Relatives Ask Police For Freedom In Finding Kidnapers

BROTHER DEMANDS POLICE KEEP AWAY FROM PARSON HOME

Husband Unable To Make Contact With Man

PAIR SOUGHT Man, Woman Being Hunted by Police, Federal

STONY BROOK, N. Y. June 11 (P)—The husband and wealthy relatives of Mrs. Alice McDonell Parsons, Long Island heiress who was kidnaped from her home yesterday, made a plea today that they be left alone in efforts to contact the supposed kidnaper.

A brother told police: "I would appreciate it if you would stay away entirely."

Earlier, an alarm had been broadcast for a man and a woman in a black sedan.

"Wanted, man and a woman in a black sedan, for the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Parsons of Stony Brook, Long Island," said the teletype message which officially classed the woman's disappearance as a kidnaping case.

The missing woman's husband, William H. Parson, earlier abandoned efforts to comply with instructions in a $25,000 ransom note which emerged as the principal clue to his wife's whereabouts.

The crudely printed note directed him to go to a Jamaica bus terminal, where he would be contacted, but because of publicity given the case he made no effort to visit the terminal.

SECRET LIST OF TAX EVADERS IS PREPARED TODAY

WASHINGTON, June 11 (P)—Treasury officials today disclosed they have compiled a secret list of wealthy persons they contend have dodged federal income taxes, and the names will be handed to the congressional committee when hearings or tax evasion suits will start, probably next week.

Informed persons said the list was dotted with names of persons high in the business and finance world.

The French suggested that Germany and Italy return to the committee and bolster a plan for barring foreign fighters and arms in Spain, seek the withdrawal of foreign soldier, promote mediation between insurgents and the government.

North Pole Seen As Crossroads of World for Flying

"The Arctic may become one day the chief flying crossroads of the world," predicts Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted Arctic explorer, in The Rotarian Magazine. His reason: "The near way is north."

The shortest air route from Chicago to Calcutta, he points out, is due north. The direct way from San Francisco to Berlin is north via Greenland and Iceland.

"Most great cities are in the north temperate zone," says the explorer. "The direct air routes between them lie across the Arctic. By these routes you save from one to several thousand miles, compared with the usual rail and steamer lines. They are typical routes."

Anticipating charges that the Arctic is too cold, too foggy, too stormy, too hazardous for forced landings, etc., he says:

"The lowest weather bureau temperature for the north coast of Canada is -52° and the lowest for the north coast of Alaska is -54°. But the mercury drops lower than that in North Dakota, Montana, and Wyoming. Yet there is no talk of its being too cold for flying. It has, instead, been discovered that flying conditions are better in these states on extremely cold days than on some days of intermediate temperatures.

"Fog, enemy of the flier, is rare in very cold weather, as in great heat. It is worst at intermediate temperatures. Common and very dangerous in the range from just above freezing to 15° or 20° below freezing. This temperature belt is seldom encountered in the Arctic during the mid-winter.

"Sleet is a major flying handicap. In most of the Arctic, sleet dangers are absent for practically every day of the six coldest months. "Nothing promotes flying safety more than having numerous and good emergency landing places," continues Mr. Stefansson. "Now, the soil in the northern three-quarters of Canada is eternally frozen. The earth is similarly frozen in three-quarters of Alaska, in the northern parts of the Scandinavian countries, Finland, European Russia, and Siberia. Throughout this vast range, except on mountain slopes, from one-fifth to three-fifths of the surface is lakes. Everyone of them is a good emergency landing place in winter, most of them are in summer. During summer you see ponds or a flying boat and come down safely on the water.

"The Arctic lands are not generally uninhabited. There are natives on many of its coasts, including some of the islands. Settlements of Europeans are found here and there, and they are developing fast. Along the north shore of Canada and Alaska there is a habitation on the average every 20 miles."

Bill Restricting Dentists' Ads Signed

AUSTIN, June 11. (P)—Governor Allred vetoed today a bill passed at the regular session of the legislature providing for a state-wide soil conservation service.

He also vetoed a bill increasing the list of subjects for which free text books for public schools would be adopted, but signed a measure restricting dentist advertising.

The governor lauded the purpose of the soil conservation bill, but said that he objected to the method of financing, and said that Secretary Wallace had advised him that under the bill's terms the government probably would not cooperate.

NEW LOCATION IS ANNOUNCED TODAY IN MARTIN COUNTY

Test To Start Soon On O. B. Holt Ranch

BY FRANK GARDNER

The first new wildcat location for Martin county in more than a year was announced today. It is the Jim Anderson et al No. 1 O. B. Holt, center of about 20, league 319, Garza county school land, in the west central part of the county. The test, a rank wildcat, is on a 9,000-acre block assembled by J. L. Greene, Russell C. Conkling and T. R. Parker, all of Midland, who turned it to Ray E. Johnson and a Mr. Dutton, both of Oklahoma City, retaining some acreage. Drilling end of the deal was taken over by Anderson, formerly of Anderson and Kerr, drilling contractors of Oklahoma City. Operations will start by August 1st, with rotary to be employed to top of lime, and standard tools rigged up at that point. Contract calls for depth of 5,000 feet, or oil or gas in commercial quantity or sulphur water in the "big lime."

Material is on the ground for Moore Brothers Corporation No. 1 F. A. King, northwest Glasscock location in the center of the north-west quarter of section 43, block 35, township 1 south, T. & P. survey. It is on a block of 14,940 acres at the junction of Martin, Midland and Glasscock counties assembled by Conkling, Parker and the Moore Brothers. Ferndale Drilling Company has contracted to drill the well to 3,750 feet, production or water. It is two and three-quarter miles south and a mile east of Woodley Petroleum Corporation No. 1 F. A. King, a dry hole driller last year in southeastern Martin.

Has Rainbow Show
Interest swung today to Yoakum county when Bahan & Rhodes and Fitzpatrick No. 1 L. B. Shook estate, wildcat west of Plains, was reported to have a slight show of oil in samples and rainbow of oil in pits from section at 5,000-90. It was drilling ahead last night at 5,102 feet in lime. Location is the center of the northern quarter of section 420, block D, John H. Gibson survey, 3 miles southwest of the same operators' No. 1 Alice Henard, failure drilled last summer.

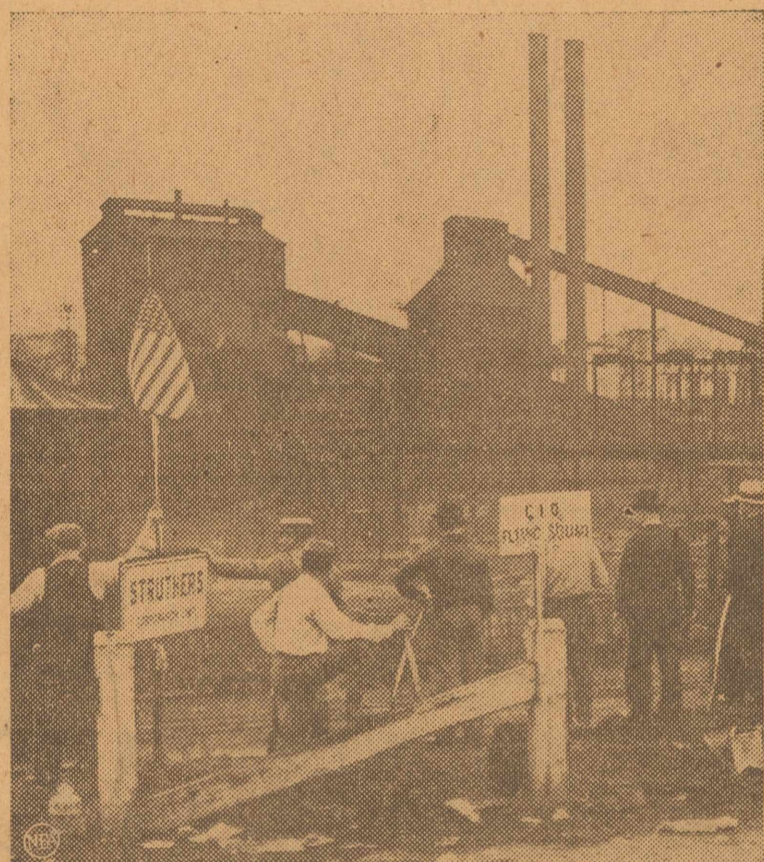

Magnolia No. 1 Taylor, northeastern Yoakum test in section 201, block D, was still rigging up standard tools, bottomed at 4,024 feet. Elevins & Sloan No. 1 Barber, southwest Gaines wildcat, located in section 19, block B-28, public school land, is drilling at 2,900 feet. The Yates sand, if topped, had not been announced.

Wasson Test
Carter-Conoco No. 1 Wasson in northwestern Gaines was coming out with drilipipe, bottomed at 4,959 feet in lime. It will be shut down pending arrival of 5-inch casing, which operators will probably set at around 4,800 feet, the well is in section 48, block AX, public school land.

Amerada No. 1 Alphous Buckley last night had completed cellar and pits and water well had been dug. The test is in the northeast corner of section 417, block G. C. S. D. & R. G. N. G. survey, a mile and a quarter southwest of the No. 1 Wasson. Lease on the north half of the section calls for commencement of operations by midnight tonight.

Farther west in Gaines, Continental No. 1 Jones was drilling anhydrite at 3,622 and Argo No. 1 Jones had reached 1,440 feet in red rock. First lime stringer came in at

HIGH OFFICIALS OF SOVIET ON TRIAL

Government Announcement Says 8 Are Charged With Treason

MOSCOW, June 11. (P)—Eight of the highest officers of the Soviet army will go on trial for their lives today. A government announcement issued at 3 a. m. (7 p. m. Thursday E. S. T.) said they were charged with treason.

Heading the list of accused was Marshal Michail Nikolaevitch Tukhachevsky, vice-commissioner of war until just a month ago. Among the others were men who only a short time ago stood near the very top of the Soviet defense system. They will go on trial behind closed doors. Conviction will mean they will be sent almost immediately before a firing squad without the right of appeal.

The trial will be held according to an emergency decree issued in December, 1934, immediately after the assassination of Sergi Mironich Kiroff, chief aide to Joseph Stalin, in Leningrad. This provides for summary action against enemies of the regime.

BRYAN RETIRES, AND THEN TAKES UP NEW CAMPAIGN IN HIS HOME STATE

LINCOLN, Neb. June 11 (U)P.—Former Mayor Charles W. Bryan, last of the Bryans to leave official life, emerged from a ten-day "retirement" to open a campaign on behalf of a proposed state law exempting homesteads from taxation.

The man who served his more-famous brother, William Jennings Bryan, as political secretary and business agent and subsequently as governor of Nebraska for three terms, feels strongly about homestead tax exemption.

"A law exempting residences valued up to $5,000 from taxation is important not only from the angle of reducing the tax burden on the average home, but also as a business stimulant," he said. Bryan would fill the hole that would be left in the state's tax system with sales taxes on luxury goods and a state income levy. He advocated the homestead plan and income tax while governor.

Heads Petition Drive
Under his direction, a drive is under way for signatures on a petition placing the proposal on the ballot for a vote by the people in the 1937 election. Approximately 33,000 signatures are needed.

Political observers wonder if Bryan now 70, might not be persuaded to run again for governor in 1938 to focus public attention on the plan. He has parried questions regarding his future intentions in politics.

USCC OPOSES TENANCY PLAN NOW IN SENATE

Private Financing Is Suggested As Method

WASHINGTON, June 11 (P)—A committee of the chamber of commerce of the United States came out for private financing of farm tenancy aid yesterday shortly after the senate agriculture committee had approved direct federal outlays in this field.

The chamber committee recommended that loans to help tenants acquire farms be made by local financial institutions, with the government guaranteeing a liberal percentage of the advances.

Chamber officials said the proposed federal guarantee would be similar to the present government insurance on home mortgages.

Earlier in the day, the senate agriculture committee sent to the senate floor a bill for federal financing of tenant farm purchases along lines agreeable to President Roosevelt.

Under this measure, a proposed farmer's home corporation would receive a $10,000,000 appropriation for the fiscal year beginning July 1, $25,000,000 in the following year and $5,000,000 annually thereafter.

The corporation would retain title to farms sold tenants until full payment had been made.

A different tenancy bill is pending in the house. It would appropriate $50,000,000 annually for five years for long-term loans to selected tenants. Tenant purchasers would obtain title to their farms at once, subject only to mortgages held by the government.

In its report, the chamber committee said "farm tenancy as an institution is probably only less old than the establishment of property rights in lands, as it is an offshoot of these property rights."

Republic Plant Now Being Protected By Citizens

PARLEY OPENED

Principals Called To Columbus By Davey

YOUNGSTOWN, O. June 11. (P)—

A Committee of Industrial Organization mass movement of workers on Monroe, Michigan, was stopped today when Homer Martin, UAWA head, intervened, and the Republic steel company plant resumed operations protected by armed citizens.

Strike principals gathered in Columbus, Ohio, for an afternoon peace conference with Governor Davey; but at Johnstown, Pa., looked for trouble from a strike set for tonight at the Bethlehem steel mill.

UAWA workers ended the motor caravan from Pontiac to Monroe, where a sympathy labor holiday was declared because authorities broke a steel picket line and reopened the Republic plant, 34 persons in jail after a clash with officers.

Senator Bridges, New Hampshire, told the senate postoffice committee that the assistant postmaster at Niles, Ohio, refused to deliver packages to strike-bound workers because union pickets "won't allow it." He said that the strike situation is "rapidly approaching a state of warfare."

Do not fail to see IPTA at the carnival here next week. People in the north and east have paid as high as $12.50 to see IPTA, however, through the courtesy of the local Lions club and the owners of the freak, persons visiting the carnival here next week will be charged only ten cents (one tenth of a dollar) to view IPTA, the eighth wonder of the world. EUROPE'S NEW SAMPLE OF OLD DIPLOMACY

The Spanish government has prepared a "White Book" which presents its case to the family of nations much in the same manner of a little boy "telling" on the neighborhood toughies who beat him up.

This "White Book" is supposed to be a complete and untinted resume of the conditions under which the government was forced into civil war and how it was unfairly clouded by outsiders awaiting their chance to scavenge the marbles that might roll from the Spanish pockets.

All this is well and good. There should be a frank record of a situation which has been so covered with the slime of intrigue and covert plotting and so fraught with the danger of a general war. But the record doesn't end there.

Cables report that the "White Book", as prepared for the League of Nations Council, deals mainly with "Italian aggression" against Spain, with little mention of Germany's part on the Rebel side. The only logical deduction is that the Loyalists, with the silent approval of France and Great Britain, were moving to minimize German intervention, allow Hitler to withdraw from Spain without loss of prestige and thus bring about a split in the lately cultivated Berlin-Rome friendship.

Summed up, this means that diplomacy, the strict ethical requirements of vaulted foreign service schools, and myriad peace and anti-Fascist leagues have brought us no nearer, in actual practice, to international honesty than we were before, during and after the World War.

It does not take a genius at modern history to recall how the allies colored half the facts and concealed the other half in order to drag the United States into the World War. It is on the record that Japan sided with the allies because the Japanese were offered an easy grab of German possessions in the Orient. And in the case of Rumania, which sold out to the allies merely because they could promise more war spoils, we have a classic example of intrigue on the grand scale.

After the World War came a flood of "White Books", "Red Books", and "Yellow Books" issued by the individual governments in a feeble effort to whitewash their own guilt. They provided valuable details for the technical historian, but they did not reveal the scheming and plotting or the underhand methods of war making that might steer future generations away from the same kind of trouble.

Experience still is our best teacher, and Americans who feel the stirrings of interest in some "glorious cause" overseas should refer without delay to the surrent manipulation of Spain's "White Book" and all that it implies.

Wilderness Area Urged In Forests of Oregon

ROSEBURG, Ore. (U.P.) — A region of primitive wilderness, 20 miles square, embracing 20,000 acres, unmarked by human construction and unpenetrated by roads, or trails except as necessary for fire protection, may be created in the Umpqua National Forest, according to plans revealed by V. V. Harpham, supervisor.

The project, which will provide the largest wilderness area in Oregon, is being placed before civic groups and sportsmen's organizations in an effort to sound out opinion before action is taken.

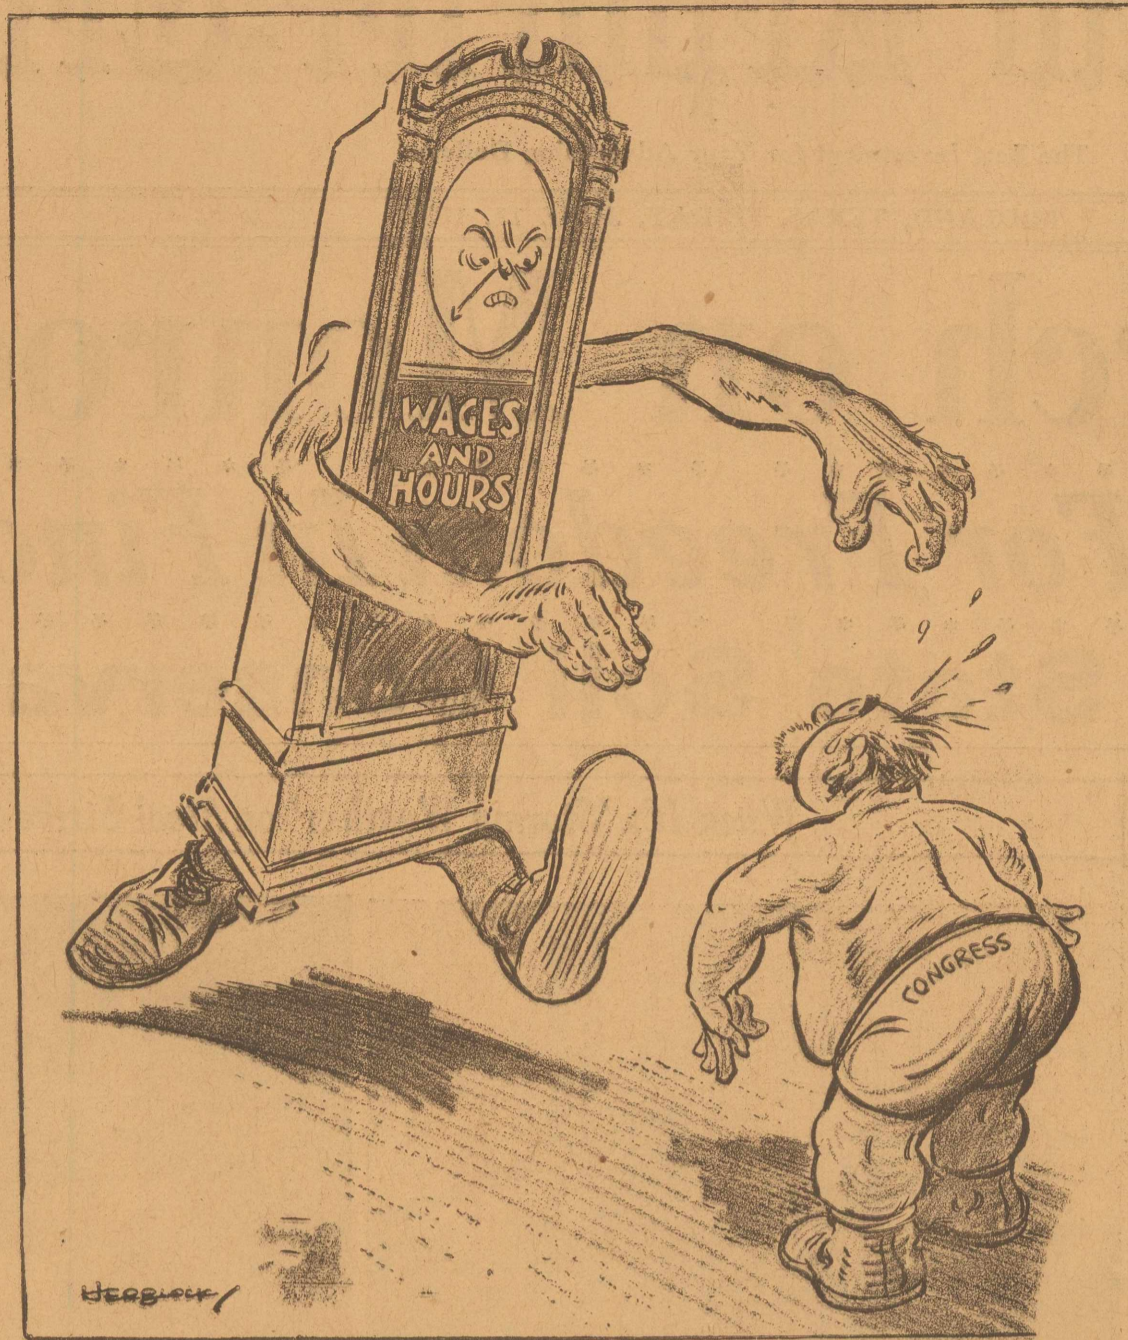

Family Album Buried With 142 Glass Stones

ST. ALBANS, Vt. (U.P.) — Paul Favreau, 23, overturned a stone and found beneath it an old family album. Opening it, he discovered the center had been cut out, making a box-like receptacle, and this had been stuffed with cotton. In the cotton Favreau found 142 loose stones.

At a jeweler's however, he was told the stones were only glass.

Wrestle With That Awhile

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 11—Washington newspaper correspondents have acted to repudiate those of their number who have been selling so-called "confidential information, not for publication."

This action has been taken for self-protection. It is aimed at columnists and other writers who supply to editors and others, private, unpublished gossip or tip services, purporting to give the real low-down on Washington officials and their activities.

A large gob of sensational misinformation has been spread around the country in this manner, and it was a lurid tale about an imaginary incident concerning the president's health which finally caused both the White House Correspondents' Association and the National Press Club to take formal notice.

The Correspondents' Association executive committee, authorized by the White House to pass on eligibility of those seeking to attend President Roosevelt's press conferences, has voted to require all applicants for membership to certify that they are not engaged for profit, directly or indirectly, in dissemination of confidential information. It also has promulgated the rule that: "Persons representing news agencies of any description engaged in the dissemination of so-called confidential information for profit, direct or indirect, shall not be entitled to membership in the White House Correspondents' Association."

Sensational Story Out
MEANWHILE, The Press Club's board of governors has summoned a member to show cause why he should not be expelled for the undercover dissemination of a yarn, allegedly false and yet so sensational that it would command streamer headlines all over the nation if it were proved true.

Correspondents who write only news which they expect to be published openly have been annoyed for a long time by the fact that tipsters were peddling fabrications which often made it appear that the correspondents were asleep, or else were suppressing facts of national importance. Recent revelations have had the newsmen debating heatedly among themselves as to the best way of meeting the situation. Although some have felt that it was not their job to protect the President and others from scurrilous gossip, others insist that the menace of press censorship will be involved if they make no effort to separate legitimate news writers and commentators from the irresponsible tipsters. The latter have been able to write without fear of libel suits or even of public denial.

Non-journalistic tip sheets from Washington began to thrive early in the New Deal by pandering to the more violent critics of Roosevelt and the New Deal. Wild yarns about Roosevelt's mental and physical condition, scandals in his family, and immoral habits or crookedness among other New Dealers were spread about rather freely to gullible business men and others who paid their tip sheet subscriptions in the belief they were getting the real inside dope.

One result was to paint by implication the picture of a corps of Washington correspondents subservient to the White House and unwilling or afraid to write the news. One gent, at last reports, was still making a comfortable living with weekly letters which purported to tell in detail the individual connections of nearly every top New Dealer with the Communist International.

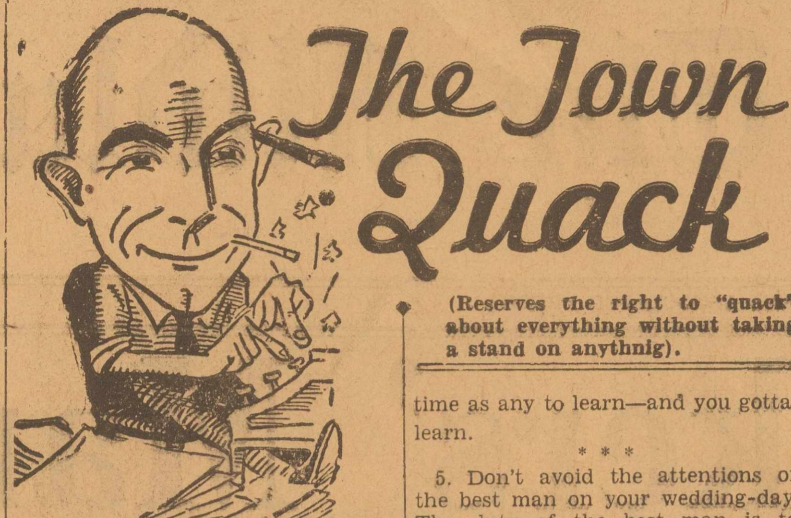

No Tunnel to Treasury
THE non-journalistic tipsters, however, have always been barred from presidential and most other official press conferences. Until recently there were no complaints concerning confidential tip services conducted by newspapermen or agencies. And there is nothing in the ruling of the White House Correspondents' Association designed to discourage any correspondent from writing what ever he desires to his own editors or from writing anything he chooses for publication.

Meanwhile, until further notice, you may take it as a fact that the President is in good health, that the White House lawn isn't cluttered with whiskey bottles, that no cabinet member has a secret tunnel through which he loots the treasury vaults, and that no Washington correspondent has been secretly poisoned to keep him from telling all.

Some hints to June bridegrooms by Emily Post; plus some very pertinent up-to-the-minute advice from the chief of the Reporter-Telegram matrimonial agency—The Town Quack:

1. Don't buy the ring before you pop the question. Ask your fiancée what kind she prefers (for the wedding-ring, too) and allow her to select it if she wishes.
2. Don't furnish any portion of the bride's trousseau or pay for any part of the wedding unless she is an orphan.
3. Remember the last part of that, and then try to count the knots on your head when you tell her to pay the preacher.
4. Don't go around before the wedding looking too "dressed up." This is poor taste. Replenish your wardrobe with necessities and without ostentation.
5. You had better replenish your wardrobe before you get hitched if you ever expect to.
6. Don't forget to blacken the soles of your wedding-shoes with water proof shoe polish if you kneel during the ceremony. Soles should be dark, neat and inconspicuous when facing the audience.
7. You might as well kneel during the ceremony—that is as good a

How To Arrange Flowers

The "Basic" Lines of an Arrangement Are Simple.

Making an artistic arrangement with flowers is really painting a picture with living materials. The fundamental principles of composition both as to color and light or mass balance is as important in real bouquets as with those painted on canvas.

The heavy white pottery bowl in the illustration will accommodate a number of flowers and still look stable and well balanced. Containers of this sort need some large or long stemmed flowers while a mass small or delicate flowers would not be suitable.

When making an arrangement of several different kinds of flowers it is often helpful to first put in a few of the longest stemmed or spike flowers as sort of a framework to help visualize the size and proportions of the finished effect. By establishing the limits of the arrangement in this way there is less possibility of it being made top-heavy or out of balance. To hold each of these flowers in the exact position desired it is necessary to use a heavy flower holder such as the type with sharp upright teeth that hold the stems very firmly.

The outline or skyline of an arrangement, as shown by these longer flowers that determine the limits of the bouquet, should be varied to give interest and naturalness. Always avoid any studied regularity which looks stiff and artificial.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, June 13.
The Golden Text is: "In God is my salvation and my glory; the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God" (Psalms 62:7). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (CHRUCHES) Page 6

"ALL-BRAN LIVES UP TO REPUTATION"

If you are troubled with common constipation, read Miss Bundy's enthusiastic letter:

"I used to feel poorly all the time—just down and out. After reading an advertisement about ALL-BRAN, I got a box. It has helped me ever since." Miss Mary Bundy, Bennettsville, S. C.

Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings "bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to tone up the intestinal tract.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water. This soft mass gently clears the intestines in a safe, natural way—without any of the weakening action of pills and drugs.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—with every meal in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or fruits, or cook into recipes. Remember—ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Angelo Federation To Give Breakfast

SAN ANGELO, June 11—Telephone committees in 13 local women's organizations are busy with contacting members for reservations for the waffle breakfast planned by the City Federation of Women's Clubs for 9 o'clock Monday morning at the Hotel Cactus.

Women who are interested in civic affairs but who do not belong to any of the clubs that have joined the central group are invited to enter the federation as individual members, their dues to be 50 cents a year.

Mrs. Sidney P. Bolding at 5663-2, federation secretary, is taking reservations from individual members for the breakfast as well as receiving those from club members made through committees.

Although it is vacation time and many women are away on trips, it has been deemed advisable to lay foundation plans for next fall's activities early. Federation affairs will also provide a bit to do during the summer months that generally are lackadaisical days.

Mrs. Edwin S. Mayer and her social committee are making arrangements for the breakfast, the cost to be 30 cents a person.

Six Co-Eds Enter Masculine Fields

AUSTIN, Texas, June 11.—Six members of the spring graduating class at the University of Texas, which numbered 1,063, were "co-eds" who have prepared themselves to invade professions regarded generally as exclusively masculine. Three obtained engineering degrees, albeit one was in interior architecture, and three the bachelor of laws. Florence Lenore Smith of Austin received the degree of bachelor of interior architecture; Margaret Roberta Brown of Newgulf, the bachelor of science in chemical engineering; Leah Moncure of Bastrop, the bachelor of science in civil engineering; and Betty Green of Bowie, Hazel Eva Pluecker of Port Arthur and Mrs. Ione Steel Stumberg of Austin, the bachelor of laws.

Both Miss Brown and Miss Moncure intend to practice their professions. Miss Brown plans to do laboratory work in the oil industry, while Miss Moncure has already had considerable experience in her chosen field of highway engineering. She served as engineering assistant on parts of the recent $4,500,000 highway and street building program in Harris county.

BREWER SHUTS OUT WINK WITH 2 HITS; TODAY 'LADIES DAY'

NEW RIGHTHANDER HURLS BEST GAME HERE THIS SEASON

Pitcher "Bud" Brewer made his first appearance in a Midland Cardinal uniform yesterday and what an appearance he made.

When the official nine innings were over Wink had collected two hits, one of them a very, very lucky fluke and one two-base hit and no runs. So completely in hand did he have the group of Spudder hitters that collected 23 hits off two Card pitchers Wednesday that only one man ever reached second.

In the fourth inning Brown got a "looping liner" just over Orr's head at second to be the first Spudder to get anything that even resembled a hit but it did him no good as he was left there when the next three men popped out. With one man out in the fifth Bryce came through with a hard smash to right center that netted him two bases but he never got a chance to move up as Brewer made a quick throw to Orr to catch him off the bag.

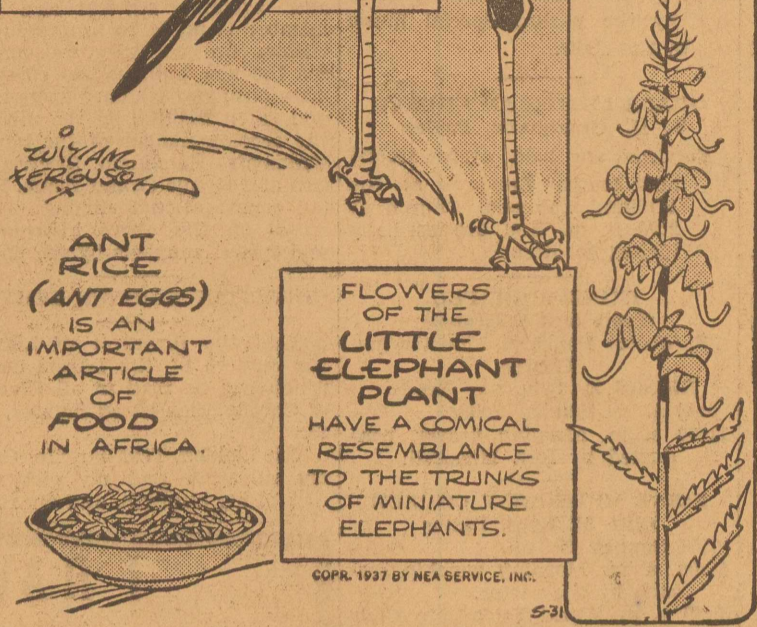

Brewer had 10 strikeouts to his credit and two walks. One of the walks appeared to the grandstand to be a gift from the umpire (Brewer thought the same thing) as he apparently threw one right down the middle with the count 3-2 on one hitter but umpire Hunter saw it differently. Wink used three pinch hitters and Brewer struck out two of them out in the ninth.

Pitcher Hay of the Spudders almost matched Brewer in efficiency after the first couple of innings but it was too late by that time. Murphy, first batter for the Cards in the first inning, walked, Orr struck out, Randell reached first when Grider muffed his hard hit ground ball, Nook walked and Serafine came through with a double just inside the third base foul line to score Murphy and Randell. Nook and Serafine died on base when Stein popped out to second and Schiffner flew out to center. Fullenwider made a nice, one-hand leaping catch to retire Schiffner.

In the second inning, Potocar reached first on an error by Guynes, advanced to second on Brewer's

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE SECRETARY BIRD, OF AFRICA, IS A BIRD OF PREY, THE SAME AS EAGLES AND HAWKS, BUT, SINCE IT SECURES ITS PREY ON THE GROUND INSTEAD OF IN MID-AIR, IT HAS DEVELOPED POWERFUL LEGS.

ANT RICE (ANT EGGS) IS AN IMPORTANT ARTICLE OF FOOD IN AFRICA.

FLOWERS OF THE LITTLE ELEPHANT PLANT HAVE A COMICAL RESEMBLANCE TO THE TRUNKS OF MINIATURE ELEPHANTS.

The secretary bird bears a close resemblance to other birds of prey, with the exception of its legs. These have developed into long, powerful weapons, with which it stamps out the life of snakes, its favorite prey. A snake stands small chance against the lightning-like thrusts of the legs, which are armed at the feet with sharp claws.

Social Security Made Simple

Question No. 11
Question: In what cases, if any, should an employer file an application Form SS-5 for an employee's Social Security account number card?

Answer: Employers should file an SS-5 application on behalf of an employee and secure the employee's account number only when the employee has failed to file an application himself before (1) leaving the employer's service, (2) before attaining the age of 65, (3) before dying prior to the age of 65, or (4) before the end of an informational period, (June 30, 1937, and quarterly thereafter.)

In the first three cases, the employer will file the SS-5 application on or before the tenth day after such date. In the fourth case the employer will file before the tenth day after the end of such informational period.

If the employer files an application for the employee, the employer should give as much information called for as he is able, and should sign the application, inserting after the signature the word, "employer." The employer should also state at the bottom of the form the reason why he filed the application.

Expression 'And/Or' Irks High State Court

DENVER, (U.P.)—The Supreme Court of Colorado is tired of lawyers who use the literary fraction "and/or."

Chief Justice Haslett P. Burke, who attached to an opinion handed down by the court a full page of "and/or" criticism of the legal device which lawyers and judges have used for years, described the literary fraction as a pollution of the English language, "and/or" a Janus-faced thing and/or a weasel.

Chief Justice Burke said lawyers will abstain from using it or suffer the displeasure of the court. The chief use of the "and/or" it seems is to make vagaries sound clearer and has been the pet term of lawyers and lawmakers.

In the court record, Burke said, there are so many "and/or's" which served only to confuse and/or befuddle the particular issue.

Nook led off in the third with a double but never advanced further than third, and in the fifth led off with a single and finally reached third, only to be left there for the third time. Potocar singled in both the sixth and eighth innings but his mates could not move him around.

Wily Pigeons Avoid Albany Capitol Traps

ALBANY, N. Y., June 10 (U.P.)—A second campaign to rid New York's capitol of a flock of pigeons failed when the birds ate grain used as bait but refused to enter box traps.

Attaches sprinkled the grain in a trail to two traps and retired, prepared to close the traps by remote control when the birds were inside. They would then be transported away from the city and freed.

The pigeons flocked to the feast and gobbled the grain. At the doors of the cage they hesitated, retired to eat remaining bait and flew back to their nests in the court walls. Scores of pigeons died in 1931 when poisoned corn was spread for the birds in the first effort to get rid of them. Indignant legislators protested and a bill to prohibit poisoning was introduced in the legislature. Use of guns is not possible in the enclosed court.

Film Stars to Judge Soaked Beauties

DALLAS, Texas, June 11—Gene Raymond and William Powell, two of the screen's most famous leading men, will make a personal appearance at the Pan American Exposition as judges in a Search for Beauty contest June 26.

Not a commonplace bathing beauty contest, but a contest in which all entrants must be "ducked" in water before passing by the judges' stand is specified. The Search for Beauty, necessitating "trial-by-water," will be held as a free attraction within the international fair grounds. There is no restriction as to the section or country from which girls come.

Judges Gene Raymond and William Powell will decide which girls look the best immediately after being submerged in water. No rubber bathing suits or water-proof makeup will be allowed.

Entrance registrations will be received at a down-town location, as yet unannounced. Details of the contest were being discussed Tuesday by W. L. Freelove, advertising manager of Hollywood and Dallas News, and Ned Blaine, special events director of the Exposition.
