EFFORTS TO GAIN CUSTODY OF PETE TRAXLER STARTED

Ellingson Says the Prisoner May Be Kept in Okla.

NOW IN HOSPITAL

Recovery Is Assured By Physicians In Hugo

HUNTSVILLE, July 22. (P)—Prison manager Ellingson said today that extradition of Roy (Pete) Traxler, wounded and captured fugitive from the Eastham prison farm, depends on Oklahoma authorities.

"We will be glad to get him at once, however, I have heard nothing from Oklahoma officials—perhaps they wish to indict him there," Ellingson said.

Traxler, meanwhile, lay gravely wounded in a Hugo hospital, shot down with his own gun by two cool hostages who killed Fred Tindol, Traxler's companion in a mad flight from a Texas prison farm.

The hostages, Frank Trimmer, 50, and J. E. Denton, 44, an oil field worker from Asher, Okla., on vacation at Kingston, seized the outlaws' guns and shot them as nearly 1,000 possemen searched for the fugitives in the southern Oklahoma hills in one of the southwest's greatest manhunts.

"Traxler told Trimmer to pull up at the roadside," said Denton, "and we would wait until it got dark. When we stopped I looked at Tindol and he was looking out the window.

"His gun was right beside me and I grabbed it and shot him under the arm. Trimmer shot about the same time, but I couldn't tell where he was shooting. Then I turned and shot Traxler.

"Traxler said: 'What did you shoot me for?' Then he started cursing. He said: 'My brother will take care of you.'

Trimmer, farmer from Pleasant Hill, a world war veteran, gave virtually the same version of the shooting, which occurred on a lonely sideroad near here.

TUCC Payments Are Due by July 26th

AUSTIN, Texas, July 22. — Because the twenty-fifth of this month falls on Sunday, Texas employers subject to the Unemployment Compensation Act have until midnight July 26, to pay their contributions of one and 8/10 percent on their June payrolls.

This announcement was made today by Orville S. Carpenter, chairman of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Subject employers are also reminded that their second quarterly summary reports on earnings of employees must be filed with the Commission by July 31. First quarterly summary reports were due May 31.

These reports are made on Forms TUC-4 and TUC-4a, and should not be confused with information returns on Forms SS-2 and SS-2a prescribed by the federal government for Old-Age Benefits purposes, which calls for earnings reports combining the first and second quarters of this year and likewise are due on or before July 31.

Traxler Shot, Pal Slain By Hostages

Roy "Pete" Traxler (left), escapee from a Texas prison farm, was shot down by his own gun and his companion in the break, Fred Tindol (right), was slain with his pistol when two farmers the two convicts had kidnaped and were holding as hostages caught the desperadoes asleep, took their guns from them and fired. Tindol died instantly, Traxler is given a chance to recover by doctors in a Hugo, Okla., hospital.

Friday the Thirteenth!

The Date May Be a Hoodoo for Some West Texans, But It's 1937 Tops for the West Texas Press Gang

Snyder, July 22.—The newspaper fraternity has long been America's leading smasher of hoodoos, quackeries, superstitions and other racketeers that are barnacles on the body public.

Over at Sweetwater, the playground of West Texas, members and guests of the West Texas Press Association will add Friday the Thirteenth of August to their list of smashed superstitions.

It is on this late-summer date that at least 125 delegates from an area as large as several Eastern states will gather for an orgy of recreation, business and conviviality that is popularly known as their annual convention.

This year, when their private coffers are somewhat more bulky than in several sessions, the Association membership has definitely demanded three things of its 1937 convention:

- 1—Go strong on recreation, entertainment, and "just mixing with the boys and gals." 2—Make the business programs pungent and brief. 3—Use only honest-to-gosh newspapermen and women or their direct accessories on the program—the best newspaper speakers that can be secured.

Others who lead the WTFA are Douglas Meador of the Matador Tribune, second vice president; Fred Landers of the Monahan News, T. Paul Barron of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, and Sam A. Roberts of the Haskell Free Press, directors.

All weekly publishers are reminded by the secretary that they are eligible to compete for the Abilene Reporter-News and Lubbock Avalanche-Journal gold loving cup, awarded annually to "the best weekly newspaper in the West Texas Press Association territory."

The cup is now in the hands of the Odessa News-Times. Four consecutive issues any time during the 12 months preceding the convention are eligible for cup competition.

Staff members and employees of the Humble Oil and Refining Co., with their family members and a few invited guests, accounted for an attendance of 150 at a barbecue and picnic Wednesday evening at Cloverdale, W. T. Doherty, W. M. Holmes and Carl S. Ham were in general charge of the program and arrangements, with H. J. Phillips "putting on the feed."

"Barbecued steaks, with a complete 'balanced ration,' provided the menu which was declared to have been outstanding in the history of Cloverdale picnics.

At an informal program, Mr. Doherty presided, introducing the evening's speakers. Mayor M. C. Ulmer was introduced and he made a brief talk of welcome, also thanking the Humble representatives on behalf of non-company guests.

Education was pointed out by Ham as the only means to combat or diminish this increasing toll by accidents. Education in the home by the parents and in the school by the teacher; education in industry, and public safety education; all of these were advanced as means to create safety minded citizens.

The year 1936 was the first time home accidents had exceeded other kinds of accidents in the number of deaths since "the horse and buggy days."

CHINESE AND JAPS AGREE TO SETTLE CRISIS IN NORTH

Jap Dispatches Say Settlement to Be Completed Soon

TENSION EASED

Withdrawal of Men By Both Sides Is Agreed Upon

TOKYO, July 22. (P)—The Central Chinese government, Japanese dispatches from Peiping today said, has agreed to recognize a settlement of the North China crisis by local officials.

Officials said the agreement would remove much tension which Japanese and Chinese had predicted might lead to war.

The truce provides both sides with draw troops from the area west of Peiping where fighting broke out July 7.

Chinese troop withdrawals from the Wanpinghsien battle zone west of Peiping eased Sino-Japanese tension in North China.

Two weeks after conflict broke out in the area, almost all soldiers of the Chinese 29th army were evacuated under an agreement calling also for withdrawal of Japanese troops.

Chinese said that the next 24 hours may tell whether the Japanese will fulfill their part of the bargain.

They declared occupation of the demilitarized zone would give the Japanese control of the northern terminal of the strategic Peking-Hankow railroad.

No firing was heard from the Japanese front lines except one outburst from a machine gun near Wanpinghsien, which went unanswerd.

SUBSTITUTE WILL BE DRAFTED SOON AS IS POSSIBLE

Only Lower Courts to Be Considered in New Measure

FDR IS DEFEATED

Virtual Abandonment Of Compromise Act Is Foreseen

WASHINGTON, July 22. (P)—The senate judiciary committee voted today to ask the senate to send back to it the Roosevelt court bill with instructions to draft a substitute dealing only with lower courts within 10 days.

In an executive session attended by Vice-President Garner and administration leaders, the committee instructed Senator Logan of Kentucky to make a motion in the senate to re-commit the pending court bill.

Senator McCarran, Nevada, leading foe of the bill, said that the committee's action would clear the way for drafting a new bill dealing only with procedure in lower courts and eliminating all references to the size of the supreme court.

The committee's action marked the virtual abandonment of the compromise court bill now pending in the senate.

Vice-President Garner, generally believed to be acting as the personal emissary of President Roosevelt (Demo-Mont.) late yesterday and asked him to outline his terms for consideration of the administration bill.

Gov. H. H. Clegg of Montana called for complete abandonment of the section providing for new supreme court justices if justices past 75 do not retire. He also demanded a guarantee that there will be no political reprisals against those who have opposed the President's bill.

BYBEE'S PAL IS CAUGHT IN CAFE

Made Escape Tuesday as Companion Shot in Gun Battle

MONTICELLO, Ark., July 22. (P)—The keen-eyed wife of Monticello's night marshal trapped in a cafe here last night Harry Roberts, 34, escaped Texas convict, who eluded for more than 24 hours a posse that killed one of his prison companions and a captivated mother.

Roberts was captured without a shot by State Trooper O. V. Whitfield.

He was taken to the county jail where his companion, James Rice, 30, is held. The third member of the gang, W. H. Bybee, 26, was slain by a machine gun fusillade during the battle with the posse 12 miles east of here yesterday.

State Trooper Neil Shannon, who was wounded by Bybee in the gun fight, was reported in good condition. He sustained only a flesh wound from a buckshot, doctors determined.

Whitfield disarmed the man and found only $3 in his pockets.

PAROLE BOARD IS NAMED IN CRANE

Supervision Over Persons Given Clemency Is Granted Board

AUSTIN, Texas, July 22. (Spl)—Governor James V. Allred today appointed a Voluntary Parole Board to serve Crane county in the supervision of persons in that county released on conditional clemency from the State Penitentiary.

W. D. Riser of Crane was appointed chairman, W. R. Crownover, Thomas Durham, D. A. White, and Vern Allman, all of Crane, as members. The Board will elect its own permanent officers.

This was the 203rd such Board appointed under the Governor's program for rehabilitating former convicts through the influence and help of prominent civic leaders, according to J. Blake Timmons, the Governor's assistant in charge of the parole system. Governor Allred has termed the work done by these boards as almost the proudest accomplishment of his first administration.

Most Fatal Accidents in the Home Could Be Avoided, Humble Speaker at Picnic Says

TIME OUT FOR RULES

Occasionally the parliamentary rules hedging state and national lawmakers call for actions which baffle the non-political observer. Stopping the clock to conform with a set adjournment time is the commonest example.

Government students could offer any number of plausible reasons for this. The intention, of course, is to provide a safety check. Without strict rules, the theory goes, a legislative body might run wild over custom and constitutional authority.

There is no denying that the principle is sound. But like any other good thing, it can be carried too far. Rules which are meticulously observed merely as a concession to "form" could very nicely be trimmed out. Then the legislators would have more time for really serious business.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON, July 22.—There simply isn't any such thing as an Emilly Post who could draw the line between courteous propriety and shrewd hypocrisy when it comes to the White House attitude toward election of a Senate majority leader to succeed Joe Robinson.

Other questions of good taste and hypocrisy arising since the death of the late Joe are easier to solve. For instance, the issue as to which side in the court fight first got busy behind the scenes to capitalize on the new situation.

The answer there is that each side got busy as soon as it heard the news. The court plan opposition leaped into the backstage maneuvers no more quickly than administration forces. One side plotted attack and the other counter attack. It was obvious to both that Robinson's death and the capital that could be made from it offered a fine chance to maneuver the court plan and the rest of Roosevelt's program into the ditch.

Wheeler Drops His Guard

THEN, take the question of which side has been most gauche and hypocritical in the public maneuverings. For hours after Robinson's body was found certain administration strategists—who feared developments would rout their Senate strength itched and hope for some assertion from the opposition that Robinson's death signified divine intervention in the court fight.
They wanted an excuse for the President simultaneously to crack at the exultant opposition and at the same time deliver a bolstering message to his own wavering lies.

Senator Burton Wheeler of Montana, opposition leader, then dropped his guard by beseeching Roosevelt to forget the court plan "lest he be defying God."

And out cracked the President's letter to Senator Barkley with its shrewd multiple effort to denounce those who lacked "descent respect" for Robinson's memory, endorse Senator Barkley by implication for the Senate leadership, stiffen Roosevelt's own ranks and check the opposition's attempt to have Congress adjourned at once.

But then the President assured Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi that he was taking no sides in the fight between Harrison and Barkley for the leadership. This came at a time when Roosevelt

Spain—One Year

The Town Quack

I lived a long time before I learned that you are no safer at home than you are in an automobile.
Carl Ham, division safety en-agents were nearly killing themselves in Washington's preposterous summer heat, seeking to put Barkley over.

It is fantastic to assume that Roosevelt had not told these men he wanted Barkley and wanted him badly. His closest intimates pounded home the argument to senators that this leadership selection would decide the future of the New Deal and of the Democratic party.

THE Democratic opposition had no illusions. It lined up against Barkley almost to a man, spreading the word that victory for Harrison would mean the end of the court bill. Everywhere this fight became to be regarded as the greatest test of the Roosevelt administration to date and especially a real test for those senators who had kept insisting they were liberals but couldn't stomach the court plan. (Harrison always has been considered conservative, and Barkley more than mildly liberal).

And yet, in the face of all this, Roosevelt and Farley professed to take a neutral position!

"The proprieties demand it" explained a high-up administration man to your naive correspondent, who suggested a bit more candor might be acceptable. "The President simply must not appear to be telling the Senate whom to pick for its leader.

On the other hand, of course, certain Republican senators were bringing pressure on certain Democratic senatorial friends in behalf of Harrison. You may be sure that these gentlemen were taking an attitude of "strict neutrality."

It's funny how many politicians there are in politics.

The Fight for Power in Washington

This is the fourth of a series of six stories interpreting today's confusing economic and political picture in terms of a gigantic fight for power.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
The Midland Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 22. — Many forms of power or wielded in any modern state. Chief among these are political and economic power. In past years, economic power in the United States has been largely wielded by boards of corporation directors who handled billions of dollars—usually other people's money—and partially controlled millions of other people's lives. The same men also carried heavy influence in the political affairs of the country.

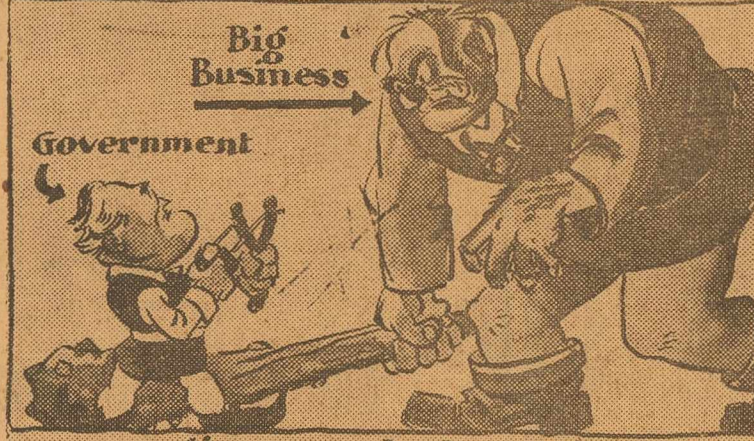

To Popular Control
President Roosevelt has sought to shift some of this economic power where it will be under the control of Congress and the executive—on the theory that he and Congress are directly responsible to the people, and that such a shift of power from the privately-controlled economic field to the publicly-controlled political field is necessary if democracy is to be preserved. the game, is an essential phase of curtailing the power of the industrialists in the political field.

This contest for power, involving radical changes in the rules of the game, is an essential phase of the feud between the President and those he calls "economic royalists." But there is much more to it than that.

The Tax Tool
The New Deal has moved gradually toward extended use of the taxing power. First, to help pay costs of its relief-recovery-reform program. Second—and this is partly an accomplished fact, partly a threat for the future—it gradually has become convinced that the taxing power is the one big, effective tool for reformation of the social-economic system along the general theory of redistributing income and preventing dangerous concentrations of wealth.

Few rich men enjoy this sort of thing. Many of them say, and many unquestionably believe that it will send the country straight to ruin.

The anti-Roosevelt feeling extends down through ranks of medium-sized and smaller business men, to lawyers and other professional groups and probably to most well-to-do urban citizens and many among the conservative middle class. As F. D. R. projects his social-economic program further, and his political alliance with labor becomes more obvious an increasing section of that middle class becomes alarmed and hostile.

Some Say "Enough"
Many who thank Roosevelt for a job well done now want him to call it a day. They fear his "glorification" of working people, with its triple aim of improving living standards, bolstering the economic structure and attracting political support. Millionaires, especially object to paying large tax sums which they see going into the pockets of the unemployed, farmers, federal office-holders and other beneficiaries who unquestionably represent a great political asset for the administration.

The hire of expensive lawyers to help evade onerous taxes also is a heavy drain. The "economic royalists" and thousands not so "royal" distinctly do not see these taxes as what Roosevelt calls "the price we pay for civilization." Many liberal business men are worried by constant doubt as to what will happen next in Washington, and as to how far Roosevelt expects to go. They fear what might happen in another economic crisis with a national debt of $36,000,000,000 and an unbalanced budget.

Current proposals for legislation on wages and hours, crop control,

On Higher Income
It looks now as if the government were about to stop borrowing and raise money for its program through taxes—higher taxes if necessary, but preferably present taxes on a higher national income.

But Big Business thinks Roosevelt seeks to dose it with castor oil when it feels perfectly swell. It says it would expand plant and venture into new enterprises if it could feel more secure.

It says: increased cost, caused by higher wages and heavy taxes, will surely slow down business activity. Big profits and prosperity go hand in hand with an expansion of the capital good market at rising prices. Don't rock the boat. Cut federal expenses and let's have less federal regulation, not more. "Natural forces" will accelerate recovery. Strikes are bad and John L. Lewis, ally of Roosevelt, is a menace.

A Laissez Faire Country
The gambling factor, the chance for big profits in new enterprises is what has kept the capitalistic system working. Does Roosevelt seek to repair a system whose motive is profit with a remedy which is bound to kill that motive power?

Roosevelt refers back to the pre-election Madison Square Garden speech which promised a curb on monopoly, higher wages, shorter hours, consumer protection, abolition of child labor, cheaper electricity and crop control. He also recalls his Chicago declaration of faith in free private enterprise as America's backbone. He laughs at post-election attempts to make him "forget Madison Square" in an "era of good feeling" which he blew sky-high with his Supreme Court plan, causing the "economic royalists" to resume their solid front against him.

Roosevelt distinguishes vaguely between "reasonable" and "excessive" profits. This runs square up against the fact that we're still the world's laissez faire country of the 1920s—the only country where anyone seriously suggests "letting nature take its course" in the industrial-economic field. The New Deal holds that monopoly here has killed "the free play of economic forces."

Mellon vs. Roosevelt
Further New Deal theory: There must be no more fantastic speculative booms, piling up and pyramiding debt. Increase of purchasing power among unemployed, wage earners and farmers, plus other New Deal policies has produced recovery—so let's have more of the same.

In the years of 1921-29 labor income increased eight percent, production 37 per cent and profit 87 per cent, throwing the system out of whack. Profits must contract to make the system work and proper use of the taxing power will keep the system in balance, as in England.

Excess profits must not be invested in new plant capacity to produce for a non-existent market. Siphon it off the top and pour back in at the bottom. Prices must not get ahead of purchasing power. Emphasis should be laid on the "high annual wage."

Drawing Financial Fire
Roosevelt's assaults on the "power trust," his TVA and other projects, PWA power loans, the holding company act and his successful campaign for rate cuts probably have stirred up as much "economic royalist" attack as anything.

But business men also remember the securities and stock market acts, the corporation surplus tax, graduated corporation tax, increased estate taxes and higher surtaxes.

OFFICIAL INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE SEASON OPENS TONIGHT AT 8

HARDWARE, HOTEL CLUBS TO MEET IN THE INITIAL GAME

The first game of the Midland Industrial League will be played tonight at the soft ball park on South Main street, the first game to start promptly at 8 o'clock.

The Midland Hardware and the Hotel Scharbauer clubs will take the field in the first game, the KRLH and the Sinclair teams to play the second game.

Previously announced for tomorrow night, the opening games were moved up to tonight after a new schedule was drawn up. First schedule completed called for eight clubs, but when two tentative league members decided to withdraw the schedule was changed.

The league schedule calls for each club to play a total of 20 games during the regular season, meeting each five times. At the conclusion of the regular playing season, Sept. 10, the Shaughnessy play-off plan will be used to decide the championship club.

At the start of the play-off, the team finishing first will meet the club finishing fourth and the second and third place clubs will clash. A best two out of three series will be played, the two finalists to play a three out of five game series to decide the champion.

The Ford and Gulf clubs will meet tomorrow night in the first game, the Hotel Scharbauer and Sinclair clubs meeting in the late game.

No admission charges will be made to persons attending the games, but collections will be taken up once each night.

Citing the expense necessary to get the league started league officials have urged those attending the games to contribute freely to those taking up the collections.

public housing, far tenant relief and the series of "regional TVA's" are anathema to such groups as the National Association of Manufacturers.

And the "economic royalists" know—or ought to know—that the new New Deal proposals will be for anti-monopoly legislation and tax revision, the nature of which is uncertain but the possibilities of which make them fear the worst.

Two Local Firemen Attend Short Course

Two members of the Midland fire department are at College Station this week, attending the annual summer short course for fireman. Jim Walker, who pilots the city's fire truck, and Johnny Pliska, volunteer member, are representing the local company. The course ends Friday.

Besides the valuable instruction in improved fire fighting methods, which the two firemen will pass on to others members of the company here, the course is valuable to the city in a reduction of three cents in the key rate for fire insurance.

First Troops From Other Corps Areas Meet at Fort Sam Houston August 2

FORT SAM, HOUSTON.—The first contingent of troops from other corps areas that will assemble at Fort Sam Houston for the test of the proposed new infantry division beginning next September will arrive in San Antonio on August 2.

On that date 320 enlisted men, members of the Signal Corps, from the 51st Signal Battalion, Fort Monmouth, N. J., in the Second Corps Area will arrive to begin preparations for the Signal Corps participation in the test of the new division.

The Fort Monmouth group is expected to depart from its home station on July 21, traveling overland for 13 days. The battalion will bring all of its own equipment carried in the motor convoy. Arriving with the convoy will be 14 officers of the Signal Corps.

It was announced today that the 51st Signal Battalion will remain intact as a battalion organization until late in September when the entire test division will be assembled at Camp Bullis, near San Antonio. At that time 62 of the Fort Monmouth men and 135 from the Second Signal Company of Fort Sam Houston will join forces to form the Signal Company of the test division, which, under the tentative tables of organization for the proposed division will furnish all Signal communication for the units of the division. Under the post-World War division set-up the organizations were responsible for their own communication.

Officers and enlisted men from other posts and stations in the 8th Corps Area and those from the Sixth and Fourth Corps Areas are not due to assemble at Fort Sam Houston until late in September. Combined with the Second Division force at Fort Sam Houston the units brought here for the test will form a provisional division with a strength of approximately 11,000 officers and enlisted men.

Meanwhile the various units designated to compose the test division have started organizational training according to the tentative tables of organization at their home stations. The division is expected to assemble at Fort Sam Houston and Camp Bullis some time in September.

During the first week after assembly of the division a series of combat tests will be conducted on the Camp Bullis reservation designed to test the potential ability of the proposed division in attack and defense. Early in October it is expected that the broader tests of the powers of the new division will begin at Bullis, a part of these maneuvers to be the simulated action of the division as an integral part of a larger unit, probably an Army Corps.

During November a week's extended march and field maneuver will be started, during which time the division will demonstrate its effectiveness in an advance on a wide front, moving toward Mineral Wells, Texas. This march will include day advances averaging about 76 miles distance and two night marches. Attack and pursuit tests will be made for one day in the Mineral Wells maneuver area and the final day of the test will provide a continuous march of 270 miles, the test division returning from Mineral Wells to Fort Sam Houston.

NEW PETROLEUM ENGINEERING COURSE BEING OFFERED BY TEXAS UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, Texas.—A new course in petroleum engineering one which takes the student into the oil field for study, is being taught at the University of Texas this summer by H. H. Power, professor of petroleum engineering. Students in the course have completed their field work and are now in Austin to prepare their reports.

In discussing the trip, Mr. Powers explained that the course was developed as an experiment this year but that the interest shown by students and oil company officials was so great that the course will probably become a regular part of the summer curriculum, since it fills a definite need in directing the students to the practical application of their university training.

The party went first to Texas to study the property of the Big Lake Oil Company in the Big Lake field, an area of particular interest to University of Texas students because that institution derives income in oil royalties from university land in the field. Trips through the field was supplemented by talks, speakers including E. Y. Power, petroleum engineer, and other officials of the Big Lake Oil Company. The study included history of the development of the field, drilling problems, production problems, gasoline manufacture, oil treating, pipe line station operation, and miscellaneous surface operations.

In the Davis Mountains the students spent a few days studying the geology of the area, particularly from a standpoint of correlation with the producing oil areas of West Texas. A side trip was made to the McDonald Astronomical Observatory, at Mount Locke, operated jointly by the University of Texas and the University of Chicago.

From the Davis Mountains the party moved to the McElroy Camp of the Gulf Coast Corporation near Crane where drilling and producing problems characteristic of that area were studied. Talks were given by prominent engineers, including L. S. Grant, engineer of the McElroy Ranch Company, and former dean of the Colorado School of Mines, and by E. A. Crites, production engineer of the Gulf Oil Corporation.

At Odessa, staff members of the Gulf Oil Corporation addressed the students, and side trips were made to study the new development in the Goldsmith pool and the Kermit, Monahans, and Winkler areas. At the Yates pool a talk was given by Peter Gregory, head of the Yates Pool Engineering Committee, who traced the development and production problems in that pool from the date of the discovery well.

Members of the class this summer were Bill Biens of San Antonio, J. O. Garrett of Edmond, Ala., J. O. Serrill of Bay City, A. L. Powell of Lufkin, J. Harvey Scuttlers of Houston, Gus F. Obenhaus of Columbus, C. M. Amacker of San Angelo, John S. Fleeter of Houston, Charles R. Stall of Cameron, and Lawrence Berkman of Austin.

City Federation of Clubs To Have Second Meeting

Book Review Special Feature of Program

SAN ANGELO, July 22. — Details for the second meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs were completed early this week, the session to be held Monday, July 26, at the St. Angelus Hotel.

Features of the program will be a book review by Mrs. P. L. Whiffen and two piano selections by Mrs. Robert Crowther. The program will begin at 3 o'clock. Members of the federation are asked to invite prospective members, women interested in civic and social affairs of the city. There has been some confusion as to the membership in the organization. To explain — women affiliated with any of the clubs that voted to join the federation automatically become members. Dues for each club amount to $1 a year, and members in any of the clubs do not pay additional dues. Individual membership signifies those women who do not belong to any of the member clubs but who are interested in the projects and plans set up for the federation. Individual members pay dues of 50 cents a year.

In numerous reviews in Fredonia and other towns in Kansas during the last five years. After graduating from Williams Woods College in Fulton, Mo., Mrs. Whiffen went to the University of Oregon in Eugene where she majored in speech and dramatics. She taught classes in both before and after her marriage. An hour will be required for the review.

Mrs. W. J. Tilton, president, will preside during the business session when reports of the education program committee will be heard and committees for next year will be appointed.

A Book A Day

Jeter's Book Probes Reactions Of Citizens During Strike

IN these days when the strife of labor troubles strikes to the core of the American community, it is interesting to lay hands on such a book as Goetz Jeter's "The Strikers" (Frederick A. Stokes, $2.50).

Here is a volume that is not concerned primarily with the theory, the history or the large aspects of the labor movement, but rather with the reactions of a small town's citizenry to a strike in the town's one big industry, its shoe factory.

The book's action, and it is there in generous gobs, moves smoothly. There is suspense aplenty and some of the scenes carry a terrific punch. The things that happen have happened in many places the past year.

While Jeter has done a good job on the strikers themselves, he is even better when dealing with Waverly (no doubt his own Moberly, Mo.) and its people in general—the clothing store proprietor, the man who runs the book shop, the garageman, the mayor, the political boss, the harlot, the housewife, and all the others.

While the story is forceful, it rambles most of the way. There are plenty loose ends. The reader sits on numerous city council meetings, arbitration pow-wows, saloon fights, and even a couple of seductions. He meets at least 50 characters through the book's 300-odd pages. But somehow he remembers them all.

If you're looking for vitriolic criticism of Messrs. Lewis or Green or Girdler or Roosevelt, you won't find it in "The Strikers." But you may, for the reading, understand a bit better why we have had labor troubles for so long and what the prospects are for their continuation.

Grandmother Tries Role of Cinderella

FORT WORTH, July 22. — A 61-year-old grandmother tried out for the role of the Texas Cinderella that Paul Whiteman is seeking. The woman had taken her granddaughter to Radio Station WBAP where preliminary tests are made when she decided to try out herself and demonstrated that she possessed an excellent soprano. Whiteman, whose band is playing this summer at Casa Manana here, wants a Texas Girl with voice, beauty and personality to sing with the band and over the air.

When Honor Girls Gave a Party

As excited and starry-eyed as any group of debutantes were 38 honor girls at the Oklahoma Industrial School at Tecumseh, when, as pictured here, they entertained a picked group of students from three Oklahoma colleges with a dance in the school's "honor cottage." At the affair, a social service experiment, there were two young men for every girl and the attractive young woman at left made the most of it as two boys vied for her name on dance cards.

being literally blown into the hospital. Also carelessness in the use of electric and gas appliances have been known to kill or maim.

Prevention: Keep matches out of reach of small children. Use only safety matches. Discourage children from playing with matches, bonfires or near unscrubbed stoves. Handle containers of hot liquids carefully and without haste. If practical do cleaning out of doors. If done indoors keep windows open and all flames extinguished. Use electric and gas appliances with care. Do not use frayed iron cords.

First aid measures were cited in the manual, with particular attention given to shock, as it always is a major problem in cases of serious injury or extreme fright. Many conditions and objects figure in the home accident problem. In addition to the causes already mentioned there are many others.

Asphyxiation, Suffocation
Many deaths occur from inhaling carbon monoxide gas which is produced by automobile engines and gas appliances by incomplete combustion. Escaping gas, fumes from cleaning fluid, mechanical suffocation, when children become entangled in clothing, accidental swallowing of objects such as marbles, coins, or a piece of rubber balloon.

Stamp News

THE Virginia Dare commemorative stamp will be placed on first-day sale at Manteo, N. C., on Aug. 18. The stamp will contain an artist's conception of the pioneer family—mother, father and 2-month-old baby, all dressed in clothes of the period. The three photographs will be enclosed in a medallion and will form the personal feature on the stamp. At the lower left-hand corner of the stamp there will be a replica of a basket of fruit and vegetables, while in the background a log cabin will be depicted.

The postmaster general at Melbourne, Australia, has announced his department will issue a series of three commemorative stamps in connection with the Sesqui-Centenary of New South Wales. The stamps are expected to go on sale Oct. 15 and will be in the following denominations: 2 pence, 3 pence and 9 pence. A pence is equal to approximately 2 cents. Orders for stamps should be placed with the Director of Postal Telegraph, Melbourne, Australia.

Stamp sales to collectors through the U. S. Postoffice Department's philatelic agency for the fiscal year just ended totaled $1,945,019, the highest normal year in the history of the agency.

King George VI will keep the $2,500,000 stamp collection started by his father and add to it, according to reports from London. Housed in some 250 volumes, in charge of a "philatelic secretary to the king," the collection is one of the world's greatest. George V began it as a boy.

hages, bleeding and shock would also be present.

Prevention: Remove all shells before guns are put away and when taken down to see whether or not they are loaded. Point firearms only at objects you desire to shoot or at the ground. Under no circumstances toward a human being. Treat every firearm with respect because of its potential deadliness. First aid methods for hemorrhage or bleeding and for shock were recommended in case of gun shot wounds.

Miscellaneous
Cans, books and lenses when stacked in tiers overhead have all been known to fall, causing injury. Cuts and scratches rank high as a cause of infection. Washing dishes together with sharp knives, opening cans, improper lifting, washing machines, intoxicants, using straight pins, and shaving, have all been known to injure and maim. Sunstroke and heat exhaustion are major causes of home accidents.

First aid should be applied to any kind of injury, such as those of electric shocks, shock, gas poisoning, drowning, artificial respiration, fainting, sunstroke or heat exhaustion.

In the final analysis, all accidents are the result of some bad practice and as a rule do not happen most commonly to those who flout common sense and safety rules every hour of the day, but happen to the average American citizen like you and me who takes a chance once in a while and gets caught. The true reward for safety is a more abundant life and an opportunity to enjoy the good things we have and those to come, with an objective like this it is everyone's duty to aid in safety education. One of the most important teachers in this respect is the mother, who can mold safe teachings together with love, faith and respect. The timeworn expression that "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world," is especially true in educating the future world for safety.

FOURTH OIL POOL FOR GAINES ASSURED AS JONES WELL SWABS 8 BARRELS HOUR

BY FRANK GARDNER
Gaines county's fourth oil pool was assured today when Continental Oil Company No. 1 Dr. E. H. Jones, in the northwestern part, swabbed eight barrels of new oil hourly following recovery of oil load used in acid job. The well was swabbed all day yesterday, lowering oil from 2,900 to 1,700 feet, and had 2,200 feet of oil in the hole when swabbing was resumed this morning after an overnight shut-down. The Continental office here confirmed preliminary reports from the well and said that testing would be continued throughout the day, after which the well would be either re-acidized or drilled deeper. Present total depth is 4,959 feet in lime.

with 1,000 gallons of acid had appeared disappointing when it was reported that only oil load was being swabbed from the hole. The Jones discovery is located 1,900 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east line of section 22, block A-7, public school land, nine miles west and three miles south of the Wasson pool opener, recent discovery. Four miles north of the Jones strike, Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 Jones, center of the northeast quarter of section 2, block A-7, public school land, this morning was drilling at 4,330 feet in anhydrite. Andrews Well Gauged Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 2 Walker, in the Shell King extension of Deep Rock production in central Andrews, flowed 1,093.37 barrels of oil per day on official proration gauge. Located 990 feet from the south and 330 feet from the west line of section 6, block A-43, public school land, it is bottomed at 4,465 feet in lime and was acidized with 4,000 gallons. Making a bailer and a half of water hourly after bailing down, Empire Oil & Refining Company No. 1 J. D. Biles, northwest Andrews wildcat, is pulling pipe preparatory to plugging and abandoning. It was plugged back to 4,675 to shut off water encountered by drilling to 5,000, but failed to respond to acidization with 2,000 gallons. Many zones showing oil saturation were cored but lacked sufficient porosity to produce. Location of the failure is 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 12, block A-31, public school land. Attempts to acidize below packer at 4,370 having failed, Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Lydia Littman, northwest Andrews prospect, is preparing to deepen from 4,400. Three thousand gallons of acid at total depth of 4,359 had developed production of only a barrel and a half hourly. The well

More People Than You Ever Saw at Coney Before

Ever see more than a million persons at one time? Just look at this throng (count 'em, if you're skeptical) and you'll have an idea of what such a multitude is like. More than a million swarmed onto the beach at Coney Island, fresh air mecca for New York's sweltering denizens, to set a new attendance record. A breezeless heat wave drove them out of their apartments in search of relief. It's apparent that there was standing room only on the beach.

COLLECTING LIQUID RUBBER ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA
An ever-increasing supply of rubber comes from these plantations. Savings made by controlling raw materials and by more efficient manufacturing and distribution make extra values possible at no extra cost.

BECAUSE in Firestone Standard Tires —

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS — eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber. This counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES — because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING — because the tread is scientifically designed.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE because of the extra tough, long-wearing tread.

THAT last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 38,000 men, women and children? That a million more were injured? That more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to unsafe tires?

At right is a section cut from a smooth, worn tire, with non-skid protection worn off. Tires in this condition are liable to punctures, blowouts and skidding.

At left is section cut from a new Firestone Tire. Note the thick, non-skid protection against skidding, blowouts and punctures. Come in and see a demonstration.
