CONTROL BOARD MEMBERS LEAVE AFTER VISIT HERE

Day and Night Spent in Midland By Three

After spending yesterday and last night in Midland, members of the State Board of Control and officials of state eleemosynary institutions left here early this morning for Odessa for a brief visit after which they will continue on to Lamesa where they were to have been guests at a special noon luncheon.

The party was brought here early yesterday morning from Big Spring by members of the chamber of commerce hospital committee members of the group being Chairman Claude D. Teer, John F. Wallace and Henry C. Meyer of the State Board of Control; Dr. C. W. Kastner, chief of the eleemosynary division of the board; Ray Shaver, head of the farm division, and Tom Leach, eleemosynary pay collector.

They were guests at a luncheon in the Blue Room of Scharbauer Coffee Shop at noon yesterday. After attending the races at Midland Downs yesterday afternoon, the visitors were guests at a dinner in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer. The rest and recreation of yesterday was enjoyed by the party who are on an inspection tour of West Texas cities applying for the new $617,000 state hospital for the insane which is to be located somewhere west of the 100th meridian.

Midland, along with some 12 or 14 other West Texas cities, is bidding for the state hospital.

The three cities being offered by Midland as a proposed location, were inspected by the party, after which an informal hearing as to Midland's application was held. Members of the party were noncommittal as to the definite location for the institution, but seemed to be favorably impressed with this immediate section. Additional hearings on proposed sites may be held at a later date, they said. State engineers will likely follow up the findings of the members of the board.

Chamberlain Studies Abandonment Of His Plan

LONDON, June 30. (P) — Great Britain today protested Portugal's suspending facilities for aiding British non-intervention observers along the Spanish border and withdrawing their own observers.

The withdrawal opened a vast section of insurgent-held Spain to possible unsupervised importation of arms and volunteers.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Chamberlain called a British cabinet session to consider possible abandonment of the entire "hands off Spain" scheme in the face of determined German and Italian opposition to his Spanish war policy.

CHAUTEMPS GIVEN POWER TO CONTROL FRANCE'S FINANCE

Senate Must Approve Chamber's Vote On Measure

PARIS, June 30. (P) — The French senate today granted approved Premier Camille Chautemps sweeping financial dictatorial powers asked to save the national money structure; the vote was 167-82. The chamber of deputies already had approved the measure.

George Bonnet, new finance minister, in a speech to the senate prior to the voting was quoted as saying "inflation and devaluation and new taxes" are unavoidable.

PARIS, June 30. (P) — The chamber of deputies early this morning approved Premier Camille Chautemps' request for full financial powers to deal with the nation's financial emergency by a vote of 380 to 228.

The chamber shortly before refused three amendments which would have qualified the powers. The measure is expected to go to the senate this afternoon.

The measure would authorize the government to promulgate decrees "tending to assure suppression of attacks on government credit, fight speculation, promote economic recovery, control prices and balance the budget."

Financial observers professed belief that Finance Minister Georges Bonnet's program would include further devaluation of the franc, but without fixing a definite price. Chautemps' winning vote in the chamber was assured when communist members decided to support the measure, the decision coming after Bonnet made an appeal to the chamber of deputies, avowing that the franc would be "defended" with renewed equalization funds.

This was interpreted as an action to allow the franc to find its natural level. The minimum gold content of the franc now is 43 milligrams, giving the unit a value of 22.95 francs to the dollar. (The franc yesterday was quoted at 22.40 to the dollar).

First Guard of Reunion Group Hits Stamford

STAMFORD, June 30. — The vanquaged of cowboys, ranchmen, chuck wagons, concessionaires and tenderfeet arrived in Stamford today in advance of the opening Thursday of the eighth annual roundup of the Texas Cowboy Reunion.

Early arrivals found everything in readiness for entertaining the greatest crowd in the town's history—a crowd which from all indications will exceed the attendance record of 65,000 established last year. The expenditure during the past few months of over $10,000 for improvements at the Reunion grounds will add to the convenience of visitors. The new lighting system at the rodeo arena, claimed to be second only to that of Madison Square Garden, and the new exhibit building and dance pavilion See (FIRST GUARD) Page 6

First Lady Sees Protege Launched

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, leading lady of the land, and Roberta Jonay, who is leading lady at the Waldorf-Astoria roof garden in New York, find a mighty good joke to laugh together about Mrs. Roosevelt, whose guest Miss Jonay was at the White House for two weeks, attended her dancing protegee's debut with a party.

America's Own "Romeo and Juliet" Romance Will Culminate Today as Roosevelt-du Pont Wedding Held

WILMINGTON, Del., June 30. (U.P.) — America's own "Romeo and Juliet" romance, with the difference of a happy ending, will culminate at 5 p. m. today with the marriage of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and Miss Ethel du Pont, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene du Pont, at Christ Church, Old Christiana Hundred, four miles from here.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt, all their children and their children-in-law, the president's mother, many other Roosevelts and Delanos, members of the president's cabinet—a large representation of the New Deal—and most of the du Ponts and their household servants comprise the 300 guests invited to see the union of two families as strongly opposed politically as were Shakespeare's Montagues and the Capulets of Verona.

The head of the du Pont clan, Pierre S. du Pont, will not be there, however, as he and his wife sailed for Europe a week ago.

The marriage of any child of the president is of social interest to the American people, but excitement over this romance has been augmented by the political differences between the Roosevelts and the du Ponts. Twelve du Ponts attended the famous Liberty League dinner in Washington and applauded bitter attacks on President Roosevelt. Only a few weeks ago, the bride's uncle, Irene du Pont, announced that "we are living under a dictatorship."

Furthermore, Ethel was picked by Don Flowers, an artist, as the most beautiful and most eligible of the wealthy heiresses of America.

Those who will attend the tall and slender bride and groom as they approach the lily-banked chancel in the little Episcopal church include the sister and the three brothers of the bridegroom, three du Ponts, young women of eastern society and young men of Harvard and Groton, who went to school with the Roosevelt boys.

Mrs. John Boettiger, of Seattle, Wash., a society editor who is the president's only daughter, will be matron of honor. Miss Aimee du Pont, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor.

SRINAGAR, India. (U.P.) — The Kashmiri Pandit community is up in arms for a divorce act, the first in Hindu community to declare in favor of divorce. It took an act of savagery to bring this about. A resident of the community, graduated from an Indian university, became so enraged at his wife when she refused him money that he destroyed one of her eyes. The act so enraged the populace that a demonstration of more than 4,000 persons was organized in protest and to urge a divorce act.

Sixty pickets were arrested and held on technical charges after dynamite smashed a water main and wires were ripped from telephone poles.

PUBLISHERS FIGHT CLOSED SHOP IDEA

CHICAGO, June 30. (P) — Representatives of 11 newspaper associations today waged a campaign against a closed shop for editorial employees, saying the responsibility for impartial news reporting cannot be discharged "if some outside authority" determines whom publishers must employ.

More than 500 publishers and executives in a special convention yesterday adopted a resolution declaring "unalterable opposition" to a closed shop proposed by the American Newspaper Guild.

LA FOLLETTE DISCLOSES PICKETS SHOT IN BACK

WASHINGTON, June 30. (P) — Chairman LaFollette of the senate civil liberties committee presented a hitherto unpublished coroner's report today showing that seven of the 10 killed in Chicago Memorial Day battles with Chicago police were shot in the back.

The committee quizzed James P. Allman, Chicago police commissioner, who said he had made no personal investigation of the shooting and said that he had not seen the coroner's report because he was "waiting for an inquest to be held." He said he was confident a full and fair report had been made by the police.

Hamlett Retires As T & P Agent Served 46 Years

J. J. Hamlett, for years the agent here of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company, served his last day today, having just been granted permission to retire, with full privileges of company employees. He has been connected with the lines since 1891, with continuous service since 1894. His first post was as agent at Washkom, in Harrison county, one of the farthest points on the road in Texas.

A letter received from Superintendent A. E. Pistole highly praised the long and efficient service of the Midland man and extended to him the complete privileges of the road which he has enjoyed while in its employ.

Mr. Hamlett will retire and live at his home here. While serving as agent at Midland, he has attained recognition for the manner in which he has handled vast shipments of cattle, as well as of other duties with the road.

NOTED FINANCIER DIES IN NEW YORK

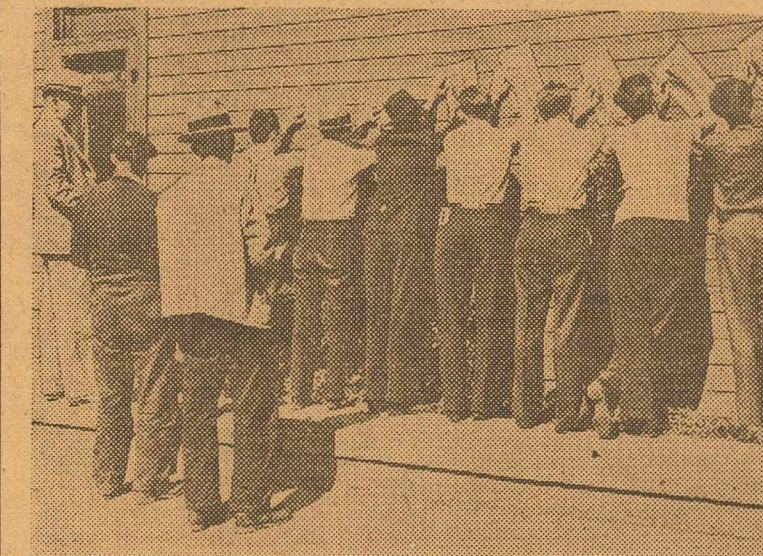

Frank Vanderlip Taken By Death After a Short Illness

NEW YORK, June 30. (P) — Frank A. Vanderlip, 72, one of the Nation's great financial masters, who rose to the heights from the obscurity of a machinist's apprentice bench, died Tuesday in New York Hospital.

Death was caused by an intestinal ailment, less than two weeks after he entered the hospital for what his son, Frank A. Vanderlip Jr., described as observation following an illness in California eight months ago.

Born in Aurora, Ill., Vanderlip moved with sure tread through life, to become president of the National City Bank of New York, one of the world's largest financial institutions. See (FINANCIER) Page 6

ARREST ORDERED, BANK HEAD KILLS SELF IN SANTONE

Shortage of Funds Alleged as Bank Failed to Open

SAN ANTONIO, June 30. (P) — Brandon L. Smith, 37, president of the First State Bank of South San Antonio which failed to open its doors yesterday morning, was found shot to death in what a justice of the peace ruled was suicide, in a hotel room here Tuesday afternoon.

Smith checked into the hotel about 8:30 a. m. as B. L. Smith and his body was found in the afternoon when hotel employees entered the room after a belloby, ringing to ask about payment, received no response.

Smith shot himself behind his right ear. L. H. Hardin, state bank examiner and C. P. Sullivan, of the federal deposit insurance corporation, were here to open an examination into the bank's books.

The bank has been considered one of the most successful in this community for many years. A federal warrant for Smith's arrest had been issued. The warrant was based on a charge alleging shortage of funds.

Roving Chimp in Zoo Put in Place by Bear

ST. LOUIS, (U.P.) — Jackie, the municipal zoo's trained chimpanzee, was a disillusioned monkey after a brief but distasteful excursion of freedom.

Jackie found a loose board in his training cage and slipped out, scrambled over fences, ranged free for the first time since he left Africa three years ago. He aped the ducks, monkeyed with the geese then visited the bear pit.

A bear sighted Jackie and roared, and Jackie made a bee-line for his cage. Half an hour later he was earning his usual mid-afternoon ice cream cone by making monkeyshines for zoo visitors.

ADDRESSES 150 AT MEETING OF CITIZENS HERE

Lions, Rotary Clubs Combine Weekly Luncheons

MANY VISITORS

Proration Pictured As Patriotic Program

Proration was pictured as an act of patriotism, in addition to its economic value, in an address by the Hon. C. V. Terrell, chairman of the Railroad Commission of Texas, at the Crystal ball room of Hotel Scharbauer today.

Members of the Lions and Rotary clubs, as well as numerous other men and women of Midland and neighboring towns, assembled at the luncheon, the attendance amounting to approximately 150.

With Judge Terrell, on his visit here were H. E. English, of Dallas, president of the Texas Motor Transportation Association; Mark Marshall, director of motor transportation for the commission; B. F. Johnson, manager of the Texas Motor Transportation Association; Frank Parker of San Antonio, H. C. Stipp of Big Spring and W. R. Bowden of Midland, representatives of the oil and gas division of the commission.

A. O. Thomas, president of the Rotary club, presided at the luncheon. Judge E. M. Whitaker, president of the Lions club, headed his organization. Several visiting Rotarians and Lions were present from other towns. District Governor Fred Wemple of the forty-first district of Rotary International, whose active term expires today but who will remain active in the office, returned Governor-elect Ed McLaughlin from Europe, came here from East Texas to be present at the luncheon honoring Judge Terrell. Judge S. M. Halley of Kermit also was here.

James H. Goodman, Midland attorney and long time friend of the honor guest, introduced Judge Terrell. He recounted the visitor's experience as county judge of Wise county, later as state senator and later as an appointee in the railroad commission. Since that time, he said, Judge Terrell has been elected for one two year term and two additional six year terms in the same office.

He declared Judge Terrell to be a native Texan and believer in state's rights and that he had been a prime factor in the oil and gas division's work to relieve chaotic conditions in East Texas of fields, thereby stabilizing the industry. West Texas has benefited to an untold extent from his efforts and service, Goodman said.

Judge Terrell, after having been given a standing ovation by the audience, took the floor. He expressed appreciation for the joint luncheon and the attendance of citizens of Midland and neighboring points. He complimented the progress of Midland since his last visit, two years ago, and said he was glad the commissioner had his district office here.

The speaker reviewed the creation of the railroad commission, after the campaign in 1901 when Governor Hogg was re-elected to office with a railroad commission as his platform. The commission at that time was formed merely to regulate the railroads, he said. When he became a member of the commission thirteen years ago, its work and duties had been increased ten-fold. Since that time, it has had a duties have increased twenty-fold.

Besides the supervision of railroads, the commission has been given the added duties of pipe lines, conservation of oil and gas, gas utilities, buses and trucks. The commission he said, is more important to the people of Texas than any other body. Texas pioneered truck and bus legislation and now has laws covering every highway, lateral roads, city town and hamlet, with orderly operation and supervision.

Referring to the oil activities of the commission, Judge Terrell said oil had caused more trouble than all other branches of the work, the trouble starting when the East Texas oil field was discovered. Operators, land owners, business men and all citizens wanted the wells to flow "wide open," thereby demoralizing the industry in that section as well as in all other fields. No laws had been provided for handling such a situation, no precedent See (TERRELL) Page 6

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 30—The question of what to do about dingy, unrepresenting American embassies abroad would seem to be practically solved.

The idea around the State Department, at least, is that you just keep transferring Ambassador Joe Davis from post to post. Or, to be more specific, you transfer the wealthy former Marjorie Post—whom Joe recently married—from post to post.

Perhaps the way the boys at the department feel about the problem is best indicated by recalling the time when Davies, just appointed to his present ambassadorship at Moscow, asked Roosevelt what ought to be done about the Russian debt.

The old embassy at Moscow was treated to new bathtubs, plumbing, air-cooling and various other renovations when Ambassador and Mrs. Davies moved into it. The simple Russians were aghast at the display, according to cablegrams.

It was understood at the time that those twain would not stay in Russia long, but would be transferred to livelier European capital. Right now the gossip about Mr. and Mrs. Davies emphasizes Berlin.

The American embassy at Berlin, it is pointed out, is or should be the old Bluecher palace. It has one of the best locations in the city and this government paid $1,700,000 for it. Unfortunately, fire destroyed the entire interior about the time of the purchase. Ambassador Dodd lives in a rented house. But, as they point out in whispers at the State Department that interior offers a splendid opportunity for Ambassador and Mrs. Davies.

They Can Thank Garner

The wealthy men recently named as tax avoiders can thank Vice President Jack Garner that they haven't been paraded down here before the joint tax evasion committee which has been hearing the Treasury officials tell how it's done and who does it.

Certain forces within the administration—including, perhaps Roosevelt himself—had fondled the idea that the "culprits" should be subpoenaed and asked to explain their tax returns. This would have been in line with the administration's vague general policy of soaking the rich and sharing the wealth.

But one of the last things Garner did before leaving town was to appoint the senatorial wing of the committee from among the oldest members, in point of service, of the Finance Committee, which meant the most conservative members such as King of Utah, Glass of Virginia, Harrison of Mississippi and George of Georgia. LaFollette of Wisconsin went on because he happened to be the Finance Committee's highest rank minority member. Most House appointees also were conservative.

The result was that the committee decided it wouldn't call witnesses except for the Treasury officials and the hearings have been quite tame. "Gamers last act of sabotage," say some of the disgusted New Dealers.

Short Weight at Chains

THE House of Representatives recently refused to pass a committee bill which would have imposed an income tax on resident of the District of Columbia—obviously because lawmakers didn't want to tax their own incomes. One of its substitutes was a tax on chain stores, expected to yield $750,000 and proposed by Congress Martin Dies of Texas. This was another victory for Congressman Wright Patman of Texas, who is forever warring on the chains.

Of great aid to Patman and Dies in their propaganda for the bill was a report of local weights and measure officials, who secretly checked the weight of 81 purchases—dressed poultry being selected for the experiment—from the stores of one large chain.

Of the 81 purchases, 68 were found to be short weight, 13 full weight and not one overweight. "There must be some system there," declared Patman—and the House voted for the chain store tax.

Jamboree News

WASHINGTON, June 27, (SPL).—We are now beginning our second day in camp along with some 5,000 other boys. Our four large and two small tents are up and everyone is settled. We are getting plenty of food.

Friday morning we all saw the great Mississippi, many for the first time. We then arrived at St. Louis, where we stopped to change to the Pennsylvania railroad.

Now I will say, and I'll be backed up by hundreds of scouts: "The T. and P. railroad is a splendid example of Southern courtesy and hospitality." Nothing was too good for us. They apologized for the fact that the coaches lacked air-conditioning, but the diner was equipped with it. The Penn. R. R. was dirty and sooty and lacked our Southern ideals. Don't ever think the boys didn't notice it, either.

We arrived in Washington Saturday morning at about 11:45 o'clock. We were transferred to our camp (about 500 yards from the river) and immediately began the work of setting things up. We paused to eat at 2 p. m.; about 4 o'clock we started putting up tents—in the rain. It wasn't as bad as the storm they had before we arrived—it blew most of the camp down.

We were fairly well settled by 6:30 when supper was served. After supper we put finishing touches on everything. We are sleeping on army cots.

We are all happy and busy here—have just finished a physical examination and seem healthy enough.

As this is Sunday there will be few activities. Monday will be our busy day. Greetings from us all—Noble.

In a few days, Midland's city water system is going to be one of the "show places" of West Texas. For 25 years at least, Cleverdale wells have demonstrated one of the most bountiful water supplies in this part of the country. With even one or two wells going steadily, it isn't difficult to keep the 900,000 gallon concrete reservoir filled at Cleverdale. Any one of the streams, at normal pressure, flows at the size of a man's body. And now the city is completing its additional 500,000 gallon storage reservoir at the east city limits, with additional pumps to relieve the friction necessary to keep the 100,000 gallon down town tank, which is mounted on the 100 foot tower, filled as fast as it is withdrawn by the increased number of consumers. In a few days the low pressure experienced in the tall buildings each evening will be over, and there will be two and a half million gallons available each day, whereas the consumption is about half that amount.

No city was ever built without an adequate water supply. And that is one of the reasons why Midland should continue to forge ahead as the coming BIG CITY of the Permian Basin.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Other state officials bided their time here yesterday, when members of the Board of Control looked over this area, studying the possible advantages of establishing here the state's clemsynary institution. Apparently, they enjoyed the local hospitality, as they remained overnight rather than to follow their original schedule and spend the night at Lubbock.

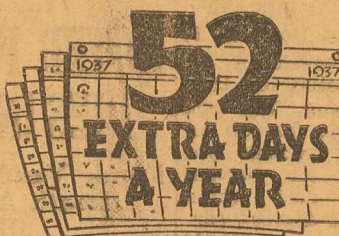

Dr. John B. Thomas delicately "kidded" members of the control board as to whether Governor Allred would like it about their attending the races. One of them suggested that if they kept up this "wild life" on the trip, rangers might raid them as they did the night club where several anti-racing-repeal senators were enjoying Midland today is enjoying a visit from one of the really important friends of West Texas, the Hon. C. V. Terrell, chairman of the Railroad Commission of Texas. West Texas oil operators have conducted their business with the greatest cooperation from the commission and have had a minimum of differences on which to hold hearings or debates. Chairman Terrell has been responsible for much of this friendly relationship, and Midland appreciates the courtesy of his visit here today.

Doris Nolan's Rise A Cinderella Tale

Doris Nolan, featured with John Boles, Walter Pidgeon, and Tala Birell in Universal's sparkling comedy, "As Good As Married," which will be the feature attraction at the Yucca theatre today, is a genuine cinema Cinderella.

Her first job was that of secretary to the manager of a little theatre group in New York. Here she discovered that she wanted to be an actress, not a typist. She paid her tuition for dramatic training by doing secretarial work, thus literally launching her theatrical career from the keyboard of a typewriter. After a year's experience in different Little Theatre groups in and around New York, Doris was brought to Hollywood on a contract with Fox. At the end of a year her contract expired and apparently her cinema opportunity also, for she had not been given a single role.

Turning again to the Little Theatre, this time in Hollywood, she was seen by Al H. Woods, famous Broadway producer, who was greatly impressed by her possibilities and signed her for the leading role in "The Night of January 16th." Broadway hailed Doris as a star. Now all the companies want her at once.

Road Opened to Rich Gold Mines In British Guiana

The Potaro Road in British Guiana, regarded by citizens of the colony as a world wonder, would probably not earn classification on a United States road map as a secondary country road.

Yet, lasting fame is predicted for the men who cut this rough highway through jungles as dense as can be found anywhere in the world providing a link between sea coast and interior in Great Britain's only slice of empire on the South American continent.

British Guiana is a country with potential fortunes in gold and silver, diamonds, ranch lands and sugar plantations waiting to be won; and the narrow route, from Bartica on the coast of Potaro, 115 miles inland, opens the way to untouched treasures. It connects the head of navigation on British Guiana's mighty Essequibo River with the smaller Potaro River and the gold fields along its banks.

American motor trucks played a vital part in the task of cutting the Potaro Road through jungle so dense a step could not be taken without strenuous use of a bush knife. After innumerable tests, British Guiana officials decided upon Ford V-8s as the vehicles best able to withstand the rigors of jungle road building.

Though a road has been completed, trucks must still be used on it, for along the Potar route are deep sandy ruts, rocky stretches, and timber bridges over rushing jungle streams. A fleet of 100 Ford V-8 trucks carries all the traffic over said Mrs. Leonard Hallman, of the North Midland demonstration club. Mrs. Hallman's family consists of five members; husband, three children and herself.

"In making an inventory, I checked each garment and found garments that I had almost forgotten, and also gave me a good excuse to go over each garment and mend if necessary. By making this inventory I could easily plan the garments and mend if necessary. By making this inventory I could easily plan the garments needed to be purchased, and the color scheme that I should follow," added Mrs. Hallman. So according to the findings through her inventory Mrs. Hallman planned the garments to be purchased for each member of the family.

The amount allowed for purchases was $148.62, but by planning and watching for the right time to purchase, Mrs. Hallman actually spent $77.75, a saving of $70.87 or almost half the allowance.

Mrs. Hallman remodeled and rearranged her closet and by so doing had twice the amount of room, everything was convenient and with the children hanging their clothes on one rod and another rod for adult garments—shelves for hats and folded garments and a bag for the shoes everyone knew where to find his things.

Mrs. Hallman has 13 cooperators with each one handing her a report of their work for the year.

BAFFLE THE MOTH

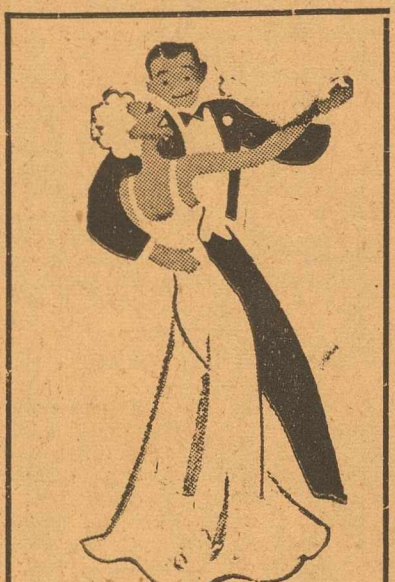

Now is the time for all good housewives to wage their annual warfare against moths. According to recent estimates the toll they take in clothing and household furnishings amounts to something like a quarter of a billion dollars a year. Much of this loss is due to carelessness, but the largest part is caused by dependence upon moth balls and other preparations which are worthless once the eggs are deposited in the fabric.

Thorough washing with an abundant lather of soap is the simplest safeguard and also the most effective one. Nothing is more attractive to moths than soiled areas and spots. So put your blankets, underwear, and dresses into the wash tub before the eggs hatch into larvae and begin to feast on the fabric. The soap and water will act as a cleanser and the squeezing, plunging, and rinsing will dislodge both eggs and larvae.

For heavy coats and other woolen articles that cannot be washed, drycleaning, brushing, and airing in the sun are recommended. Seams should be brushed vigorously, and pockets brushed and turned inside out, for it is these dark areas that moths find most inviting.

Upholstered furniture which has become spotted is another favorite source of food for the moth family. The dark seams and joints seem to offer a safe starting point for further ravages. Spots on upholstered furniture will yield readily to soap and water. In fact, the entire surface can be cleaned with a thick soap jelly provided care is taken

LIVING UP TO MY AD

Giving you tops in Mileage

I know the trouble. So many oil ads yell mileage, that you can't tell one way or another. I don't want my own ads to be in that class, so I'd like you to know all I'm staking, when I personally recommend Conoco Germ Processed oil to you. In my case, you see, I'm the owner of my business. And there's nothing makes repeat customers for me like my Germ Processed oil . . . or I ought to say, the long mileage it gives you. The patent Germ Process makes this oil get fastened real firm to the bearings and cylinders and other parts—as if they'd been built with an actual plating of oil that can't separate . . . can't thin out and burn right up. Neither is it going to run down every time you stop. Then you can't make any "dry starts" with Oil-Plating, and right there is where engineers say you will end a good half of all the wear you used to get in Summer. The less wear, the less oil your engine eats. You'll get on to this yourself, from your cool quiet Oil-Plated engine. And that's how I make another good friend for Conoco Germ Processed oil.

Uncertainties Slow Recovery, But Are Unlikely to Halt Rise in 37

Six months ago this rapid acceleration of business brought predictions of a boom in the United States. Since then, John T. Flynn, noted author-economist has shown, many clouds have appeared on the economic horizon. What is the business outlook for the next six months? He sets forth his views in this last of three exclusive articles for NEA service and The Reporter-Telegram.

BY JOHN T. FLYNN

With the year at its halfturn, we may now ask what lies ahead for the remaining six months. In December, in a review and forecast for 1937, I ventured to suggest that the business curve would rise during the year; that heavy machinery and construction would have their first real upward surge; that bank credit would loosen up; interest rates remain low, mortgage money become more hospitable and that the appearance of a boom would develop. Also that employment would increase and that prices would rise with plenty of talk accompanying the rise and finally some resistance to it.

Certainly these forecasts have been amply borne out. I suggested that the two chief threats to continued recovery would be rising prices; that strikes would appear but would not check the recovery movement and that a fear of uncontrolled credit would begin to scare business men. These factors, also, have made their appearance.

Tempo of Rise In Activity Slowed

NOW what will come in the remainder of the year? First of all, I think those who were so sure a great boom would develop must now revise their expectations. Bank credit has indeed loosened up but the rise in capital goods industries—particularly private construction outside housing—has not been on a sufficient scale to provoke a rapid pick-up in industry.

In spite of the many adverse forces, I do not think the recovery movement will be halted, but merely

"The tax bills for the great costs of government will have to be dumped into the laps of all citizens who have incomes."

slowed down a little.

Conditions Force Revision on Boom

THE greatest surprise to business has been the lethargy which has hit the stock market. Prices have been declining and the market has been growing more and more languid since March. Why was the rise halted and will it continue down? The rise was halted for the very good reason that prices had risen to a thoroughly unjustified level. Stocks simply were not worth as investments the prices at which they were selling.

But also a new idea has been floating about the heads of speculators and business men. For several years the conviction that inflation would continue to develop has dominated market thinking. A notion now is spreading about that we may be in for a little deflation. One thing is certain We will have one or the other—there will be no normal price functioning. It has been my guess for several years that the inflationary movement created by government deficits was bound to come to an end before it developed exciting symptoms and that we would actually get around to a deflationary drift. That feeling is now strong in financial circles. When the deflation will begin to make itself felt is hard to say. But it certainly will not be serious this year.

Stock Declines Surprise Public

ONE other fact will affect the immediate future. It is now dawning on business that profits are going to be subjected to various pressures and attacks. The politicians may promise, but either this year or next we have got to get down to brass tacks on a tax program.

Business is beginning to take it for granted that it is going to have to be taxed. The feeling, however, is all mixed up with fears that there may be a general raid on profits without any serious effort to set up a scientific set of tax schedules.

There is, of course, plenty of ground of apprehension on this score. The entire approach to the tax problem has been shaped and dominated by political considerations. And as we are now moving into an area of time which seems to be influenced by the congressional elections next year it is going to be hard to keep political maneuvering out of the tax question.

Business Envisions Heavier Taxes

PROFITS will have to be taxed. But any notion that the great costs of government can be collected out of profits and large incomes is visionary. The tax base must be broadened. The tax bills for the great costs of government will have to be dumped into the laps of all citizens who have incomes. After all, this is the capitalist system under which we are operating and we do have to recognize the fact that it operates in obedience to certain laws, and a tax program made in defiance of those laws may well be one of the most disastrous experiments we can engage in.

But the conviction that profits are going to be subject to heavy levies necessarily produces its effect upon the whole financial mechanism. It has resulted in modifying the gay assurance of a rising big boom which was so widespread at the beginning of the year.

'Shopping Village' Will Hold Formal Opening Thursday

Formal opening of the Piggy-Wiggly Shopping Village, in the new store's location on West Wall street, will be held from 6 to 10 p. m., Thursday, the public being invited to attend, according to Bill Conner and Ellis Conner, proprietors of the Hokus-Pokus and Piggy stores.

Refreshments of sandwiches and drinks will be served to all men, women and children attending, the proprietors said. No merchandise will be sold until the following day.

With complete new equipment and fixtures throughout, the store is fitted in silver and black color effect, with modern type counters, display cases, refrigeration and other equipment. The fifty-foot front, with parking room on three sides, affords ample shopping room and better display space, the proprietors said.

The "shopping village" idea as carried out in the fact that the new store features "everything to eat." Ellis Conner will be in charge of the Piggy-Wiggly Shopping Village, while Bill Conner remains on duty at the Hokus-Pokus grocery. The proprietors recently bought from J. M. Speed and Sons the Piggy-Wiggly franchise, pointing out that it provides buying power and better distribution facilities. Formal announcement will be made tomorrow by Conner Bros., who extended an invitation to the public at large to attend the opening Thursday evening.

Rayon Cord In Tires Object of Experiments

AKRON, O. (U.P.)—Tire manufacturers in this industrial capital are experimenting with the use of rayon in place of cotton cord for tires.

Research engineers report that in certain types of service, such as high speed bus and truck driving, rayon gives excellent mileage. It is said to have the ability to withstand higher operating temperatures with less deterioration than cotton cord.

But rayon cord tires, the manufacturers say, will be considerably more expensive than cotton cord. Rayon material costs more than cotton.

Two New Andrews Tests
Locations were announced today for two wildcats northwest of the Fuhrman pool in Andrews. They are Drilling & Exploration Company No. 1 Thornberry, 330 feet from the south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 8, block A-42, public school land, and the same company's No. 1 Munger & Nix, 1,320 feet from the south and west lines of section 20, block A-47, public school land. No. 1 Thornberry is about two miles and a half west of Shell No. 1 King, recent northwest extension to the Fuhrman pool. The drilling block, originally about eight sections, was turned to Drilling & Exploration Company by Fred Fuhrman, who retained about two sections checkerboarded.

No. 1 Munger & Nix is four miles northwest of No. 1 Thornberry, on a block of approximately six sections assembled by Fuhrman and turned to Drilling & Exploration with checkerboarded acreage retained. Operators plan to start the first well, the No. 1 Thornberry, within four months, and the second after it is completed.

had been laid and it was "in the dark" that the railroad commission issued orders to cope with it. The orders, for a long time, did not stand up. The courts finally upheld the ruling, however, and order was formed out of chaos. The commission itself is charged with conservation of oil and gas resources.

There are 1,400,000 barrels of oil produced daily in Texas, the speaker said. Oil produces $85 per capita, or $400 per family, each year. This revenue is sufficient to keep the state out of depression. Texas is in advance of all other states financially. More than 1,000,000 people in Texas are living from the oil and gas industry. Early Texas fields, according to statements of petroleum engineers, recovered only 26 percent of the oil because wells were allowed to flow wide open. With proration, fields now should recover 90 percent, the speaker said. The commission, in this way, is charged with preserving resources for future generations. Operators are now cooperating and the open flow, or waste of oil, has been curbed. Prices have been kept to a high level, rather than at the 10 cents per barrel price. From another angle, oil has aided the state school fund to the extent of $13,000,000. In addition, the Texas university and the A. & M. college have received $26,000,000 from oil royalties.

From the patriotic angle, the United States is protested against shortage of fuel in case of war. Judge Terrell declared that proration deserves 100 per cent cooperation from the citizenship. He said everyone should live for something unselfishly. Wealth, spent in the wrong way, brings unhappiness and is a curse, he said. Living and spending for "ourselves and others" brings the most happiness.

After Judge Terrell's speech, short talks were made by Mark Marshall and H. E. English. Mr. Marshall paid high tribute to his "chief", Commissioner Terrell, in the conduct of railroad commission affairs.

The group went to Odessa this afternoon where they are on the program at a barbecue and meeting of the West Texas division of the transportation association. The affair is being held at the ball park at 6 p. m.

INSULATION CREW NOW IN MIDLAND

Mr. E. F. Currin, sales manager of the Modern Home Insulators, Dallas and Fort Worth, registered at the Scharbauer now. Mr. Currin has brought his insulation truck and crew to Midland this week to insulate some homes. This company is very popular in Midland, having the confidence of a large number of Midland people they insulated for last winter. They are state distributors for Eagle Home Insulation, having been the first insulation contractors in Texas and the third in the United States. They have done more than fifteen hundred jobs in Texas and have a large clientele of pleased customers. They insulated fifty four jobs in Midland on the last trip here and can give just that many references. Insulation seals the heat out of the house in summer, making it 10 to 15 degrees cooler and seals the heat in the house in winter, reducing fuel bills around forty per cent. Mr. Currin can be seen at the Scharbauer and will make estimates without obligation to buy. (Adv.)

Hot Weather is Here-- Beware of Biliousness!

Have you ever noticed that in very hot weather your organs of digestion and elimination seem to become torpid or lazy? Your food sours, forms gas, causes belching, heartburn, and a feeling of restlessness and irritability. Perhaps you may have sick headache, nausea and dizziness or blind spells on suddenly rising. Your tongue may be coated, your complexion bilious and your bowel actions sluggish or insufficient. These are some of the more common symptoms or warnings of biliousness or so-called "torpid liver," so prevalent in hot climates. Don't neglect them. Take Calo-tabs, the improved calomel compound tablets that give you the effects of calomel and salts, combined. You will be delighted with the prompt relief they afford. Trial package ten cents, family pkg. twenty-five cts. At drug stores. (Adv.)

various cities and the annual sponsors' ball at 10 p. m.

Friday, the second day, will be featured by the grand parade, headed by Governor Alfred of Texas, Tingley of New Mexico and Bailey of Arkansas, along with Paul Whitman, famous orchestra director. The parade each year is the most spectacular feature of the entire program.

The old fiddlers' contest, one of the biggest free attractions of the Reunion and the award of championship prizes in the various contests will feature the closing day, Saturday.

Three performances of the Reunion's cowboy rodeo will be held each day, starting at 8 a. m., 2 p. m., and 8 p. m. Contests include calf-roping, wild-cow-milking, bronc and steer riding. The cutting-horse contest, unique with the Stamford rodeo, will be held the second day and the old time cowboy's calf roping contest will be held Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. A junior cowboy contest is a new feature of this year's roundup.

Oldtime square dances will be held at the Cowboys' bunkhouse each night and modern dances will be in progress at the new pavilion at the same time.

Members of the oldtime cowboys' organization who have paid their annual dues will be guests of the Reunion management. Their badges will admit them to all rodeo performances and to the square dances. They will be guests at the chuck wagon each day at noon.

Prosperity Comes Back For Flag Pole Painter

RAVENNA, O. (U.P.) — Prosperity is returning—for flag pole painters at least—says William Winchell, of that craft. He said he has painted more stacks, poles, and water towers this year than in the five previous. Winchell travelers from city to city and pole to pole in a covered wagon, while his 18-year-old daughter, Sue, works in his Chicago office.
