LEWIS ORDERS WORKERS OF TWO COMPANIES QUIT

Troopers Patrolling Bethlehem Strike Front Today

TENSION TAUT

Monroe Mayor Says Pickets Will Be Allowed

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. June 14. (P)—Thousands of miners quit the coal pits of independently steel companies today after John L. Lewis directed a strike against mines owned by the Bethlehem and Youngstown steel companies.

On the nation's strike front tension remained taut; troopers patrolled outside of the Bethlehem strike-beset plant here; in Canton, Ohio, the federation of labor threatened to call a strike of 15,000 craftsmen if the picket line before the Republic plant is broken.

Monroe, Michigan, watched in comparative quiet as Mayor Daniel Knags assured "responsible members" that striking steel workers of the union would be permitted peaceful picketing before the Republic subsidiary plant now operating.

Van A. Bitner, Chicago C. I. O. organizer, flung a warning at Monroe Sunday that the city will be without peace until steel labor contracts are signed.

"In two days," he shouted to thousands massed in a protest meeting at Lake Shore Park, three miles outside the city, "we will be back."

The gathering was called to protest the breaking of a picket line last Thursday at the Newton Steel Co. plant of the Republic Steel Corporation which has refused to sign a labor contract.

Hair ruffled in the breeze, his brown-suited arm waving in emphatic gestures, Bitner spouted the ultimatum.

The statement drew immediate answer from within the barricaded city.

Elderly John McMillan, a leading citizen, operator of a printing plant in Monroe, said that if the union men attempt to invade the city, a courthouse bell would ring and "5,000 armed vigilantes will appear within 15 minutes."

Risking being seen by the housekeeper-companion who was in the house, the kidnapers brazenly set their trap for Mrs. Alice Parsons within a stone's throw of attractive Stony Brook, L. I., country estate of William Parsons, pictured above from the air. So near did they approach that Mrs. Parsons, apparently after speaking with them, came to the house to announce that she was taking some people to see a nearby estate. That was the last her family heard or saw of her.

DEATH SENTENCE GIVEN NEGRO FOR DEATH OF OFFICER

Marion County Jury Agrees on First Ballot

LINDEN, Texas, June 14. (P)—Charlie Brooks, Negro, was found guilty by a jury here early Sunday of slaying Sheriff Alex Brown of Marion county March 10.

The jury, agreeing on the first ballot, made no recommendation for mercy, and the verdict automatically carried the death penalty. Deliberations started here Saturday night. Defense attorney filed a motion for a new trial.

The officer was slain several days after Brooks and another Negro escaped from the county jail at Jefferson. The Negro, held for robbery, was to have been prosecuted under the habitual criminal statute.

The defendant protested his innocence, testifying that a companion slew the Sheriff, and that a statement attributed to him was made under duress.

Sheriff Brown died from a charge of buckshot fired through a window as he conversed with his wife as they prepared to retire in their living quarters in the jail building. The case was brought here on a change of venue.

FASCISTS ENTER OUTSKIRTS OF THE BASQUE CAPITAL

'Iron Ring' Defense Of City Falls At Many Points

By Associated Press Spanish insurgent warplanes machine-gunned the center of the Basque capital, Bilbao, today and white insurgent infantry poured through a gap in the "iron ring" defense into the city's suburban villages.

British and French ships were reported waiting at the mouth of the Nervion river to evacuate the Basque president and government officials.

Basques claimed a stiff counter attack was in progress at the city outskirts. The government tried to relieve pressure on Bilbao by renewed activity on the Cordoba and Aragon fronts.

The semi-autonomous Basque government fled from Bilbao to Santander, westward along the Biscaya coast, Sunday. Nationalist authorities announced today. The Nationalists said the capture of Bilbao was virtually accomplished and that it only remains for troops under Gen. Jose Fidel Davila to enter the city.

TRACK IS FARMED OUT TO CORKRAN FOR 8-DAY SHOW

Dates Applied For, June 25-July 3 Inclusive

200 NAGS READY

Horses to Come From Pampa Meet Now In Session

Race fans will have one more opportunity to see the horses run at Midland Downs, with the thrill of having straight, place or show tickets on the favorite mounts. Officials of Midland Fair Inc., announced today that the track has been "farmed out" on a percentage basis to Ford Corkran, well known Texas turfman, who is now staging the meet at Pampa.

Corkran, who has been identified with most of the minor race meets in Texas for the past three years, has applied to the Texas Racing Commission for the dates of June 25 through July 3, to hold an eight day meet. As soon as advice is received from the commission, he will begin at once to advertise the meet extensively throughout West Texas.

The concessionaires were retained by Midland Fair, Inc., officials said, and they also will receive a percentage of the profits in the contract. Corkran and his associates assume full liability for purses and all expenses of an already have approximately 200 horses ready to come to the local stables as soon as the Pampa race meet ends. Approximately 100 horses from other sections of the southwest also are expected to come here as soon as the dates are definitely secured.

Corkran is taking advantage of the 90-day period before the repeal of pari-mutuel wagering takes effect to stage for the fans of West Texas and the Permian Basin "one more race meet." With him on his trip to confer with Midland Fair, Inc., officials was "Pinky" Gooch of Amarillo who officiated in the pari-mutuel offices here during the fair's first race meet. Both were enthusiastic over the prospects for a meet here and anticipated much interest among the citizens of this section. The only uncertainty was the matter of securing dates in time to hold the large number of horses now racing at Pampa, and it was believed that the dates could be worked in.

Midland has the only three-quarter mile track in Texas. Three race meets were held after its construction two years ago, attracting some of the outstanding horses of the south. Horsemen throughout the country "like Midland" and will take advantage of the short period left for Texas racing to bring their ponies here, Corkran said. Stables sufficient to accommodate 300 horses, with a grandstand seating 5,500 persons make it one of the best equipped plants in the state.

PARSON WHO WED EDWARD, WALLIS QUILTS HIS POST

Says Recent Events Not Cause of His Resignation

DARLINGTON, England, June 14. (P)—The Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, who braved the disapproval of the Church of England to perform the marriage service for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, announced his resignation Sunday as vicar of St. Paul's Church, Darlington.

From his pulpit he declared his resignation had nothing to do with events which have taken place lately.

The announcement came during the evening sermon and was a surprise even to his wife.

"I wish to announce," the vicar said "that I have written to the trustees of this church and to the bishop of this diocese to resign from the living of this church of St. Paul."

"This has nothing to do with events which have taken place lately. Nobody knew my decision, but I have already resigned the living." Living is a term used in England to denote the tenure of certain church positions.

NEW TYPE LEGISLATURE IS UP FOR APPRAISAL

It is not strange that Nebraska, reviewing the recently recessed initial session of its experimental, one-house, nonpartisan legislature, is unable to decide whether the idea was worth the trouble.

On the balance sheet after Nebraska's new streamlined legislature adjourned, were many other things in its favor and many other things which showed no improvement over the old two-house legislature.

For instance, the 43 members of the unicameral body introduced only 750 bills in this year's session, as compared with 1042 bills introduced by the 133 members of the bicameral legislature in 1935.

The 1937 legislature cost $50,000 less than that of 1935, but its members adopted a $54,000,000 budget for the next two years, exceeding by $18,000,000 the budget set up in 1935.

Taking 98 days to complete its work, the unicameral neared the record for lengthy sessions, and disappointed its disciples who had predicted that a one-house assembly would work with greater speed.

On the credit side, the unicameral passed new rules of procedure to assure "legislation openly arrived at"; set up a planning commission to obtain detailed facts on budget needs of state institutions; paved the way for the previously Federal Child Labor amendment by initiating a change which would permit voters to pass on amendments to the U. S. Constitution, and moved to shorten the state ballot.

An important point of the debate which followed the first unicameral session was that greater criticism developed over the non-party nomination and election of members than over what those members did when they got down to law making.

Democratic and republican leaders alike protested this loss of party responsibility. Although the rolls showed a democratic majority, it was claimed that Governor R. L. Cochran, a democrat, had difficulty obtaining support of his legislative plans.

This objection easily could be the stumbling block for Nebraska's noble experiment. Fortunately, there is no real evidence that America or any other free nation would fall under a political hierarchy if the familiar two-party system were abolished.

Nebraska is pioneering in uncharted governmental procedure, but there is nothing, thus far, to indicate that any insurable hazards lie ahead. Imperfections that have already developed seem to be within the power of the people to correct.

At least, the unicameral, nonpartisan plan of state law making deserves a longer trial, and that, apparently, is just what the citizens of Nebraska intend to give it.

EXAMPLE FOR EUROPE

From force of habit or by grace of a consuming ego, the European powers continue to regard themselves as the guardians of all Europe.

These seven nations, comprising the Oslo conference, have just ended talks which resulted in greatly enlarged freedom of trade among themselves.

This is a happy divergence from the European attitude most familiar to us. As an approach to improved trade relations and better general understanding, it could well be used as a pattern not only by Europe's "guardian" powers, but by the United States as well.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 14. — Mr. Roosevelt tends to segregate people into two groups which, for purposes of simplification, might be called the goodies and the baddies.

Lately it has been obvious that most lawyers to Mr. Roosevelt's mind are baddies, just like bankers and public utilities magnates.

It was especially obvious that the lawyers had been promoted to this group when the President recently told the correspondents about the tax dodgers, who are also baddies.

Wedding Belle Rings Her Man - - - - Modern Bride Revives an Old Custom

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK.—This year's June brides like yellow gold wedding bands better than platinum ones. They applaud styles which include matching engagement and wedding rings. They prefer flawless small diamonds to huge slightly imperfect varieties and the majority are giving as well as receiving wedding bands.

"Trends in wedding jewelry change very slowly, as a rule," says Mr. W. B. Morrison, of the J. R. Wood Co., largest manufacturer of engagement and wedding rings in the world. "But this has not been the case during the past two decades. Much-engraved platinum and white gold bands, indiscriminate use of diamonds with little regard to quality, were some of the features of style changes.

"Now, however, with evening clothes becoming more formal, the classics being made into movies and modern novels depending on historical themes, wedding rings are chaste again."

The majority of experts agree that yellow gold is back to stay. Many jeweled platinum bands are finished with a segment of yellow gold into which the stones are set. One important jewelry house has made a jeweled platinum ring with a special groove into which fits a gold band. This is sure to appeal to the bride who, from a fashion point of view likes platinum and diamonds, but, for sentimental reasons, feels she ought to wear yellow gold.

There are definite indications that more and more men will wear wedding bands. These, regardless of what brides select, always will be of yellow gold.

There is, for the young man who has good taste but cannot afford to give his bride a diamond of which both will be proud for years to come, a variety of less expensive, but equally appropriate stones from which to pick and choose. How about a lovely aquamarine? Or a flexible band of tiny diamonds and emeralds or diamonds and rubies? Or a circlet of little rubies?

Presents for the bride to give her maids can be beautiful, but not prohibitively expensive. Two beautiful rhinestone clips which go together to make a pin are sure to please any maid of honor. And what bridesmaid would not love a tiny rhinestone star to wear in her evening coiffure? Gifts from the bride to the maids of her part of the wedding procession need not be from a jewelry store, of course, but, in keeping with the present sentimental mood, it's a nice idea to give something which will wear forever.

Texas Tech Administration building chimed thirty minutes while classes continued. Miss Elizabeth West, college librarian since '25, participated in the ceremony. Others who pulled cords of the gigantic bell were: Dean James M. Gordon of the arts and sciences division; representatives of freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes; and J. A. Martin of Lubbock, janitor of the building.

Dean Gordon wired President Bradford Knapp, vacationing in Lake Charles, La., of the governor's approval of the bill for education which included the Texas Tech appropriations. The main library has been in the Administration building of the college. Last year it provided reading room space for 145 students of the 3,010 enrolled.

Songsmiths Labor At Staccato Rhythm

By GEORGE ROSS
NEW YORK, June 14.—Solo on a Typewriter:

Songsmiths along Tin Pan Alley like to tell you that their best numbers are banged out in a hurry. And relate instances to prove it. George M. Cohan, they remind you, wrote "Over There" in ten minutes.

De Sylva, Brown and Henderson wrote "Sonny Boy" for Al Jolson while they were aboard a ship returning from a vacation cruise. Al Jolson had cabled them in mid-ocean for a tune needed urgently in his picture. Cole Porter scribbled "What Is This Thing Called Love" while watching the strange gyrations of a snake charmer on a street in Bombay.

"Ten Cents a Dance" was written by Rodgers & Hart in half an hour for Ruth Etting, on short order from the late Flo Ziegfeld. George and Ira Gershwin penned "Wintergreen" for President Hoover "Of Thee I Sing" between rehearsals. Noel Coward composed the haunting "I'll See You Again" on the back of an envelope in a taxi scooting from 67th Street to Times Square. And, of course, the immortal "Star Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key in historic double-quick time.

Members of the Beta Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, international honor sorority, were guests Sunday afternoon at a tea at Hotel Settles in Big Spring for pledges and rushees of a charter being installed there tonight by Mrs. Dan G. Norvell, national field secretary.

Miss Jeanette Barnett Big Spring pianist played the sorority song, "Within Our Hearts," and Mrs. R. Installation of officers for the Big Spring chapter is to be held at 8 o'clock this evening in a club-room on the mezzanine floor of the Settles hotel and is to be followed by a dinner party.

Waldemar Campers Work for Awards

HUNT, June 14.—Among 225 campers enrolled at Camp Waldemar on the Gaudalupe river, near Kerrville, are Freddie Faye Turner, Barbara Jean Harper, Eddie Gene Cole, Bullman aCowarden, Shirley Culbertson, Barbara June Cowden, Hazel Dell McBrian and Mary Sue Cowden. The camp, with Miss Doris Johnson as director, opened last week for its 12th season. Miss Ruth Anderson is a counselor.

All campers attended a novelty program in Cactus Lodge on Monday evening, and seniors were honor guests at a dance on Tuesday evening. Other events of the first week included an all-camp picnic and tribal campfires for the Comanche and Texas tribes.

A staff of 75 counselors has charge of regular daily activities which consist of academic work for those who wish it, swimming, tennis, horseback riding, canoeing, golf, crafts and many other sports. Under the guidance of these instructors Waldemar campers will work for many awards to be received at the close of the season.

A "Stick-Up" to Save Walls

So the new spring decorating is completed, and the family is thrilled about the newly papered or painted walls. Experienced mothers know, however, that the newness will not last long and that the old habit of sticking up school banners or football pictures or snapshots will soon be back along with the thumb tack holes they leave behind them.

An easy way to prevent marring walls is found in a "stick-up" board. It may cover an entire wall of a room or only a small section of it. It gives the young collector a chance to express his hobby of snapshot collecting or baseball hero poses or college pennants.

The size of such a "stick-up" board may vary according to the room in which it is to be placed. Usually a boy's room or a study room. Choose a four foot width of building board and let the length be any number of feet up to twelve for this board comes in all sizes from 4 by 4 feet to 4 by 12 feet.

Make it movable by treating the surface as if it were a picture frame and putting wooden moulding around it. Then hang like a large picture. Or make it permanent by nailing the board directly to the wall, covering one entire section of it, perhaps the part around a study desk or table.

At the moment when the son of the family changes his interest from baseball heroes to football stars your walls will be grateful for a "stick-up" board.

P. S.— She Got The Job

Sweet girl graduates, are you prepared to set out on that exciting adventure—the search for your first job? You might think the matter over before checking off the prospects on your list. How much do you know about yourself, about the business of finding a job? A record of good scholarship and letters of recommendation are all very well, but in these days of competition, they aren't enough to make a prospective employer say, "Come in next Monday morning."

According to vocation experts, personality is usually rated higher than ability in surveys conducted among employment executives in factories, offices, and department stores. Fortunately, there's nothing elusive or mysterious about the average business man's conception of personality. It is made up of traits any young person can acquire. Good posture, correct speech, a friendly manner, and a trim, well-groomed appearance, are the characteristics usually found in the girl who gets the job and holds it down.

To quote the personnel manager of a large department store: "The girl with neat hair, who is carefully and cleanly dressed, and who does not mean her clothes must be expensive or the last word in style—will get the preference. We expect carefully kept hands and well-brushed teeth. The real factors of cleanliness are as easily observed by a girl who is poverty-stricken from lack of work, as by a girl who has more money. The girls we want are those who are instinctively neat and clean because of their early training, in spite of difficulties."

A neat appearance has an important psychological effect upon the individual as well as upon those with whom he comes in contact, psychologists say. If you're fortified by the consciousness of immaculate cleanliness, you can face any situation with confidence and poise.

CARDS BEAT ROSWELL PAIR; GET HOBBS HERE IN THREE GAMES

LADIES WILL BE ADMITTED FREE TO GAME TODAY

With approximately 700 fans in the stands looking on, the Midland Cardinals yesterday afternoon took two games from the third place Roswell club, 8-0, and 2-1.

Miller, husky right hand hurler of the Sunshiners, pulled the iron man stunt by hurling both games but could not match the hurling efficiency of Brewer and Smith, his

Brewer continued to look like one of the best hurlers in the league when he set the visitors down with three hits in a n-o. u. p. & c. with three hits and no runs to win the opener, and Smith was almost as effective, giving up only four hits and one unearned run.

Although the Sunshiners got men on base in five different innings, twice pushing them as far as third base, Brewer had what it took to retire them each time.

In the first inning Loken led off with a hit to left that Nook misjudged and let fall for two bases. Brewer then got Hathaway to fly out to center and walked Qualls. With men on first and second, Henderson hit to Serafine who tagged third to force Loken for the second out, Brewer uncorked a wild pitch to let both runners advance a base then struck out Padgett to retire the side.

The Sunshiners got two men on base in the third with only one out but were retired on an infield fly and a strike out. Smily led off the seventh with a double but never advanced as the next three men popped out. Loken led off the eighth with a single and got as far as third on a couple of infield outs but was left there when Henderson rolled out weakly, second to first.

The Cardinals made 5 runs in the second inning when they put together singles by Brewer, Serafine and Nook and four walks. Brewer accounted for two of the runs with a long single to left, Nook accounted for two with a single through short and the other came home when Miller walked Randall with the bases loaded.

The Red Birds picked up another in the fourth when Potocar reached first on an error by Pollard, was sacrificed to second by Brewer and trotted in on Murphy's double that hit the ground in front of the centerfield fence and bounced over. Their final two runs came in the fifth on singles by Serafine, Schiffner and Brewer and a double by Potocar.

The second game was much the better of the two as Smith had all his stuff in hand and Miller had even more than in the first game. The Cardinals got off to an early lead when, with two out, Randall singled and came all the way home when Qualls let Nook's single get through him for three bases. Roswell tied the score in the fourth when Padgett walked and scored as Randall duplicated the play made by Qualls in letting Smily's single get away from him and roll to the fence.

The Cardinals sewed up the game in the sixth when Randall doubled and scored on Serafine's single. Nook also singled but Stein, in attempting to sacrifice, popped out to Rabe. Schiffner walked but Potocar hit a line drive to Loken who doubled Schiffner off first.

Smith retired the Sunshiners in order in the seventh.

Yankee Rockie Says It Is Easier To Win In Big Leagues Than The Minors

By RICHARD McCANN
NEA Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 11—Take it from Spurgeon Chandler, the rookie pitching sensation of the New York Yankees, it's easier working in the minors.

The red-headed right-hander, who was only "another one of them coltich" guys" down in the Yankees' training camp, has been something of a wonder so far this year by crashing the front line of the world champions' pitching staff and flinging two shutouts in his second and third major league starts.

But Mr. Chandler himself refuses to be impressed by his own achievements.

"Why, sheeks," the Georgia Peach says in a drawl that makes you think of corn pone and molasses and Scarlett, "It's much easier up here in the big show. Everything's better. Up here the catcher helps you more—he knows what the batters don't like. And the fielders play the hitters better and grab balls that go for hits or get bobbled by the minor leaguers—and those double plays! Boy, that's what helps up here, those double plays.

"And another thing, you get more rest up here, and you travel better, live better, feel better, and you don't have to be sitting in those cold and damp dugouts for night games."

WAGES NO BETTER

Mr. Chandler stopped a minute to gather his breath and form a frown.

"The only thing that's no better," he resumed, "is the pay. Us rookies don't get much. In fact, I don't get much more'n I got with Newark last year in the International League. I sent my contract back four times last winter but when they sent it back each time with nothing more in it I decided I better sign up because they told me they wouldn't cool around much longer and would send me to a lower league than the International if I didn't sign up pronto.

"Of course, I'll get a bonus if I stay with the club past a certain time and then there's that world series cut."

It was Mr. Chandler's misfortune to be named roommate of Tom Henrich, the Massillon, Ohio, boy who writes $20,000 letters, and this does not help Mr. Chandler's peace of mind.

"I signed up for about nothing at all—and lookit him!" says Mr.

Spurgeon Chandler

former University of Georgia halfback bucks his way through the major league line.

Chandler, "Lookit him. I only wish I knew back there some time ago what I know now. I was a fool ever to play that football. . . . Mr. Chandler, you know, played halfback for the University of Georgia for three years from 1929 through 1931. His team twice defeated New York University, 7-6, up in the Yankee Stadium. He played against Freddie Sington of Alabama, who is now with the Washington Nationals. . . . "What a bruiser that baby was—but we got him out of there. We wore him down."

Mr. Chandler did the blocking, kicking, passing and line-bucking what did I get out of it? A lot of cheers and a few bruises—and sometimes not so many cheers and a lot more bruises. I should've stepped right into baseball, from high school. I had lots of offers in my senior year. I played semi-pro ball with Johnny Mize and he and I were approached by the Cardinals at the same time. Johnny signed right off the bat but I went to college. Now I'm 27 in my first year in the big leagues with at least four years wasted."

Home Buyers Get Better Deal Now

WASHINGTON, June 11—A better deal for home buyers from the building industry and home financing institutions of all types is predicted by Preston Delano, governor of the Federal Home Loan Bank System.

"Mass production methods are to be expanded greatly, with a resulting cutting of building costs," Mr. Delano stated. "At the same time, borrowers are to be given adequate advice from lending institutions on proper materials and construction in order to prevent poor building."

Mr. Delano notes a decreasing tendency to purchase homes too expensive for individual incomes. "While we need hundreds of thousands of new homes, the best way to insure permanence and happiness in home ownership is to stay within one's income. Persons who are buying or building homes beyond their means are not only hurting themselves but the nation as well. We must take care not to overbuy or over-build," he says.

"One of the most important forces in the present era is mass production. If we are to give full value to the home investor in the future, there must be more conscious planning on the part of business authority to bring the advantages of mass production from highly industrialized plants out into the field of small home construction.

"There is much debate as to how far this new technique can apply. A great deal of experimentation is going on and there has been some satisfying but narrow progress. The field covers a wide range from the so-called package house, which is completely fabricated in a factory and dispatched broken down to the building site, there to be assembled with a minimum of dependence on local labor, to the other extreme of locally and conveniently constructed houses built in large numbers and in particular areas.

"The latter plan emphasizes the benefits of mass purchases of lumber and supplies, and also the advantages inherent in keeping craftsmen continually employed. There is no doubt that development along either of these lines of endeavor would serve to increase the value which the small home investor receives for his money!" Mr. Delano referred to "direct reduction" mortgage loans, in which the principal is reduced constantly through monthly payments until the debt is erased, as one way for the home buyer to get more for his money. With it the borrower knows exactly what it costs to carry his mortgage, and this tends to keep him from buying a house above his means. Interest is paid only on the decreasing principal of the loan and not on its original face value.

While direct reduction loans are part of the standard practice of Federal Savings and Loan associations, they are being used more and more by state-chartered thrift and home financing institutions.

Brother of Local Man Crash Victim

J. Wray Campbell of Midland left this afternoon for Pasadena, Calif., following the accidental death there yesterday of his brother, Verli Bannister, one of three victims of an airplane crash.

The small bi-plane in which Bannister and two other men were flying crashed over the exclusive Oak Knoll district, press dispatches said. Bannister was a licensed pilot. The others were E. M. Patrick of Alhambra, Calif., and Fred Lobb of Pasadena. The plane was registered in the name of A. R. Montgomery, student pilot, who was not in the ship when it crashed. One of the right wings crumpled and the plane dropped in a field about 200 yards from a residence, the press dispatch said.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Looney of Brownwood are here visiting their daughter, Mrs. Bert Brooks, and Mr. Brooks, 701 N. Main.

MOST IMPORTANT MILITARY EXERCISE IN YEARS TO BE HELD LATE THIS YEAR

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex. June 14.—One of the most important military exercises to be held since the World War will be the test of the proposed new infantry division to be conducted next fall when approximately 11,000 regular army officers and enlisted men will assemble in Texas to participate.

Basing the organization of the new infantry division on new and modern conceptions of warfare brought about by the current trend toward mechanization and motorization of fighting forces, the War Department plan for this unit closely follows changes already effected in division organization of many foreign powers.

The new division organization is based on the military theory that future wars will be wars of movement in which mobile situations will predominate rather than stabilized or position warfare such as existed during the World War. Therefore the necessity exists for a fast and maneuverable unit; one in which the manpower has been reduced and the striking and firepower increased.

To accomplish this purpose the War Department has sacrificed manpower in the interest of mobility feeling that the division of future wars will overcome massed manpower by science and strategy in the form of swift and accurate movements. The new division organization eliminates the system of weighing down the fighting unit for combat with non-combat equipment. Supply functions are to be concentrated in one group with supplies being delivered by motorized service troops to regimental supply points as needed.
