The Life Story of Senator Hugo L. Black

Alabama Lawyer's Rise to Top True "Success Story"

This is the first of two intimate stories on Hugo Black, nominee for the U. S. Supreme Court revealing new facts on the early life and Senatorial record of the Roosevelt choice.

By NEA Service.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 16.—It was from a budding career in the study of medicine that Hugo Lafayette Black turned to the career of law and politics that won him nomination for the world's most powerful court.

When Black was a boy growing up in the hills of Clay county in eastern Alabama, it was understood that he would study medicine and join the established practice of his favorite brother, Orlando. So at 13, Hugo went to Birmingham Medical College at his brother's expense, completing a two-year course in a year. Then he made the decision that may considerably affect American history.

He told his brother: "I was not born to be a doctor. I want to study law, and I am going to study law." Brother Orlando was sporting enough about it to help him to attend Alabama Law School. In two years Black earned his law degree with honors in what was usually a three-year course.

So at 21 he hung out his shingle in Ashland, the old home town. Farmers and business men seemed to like Hugo. But business was bad. Later he recalled, "They would say I was a bright boy, but they would not give me any cases."

Prospects were quite bad enough when his office burned down. That convinced Black that there was no future in Ashland. With $9 in his pocket he came to Birmingham. He lived in cheap boarding houses, where men bunked four to a room. He knocked at doors of established lawyers, asking for desk space. At times he didn't eat any too regularly.

What Hugo Black calls "my first break" came when he took the case of Willie Morton, a colored convict who had been kept prisoner 22 days after his sentence had legally ended. Morton got $150 in damages; Black got $37.50.

Politics had always interested Black, who remembers an election held in Ashland when he was 9. And so, when he was 24 years old, Black was chosen judge of municipal court. He sat on the bench for 18 months, grinding out the grist of petty thievery and drunks that pass through police court, that primary contact between the people and the law.

Jails were crowded with prisoners charged with petty offenses. Court dockets were choked. Black decided to run for county solicitor. In an old model T, he toured the rural districts electioneering, and then at 29 he was county attorney.

His first act was to nolle prosequi 500 cases against petty offenders. His next was to launch a campaign against professional gamblers and bootleggers. In a year his office was up to docket. His rigorous prosecutions cleaned up "Bloody Beat" near Lewisburg, where for years there had been a bloody brawl every Saturday night.

In 1917 Black resigned to enter the army. Three times he received his overseas orders, but each time he was sent back as an instructor, so despite 28 months' service in the field artillery, he never reached France.

He was Captain Black when he returned to Birmingham at the end of 1919. There he met at a party a girl wearing the uniform of a navy yeomanette. She was Josephine Foster, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Sterling J. Foster.

Today they are married, and today there are Hugo, Jr., 15, enrolled at Florida Military Academy at St. Petersburg; Sterling Foster, 13, who wants to be a lawyer, and Martha Josephine, 3 1/2, who romps with her senatorial father for an hour every morning before he goes to the office.

After the war, Black resumed law practice in Birmingham. For eight years he built up a steadily-increasing general practice. A New Senator From Alabama.

Early in 1925 he started laying the groundwork for a race for the U. S. Senate. He had thought of the state legislature, but the political situation seemed to open the way to bigger game, and Black decided to shoot straight for the U. S. Senate.

FDR Choice For Court Approved

Senate Committee Favors Nomination Of Senator Black

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (AP)—The senate judiciary committee today approved the supreme court nomination of Senator Black of Alabama, the democratic majority voting down all proposals for delay and agreeing to report the nomination favorably at once.

Democratic leaders planned to call the matter up in the senate tomorrow for confirmation.

Opposition to Black's confirmation initiative developed Senator White, Maine republican, arguing on the senate floor that Black was not constitutionally eligible.

The house agricultural committee recommended adoption of the senate resolution fixing farm legislation for the first week of the next session. The house appropriations committee recommended a $78,502,000 deficiency bill, minus appropriations for farm tenancy.

Senator Bridge (R-NH) served notice that opponents of the nomination for the supreme court to the Supreme Court will demand full public discussion before the Senate acts on President Roosevelt's appointment.

Black himself, Bridges contended, was "one of the chief men who made an investigation" of another nominee for the supreme court bench, Federal Judge John J. Parker of Charlotte, N. C., who was nominated by President Hoover in 1930.

The Senate rejected the nomination after labor leaders, including William Green and John L. Lewis attacked Parker's record. Green and Lewis are now pressing for the confirmation of Black.

Despite opposition to Black, there still was little doubt the Senate would confirm him possibly soon after it begins consideration of the nomination Tuesday.

Boy Enters 'Poison Plot' Mystery

Bright, mentally alert Oscar Hahn, right above, 11-year-old son of Anna Marie Hahn, Cincinnati woman held for investigation in the alleged "poison plot" deaths of five persons, may become one of the chief witnesses in the case. Philip J. Hahn, left, Mrs. Hahn's husband, told police that the bottle of dysentery poison discovered in his locker at work was found by Oscar at home.

Women, Kids Moved Today By Marines

General Exodus From Stricken City Begun By Citizens of U. S.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 16. (AP)—American women and children passed safely through a shell fire of Japanese and Chinese air, artillery and land battle today and began an officially ordered exodus from this stricken city.

Shell fragments tore the decks and roofs from the tender carrying 200 Americans to the home-bound liner President Taft. More will leave tomorrow and Wednesday on other ships.

The President Roosevelt, bringing United States Marine reinforcements from Manila, can carry 1,000 Americans from Shanghai about the end of the week. Arrangements are being made in Manila to care for them.

A massed fleet of Chinese warplanes brought the conflict into the heart of Shanghai again this morning, after a dawn attack by Japanese, and indications were that the fighting was increasing in extent and ferocity.

United States Marines and blue-jackets began landing from the U. S. S. Augusta, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, to protect American lives endangered by the battle raging on land and water and in the air between the two nations.

"Sonny" Lamb Slain By Arkansas Cops

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 16. (AP)—Police raiders in a fusillade of shots, last night killed a man described as Alfred "Sonny" Lamb, 26, Texas fugitive wanted in Huntsville and Richmond, Tex., for questioning in connection with a killing.

Allred offers $500 dollar reward for tar, feather mob

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (AP)—Governor Allred today offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person implicated in harrasing and feathering Herbert Harris, socialist organizer, in Dallas last week.

The governor termed the incident a "shameful thing," and asserted "we are not going to allow flogging and tarring business in Texas again—there was too much in Dallas county during Ku Klux Klan days."

Cattle Sales Climb; Calf Contracts on Increase for Fall

Movement of cattle and contracts for calves for fall delivery have been active during the past week. Hill and Pittman of Hereford received and shipped from Odessa the 85 head of steer and heifer yearlings recently bought from the McElroy Ranch Co.

They also bought from Foy Proctor 300 head of steer yearlings, receiving them at the local pens and trucking them northward. They bought from O. B. Holt two loads of fat cows. All of the cattle, approximately 1,200 head, will be placed on pastures near Hereford where grass still is in strong condition despite a few dry weeks.

Jennings Bros. of Livermore, Ia., bought from Mabee & Pyle 600 head of heifer yearlings, also two loads of steer yearlings, shipping them from Midland. They bought from Frank Cowden 300 head of heifer yearlings, one load of cows and one load of bulls. They also bought from Roy Parks 108 head of two year old heifers.

Deals in calves for fall delivery were gaining momentum. Hill and Pittman of Hereford contracted 1,000 head, with 500 to come from Ratliff and Hurt of Odessa, 250 from Jay McGee and 250 from Clark Bros. of Odessa. Both steers and heifers were taken in all three deals.

Foy Proctor bought the heifer calf crop of the C Ranch, or Midland Farms Co., also the short steers Roy Parks having previously contracted the steer calf crop.

Proctor also bought the steer and heifer calf crop of George Ratliff and Guy Cowden. Parks sold to Solt of Denver his heifer calf crop, for fall delivery.

The high prices were not made public in the above deals, it was rumored that heifer calves had sold for from seven and a half to eight cents, with steer calves going at from eight cents to nine and a quarter.

Grand Jury Indicts Mrs. Hahn On 2 Murder Counts

CINCINNATI, Aug. 16. (AP)—After receiving evidence in what Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcalt termed the "biggest mass murder in this country," a grand jury today indicted Mrs. Anna Hahn, 31-year-old mother, on two charges of murder.

Police Sunday surveyed a list of eleven deaths covering eight years, and Lieut. George W. Schatle of the homicide squad said they all lead, directly or indirectly, to Anna Hahn.

Three mysterious illnesses also were under investigation.

Mrs. Hahn, held since Tuesday and charged with the poison slaying of George Gsellman, 67, declared her innocence.

Assistant Prosecutor Frank J. Gusweiler said in the absence of Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcalt, he will present to the grand jury evidence in more than one case.

One half-emptied bottle of a violent purgative oil was turned over to police by Mrs. Hahn's husband, Philip. Another bottle, which Schatle said had contained a deadly metallic poison, was found in the blonde's home.

Ordovician Markers Topped Today by Two Deep Wildcats in Western Crane

WESTERN CRANE'S Ordovician production area held the spotlight today as two tests found the oldest markers. Loffland Brothers No. 3 and J. B. Tubbs, deep wildcat a mile and a half east of Gulf No. 5 Waddell, record West Texas Ordovician production outside the Big Lake field in Reagan, with a potential of 8,179 barrels a day, natural, today is coring line at 5,869 feet, with a slight show of oil logged at 5,851. With elevation of 2,540, it topped the Simpson, middle Ordovician, at 5,790 and the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, at 5,802.

Extreme thinning of the Simpson section was evident, that in the Gulf No. 5 Waddell having been 160 feet in thickness as compared to only 12 feet in the Loffland well. The Gulf Nos. 4 and 5 Waddell found their flush production at or near the Simpson-Ellenburger contact, Loffland No. 3 Tubbs is located 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 9.

Sinclair-Prarie et al. No. 2 Tubbs Community, test one-half mile northeast of Gulf No. 5 Waddell, today was credited by some with having topped the Simpson at 5,843, subsurface datum of 3,290. On the marker, it is running 30 feet low to Gulf No. 5 Waddell, which topped Simpson at 5,806, datum of minus 3,260. The Community test had a show of oil near the base of the Permian, at 5,785-90. It is 2,310 feet from the south and 330 feet from the west line of section 9.

Drilling continued at 5,852 feet.

The Superior Oil Company No. 1 Todd, Crockett deep test, yesterday afternoon had drilled to 7,940 feet in line and shale.

Bolago and Bond No. 1 J. L. West, Yoakum wildcat eight miles west of the Bennett pool, this morning was coring line at 5,187 feet. At See (OIL NEWS) Page 4

Scattered Rains, Cool Winds Bring Relief to Texas

By Associated Press.

Many Texans spent a comfortable Sunday night for the first time in weeks last night as scattered showers and cool winds brought temporary respite from the heat.

Dr. Joseph L. Cline, United States Weather Bureau head at Dallas, was not optimistic, however, despite his prediction of scattered showers in the east and local showers in parts of West Texas. He said the hot spot in the Dakotas was expected to radiate to Texas.

Unconfirmed reports stated that between one-half and one inch of rain fell between Lamesa and Tahoka last night. Other reports said rain varying from showers to a half-inch fell around Andrews and Seminole.

American Federation Of Labor Seeking To Organize Farmers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (AP)—The American Federation of Labor intends to start a counter-attack on CIO organizing efforts among agricultural and white collar workers.

William Green, A. F. of L. president, announced Sunday he would set up federation councils in both fields to correlate drives against the Committee for Industrial Organization, headed by John L. Lewis.

So far there has been no National A. F. of L. organization among either agricultural or white collar workers. A. F. of L. members in each group were taken into locals directly affiliated with the federation.

A group of these in each field repeatedly has applied for a national union charter, but the federation has turned them down on the ground that the unions were not strong enough for independence.

Lewis' invasion of this territory with the United Agricultural and Cannery Workers and the United Office and Professional Workers prompted the federation to fight back.

Midland Completes Clean Sweep of 2-Day Polo Series

Wichita Falls put on full steam Sunday afternoon in an effort to even the polo series with a fast foursome representing Midland, only to lose the second and final game by the score of 8 to 4. A crowd of 1,500 enthusiastic spectators flocked into the grandstand at Midland Fair park and cheered lustily for both sides as spectacular shots, superb horsemanship and thrilling action were demonstrated throughout the six-chucker game.

Saturday afternoon, the first game between the two teams resulted in a 9-5 win for Midland.

It was the first polo played here for ten years and the local promoters brought the outstanding team of the south, the Wichita Falls aggregation, opposing it with a picked team of players from Midland, Clovis, Lamesa, and Lubbock.

Jay H. Floyd, captain of the Midland quartet, stood out as one of the state's best as he accounted for four of the Midland goals and led several when Wichita Falls threatened to score. However, the able team work of Gus White, Lamesa sheriff, Myrl Jewell of Clovis, A. C. Woodward of Lubbock and Spencer Barron of Lamesa who alternated with Woodward, made possible the win for Midland.

The visitors spotted Midland two goals through higher handicap rating of their players. Floyd made four, Jewell one and White one.

For Wichita Falls, Captain Horace Robbins was the leading scorer, with two goals, with able assistance from Billy Skidmore, Luther Weeks and the alternating No. 4 men, Red Harding and Eric Barron of Lamesa.

Fred Fuhrman, Midland oil man who handled the business end of the match, said today that it was a financial success. He declared that the game was to prove that polo can be played and financially supported at Midland and he feels now that a permanent club can be formed.

Chas. Featherstone, the veteran No. 4 man of the visiting club, did not appear in the line-up Sunday but greatly aided the spectators by announcing the game through the loud speaker, keeping the crowds posted play by play, interpreting referee's rulings and interspersing much humor into his announcements.

The Wichita Falls team, winners of more southwestern championships than any other team, was given credit for adding greatly in renewing the polo interest here. They came here for a reasonable fee, bringing their horses and attendants and giving the fast assembled team here a strong fight both days. Accustomed to a faster field, the new layout here slowed them somewhat. They also were without the services of Ernest Fain, one of their best players and one of the best mounted polo players in the state.

Organization of Polo Club to Be Undertaken Tonight

Actual organization of a polo club here probably will be undertaken tonight, with election of officers and forming of plans for membership and activities. Those interested in seeing the club perfected, whether desiring to play actively or merely to foster the sport, are advised to get in touch with Fred Fuhrman, Jay Floyd, Clarence Scharbauer, Chappell Davis, or Marion Fyatt.

No decision has been made yet as to when the next games will be played.

Cecil Hodges, here today from Crane, said a club was being formed there, with M. L. Patterson of the Phillips Petroleum Co., at the head.

Plainview, Clovis, Wichita Falls, Lamesa, Lubbock and San Angelo can put a club on a field at any time and it is believed that the time is ripe for organization of a foursome here.

Interest of the general public was demonstrated Sunday when 1,500 spectators sat in the grandstand for the second game with Wichita Falls.

A REAL PRICE PROBLEM

Rising prices have been anticipated for several months, as a result of strikes, increased wages, wider employment and other factors involving more complicated phases of the law of demand and supply.

In some localities, higher prices already have come, the housewife noticing them in food costs, the husband perhaps in buying coal. It is possible that even children have felt the effects, indirectly, at least.

But the real problem didn't rear its ugly head until auto makers announced price increases, effective at once in some cases. With the rise in rent, food or apparel costs, a lot of individual grumbling is heard. But raise the price of a car, and you get a chorus from the whole family.

It seems that, along with food, shelter and clothing, the auto has taken its place as one of the necessities of life.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. — Senator Hugo Black's appointment to the Supreme Court is Roosevelt's latest and most conspicuous challenge to the south's economic-political system and to the southern bloc in Congress which have most persistently opposed his 1937 program.

The appointment was practically decided upon late in the evening of Aug. 11, but not finally until the next morning, when it was sent to the senate. It was kept a secret because Roosevelt confided almost exclusively throughout his deliberations with Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, who is one of the best secret-keepers in town.

Runners-up in the order named were Solicitor General Stanley Reed, Donald Richberg and Judge Sam Brerton of New Mexico. The appointment was shot into the senate so early because southern Democratic members of the House rules committee had tied up the wage-hour bill and because southern senators were starting a filibuster against the anti-lynching bill which would endanger Roosevelt's whole battered program.

Political Maneuvering. STANLEY REED, a Kentuckian, probably would have been selected if there had not been a Justice-McReynolds-sitting from the judicial circuit whence Reed comes. Black's judicial district contains six southern states with a population of 16,000,000. The fact that the relatively mild and courtly Reed's appointment would have been more likely to help along the resignation of Justice Sutherland than appointment of the aggressively liberal Black was carefully weighed.

But in the end Roosevelt decided that it would most advance his cause to appoint the one military liberal southern senator, to encourage those in the south who want to reconstruct its economic system which some southerners and most New Dealers tend to regard in part as an "economic sweat-shop for northern capital."

He saw an opportunity also to encourage his liberal followers everywhere by an appointment "which would assure them that he was not compromising in his leftward program and would make plain that he

In effect, Roosevelt played politics with the appointment. But it should be remembered that every one in Washington, from the President down and perhaps even sometimes including Supreme Court justices, play politics with anything he can get his hands on.

A Bogey Interred.

OTHER considerations included the improbability of confirmation trouble, since the Senate could hardly turn down a senator or its southern members turn against a fellow southerner. Chief points against Black are that he has a strong liberal record in recent years, that he was originally elected with Ku Klux Klan backing, that he failed to disclose anything like the full findings of his lobby investigation which flared so sensationally.

Although some are now calling him wild and radical, and as a southern chairman of the Senate labor committee he was incautious enough to sponsor a wage-hour bill on the theory that higher living standards would revive the south, Roosevelt is said to be impressed by his "sound, cautious approach" to problems.

One also learns that Roosevelt sought to lay at rest the bogey raised by senatorial opponents who insisted they would never permit confirmation of any senator who had favored the court plan.

Black had been under terrific heat both here and at home. It is most important to remember that Roosevelt is willing to stir up masses of people in the south to the point where they will unseat some of their present conservative officials and elect those whom the President thinks would more truly represent them.

Battle Waxes Hotter.

HEAVEN knows what the effects of his effort will be, although there would be no such effort had southern members been more obedient to his desires. The fact that old-line leaders can be upset has been proved by the late Huey Long and Bilbo of Mississippi. Some of them are badly worried.

Roosevelt's week-end trip with the TaFolettes, his virtually scornful refusal to attend the Democratic senatorial "Harmony" dinner and the appointment of Black all point to the same thing—that Roosevelt considers himself the leader of his party and will fight to purge it of those lesser leaders who feel he is trying to lead them into dangerous paths and whom he thinks have no right in the party unless they follow his leadership. The battle waxes hotter every day.

Fall Wardrobe Is To Be English

PORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.)—Fashions for American women this fall will show a definite Coronation influence, displays at the recent National Fashion Exhibitors convention here indicated.

Hardly an item in midlady's fall wardrobe will escape the touch of England's spectacular Coronation of King George VI. Fashion experts declared that English dominates both color and texture changes next season.

Coats are designed in richer fabrics, with the trend toward cloth rather than fur. For the more gala occasions, some coats are trimmed in Persian lamb, blue or silver fox fur.

From the military pomp that surrounded the Coronation has come a tendency toward squared shoulder design, with padded rather than puffed shoulders. Tailored clothes are even more military with double-breasted coats that are belted in the back.

The English influence extends to collars, the styles revealed, with smaller collars or none at all and seaming, stitching, and wetting needlework that smacks of London.

Tailored suits still promise to be modish, with most attention given to the jacket. Two-tone combinations with either plaid jacket or skirt are recommended by designers. The masculine influence ex-

Elma Jean Noble Returns From Camp Mystic

Elma Jean Noble has returned from Camp Mystic where she has been for the past month. While there she took archery, tennis, swimming, arts and crafts, dancing, dramatics, and horseback riding. In dramatics she had a special part in the play, "The Princess and the Swineherd," which she portrayed with much talent, according to her teacher.

She rode in the horse show at the close of camp and was in the water carnival which featured "Cinderella."

At the final camp fire, Elma Jean received a "K" for being a loyal camper in the Kiowa Tribe. This is a coveted letter and entitles the owner to have a sweater.

Compact Rain Shedders

The waterproofing of lightweight fabrics, such as silk, has reached a stage of perfection where it is possible to obtain light, durable, rainy weather sports garments at quite low cost. Modern waterproofed silk is so flexible that no amount of folding can crack it. It is completely non-porous, may be washed or boiled with affecting its waterproof qualities, resists most acids and alcohol and will not crack or peel. It comes in a wide variety of colors, made up into light compact garments for sportsmen. There are short golf jackets and full suits, jacket and trousers. The latter weighs only 15 ounces. A brand new idea is a parka suit, made with a hood that covers the head and fits snugly about the face, giving overall protection for boating, fishing, camping and similar activities. Most garments come in a small carrying pouch easily stowable in tiny space.

Next week a group of Midland men will be asked to go out and visit towns over a large part of West Texas and New Mexico, if you can spare a day with your car or along with other men, check with Bill Collins at the chamber of commerce and help out on this big advertising job.

I have a letter this morning from a local person who has plans for starting a nudist colony here. Apparently he got the idea from the women bicycle riders, as he says they are "wearing less every day." Several people are lined up as

More Coronation finery is noted in women's formal wear. Shimmering surfaces of lustrous satins and ribbons are used. Borders and bands encrusted with sequins, rhinestones, and other sparkling effects are popular. Waistlines are lower, more slender and sometimes belted.

Whether the men like it or not, the brims on women's hats are wider for the fall and the crowns a little higher. Turbans reflecting the Indian princes who attended the Coronation have been modified for the feminine taste.

Accessories have an even wider variety than usual. Gloves, flowers and feathers will be the mode again for the well-dressed woman.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything!)

If polo doesn't become a fixture at Midland now, it won't be because of lack of public interest. The games Saturday and Sunday proved that he fans here will take to the game in a big way. The crowd almost doubled Sunday over what it was Saturday. The Wichita Falls team tried hard but the team which Jay Floyd assembled was too tough. More local men will be coming out for polo now, without doubt, and some fast games should be played here in the near future.

Meanwhile, don't forget the big rodeo September 4-5-6 at Midland Fair arena. Wider interest is being taken each day by people all over the country and the rodeo should draw attendance from a bigger territory than on the two previous occasions. The labor day holiday is very much in our favor and if we don't get the crowds it will be because we haven't taken advantage of the opportunity to properly advertise it.

Next week a group of Midland men will be asked to go out and visit towns over a large part of West Texas and New Mexico, if you can spare a day with your car or along with other men, check with Bill Collins at the chamber of commerce and help out on this big advertising job.

I have a letter this morning from a local person who has plans for starting a nudist colony here. Apparently he got the idea from the women bicycle riders, as he says they are "wearing less every day." Several people are lined up as Charley Featherstone, the "grand old man" of polo, stayed off of his horse and did the announcing Sunday, much to the enjoyment of the spectators and much to their help in understanding all about the game. He kidded Clarence Scharbauer for offering some sponsors a pair of dun horses, saying that up around Wichita Falls all the dun horses are worked to wagons or plows.

We might tell Charley that in this part of the country they work the paints to wagons and plows. Any farmer with a paint horse uses him to ride to town on a Saturday. But I noticed that Charley used a paint for his top mount.

Masks for Pollen. Hayfever sufferers may soon go around looking like European citizens indulging in one of their frequent gas mask drills if a new device designed to relieve the suffering sneezers lives up to its claims. The gadget is actually a mask which fits over the nose and mouth and purifies the inhaled air of pollen and other irritants. Designed primarily for hay fever and seasonal asthma victims, it is also recommended to housewives sensitive to dust, gardeners and factory workers.

What with work-hour laws, collective bargaining, and the approach of Labor Day, honest toil is taking on a new dignity. The workers are growing fashion-conscious. What the day-laborer will wear is on display in store windows and includes two-toned socks, pliant high black shoes with white soles, cotton gloves with ribbed wrists, slacks and jackets in contrasting shades, and there is even a made-up leather tie which is washable and as durable as a government job.

Americans Buy Fake Top Hats.

LONDON (U.P.)—At least 24 Americans who came to London for the Coronation bought top hats they believe were once worn by the Duke of Windsor. A daring swindler, it has been revealed, bought two dozen second-hand "toppers," cleaned, pressed and stitched new leather bands with the royal crest on them. Then he sold them as "one of the Duke of Windsor's top hats."

Plumbers' Minds Plumber.

SALT LAKE CITY (U.P.)—Utah plumbers had to remember to bring all of their tools to a state examination before they could practice their trade in the state. Each plumber has to pass tests in lead work, plans and charts, and a written examination of 20 questions covering sanitation, ventilation, and public health before he can receive a state license.

The lightning rod was invented in 1754.

Collie Escorts Postman.

MINNEAPOLIS (U.P.)—Serving under his own appointment and acting without compensation, Laddie, a young collie dog, takes personal charge of mail deliveries in the district in which his owner lives. For years the dog has met the district postman twice daily at the point where the mail carrier gets off the street car and escorts him around the entire route.

Horace Greeley, famed for his "Go west, young man" phrase, was born Feb. 3, 1811.

Radio Institute to Be Held at Texas U.

AUSTIN, Texas.—The first radio institute ever to be held this far south is scheduled for today in the Geology Building auditorium at the University of Texas, according to an announcement by B. H. Darrow, founder and director of the Ohio School of the Air at Columbus, who has been instrumental in arranging the Austin program. Dr. Darrow is a visiting professor on the summer faculty of the university where he has been conducting classes in radio education and a radio workshop. Sample broadcasts, talks on radio in the classroom, reports of radio education activities in other states and countries and an address by the radio station executive are highlights of the program which will be divided into two sessions, from 9 to 11:30 o'clock in the morning and from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The institute is to be held under the auspices of the Division of Extension of the university. Numerous agencies, including the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, the State Department of Education, the Federated Women's Clubs, and the State Teachers' Association, are cooperating with the Extension Division in the project. All persons interested in radio, and especially in its educational aspects, are invited to attend the institute and participate in discussions.

Signals Heard From 6 Missing Airmen

FIRST ENTRY FOR DISTRICT SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT HERE REGISTERED TODAY

The first entry for the district softball tournament to be held here August 23 was received today when A. J. Burnett of Wickett announced he was entering his Gulf Oilers in the tourney here.

The Wickett entry is conceded to be one of the toughest clubs in West Texas, having made a walk away with the Pecos city league. At least twice this season Wickett pitchers have come through with no-hit, no-run games in league competition and have spread eagled the rest of the clubs all year.

The club is reported to rely mostly on a couple of "windmill" hurlers that are able to keep opposing players from getting on base, biding their time until their mates can wear down opposing pitchers for enough runs to win.

Several other entries are expected to be made this week from towns in this district. Appointment of Midland as a site for the district tournament and naming of a district commissioner here delayed mailing out the entry blanks to teams of the district but the winner is expected to take part in the state tournament to be held in Overton Sept. 1-8.

RA Loan Program for Next Year Assured

AMARILLO, Aug. 16.—The Resettlement Administration's loan program during 1937-1938 for the benefit of farmers in the five-state area embraced by Region XII, will be continued very much as it was in the past year, Regional Director L. H. Hauter, announced this week. "We shall continue to emphasize the making of sound loans," Hauter said, "because unless we make only loans which farmers may reasonably expect to repay, we are not placing them in a position where they can be rehabilitated, and thus we would fail to reach our objective."

Mindful of existing problems in the Southern High Plains Dust Bowl area, Hauter said special care will be taken to extend loans in order to bring about a proper adjustment of land use and the establishment of economically sound land units. This is particularly true, he pointed out, in those areas where the moisture and physical conditions of the soil create a special problem.

Hauter said the Resettlement Administration has adopted a policy to withhold loans this fall for wheat production in those areas where insufficient moisture exists at seeding time, or where certain other factors create an added hazard.

Queen Anne granted a patent to Henry Mill, English engineer, for "an artificial machine or method for the impressing or transcribing of letters." This is said to be the first recorded invention of an automatic writing machine, or typewriter.

best horses from the ranch, putting up a strong game both days. Some of the ponies were green but well schooled and he was never out of the play, working the No. 3 position.

Meryl Jowell, former member of the cowboy team here, brought three excellent mounts from his ranch near Clovis. Arriving too late for Saturday's game, his No. 2 position was played by Jack Robbins, son of the Wichita captain. Sheriff Gus White of Lamesa also had powerful and fast horses and gave a good account of himself at the No. 4, or safety, place. A. C. Woodward of Lubbock and the Barron boys of Lamesa were equally well at home in the last campaign.

Approximately 800 persons attended Saturday, with around 1,500 Sunday, indicating strong interest in the game which formerly played a big part in entertainment here. Many spectators, who had never seen a game of polo before, declared that they "wouldn't miss another one."

Dave Gray of Fort Stockton refereed the game Sunday, with Red Eagle of Midland umpiring.

interests ahead of local logrolling. Underwood saw the writing on the wall and "did not choose to run." One of several opponents of Black in the Democratic primary of 1926 was John H. Bankhead, now his colleague in the Senate. Bankhead was pretty lofty with Black, calling him a "damage suit lawyer."

But Black conducted the most personal canvass ever made in Alabama. Into every county went his small car, Black sleeping at farm-houses and "meeting the people" in their own homes "out at the forks of the creek."

Out of a tangle primary race and the regular election, Black emerged as the new senator from Alabama.

NEXT: Starting inconspicuously in the Senate, Black becomes a "New Dealer" even before the New Deal, and each of his 10 years' service there marks growth.

old depth of 5,183, after drilling out casing plug, it was bailed dry and showed very little oil or gas. Location is in section 606, block D, Gibson survey.

Denver P. & R. No. 1 Whittenburg, southwest Yoakum test six miles northwest of the Wasson pool, today is drilling at 4,906 feet in lime, with fair porosity evident from 4,847-70 and medium porosity from 4,870-80. Some had reported a show of gas at 4,810 and at 4,840-45. The test is in section 831, block D.

Moore Brothers Corporation No. 1 Cleveland, in section 706, block D, is drilling lime at 4,891 feet, while Texas No. 1 Walker, in section 794, is drilling lime at 4,835.

To Start Gauge. Re-treated yesterday with 6,000 gallons, Carter No. 2 Sharp, fifth producer in the Wasson pool of northwest Gaines, will start poration gauge this afternoon. It had already been treated with 1,000 and 2,000 gallons, flowing 434 barrels in 15 hours after the second job. Total depth is 5,000 feet in lime.

Phillips & I. T. I. O. No. 1 Brand, a mile and a half northwest of the discovery in the pool, is running 2½-inch tubing to 4,926, one foot off bottom, preparatory to circulating out drilling fluid. It will be tested and probably acidized at its present depth.

Five miles west of the pool, Amerada No. 1 Armstrong drilled plug from casing and is now bailing 100 feet off bottom, showing nothing. Total depth is 4,992 feet in lime.

Amerada No. 1 Matthews is fishing for tubing packer. Packer at 4,995 stuck and 600 gallons of acid was run to free it. Tubing parted when operators attempted to pull it. The well is bottomed at 5,018 feet in lime and has been showing some water from bottom.

Amerada No. 1 Cox is drilling lime at 4,477; its No. 1 Smith is drilling at 124; and its No. 1 Sea-graves is drilling at 178.

Argo Shut Down. Argo No. 1 Jones, northwest Gaines test, was shut down for orders at 5,068 feet in lime. It had not logged any shows.
