US Accepts Invitation To Parley

Norman Davis Will Head Delegation From This Nation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP) — The United States today formally accepted an invitation to participate in the nine-power treaty conference over the far eastern crisis at Brussels October 30, designating Norman H. Davis head of the American delegation.

Secretary Hull told a press conference that he would probably sail next week.

Other members of the American delegation were announced by Hull as follows:

Dr. Stanley Hornbeck, special political advisor to the secretary of state on far eastern affairs.

J. Pierrepoint Moffet, chief of the state department's European division.

Robert T. Pell, an attache of the European division, and Charles E. Bohlen, also attached to the European division.

Hornbeck and Moffet will act as advisors to Davis in the conference proceedings. Pell will accompany the delegation as press officer and Bohlen will act as secretary.

The general expectation was that the delegation will sail from New York on the United States liner Washington next Wednesday.

This government's intention to accept, carrying out President Roosevelt's pledge of cooperation with other nations to restore peace in the Orient, already had been announced.

"Peace-by-agreement" between China and Japan stood out as the primary objectives of the United States at the conference.

Youth Arrested, Bodies of 2 Are Discovered in Car

NORTH ARLINGTON, N. J., Oct. 16. (AP) — The bodies of Dr. John G. Littlefield, 65, and his wife, Lydia, 64, of South Paris, Maine, beaten to death with a hammer, were found in a parked automobile here today with Paul Dwyer, 18, asleep at the wheel.

Bergen county prosecutor John J. Breslin announced that the youth, who drove the bodies through New England states hidden in the automobile, confessed the slayings.

Chief of police George Shippey quoted Dwyer as saying he choked Littlefield to death Wednesday and choked and beat his wife to death yesterday when she became suspicious.

The youth was brought in to police headquarters for questioning about $397 quarters he had in his pockets. Meanwhile, Shippey said, Patrolman Norman Turner went to examine the car, and rushed back to the police station with the declaration that a woman's body was under the rear seat.

At this point, Shippey said, the youth suggested they look in a trunk in the tonneau of the car. There they found the body of the physician, the chief said.

The Chiangs at Headquarters

Smiling and at ease, China's leaders, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the premier, and his charming American-educated wife Madame Kai-shek, are shown in the general's headquarters at press conference with American correspondents. It is the first picture taken of them together since Japan launched hostilities. Dark curtains are drawn over the window to blur a target for bombers.

Shell Stakes Yoakum Wildcat Southeast of Denver Discovery

BY FRANK GARDNER.

Staking by Shell Petroleum Corporation of a wildcat three miles east and three-quarters of a mile south of the discovery well in the Denver area of southwestern Yoakum county headlined new developments at the week's close. The test is the No. 1 George Baumgart and has been located 880 feet from the south and 440 feet from the west line of section 228, block D, Jno. H. Gibson survey. Operations will be started soon.

A mile and a half northeast of the Denver No. 1 Whitteburg discovery, American Liberty No. 1 L. N. Clawater, 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 760, block D, started coming at 4,923 and has reached 4,927 feet in lime. Skelly and Sun No. 1 Jas. Kiser, test one miles southwest of the discovery well in the Bohago area of Yoakum, is drilling anhydrite and lime at 4,060 feet. Top of brown lime was picked by some at 4,045, datum minus 388. Some had called brown lime top in the Bohago well at 4,032, datum minus 372, while others called it at 4,050, datum minus 400. No. 1 Kiser is 660 feet out of the northeast corner of section 640, block D, Gibson survey.

Three-quarters of a mile northwest of the Bohago strike, Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 M. B. Sawyer, 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 576, block D, is drilling at 5,310 feet in lime. It has had alternate hard and soft streaks, including a chert break, but no marked increase in oil. Operators will carry it to 5,315 before making another swabbing test. At total depth of 5,295, they estimated the hole making four to five barrels an hour, on swab.

Extending the Goldsmith pool in northwestern Ector over a mile to the west, Rogers & Rogers No. 1-B TXL, 440 feet out of the northeast corner of section 1, block 45, township 1 south, T. & P. survey, headed seven times while cleaning out to bottom. It is now circulating preparatory to running tubing and acidizing with 1,000 gallons. Total depth is 4,289, and it has been shot with 180 quarts from 4,110 to 4,283.

In the Goldsmith field, Landreth No. 7-1 Scharbauer rated 24-hour potential of 1,966 barrels, bottomed at 4,195 feet. It topped pay at 4,155 and was treated with 4,000 gallons.

In the Foster pool, Bransdall No. 3 H. Foster flowed 650.23 barrels a day following 420-quart shot. Pay was entered at 4,190, and total depth is 4,318.

W. A. Black & Sons No. 5 W. E. Connell, in the Penn pool of southern Ector, flowed 407.15 barrels d. day, at total depth of 3,614 feet. Pay was topped at 3,520.

Continental Oil Company Saturday announced location for its No. 1 Johnson, a wildcat 440 feet from the north and west lines of section 228, block D, township 4 north, T. & P. survey, southwestern Borden county. It is slightly more than a mile northwest of Conoco's No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, dry hole abandoned August 28, 1934 after encountering sulphur water from 3,350-75, the total depth.

In southeastern Dawson county, Ray Albright No. 1 Dewey Hoger, section 17, block 34, township 4 north, T. & P. survey, is drilling lime at 3,755 feet.

It was reported from a reliable source that a wildcat test will be drilled in the northwest part of Terry county, probably in block D-14, public school land. Name of the operator was not divulged.

New Cochran Test Stated. Spreads are being sold to finance drilling of a wildcat in eastern Cochran county approximately six miles due north of the Wiggins, Lawson and Hyde No. 1 Dean, which recently extended the Duggan pool four miles to the northwest. H. N. Harris of Fort Worth is said to have blocked nearly 4,000 acres. He sold labours 22 and 27, league 96, Mills county school land, to the Shell Petroleum Corporation, which has short term leases in the general area. Tentative location of the Harris test, which will go to 5,500 feet, production or water is in the south half of labour 26, league 96, Mills county school land. It is scheduled to start on or around the first of next year.

Wiggins, Lawson and Hyde No. 1 Dean Saturday was cleaning out shot savings 70 feet off bottom. It has not flowed since shot with 200 quarts from 4,990 to 5,030. Location is the center of labour 26, league 92, Lipscomb county school land.

A 13,000-acre block northeast of Lubbock, in Lubbock county, centering between it and the town end of Idalou, is reported to have been taken jointly by Texas Pacific Oil & Oil Company and Seaboard Oil Corporation. Seaboard is reported to have shot the area "high". Description of the block follows: the east half of section 1, the south half of 72, the west half of 73, all of 74, the south half and the northwest quarter of 71, the west half of 68, all of 5, block A; the south half and the northwest quarter of 2, in block RG; the northeast quarter of 5, and all of 6 in block O. E. L. & R. R. survey; the west half of 15, the west half of 20, and the west half of 30, block PK.

Big Water Well. Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 F. N. Belding et al. Pecos wildcat west of Fort Stockton, Saturday was drilling at 1,585 feet in gray lime. It topped sulphur water at 1,385 which increased at greater depths to 91,000 barrels a day. Some reported the water flow as high as 5,000 barrels hourly. It is only slightly sulphurous, and the possibility of using it for irrigation is being investigated.

In the Imperial area of northern Pecos county, Magnolia No. 1-A McKee, an Ordovician test, is drilling lime at 3,888 feet. It logged shows of sulphur water and slight show of gas from 3,854-60.

Humble No. 1 Lewis & Wardlaw, Ordovician test in western Tom Green county, is fishing for bottom joint of surface pipe, lost in the hole when depth of 1,545 feet in lime had been reached.

Scattered Completions. The following completions were reported at the week-end in widespread scattered pools. In the Howard-Glasscock field, Ward Oil Company No. 27 Roberts pumped 45.53 barrels the first hour and 46.76 barrels See (OIL NEWS) Page 6

CIO Agrees To Confer With AFL

Two Factions Will Get Together Oct. 25 in Washington

DENVER, Oct. 16. (AP) — George Harrison, chairman of the American Federation of Labor peace committee, said today "we'll be there" when told of the latest CIO peace proposal calling for a meeting Oct. 25 at Washington "with or without commitments."

The federation rejected two previous proposals because, Harrison said, the CIO insisted upon their agreeing to certain CIO principles in advance.

The newest A. F. of L. communication said that the CIO communication sent yesterday and naming a committee of 10 to meet a like delegation from the A. F. of L. was "a well designed attempt to mislead the public and confuse the issue." It pointed out again that the A. F. of L. had a standing committee of three to discuss peace at any time with the C. I. O. It did not say the executive council would name a like committee of 10, but ended, "Please advise when you are ready to meet."

John L. Lewis chairman of the C. I. O., addressing the closing session of the C. I. O. war council, made a denunciatory attack on A. F. of L. leaders.

Council Tonight To End Busy Cub Week as Boys Re-Organize

Saturday was an outstanding day in the newly organized cubbing movement at Midland, with further programs set for this evening.

At meeting Saturday morning at the old north ward school ground, forty boys of the cub ages, 9, 10 and 11, reported. Den No. 3 won a close victory over den No. 4, amassing a total of 65 points in 22 sports and game events. Den. No. 4 was close behind with 64. The No. 3 cubs won eight first places and four seconds, with every contest close and exciting. Buster Howard, Harold Kendrick and Darold Wilson were in charge of the events. Den No. 1 won third place with 55 points and den No. 2 was fourth with 43 points.

Contests staged included straight relay, reverse relay, merry-go-round, pick up relay, chinning relay, balloon relay, over the bar, one leg race, side run, king's race, circle ball, skin the cat, peanut race, obstacle race, frog hop, two man relay, ball bouncing, ball in bucket, over the top, standing broad jump, flat foot relay, treasure hunt.

The climax of the rally was a theatre party given to members of den No. 3. On the winning team were Glenn Murray, Jimmy Velvin, Billy Holcombe, Stanley Blackman, Jerry Hudson, William Neill, J. C. Robertson, Billy Carter.

Reorganization of the cubs was effected at the meeting of parents Thursday night. Regular weekly meetings of the boys will be each Wednesday at 5 p. m., at the Baptist annex, under leadership of Cubmaster J. R. Norris.

An achievement council will be held at the Christian church at 7:30 o'clock this evening, to which the public is invited.

Cubbing in Midland is sponsored by the Lions club. Officers are Cubmaster, J. R. Norris; committeemen, W. L. Sutton, Charles Vertrees, Claude Crayne, Russell Conkling, Frank Stubbeman, Boyd Scott; den mothers, Mrs. W. E. Ryan, Mrs. John Casselman and Mrs. J. H. McClure.

C of C Membership Drive to Continue

Due to the fact that it was impossible to contact all of the prospective members this week, the annual fall membership drive of the Midland chamber of commerce, started Thursday morning, will be continued into this week, according to J. Howard Hodges, director of the chamber of commerce and chairman of its membership committee. Workers taking part in the drive are Hodges, Allen Wats, Dr. J. B. Thomas, W. P. Hejl, John P. Butler, J. C. Smith and Clarence Scharbauer. Each of the solicitors has been designated a certain area of the city in which to work.

Three of the workers had reported by yesterday morning, the annual budget of the chamber of commerce having been increased by something over $400. The entire faculty of the Midland school system joined the organization Friday.

It is hoped to have every business firm in town lined up as a member of the chamber of commerce, said Hodges yesterday.

Shortly after the drive a list of all members of the Midland chamber of commerce will be published.

A Japanese Airplane Crashes in Flames

Caught by the cameraman just a brief second before it crashed, this Japanese plane was shot down between Shanghai and Hangchow. Smoke may be seen coming from the disabled craft and a moment after this picture was made, it fell on the rutted lane.

Death to Traitors of the Chinese Cause

Hideously grotesque with their neatly severed heads, the bodies of these two Chinese traitors were left lying on the Bund in Nantao as an example to others who would betray their country. The head of one has rolled four feet away, while what looks like a huge sword lies across his body. The decapitation was performed by the Chinese military. Native shopkeepers in the background pay little attention. Death is commonplace.

Funeral Today for R. L. Dupuy, Retired Midland Builder

Funeral services will be held today at 4 p. m. at the Ellis funeral home for R. L. Dupuy, 67, who succumbed at his home on North Colorado street Friday of a year long illness. The services will be in charge of Rev. Winston F. Borum, pastor of the First Baptist church, assisted by Rev. J. E. Pickering, pastor of the First Christian church.

Masonic honors will be paid in the final burial service at Fairview cemetery following the church rites. Mr. Dupuy was a member of the Baptist church and of the Masonic lodge.

Dupuy had been a resident of Midland for 30 years, and prior to his illness engaged in the building and cabinet business.

Survivors include two sons, R. E. Dupuy of Midland and E. J. Dupuy of Longview; two daughters, Mrs. Joe Good of Douglas, Ariz., and Mrs. H. G. Adams of Animas, N. M.; one sister, Mrs. Frank Fannin, of Houston; two brothers, J. L. Dupuy of Houston and H. E. Dupuy of El Paso.

Italy Agreeable to Withdrawal Troops

LONDON, Oct. 16. (AP) — Count Dino Grandi, Italian delegate, told the non-intervention sub-committee today that Italy "accepts the proposal for partial withdrawal of a certain number of volunteers."

The sub-committee adjourned until Tuesday after hearing statements by British, French, Italian and German members.

Grandi specified withdrawal must be "in equal quantities from both sides." He also demanded belligerent right be accorded insurgent generalissimo Franco's regime.

Wildcat for Pet Is Idea of Greek

Angelo Smyrle, proprietor of a local cafe, has a pet kitten that most parents would not be in favor of having their children play with. It is a little wildcat.

While coming from Rankin a night recently, Smyrle saw the kitten in the road, apparently blinded by the lights on his car. He leaped from the car and grabbed the kitten and about twice as quick got back in the car as the mother cat made her appearance. Angelo says she chased the car for at least a half mile before finally giving up.

The kitten, about two months old, apparently, is as playful as the ordinary house cat at the same age and gives no indication that it will be otherwise.

This Family in Need Of Bed, Mattress

One Midland family, with the advent of cold weather, is suffering considerably from lack of household furniture, according to case workers of the Midland county welfare office. Children of the family, living with their mother, have had to sleep on the floor and, during cold weather, have sustained bad colds, rendering them ill.

Miss Josephine Skeen, of the welfare office, asked that anyone willing to donate a bed, mattress or springs to the family communicate with her office or with the county judge's office.

Five Killed When Car-Truck Crash

RUSHVILLE, Ind. Oct. 16. (AP) — Five persons were killed and another injured critically near here today in a head-on collision between an automobile and a truck. Officials were unable to learn the cause of the accident.

To Open Bids for 76 New Boxes for the Midland Postoffice

Bids for installation of 75 additional boxes in the Midland postoffice will be opened October 26 at the office of Postmaster Allen Tolbert, he announced Saturday.

The boxes will comprise a section to be placed at the northeast corner of the postoffice lobby, running the tier of boxes farther east. Even after installation of these boxes, the number of applications which cannot be filled will be approximately 100, Postmaster Tolbert said. After allotment of funds for the Midland postoffice, a substantial increase in population was registered within a few months time, making entirely inadequate the size and capacity of building and equipment set aside for the project here.

In the bids to be opened October 26, contractors must comply with rigid specifications sent out by the postoffice department, copies of which may be obtained at the postmaster's office.

Three Are Sentenced In District Court

Three cases were disposed of in district court on pleas of guilty Saturday and three defendants were assessed penitentiary sentences. Sentence on one conviction was suspended.

Lee Rogers, charged with forgery on three counts, was given two years each on each sentence; A. L. Sumrall pleaded guilty to forgery and was given a suspended sentence of two years; Clyde Moon, charged with car theft on two counts was given two years on each count.

SERIOUSLY ILL FROM ABILENE.

Condition of Mrs. Ruby Braden, ill since Wednesday with flu-pneumonia, is unsatisfactory and she is seriously ill, her daughter, Mrs. Paul Young, reported Saturday. Mrs. Braden, 65, makes her home with Mrs. Young.

A. B. Barrow, owner of Barrow Furniture store, was here Saturday from Abilene.

Rescue Crew Fights Gas to Find Bodies

Mangled Remains of Many Brought Up From Mine Depths

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 16. (AP) — A terrific explosion killed 33 trapped men deep in a Muiga coal mine near here today. The detonation was heard in sections of Birmingham, 12 miles distant.

Fire marshal Sam Williams blamed coal gas for the accident. R. M. Marshall, vice-president of the Woodward Iron company, operating the mine, said the victims were about equally divided between whites and negroes.

Ivan Fox miraculously escaped the blast; and while suffering major burns was unable to tell of the experience. Deputy sheriff Charlie McCombs said "most of the men apparently were thrown against the sides of the shaft with great force; gloves were burned off the hands in many instances."

Had the blast occurred near the mine entrance 350 workers would have been trapped.

Mangled, burned and battered, the bodies were brought up from the depths on coal cars. Approximately 500 spectators, including distraught and weeping wives, children and parents, watched the grim proceedings in horror.

The detonation was heard in sections of Birmingham more than 12 miles from the scene. Fire Marshal Sam Williams blamed coal gas for the blast.

Forrest Kelley, a miner who knew the full import of the explosion, was first to reach his stricken fellow workers.

"Some of them must have been killed by 'black damp,'" he said. "They might have been saved if they had remained in a small pocket which was not demolished."

Others were covered by debris and identification was difficult. The grim-streaker rescue crews pulled their torn bodies from the wreckage of a working approximately four miles from the mine entrance.

Utility Attorneys Flayed By Ickes in Address at Austin

AUSTIN, Oct. 16. (AP) — Secretary of Interior Ickes, here to dedicate the Buchanan and Roy Inks dams today, assailed utility attorneys as "legal Hessianians" who have done their utmost to discredit the government's conservation program.

The dams represent a part of the joint federal-state effort to harness the Colorado river. Such projects, Ickes said, are based on the idea of "resources of the nation can be made to produce far higher standards of living for the masses if the government is wise and resourceful in putting them to use for the common good."

In 13 countries there are more people employed now than there were in the hey-day era of 1929. Using the 1929 compilations as a yardstick, the Union of South Africa has 132.7 per cent; Estonia has 149.4; Denmark, 163.3; Finland, 115.5; Yugoslavia, 114.5; Great Britain, 113.2; Hungary, 107.2; Italy, 106.1; Norway, 107.0; Canada, 109.7; Japan, 127.8; Sweden, 119.3; and Latvia, 116.8.

Fall Job Peak Tops 1929 Mark In 13 Countries

GENEVA, Oct. 16. (U.P.) — The wheels of industry are rapidly absorbing the majority of the unemployed in virtually all countries. This was revealed in the unemployment statistics compiled by the International Labor Office for the third quarter of 1937.

In 13 countries there are more people employed now than there were in the hey-day era of 1929. Using the 1929 compilations as a yardstick, the Union of South Africa has 132.7 per cent; Estonia has 149.4; Denmark, 163.3; Finland, 115.5; Yugoslavia, 114.5; Great Britain, 113.2; Hungary, 107.2; Italy, 106.1; Norway, 107.0; Canada, 109.7; Japan, 127.8; Sweden, 119.3; and Latvia, 116.8.

The United States shows a 10 per cent gain over 1926 with a mark of 97.1. The percentages for the remaining countries include: Belgium, 96.8; Poland, 91.1; France, 80.7; The Netherlands, 81.4; Switzerland, 79.9; and Luxembourg, 78.2.

In comparison with 1936, the statistics reveal that unemployment declined in all countries with the exception of three—Denmark, Finland and Yugoslavia.

In making public the statistics, officials of the International Labor Office cautioned that since the method of compiling them varies from country to country, they can only be treated as showing the trends of employment and unemployment and not as accurate measurements.

Condition of Mrs. Ruby Braden, ill since Wednesday with flu-pneumonia, is unsatisfactory and she is seriously ill, her daughter, Mrs. Paul Young, reported Saturday. Mrs. Braden, 65, makes her home with Mrs. Young.

Continental's Gift

DALLAS, Oct. 16.—The Conoco Hospitality House on the Pan American Exposition grounds, which welcomed millions of visitors during the Texas Centennial and the current exposition, will be presented by Continental Oil Company to Jane Douglas Chapter, Dallas Daughters of the American Revolution.

The house, built by Continental at a cost of $90,000 will be the meeting place for the chapter as soon as the organization takes charge at the close of the exposition, Mrs. Cloyd H. Read, regent of Jane Douglas Chapter, said. A public presentation ceremony is planned for the last of this month, at which time a bronze plaque will be hung at the house in commemoration of the event.

The air-conditioned building contains a large reception room, lounges for men and women, and office space. Shelves which now hold Conoco travel literature will become museum shelves, and additional cases will hold a genealogical library.

Conoco Hospitality House is a handsome two-story structure with green shutters and white pillars in typical Colonial style. The interior is done in pickled pink and is handsomely furnished throughout. The miniature dioramas, which are now a feature of the exhibit, will be returned to Conoco Travel Bureau headquarters in Denver.

The name will be changed to Continental D. A. R. House, the same as that of the national headquarters in Washington.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 17.

The Golden Text is: "God is Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And all faithful, by whom ye were called unto fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord" (I Corinthians 1: 9).

things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation" (II Corinthians 5:18).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of the Spirit,—the law of divine Love" (page 19).

Caesar's Gaul Yields France Rich Discovery

PARIS, Oct. 16 (U.P.)—A poem and a small bottle of perfume, more than a thousand years old, have led to one of the most important archaeological discoveries in France. Following hints provided by each of them, a huge thermal station constructed by the Romans has been uncovered at Saint-Pereux-Vezelay, in the south of France.

The excavation of the site was made by Rene Louis, professor in a Paris high school, beginning in 1934. Preparing a critical study of the writings of the abbey of Vezelay in the 12th Century, Louis was led to the site of the ancient convent, long since crumbled and buried. The literary piece on which he had been working, resembled the famous poem on Ronevaux, and had been written by the Abbey Gerard de Roussillon.

Folk Lore Proved.

Discounting the influence of the long poem on Ronevaux, Louis began to believe the poem's story about a battle which had occurred on the old site of the monastery. He found also, that peasants in the region often told stories which had been handed down in their families for years about this rich region which had been destroyed by invading armies after a great battle.

Other peasants told him of seeing geometric outlines in the earth after long dry periods. One day a farmer plowing his potato field struck something with his plow and scented a rich perfume rise in the air. Louis was called and found a tiny blue bottle containing a perfumed oil. He decided to excavate on the former monastery site. Gradually, instead of uncovering a single villa as he had expected, Louis found that a vast Roman bath stood on the spot.

Excavation of the baths themselves has been completed, Louis being helped by Robert Moutard of the department of historic monuments, and Robert Dauvergne professor at Chartres. They established that the thermal baths were built in the 1st Century A. D. were destroyed about 186 A. D., restored at the start of the 3rd Century and finally wiped out by the invading Huns in 276. Later rustic artisans used the ruins for their shops.

Heating System Scientific.

A perfect heating system with a scientific method of hot-air heating has been revealed in the preserved ruins. Tiled pipes, lead pipes and even sections built with concrete have been uncovered. The baths for women and for men were shown by an abundance of articles which had been left on the spot.

Lost objects were found to be more numerous in the women's section of the bath than in the men's, leading to the conclusion that habits haven't changed much.

Engagement of Midland Couple Is Announced Saturday

Miss Ruby Hodges and H. L. Straughan Will Be Married Here October 31; Date Is Disclosed at Bridge Party

Of interest to a wide circle of friends in Midland was the announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Ruby Hodges to H. L. Straughan Jr. made at a bridge party for which Miss Helen Hodges and Miss Myrtle Holley were hostesses in the Blue Room of the Hotel Scharbauer Saturday afternoon. The couple will be wed in a morning ceremony at the First Christian church, October 31.

Chrysanthemums and autumn leaves carried out a seasonal note in decorations.

Names of the couple and date of the marriage were disclosed on the bridge tables which bore the figure of a bride.

High score prize in the afternoon's games, individual service trays, went to Mrs. Frank Miller and high cut cocktail mixers, to Mrs. Johnnie Ratliff. Both were presented to Miss Hodges.

Tea guests were Mrs. J. H. Dean, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. H. L. Straughan Sr., mother of the bride-groom-elect and Miss Mary Maude Sparks.

A salad plate was served at the tea hour.

Invitation list for the affair included: Meses. Ben Black, W. M. Blevins, Ralph Geisler, Frank Miller, John M. Speed Jr., Nancy Stevens, Hugh A. West, Con Thomas, Jean Watts, Thomas Lee Speed, Oliver Haag, Johnnie Ratliff, Misses Margaret Miles, Lucile Thomas, Evelyn Haag, Dorothy Ann Perkins, Meses. H. L. Straughan Sr., J. H. Dean, Alfred Reese, Barron Kidd, Misses Mary Maude Sparks, Ida Beth Cowden.

Both Miss Hodges, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Dean, and Mr. Straughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Straughan, are well-known in Midland where both have lived for a number of years, and where each graduated from high school.

Mr. Straughan is associated with the Gulf Oil Corporation here.

Fourteen Attend Belmont Bible Class Meeting

Fourteen members attended the weekly Bible study meeting of the Belmont Bible class at the home of Mrs. Horace Brazzelle, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. W. L. Pickett, teacher of the class, conducted the lesson, taken from the fourth chapter of Revelations.

Attending were: Meses. Herbert King, C. E. Strawn, Pickett, Jas. Adamson, W. G. Ataway, Brazzelle, Miss Connie Shields, Meses. D. E. Holster, Frank Simpson, C. E. Nolan, C. O. Fredregill, T. O. Midkiff, A. B. Stickney, and H. H. Nicholson.

The class will meet next Friday with Mrs. W. L. Sutton, 511 N. Pecos.

Mrs. Pattenon Is Hostess to Child Study Club Meeting

Discussion of organization details featured the meeting of the Child Study club, newest of Midland's study groups, at the home of Mrs. R. W. Pattenon Friday afternoon.

Active study of topics concerned with child care and welfare will be taken up at the next meeting, Oct. 29, with Mrs. Dick Anderson.

Members are: Meses. Anderson, W. T. Doherty, S. P. Hazlip, O. J. Hubbard, C. P. Lancaster, Myrtle Mammshreck, Jas. I. Maxwell, J. H. McClure, F. I. McConnell, P. A. Nelson, Jack Rankin, John Cornwall, and the hostess, Mrs. Pattenon.

There's danger for your children! Don't let them cross dangerous highways on their way to school. Build in Elmwood and eliminate dangerous crossings. See Grafia (Adv.)

Blackeyed Beauty

An apology from William Moore, son of famed Dinty Moore, soothed the ruffled feelings of Barbara Bannister, Virginia beauty who now adorns New York's Park Avenue, even though it failed to cure the black eye concealed by dark glasses. Mr. Moore regretted causing Miss Bannister embarrassment when he struck her eye and kicked her thigh at a 4:00 a. m. night spot rendezvous.

Morning Coffee and Luncheon Friday Add to List of Courtesies for Visitor

Midland hostesses Friday continued the series of courtesies to Mrs. Floyd L. Rheam, guest of Mrs. Ross Williams, which opened with Mrs. Williams' tea at the Country Club Wednesday.

Friday morning Mrs. John P. West and Mrs. W. A. Yeager entertained with an informal coffee at the West home, 602 N. Marienfeld, honoring Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Ross.

Miss Georgia Goss poured, presiding at a coffee table decorated with roses.

Guests were: Mrs. Rheam and Mrs. Williams, Meses. N. E. Tanner, Hal Peck, Chappell Davis, Paul Davis, Jack Jordan, Tom Sloan, Frank E. Lewis, James H. Chapple, Allan Hargrave, Robt. S. Dewey, V. C. Maley, W. B. Collins, Harper, J. M. Armstrong, J. D. Bodkins, Cary P. Butcher, Robt. Muldrow III.

Luncheon hostesses.

Mrs. N. E. Tanner entertained at luncheon for Mrs. Rheam and members of the Thursday party at her home, 1803 W. Walnut Friday.

Flowers were used at vantage points in the party rooms and three tables of guests were served at the luncheon hour.

Other courtesies have been planned for Mrs. Rheam for next week, following the weekend trip to El Paso and Carlsbad with her hostess, Mrs. Williams.

Girl Scouts Organize Patrols in Thursday Meeting

Patrols were organized at the meeting of Girl Scouts held in the Baptist annex Thursday afternoon. Mrs. M. E. Hill, captain, reported.

The group will meet next week for community service.

Fourteenth Birthday Celebrated With All-Day Party

Celebrating his fourteenth birthday, James Mims entertained a group of playmates with an all-day party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mims, 210 W. Tennessee, Saturday.

Football was the special game of the day, with guns and other games vying for attention. Guests also turned their talents to constructing a menagerie of animals from dates, prunes and other edible fruits, bestowing upon their creations such descriptive names as "prune-raffe" and "date-pillars."

A yellow and black color scheme, suggestive of Halloween, was used in decorations. At noon the luncheon table was centered with a fruit bowl, with orange and black crepe paper and witch figures carrying out the holiday note. Napkins also bore witch designs. Licorice dolls and Halloween all-day suckers were favors.

Boys present were: Billie Barron, Allen and Ted Wemple, Peyton Anderson, Stephen Stookey, Charles Barron, Forrest Hunter, Norman Turner, George Hyatt, Kenneth Williams, and the host.

Other numbers on the program will include hymns and a benediction prayer.

Ben T. Rogers returned Friday from Houston. Mrs. Rogers has been visiting there the past three weeks.

Eastern Society Blows Hot, Blows Cold Over Future Visit of Duke and Duchess of Windsor

Mrs. Harrison Williams

Among the places where the Duke and Duchess of Windsor may visit while in the United States are the Oak Point, L. L. estate of Mrs. Harrison Williams, the stately foyer of which is pictured above (Ameyna photo) and the colonial mansion, below, Mrs. John Hay Whitney, at Upperville, Va.

Mrs. Margaret Emerson.

Who among the topflight society personalities of the East will be most likely to entertain the Duke and Duchess of Windsor when they visit the United States? There is no one better qualified than Helen Worden, famed New York society reporter, to outline the social ramifications of the royal couple's stay here.

BY HELEN WORDEN Written for NEA Service.

NEW YORK. — How will American Society receive the Duke and Duchess of Windsor? Will the former King of England and the woman for whom he gave up a throne be welcomed with open arms when they land in the United States, or will Society, remembering its loyalty to the Court of St. James, greet the couple with chilly smiles and give them the cold shoulder at the first opportunity?

The Windsors may expect and find hospitality on Long Island. North Shore Society isn't prejudiced. But I'm afraid they will find scant recognition from the Conservatives of Newport.

The latch-string will be out for the Duke and Duchess at the fabulous homes of Long Island millionaires. Many of the men have hunted in England with Edward. And th thrice-married Duchess of Windsor will be put at ease by meeting Long Island women who've had as many, or more, husbands than she.

HOME TOWN HOSTESS AMONG WINDSOR SPONSORS

Among those sure to entertain her is Margaret Emerson, who comes from Baltimore, Wallis' home town. The Duchess' mother, dashing Alice Montague Warfield, may even have been present at Margaret Emerson's marriage to Dr. Smith Hollis McKim, in the enormous Green Spring Valley mansion of Margaret's father, old Captain Isaac Emerson.

Dr. McKim was the first of Mrs. Emerson's four husbands. Her second, third and fourth being—in the order named—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Raymond Baker and Charles Amory. To simplify matters, Mrs. Emerson finally took back her maiden name, just as Wallis did when she got the divorce from Ernest Simpson. Cedar Knoll, Mrs. Emerson's Sands Point estate, is

BUT THE MORGANS AND THE PHIPPS—

This is one side of Long Island Society. Another group, in the minority, would be apt to take the next steamer for England if it were so much as suggested that the Windsors might ring their door bells. I have in mind the J. P. Morgan family, the Henry Carnegie Phipps and L. (Standard Oil) Pratts.

As you probably recall, J. P. Morgan and family was invited to sit in the Royal Box at Westminster Abbey when Edward's successors, George and Elizabeth were crowned King and Queen of England. The Phipps and Pratts also have English affiliations. Recognition of Edward might disturb their grouse-shooting privileges in Scotland.

In the same camp sit the majority of Newport's summer colonists. OLD FRIENDS HOME MAY BE THEIR HAVEN Harvey Ladew, good-looking Master of the Harford County Hounds, has not only spent most of his life, near Glen Cove, Long Island, but has hunted in England with Edward when he was Prince of Wales. Long a friend of the Duke of Windsor, Mr. Ladew was mentioned as the original go-between for purchasing a place, when it was first rumored that the Windsors might settle down near Baltimore. It is entirely possible that Edward and his wife might even stay with Harvey Ladew, in Harford County, until their own home was in order, if it is true that they've bought the Yve Island estate, in Chesapeake Bay, of Wellesley Hill Stillwell.

Air Stewardess Expected to Visit Relatives Here

BY KATHLEEN EILAND.

She has flown half a million miles; she has been in the air 2400 hours; she has never had a crackup; and she loves her work so much she "wouldn't do anything else." That, briefly, is the career of Miss Love Harmon, chief stewardess with the Western Air Express and sister of Mrs. J. G. Cardwell and R. L. Harmon of Midland. She will have been traveling the airways three years next March and is now on the flight from Los Angeles, Calif., to Salt Lake City, Butte, and other points in the Northwest.

A gray-eyed brunette of 26, tipping the scales at 96 pounds, and only five feet one and a half inches tall, Miss Harmon is chief stewardess over 15 other pretty hostess-nurses of the Western Air Express.

She obtained her nurse's training at the Los Angeles County General Hospital, which she entered in 1928. Her experience included two years' nursing in Texas after which she returned to California and almost immediately took up work on the airline. Mrs. J. G. Cardwell, with whom Miss Harmon formerly lived, recalls that ever since she was eight years old her sister had wanted to be a nurse. Her career in flying is simply a specialization of that abiding desire.

Miss Harmon planned to visit relatives here about Oct. 15 but her promotion to chief stewardess delayed the trip. Mrs. Cardwell now expects her to arrive in November or December, probably November.

Miss Harmon's promotion to her present position is an illustration of the publicity and the tragedy that stalks the lives of those who dare constant death in traveling the skies. She was given the place made vacant by the suicide of Cecilia Gilligan, lovely air stewardess, whose unaccountable death shocked the West a few weeks ago. Miss Gilligan and Miss Harmon had been room-mates for 18 months.

Mrs. Cardwell made the flight from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City with her sister Sept. 1.

In addition to the brother and sister in Midland, Miss Harmon has another brother, E. B. Harmon, living in Odessa.

Detroit Starts Homes Project

DETROIT (U.P.)—One hundred low-cost houses will be built in this city to house some welfare dependants in a scheme which may pave the way for a substantial reduction in the relief budget.
To be constructed of salvaged material, the homes will cost only $1,200 if WPA labor is used. Should the project be carried out with skilled labor, each home would cost about $1,600, it was estimated by Laurence G. Lenhardt, public works commissioner.
An appropriation of $250,000 will be requested for the entire group of dwellings, and opinion is general that the actual expense of the plan will be substantially less than this figure.
The model for the homes to be used was built by Jan Schmedding, public works official. It is a brick, single story and basement house, with bathroom and kitchen. The council chose this plan of reducing Detroit's welfare expenses over another which would have utilized obsolete street cars, moving them on city property and converting them into a series of connected, although individual, homes, in the manner of a terrace apartment building.
Enough salvagable material is on hand to build at least 300 homes of the Schmedding model, it has been estimated. Lots can be purchased at an average price of $200 each, and the houses would rent for $22.
City Treasurer Albert E. Cobo will seek to obtain FHA assistance to the extent of 25 per cent of the entire cost of the scheme, but if federal aid is not forthcoming, the city will bear the entire expense.

"All it takes is co-operation," says Garvey. "With a little help we can make this thing an annual affair. The hardest problem, of course, is the transportation. Most of us have to depend on friends for that."
Garvey maintains a voluminous correspondence, talks with radio amateurs daily by means of a short-wave set installed by friends for his use. Two evenings a week, clubs meet at his home.
One is an organization of fellow radio "hams," the other a "Friday Evening Social Club," limited strictly to a membership of 15. Garvey plays bridge, chess and checkers, reads widely, likes music.
"A long time ill? Time goes fast," he says.

TRIUMPH FOR BEER. LONDON (U.P.)—In a series of unfortunate public signs being quoted by an English newspaper appears the following example: Outside a church at Barnstable is a big sign reading, "Love thine enemies." In the window of an adjacent house is a placard reading: "Beer is man's worst enemy."
PASADENA, Calif. (U.P.)—Pasadena has—or, rather, had—an eight-man team of rat catchers. The squad resigned after turning in a record of 10,086 rats, squirrels and gophers. The retirement was not due to lack of more rats, but to a lack of salary allowances in the city funds.
The Sphinx has had its face "lifted," and now, for the first time in 3600 years, the entire figure is visible above the sands.

New Floral Shop to Open on West Wall

Opening of the Midland Floral Co., at 1705 West Wall street, has been announced for Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fromhold, have moved to Midland from Fort Worth. He has had 39 years experience in the floral business and says he believes there is a big opportunity in this growing city and section of West Texas.

From 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. both days of the opening, visitors will have opportunity to share in gifts which include two orchid corsages and four gifts of one orchid each. Special floral displays will be arranged for the opening. A new addition to the W. R. Upham place on West Wall has been built to house the floral shop.

Knees Bent to Fashion

THE lace elastic top stocking that comes over the knee, fitting snugly all the way and all around, is a boon that will delight non-girdle wearers. It does away with the garter belt, too, for those that dislike extra garments. While eminently practical the lace elastic top is as attractive in its way as were lace toes, heels, and insets up the front of very dress-up stockings.

Spare Trumpeter Swan, U. S. Urges Sportsmen

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—As the 1937 waterfowl season opens, the Interior Department cautions sportsmen to spare the estimated 158 trumpeter swans, which are all that is left of their once great flocks.

In 1934, when Secretary Harold Ickes inaugurated a campaign for their preservation, they numbered fewer than 50. A special breeding ground has now been established for them, the Red Rock Lakes Migratory Waterfowl Refuge, in Montana.

The trumpeter swan is the largest native waterfowl, attaining a weight of 30 pounds.

Last Dollar Days of 1937 Announced by Wadley's Store

Last Dollars Days of 1937 are announced today by Addison Wadley Co., with the selling event scheduled to run from Monday through Saturday of this week. Many special attractions are offered for early Christmas shoppers and Addison Wadley, head of the firm, says the final 1937 event will be the outstanding one of the year. The Wadley company has built up a dollar day event which, through its wide advertising over West Texas and New Mexico, has attracted hundreds of visitors to Midland on each occasion. He promises that the event all this week will surpass any he has staged during the year.

Demoralized Bulldogs Beaten, 25-13

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON Sports Editor, NEA Service CHICAGO. —George Halas predicts that in five years all football offenses will be based on a man-in-motion play.

What puzzles the owner and coach of the Chicago Bears is that coaches—college and professional—have not taken advantage of this maneuver. He asserts that the man-in-motion business has enabled the Bears to lead the National League in scoring and yardage gained for five consecutive campaigns, or since he perfected it.

A wide end run, usually with Beattie Feathers, the left halfback, in motion, is the renowned Bronko Nagurski's pet play. Feathers cracks back on the defensive left end, and Nagurski is conveyed down field by Jack Manders, the other halfback, after taking a lateral from Bernie Masterson, the quarterback.

George Halas

...that the man-in-motion play makes an attack 70 per cent more efficient. "Using standard forward passes, without a man in motion, I would say that our chances of completing a pass were one in 10," explains Halas, who played plenty of end at Illinois and with the Great Lakes Naval team during the war before ... the professional game. "With the man in motion and everything mechanically correct, we complete the same passes seven out of 10 times.

Man in Motion Can Do Seven Things.

- "A running attack is improved proportionately by the man in motion. "The man in motion can do seven different things. "He can block out the end as the play goes around. "He can take out the halfback down field. "He can go down and take a flat pass. "He can run and catch a long pass. "He can go in motion a little deeper, take a lateral, and then forward pass. "He sets up quick kick for the tail-back. "He is a splendid decoy when the play goes the other way. "When three defensive men have to change positions to combat the man in motion, you've got something. The man in motion upsets the defense. The defense must rotate. If it doesn't shift, one man is left wide open. Using the man-in-motion play, the opposition plays the defense we want it to play. It practically is impossible to play a seven-man line against a team using the man-in-motion play." Halas says that to his knowledge Clark Shaughnessy of Chicago and Paddy Driscoll of Marquette are the only coaches of major college teams who have adopted the man-in-motion play. Lake Forest University employs it, too, but none of these schools have enough material to show it to advantage. "The man-in-motion idea wasn't new when the Bears started to monkey with it seven years ago, but before Halas did something with it the man on the 'move simply ran out to one side and did nothing.

Bears Favor Antiquated 'T' Formation.

"Despite the fine results we have gotten with it, most coaches will dismiss the play now as no good," declares Halas. "That is because they don't know how to work it. "Naturally, it is a little difficult to get the play working smoothly. That may be one reason why more coaches haven't adopted it. It takes players longer to get it than the ordinary coach cares to put into one thing. Yet, if something works I can't see that the coach has wasting time." The Bears use the antiquated T formation, with the quarterback directly under the center just as he was in the days when Amos Alonzo Stagg was quite a kid at Yale. The center hands the quarter the ball with one hand. The Bears also employ the single and double wingback, the short and long punt, and the single and double spread formations, but the venerable T is used 50 per cent of the time. "And why not?" asks Halas, who currently has the only unbeaten club in the big professional loop. "It is the simplest of all formations. The quarterback simply has to raise up to do whatever he wants to do, and under our rules he can forward pass from the spot. "Under collegiate rules, it would be just as simple for him to drop back five yards behind the line of scrimmage and zap." It was Bob Zuppke who cracked that some day a coach will come up with a seven-man line and believe that he has something new in defense. That's how far the great majority of football coaches have fallen away from fundamentals.

Navajo State Likely on Map in Few Years; Independence Struggle Gains

WINDOW ROCK, N. M., Oct. 16.—Within the next two or three years, the United States may face the unprecedented situation of being asked to grant freedom to a new nation within its borders. This new nation which is rapidly assuming shape in New Mexico, Arizona and Utah is that of the Navajo Indians. For centuries they have lived in this wilderness area of desert, mountain and canyon. Even today they are cut off from much of the outside world by virtually impassable trails. But authorities of the three states know that little by little they are steadily coming back as a nation and steps are well under way for demanding a constitution and freedom.

In 1868, when the Navajos signed a treaty with the United States, which had acquired their homeland in the war with Mexico, they numbered only 8,000 to 9,000. Today, while they are preparing to demand a constitution, they number 50,000, the great majority of pure blood, healthy, proud and self-sufficient.

Council of Chiefs at Work.

The Indians have appointed a council of 86 of their chiefs to draw up a constitution that will give the Navajo people jurisdiction over their economic and social problems. They will ask to control the vast natural resources of their reservation of 25,000 square miles. What this may mean can be gathered from the facts that within the confines of their reservation have been discovered vast reserves of oil and coal in addition to forests which have remained undeveloped. But even more than this, their proposed constitution probably will ask that they be given back the right to regulate their own lives, and that the Indian bureau act merely in an advisory capacity. Thus it will be the first time in the history of the United States that any one of the conquered Indian tribes has reached a point of political and economic strength where it has been able to insist on the right of becoming a self-supporting and independent nation. Incidentally, the independent nation which the Navajos will ask be granted them, will not be a small one, for the Navajo territory still under their jurisdiction as a reservation is as large as New England. Present plans provide that the capital be established at Window Rock, 30 miles northwest of Gallup, N. M. New Mexico wanted the proposed capital at Gallup, but Indian politicians were opposed to such a location so that the seat of the new Navajo government would not be in close proximity to gambling dens, saloons, and all the hurdy-gurdy atmosphere of wide-open western towns that have proved the ruin of so many Indians. Council House Built. Actually the new capital already has been organized. The Federal government has spent close to $1,000,000 upon it. A fine council house has been built in which the new Navajo senate hopes to sit. It is also here that the commission of chiefs is engaged in drafting the proposed constitution, headed by such capable and distinguished Navajos as Choe Dodge, aged treaty chief; Yellow Policeman, Thomas Dodge, young Navajo attorney; Henry Tallman, Dashway Chischillgli, Jim Shirley and others.

Helen Wills Tells Frank Story Of Her Default To Miss Jacobs In Book Covering Tennis Career

BY STUART CAMERON, United Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK. (U.P.)—Helen Wills' story of Helen Wills' career in tennis, art and society is told in an aptly titled book, "Fifteen-Thirty" (Scribners). She prefers, it seems to be known as Helen Wills although her manuscript was in the publishers' hands before her divorce from Freddie—as she calls him—Moody. The story is pleasantly and modestly told in straight-forward style. All of her doubles victories it seems, were achieved, despite her own puny and stupid play, solely by the brilliance of her partner. That's an exaggeration, of course, but only slightly so. It is inspired by a vivid recollection of Miss Wills' performance in tandem competition at Forest Hills. Although the book is the story of probably the greatest and most famous woman tennis player the world has known, it is by no means a recitation of tennis matches. While Miss Wills does cover her playing career from the age of 14, her first United States championship at the age of 17 and on thru her final triumph at Wimbledon, she takes space to tell of her reactions and her psychology. Her impressions of Wimbledon, particularly of the hallowed center court, offer the best description of a place difficult to describe—difficult because it is a virtual impossibility to explain to one who has not been there why Wimbledon is Wimbledon. That's something that must be felt.

Famous Matches Discussed.

High points of the book are Miss Wills' report of her two most controversial matches. For the non-tennis-minded it might be set down here that in each case her opponent was Helen Jacobs. Both are Californians and it is safe to say that neither likes the other although there are no official quotations to that effect. The first of these controversial matches occurred at Forest Hills. It was the final of the 1933 women's national championship. At that time she had foregone play in the Weightman cup matches because of "sub-acute unstable fifth lumbar vertebra symptoms." This malady overtook her while playing Miss Jacobs, causing her to default after trailing love-three in games in the third set. Of course, deprived "the other Helen" of an outright victory, and became a great conversational topic. Many felt that "Little Poker Face" could have gone on and served faults and netted serves from her rival. Anyway, here are some of the things Miss Wills says about the match: "My feeling was one of surprise that I had reached the semi-finals at all. My mind would tell me where to go, but there was no answering action. It was curious; nor could I bend over, as a strange stiffness had taken hold of my right leg and back, and when I went against it there was a tremendous pain. I learned later that this vise-like rigidity was muscle spasm which is brought on by the muscles trying to protect injured nerves and tissue. It was to take almost two years to disappear."

Won First, Last Second.

Miss Wills then tells of the post-mortem of the final match because of rain. "Finally the rain stopped, and it was possible to play the final match. There was only a small crowd, as interest had died down because of the delay. Helen Jacobs was my opponent. I won the first set, 8-6, which was long drawn out, and she won the second 6-3. We had long rallies and she was very steady. "It would have been a strenuous match for any player. I was trying to meet the competition of the match and the same time was carrying on another fight within myself—one that was between my brain, which was commanding, and my muscles, which were bound in an iron-clad spasm trying to protect the injured nerves of my back. When the match went into the third set I had to give up, as I knew it was the end when the stadium began to swirl around in the air. I managed to get up to the umpire's stand and said 'I can't go on.' "If I had fainted on the court, it would have been thought a more conclusive finish to the match in the eyes of many of the onlookers, for then they would have been convinced that I could not continue. However, my choice was instinctive rather than premeditated. Had I been able to think clearly I might have chosen to remain."

"It was unfortunate that Miss Jacobs could not have had a complete victory, as it would have been had I been able to remain a little longer on the court. But, being naturally selfish, I thought only of myself. I could understand her feeling of disappointment, but the match would have ended in this way no matter against whom I had been playing. The other match was the finals of the All-England championship at Wimbledon in 1935. Miss Wills tells of winning the first set of this match, 6-3 and losing the second, 3-6. Of the deciding set she writes, "Miss Jacobs then stepped one more game ahead to lead at 5 to 3, and reached what could have been the very last point of the match, point set. Here she missed a fairly easy shot, a lob of mine which she volleyed outside. I knew naturally, that the point set had been saved, but there was no way of telling that the match itself had been rescued. During the last couple of games, my 'wind' returned. After the recovery of the set point, however, I had never felt as confident in any match within my memory. I was not sure that the set was mine, by any means, because looking ahead to the conclusion of a match is beyond the demand of the moment."

In Mental Daze. "As we left the court, in order to make sure, I asked the first person I met in the hall of the clubhouse if it were true that I had won. It happened to be a friend, who was very excited 'What!' he roared crossly. 'You don't know whether you've won or not—and I have just died six times in the last set!'" Of the generally accepted belief that Miss Wills and Miss Jacobs are unfriendly, she writes: "We happen not to be close friends because there was some difference in our ages. Also an interest in tennis does not mean that all players are close friends any more than all golfers or all swimmers because of the fact that they enjoy the same sport. But she was hardly an enemy! The old idea—the same field, the same honors beckoning, both from the same part of the world, etc.—made it seem as if there ought to be intense rivalry which could be used for added interest in describing our matches. As a matter of fact, I had by that time passed through several years of tennis, and had long since known that such ideas were foolishness. She was one among other players I had met."

ADVANTAGE OF THE BREAKS TAKEN BY THE CRANES EARLY

BY BILL COLLYNS.

Two separate tributes were paid the late Arthur Niebuhr, Jr., head coach of the Crane high school Cranes who died in a Colorado hospital last Sunday following an emergency operation for appendicitis, at the Crane-Midland football tilt here Friday night, one tribute coming from the fans who stood at silent attention for one minute while Val Borum, member of the Midland high school band, played taps immediately preceding the opening kickoff, and the other coming from the members of the Crane team immediately following the opening kickoff, the scrappy and fast-charging Cranes clinching the district 7-B encounter for their departed coach in the first quarter when they scored four touchdowns in rapid succession to annex the setto by a 25 to 13 count.

And what an unusual game it was. It is doubted if there is a word in the English language (slang included) which would properly describe the band of football played out there on Lackey Field Friday evening in the first real football weather of the season. The tilt was check full of breaks of various sorts, blocked kicks, fumbles, recoveries, etc., with the alert Cranes taking advantage of every opportunity. The Crane fans are perhaps terming it as a marvelous ball game, the important thing to them being that their squad came out on the long end of the 25 to 13 score. The thing might have looked different to the home town fans had the score been reversed. Anyway, the visitors from Crane county won the game 25 to 13, and if you will remember, the Cranes had been given a tow touchdown edge over the Bulldogs.

It all started off so suddenly that the Bulldogs were almost demoralized, the Cranes having scored four touchdowns and answered once before the domestics knew just what it was all about. It was not until the second chucker that the Bulldogs woke up to the fact that they were trailing by 25 points and during that second quarter they rallied to score their two counters. On one or two occasions it looks as though the Bulldogs might be on their way for additional counters, but the coveted touchdowns always failed to materialize. And for the second consecutive the locals did not complete a single pass.

It Happened Thusly. The touchdown plays occurred in this remarkable fashion. Crane kicked off to the Bulldogs, who, in one way or another, muffed the kick-off, Crane receiving possession of the ball on the Midland 30 yard line. It took just two more plays to make the counter, Brandon, ball carrier deluxe, toting the ball on both occasions, Crane had scored on the third play of the game, and they had kicked off too. Sharp failed to convert from placement, Score 6-0.

Fans contributed that counter to luck but in less than a minute the Cranes had scored again. Crane kicked-off, the ball bounding past safety-man Francis and on into the end-zone where Edwards, Crane end, fell on it for the second touchdown. And just to straighten out some of the fans, if a member of the team kicking off recovers the kick-off in the end-zone, it is immaterial whether or not a member of the opposing team touches the ball during the play. Sharp booted the goal for the extra point. Score 13-0.

It was only a matter of a few seconds before the boys from Crane had scored again, and then the fans began to wonder. Crane had kicked off to the Bulldogs, who, after possibly two unsuccessful attempts to score, had kicked off to Francis, Crane end, rushed kicker. Francis, blocked the punt, picked up the ball and loped approximately 36 yards for the third touchdown of the evening. A running play failed to add the extra point. Score 19-0. What, Again.

The fans thought that was enough scoring for the Cranes, but the visitor were not through. Before the quarter was over they had added another six points to the total and the fans had practically given up. The boys had been playing around out there for a few minutes and in some way or another, the Bulldogs found themselves in possession of the ball very near their own goal line. It was decided to kick out, but again this boy Howard upset their plans. This Howard can be very inconsiderate at times. Anyway Howard blocked the kick. Brumette, Crane tackle, recovered the ball before the Midland goal for the last touchdown of the evening for the Cranes. Sharps attempted kick was blocked. Score 25-0.

And believe it or not, all that took place in the initial quarter. Bulldogs Tally. Led by big Woody Adams, tackle who played a whale of a game all the way, the Bulldogs came to life in the second quarter, took advantage of a couple of breaks, played heads up football and made a

'Mounty' Guides Joe Through Crowd After Game

Joe DiMaggio had his own private police escort after the final game of the world series in New York, and he needed it, for after the Yankee outfield star knocked the longest homer of the series, the crowd's adulation knew no bounds. The mounted copper is shown above as he guided the bare-headed Joe from the dressing room to his car after the Yankees won the world's baseball championship.

STEAK DINNER FOR FOOTBALL BOYS

Members of the football team were honor guests at a steak dinner held at the local school building Wednesday, Oct. 6. Mr. Ellis Conner and Mr. O. H. Lamar were donors of the food which was prepared by the second year foods class. The menu consisted of steak, gravy, sliced tomatoes, rolls, potatoes, milk, and ice cream. The following girls served: Marjion Newton, Marie Newton, Phyllis Richman, Frances Nell, Myrtle Jean Butler, Lucille Cathey, Louise Bryan, and Betty Arnett. Thirty-five boys, members of the football squad, were present. Other guests included Supt. W. W. Lackey, D. D. Shifflett, L. W. Taylor, R. W. Meyer, R. C. Fagg, W. E. Weathers, L. M. Freels, Miss Ina Mae Vaught, and members of the board of education.

GOOSE STRANGELY DROWNED.

LINDSAY, Calif. (U.P.)—A full-grown goose was drowned here in three inches of water. The fowl toppled head first into a pail when it perched on the side for a drink. Unable to extricate itself, it drowned.

Guinea Pigs Warble, But It's Accident

WINNIPEG (U.P.)—Guinea pigs that warble like canaries are something new to the laboratory of the scientific investigator. Nonetheless, this is the novel attraction offered by the laboratory of Dr. Alfred Savage here. He is using them in experiments on sleeping sickness among western horses. As though to make up for the fact that they stubbornly refuse to react to the deadly virus with which they have been inoculated the guinea pigs move about their pens emitting a cheerful, bird-like warble. "Yes, it's a melodious note," said Dr. Savage. "They do it with their vocal cords. It's a whistle in two notes. The harmony is not intentional, and if that's a song we are hearing I am sure it's sheer coincidence."

WOMAN TO BE SURVEYOR.

LORAIN, O. (U.P.)—Miss Edith Nichols, daughter of a prominent Lorain surveyor and engineer, is learning her father's profession. She plans to be "out in the field" soon.

PLANNING THE YEAR'S WORK AHEAD

Suggestion of Chamber of Commerce Manager Bill Collins to map the chamber's 1938 program along definite rather than general lines appears to us to be one of the most constructive ideas recently proffered in civic work.

Manager Collins would depart from the chamber's long custom of appointing general committees for highways, publicity, civic improvement, petroleum, livestock and other branches of activity. Instead, he would have worked out by the board of directors certain highways to be worked on during the year, certain forms of publicity to be carried on, certain forms of civic improvement in which the chamber could aid other agencies, concrete acts which would be of interest and help to oil men or the petroleum industry, and so on through the various angles of chamber of commerce work.

After deciding upon just what projects should and could be carried to completion in the twelve month period, the leaders or committees would be named by the chamber's 1938 president to see that each job was done.

As an instance of the chamber manager's definite proposals, he offers under No. 9 of his tract, headed "Civic":

1. Request that additional space be added to post-office building.
2. Sponsor an active campaign for additional street paving and sidewalks within the city limits.
3. Attempt to have street markers put up over entire city.
4. Secure city park with large modern swimming pool and other recreational facilities.
5. Sponsor spring and fall clean-up campaigns.
6. Sponsor traffic safety campaign.

In each of ten general heads, the chamber of commerce executive has offered projects just as definite and just as progressive.

A chamber of commerce manager, alone, cannot carry out any constructive program involving the entire citizenship, but must have the aid and cooperation of the public. Become interested in the 1938 chamber of commerce program. Go to the office and read the suggested program and make further suggestions for additions, changes or alterations. Help plan 1938 for Midland's most active and most constructive year.

AMERICA HAS NO NEED FOR RABBLE ROUSERS

Walter B. Pitkin's plea for "a rabble rouser of the right" would seem to be about the least helpful of all the many suggestions that have been made for the preservation and regeneration of this great nation of ours.

Prof. Pitkin voiced this plea in an article in the current issue of Advertising Agency. He was complaining that those who have most reason to want to see the traditional American values preserved in this era of change are not being vocal enough about it; and he wound up with the following exhortation:

"The hour has come for words which smell, for words which set fire to men and things, for words which loosen avalanches back in the mountains. The pat phrase, the polite patter and the unctuous argument will never save America. Heaven send us a rabble rouser of the right!"

One would suppose that a man with Prof. Pitkin's broad outlook would realize by this time that of all calamities which can descend on a nation these days, none can easily surpass that which is embodied in the person of a really gifted rabble rouser.

When you get such a person uttering "words which loosen avalanches back in the mountains," you never know just what those avalanches are going to sweep away. The post-war history of Europe offers some shining examples.

For the rabble rouser is a man who calls on men to think with their emotions rather than with their minds. His "words which set fire to men" are, by definition, the kind of words which men use when they have grown tired of trying to solve their problems by intellectual effort. And when men get into that state of mind, they are headed for trouble just as surely as night follows day.

Hitler went up and down Germany for years, his entire stock in trade consisting of just the sort of words Prof. Pitkin is talking about. In the course of time, conditions being bad and the outlook dark, he persuaded the German people to listen to him and to confide their future to his hands. He "loosened avalanches back in the mountains"; does any sane American want similar avalanches loosened in this country?

Hitler is not the only example, of course. Every dictatorship in Europe got its start in precisely the same way. And when you stop to think what democracy really means, the fact is not hard to understand.

Democracy is based on the assumption that people will use their gray matter rather than their feelings to solve their problems. It takes for granted that there will be enough coolness, patience and good sense to permit issues to be argued out, and that things will be settled rationally rather than emotionally.

Of all the things that our America does not need, a rabble rouser—whether of the right, the left or the dead-center—stands at the head of the list.

THE SAFEST RIDE

Railroad passenger traffic has been coming back in the last few years. Part of this is due to lower fares and part of it to the new equipment and faster schedules which the railroads have been adopting. But a good share must be attributed to the fact that travel by train is by far the safest form of travel in existence.

As a sample, consider this fact: during the first six months of 1937, not one passenger on any railroad in the United States lost his life in a train accident. Impressive as that record is, it becomes even more so when you realize that the railroads carried nearly 247,000,000 passengers in that time.

Neither air traffic nor auto traffic can present comparable figures. Such a safety record speaks volumes for the efficiency of modern railroad operation—and is an excellent indication that the railroads will continue to be our greatest mass transportation agency.

What To Do With That Cotton Surplus?

Church Schools U. S. Priests In Labor And Social Problems

This is the first of two stories on the native work of the Roman Catholic Church in impressing on the labor and social questions of the day the principles enunciated by the Popes as interpreted by Catholic scholars and sociologists.

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

The fact that the Roman Catholic church has not sponsored, and does not plan to sponsor distinctively Catholic labor unions in United States, as it does in Canada, does not mean that no effort is being made to impress on the labor and social movements of the day the Catholic principles laid down by the Popes.

The social action department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference for 19 years has been working to interest priests in labor and social problems. Just a year ago an impetus was given this work by the general meeting of archbishops and bishops, which ordered a series of social action schools for the clergy. Such summer schools were held this summer in Milwaukee, Toledo, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Some 275 priests attended these schools of social action, which included courses in subjects like economics, labor legislation, the labor movement, and the Papal encyclicals bearing especially on labor and social reform.

Laymen Join Schools.

Speakers like Msgr. John A. Ryan, who as head of the social action department is credited with being "the father of minimum wage legislation in the United States," and Msgr. Francis J. Haas, one of the ablest and most experienced of labor conciliators and mediators, held classes for an hour a day, and worked with student-priests. Local priests told of local conditions and situations. A third hour was in the form of a seminar in which local laymen, labor leaders, officials, lawyers and others joined.

Next year it is planned to increase the number of these schools and extend the work.

These and similar activities in the labor and social reform field are an effort to translate into action the principles laid down almost 50 years ago in Pope Leo XIII's encyclical "Rerum Novarum," and in 1931 by Pope Pius XI in the encyclical "Quadragesimo Anno." For the social question, says the former, "no solution can be found apart from the intervention of religion and the church." Pope Leo's encyclical is referred to as the Magna Charta on which all Christian activities in social matters are ultimately based.

The labor encyclical set forth general principles:

That private property is a natural right, which the state should not take away, but should control and restrict in the common interest.

That both capital and labor are entitled to a just share in produced goods, neither dominating, but the state maintaining a just balance between them.

That fathers of families should receive a wage sufficient for ordinary domestic needs. That distribution of wages, salaries and prices should be so arranged as to keep employment steady.

That organization of workers is desirable, the form of syndicates by industries in which both employer and employee are members being preferred, with the state always ready to see that neither exercises power to the detriment of the public generally.

That it is not the private ownership of the means of production that is at fault, but the power over the lives of men which those private owners have arrogated to themselves by that ownership.

That along with trade unionism must go education in the moral aspect of the social problem, in order that a world fallen almost back to paganism may create a "Christian renewal of human society."

Subscribers to this proposal included P. T. Fagan, Francis J. Gorman, Thomas Kennedy, and Phil Murray, all C. I. O. leaders, and Edward Keating and Mathew Tighe of the A. F. of L. Social students and active workers in labor conciliation causes like Msgr. Haas, Dr. John A. Lapp, Ed McGrady, Msgr. Ryan, Rev. Frederick Seidenberg and Frank P. Walsh, also approved the plan.

Msgr. John A. Ryan

Msgr. Francis J. Haas

Thus, while Catholic policy regarding labor and social reform takes the form of a separate Catholic union in Canada, in the United States it takes the form of increasingly effective education of priests to prepare them to act as mediators, conciliators and even participants in local situations, and in educating the laity to uphold in general unions and specific situations the Catholic labor and social principles handed down by the Popes.

Red Ships Divide Cargo of Refugees

For the comfort of 1400 refugees taken aboard the Cooperazia in Spain, about half of them were transferred to the sister ship, Felix Dzerjinsky, during a halt at Kent, England, on the journey to Leningrad. One of the transferred children is just starting down the gangplank to join others on the deck of the Dzerjinsky.

The Town Quack

A newspaper does some things to accommodate its supporters and then, now and then, it does NOT do something, believing the non-activity to be in favor of its constituents. Yesterday, the management passed up an opportunity to secure the services of a high class, reputable and aggressive staff who make a business of putting on special editions for newspapers. They have some wonderful specimens to exhibit and no doubt they could do a fine job in Midland. But in order to pay themselves for their six or eight weeks of work, also to pay the newspaper for the mechanical work, materials and incidental expenses, the advertising rates must be practically doubled. The management charges its patrons a fair rate, rather low in fact compared to the rising costs of operation, and does not feel like handling a proposition which would require pressure and salesmanship to double the rates. A lump sum of cash in one issue would be fine, but we are going to be here month in and month out, serving the advertisers at all times. And too, we think we have a pretty fair staff and have been able to get out some creditable editions in connection with major events in Midland, with considerable extra circulation in neighboring towns, and without increase in rates. Our next feature edition will be the Christmas shopping number, to tie in with heavy purchases made by Midland merchants who will cater to a big holiday trade. This edition will come off the press December 12, according to present plans, and will reach Christmas shoppers throughout the Permian Basin.

Without the support of the business institutions of Midland, this little city would not have had a daily paper for the past ten years. And without a daily paper the last ten years, Midland would not be the little city it is now. And too, if the merchants didn't get substantial results from their advertising, this little daily in this little city wouldn't be getting repeat orders for advertising right along with the merchants. We all work together for mutual advantage. A newspaper has to make some profit to serve the public, but it has to serve the public to make any money. We are in business to serve the public at every opportunity and to make every fair dollar that will come our way. With our thirteen full time employees, and their dependents, we put the money right back in circulation. We appreciate your business and hope you appreciate ours.

See you at Sunday school.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—News leaks from the Maritime Commission indicate that Chairman Joe Kennedy, before he quits at the end of the year, will hand out a parcel of headaches for various ship operators.

Current subsidies will be whittled or drastically cut in the case of some shipping lines, if anticipated recommendations are used. One of the commissioner's economic study of the shipping industry are carried out.

About 85 ocean-going ships now enjoy federal subsidies granted for six months in settlement of canceled ocean mail contracts, but Kennedy is trying to figure out how much of the money is justified from economic and military standpoints. Privately, it's promised that the day is over when ship operators could reach into the public till and see what they could abstract. Some shipping officials and lines which have been supported in luxury are expected to suffer.

Current temporary subsidies will be replaced after Jan. 1 by long-term subsidy contracts subject to possible annual revision.

Dahl in No Great Danger.

OFFICIALS here refused to be agitated over the dramatic court-martial of Harold Dahl, American aviator, by the Francoites in Spain. Dahl had sailed from Mexico with a Spanish passport under a Spanish name and was shot down while flying for Loyalist forces last July. He and the lovely Mrs. Dahl and the American correspondents began an effective publicity campaign at once. Officially the State Department can't do anything when an American serving in a foreign army is said to be threatened with death. Actually it usually does and an American consul secretly reminded Franco that it wasn't a polite practice to execute prisoners of war.

Franco agreed. Reason for the well-publicized court-martial and the death sentence promptly canceled by Franco is not known here. Probably Franco welcomed the chance to suggest to Americans that he was a pretty good fellow after all. Everyone ought to be happy, suggests a State Department official, because newspapers had an excuse to keep printing photographs of the very beautiful Mrs. Dahl.

The Scheme Works.

THE Iowa City Power & Light Company's suit to invalidate a PWA loan-grant for a municipal power plant was dropped the other day because the city had decided it didn't need the plant. PWA thinks it can explain the change of mind. It made a half-million dollar

"Just Once, Lew"

LEW DOUGLAS, former head of Canada's McGill university, was an extreme in his opposition to federal spending as the most rabid New Deal spending enthusiast was in advocacy. Once at a conference on the question of what could be done for postal service substitutes, many of whom were living rather desperately on three or four dollars a week, he clashed with Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, then assistant postmaster general and recently conspicuous for his genial insistence on helping welcome Roosevelt to Wyoming.

"I don't want to be brutal," began Douglas, addressing the conferees, but—"I know, Lew," broke in O'Mahoney, "but why don't you try being human just for once?"

allotment in 1935, the power company, besides blocking the project through court action, announced a rate cut but impounded the resultant savings in accounts for each customer with the announcement that the reduction would be retroactive and effective only if the city decided to have no public plant.

The money mounted up to $72,000 and the average electricity user found he had $25 or more in his special account. The company kept reminding with each monthly bill and urging customers to agitate for their money. The scheme worked.

Airdales and collies outnumbered all other breeds of dogs in service with the Allies during the World War.

STORIES IN STAMPS

WHERE WASHINGTON OUTMOVED BRITISH

SENSING British strategy, Gen. George Washington in October, 1776, withdrew his forces from the north end of Manhattan and concentrated them in the much stronger position near White Plains, N. Y.

Capt. Nathan Hale had just been captured on Manhattan Island, while seeking information within the British lines, and had been executed as a spy.

On the 28th General Howe advanced to Washington's position and found the Americans strongly entrenched and quite equal in numbers. He hesitated, doubted and, finally, spurred on to do something, sent 4000 men to storm Chatterton's hill. After a sharp, short action, some 1600 Americans retreated to the main army, having lost only half as many men as the British.

Encouraged, Howe then sent for reinforcements and waited two days. The third it rained, and the next, when Howe finally moved, he found Washington had withdrawn to a higher and quite impregnable position. Here Washington held all the passes and awaited attack. Howe studied the picture for two or three days longer and then withdrew without a shot to Dobb's Ferry, a wasted maneuver. The so-called battle of White Plains is commemorated by a 1926 U. S. stamp.

Marconi Statue To Be Imposing

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A monument typifying the many scientific achievements of the late Guglielmo Marconi, wizard of the wireless, has been proposed by Prof. Frederick W. Schweigardt.

Schweigardt, American sculptor of German descent, is outstanding for sculptured works he has created in the Museum of Science and Industry in Rockefeller Center, New York; in the Deutsches Museum in Munich, and in many other museums and art centers.

A model of the proposed memorial worked in plastic clay consists of a broad eight-sided stepped base surmounted by a smaller secondary base around the eight sides of which are plaques depicting episodes in the great inventor's career. The sinking of the Titanic, airplanes being landed and guided by radio, and the first successful trans-Atlantic transmission of a radio message are depicted.

Above this section rises a still smaller support. Niche statues of Marconi, Portola, Junipero Serra and other figures prominent in California history and growth appear on the sides of this portion of the monument.

The statue to this point is to be constructed of granite, while above the support containing the figures will rise four slender, stainless steel columns, 30 feet high. They will be surmounted by a winged globe of bronze. Poised atop the globe, a bronze figure twice the size of an average man, with arms outstretched, bearing in each hand a ball from which spring jagged streaks of lightning, will complete the memorial.

The bronze figure has a four-fold significance, Schweigardt pointed out. The jagged bolts of electrical energy represent radio. The outstretched arms and the wings of the globe represent navigation. However, he said, the wings also signify Marconi's contributions to aviation. The globe typifies the great inventor's achievement in linking the world by wireless.

The statue will be erected under the sponsorship of the Italian consulate, it was announced. Funds to defray the cost of the memorial will be obtained by public subscription.

Waistline on Bulge, Says Buffalo Tailor

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—If round waistlines are any indication of better times, Buffalo's male population is enjoying a return to prosperity.

Emil Schwind, designer of men's fashions, revealed that the waistline of male buffaloonians is from one to three inches larger than it was two years ago, and still is expanding.

"Men are drinking more beer, and with the return of prosperity are eating more," Schwind reported as the reason for the increased girth of the male population.

"Clothing designers have to allow more freedom around the waist than they did a few years ago," Schwind said.

In defense of Buffalo women, Miss Dora A. McFarland, women's stylist, reports that they have the waistline under strict control and are tending to get slimmer.

High School News

SIX WEEKS' TESTS.

Six weeks' tests will be held next week. To the students who have worked hard from the first week of school this means only a small amount of review, but to those students who have "loafed" these many weeks, six weeks' tests mean many hours of "cramming." To some who do not have enough ambition ever to try to pass this means just another school week.

It is always good strategy to make good grades for the first six weeks. You may not realize it, but if you make a good impression on the teachers from the start you will have a more enjoyable school year. So just remember that the tests start Tuesday with the following schedule:

- Tuesday, October 19
- Second period.
- Sixth period.
- Wednesday, October 20
- First period.
- Third period.
- Fifth period.
- Thursday, October 21
- Seventh period.

MARY MERLE HOWARD TO EDIT ANNUAL.

Mary Merle Howard was elected Editor-in-chief of the Annual staff of Midland high school, Tuesday, Oct. 12, by the senior class.

For the office of Associate Editors, there were three nominees: Jane Doran, Ruth Jo Shirey, and Wanda Ticknor. In the run-off Jane Doran was elected.

There were also three nominees for Business Manager: Willie May Hale, Louise Elkin, and Ruth Jo Shirey. Louise Elkin was elected.

These officers will be the head of the Annual staff. They are all good students and very capable of handling their offices. Miss Vera Hefner and Mr. J. C. Moore will sponsor the annual staff again this year.

COURTESY IN DRIVING.

On Mr. Lackey's late trip to the Texas University—Oklahoma University football game last Friday he had a pleasing and gratifying experience. He was driving along behind a boy in a truck when suddenly, without any apparent reason, the boy turned out of the road and pointed to a spot farther ahead. Mr. Lackey looked ahead and saw a timber lying across the road and about the color of the road. He was warned barely in time to turn out of the road. The boy then got out and threw the timber off the road. Mr. Lackey said that he was glad to see anyone show that much consideration for a fellow motorist and cited this incident to encourage better and more courteous driving among the high school students.

FIVE NEW TEACHERS ADDED TO HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY.

Five new teachers have been added to the high school faculty this year.

Miss Joe Hestand, who formerly taught English at Slaton, Texas, and now will teach English here, received her B. A. degree at the Texas State College for Women and her M. A. degree at Texas Technological college. She has twelve hours graduate work in Spanish from the University of Mexico. Miss Hestand says Midland is a very nice place to live, and the students are very lovely. The faculty is the nicest she has ever known.

Miss Gadya Penson, who formerly taught at the Ranger Junior College and high school, is to teach history here this year. She received her B. A. degree from Arkansas State Teachers' College at Conway and her masters degree from Peabody College at Nashville, Tenn. She has done graduate work at the University of Colorado. Miss Penson declares that Midland is the best town in Texas. She likes all the teachers, the band, and students. There is nothing she doesn't like except the dust.

Miss Merle Smith who came to Midland from Alpine received her B. A. degree from Texas State College for Women and studied on her masters degree there last summer. She has the reputation of being one of the state's best mathematics teachers. Since her arrival here Miss Smith has found the residents of Midland to be very congenial and obliging.

Mr. Meyer, assistant coach and commercial drawing instructor, received his B. A. degree from Rice Institute and has 28 hours of work at the University of Texas.

"This is a very good school. I've never seen a better high school spirit," said Coach Meyer.

When asked what he thought of high school, Mr. Stark, D. O. sponsor, replied, "This school is outstanding and progressive in its activities. There is a cooperation and a noticeable lack of the 'ruff-neck' element among the students. The superintendent is to be praised for his work." Mr. Stark received his B. A. degree from Howard-Payne College and has done graduate work at the Texas University and A. & M. He has had two years of electrical engineering at the former Boston Tech.

INTRAMURAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT IN FINAL SWING.

The intramural tennis games were started off Monday the 11th with the first of the girls' singles. Margaret Erwin won over Jean Lewis with a score 6-1 and 6-2. Julianan Cowden won over Barbara Jean Harper with a 6-4 and 6-2 score.

Besides the girls mentioned above, the following are booked for games: Fredia Fae Turner, Jessa Lynn Tuttle and Eleca Patter.

Winners to date in the boys' division are: Button Estes, Jack Reid, and E. P. Lawson.

Other boys in the contests are: A. W. Jones, Horace Brown, Gordon Geddes, Glen Brunson, Duffy Stanley, Jack Nobles, Marvin Park, Bob Dozier, Frank Wade Arrington, Darrel Johnson, Odie Kelly, Eugene Richman, Jesse Barber, J. W. Davis, Carl Ward, Billy Joe Hall, Ed Dorsey, Fred Middleton, E. J. Ragdale, Bobby York, Elmer Blizzel, and Foster King.

SAFETY STRESSED IN PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS.

The public speaking class has started its annual safety speeches for your benefit. The classes have interviewed garage mechanics about the many wrecked cars here. They have also used the public library extensively to look up statistics on automobile accidents. Two out of three deaths due to accidents, as was found out, occur at dusk.

These classes intend to present their speeches to the public in a short time.

"David Wafford, E. P. Lawson, Brooks Roberts, Frank Nixon, and Helen Armstrong have presented very good speeches," reported Miss Bruner, head of the department of speech.

SENIORS WILL SELECT RINGS ON OCTOBER 27.

Jewelry companies who wish to offer rings for the choice of the senior class will submit samples on Tuesday, October 27. It is hoped that the selection can be made at an early date in order that the rings may be completed before Christmas.

THE NEW GYMNASIUM

Midland is going to have a gymnasium! After about four years of wrangling over that subject, the long needed and long-expected gym is about to become a reality.

About four years ago, the people of Midland voted a bond issue for this gym, but, when the bids were made to build it, the lowest bid was about $20,000 higher than the money put up, so the plan was dropped.

On November 6 another bond issue is to be voted, and, if it carries, Midland high school will have a $90,000 gym, $50,000 through the school, and $40,000 from the federal government.

The gym will contain a band room and double basketball court, and will seat about 1200 people.

WITH THE EX-STUDENTS

1937 ex-students that are attending Texas University this year are: Rimmel Cowan, La Moine Sindorf, Ralph Lamar, Robert Tanner, Robert Payne, B. C. Girdley, Velma Johnson.

Anna Beth Bedford, Mary Beth Scruggs, and Dorothy Lou Speed are "digging" at T. S. C. W.

Our handsome and popular, Newbie Ellis, is giving A. & M. a new bit of his talent.

Lucille Guffey is attending McMurry.

Gerald Self, J. Frank Miles, and Russell Wright are learning to be Soldiers of Fortune at N. M. M. I. Darleen and Gertrude Vance are at Texas Tech. Clark Leggett is the most popular "fish" at Tech.

Robert Dunagan and Thurman Bryan registered at Hardin-Simmons University.

Schreiner Institute has our beloved John Rettig.

Bill Estes is being different. He's at Sul Ross.

Pady Sue Whitcomb moved to Dallas last year. She's attending S. M. U.

RHYTHM NEWS.

The completed roll of the band is now 114, that is with beginners and juniors. The concert band is made up of the most progressive students, of which there are 37. This band will give concerts and will go to the contests this year.

There are about fifty five students in the main high school band and they will play at the next performance.

The band has been given three new marches, "W. M. B.," "Cherio," and "Texas, Our Texas," and three new overtures, "Western World," "Yankee Rhythm," both of which are "Persian Market," a very difficult piece. The band is progressing very nicely and hopes to bring back many trophies this year.

BOW-WOW.

The team and their girl friends are certainly a question. If I am right, at the present, Captain Wood-ful backer, Adams, that bashful backer, Helen Armstrong, and Helen Armstrong have presented very good speeches," reported Miss Bruner, head of the department of speech.

STUDENTS BACK TO SCHOOL.

Due to illness, several of the worthy students of Midland high school have been absent from school. Two of them are back attending their classes.

Joyce Beauchamp, a prominent member of the junior class, who had an operation for appendicitis September 25, returned to school this week feeling fine.

Bob Eldson, a well-known football player and a member of the sophomore class, also returned to classes this week. Bob had an appendicitis operation during September, too.

Many more students have been absent because of colds, due to the sudden change of weather within the past two weeks. However, everyone is on his guard to avoid disagreeable illness and absence.

MORE HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS GIVEN LIBRARY.

Mrs. Percy Mims gave the high school library fifteen copies of the 1936-37 edition of the Readers Digest.

The books are excellent reading for the high school students and are greatly appreciated by the library.

couple of touchdowns for themselves. The second quarter had not been long underway when Adams recovered a Crane fumble on the Crane two yard stripe. The locals were not to be denied and we believe it was Taylor, or at least someone said it was, who waded through the line for the six points. Adams converted from placement. Score 25-7.

It was not long after that first Midland tally that a swarm of Midland tacklers jarred a Crane ball carrier so that he fumbled the ball. Midland recovering on the Crane one yard marker and the locals had set themselves up for another touchdown. Pat McMullan, outstanding Midland ground gainer of the evening who was blasting away in there all the time, slipped through for the touchdown. Adams' kick was low. Score 25-13.

That was all the scoring. Crane had scored twice on blocked kicks and twice on muffed kick-offs and Midland had scored twice on fumbles. What a game. It was just one of those things.

Crane got right down there on the Midland goal line again in the third quarter, but an intercepted pass ended the drive. Crane exhibited a passing combination. Brandon to Woodfin, that was dangerous. Various of the Bulldogs sparked at times but that first quarter scoring attack was too much for them. Jay Francis, injured last week in practice played only a few minutes in the first quarter.

Two Beauties And The Beast!

Circus days are on the way to Midland Friday, October 22, with the announced engagement of the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus. With a personnel of 1,000 performers, 800 furred and feathered creatures, 400 horses and 255 elephants everything is bigger and better than ever. Two performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m.

Many Individuals Who Played Colorful Part In Ranger Oil Boom Will Be On Hand For Celebration On October 21

RANGER, Oct. 17.—When thousands return to Ranger for the twentieth anniversary celebration of the discovery of this oil field on Oct. 21, they will find that a number of individuals who played a colorful part in those stirring days still live here.

Mrs. Nannie Walker on whose farm the first test was drilled—a well that came in as a big gasser and, some weeks after the McCleskey came in, blew itself into an oil well, is still a resident of Ranger.

Police Chief Jim Ingram was a member of the police department during the boom. Fire Chief George Murphy likewise lived in Ranger then. Jack Rapp, who has shot more oil wells than any other nitroglycerin shooter in the history of oil still lives here.

M. H. Hagaman, Ranger's first mayor when the town was incorporated in 1919, still resides at his country home on the banks of Lake Hagaman. He will be present for the homecoming though deafness, which has overtaken him in recent years, will prevent him taking an active part in the celebration.

John Hassen and D. Joseph, who came to Ranger early in 1919 to engage in the dry goods business, are still doing a nice business in Ranger, in enlarged and improved stores, and the Bobo and Bobo Hardware store is still doing business in the same location it occupied during the boom days.

There will be many present residents of the town who are familiar to those who have visited Ranger since her more hectic days. There is C. E. May, who operated a drug store, but who is now in the insurance business; John Thurman, who headed one of Ranger's banks and was later mayor; Eddie Stance, who was present when the first oil in America was drilled in at Titusville, Pa., and who later was a driller in Ranger. Frank Champion, who drilled in the discovery well in Ranger, and dozens of others who have made Ranger their permanent home since the early days of oil production in the field.

HARVESTING OF COTTON AND FEED CROPS PROGRESSES DURING SEPTEMBER

Harvesting of cotton and feed crops progressed rapidly in Texas during September under the favorable harvesting conditions, and only late feed crops, pastures and ranges were damaged by the lack of moisture during the month. A material improvement was made in cotton prospects during the month, and other crop prospects remained practically unchanged from the September 1 forecast, according to the monthly crop report of the bureau of agricultural economics issued through the office of the agricultural statistician.

September was generally very dry, only local areas receiving moisture of consequence during the last half of the month. During the first week of September, rains fell over much of the state, but since that date very little moisture has fallen. Preparation of soil for fall planting made rapid progress, and small grains are being seeded rapidly in the south plains. The present conditions are ideal for harvest, but general rains are needed for ranges, small grains, citrus and winter vegetables.

The dry conditions during September damaged the late corn somewhat, and the indicated production on October 1 at 74,300,000 bushels was 2,250,000 bushels below the forecast a month earlier. The crop is very poor in South Texas but is much better than last year in the north central and eastern districts. The commercial corn area in the southwest corner of the Panhandle has a good crop for the first time in several years.

Harvest of early planted sorghum was completed or well advanced by October 1, but the late crop for fall harvest in the dry areas made little progress and the prospects were lowered during the month. The forecast of production at 51,216,000 bushels compares with 31,711,000 bushels produced last year and 55,091,000 bushels the 5-year (1928-32) average production.

Local rains through the rice belt have delayed harvest somewhat but threshing generally is well advanced. The indicated yield at 50 bushels per acre is slightly below the average, but the forecast of production at 12,200,000 bushels is well above the average due to the substantial increase in acreage seeded for the 1937 harvest.

A 1937 cotton crop of 5,025,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight is forecast for Texas, based upon conditions as of October 1. The present forecast represents an increase of 403,000 bales, or 9% above the September forecast and compares with 2,938,000 bales produced in 1936; 2,965,000 bales in 1935; and an average production for the 5-year period (1928-1932) of 4,530,000 bales. In all areas of the state a good crop is being produced, and in practically no large area could cotton be considered generally poor. Weather conditions through September were almost ideal for the maturity and harvest of cotton, and as a result there has been practically no loss of time in the fields.

On this basis, the full session equivalence is 331 students. It should be remembered, too, that a large part of the extension class teaching is on the senior college level and a majority of the students in these classes are of graduate standing and, under the regulations of the faculty, received graduate credit on the campus for the work taken in the extension centers.

The October 1 forecast of 107,100,000 pounds of peanuts is the same as forecast on September 1, and compares with a production of 99,100,000 pounds in 1936 and 87,224,000 pounds during the 5-year (1928-32) period.

A pecan crop of 24,940,000 pounds is indicated by conditions on October 1. This is slightly above the forecast of a month ago and compares with 10,400,000 pounds produced last year and the 5-year (1928-32) average production of 24,360,000 pounds.

All tame hay prospects declined slightly during the month and the present forecast of 901,000 tons is 47,000 tons below the September 1 forecast and compares with 815,000 tons harvested in 1936 and 638,000 tons the 5-year average production.

The weather continued unfavorable during September for the development of the citrus crop in Texas. Conditions earlier in the season were favorable but rainfall was deficient through August and September and temperatures were above normal both months. The condition of grapefruit at 59 per cent of normal points to a total production of 8,200,000 boxes for the 1937-38 season, compared with 9,231,000 boxes produced last season. The condition of oranges was reported at 65 per cent of normal and indicates production of 1,850,000 boxes, compared with 2,000,000 boxes produced during the 1936-37 season.

term in March, 1933. Reis said he was unable to finish the picture at the time, consequently, one arm was missing.

But Melba Perry, an itinerant painter of Hamilton, O., told newspapermen that he had painted the picture. Perry said he often stayed overnight in jails, during a trip through the country several years ago, and had done the painting while he was in St. Louis.

Both Melba and Reis have painted new pictures of Christ to support their claims. Both pictures, however, differ widely from the one in the cell.

The Queen Mary has the largest whistles ever fitted to a ship. It uses three seven-foot instruments, two on the fore funnel and one on the midships funnel.

Jail Painting Claimed By 2 Ex-Prisoners

ST. LOUIS (U.P.)—The mystery of the painting of a one-armed Christ which has adorned the wall of a cell in city jail for several years was deepened today with two former inmates of the cell claiming credit for the picture.

Martin Reis, 35-year-old house painter, told authorities he painted the picture while serving a

GENERAL UNIVERSITY EXTENSION NOW RECOGNIZED AS A MAJOR ACTIVITY

AUSTIN, Oct. 17.—General University Extension has come to be recognized as one of the three major activities of a modern state university, the other two being teaching on the campus and research by the faculty, it is pointed out by Dean T. H. Shelby of the University of Texas Division of Extension, in his biennial report for the period ended August 31, 1936.

Offering of courses by correspondence is one of the principal extension services afforded by the University Division of Extension, and Dean Shelby's report revealed that correspondence students earned 7,943 semester hours in forty different courses during the two-year period, out of 11,988 semester hours closed out by the Extension Teaching Bureau. The largest amount of this was done in education, 2,002 hours, followed by 1,242 in government.

"There is an encouraging increase in the number of semester hours closed out and in the number of hours of credit earned during the biennium under consideration over that of the previous biennium," the report said.

"Registration of ex-service men for the biennium 1934-36 was 208. The cost of this service to the bureau for the grading of papers, for which we have no legislative appropriation, was $2,055.50 for the biennium. In addition to the cost of grading papers, etc., of ex-service men involved an expense of approximately $600 a year. Provision should be made for these items in the appropriation bill. The amount for the last year of the biennium to cover the grading of papers was $1,126.25. Thus $1,300 per year should be included for instruction of ex-service men of whom, under the statutes, we can make no charge.

"Extension classes were conducted during the biennium in 22 centers. Credits were earned to the amount of 3,585 semester hours.

"Failures or drops represented 312 semester hours and visitors, who paid a smaller fee, and who received no credit, totaled 324 semester hours.

"If we take the semester hours closed out in correspondence courses during the biennium and add to this the semester hours taught in extension classes, not counting visitors, we find a total of 15,885 semester hours for the biennium, or an average of 7,942 each year. This is equivalent to a full-time, long session college of 265 students, where each student takes the full load of thirty semester hours. The average load on the main campus is nearer 24 semester hours a year. On this
