Flood Waters Take Lives 19 In New York

Tenement Buildings Collapse When Hit By Raging Torrent

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP).—At least 19 persons were crushed to death in their sleep early today when three Staten Island tenement buildings collapsed during a rainstorm. Tons of water roaring down from an overflowing storm sewer struck the ancient brick dwellings and ripped them asunder.

Three other persons were missing and four others were taken to a hospital with serious injuries. Patrolman Joseph McEwen died a hero when he plunged into one of the buildings after the first structure collapsed. Searchers later found him in the wreckage, in his arms, with her arms curled tightly around his neck, was the body of four-year-old Virginia Budnik.

Six of the dead were women, six children and six men. Four others lost their lives in the storm which swept the metropolitan area.

Tulia Farmers to Plant More Wheat

TULIA (AP).—P. G. Colgin, Swisher county agent, says farmers of this county indicate they will plant more wheat this fall than last. About 250,000 acres were sown this year and Colgin expects the acreage will be increased 50,000. He estimates the yield in the county this year, including some irrigated land, was more than 2,200,000 bushels.

Preparation of the land is under way, many farmers hitching plows to their combines and discing the stubble while harvesting. Colgin says approximately 200,000 bushels of wheat is in elevators here and a large amount will be held for seed.

305 Bushels Wheat Harvested on 5 Acres

LUBBOCK (AP).—R. L. Burdette, vocational agricultural teacher, says he harvested 305 bushels of wheat from a five-acre irrigated tract on his farm near Shallowater. In all he sowed 19 acres, using one and one-half bushels of seed on an acre. The tract was watered four times and more than 800 bushels, or an average of more than 41 an acre, were harvested.

New Braunfels Caves Will Be Explored

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP).—Civic organizations and business men are endeavoring to obtain financial assistance to develop a cave 10 miles west of here on the Edward Heidrich ranch in the hilly section of Comal county. Preliminary inspection indicates it may rival in size and scenic qualities some of the well known caverns of the southwest.

As development would be expensive the chamber of commerce is considering asking federal assistance on the basis of making the project self-liquidating. The National Park Board investigated the cave and reported that it is located entirely in the balconies escarpment, and is of the formation of the Pleistocene and Pleistocene Ages.

"It is entirely in the Edwards limestone formation," the report said, "and extends east to Land Park and Gomal river springs westward to Boerne. It is undetermined the exact extent of distance involved in the passages. The cave was explored from the main entrance for more than a mile to another opening eastward and another opening leading northward. The third opening leads to a large body of water inside. It is presumed therefore, that this water is closely connected with the Gomal springs. The greater part of the cave is filled almost to the ceiling with silt and drift dirt but this would be easy to clear out. The entire cave as explored so far contains splendid specimens of stalagmites and stalactites and wonderful crystal and formations of yellow crystalline formations suspended from the ceilings.

The formations are clean and with lustre. It has been anticipated that the main chamber as indicated by its opening may have been blasted during the Civil war and has a ceiling height of about fifty feet. In the chamber where rushing water can be heard, are indications that the water is of a strong nature due to the moisture and to the rushing sound which can be heard plainly.

How Girl Gave Man 'Honor' Lashing

A friend of the family helps Alfred C. Willis, left, of New Orleans, demonstrate how Willis and his two sons tied Oscar Kay, 47-year-old WEA foreman, to a tree, after which Willis's daughter, Eloise, 17, shown in inset, flogged Kay for alleged "false tales and derogatory remarks" which she said damaged her reputation. Kay said he was whipped with a doubled wire cable, filed charges of assault, beating and wounding against Eloise and her father. They countered with slander charges against Kay.

Largest Producer Looms For Wasson Pool Looms Today

By FRANK GARDNER

The largest producer yet brought in in the Wasson pool of northwest Gaines appeared to be in the making today as Continental Oil Company No. 1 W. McCarty Moore began cleaning itself after 3,000-gallon acid treatment. Yesterday, the well flowed 20 barrels of oil per hour, natural, on three-hour test through open 2-inch tubing set at 4,977, and after being shut in for four hours, flowed for 15 minutes at the rate of 40 barrels per hour through open tubing and casing. Gas volume while testing through tubing was 1,500,000 cubic feet, and increased to 2,365,000 cubic feet when it was opened through both tubing and casing. Past drilling time from 4,971 to 4,905, the total depth, indicated that the main pay was encountered between those points. Location of the Conoco well is 440 feet out of the southwest corner of section 46, block AX, public school land, a mile northeast of Carter-Conoco No. 1 Wasson, at the pool opener.

One mile due south of the Continental well, A. G. Carter No. 2 J. R. Sharpe is also on test after treating with 1,000 gallons. On 24-hour test before acid it swabbed an flow of 316 barrels of fluid through 2-inch tubing set at 4,975. Total depth is 5,000 feet in lime, and location is 440 out of the southwest of section 47, block AX. Amerada No. 1 Matthews, section 417, block G, a mile and a quarter southwest of the pool opener, pulled tubing and re-ran it with packer at 4,980, then swabbed 89 barrels of fluid, 24 percent water in 10 1/2-hour test. Operators believed the packer might not be holding. Total depth of the well is 5,018 feet in lime.

To Shoot Jones Well
Continental No. 1 Jones, plugged back to 5,040 from 5,156 to shut off sulphur water revealed by drill-stem test, will be shot tomorrow.

Robber Fires on Family, Kills 1 And Wounds Two

AUSTIN, Aug. 12 (AP).—E. N. Payton, Govalle truck farmer, was shot to death, his wife critically wounded and their son shot in the leg by an unknown assailant early today. The shooting occurred when Payton and his sons attempted to prevent an intruder from stealing their automobile.

Shortly before the slaying a man had eluded Austin police who had been watching for suspects in the San Antonio public service robbery early this week. An armed posse was searching the brush four miles east of Austin for the man.

it was reported. The well is in section 22, block A-7, public school land.

Argo No. 1 Jones, four miles to the north, is drilling at 5,009 feet in lime, with no shows reported. It is in section 2, block A-7.

Ector Wildcat Tests
A two-mile northwest extension to the Harper pool of Ector or possibly a distinct new pool was indicated today when A. G. Carter (formerly John W. Naylor) No. 1, J. E. Park, was reported to have headed oil into pits. Gas volume was estimated at 200,000 cubic feet. Exact point at which the oil was struck has not been learned, but it was said to be near 4,080, higher than pay was anticipated. Location of the prospect is 330 feet from the south and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 15, block 44, township 2 south, T. & P. survey.

Shasta No. 1 Katherine Sands, wildcat two miles southwest of the Goldsmith pool, is drilling lime at 4,090 feet. It is 2,200 feet from the south and 440 feet from the east line of section 32, block 44, township 1 south, T. & P. survey.

To Abandon Test
Moore Brothers Corporation No. 1 F. A. King, northwest Glasscock wildcat, was slated for abandonment after encountering a hole full of sulphur water from 3,922-26, the total depth. Water rose 3,400 feet the first 18 hours. The failure is in the center of the northwest quarter of section 43, block 35, township 1 south, T. & P. survey.

Pair Treated for Injuries After 2 Cars in Collision

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Sherrod received treatment in a local hospital early today for injuries received when the car in which they were riding collided with one reported to have been driven by Al Trauber, plumber.

Mrs. Sherrod received a cut lip and bruises, while her husband suffered bruises. Trauber was reported uninjured. Reports indicated that the Sherrods struck the car driven by Trauber at the corner of Texas avenue and D street as the Sherrods were driving east. Both cars were damaged in the collision and later were taken to a garage for repairs. San Angelo.

Approval Voted For Farm Aid At Next Session

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP).—The senate agriculture committee today approved a concurrent resolution pledging congress to take up general farm legislation in the first week of the next session.

It was the belief among some committeemen that if congress adopted such a resolution President Roosevelt would agree to make crop loans this year.

The President, however, has indicated several times he possibly would not make loans until after enactment of farm legislation.

The resolution approved was introduced by Senator Bilbo of Mississippi.

Two 'Strong Men' Steering War In Current Japan-China Crisis

Konoye of Japan Inherited Duty Of Leadership

By NEA Service.
PRINCE FUMIMARO KONOYE, at 45 the youngest but one of all Japan's premiers, faces a tough job, for which he has had every possible preparation. He has family, position, education, training, the highest sponsorship, every advantage that could go to the conscious making of a leader.

Born of the Fujiwara line, for centuries close advisers of the emperor, Konoye became the head of his own distinguished family at 14. When a student at Kyoto Imperial University, he followed his father's precedent in seeking the advice and guidance of Prince Saionji, last of the Genro or Elder Statesmen.

In 1919 he accompanied that statesman as one of his staff at the Versailles peace conference. He married Chiyoko, daughter of Viscount Takatori Mori.

Made "Good-Will" tour to U. S.
At 30, Konoye was automatically elected to the House of Peers, and his activity and energy won him election as its head, a position held by his father before the Russo-Japanese War.

Konoye has always been interested in the United States, and in 1934 came to this country on a "good-will mission" as well as to visit his son Fumitaka, then a student at Lawrenceville School in New Jersey. Konoye's attractive personality won him many friends in the United States during that visit.

Ever since the military revolt of 1932 there has been pronounced political unsettlement in Japan, and it has been generally believed that the aging Prince Saionji had been waiting the parade of premiers go-by in succession, waiting for the proper time to produce his "ace" and protégé, Konoye.

Aside from the critical situation in China, into which the Japanese plunged more deeply immediately after his becoming premier early in June of this year, Konoye faces the difficult internal problem of reconciling the civil and military parties of Japan, and of achieving such economic reforms as will ally widespread discontent.

Earlier than most Japanese, distinctly handsome, youthful-looking and well informed on modern trends in today's world, Konoye weighs less than 150 pounds, and suffers from insomnia. His wife "rules me with a hand of iron," he once said, referring to her vigilant supervision over his diet.

Konoye has readily followed the Rooseveltian technique of direct and simple appeals to his people by radio, asking national unity.

Man Admits Part In Kidnap Death Of Young Mattson

LEMMON, S. D., Aug. 12 (AP).—Chief of Police Pat Jones said last night that a man giving his name as Floyd Hutchinson of Alliance, Neb., admitting taking part in the Charles Mattson kidnaping at Tacoma, Wash., last December.

The man, said by Chief Jones to fit the known physical description of the long-sought fugitive, was picked up by Jones on a vagrancy charge in a box car here.

Jones said Hutchinson told him he and another man called on Dr. Mattson to get narcotics last winter and a few days later kidnaped the 10-year-old youth.

After kidnaping the child, the chief quoted Hutchinson as saying, he and the other man took the boy to Everett, Wash., where they held him for ransom. Failing to collect, he said, the other man stabbed the boy in the back and threw dirt and leaves over the body and left for Alliance.

Shortly after they returned to Nebraska, Hutchinson told Jones the other man was arrested for cattle rustling and was sent to the Nebraska state penitentiary.

"PUBLICITY ATTEMPT"
SAYS DR. MATTSON
TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 12 (AP).—Dr. W. W. Mattson said Wednesday he had no recollection of any patient by the name of Floyd Hutchinson and could not recall having received any call for narcotics from a pair of men during December.

The physician, father of kidnap-slaying victim Charles Mattson, declared he believed the "confession" of Hutchinson, given at Lemmon, S. D., was "another publicity attempt," or simply the raving of a demented person.

Fumimaro Konoye

Chiang Kai-shek

Konoye is the first Japanese premier to take that office without previous service in the cabinet, and thus in a sense he "starts at the top." His wide travels and interests are reflected in his presidency of the International Cultural Relations Society.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK, China's "strong man", is today its president, his chief active military leader, virtually its dictator, though he dislikes the term and its implications.

Not quite 50 years old, Chiang has been a military man since the age of 18. He was born of a substantial middle-class family, 100 miles south of Shanghai, and was schooled in Chinese classics.

After a year in the Peiping Military Academy, Chiang was sent to Japan, where for years he studied at the Tokio Military Academy.

Leader in China's Revolution
Returning to China in 1911, he threw his lot in with the revolutionaries who were driving out the last of the Manchu emperors. Chiang became very close to Dr. Sun Yat Sen, "China's George Washington," serving as his secretary and confidential aid.

Chiang has never been in the western world, speaks almost no English. His wife, Mei-Ling Soong, Wellesley graduate whom he married in 1927, serves as his link to western culture. Daughter of one of China's ablest and most distinguished families, Miss Soong converted Chiang to Christianity and has been of the greatest service in his development. Though now regarded as very wealthy, Chiang puts on none of the "front" assumed by many Chinese military leaders. He talks little, is restless and keen, ruthless when necessary and when he has the power, yet diplomatic enough to have stayed longer at the top of the confused Chinese situation than any other modern leader.

Change in Line-up For Polo Games Is Announced Today

A change in the line-up of the Midland polo team for its engagements with the strong Wichita Falls four here Saturday and Sunday was announced today by manager Jay Floyd, who said that youthful Franklin Cowden would be unable to participate and that his place would be taken by Gus White of Lamess, sheriff of Dawson county.

White had already been listed as a substitute for the Midland team, and his elevation to a starting role is expected to maintain the strength of the club, possibly add to it as he is a veteran player boasting several years of experience. He will be at the number four position.

Floyd also announced that a public address system would be used for the benefit of the crowds in the stands during the games. The arrangement is expected to add much to the entertainment of spectators who are not "up" on polo playing.

Fred Fithman, in charge of ticket sales, announced today that the duets were going fast and that a crowd of over 1,000 persons at the matches was expected. Beginning today, tickets will be offered for sale at the Schaubauer cigar stand and by Homer Bleyer in the First National Bank. Other sites for the sale of tickets will be chosen by in the morning. The tickets are selling for only 40 cents each.

This afternoon, the body was to be taken to Colorado yesterday. Young Chaney came here about a year ago, after having served in a Civilian Conservation Corps camp at Sweetwater. An able athlete, he played on the local championship softball team which is due to compete in a national meet.

Hugo Black Is Designated by The President

Confirmation Held Up by Senators Burke, Johnson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt today named Senator Hugo Black, Alabama, to the supreme court, but immediate confirmation was blocked by Senators Burke, democrat of Nebraska, and Johnson, republican of California.

The Alabamian was named to succeed Willis Vandevanter, retired. He has been a leader in the administration's wage and hour legislation.

Black is 51 and has served in the senate since 1926.

Oil Operator of Big Spring Dies In Ector Accident

BIG SPRING, Aug. 12 (AP).—Oil fields, in the development of which he had spent practically all his adult life, were the setting of death Wednesday for Fred Read of Big Spring, widely known West Texas oil operator.

He was killed instantly at a well he was drilling in the South Penn field in Ector county, 23 miles southwest of Odessa, when a section of 10-inch oil pipe fell from a rack, crushing his head.

The mishap, according to reports received here, occurred about 7:30 a. m. Read's crew was running a final barrel. He stopped to pick up a piece of rope, stumbled and fell underneath a casing rack as the rope broke. The heavy casing fell on his head.

Members of the crew started toward Odessa with the body and were met by an ambulance. Mrs. Read and their son, Kenneth, notified in Big Spring of the accident, went to Odessa with several friends from here. They were due back during the afternoon. Read's body was to be returned here.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed.

Read was well known here, having had business dealings with several Midland men at various times.

Morgan Rail Trust Just a Memory as Holding Firm Dies

HOBOKEN, N. J., Aug. 12 (AP).—"I can't live forever," said J. P. Morgan, the elder, and J. P. Morgan & Company may be dissolved after I'm gone, so I wanted to put the Northern Pacific into a company with a capital so large that no one would ever again attempt to take away the control."

Thus did Morgan set forth the reason for creating the mighty $400,000,000 Northern Securities Company in the early autumn of 1901, erecting it from the ruins of the Northern Pacific panic.

In his organization the first of the great holding companies in this country, he vested control of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern, and thereby effected peace between the two magnates who had battled with millions for railroad supremacy in the West, James E. Hill and Edward H. Harriman.

Wednesday the last vestige of Morgan's railroad trust was erased from the record. The Northern Securities Company—its corporate structure made useless after the Supreme Court in 1904, invalidated it as a holding company for Great Northern and Northern Pacific—was dissolved at a special stockholders meeting.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. — The "Sugar Trust" lobbyists cry out that the President and his cabinet members seek to dictate to Congress. Administration experts cry back that the sugar lobby is dictating to Congress and controls more members than the administration.

The one sure thing about this sugar battle's outcome, whether F. D. R. takes another licking or not, is that the consumer will continue to pay through the nose, as usual. The consumer is the housewife who buys sugar at so much a pound. Usually she doesn't know that she and commercial users paid $350,000,000 more last year to protect an industry officially said to be worth $700,000,000.

Consumers are soaked on the outside by tariffs and on the inside by quota restriction. The world price for raw sugar last year was about $20 a ton, but the duty-paid price at New York for raw Cuban sugar was about $72 a ton. It is estimated that the average family pay $12.75 a year for the domestic industry's protection and many are impressed by the fact that the total so paid—$350,000,000—would buy up the protected industry's total investment within two years.

So far only one man in Congress has appeared with a plan designed to save the consumer that $350,000,000 a year and, least as he figures it, not actually hurt anybody. More of him later. He's licked. The consumer has no lobby.

Roosevelt Promises Veto.

THE fight has been over the question whether imports of refined sugar from Puerto Rico and Hawaii shall be kept down and the Cuban quota shall be reduced, both as to refined and raw. Refiners, backed by beet and some cane sugar producers, demand these restrictions and their lobbyists have jammed them through the House. Roosevelt, backed by five cabinet secretaries, holding that Hawaii and Puerto Rico are parts of the United States and taking the position that Cuba is part of our economic-political system and must be kept from chaos, promises to veto any bill containing such provisions.

Eastern sugar refiners, to whom Congressman Hope refers as "a sugar trust organized in 1887 and in continual conflict with the courts ever since" and whose Sugar Institute was held by the Supreme Court to be engaged in monopolistic practices on 40 separate counts, would be chief beneficiaries of the House bill. They have provided the backbone of the biggest sugar lobby operating here.

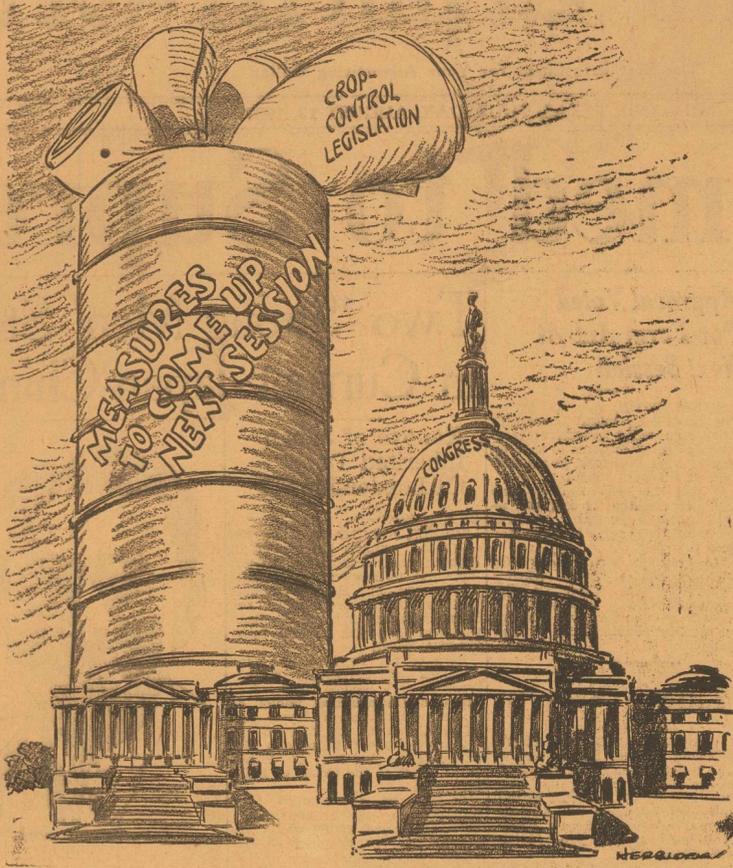

Urges Quota System.

THE pure consumer viewpoint has been urged only by Congressman H. Jerry Voorhis, 36-year-old Californian. A Yale graduate born in Kansas, Voorhis has been a Phi Beta Kappa man, official Y. M. C. A. good-will tourist in Germany, a Wyoming cowboy, freight-handler, automobile plant worker, headmaster of a boys' school and an Episcopal Church lay reader who announces his hobbies in the Congressional Record as "boys, baseball and American history."

Voorhis wants sugar production transferred from high-cost production areas to low cost areas under the quota system so that in time won't have to pay $350,000,000 a year for the privilege of keeping up sugar prices. Each year, under his proposed amendment for which he will continue to fight, a certain amount of high-cost-production tonnage quota would be reallocated to lowest-cost areas. High-cost producers would be compensated for quota reductions with proceeds of an increase of the sugar bill's proposed tax of from 50 to 75 cents per hundred pounds, which Secretary Wallace says would mean a retail price increase.

Each year 20 per cent of the "extra amount" consumers pay for tariff and quota protection would be used to retire, at full value, part of the investment in high-cost sugar production in protected areas. Producers, compensated for their investments, presumably would turn the land now producing sugar into other crops. Consumers in effect would be purchasing the right to have more of their sugar produced in areas which can supply them at lowest cost. Uneconomic production of sugar in areas least suited for the purpose gradually would decline.

Elimination of high cost production would make it possible to reduce protection costs greatly. Sugar with a fair profit might sell as low as 3 cents a pound—theoretically.

Whatever merit there may be to the Voorhis plan, the politicians and lobbyists are far from ready for it. And perhaps one consumer in a hundred thousand has heard about it.

Woman Director of The Films Shows She Knows Her Carrots

Dorothy Arzner, Hollywood's woman film director, rides the camera boom to get the angles on the shooting of "The Bride Wore Red."

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12 — Movies in the making: Director Dorothy Arzner is ready to film the final scene for "The Bride Wore Red." The setting is supposed to be a road in the Tyrol. Franchot Tone is seated in a cart. Joan Crawford stands beside Bambino, a donkey.

"Start!" says Miss Arzner. She never orders "Roll 'em" or "Spin 'em" in the off-hand manner of male directors. Miss Crawford starts. She says: "Ghillo, you've shown me how strong your love is, and how proud. You can't want me now..."

Tone smiles an answer, and holds out a hand. Miss Crawford hesitates an instant, then takes the hand and quickly is swung up beside him. He checks to the donkey, which doesn't move. "Takes a minute for him to make up his mind," grins Tone.

According to the script, Bambino is supposed to start on this cue. Instead, he sits down. Bambino is a movie donkey that once was taught to sit down in a picture, and he grew to like it.

"Cut!" says Miss Arzner. "Harry Edwards—the carrots!"

Edwards, the prop man, produces a bunch of carrots. Bambino scrambles to his feet. The scene is tried again, and this time the carrots are dangled just out of camera range, and Bambino moves on cue.

The camera follows the cart a little way, catching Tone and Miss Crawford as they laugh happily for the picture's fadeout.

"Good!" applauds the director. "How about a kiss?" asks Tone. "No!" says Miss Arzner firmly.

Tone steals one anyhow, off the record.

Frank Opinion.
A CASTING director is trying to persuade a picture director to accept a certain actor for a character role.

"Absolutely no!" protests the man who's trying to assemble a cast. "Why, that guy's so terrible I hear the government is going to remove the amusement tax from all his pictures."

Fall Guys.
On a set for "Madame X," the hurly-burly technique of the Marx Brothers is being adapted to heavy melodrama. Louis Alberni is the proprietor of a New Orleans honky-tonk cafe, Gladys George one of his hostesses.

A giant Russian, Adia Kugnetzoff, is a ship captain who has been buying too many drinks for Miss George.

When Alberni fires his hostesses for being drunk, the skipper picks him up, shakes him and throws him to the floor. At the same time the actress leans too heavily on one of the small tables, upsets it and several glasses, and falls down, too.

A very sloppy scene, and strenuous, because Director Sam Wood takes it 18 times before he's satisfied. But neither Miss George nor

Firemen to See Fiesta Mansion Burn

FORT WORTH, Aug. 12.—Particular interest in the "Gone With the Wind" scene of Casa Manana in which the southern mansion is destroyed by flames has been expressed in several letters of acceptance from members of fire departments who plan to attend the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta on Sunday, Aug. 15, which will be State Firemen's Day. More than 1,000 are expected.

Alberni is injured because three husky men already are high in the floor, just below the camera's line of vision, to catch them as they fall.

Under Fire.
THE custard pie era is revived in "Stand-In," only this time it's tomatoes. Prepared for pitching at the patriotic fans of Leslie Howard are 12 tomatoes, each one hollowed out and filled with ketchup—for a splashier effect.

When the shooting starts, 10 of them are wasted by a property man whose throwing aim is ruined by his awe of Mr. Howard. But Director Tay Garnett is not handicapped by temerity.

He seizes the eleventh tomato winds up and pitches. Schlopp!—and is Mr. Howard's face red!

The Planet Venus has no satellites.

RELIEVE DIZZY SPELLS OR MONEY BACK
She gives wonderful advice to women passing thru those 40 to 50 "critical years."

Mrs. L. B. writes: "I'm going thru changes of life and been having hot flashes, blood rushing to head. Also such sweats, perspiration would run from my body. After first few days of taking Kruschen I noticed a difference in my head, after I finished the first bottle, the flashes were getting further apart and the night sweats less. I and my friends swear by Kruschen."

If you want to help avoid headaches, dizziness, smothering spells, weakness, fits of depression—if you want to keep feeling more healthy and happy—up and about your work—take a third teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water first thing every morning.

Kruschen is a superb blend of 6 mineral salts, each with its own special work to do—kidneys, liver, gall bladder and bowels are helped kept functioning normally and when important body organs are working properly you may be sure there will be less constitutional agitation. It costs but little and if it doesn't help you wonderfully in a month—money back from Palace Drug or any modern druggist. (adv.)

A Book A Day

Victorian Era Novel Is Just Too Bulky

Compared to "Anthony Adverse" in Quality and Quantity

"And So—Victoria," by Vaughn Wilkins (Macmillan, $2.50), is a long lumbering historical novel, the events of which occur in the years between Victoria's birth and her accession to the throne of England. It was a period of royal plotting and scandal under the reigns of the Georges and Mr. Wilkins, it appears, has managed to throw in most of the plotting and scandal in his novel.

Basically, the plot concerns itself with the adventures of Christopher Harnish, a young idealist, instantly related to the royal family. Harnish finds himself involved, in addition to historical personages, Queen Caroline, William IV, etc., with a startlingly large number of imaginary characters, who are fairly well drawn.

The book opens with a good, unashamedly melodramatic plot to assassinate the child, Victoria, in which the young Christopher is unwittingly involved. From then on, however, with but few exceptions, the story goes from bad to worse.

One of the exceptions is the part across England by a group of children sold into slavery. For sheer horror this is unexcelled.

One of the chief faults of the book and one for which it is probably not in any way responsible, is its marked similarity to "Anthony Adverse." Frankly, it is "Anthony" in a different background, among different people, less well written. The principal mark against this novel is that there is too much of it. The real gift for story-telling possessed by the author is lost in a welter of words.—E. M. T.

Letters To Editor

Aug. 12, 1937.
 To our Representative, our Texas Game Commission, and the citizens of Midland county and surrounding counties:
 I am a resident of Midland and have been for fifty years. I have the say as to who hunts on three small pastures in Midland county and a 30 section pasture in Ward county, near Monahans; and believe we raise 5,000 doves on the pastures we have and there is never more than 100 doves killed on all those places during the season. WHY? Because the open season is not right. The season in this zone should be August 15—October 1st. About every third season the doves are gone by Sept. 1.
 WHY? When we have a rain between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15, it is usually a cold one and three-fourths of the doves leave. Ask any old-timer! You take the Pecos river as the west boundary, Upton county on the south and the north plains on the north and the Colorado river on the east and that area raises more than three-fourths of the doves of the state.
 Is it right that we raise these birds and central and south Texas get them? NO, you will say. Then make the season from August 15 to Oct. 1, and we will get our portion. Furthermore, the people will not readily violate the law.

If all game wardens in this section were instructed to circulate a petition to the voters of his district, three-fourths and I believe nine-tenths of them would sign it for the season to be from August 15 to October 1.
 I was one of the men in West Texas suggested to Turner Hubby when he was game commissioner to ask for a season and a limit on game in West Texas. The limit on doves was 15, on quails it was 12. The season was from August 15 to Oct. 1 on doves, October 1 to January 1 on quail.
 We raise these birds; why can't we have our portion? A few years ago a law was passed to close the season on quail, and five men—possibly 10—were all that knew about it when it was passed. Was that right? Again I say no.
 These men that had this law passed eat quail every year, but I haven't eaten one in three years. But I raise 150 or more of them each year. Think this over and ask any old-timer if I am not right.
 Yours very truly,
 J. Arthur Johnson.
 Editor's note: According to Mrs. Hal Peck, a member of the state game commission, the question of setting the opening of dove season is up to the U. S. Biological Survey. Neither the state commission or the state legislature has anything to do with setting the federal date. In fact, federal and state laws do not conform at present because of the state setting an earlier opening date.

Haven for Americans in Tientsin.

In absence of an American concession where United States nationals could find refuge from the terror of the land and air battle waged by the Japanese for control of Tientsin, the barracks, above, of the 15th U. S. Infantry, whose failure to aid in rescue work brought a protest from missionaries, was opened as a haven.

HARDWARE AND FORD WINNERS

HEAVY HITTING AFFAIRS TAKEN BY THE 2 CLUBS

In a couple of games last night that set scoring records which should withstand all challenges for a long time to come, the Midland Hardware and Ford clubs strengthened their positions on first and second places, respectively.

In one of the wildest affairs ever seen here, the Hardware finally nosed out the Sinclair crew by a score of what the scorekeeper finally decided was 25-23. Along with the 48 runs, there were 38 hits and 18 errors.

Not only was the scoring record for games broken, but the Sinclair set a new high for one inning when they came through with 14 tallies in the sixth frame. The Hardware came right back with six in their half, making a total of 20 for the inning, to sew up the game.

The Scharbauer Hotel crew made five runs in the first half of the first inning in their game with the Ford club last night but could hold it only for one inning as the V-8 boys found the range on Puckett early and continued to hit him hard all the way to easily come out ahead 23-13. Wright won his second game in as many nights, but was nearly as puzzling to the hotel boys, who rapped two homers in the first inning, as he was to the Hardware the night before. Only the heavy clouting of his mates allowed him to come through.

The Hardware and KRLH clubs will meet tonight in the first game, the Sinclair and Ford clubs meeting the late affair.

Buick to Broadcast The Louis-Farr Fight

PLINT, Mich.—Buick has signed a contract with the National Broadcasting Company to broadcast the next world's heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis and Tommy Farr at the Yankee Stadium, New York, Thursday, Aug. 26.

As was the case in the recent Louis-Braddock battle in Chicago, the Flint motor manufacturer probably will command the entire facilities of both NBC chains, the Red and Blue networks.

Both fighters are now in training, Champion Louis at Pompton Lakes, New Jersey, and the English title holder, at Long Branch, New Jersey. This is the fourth broadcast of a major heavyweight ring event

The PAYOFF

By RICHARD McCANN

NEA Service Sports Writer
An awkward, bashful boy, playing his first game for the Washington Nationals one day four years ago, knocked out five straight hits. It was, to say the least, a rather brilliant beginning for one who had never seen a major league ball park and who hadn't seen a pair of baseball shoes until two years before.

So the dutiful sports writers hustled down to the dressing room of the visiting Cleveland Indians to find out what the opposing pitchers thought of the bright young man.

"Aw," said Willis Hudlin who had been rapped for three of the hits, "I don't think he'll be able to keep that up."

Mr. Hudlin's guess was good. Cecil Travis, the rookie, wasn't able to keep it up. Eventually, the American League pitchers got him out.

But, of late, he's been doing his damndest to maintain the original pace he set and this season he's been harder to put out than an oil field fire.

Up There at Last.

Today finds Cecil threatening to live up to a prediction his teammates have been voicing ever since he came up from Chattanooga of the Southern League early in 1933—that is, that he would some day lead the American League in hitting.

"One of the best bets I can think of," said Manager Bucky Harris a year ago, risking an investigation by Judge Landis for uttering the word bet, "is that Travis will lead the league in hitting if he plays regularly."

Unfortunately, Travis, shifted from third base to shortstop, wasn't quite alert enough in the field to handle the shortstop chores and he was moved around from short to third to second to left field to right field, and his hitting suffered.

But this season it has been a steed of a different hue. Playing regularly at shortstop, young Travis is giving Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio quite a battle for hitting honors.

After a poor start caused by a twisted knee, Travis has been banging the ball well over the 400 mark in the past month or so and his average has been boosted to around .370.

Unlike Gehrig and DiMaggio, Travis is not a slugger. His hits have little loft to them and seldom go for extra bases. They are sharp line drives over the infield—usually over short.

Weak in the Field.

Travis has to hit to hold his job. He could never get by on his work in the field because he is rather clumsy and quite unthinking.

He has none of Lyn Larry's agility, none of Dick Bartell's get-up-and-go, none of Joe Cronin's wisdom, none of Lippy Durocher's speed. Sharply hit grounders which other fielders would scoop up scot past him. And he's a little slow on double plays.

But in his defense it must be said that he has one of the best arms in the game and a sure pair of hands. Once he gets ahold of a ball there's no sense you running it out.

He's not a colorful player. He's so bashful that he seems to be apologizing for his presence and he never lets a peep out on the field. He has never complained to an umpire and has never had words with another player.

This is most strange because his first baseball teacher was the old Tabasco Kid himself, Norman Elberfeld. The Tabasco Kid was such a pepper box himself that he'd punch his mother in the nose if she called a wide one a strike.

He's in One Fight.

The Keed, who instructed Travis at a baseball school in Atlanta, would never have stood for Earl Whitehill's ragging the way Cecil did. The Earl, you know, when with Washington, publicly abused Travis for his fielding and finally refused to pitch when the rookie was in the lineup.

"It's a shame," said Manager Harris one day, "the way that Whitehill rides him. I've told Travis that any time he wants to he can have it out with Earl. I think Travis would be a much better player if he'd hop Earl once."

Thus it was this spring that Clark Griffith, Travis' boss, caused considerable comment by suggesting that the shortstop start acting up. "I wish," Griffith wrote at contract time to the Georgia farmer, "I wish that you would get into a couple of fights this year."

Travis, it is presumed, hopes that Mr. Griffith is satisfied with him getting into one fight—the fight for the American League batting championship.

Deer a Visitor On Llano Streets

LLANO, Tex. (AP)—A large doe came to town recently but after an exciting day was returned to its native habitat in the arms of the law. It left behind a record as Llano's most unusual visitor of the vacation season.

The doe was first noticed in the early morning and was seen in the residential section at intervals during the day. About dusk it was found in the backyard of the W. H. Wallace home where Wallace and some of his neighbors tried to catch it.

In the chase the frightened animal became entangled in a barbed wire fence and was badly cut on the neck. A physician took a number of stitches in the wound and gave the visitor the best medical attention. The doe's exciting experiences ended when Sheriff E. L. Stewart carried it back safely to the nearby woods.

It is thought the animal was run into town by dogs.

Veteran Dotted By Schrapnel
KECKEOMET, Hungary. (UP)—An X-ray picture revealed that a healthy war veteran, Ladislaus Cseh, carries 50 pieces of schrapnel in his body. The weight of these pieces was estimated at half a pound.

GIANT PUNCH

Outfielder Wally Berger, obtained from Boston Bees in a June trade, has given New York Giants much-needed punch. His big bat, driving in an average of one run a game, has kept the Terrymen in the thick of the National League pennant fight.

Gridiron Gets Flood Lights.

BOZEMAN, Mont. (UP)—Flood lighting equipment is being installed at Gatten field of Montana State College, Bozeman, and will be ready for the opening of the 1937 season. All freshman games will be played under lights this fall, and it is possible that one regular college game will be played at night.

Speed With Safety Urged.

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Dr. Miller McClintock, director of the Bureau of Street Traffic Research at Harvard, has a new idea for relieving traffic congestion. Instead of decreasing speed limitations, McClintock suggests that highways be provided so that cars can get in and out of a city at the rate of 60 miles an hour.
