

Bond Issue For Gymnasium Carries Margin of Nearly 4-1 IS REGISTERED

MARGIN OF NEARLY 4-1 IS REGISTERED

Midland Independent School District voters marched to the polls Saturday and voted by a margin of almost four to one bonds of $40,000 for the erection of a gymnasium here. The total number of ballots cast was 172 with 135 for passage of the bonds, 36 against and one ballot mutilated. The $40,000 voted here will be supplemented by a PWA grant of $35,000 for construction of a $75,000 building to serve as gymnasium, with departments for physical education for both boys and girls, also for an auditorium and for manual training departments.

Interest in the election had been light since it was announced the election would be held and neither proponents nor opponents had made an active campaign. A slightly heavier vote than that registered had been generally expected but it failed to materialize. Superintendent of schools W. W. Lackey last night declared construction of the building would be started soon after the first of the year barring unforeseen happenings. Following the sale of the bonds and procuring the PWA funds, construction bids will be asked, with actual construction due to start soon after a contract is awarded.

Proponents of the bond election were jubilant over final passage and gaining the gymnasium for the city. A move was started approximately three years ago in an endeavor to land federal funds for the building but each time when it appeared the money would be granted something turned up to cause further delay. Fifty-two more votes were cast in the election Saturday than in the last school bond election called to vote bonds for erection of the new North Ward school building. A total of 120 votes, 91 for, 29 against, were registered.

Chamber of commerce directors will meet Tuesday evening instead of Monday, on account of the election, in concert to be held at the high school, it has been announced by President Marion Flynn. The Tuesday meeting is set for 7:30 o'clock. "The suggested program of work for 1938, copies of which were distributed at the October meeting of the board of directors, will be discussed and decided upon," Flynn said. "I trust that you have given the suggested program considerable thought and that you will be prepared to offer suggestions and criticisms at next week's meeting which you are urged to attend," he added in letters to the directors.

The program of work mentioned is one worked out by Manager Bill Collyns in which definite projects would be laid out for accomplishment during the year, rather than to appoint general committees and await developments.

Arthur G. Jury, formerly manager of Hotel Scharbauer here but now manager of The Nueces at Corpus Christi, has again been elected to the board of directors of the Texas Hotel Association. Jury, in a letter to Midland friends, said: "I have always the friendliest feeling for Midland and consider the people in that vicinity very fine and interesting. I would be glad to see any of my Midland friends at The Nueces." While living at Midland, Jury was a member of the hotel association board and has been active among the "greeters" for many years.

Attitude of U. S. to Duke Hit By Friend

'Lukewarm Feeling' Exhibited in This Country Is Blamed

PARIS, Nov. 6. (P)—A spokesman said today that feeling within the Duke of Windsor's entourage that United States officials took a "lukewarm attitude" toward his proposed American tour was among the reasons for the decision to "postpone" it. The duke's advisers were said to feel that a "better atmosphere" could be created for the American journey possibly next spring. They disclosed that the possibility of his taking the tour then was being studied.

It was said that the duke had sent a letter to the department of interior, at Washington, asking for "suggestions" for an itinerary. The reply, mentioning several public works projects, was said to have been considered by the Duke's advisers as "prefatory."

Some members of the Duke's suite were represented as having felt that the couple should have been offered a state dinner at the White House instead of the planned luncheon from which Mrs. Roosevelt was to have been absent.

Persons close to the Windsors described the former British monarch as hopeful that public opinion in America would "change" within a few months, opening the way for the trip which was to have started today but was postponed by Windsor because of "grave misconceptions" of his motives.

The itinerant Duke and Duchess, were busily engaged, an associate said, in discussing what next to do, where next to go—now that their American tour had been delayed.

No-War Plea Adopted At Peace Parley

Will Make Offer To the Japanese Within Few Days

BRUSSELS, Nov. 6. (P)—Delegates to the Brussels conference on the Chinese-Japanese war announced today they had reached an agreement on the text of a communication to Japan, making a new offer of their friendly offices in an effort to terminate the conflict.

Delegates said the note constituted a peace appeal which Japan will find it hard to reject if peace with China really is her intention.

The communication left it to Japan to decide whether she would collaborate with the conference in search for peace or with a small number of powers.

Delegates explained this would permit conciliation moves by anybody—by the conference, by a committee of the conference or by a few powers, like the United States or Great Britain, which might act independently.

It would even permit mediation by Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, of which there have been reports from Berlin.

Japan was informed that while the conference is disposed to discuss the points raised by Japan when she declined the Belgium invitation to join it, all powers signify to or adhering to the nine-power treaty—under which the conference is called—have a voice in the far eastern situation.

President Will Confer With the Senate, House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (P)—President Roosevelt, putting the congressional program in shape, arranged today to devote most of his time before the special session which begins November 15 to conferences with house and senate leaders, and to preparing his opening address.

Senator Borah of Idaho was expected to be among the conferees to discuss anti-trust legislation. Preparation for farm legislation has stirred argument between those wanting to compel regulation of production and those favoring a voluntary program. The president's views have not been disclosed.

The chief executive did not list tax revision on the special session program, but a widespread campaign has developed, to modify quickly the corporate undistributed profits tax.

Prospects for approving general reorganization at the special session—another of the president's five points—were enhanced by Senator Byrnes' word that he would ask to substitute it for farm legislation as the first business in the senate.

The future of the wage-hour bill—fourth of the measures outlined by the president—still was uncertain. Some legislators have proposed revising it. There also have been rumors the administration might propose an entirely new bill.

Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.) has returned to aid in the fight for his regional planning bill, fifth item on the president's program.

Nine Volumes of Diary Written By Early Federal Judge In Texas Is Presented to University By Heirs

AUSTIN, Texas. — Nine volumes of the diary of Thomas Howard DuVal, early Federal judge in Texas, have been presented to the library of the University of Texas...

Austin, April 25, 1863—After coming home in the evening got extra from town. The broken army under Taylor and Sibley still said to be fighting and retreating on Alexander...

The diary, dating from October 24, 1857, to April 14, 1878, covers the period during which DuVal was a Federal judge in Texas, holding court at Austin, Tyler, Brownsville, and San Antonio; two letters are written by Laura P. DuVal and two by Thomas H. DuVal.

Judge DuVal was the son of William Pope DuVal, a member of Congress from Kentucky; and a brother of Captain Burr DuVal, who was killed; and of William C. DuVal, who escaped the Goliad Massacre in 1836, and wrote of his experiences in such a way that he has been called the Washington Irving of Texas.

hiding about for my life. The sort of existence I am leading here is very wearying.

Jan. 26, 1864—This morning warm and windy as usual—Judge Stripling and a party of 8 men came in from San Antonio—10 days out—I was truly glad to meet him.

Feb. 23, 1864—Morning bright & beautiful. But I am heart sick & weary. There is no sign or hope of an advance into the interior—On the contrary 4 regiments have been taken back to La. from Indianola and one has gone from here North on furlough.

May 26, 1863—My mind is deliberately made up to take no part in this revolution on the side of the Confederacy. Before I will be forced to take a gun in my hand to aid in breaking up the Government of my fathers, I will sacrifice all—even life itself.

July 30, 1863—Cut wood and drew water when I went to hear the news—It turned out to be unfavorable to our glorious cause—No confirmation at all of previous dispatches stating the capture of Washington, Harrisburg, Baltimore, Philada & c. In all this the extra says we have been delightfully humbugged.

March 2, 1864—Bright and cool morning. Mrs. Pearce, the U. S. Consul, gave me a letter from Mr. Swenson at San Luis Potosi. I hope to see him here before long.

March 5, 1864—Longby has been over to Matamoros today, and brings the news of the election in La. As far as heard from the total vote cast is near 8000. When all the returns are recd. it is supposed it will be near 10,000.

Apr. 22, 1865—Nearly all the houses in the City draped in mourning secessh more showy in this regard than Union. They have been much alarmed lest the soldiers, especially the negroes, should wreak vengeance on them for death of President Lincoln.

Apr. 23, 1865—It seems that I can't get over the shock caused by the tragedy at Washington—assassination of rulers in other countries has usually had some excuse. Here there is none. Secession, or its fruits, has caused the death of the only man who had the wish and the power to protect and deal kindly & forgivingly with those who warred against their country.

May 8, 1865—Don't know yet what has become of Jeff Davis—Last account says he was at Yorkville, S. C. with 2000 cavalry, making his way for Texas with 11 wagons loaded with specie.

Expect to leave for Ky in 2 weeks. May 29, 1865—Tonight Swenson came up alarmed for the safety of our friends in Texas, having received a letter from Tom McKinney brought by Ballinger.

Nov. 11, 1876—Great excitement about Presidential election. Democrats firing cannon, or rather anvils two last night, and three on this day (Sunday, the 12th) the result is so close, that it can't be told.

Minnesota, Sept. 23, 1876—I have a touch of lumbago and all the rest have colds. We are beginning to think it is time for us to leave Forest Lake.

This morning when I did awake and look'd upon fair Forest Lake. And saw the rain come pouring down. I wished myself in Austin town. Fair Forest Lake! Fair Forest Lake! How many colds poor fellows take when fishing round in thy wild vice. For wall eyed pike, a fish so nice.

Students and Convicts Discuss Same Topics

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Prison inmates and university students have the same chief topics of conversation—namely, sex and religion—according to the Rev. Donald M. Cleary, Catholic chaplain at Cornell University and former New York State prison chaplain.

In a talk before the Third National Catechetical Congress here, Father Cleary related that while a prison chaplain he had asked 20 inmates each day what their chief conversational topics. The answers were almost invariably "sex and religion."

In the two years he has been at Cornell, Father Cleary said, he has continued his practice among the students. He said the responses have been virtually the same.

Banker Aids Campaign Against Cotton Pest

BRYAN, Tex. (AP)—Travis B. Bryan, president of the First National Bank here, has discovered a form of "crop insurance" that he thinks other Southern bankers could profitably write for cotton-growing clients.

Long distressed by depredations of the cotton flea-hopper, which often wrecks more havoc than his better published co-destroyer, the boll weevil, Bryan says he has found that underwriting sulphur-dusting campaigns against the tiny green bug pays premiums to both farmer and banker.

Future Worries Collector With 30,000 Articles

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Lucius Whitney Watkins' immediate problem is to decide just what he can collect next.

Starting in early youth, Watkins has picked up a little of everything to add to his collection. He now numbers 30,000 articles, of which one is a collection of thousands of public sentiment and sense in Brownsville.

March 11, 1865—New Orleans, March 11, 1865—At night Genl. Hamilton, Mr. H. Laura, Molly, Lilly, Brackenridge & myself went to the Varieties—Saw the drama of "Rosedale"—Lawrence Barrett, as "Elliott Grey" & Miss Henrietta Irving as "Lady Florence May."

March 11, 1865—Sands of insects. Other items include skins, animal heads, stuffed birds and photographs.

Dr. Heiser Champions African Alfalfa Salad

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Dr. Victor Heiser, author of "An American Doctor's Odyssey," advised persons to eat alfalfa salad for health.

"I have just arrived from Africa and they are eating alfalfa salad there," the famous authority on public health said. "Our systems do not have enough inorganic salts. Alfalfa furnishes them."

Notre Dame, Navy Best Seen By Bierman During The Year

Coach Sees East As Grid Leader of The Present Season

By BERNIE BIERMAN
 Minnesota's Head Coach.

MINNEAPOLIS—Is the east regaining leadership for the first time since the days when many believed that all the good football in the land was played by the Big Three—Harvard, Yale, and Princeton?
 I have been asking myself this question repeatedly this fall, for middle western teams have been taking sound bumpings from eastern, southern, and far western outfits.
 Foremost eastern teams seem to have more balance and class than middle western arrays this autumn.
 True, Navy couldn't successfully defend a 7-0 lead against an aroused Notre Dame team in a snowstorm, and in the final period went down to defeat as a result of a safety, brought about by a wet and slippery ball.
 But I saw the game, and want to say that Navy was an outstanding aggregation that afternoon. Notre Dame found itself in the fourth quarter and looked like one of the old time Irish varieties.
 There is no question in my mind that Notre Dame and Navy are the two finest teams I have seen this season.
 I recalled that Navy had been held to a tie by Harvard the week before. Then the Crimson was mopped up by Dartmouth in a decisive manner.

Big Ten Varsityes Fare Poorly Against Outsiders.
 Navy revealed more power and polish than I had seen up to October 23, and I'm including Nebraska and Indiana when I make that statement.
 It used to be that Notre Dame always was in the running for top honors, but this season it has been tied by Illinois and beaten by Carnegie Tech, which in turn has fallen before New York University and Temple. The latter two are considered good clubs, but critics aren't rating them alongside of Yale, Pittsburgh, Dartmouth, Fordham, and others.
 Big Ten teams to date have fared very poorly in competition outside of their own league.
 Minnesota has been beaten by Nebraska, which since has had quite a little trouble in the Big Six.
 Wisconsin, winner of four straight and unbeaten in its own backyard, was licked by Pittsburgh by three touchdowns, after Fordham had held the Panthers to a third consecutive scoreless tie.
 Iowa was knocked off by Washington, which has been licked twice and held even.
 Vanderbilt, one of the more formidable southern clubs, repelled Chicago, 14-0.
 Missouri of the Big Six was clouted by Colorado, 14-6.
 I'm not deserting my own Western Conference, however. Year in and year out, Big Ten teams play high grade football, good enough to be acclaimed national champions on numerous occasions, but gridiron success in all sections seems to run in cycles.

Spreading Laurels Around Maintains Interest in Game.
 Remember how the Pacific Coast seemed to dominate national gridiron circles for a spell? Before that, it was the east that seemed to have the larger number of outstanding elevens.
 Distribution of the laurels is a good thing for football. If one section dominated the game every year, interest would fall off.
 There is no question in my mind that up to the last season or two eastern football wasn't so hot. Then a shakeup of coaches at leading schools in that sector, together with a more careful hunt for material, brought the east back.
 It's a little early to be discussing national championship possibilities, but I have a hunch that they will come from the east, far west, and south, unless middle western aggregations show a lot more than they have up to this point.
 But plenty of things can happen in this uncertain game of football in the remaining weeks.
 Perhaps revisions will be in order when the final reports are in.

Back Yard Gas Well Tapped Accidentally
PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—Francis Donnelly of South Philadelphia, discovered natural gas in his yard while sinking a water pipe.
 The gas flowed from the pipe for a week. A friend gave Donnelly a gas stove and he bought a connection. So far the gas has been ample.
 One of the innovations of Napoleon was the metric system of weights and measures, with the meter as the basic unit, which became compulsory in France in 1801. John Picard, French astronomer who lived from 1620 to 1682 is given original credit for the idea.
 Two pioneers in the introduction of fingerprints for identification purposes were Sir Francis Galton of England and Sir William Herschel of India. Herschel wanted to fingerprint members of the Hugi courts, while Galton wanted to do the same for Chinese immigrants.

Truck Crash Injures 16, All Named Bront

MIAMI, Fla. (U.P.)—When a Sunday outing of negroes ended up in a hospital here after a truck crash, 16 of them gave the name of Bront. They were Locked Bront, his wife and 14 of their children. The woman said there were seven more little Bronts at home who had been unable to find places on the truck.

Soap and Water Rated Highly as Germ Killer

ST. LOUIS (U.P.)—Advances in surgical science since the World War have reduced amputations in cases of compound fractures from 50 per cent to 1 or 2 per cent. Dr. John J. Moorhead, of Columbia University, told the International Medical assembly here. Dr. Moorhead said that soap and water has replaced antiseptics as germ killers, because antiseptics strong enough to kill germs will also kill tissue, and will sometimes cause great damage in cases of compound fracture.

End of Boom Dream, Not Business Collapse, Depresses Stocks: Flynn

By JOHN T. FLYNN

(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.) NEW YORK.—When the stock market cracked up in 1929 all the wizards who had been proclaiming eternal prosperity rushed into print to explain the disaster. They came forward with the most fantastic collection of "reasons." The favorite one—advanced by several of the most distinguished bankers—was that the market collapsed because the Senate had for eight months debated the tariff law, leaving the nation in uncertainty which finally broke the market's back.

Another explanation was offered by Charles Mitchell, that it was because of the capital gains tax. Still another explanation was that it was all the result of evil forces acting on us from Europe.

Of course we know now, as ought to have been perfectly plain then, that that fatal event was due to none of these causes. The market crashed then because it was utterly and hopelessly crazy. It ought to have crashed at least a year or two sooner.

Now another market disaster disturbs the temper of the nation. And once again the wizards come forward with their explanations. This time they have a perfect setting of the stage. In 1929 the market, the government, the nation was in the possession of the reactionary forces of society. But this time it is the supposed enemies of the market—place who are in control. Hence nothing could be so easy as finding the devil. It is the SEC, the New Deal, the tax laws, the tinkering with the Supreme Court and the property guarantees of the Constitution, and the government deficit—but most of all the SEC.

It is possible for sensible men to have different views on all these subjects and forces. But sensible men who have money to invest would do well not to permit themselves to be excited by the unformed and angry ravings of either politicians or financiers who hate each other. There never was a market collapse in which the causes were more obvious than this one.

If you would know what they are, you have to begin by asking not why the market went down, but why it went up. When you know why it went up you will know precisely why it went down.

On December 9th, in a dispatch to NEA Service, I reported the situation in Wall Street as follows, quoting a distinguished financial authority: "We are on the eve of one of the greatest booms in our history. The utilities need almost everything. So do the railroads. So do the manufacturers. Most of their machinery is obsolete. All will begin buying on a grand scale soon; have indeed begun."

On February 28th, in a dispatch from Salt Lake, after a trip around the country, I reported: "Throughout the country confidence in a coming boom is high." I quote these dispatches to show that nearly a year ago Wall Street and the financial optimists were busy selling to the country the belief in a rising boom. And they succeeded. After reviewing the forces and data which I found on that extensive trip, I ventured to warn people generally, and investors in particular, that "all these facts and some others confirm me in the belief that there is going to be no record boom."

There was plenty of visible evidence of rising business. Last year the steel business was driving ahead, working night and day. I found Pittsburgh ablaze with energy and optimism. Stock prices went up despite the strikes, and while the sit-downers were parked in the General Motors plants. General Motors stock prices rose. Retail sales mounted, prices mounted, profits rose, employment increased. There was every reason for a rise in optimism. Money was easy. And the most natural thing in the world was a rise in stock prices.

However, a rise is one thing. A large and boom-like rise is another. But is it not perfectly clear that once this boom idea was sold to the people, the rise in stock prices was a natural and inevitable phenomenon? It was this confidence in the definite departure of the depression and the approach of another era of replacement and development which set off the stock rise and gave up the levels of last summer.

When we understand that the market rose on the expectations of a great boom, we will begin to understand the apparent paradox of its collapse at a time when business seemed still to be good. We will see that what happened was not a collapse of business but a collapse of the hope of a great boom.

The course of business up to the summer time was sufficient to give color to the rosy expectations of December. Industrial production, building contracts, factory employment, freight car loadings and retail sales rose, not only through the year, but well over the totals of last year.

But wiser eyes began to see that while all these energies in business improved they were far from attaining boom proportions. And then as the summer arrived a most serious element entered the picture. The chief reliance of the boom was upon the promise of a great surge forward in building construction. Building contracts awarded did, indeed, increase. They were, in fact, fifty to sixty per cent higher than last year. But this was not enough. Fifty to sixty per cent increase looks like a great deal. But if a man has only a couple of dollars to start with, a 100 percent increase in his capital doesn't mean much. Besides, as the summer got under way the increase slackened and since June they have fallen down to the level of last year.

Industrial and railroad and utility rehabilitation of plant and expansion also failed to materialize. New security financing to buy production equipment just didn't show up. It was somewhat better than last year, but not much.

Add to this a very important factor—bank demand deposits—and you have the last important essential in the picture. These have declined steadily since March. They are still high and, in many respects, they are more healthy than last year.

But the important feature of all this is, not that business did not improve, but that it improved only moderately, which would be enough if we were a saner and more realistic people and less eager for the flesh-pots.

The rate of improvement and the causes of the hesitancy in the upward rise made it perfectly clear to everyone that the boom dream was just a pipe dream.

The wizards had been wrong again.

One of the amazing things about Wall Street is that in its judgment on economic matters it is almost always wrong. But this never impairs its confidence in its own superior wisdom.

They refuse to see themselves, these Wall Streeters, as little people caught up in the vast sweep of economic forces beyond their ken.

NEXT: "What now?" in Wall Street.

"They refuse to see themselves these Wall Streeters, as little people caught up in the vast sweep of economic forces beyond their ken."

Racing Dog Becomes Champion Blood Donor

ATLANTA (U.P.)—Rip, a speedy greyhound owned by Dr. C. E. Bild of Miami, Fla., has retired from racing after saving the lives of many of his canine comrades by submitting to 102 blood transfusions.

Rip was retired by the Southern States Veterinarian Association. Most of the transfusions taken from Rip have been used to save the lives of dogs hurt in auto wrecks.

Doctors say Rip is an ideal donor—"never a whimper."

Toy Drum Capital Has Unusual History

GRANVILLE, Mass. (U.P.)—This remote hilltop town, home of perhaps the world's largest toy drum factory, was bought from an Indian chief for an old musket and six brass muskets.

In 1854, 68 years after James Cornish purchased the hills from Chief Toto, James P. Cooley started a drum factory in his kitchen. Today the Noble & Cooley factory produces 300,000 drums annually and provides employment for most of the town's 100 families.

Texas Planters Increase Popability of Popcorn

SWEETWATER, Tex. (U.P.)—Popcorn planters in this section have discovered a way to make more money—"popability."

The explain that good "popability" in popcorn makes it bring a better price; they say it is measured by the amount of corn which pops as compared to the amount put in the popper.

If 20 to 25 times the amount of popped corn is unpopped, it isn't good popping corn—if greater, it is good and brings a better price; therefore, they try to increase the "popability" of their corn.

War in Far East Fails To Curb Shrimp Export

MORGAN CITY, La. (U.P.)—The Oriental warfare has not lessened the combatants' demand for Louisiana shrimp, which are shipped to all parts of the world. Japan is the biggest buyer of the delicacy, in fresh, frozen form. China buys dried shrimp. The exports have not decreased.

The use of dogs in warfare is not a modern idea. During the Middle Ages, dogs even went into battle clothed in armor, and today a suit of dog armor may be seen in the Tower of London.

Meaning—the Most Modern Automobile in the World is the new 1938 Buick—with DYNAFLASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING

If you've put a sparkling 1938 Buick through its thrilling paces—

And tried to say in words what this standout car's got—

And found to your surprise you couldn't begin to do it justice—

Listen, don't think you're the only one!

"No use talking, it's gotta lotta ummph!" That's what delighted trier-outers say, vainly trying to express all the marvelous things they've felt.

"Ummph!" meaning zip—flash—brilliance—power. "Ummph!" meaning all you ever expected to find in a car—and a great deal else in addition!

Fact is—demonstration, not conversation, is the thing to describe this great new Buick.

To say it's quick—nimble—agile

—fast—is to do only fractional justice to its DYNAFLASH engine and what it does every time you touch off its thrifty power.

To call its TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride velvety is only to participate its ride. Use the words jarless, level, floating, serene—and you come a little closer.

But still you neglect entirely the directability this car gets from its new rear springing, the blessedly reduced risk of skidding, the far simpler maintenance, surer traction and longer rear tire wear that go with it.

No, you can't cramp a new Buick into words—only its action can tell its eloquent story.

And wherever there's a Buick dealer there's a chance to try this great car out—now, today, with yourself in person right there behind the wheel!

EVERY SPARK SETS OFF A CYCLONE! Rushing into the cylinder at speeds as high as 250 miles an hour, the fuel charge strikes the Turbulator built into the piston. Instantaneously it is converted into a tiny cyclone of terrific turbulence. The spark flashing into this cyclone, fires a faster, cleaner, more furious explosion which drives piston down with almost 10% stronger power-pulse.

A SAFETY CUSHION ON EACH WHEEL! Buick replaces the usual type spring with this special spring of stout coiled steel and big direct-acting Transpor-Tor shock absorbers. Rigidity aligned by the Torque Tube, rear axle and wheels cannot twist or distort, cannot affect steering, greatly reducing danger from skids. No shackles, no grease points, no chatter, no premature rear tire wear.

MATCH THESE VALUES! Complete with DYNAFLASH engine and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING, these models deliver at Flint, Mich., at these prices: Buick SPECIAL business coupe, $945; Buick SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan, $1047; CENTURY 4-door touring sedan, $1207; ROADMASTER 4-door touring sedan, $1845; LIMITED 8-passenger sedan, $2350. Engineers Pave Way for Progress of The Army Tests at Houston Proving FORT SAM HOUSTON.—The engineers pave the way for an army's progress.

Included among the units of a proposed new "streamlined" infantry division of 12,000 men which the War Department is now testing under simulated conditions of warfare on the 70,000-acre Leon Springs Military Reservation, 20 miles northwest of San Antonio, Texas, is the Engineer Battalion, composed of 18 officers and 500 enlisted men.

Like the test division, the engineer battalion is a tentative organization formed for the duration of the experimental maneuvers here. It has not yet been adopted in its present form as a standard and permanent engineer component for an infantry division. It is being closely checked by observers, umpires and officers of the battalion to determine wherein the present organization is superior to the old and to note any shortages or deficiencies that may exist.

In line with the policy of reducing manpower while retaining equal or greater firepower and general effectiveness of the new division by substituting automatic and semi-automatic weapons and improved developments in transportation and communication facilities the new engineer battalion has a war strength of 518 compared to the 870 officers and men in the engineer regiment of the present infantry division now in use in the army.

No essential engineer function has been eliminated by reducing the engineer regiment of the old division to a battalion in the proposed division. Duties are nearly identical in the old and new units. Paving the way for the division the engineers still build roads, construct bridges, reproduce maps and fight.

A small part of the engineer map making and reproduction work has been taken from the division and is now handled by engineer troops of larger units, the corps or the army. With fewer men accomplishing the same amount of work the battalion is more mobile and flexible than the old engineer regiment, is more readily maneuvered and controlled and more satisfactory results are obtained as a result of modernization of the engineer unit.

The battalion as actually functioning during the tests is made up mainly from regular army personnel from the Second Engineers stationed at Fort Logan, Colorado. One company was furnished by the Eighth Engineers from Fort McIntosh, Texas. Troops from both organizations moved by truck from their home stations to Camp Bullis where they united to form the provisional battalion on Sept. 8. Since that date they have participated in all of the division's test maneuvers.

Colonel R. C. Moore, commander of the Second Engineers, is the test division engineer officer and Major Henry Hutchings, Jr., 8th engineers, commands the battalion in the field.

Being a part of the command echelon of the new division the engineers perform directly under the control of the division commander. They are responsible for a wide variety of duties. Primarily they assist in the motor movement of troops. Their secondary duty is combat.

Equipment has been brought up to date and augmented materially, incorporating in the battalion all the newest wrinkles in engineering gadgets to conserve manpower.

Trench digging machines, very much like modern ditch digging devices, now are used to save the front-line infantrymen long hours of tedious work with the trench shovel. Air compressors, pneumatic drills, tractors and scrapers for road work and a map reproduction plant are included in the organizational equip-

Oatmeal Is Good Crumb Substitute For Tortes

When a cake wears its welcome out and lasts longer than the family's appetite then many housewives think it's time to bake a Torte. However, for the cook whose cakes are so good that they disappear before she can salvage any crumbs, oatmeal acts as a good crumb substitute in preparing tortes. The eggs and nuts give the oatmeal torte its lightness and richness.

The following ingredients are essential in preparing Oatmeal Torte:

- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 4 eggs, separated
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 cups Quick Quaker Oats
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 3/4 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 cup chopped nuts

Sift flour, measure and resift with baking powder and salt. Cream butter, add 1 cup of sugar and blend, then add egg yolks one at a time and beat thoroughly. Add vanilla. Add Quaker Oats to flour mixture and add to butter mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Place mixture in refrigerator and beat egg whites until frothy; then to this add remaining sugar, beating until smooth and stiff. Spread batter over bottoms of 2 well buttered 9-inch spring form pans. Spread meringue over surfaces and sprinkle with chopped nuts. Bake in moderate oven 350° for 30 minutes. Cool and put together with following pineapple filling:

- 1/2 cup water
- 1 cup crushed pineapple
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- salt

Turn water and pineapple into top of double boiler. Add cornstarch, sugar and salt and cook over boiling water 20 minutes, stirring constantly. Add hot mixture slowly to beaten egg, stirring well, then return it to double boiler, and cook 2 minutes longer. Spread this when cooled between layers of torte. Serve with whipped cream. Makes 12 servings.

Overtime Work Is Done By Cupid In County During Oct.

June may be the traditional "month of brides" but for Midland October deserves that title in the opinion of Mrs. Susie Graves Noble, county clerk.

Mrs. Noble issued 18 marriage licenses during the month of October, the record for any month of any year since 1931. October, 1936, showed sale of only 10 licenses.

June of this year showed only 14 licenses issued, a record that was tied by September when 14 licenses were also issued.

A total of 130 licenses was issued by the clerk's office for the first ten months of 1937, Mrs. Noble said. December is usually the marriage month, however, she declared.

Which is a convenient time for making gifts do double duty—for wedding presents and Christmas remembrances.

Baptists of Three States to Convene At El Paso Sunday

EL PASO, Nov. 6.—A joint session of the Baptist Convention of Tex., Arizona and New Mexico, 750 in all, underground in the arched recesses of Carlsbad, New Mexico, will climax the Baptist General Convention of Texas which opens here Sunday.

The solemn underground services will be held Friday, Nov. 12, following adjournment of the week's sessions here.

Rev. Roy S. Holloman of El Paso announced today speakers for the impressive services will be Dr. J. B. Tidwell of Waco, president of the Texas Baptists; Julian Atwood of Roswell, for New Mexico, and S. S. Russell for Arizona.

The Rev. Mr. Atwood is pastor of the First Baptist church of Roswell and the Rev. Mr. Russell is Arizona state mission secretary.

Never before in history has such a meeting been held, and certainly has there never been such a setting for a religious service. Stirring hymns will be sung. Special provision has been made for transporting delegates attending the Texas sessions here to Carlsbad, and from there to points where they may entrain for their homes.

Preceding the convention proper, Baptist pastors and laymen will meet in a mass session featuring addresses on civic righteousness Sunday. The Women's Missionary Union of Texas will also convene November 8-9, reviewing their work for the year and planning for the new year.

Red Cross Health Nursing Started Quarter Century Ago

Twenty-five years ago the Red Cross public health nursing service was inaugurated, and observance of this occasion are being carried out this fall by Red Cross chapters throughout the United States, according to Mrs. J. A. Haley, chairman of the Midland Red Cross Chapter.

This nursing service, Mrs. Haley said yesterday, was established to create better health conditions for the "forgotten family"—those who reside in rural areas and are deprived of nursing service by the barrier of distance. From a few scattered patients in outlying districts during 1912 until today the Red Cross Public Health Nursing service has increased the number of its annual visits to more than one million.

Classes in home hygiene and care of the sick, she said, were conducted by 930 chapters of the Red Cross during the past year, reaching 69,450 persons. During that period 1,615 nurses acted as instructors—all persons qualified to teach this important subject. The thousands who left the classes carried into their homes the knowledge to safeguard their families and their communities, and to brighten some of the dark places that spring up from negligence or ignorance.

"Through its 25 years of pioneering, Red Cross volunteers have worked shoulder to shoulder with public health nurses throughout the country, in cities, small towns, and the most remote rural areas, and have brought life, hope, and a chance for better living to millions of persons," Mrs. Haley said.

Pointing out that a much greater growth of public health nursing services must be planned for the near future, Mrs. Haley said that the need for public health services calls for one nurse to every 1,500 to 2,000 persons. Yet she said, in many of the existing services it was necessary to spread the work of one nurse over an area of 600 miles and to as many as 30,000 persons, attempting to meet the major needs.

"Our Red Cross nurses have been called into many situations during the past year," she said. "A small army of more than 3600 of them were out in the field during the disastrous Ohio and Mississippi Valley floods this spring, while others have carried on battles against epidemics, nursed victims of fires, tornadoes, shipwreck, explosions, and many other catastrophes, and in addition have conducted systematic campaigns for better community and school health conditions."

All this work, she concluded, is made possible by the annual Roll Call held each year between November 11 and Thanksgiving Day.

The annual Red Cross Roll Call in Midland will be staged on November 16 and 17, captains of the various teams who will solicit the Red Cross memberships having this week been named by Russell C. Conkling, local roll call chairman. Midland's goal has been set at 900 memberships, local workers anticipating the completion of the drive with more than the 900 memberships within the two day period set for the local campaign.

Squirrel Problem Rises To Worry Carmel, Calif.

CARMEL, Calif. (U.P.)—Carmel has one more complaint, and this time it is not against the literary, artistic and musical colony that is established there. It is against squirrels.

City councilmen say they have gone "nutty." Instead of eating nuts, they are chewing off the bark of pine tree branches until the latter drop to the ground.

One school of thought here insists the squirrels are entailing an unnecessary expense on the city for cleaning up of the broken branches, while the second school of the squirrels is a money saver, as it keeps the city from having to prune the trees.

"BIG SHOTS" WHO HAVE THE TIME

Taking the curt out of courtesy, for better business, is the subject of an article in the current issue of "The Rotarian." It tells about certain big business executives in New York City who answer their own telephones, rather than to have each caller go through the formalities of secretaries, delays and questioning.

The same thing might apply to too much formality in ante-rooms, secretaries, sending in of cards etc., as used in offices even in Midland.

Several months ago a Midland man of considerable prominence, also of the old western type, received a letter from a banker in another city, advising that a certain professional man was moving to Midland. The banker asked the Midland man to call at his office, get acquainted with him and see that the professional man met the right people in Midland.

The old timer called at the office, was met formally by a secretary who asked for his card. Never having owned a card, the old timer said: "That's all right. I'll just meet him down on the sidewalk some time." Twelve months later he still hadn't met the new citizen.

It is doubtful if there are in Midland many concerns too big for their "big shots" to be available to callers at the office. And those who answer their own phones probably have many callers who otherwise would be ringing another number.

TRIBUTE TO HEROES

The tragedy of Germany's anti-Jewish campaign is subtly illustrated by the recent action of an American tourist in Berlin.

This man—Isador Gennett, of New York—obtained permission from the German authorities to place a wreath at the base of Germany's memorial to its World War dead. The catch in it was that the wreath he put there bore an inscription dedicating it to Germany's Jewish war heroes.

Mr. Gennett was promptly quizzed by the police, but was eventually allowed to resume his travels—and the wreath, inscription and all, stayed there for some hours.

But how the incident does illuminate the tragic blindness of the Nazi attitude! The Jews in Germany's World War armies took the same risks the other soldiers took, faced the same misery and pain, suffered the same wounds and died in the same barrages. What folly, in an attitude which makes a simple payment of tribute to their sacrifice the subject of police action!

MOTHER KNOWS BEST

Some days ago George Henry Payne, federal communications commissioner, issued a public blast against radio blood-and-thunder dramas which, he said, are very bad for small children. Since then he has been getting an interesting deluge of mail.

About half of the mail was from children, who disagreed with him very sharply; the rest was from parents, who agreed with him with even more fervor than the children had shown in disagreeing.

This is about what Mr. Payne might have expected. The youngsters do eat up those blood-curdling radio thrillers; no one who has observed a small boy in a radio-equipped home can doubt it. But the parents are equally unanimous on the other side; and in this case, at least, there can be little doubt that mother knows best.

Scintillating Stars of "Stage Door"

Katharine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers and Adolphe Menjou bring sparkling characterizations as the co-stars of RKO Radio's "Stage Door." Miss Hepburn leaves a luxurious home to adopt a stage career. Miss Rogers is her pungent room-mate, and Menjou plays a theatrical producer. Adapted from the brilliant Ferber-Kaufman Broadway success, "Stage Door," features Gail Patrick, Constance Collier, Andrea Leeds, Samuel S. Hinds and Lucille Ball. The picture is now playing at the Yucca theatre.

Wet weather curbed operations somewhat, although John Rust reported his machine harvested more than 40 bales this season. The harvester company released no report on their experimental tests.

Two Models Built.
The Rust concern has two revised models built; one in operation in Mississippi, the other in Tashkent, Russian Turkestan, under the supervision of Mack Rust.

Five pickers are being tried by the harvester company near Clarksdale, Stoneville, San Antonio, Tex., El Paso, and Phoenix, Ariz. In general, both machines are alike, although they differ in operating details. Each apparatus picks the fiber by means of whirling spindles that penetrate the stalks as they pass through a picking tube. The stalks are reached on both sides of the tractor-mounted machines by tandem picking units in staggered formation.

Spindles Are Different.
The type of spindles used is one basic difference. Short, heavy, conical and roughened spindles are employed in one model. In the other the apparatus carries many lone, wire-like smooth spindles on an endless belt on each of its two picking units.

The fundamental difference of the revised Rust machine and the one previously exhibited is that the newer device has two picking units instead of one, picking each row twice in one operation.

John Rust said the new picker stripped open bolls with little loss, and the cotton showed small loss in grade after it was ginned. Figures on one continuous run showed that the machine picked 9,027 pounds of Delfos cotton in 7 hours, 35 minutes. Labor and fuel cost was 18 cents per 100 pounds on this run. (A man picking cotton does well to average 150 pounds a day.)

Efficiency Put at 90 Pct.
The only available report on the International machine showed it was 90 per cent efficient in picking open cotton. W. C. Evers, factory expert conducting experiments, estimated fuel cost at 20 cents per hour, for 2.2 gallons of low grade gasoline. Officials said the picker would sell for about $1,000.

The Rust machine was expected to sell for $4,000, complete with tractor. John Rust estimated operating expense, including labor, fuel, interest, etc., about $1.75 an acre. Rust believes his machine, which has been equipped with lights, could be operated continuously for 24 hours.

The Rust Brothers announced plans for a Rust Foundation, whose purpose it would be to use profits from their machine to alleviate possible depressed social conditions resulting from efficient operation of a mechanical cotton picker.

Wallace Berry Back At Ritz in Thrilling "Viva Villa" Film

Brought back by popular demand, Wallace Berry will appear on the Ritz screen Sunday and Monday in the most powerful role of his career, in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture "Viva Villa." The colorful setting is Old Mexico where Pancho Villa brought terror to the hearts of thousands. The hotel in Monterrey, captured by Pancho Villa and his men and made their headquarters, is today, the most popular hotel in that city. The Bishop's Palace, which also housed the outlaw, now stands in ruins. These scenes are vividly brought back in the picture.

Appearing with Berry in the picture are Fay Wray and Katharine DeMille.

Joe Taylor built a new home in west end, just a shade over toward the south part. One of his neighbors told him, just before Joe and his family moved in, that the trains would keep him awake for the first four or five nights. So Joe just moved his furniture in the house and waited four or five nights to move in, and he says the trains haven't bothered them at all.

A. Judkins says the cattle business is doing fine, having only two drawbacks at present. He says dry weather and no buyers are the only things wrong with the business just now.

"Viva Villa" is coming back. Besides the entertainment it will give the Ritz patrons, it will give Bill Simpson and John Howe an excuse for reviewing the days they spent in Mexico in Villa's time.

When Tidwell's shows came here in the spring, we could count on at least a shower. I don't know how it's going to work out in the fall. They may have fair weather all week.

Referring to Pete Flanagan's old joke, I remember one which is funnier than it. An Irishman once went before a judge and charged a neighbor with slandering him. Holding up his right hand, he testified: "He called me a jackass, an idiot, a dead-beat and a jug-head, all of which I certify to be true."

Jack Whatley is a good horse trader during the week, but you ought to watch him swap Jersey cows on a Saturday.

Saturday I was talking to a man who moved here a few months ago and has built a large, expensive home here. I told him I believed the people of Midland ought to appreciate the way so many of the newer oil men have built these fine homes. He said he guessed most of them were in his position. He came to Midland because it had many advantages and because he felt he could make money here. He has been fortunate in making the money and he likes the town, so why shouldn't he put some of it back in a substantial home where he wants to stay? That sounded good to me. I believe we have a substantial and a growing town, with a lot of future, and it sounds good to have these citizens who have come in to help build it, express the same thoughts.

Every Shot Counts.
 CODY, Wyo. (U.P.) — Five years ago, Mrs. Wylie Sherwin of the North Fork country near here received a gift of a big game rifle and a box of 20 shells. Since that time she has killed four elk and a deer. She still has 12 of the 20 gift bullets unused.

Orchids so large that four men were required to carry the plant, have been found in the Everglades National Park, in Florida.

Never Asked WPA Aid, Town's Claim for Fame

REAMSVILLE, Kas. (U.P.) — This little Kansas town lacks a Chamber of Commerce but not community boasting points. Among these are:
 No old maids or bachelors; never has asked a WPA grant; has not claimed to be important as a geographical center; has a bridge at both ends of main street; is the home of the only wind-propelled grist mill; has no ordinances regulating chickens, dogs, children or goats, and gets its water supply only from the clouds.
