Behind The Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, July 10.—At one period during the Democratic love feast at Jefferson Island a group got to discussing the question of who made the best speech within the memory of each member of the group. It came the turn of a certain Georgia congressman and he began to expand seriously and with enthusiasm on the oratorical powers, the personal grace, the beautiful choice of words and the unequalled vigor of a fellow who once had made a speech in his own district.

After a while it turned out that the speaker he was praising had been making a eulogistic introductory address—all about the congressman himself, prior to presenting him to his constituents at a political rally.

Just Plain Ben, Maybe
SECRETARY of Agriculture Wallace has upon his desk a curious object, consisting of a transparent disc superimposed at right angles on another disc, each disc being made of plexi-glass—the solidified form of a new liquid glass. In one of the discs is imprisoned a bright red bean.

An inquisitive visitor picked up the ornament, expressed surprise at its lightness and asked what it was.

Wallace reeled off the chemical formula, the process of manufacture and other pertinent facts. Then the visitor asked about the bean and Wallace pointed to a label which bore its Latin name. But that meant nothing to the inquirer, who wanted to know what he would (Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

The Town Quack

Charley McClintic says "Doc" Thomas is trying to rent offices from him but "Doc" says he is waiting for George Phillips to erect his office building.

Take advantage of the clearance sales now going on in town. You won't find any better stuff at the same price by going out of town.

If we can get a good rain within the next couple of weeks the county is going to come through with the best crops ever known.

Can you remember when Hoover said that prosperity was just around the corner? Boy, we rounded that corner so fast that we made a curve out of it.

Well, we lost our baseball team but softball is liable to be started in a few days. And that will give a lot of grown-ups a chance to work off their bay windows.

Don't forget the big Midland Cow-boy Contests September 4-5-6.

Not long ago when I made a statement about what our building permits this year would amount to I was too conservative. Take a look at the front page today, add the permits for the new hotel and the McClintic-Marion building to those of the others and I'll bet you they don't fall much short of two million this year.

Folks, are we stepping out, or are we stepping out?

And just because half of the McClintic-Marion building is to be let in apartments and the new hotel is going to be able to hold a lot of people does not mean that we still won't need more new residences. All can be filled that are built during the next couple of years.

call it if he were to eat it, in plain American. Wallace puzzled over that. Then—"I haven't any idea," he confessed.

No Congratulations There
IT'S a general custom for star witnesses before Senate investigating committees to step up to the chairman at recess times and shake hands. Regardless of what the witness has been through or what he has confessed, there usually are thanks if not congratulations, and assurances of no hard feelings.

But one of the Chicago police officers who had been testifying about the so-called "massacre" of demonstrators near a Republic steel plant stepped up the other day to shake hands with Senator Bob LaFollette of the civil liberties committee.

LaFollette deliberately turned away from him.

Just as Bad as Rest
LITTLE has been heard lately of former Comptroller General John R. McCarl, a thorn in the New Deal side until his term expired a year ago and he subsequently helped Governor Landon in the campaign. He is practicing law here. But until recently he was feverishly busy trying to win that great contest, which a certain cigaret company widely advertised, offering immense prizes. McCarl was just as nuts over the contest as hundreds of thousands of others appeared to be.

Not in Years and Years
ROBERT A. PINKERTON, heir to the detective agency which bears his name, perhaps has met Dale Carnegie since he came here to testify before the LaFollette committee. At that time Pinkerton appeared to be slightly less than the quintessence of fact.

Encountering Jack Herling, a newspaperman who was in his class at college, Pinkerton exclaimed: "My gawd, Herling, I haven't thought of you for years!"

But No Rain Checks
IN spite of the terrific rain that came down on the last presidential inauguration, the local business men obtained refunds of most of the money they put into the show. Guarantors received back about 79 per cent of the money they put up and the inaugural fund was $28,931 in the red. The big error was in omitting the inaugural ball, which in 1933 cost $14,500 and took in $37,756. Canada's production of creamery butter during the first 11 months of 1936 totaled 238,266,000 pounds.

You'll go for the way it goes for you. You'll like the quick, eager spurt of its get-away, the buoyant, swayless steadiness of its travel. You'll welcome the way it cradles you over the bumps, the neat, compact, handily mobile feel of it. You'll be proudly aware of its beauty, of the picture you make riding in its this-minute style. Birthday Celebration Honors Local Girl

MAY HILL, N. M. July 10. — Wednesday, July 7, was the day set aside at Camp Mary White for a very special celebration in honor of the girls who have had a birthday during the first two-weeks camping session. Doris Lynn Pemberton, Midland, Texas, Nola Gayle Terrill, Vernon, Texas, Marian Finn, Plainview, Texas, Deweese Russ, Robstown, Texas, and Ruth Karch, Chicago, Ill., were the honor hostesses for the occasion.

"Fence Rider," Juanita Chance, did herself proud on the birthday dinner. Fried chicken and cake with all the trimmings will long be remembered by Camp Mary White campers. "Fence Rider" is the camp dietitian and hails from Lubbock, Texas.

Mr. C. R. Dwire, Forest Supervisor, Lincoln National Forest, from Alamogordo, New Mexico, held a very interesting informal discussion after dinner, answering the numerous questions of the girls on all phases of forestry service.

Ferndust Ranch, supervised by Mrs. Horace J. Dunne, Odessa, Texas, and Miss Adelaide Wolf, Roswell, New Mexico, was in charge of the program for the evening. They presented a skit depicting a rural one-teacher school of several decades ago.

It was Friday afternoon, the last day of Bear Canyon school, and the program, honoring "Mr. and Mrs. Foreman," president of the school board and his wife, was given by the Ferndust campers, impersonating the Camp Mary White staff in their childhood days. This clever entertainment feature made a big hit; the canyons echoed with peals of laughter long after taps.

Growing Wind

By Helen Welshimer

A GROWING wind is on the land tonight; A wind that pulses gently through tired fields That have been dormant since the rendering Of soil-blood taken by the harvest yields. A growing wind—blow strong, and stronger still! Until all hate, all avarice and greed That festered in the winter's narrowed days Shall end in joy, dear God, for this I plead!

OH, if the soil can feel, I think it wakes On such a night, remembering the way The grain laid yellow rugs across its breast And crops grew tall in some warm yesterday. Now, deep within, the life-urge beats again For sun, for wind, for rain, for all things bright. My heart, forget the winter's monotone— A growing wind sings in the fields tonight!

THERE ARE COMPLAINTS

Probably it is impossible to run a restaurant so that everybody is wholly pleased. But thus far, the protests haven't made us or the diners unhappy.

The chief complaint has been that the menu offers such a variety of good things that it is difficult to make a choice.

The only other complaint would be more serious were it not for the fact that the diners themselves volunteer the explanation. Once or twice when a particular dish prepared for that day has been exhausted, the disappointed ones say: "You have so many more guests than you have a right to expect, I can't see how you take care of us all so well."

Come to think of it, that is really a mighty fine complaint and we are grateful.

One thing we promise and that is, it will be a joy to serve you and make you feel the restaurant belongs to you when you are in it.

The Ford V-8 "60"

brings you low price and unusual economy

"I bet he'll get 22 to 27."

"What, trout?"

"No, miles per gallon."

The economy of the 60-horsepower Ford V-8 begins on the price tag. Ford prices have always been low and the price of the Ford "60" is the lowest in years.

Check delivered prices of other cars of comparable size and you'll find a margin of many dollars in favor of the Ford "60."

Economical operation has always been a Ford fundamental too. The "60" has proved to be the most economical Ford car ever built. Records reported by many owners show averages of 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gas.

These figures are facts, not engineers' hopes or salesmen's claims. You can prove them at any time by borrowing a "60" from the nearest Ford dealer.

Best of all, Ford "60" economy has been accomplished without any sacrifice of size, safety or style. It has the same big chassis as the famous "85" . . . with the same superb Easy-Action Safety Brakes . . . and the same husky all-steel bodies (more room inside for you, because compact V-type engines take less room under the hood).

Stop before you go to get a new car and remember: Your dollars go farther in a Ford the day you buy it and every mile you drive it!

Fish Story with Several Points

If you think it's hard to catch fish with rod and line, you want to try Jacqueline Paulk's method, spearing them with a three-pronged fork in shallow water. The Miami, Fla., mermaid emulates Japanese women in this sport and even wears the Japanese glass mask that enables her to see under water and makes her aim true.

For a fair imitation of a man with a hangover, March suggests three to five spins.

"It works out quite well," he explained, "even to the headache the spinning sometimes leaves."

Jamboree News
By BILLY NOBLE

WASHINGTON, July 8. (Sp.)—After a trying rehearsal in a hot, merciless sun we paused for supper before going on at 8 o'clock

Wednesday night.

Under beautifully colored, blended lights, regions eight and nine marched out into the arena in an impressive grand entry of color. Costumes—cowboy, Indian, pioneer, added the impressive beauty lacked by the other pageants.

The Oklahoma run, the lands and habits of the Indians, the spirit of the pioneers and cowboys were represented by this colorful event.

Closing with a beautiful circle about a central fire, complimented by a soft blue light, the entire mass of scouts sang "By the Blazing Council Fires" and "Home on the Range," after which "Taps" was sounded.

This morning, Thursday, the entire Jamboree will be reviewed by the President of the United States. Thirty-two miles of human flesh, four deep on either side will line the avenue down which the President will ride in revue of his "Troops of Peace."

As to the few miscellaneous events of yesterday, Buster Howard and Frank Arrington saw the American League wallop the National League by an 8-3 score.

numerous motion pictures. The secret, he revealed, lies in the ability to emulate a top, just before the camera begins to grind.

In the David O. Selznick technical picture, "A Star Is Born," co-starring Janet Gaynor and showing currently at the Yucca Theatre, March had several stages of tipsiness to portray, in some of the picture's lighter moments.

Before each one, March would step offstage, spin himself around from one to 25 times, and then go into action before the camera. The spinning, he explained, produced just the right amount of "muddledness" to make the action realistic. To go on a synthetic jag such as these, try the March formula, which is as follows:

Slightly fuzzy, akin to two short bourbons on an empty stomach. . . Three rapid spins. . . Pleasantly piffled. . . Six steady spins. . . Oiled, but not full. . . Ten fast spins. . . PICTURESQUE AUCTIONEER ENGAGED BY TEXAS UNIV. TO CONDUCT LAND SALES

AUSTIN, Texas — When the Board for Lease of University of Texas Lands adopted the public auction method of selling oil and gas leases to the various tracts in West Texas owned by that institution it selected as official auctioneer Col. E. Walters of Skedee, Okla., one of the most picturesque and widely known men of the Southwest. He has the record of having sold at public auction the oil and gas rights to more land than any other man.

During the last 27 years that he has been the Government auctioneer for the land of Indian tribes his sales have aggregated up to January 1, 1937, $171,265,850.58. This 58 cents has been something of a worry to Colonel Walters. He explained that he had been trying to get it eliminated from the Government books ever since it was placed there. So far since then the sums of money from the sales have been in even dollars, so the 58 cents still stand.

Colonel Walters recently spent several days in Austin, during which time he made a study of the geology and oil producing possibilities of 84 tracts of university lands in West Texas preparatory to his selling of their oil and gas rights at public auction, which sale brought a total of $382,800.

The largest one day's auction sale that was ever made by this typical pioneer of frontier days was when he sold several years ago 1,400,000 acres of Indian-owned coal deposits in Oklahoma. This auction was held at McAlester, and the highest bids aggregated $16,225,000.

"The highest price ever paid for a 160-acre oil and gas lease was when I auctioned off a quarter-section in the Burbank pool in the Osage Nation to the Prairie Oil and Gas Company on its bid of $1,990,000," Colonel Walters said.

"I sold at auction for the Government the first quarter section of Indian-owned land in the Burbank pool. This tract had been geologized and the structures was favorable to oil production. I found it difficult, however, to interest the group of prospective bidders.

I could not get any advance on the low starting bids. I called them a pot of 'penny crap shooters' and did everything I could to stir them up to more active competition in the bidding. All I could get out of them were pousum grins. I told them that when the time came for me to sell more of that Burbank land they would pay well for it. All I could get for the 160 acres was $600. There was a compulsory drilling clause in the sale contract, and the discovery well came in with a flow of 47,000 barrels daily.

"Sure enough, when I went to Pawhuska, January 28, 1928, to sell the second 160 acres in the new pool I found among the men gathered there to bid the same group who had attended my first sale where only $600 was realized.

"Who will start the bidding at one million dollars for the quarter-section? I asked. One of the men who could not see $600 in the previous quarter-section said he would give $100,000.

"Why it would be petty larceny to sell it for that little sum," I told the crowd. Turning to another man whom I knew well I said, 'Louis, what will you give?'

"I will give one million dollars," he answered.

"The sale of this 160 acres brought $1,600,000 to the Osage tribe," Colonel Walters could tell stories of this kind by the hour. These few instances which he related were typical of many, many others that have occurred during his long and active career.

An auction sale which Walters asserted gave him much satisfaction was that of a 10,000-acre ranch located on a mesa in New Mexico. The bidding was started at 25 cents an acre. It happened that the location of the sale was on a grassy spot and he used this fact for picturing the wonderful grazing possibilities of the land. He finally knocked it off $1.35 an acre, which was highly pleasing to the owner who had paid the Government only 50 cents an acre for it and was willing to get rid of it for that price.

He was 19 years old when he began as an auctioneer. Since that time he has auctioned off more farms, household goods, and other effects than any other man. He possesses records showing that he has served as auctioneer in 36 different states.

Colonel Walters was born in Adrian, Ill., on August 21, 1865. He was brought to the Indian Territory with his parents and settled there on April 5, 1886. His father was the first man to receive an appointment by the Federal Government of what was called an "Indian farmer," and settled on a tract of land at Camp Choceov, built by soldiers. The purpose of the Government in setting up a white farmer among the Indians was to teach them how to grow various kinds of agricultural products so they would not find it necessary to depart on their hunting trips for buffalo, which animals were then being rapidly exterminated. For more than 71 years Colonel Walters has lived among the Indians. He was adopted into the Osage tribe many years ago and given the name of Nica-gron-dee, which means in English "big white chief."

"The Indians are the best and most honest race in the world," Walters declared. "The bad opinion that the uninformed and ignorant white people have had of the Indians has been due to the cursed dime novels and fiction stories that have been written about them by writers in New York and elsewhere who have had no contact with these great people. I can say more for the Indians than I can for any white people. I have been with them since I was eight months old so I ought to know what I am talking about."

As evidence of the high regard with which this hardy man of the western plains is held by the Indians with whom he has been in close contact during all these years, he was presented by the Osage tribe with a hand executed gold medal, studded with a $2,000 diamond. The total intrinsic value of the ornament is more than $3,000. It bears this inscription:

"Presented to Col. E. Walters by the Osage tribe of Indians February 3, 1920, for his loyalty and service to them."

So far as known he is the only white man in the world who was ever presented a medal by a tribe of Indians. The presentation of this medal to Colonel Walters was made by Chief Iron Tail of the Sioux tribe. It is the profile of Chief Iron Tail that is found on all buffalo nickels and the buffalo on the opposite side of this coin was a tame animal that belonged to Chief Iron Tail. Colonel Walters said.

Colonel Walters is a great believer in the use of psychology in business. He practices it in all of his auction sales, adapting different methods of arousing the interest of bidders, according to circumstances and developments as the sale progresses. He studies each individual bidder and quickly makes a decision as to how to stir up competition in their offerings.

While Colonel Walters is not given to talking about his personal financial affairs, it can be stated he receives three-fourths of one per cent of the gross receipts from sales of leases on University lands, which would give him $2,871 for his recent days' work here. On this basis he has been paid more than $1,300,000 for his 27 years' work as Government auctioneer for the leasing of Indian lands. He has always lived modestly and simply.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God" (Matthew 5:6, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The baptism of Spirit, washing the body of all the impurities of flesh, signifies that the pure in heart see God and are approaching spiritual

Any Softball Players Ready to Start Season? All Invited to Be at Field On South Main Tuesday 6:30 for Game

Calling all soft ball players. Luther Tidwell, fire chief, manager of the Midland Hardware and Furniture Co., and for several years manager of softball clubs representing his firm, yesterday announced that he would have a soft ball club ready at 6:30 Tuesday afternoon at the baseball field for a game with any and all comers.

With baseball having died out here, Tidwell is the first to come forward with plans for starting a soft ball league. He says that he will have enough players on hand Tuesday afternoon to make up a club but that he will generously sprinkle his line-up with substitutes if enough players are on hand. Tom Betzel, manager of KRLH, has intimated he would be at the site of the game ready to pick a club to play that of Tidwell if as many as nine other players will show up.

The Agnes Cafe Is Now in Operation

The Agnes Cafe, on the highway opposite Hotel Scharbauer, opened for business yesterday and will hold a formal opening for the public at an early date. Miss Agnes Fitzsimmons, formerly of Olney, is the proprietor, having moved here recently and leased the location in the Butler building.

Cooled by iced air, fitted with indirect lighting and new fixtures throughout, the Agnes Cafe was enjoying good business on the opening day. Miss Fitzsimmons said she immediately had to secure additional help and henceforth would be able to take care of larger crowds at all times.

Miss Fitzsimmons was acquainted with many oil people who formerly operated at Olney and came here believing Midland will continue to grow into an oil metropolis.

several professional bands for many decades.

The greatest enjoyment of the average layman of music comes from playing music himself. The Summer Band School in Midland has given every person an opportunity to play an instrument in the organization or listen to home-town concerts. The total number of persons who took part in the band this summer was ninety-nine, including the four separate divisions. There were the following groups: Beginners' Class using standard instruments, The Saxette Band which is a preparatory organization, the Junior Band, and the High School Band in which were several exgraduates and business men of Midland. The first three mentioned organizations rehearsed each day for one hour. These young musicians and their parents have been loyal and cooperative. The High School Band rehearsed at night. Two periods of one hour each were given daily for those who wished to do extra work. Extra time was also spent in ensemble practice.

Standards were set for the classes and bands. When these goals were reached the students were promoted to the next higher organization. Band work will be resumed upon the beginning of school in September. M. A. Armstrong, director, is leaving immediately for New York City where he will attend Columbia University the remainder of the summer.

It enriches the mind and soul and enlarges the scope of thought and imagination. Henry Ford said that one of his most pleasant and profitable pastimes is listening to good music. The Argentine sanitary pact was discussed at length with L. J. Wardlaw of Fort Worth, chairman of the Texas Livestock Sanitary Commission, and H. F. McGill of Alice, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattlemen's Association, addressing the group on the subject.

Cattlemen charge that the pact will strike their industry a disastrous blow, and may cause an outbreak of the dreaded hoof and mouth disease among their herds.
