding automobile, overturning it in the barrow pit.

Mrs. Campbell and two children were with Campbell, and all four received minor cuts and bruises. The automobile had to be repaired before they could resume their trip. They planned however, to continue to Memphis as soon as possible.

STRIKE DISRUPTS HOTEL SERVICES IN SAINT LOUIS

Walkout Scheduled In 21 More Some Time Soon

ST. LOUIS, May 15. (AP)— A strike of bellhops, cooks, waiters and others disrupted service in seven St. Louis hotels today.

The action was taken in support of the demand for a closed shop agreement recognizing 5,000 American Federation of Labor unions.

Leaders estimating 2,000 employees were idle, announced walkouts would be called next week in 21 other hotels, members of the St. Louis hotel association, unless an agreement is reached.

Water Bills Must Be Paid--Or Else

Officials of the city water department Saturday announced that all persons who had not paid past-due accounts would have their water cut off tomorrow.

Officials expressed regret at having to resort to such stringent measures in order to procure collections, but said that the move was a necessity in that many persons each month let their bills go unpaid, over a period of months amounting to a large sum of money.

A collector will be making the rounds tomorrow of all persons who have not paid their bills and will cut off the supply of all who refuse to pay.

Highway Progress In County Given 2-Angle Boosts

Progress on highway construction from Midland to oil areas northwest received impetus from two angles during the past week.

Order was issued Friday by the state highway department to let contract June 4 for topping the Midland county section, a distance of 12.3 miles from the west city limits to the Ector county line. This segment previously had been given caliche surface.

Work also was started within Ector county, laying caliche on an eight mile strip from the Midland-Ector line westward to the intersection with the Odessa-Andrews pavement. Using PWA labor from Midland, the M. E. W. A. project accounted for completion of three-fourths of a mile last week.

The new work is on what is now called state highway No. 158 and provides a substantial reduction in distance from Midland to north Ector fields, to Andrews, to Lea county, or to points north.

The June 4 meeting of the highway department will be to receive bids on federal aid projects to cost approximately $1,450,000.

CHAIN STORE TAX LAW IS UPHELD IN RULING SATURDAY

Appeal Will be Made To The Supreme Court Soon

DALLAS, May 15. (AP)— The Texas chain store tax law was held constitutional in an opinion written by Justice Ben Loney and handed down in the fifth court of civil appeals here today.

Justice Loney said that temporary injunctions restraining collection of the tax issued by Judge Royall Watkins in January 1936 would not be dissolved pending a supreme court ruling.

Enforcement of New Traffic Laws Starts

Strict enforcement of Midland traffic laws will be started Monday, Mayor M. C. Ulmer announced Saturday. Several new regulations were recently passed at a meeting and will be enforced by officers.

New parking lines have been painted along the curb stones and car owners are warned to park their cars between the lines. Persons parking their cars straddling the lines will be fined, also persons parking in the middle of the street, and other offenders.

A motorcycle ordered by the city for use by a traffic enforcement officer has not yet arrived but is expected shortly.

Andrews Cyclone Is Just A Rumor

Apparently every one in Midland yesterday knew about the city of Andrews being "blown away" by a cyclone—But Andrews didn't know anything about it!

The origin of the rumor is unknown but it caused a lot of trouble at the newspaper office. Immediately after being "informed" of the event a call was made to Andrews and the report on the weather was "Not a cloud in sight all day."

But all the people that heard the rumor didn't call Andrews. Most of them called our office and opened their conversations with the statement that Andrews had been wiped out and what did we know about it. We didn't.

TEXAS OFFICERS SEEK CUSTODY OF N. Y. PRISONER

Warrants Received And Officer On Way For Man

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. May 15. (AP)— El Gellert, assistant district attorney, said today that Texas warrants charging Lester Brockelhurst with murder in the first degree and robbery with a gun were received here today.

Gellert said that Texas authorities asked him to hold Brockelhurst until officers, enroute, arrived here.

Gellert had previously said that Brockelhurst would be turned over to Illinois officers.

Gellert announced, following a conference with Sheriff Paul Johnson of Rockford, Ill., that the convict, under arrest here for illegal possession of a revolver, would be turned over to Johnson despite the fact that two other states want him for murder.

He said Johnson had filed a warrant charging the youth with murder but that no warrant had been filed for Bernice Felton, 18, his girl friend. Both are from Rockford.

FAIRBANKS FACES 2-RIVER FLOODS

Tanana and Chena Cover Large Parts of The City With Water

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 15. (AP)— The Tanana and Chena rivers rose more today, sending their combined waters through three-fourths of Fairbanks, where more than 1,000 residents have fled their homes.

Buildings were flooded from a few inches to about three feet. Construction firms estimated the damage to be between $200,000 and $400,000.

CONTROL OF SOIL EROSION WILL BE MEETING OBJECT

Amarillo Scene Of Meeting on Next Thursday

AMARILLO, May 15. (SPL.)— Looking toward a coordinated, long-time program providing special treatment of the eroded lands in the five-state "Dust Bowl" farmers, business, bankers, industrialists, county judges and county commissioners will meet in Amarillo next Thursday, May 20, to complete a plan which will be carried to the Senators and Congressmen representing the five-state area.

Thursday's meeting in Amarillo will be supplemental to and a logical follow-up of the Southwest Agricultural Association's meeting last Wednesday in Boise City, Oklahoma, at which time that body favored the creation of a Dust Bowl authority, together with the request that the Federal government lease or purchase all non-productive cultivated land in the drought-stricken, dust-ridden region, thus retiring it from further agricultural use.

Sponsored by the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority recently authorized by law of the State of Texas, and the Amarillo chamber of commerce, the Amarillo meeting probably will decide whether the area wants a definite governmental authority, or a planning board.

Sponsors also are looking forward to coordinated support of a committee composed of the Senators and Congressmen from the five state area, with Marvin Jones, chairman, new developing plans to file the plans of the President. However, delegations to the Amarillo assembly, as did those delegates at the Boise City meeting, are expected to call special attention to the fact that the "Dust Bowl" has problems entirely different from those land use problems in other sections of the country, and therefore should receive special consideration.

Carl Hinton, manager of the Amarillo chamber of commerce, last week sent written invitations to each county judge in the five-state area, asking them to appoint farmers, bankers, business men and professional men as county delegates. Each county delegation should consist of not less than five representatives, and as many more as possible.

In addition to the laymen invited, the several federal agencies working in the field have been asked to send delegates. Mr. Hinton said, regional director of the Resettlement Administration and H. H. Fennell, regional director for the Soil Conservation Service, have accepted invitations to address the assembly.

Registration for Thursday's meeting, beginning at 10:00 a. m., will be held at the Amarillo Hotel. The meeting will begin at 10:30 a. m.

LUBBOCK, May 15. (SPL.)— The condition of Hal Grady was somewhat improved last night, attending physicians reported. Grady is suffering from pneumonia, an aftermath of a tonsillotomy which he underwent about a week ago.

His temperature was somewhat lower last night and he was conscious at intervals, but doctors said that he was not yet out of danger.

WELCOME TO MIDLAND

Elsewhere in this paper will be found details of the visit to be made here Tuesday evening of a party of El Paso goodwill trippers. Midland citizens, while giving El Pasoans an opportunity to expound the virtues of their city lose the opportunity to impress upon the visitors the importance of this oil metropolis.
Probably the best way to keep this matter continually before visitors is to turn out strong to greet them, to lend an interested ear to their message and then to "tell the cockeyed world" that Midland is the rapidly growing little city of North America's hot spot, the Permian Basin. Buy a banquet ticket and join in the welcome, Tuesday evening, to the El Paso goodwill party.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 15. — It is not on record that any holder of an insurance policy has ever recommended that the management of the insurance company should be placed in the hands of professional politicians.

A large part of the administration of the biggest insurance company in the world, however, will be turned over to politicians if a certain powerful clique in the Senate gets away with the demands on which it has stubbornly insisted for many weeks.

It is quite likely that you have a policy with this concern and that you're paying in money on it every month. It is the federal Social Security system which is threatened and, according to the present law, the system will be handling billions of dollars paid in through a tax on employers and employees toward old age benefits.

The Senate voted into the independent offices appropriations bill a rider requiring that all the Social Security Board's lawyers and experts receiving over $5000 a year must be confirmed by the Senate. Obviously this provision would apply to the cream of the crop, some 40 or more lawyers, economists, directors of bureaus and assistant directors who represent the brains and experience upon which the huge social security system depends for successful operation.

Squirm Under Standards
Experience shows that when Senate confirmation of appointees is required the appointments customarily become a matter of political spoils. To date the SSB, which operates under civil service except for exemptions as to lawyers and technical experts, has hired about 210 of these lawyers and experts. The Civil Service Commission has approved these exemptions after setting up standards for appointees so high that SSB officials often have squirmed and cursed. At least three years' experience in or close to the social security field has been required. In many instances the SSB has withstood terrific pressure from Capitol Hill, establishing an unusual record for choices based on merit rather than politics. Experts hired usually have had to show experience in social work, public employment offices, group insurance and similar fields. The SSB claims to have roped in the outstanding men and women who were working in the various related fields.

The House, which voted to put all the experts and lawyers under civil service, has stood out against the Senate rider, while the Senate conferees have refused to budge. The Senate conferees are Senators Glass of Virginia, Byrnes of South Carolina, Russell of Georgia, Adams of Colorado and Steiwer of Oregon.

The effect of the Senate holdout is that the delay in passing the appropriation bill has held up May payments on grants to states for 1,258,000 aged poor, 330,000 dependent children and 32,000 blind.

Loud Horn Tooting Softly
The loudest toot of anybody's own horn that has been tooted here for some years came recently from the United States Flag Association, which announced in a press release framed as a news story:

"Washington, D. C.—In the midst of perplexing sitdown strikes and other elements befuddling the employer-employee relations of a nation, there comes a big patriotic society, like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky, with an entirely new approach, radically different from anything yet suggested, to the solution of this all-important question."

Whereupon the association, which has President Roosevelt, Chief Justice Hughes and President Bill Green of the A. F. of L. among its high officials, announced a "Fellow-American Service" which would distribute "industrial-patriotic tracts," illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy, to be distributed among employers and employees. The Flag Association insisted that the tracts would be "of such a nature that they will develop among employers and employees a mental attitude that will substitute goodwill and tolerance, understanding and co-operation, for envy and greed, misunderstanding and strife in employment relations."

Col. James A. Moss, president general of the association, pointed out that the American flag was "the only thing we have that unites every American to every other, regardless of racial blood, religious creed, social position or financial standing."

BOOK REVIEW

By A. W.

BY DAY AND BY NIGHT—John Bojer, D. Appleton-Century Company, N. Y.

Leif Sand was born of poor parents in a small Norwegian town. His invention of a powerful machine gun brought him international fame and, when it was used on both sides in the World War, it brought him wealth and additional honors.

One day, while in a Brussels hospital, he happened to meet a boy, Jens Loberg, from his own town. Jens' jaw and limbs had been blown away and all that remained was the hope of death. This meeting caused Leif to experience a great spiritual upheaval. He began thinking of the suffering his invention had caused hundreds of men and women. He immediately stopped working on a gun which would have been more effective than the one he had already invented. After days and nights of mental agony he decided that only by devoting himself to the cause of peace among his own people could he gain respite for the suffering he had caused.

Leif returned to his own home town and for awhile enjoyed the praise and homage of the entire population. He had idealized his town to mean every thing simple and beautiful. But it was not long before he realized that these simple people wanted more than the distinction of having the famous young inventor make his home among them. They had heard of his plans for perfecting his new gun and they wanted him to make the town and its people rich by building artillery factories there.

He had sought to find peace among them, but that was not what they wanted. He talked to the preacher, school teacher, banker, outstanding business men, and his sweetheart trying to get them to understand his ideas and his ideals; none except his sister, Gyro, understood, or wanted to understand. He pleaded the gospel of Christianity and the people laughed at him. They told him that one man could not stop war. Other men in other countries would perfect the gun if he refused. They accused him of being a traitor and of playing for higher stakes with armament companies in other countries.

Pressed on all sides, Leif finally gave in and once again found himself greeted with applause and honored by all in his town. The sacrifice of his ideals brought him only suffering, however, for he was cruelly and horribly punished.

Only a genius could have written of such deep human drama with such ease, such simplicity, and such naive yet strong delineation of character as John Bojer has. Long after one had finished the book he is disturbed by the thoughts which it has raised.

The Abbe children are in California writing a book to be called EVERBODY'S FAMOUS IN HOLLYWOOD.

The Citrus themes has given many authors ground for novels. Gwen Bristow in DEEP SUMMER set out to write a book about the South in which the Civil War wasn't mentioned. She put her time fifty years before it began, but in doing so she hit on the root of all the trouble; the system of the cotton plantations.

Clifford Dowdy, whose first novel, BUGLES BLOW NO MORE, will soon be published, started an argument over the aristocracy of the South. Were the majority of the people in the South aristocrats? Were they plantation owners? Did they believe in slavery?

J. S. Randall, a leading authority on the Civil War, has just had published by D. C. Heath and Company THE CIVIL WAR AND RECONSTRUCTION. It is an unbiased account as readable as fiction.

And, of course there is Margaret Mitchell's GONE WITH THE WIND which is still the best seller in the field of fiction.

Tech Co-Eds Cause Billy Rose Series Of Little Headaches

LUBBOCK, Tex. May 15.—Billy Rose would like to take a post-graduate course at Texas Tech.

The New York and Fort Worth producer expressed a wish after he had viewed natural color motion pictures to select the eight most beautiful Texas Tech co-eds for pages in the beauty selection of La Ventana, student yearbook. Fifteen girls, selected by popular vote, were filmed in natural color, and Winston Reeves, editor, sent the film to Rose at Fort Worth.

He eliminated seven contestants only after seeing the film three times. Choices were so close that the producer told Reeves in a letter the beauties caused him "a series of little headaches." He said he got "goggle-eyed" looking at the film.

"I couldn't think of a much more pleasant experience than spending six months on your campus," the letter said in a jesting request for graduate work.

What is "The Low-Price Field"?

YOU hear a lot about "the low-price field" these days. A good many cars claim to be in it. So whenever the low-price field is mentioned, remember:

Until Ford came, no average American could own a car.

Today all Ford prices are still low—with the prices of the 60-horsepower Ford V-8 $30 to $60 lower than the prices of any other car of comparable size.

But with Ford, "low price" doesn't merely mean low figures on the price tag. It means much more. It means low prices and low costs all the car's long life. Low prices for service—for parts—and, above all, for operation.

Both Ford V-8 engine sizes are economical to operate. The 85-horsepower gives greater gasoline mileage this year than ever, and the 60-horsepower delivers the highest mileage in Ford history.

Private owners, cab companies, fleet operators all report that the "60" averages from 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Check and see how much Ford saves you.

Ford Founded the Low-Price Field and Ford Keeps That Field Low-Priced Today.

Ford V-8 Prices Begin at $529

AT DEARBORN FACTORY. TRANSPORTATION CHARGES, STATE AND FEDERAL TAXES EXTRA

This price is for the 60-horsepower Coupe equipped with front and rear bumpers, spare tire, horn, windshield wiper, sun visor, glove compartment, and ash tray.

Ford V-8 $25 A MONTH, after usual down-payment, buys any Ford V-8 Car from any Ford dealer in the U. S.—through Authorized Ford Finance Plans of the Universal Credit Company.

Bluebonnet Is Called Monument to Women

AUSTIN, May 15. (P)—The bluebonnet has been called a monument to the pioneer women of Texas. The flower, which annually blankets the hillsides with blue, was so named, says the Texas Planning Board, because its five petals resembled the sun bonnet worn by early women settlers.

thought the flower improved the soil and called it "the wolf flower" but it has been found, on the contrary, to enrich the land because of the nitrogen-gathering propensities of its roots. One legend concerning the "birth" of the bluebonnet is that an Indian chief's daughter made a sacrifice to placate the wrath of the "Great Spirit" after devastating floods and drought.

air-raids in war-stricken Spain, according to Miss Virginia McKay, of Colorado Springs, Colo. Miss McKay was one of the American citizens housed in the U. S. Embassy in Madrid during one of the early phases of the siege. She left Valencia on the U. S. S. Raleigh which took her to Marseilles. Then she came to Rome. As she is destitute, she has been obliged to make her home among the Spanish refugees.

Describing the living conditions among the exiles as meager and bare, Miss McKay nevertheless finds the refuge a welcome haven. She finds:

"It is rather in the form of a Communistic community, inasmuch as the members are maintained by the state, and they are fed from a soup kitchen, but it is far different from the Spanish Communist state I found in Madrid and Valencia."

Few Comforts Available To give an idea of the manner in which the refugees live, Miss McKay described her room as "containing a cot with straw mattress and three hairs." She said that many of the women do their own cooking on a few pans and plates in a communal kitchen, and the floor is daily mopped with a 10-year-old broom or scrubbed on hands and knees.

She related she was taken in by the refugees when they learned of her plight. She occupies an empty floor with eight Spanish women, with gas, electricity, water and bed linen furnished and rent paid. The colony numbers about 30 and is maintained by the Spanish foundation in Rome called the "Obra Pia" (Pious Work), established before the Candid Camera Leads Staff Member To "Guess Who"; Vacations Are On!

Approach of the vacation season has inspired a staff member of The Reporter-Telegram to conduct research as to how Midland people take their summer recreation. Picture shown here may or may not be of the persons mentioned, the staff writer depending entirely upon supposition.

However, these views probably will prey upon the minds of those already dreaming of vacation spots with the result that a general exodus of recreation seekers may result. After all, what's a summer without a vacation? President Roosevelt had his.

Shown here are Mrs. Bill Epley and Mrs. Frank Lord, keeping in condition at their favorite sport of bicycling.

Is this Chapple Davis or Fred Fulman? And if it is Chapple, would you say it is Mrs. Davis or their daughter, Jean? Anyway, it's got to where Midland people don't have to leave town to ride a horse.

Haven't you missed Georges Vorbe of late? If we recognize him here, we must confess we are unable to identify his agile companion.

Punk Stacey and wife, playing golf on vacation, remind one of the postman, who took a walk on his holiday, but here they are, or we miss another guess.

The above scene is alleged to be at a dance given at the recent Rotary district conference. The ladies in the picture apparently are not Mrs. Winston Borum or Mrs. Fred Wemple. Among the Rotarians whose wives did not attend the conference were Oran Thomas and Ily Pratt.

Dr. K. F. Campbell and wife relief War for Spanish subjects who found themselves destitute in Italy. Formerly Was Teacher This American who lived a year and a half in Spain teaching in some of the aristocratic and middle class families, added that the colony's main form of entertainment cently enjoyed a fishing trip on the gulf coast. While the above scene does not resemble exactly a beach we are at a loss to name the principals unless they are the Campbells.

Our own Cloverdale is the location of this picture, where Mrs. E. A. Culbertson took her eight year old daughter, Shirley, and a party of youngsters one evening last week. Due to the signs forbidding sliding down the bank of the reservoir, "Cowboy and Indian" was the principal diversion after the picnic lunch.

A stray negative from the camera of Bob Martin, who last summer spent a brief period at west coast beaches, produced the above picture, according to our staff member.

When Alton Cherry, Jim Taylor and Dave Finley went on their Mexico fishing trip, one of them naturally had to be out of the picture to take the snapshot. We think Dave is the one who is out of the picture.

Postcards saying "Wish You Were Here" have been received by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Thomas. However, lest someone take them seriously, no definite address was given.

is to sit around the radio evenings listening to the reports from both sides in Spain. Their favorite artist on the radio, she added, is fiery Gen. Quieno de Llano. Gen. Francisco Franco's southern army commander, who speaks nightly from the Seville radio station.

"Shall We Dance"

Romance, melody and laughter are the ingredients of "Shall We Dance," RKO Radio's new Fred Astire-Ginger Rogers offering which is said to top the two favorites' previous films in entertainment value. With a unique story that hinges on the hectic romance of a noted ballet dancer and an international revue artiste, and dances that range from the most novel tap numbers to gorgeous ballet ensembles, the picture is hailed as one of the finest film musicals ever made. Now playing at The Yucca.

PARIS. (U.P.)—A novelty in overnight transport has just been introduced by the Paris-Orleans-Midi railroad here, when voyagers were presented with the hire of hammocks for overnight travel. Though not advertised as being more comfortable than the normal sleeper or French "couchette," the hammocks are reported to have won popularity.

ST. LOUIS, May 15 (U.P.)—A St. Louis burglar had to force his way out of a building instead of into it. Officials at a stationery store here found a safe broken open and evidence that a burglar had allowed himself to be locked in and used a sledge hammer to get out after rifling the safe.

Mrs. Modern BUYS A MODERN MAGIC CHEF GAS RANGE

and lacking in advanced features my old range was. I realized, too, that in putting up with its bother and inconvenience I was paying for a new Magic Chef gas range without having it. Paying for it in discomfort and dissatisfaction, in nervous strain and sacrifice of leisure, in loss of time and labor. Even paying for it in actual money that Magic Chef saves in gas bills and food. I bought it because I was convinced I couldn't afford to do without it."

HER REASONS ARE YOUR REASONS

I HAD always wanted a modern kitchen but thought I couldn't afford it. Particularly I did not see how I could justify the purchase of a new range, since the one I had was still fairly good.

Then one evening in a Magic Chef advertisement I saw just the kind of a charming modern kitchen I had always dreamed of having some day. I couldn't resist. Next day I went down to see a Magic Chef demonstrated. There I realized how sadly old-fashioned

FELLER'S ARM OKAY BUT MANY EXPERTS FEAR RECURRENCE

Bob's Motion Called Very Deceptive By Walter Johnson

BY RICHARD McCANN
NEA Service Sports Writer

CLEVELAND, May 15. — There is nothing serious about the soreness in Bob Feller's long right arm, according to himself and the Cleveland Indians' management, but many of the experts around and about are shaking their heads and saying that he'll have this lingering ache after each game he pitches.

Naturally, Feller's long idleness, after he strained his arm in his first appearance of the 1937 season, worried Cleveland's fans, who are rather excitable citizens. They began fearing the worst after a week.

But Business Manager C. C. Slapnicka, Manager Steve O'Neill, Trainer Lefty Weisman, and Master Feller himself have all taken turns in trying to assure the public that everything's going to be all right.

It'll Ache Again

SOME experts, however, insist that this is just one of the many sore arms that Feller is going to have this season. They don't like his delivery. "He uses an exceptional wrist and arm snap on the ball and it strains the muscles," says Umpire George Moriarty for one.

"There's nothing wrong with his delivery," Manager O'Neill retorts. "He's just got a sore arm—every

YOUNG PITCHING SENSATION ANXIOUSLY AWAITS ANOTHER CALL TO ARMS

Long and strong is the right arm of Bob Feller, young strike-out artist of the Cleveland Indians. Left, is a front view of the arm; right, is the rear view; center is a close-up of the schoolboy phenomenon, serious, but not perturbed over the soreness developed in his million-dollar wing while he was striking out 11 St. Louis Browns in six innings in his first start of the 1937 campaign. Some say soreness will return. They consider his delivery jerky.

pitcher gets a sore arm now and then."

One gentleman close to the Cleveland Indians blames the sore arm on the pitching mound in League Park here. It wasn't Feller's fault at all.

"You see," says the gentleman, "the mound had just been built up after being leveled during the football season and the ground wasn't firm. The dirt would give way when Feller put his foot down and he was thrown off stride. It caused him to be a little wild and the extra effort of trying to overcome this handicap put too much of a strain on his arm."

Delivery Is Deceptive

WALTER JOHNSON, who never had a sore arm in a score of years of truckhorse work, thinks that Feller's delivery is deceptive. "He lets the ball go in such a manner and in such a position," says the old Big Train, "that his chest is right in the background and the batter has a hard time picking out the ball against such a setting."

Al Schacht, the comedian coach who pitched five double-headers in the International League in 1915 before he picked up a permanent sore arm, sees nothing to be alarmed about over Feller's condition.

"I had more sore arms in my day than an octopus," says Mr. Schacht. "I had to stop playing cards because I always got a sore arm dealing. So I ought to know what I'm talking about when I talk about sore arms."

"Feller's arm is sore in the forearm, close to the elbow. That's nothing to worry about.

"The only times you've got to worry is when you get sore up here" — Mr. Schacht punched his finger into the point of his shoulder — "or right in here" — and he jabbed his finger into the depression around his crazy bone, which is, even in his case, the elbow.

Mr. Schacht agrees with the majority of observers. He thinks that Feller's pitching motion is rather jerky. "It's not smooth and easy like Johnson's or Grove's," hit is liable to beat him on a half dozen occasions during a game. He won't win any 20 games this year by a long shot. But he will in time to come."

Clark Griffith, who handled the great Johnson in his early days and led the American League pitchers himself once, although he never had anything more than his fingerprints on the ball, doesn't think that the Cleveland management should worry over whether Feller has a change of pace. "They should just concentrate on him improving his curve, his control and the way he stands in the box."

Mrs. C. C. Slapnicka smiles appreciatively at all these bits of advice and laughs at the fearsome predictions of the experts, and assures the Cleveland fans:

"Don't worry about Feller. He's all right. We're just not taking any chances. So long as there is the trace of soreness in the arm we won't pitch him."

Cardinals Rally in Eighth to Defeat Spudders by 8-7

JACK NOOK HITS TWO HOMERS FOR WINNING MARGIN

WINK, May 15. (SPL).—Big Jack Nook, Midland Cardinal left fielder, stepped up to the plate four times and got three hits, two of them home runs, to lead the Cards to an 8-7 victory over the Wink Spudders here today. The win gave the Cards a even break. Wink having copped the Friday game 7-4.

Sick pitched good ball for three of the five innings he was in but three home runs on four pitched balls in the second and another in the third made him falter, and when he walked two in a row in the sixth he was jerked for Smith. After giving up a couple of runs in the sixth Smith was too much the rest of the way for the Spudders, while the Red Birds came from behind with a couple of runs in the eighth to give him a deserved victory.

BOSTON, May 15 (U.P.)—Bringing up children is a two-parent job, Dr. Esther Richardson, associate professor of psychiatry at Johns Hopkins University, told a group at the Y. W. C. A.

Taxes due the City total $115,773.38 as of March 31, 1937 and $117,350.89 on March 31, 1936. An analysis of these amounts will be found on page 4 showing the sum due on each roll for the past several years. Current rolls were reconciled by the detail listing of unpaid items on the delinquent date. Both current and delinquent receipts were traced onto the Collector's cash book, thence to the depository. Many test checks of both current and delinquent receipts were made to determine the accuracy of postings to the several rolls, and no exceptions are made in our findings. All decreases in renditions were verified from the minutes of your meetings, recording the authorization.
Delinquent taxes paid during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1936 exceeded current collections during the same period, and were approximately sixty per cent of current collections during the year ending March 31, 1937. The excellent record of tax collections is seen in the fact that during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1937 the total from both current and delinquent rolls was equivalent to 103.16% of the total assessed on the 1936 roll. Even better was the record for the year ending March 31, 1936 when the total current and delinquent taxes collected was equivalent to 130% of the total assessed on the 1935 roll.
Bonded indebtedness as of March 31, 1937 was $567,000.00, a decrease during the two year period of $15,300.00. Bonds maturing and paid amounted to $26,300.00, but the issuing of $11,000.00 in time warrants reduced the net reduction. An analysis of this debt is shown on page 6. Through the refunding of a total of $120,000.00 bonds at a lower interest rate, an appreciable saving will be realized over the life of the new issue. Of the warrants issued during the period under audit, $100,000.00 were issued to enable the purchasing of $100,000.00 of the bonds refunded.
We verified distribution of taxes to the various funds by applying the rate applicable to the year of assessment paid and make no exceptions in our findings. Disbursements were verified by the inspection of cancelled bonds and coupons.
The operations of the water and sewer department resulted in a net profit of $16,516.96 for the fiscal year 1935-36 and for the year 1936-37 the profit was $20,891.63, both amounts being after the deduction of depreciation allowance.
Although the funds available for current operations have decreased materially during the past two years, we believe the financial condition of the city as a whole has substantially improved. A great portion of the decrease in funds is tied up in paving assessments, which when collected will become available for operations.
Apparently the time is opportune for the pressing of delinquent tax collections. The amount delinquent on each annual roll is practically the same, which in our opinion indicates the delinquency to be on identical property and that you have received a majority of the freewill payments to be made.
WE HEREBY CERTIFY that we have audited the books and records of the City of Midland, Texas, for the period beginning April 1, 1935 and ending March 31, 1937, and that in our opinion, the statements and schedules next attached hereto subject to the foregoing comments correctly set forth the true financial condition as of the date shown and the receipts and disbursements for the period.
Respectfully submitted,

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. I want to lay a wooden floor over concrete in my basement. Could it be insulated before laying the finish floor?

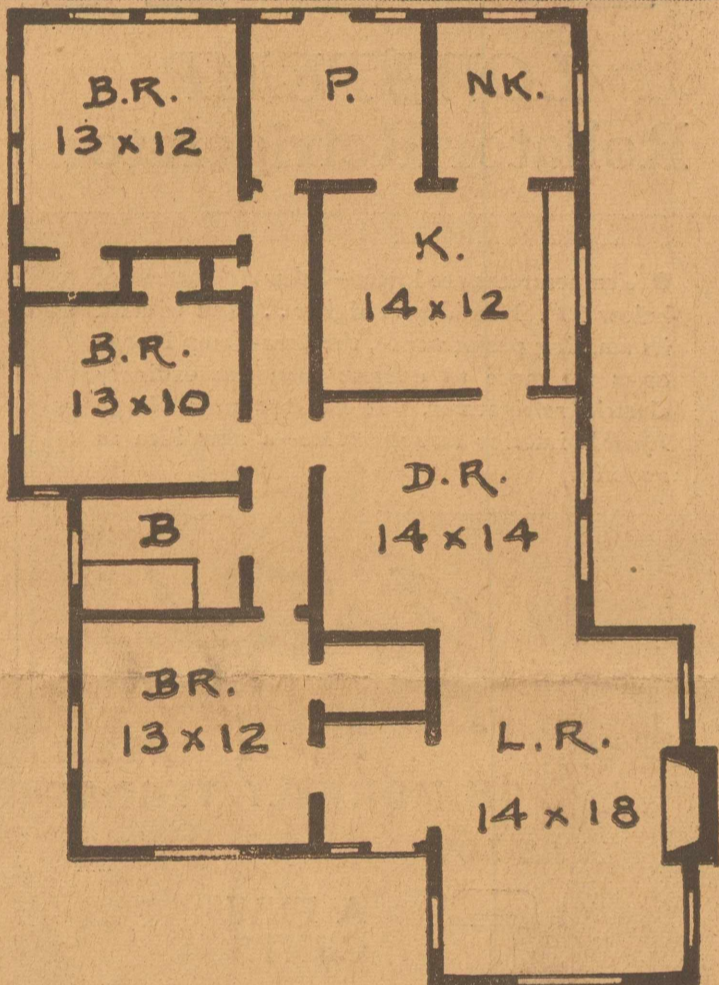

A. If there is sufficient head room to allow it, the most satisfactory method of laying a wood floor over a concrete basement floor is to lay sleepers over the concrete and nail the finish floor to them. The concrete should be mopped with a heavy coating of hot pitch to prevent the penetration of moisture, and the sleepers should be set on this. If possible, use 2 by 4 sleepers set on edge, and to prevent their warping after laying it would be well to use sound second-hand stock. Green stock may warp and cause a give to the floor in places that may be annoying. It should not be necessary to use any insulation, but if you want to be sure of protection you could lay a damp-proof insulation board over the sleepers and nail the finish floor over that. If you use this latter method, some ventilation of the spaces between the sleepers should be provided. Without the insulation board enough air will seep through the cracks in the floor. If head room will not permit this method, it will be necessary to lay the flooring on the concrete. If the concrete floor is absolutely dry at all times, the wood flooring may be laid in mastic without other treatment. However, if there is any evidence of dampness, the floor should first be treated with a metallic waterproofing with a coating of rich cement mortar.

Q. What are the fundamentals of good practice in the installation of water piping?

A. Good practice dictates that: (1) All piping should be carefully sized; (2) branches should be as short as possible; (3) piping should be sloped for easy drainage, and drain cocks should be provided in accessible locations; (4) any lines in outside walls should be adequately insulated against freezing; (5) fixture groups should be provided with cut-off valves; (6) where water pressure in the mains exceed 40 pounds per square inch a pressure reducing valve should be installed; (7) the hot-water storage tank should have a minimum capacity of 40 gallons; (8) parallel hot and cold water lines should be separated at least 6 inches.

Q. Briefly, of what does a septic tank sewage disposal system consist?

A. The system in outline consists of: (a) A covered settling chamber of metal or concrete excluding sunlight, where the settling of sludge and entraining bacterial action take place. (b) An individually designed tile field consisting of clay or concrete tile laid with open joints draining the settling chamber at the overflow level and distributing the neutralized sewage to the subsoil for

This house, which deviates from the more usual style of architecture found throughout this country, has three bedrooms, a large living room, dining room, and breakfast room as well. This kitchen is large and there is a commodious pantry. While the dwelling is designed for one floor, attic space could be finished at a later date, if desired. The Federal Housing Administration insured a $4,000 mortgage on the property, which is located at Fresno, Calif. The house is appraised at $5,000, and monthly payments of $41.13 will amortize the debt, and include payments on taxes, insurances, and service charges, in 19 1/2 yrs.

It is not considered good practice to locate a septic tank on a lot of less than 5,000 square feet in area, nor should a standard layout be used for the tile field because of the great difference in the rate of absorption of the soils and the slopes of the land in various places. Each tile field should be designed for a particular lot and soil condition, and the recommendations of the local or state health department should be followed in the location of the septic tank and the layout of the tile field in order that the system may operate properly and that all possible precautions be taken to eliminate as far as possible the pollution of the area. The area of the site must be considerably increased if the water supply is from any source other than a public system.

Q. How can I be assured of a proper and reasonably permanent installation of the drainage system in my new house?

A. Attention to the following points will insure a durable, adequate drainage system: (1) High quality of materials and workmanship; (2) well-caulked and sealed joints; (3) proper sizing of drainage and vent piping; (4) individual venting of fixtures; (5) proper pitching of mains and branches; (6) cleanout facilities at bends in drainage piping, and (7) proper traps.

Q. How can I repair cracks in my concrete foundation wall?

A. Open up and clean out the crack; roughen the edges, moisten the old concrete and fill cracks with mix of 1 part portland cement and 3 parts sand, mixed with just enough water to make a workable paste; when path has set it should be dampened and kept damp for several days.

Q. I am replacing my screens with copper ones this Spring. My neighbor's copper screens cause a greenish discoloration on the white woodwork. How can this be avoided?

A. The stain from copper drip can usually be removed by washing with ammonia. This staining can be prevented by cleaning the screen thoroughly with benzine and coating with a thin mix of varnish. One coat should last through the summer.

All of World's Helium Supply Made at Amarillo

In this $800,000 U. S. Helium plant at Amarillo, Texas, all the helium gas in the world is produced. Extracted from natural gas, the non-inflammable helium is controlled by the government and stringently prohibited from sale even for medical purposes. The above airview was made by the Army Observation Squadron, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

By NEA Service
AMARILLO, May 15.—An English physicist, studying the sun's eclipse of 1868, found the secret of preventing explosions such as destroyed the dirigible Hindenburg.

That physicist, Sir William Lockyer, discovered helium, a non-inflammable gas in the sun's spectrum. The United States, as far as present exploration has shown, has the world monopoly on the little helium in existence.

A zeppelin, filled with helium could not explode, but the wartime act of 1917 bars the selling of helium for medical, commercial or export purposes.

Only operating plant for extraction of the helium in the United States is here at Amarillo, which, since its installation in 1923, has produced 75 million cubic feet of gas. The plant is operated by the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Produced at Low Cost
With the United States' virtual withdrawal from the use of lighter-than-air craft, production of helium has been small. But in the Cliffside structure, where the helium content is 1.75 per cent, there is enough of the precious gas to last this country a century, says Dr. C. W. Seibel, supervising engineer of the Amarillo plant. It is assumed that commercial export would exhaust the supply quickly.

Helium is a non-inflammable, non-explosive gas with great lifting power, and is produced at a comparatively low cost. Its uses are varied. According to Dr. Alvin L. Barach of Columbia University, and Dr. R. R. Sayers of the U. S. Public Health Service, testifying before the House Military Affairs Committee recently, helium is of great necessity in the treatment of respiratory diseases.

Dr. Barach said several cases of asthma, threatening to be fatal, were improved by the use of helium. Dr. Sayers named it great aid in treatment of tuberculosis, and in helping babies whose lungs failed to expand normally at birth.

Helium is important in deep-sea diving, or to those who work in caissons, or under great physical pressure. The men who will attempt to enter the sunken Lusitania, off the coast of Ireland this summer plan to use helium in their diving suits.

Found Gas Around Sun
The history of helium, named from the Greek word for sun, "helios," is romantic. Long before it was discovered, it was known to exist. Astrophysicist Lockyer, peering at a total eclipse of the sun through a spectroscope, recognized the existence of a continuous stratum, or envelope, of atmosphere surrounding the sun. By the sun's eclipse, when its blinding rays were obscured, this atmosphere was thrown into relief, presenting an ideal condition for its inspection, together with the magnificently red and violet colors, which were observed in all their fiery glory extending far into space.

He arrived at the conclusion that there were immense volumes of gas shooting out from a solar envelope and became convinced that it was due to some substance in the sun then unknown on earth. The search began for the "helium" on earth, but it was 27 years later, in 1893, that Sir William Ramsay, professor of chemistry at University College in London, discovered helium in mineral clefts and extracted it by chemical process.

First Found in Kansas

It was on the Kansas prairies that the first helium was discovered in gas wells. In the early '90s, natives of Dexter, Kansas, staged a huge celebration to honor the discovery of gas in their community. But the gas put out the bonfire they planned as part of their celebration. And the gas didn't hold out.

Dr. Seibel, known as one of the greatest authorities on helium made his first contact with the gas. As instructor in the Kansas University chemistry department in 1913, he elected to write his thesis for a doctor's degree on helium. After continued experiments he read a paper before the American Chemical Society in Kansas City, in 1917, regretting that the gas had no practical application because of the high cost of extraction.

But Seibel was wrong. The World War was on. Germany had used zeppelins to great advantage, but already it had been found that tracer bullets from allies' planes could immediately ignite the hydrogen-filled bags. The allies sought some non-inflammable gas, even though it be immensely costly, for their lighter-than-air craft. Seibel's figures showed helium extraction would cost $2500 a cubic foot.

By late in 1918 the Cliffside structure, west and north of Amarillo, had been discovered. The government leased 50,000 acres. A plant 000,000 barrels of oil each.

was built here. The cost of extraction has been steadily and unbelievably lowered since, until now the cost is little more than 1 cent per cubic foot. It would cost $35,000 to fill a dirigible the size of the Hindenburg.

Helium is a natural element and cannot be produced. It must be extracted from natural gas. At Cliffside it flows under well pressure in a six-inch pipeline and is extracted by special equipment, most of which is made in the plant. The separation of helium from the other substances found in natural gas involves liquefying all the constituents of the gas except helium, trapping off the liquids at the bottom and removing the helium from the top. The gas enters the plant at a pressure of about 650 pounds per square foot.

In the first step the gas is brought to the carbon dioxide building where it is scrubbed with a solution of lye. Once free of carbon dioxide, the gas is cooled to about 300 degrees below zero and about 95 per cent is liquefied. The result produced is crude helium which is compressed to 2000 pounds per square inch, and cooled by heat interchange with partly liquid nitrogen. The helium, 98.2 per cent pure, is discharged to containers at a pressure of about 2000 pounds per square inch. Within a minute after any given cubic foot of natural gas is brought into the plant, the helium is extracted and the residue gas is on its way out.

The plant cost about $800,000 to build. The Permian Basin is an established fact. Due to its large size and the great thickness of its sedimentary strata, it will take years for complete exploration of the area shown on the map. Competent geologists forecast a long life of activity in this area. Proration has been adhered to in the Permian Basin, and this intelligent conservation means much to its future.

The Permian Basin, from the time of discovery of production in 1921 to January 1, 1937 had produced 917,706,311 barrels of oil.

The area pictured in the map, and served by companies with headquarters at Midland, comprises approximately 50,525 square miles, or an area larger than the state of Pennsylvania.

Pastor Refuses Theater Prize
FORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.)—It was hard to tell who was most surprised when the Rev. J. W. Crowder won $450 at a theater "bank night," for he returned the money a few days later. He mailed the award back to the theater, including a note that neither his students, fellow ministers, or outsiders would look with favor upon a minister who accepted a "bank night" prize.

Although the principal production comes from the Permian stratum, production is also found in the Pennsylvanian and Ordovician strata. The production is found in shallow depths, ranging from the very shallow production in the Yates field to the Ellenberger pay of the Ordovician at 9,000 feet in the Big Lake field. The permanency of production in

NEW MAP OF PERMIAN BASIN FIELDS AND PIPE LINES DEPICTS MAGNITUDE OF PRESENT, FUTURE DEVELOPMENT

Every town which publishes a map manages to picture itself as the center of something. One of the most striking examples of this art is the 1937 map of oil fields and pipe lines of the West Texas-New Mexico Permian Basin, with Midland the eastern pivot of a fan shaped, heavily producing oil territory. The map is issued by the Midland chamber of commerce.

Pipe lines from the important fields actually converge at Midland, as does the business end of the petroleum industry.

Red spotches depict the various fields, making sharp contrast with the sparsely developed areas shown on maps published a few years ago. With Mitchell, Howard and Glasscock county fields to the east; Reagan, Crockett, Pecos, Upson and Crane to the south and southwest; Ector, Ward, Winkler and Loving to the west; Lea county, N. M., An-draws, Gaines, Yoakum, Cochran, Hockley and Dawson to the northwest and north. Midland truly occupies a strategic location as the trading center for oil properties, the handling of the voluminous office business and the residence of company men, officials and independent operators with interests in that vast empire.

Interesting facts about the oil industry in the Permian Basin are printed in concise form on this chamber of commerce leaflet. For the benefit of those not impressed by the financial magnitude of the oil development, a statement is made that in 1936, there were 2,133 wells drilled in the Basin, at an estimated cost of $53,325,000. There were 6,567 producing oil wells in the Permian Basin January 1, 1937. There are four wells in the area which have produced more than 6-

TOTAL IS NOW MORE THAN REGISTERED DURING LAST YEAR

Building permits in Midland totaled $308,604.00 Saturday, one of the highest figures ever recorded for permits in any year.

The present figure is slightly more than $38,000 above the 1936 totals. Total permits for 1936 were $270,262.00.

Not since erection of the Petroleum Building and the Hotel Scharbauer have the permits approached what this year's total promises to be.

March so far has been the heaviest month of the year, permits for $152,505.00 being issued. Included in the total was the $85,000 new ward school building.

For the first 15 days of May the total permits recorded amounted to $30,774.00, indicating that the summer slump in building that had been expected by officials had not yet materialized.

Between 20 and 30 new residences are reported to be under construction now and several others are expected to be started shortly.

Following is the permits total for each month this year:

January	$46,622.00
February	$31,453.00
March	$152,505.00

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN
TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF LONE EAGLE'S FLIGHT

TEN years ago, on the night of May 21, 1927, little-known Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh landed in Paris, 33 1/2 hours after he had left New York, on the first non-stop flight across the Atlantic. He flew a Ryan monoplane that he had built up to carry the extra load of gasoline and, unheralded, took the 3650-mile hop in his stride.

In the intervening 10 years Lindy has experienced the joys of hero-worship and the deep sorrow that has accompanied it. Having lost a child, he has fled the country to assure a safer retreat for his second son, Jon.

His feat of 10 years ago aroused the interest of the world in aviation, and gave a forceful impetus to aerial progress. In his honor the United States issued a special airmail stamp depicting his ship, the "Spirit of St. Louis," flying over the Atlantic, and showing the route he took. It was the first time that a United States stamp honored a living person. (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

Weed Sprayers Tested

DAVIS, Calif. (U.P.)—The University of California Agricultural College here has initiated a new weed control program using wagon spray outfits and knapsack sprayers that left the campus free of noxious weeds at the end of one year.

CHAPTER FIVE

It was a dejected pair who walked into the service entrance of the Nolan home that afternoon. Even before Hunk and Judy pounced on them, B. J. and Virginia bore an unmistakable look of defeat which told his own story.

"Did ya get the money?" asked Hunk eagerly. Virginia was too ashamed to face him. "We had a little trouble," she said.

"Well, there's been dirty work going on here!" volunteered Judy. Hunk elucidated: "That Nina's been working on Kenneth all morning. She and Ormerly are going to fill him with brandy tonight."

white organdie curtains from one of the bedroom windows, a bedspread from a bed, and fashioned a very presentable evening dress for her. B. J., with a mouth full of pins, suddenly remembered a vital item.

"The contract! Where's the contract?" He rummaged through his pockets fruitlessly. "Ah! Here it is—he signs on the dotted line."

"Gimme," said Virginia, and stuffed it into the bosom of her dress.

"I'm so nervous!" muttered B. J. "You're nervous!" exclaimed Virginia and Judy in unison. They held four shaking hands out to B. J. He held his out, shaking as badly as theirs.

'Heave To' on Presidential Catch

Long-winded piscatorial victory was this for the President as he surveyed the 77-pound tarpon which he had just landed after a long battle off Port Aransas, Tex. While the chief executive reels in after the catch, Barney Farley, veteran fishing guide, and Elliott Roosevelt, in dark shirt, come to his assistance to heave the coveted prize aboard.

"Busted" Two Years Ago-Rancher Now Starts Building Town Near Oil Field

ABILENE, May 15. — Oil, West Texas' black crop of wealth, is bringing new pioneers to the broad plains. It's bringing new towns too.

Yesterday, the first building in a new West Texas town was started—a result of the discovery of oil.

L. P. Bennett of Abilene, owner of a 12,500-acre ranch in Yoakum county, began construction of the first business house in the town of "Bennett," a mile and a half south of Yoakum's lone oil pool, discovered in 1935.

YOU SAVE ON THE INITIAL COST AND GET Low Cost Per Mile WITH Firestone STANDARD TIRES

It really doesn't pay to drive on tires after the non-skid is worn off—in fact the last 1,000 miles of wear in a tire are only worth about 38¢. Why take the risk of a dangerous skid, an accident or perhaps a fatal blowout when new Firestone Tires cost so little.

More and more motorists are buying Firestone Standard Tires because they get the benefits of Gum-Dipping, the Firestone Patented Process that counteracts internal friction and heat which ordinarily destroy tire life. Motorists get longer non-skid mileage and unusually low cost per mile with dependable safety. It is almost unbelievable that so much tire could be bought for so little.

but nice."

"Of course, it may seem a little strange," Virginia hurriedly explained, "But you see it's my birthday and — I've always had a toast or two of champagne on my birthday and — she indicated the bottle — here it is!"

"Suppose we get Nina and Henri out and make this a real occasion?"

"Oh, I hate birthday parties. Let's just have one toast together."

After one glass, Kenneth waited fearfully for the inevitable reaction. But strangely enough, he felt none. Virginia urged him to take some more. She was beginning to feel giddy. Kenneth suggested that they go inside.

"Oh, no — let's stay here. There's something I want to talk to you about." She giggled nervously. "Something — well, important."

"Go ahead," said Kenneth. "So long as it's not that crazy Nolan Healy's."

Virginia thought perhaps they had better have another toast first. They did. They had two more. Virginia couldn't understand why everything kept going around. She and Kenneth chatted happily; they had, they discovered, many things in common — silly, inconsequential things — but nevertheless, things. She was a willing listener and Kenneth found himself unburdening his secret thoughts.

"I like to listen to wild geese flying, and I like to look at the moon... and watch it glide by a tree the way it's doing now..."

He looked shyly at Virginia. Her head rested on his shoulder. "And I like — if you don't mind my saying so — I like you."

Virginia snuggled closer. He couldn't explain how it happened, but he kissed her. She didn't seem to mind, so he kissed her again. Virginia had completely forgotten the important thing she was going to tell him; nothing seemed very important just now. Everything still kept going around, only more so. Quite suddenly she passed out. Kenneth was appalled. He lifted her to his shoulder and carried her, fireman fashion, upstairs.

B. J. Hunk and Judy, watching from an upstairs window, were horrified to see the complete miscarriage of their plans. Judy put Virginia to bed. Kenneth felt concerned and very guilty about the whole thing. Finally Judy beckoned to him from Virginia's room.

"Boy, or, boy — oh, boy!" Virginia was mumbling in a happy stupor.

"Sleep well, and you'll feel fine in the morning," He looked down at her tenderly. "Virginia," he began softly. "Can you hear me? This is what I wanted to tell you in the garden. I don't just like you — I — think I love you. You don't mind do you? I think I love you."

She was fast asleep. He kissed her gently on the forehead and tip-toed from the room.

THREE-FIFTHS OF WORKERS APPLYING TO NRS PUT IN 'UNSKILLED' GROUP

Almost 9,000 of the 15,976 workers actively seeking employment through offices of the National Reemployment Service in the Abilene district on April 1 were included in semi-skilled and unskilled occupational groups, according to a report made public today by H. L. Maufrais, district manager. It was based on a periodic survey made for the United States Employment Service in the U. S. Department of Labor.

The survey showed that in this district unskilled or physical labor workers seeking jobs numbered 3,787, and semi-skilled or production workers 5,173. Skilled workers numbered 2,035; domestic and service workers 2,911; clerical workers 444; salespersons 345; professional and kindred workers 217; and those of unassigned classification 1,064.

Approximately 3,900 women were included among the 15,976 applicants for work on April 1, Mr. Maufrais' report disclosed. Included in the total were 677 war veterans.

On December 19, date of a previous inventory of applicants, production or semi-skilled workers represented 33.4 per cent and unskilled workers 26.2 per cent of the active file. As of April 1, production workers represented 32.3 per cent of the active file, and unskilled laborers represented only 23.7 per cent, suggesting increasing placements of workers in these classifications.

A total of 610 different occupations were represented by the 18,470 workers seeking employment in December, and 668 occupations were included in the active files of the Abilene district as of April 1. Abilene is the district office for forty-four counties; with eight area, or outlying offices in the district, located as follows: Breckenridge, Eastland, Coleman, Brownwood, San Angelo, Midland, Big Spring and Sweetwater.

Occupational qualifications of the registrants range from professional people such as accountants and teachers to farm hands and chore boys.

The recent survey indicated that the largest occupational group of unemployed actively seeking work in this area is composed of farm hands, representing 21.3 per cent of the total, followed by housekeepers, representing nearly 8 per cent of the total. In December farm hands constituted 23.1 per cent of the active file, and construction laborers came
