

Quiet Holiday Looms for Midland

Three Fascist States After Loot and Power Is Real Story Behind 'Anti-Communism' Pact

BY MILTON BRONNER. NEA Service European Manager. LONDON, Nov. 24 — Germany, Italy and Japan have bound themselves into a pact whose ostensible purpose is to fight the spread of Communism.

Communism is a blessed cover for their designs. If there had been no Communism, they would have been constrained to invent it. No one of the three allies is threatened by Communism.

In Germany and Italy today a declared Communist stands good chance of execution or of very long imprisonment. In Japan, not only Communism, but Socialism and even trade unionism have been kept down by the military clique.

The new partnership of three powerfully armed states, in which the people have no voice in their destinies, has within it wide implications which may affect the history of the world for a good many years to come.

ITALY NOT SATISFIED.

1—Japan's war upon China without declaring war is nothing but an enterprise to gobble up the best part of China, particularly those great coal and iron deposits.

Italy with her conquest of Ethiopia is not a satisfied state. She wants more power in the Mediterranean and means to get it—if possible.

Germany, is of course conducting a thumping campaign for the return of her former African colonies, particularly those England holds.

TROUBLE IN BRAZIL.

2—Interference in the affairs of other states. The new allies loudly proclaim that the Bolsheviks are constantly stirring up trouble in other states. The Fascists have repeatedly said Fascism was not an article for export. So have the Nazis.

But all over Europe, where there are Germans, there are Nazi nests and in many states laws have been passed to stop their machinations.

Up to now the most glaring example of interference is in Spain where Italian and German "volunteers" have largely won the victories for Franco, the rebel leader.

There is a danger that some day something of the sort may happen in Latin America. Then Uncle Sam will sit up and take notice, brushing the dust off the Monroe Doctrine. In the old kaiserian days Germany always had a covetous eye on the rich southern states of Brazil where thousands of Germans were settled. Those Germans are still there and most of them are now Nazis. And now Brazil has a dictator. . . and a government leaning to Fascism.

If another war comes it may well have its origin in the scene pictured below, enacted in Rome as envoys of three nations signed a pact—obviously aimed at Russia—pledging unceasing efforts to eradicate Communism. Shown are Germany's Joachim von Ribbentrop (1) signing; Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano (2), and Japan's Masaaka Hotta (3).

THREATS IN WARTIME.

3—Threat to England and France and danger to Russia. The new alliance means that in any war Russia would be engaged on two fronts—German to the west and Japan to the east. Germany covets the Ukraine with its wheat, coal and oil, and its outlet to the Black Sea.

Japan covets Russian possessions which front on the Pacific. It loathes the idea of the Russians having in Valdivostok a port whence submarines and airplanes could imperil Japanese fleets and Japanese cities. The threat to France is no less real. It will be greater if the Fascists and the Nazis succeed in putting Franco on top in Spain. Then, in case of war, France would find herself threatened on three fronts—German, Italy and Spain. A hostile Spain, plus a hostile Italy, would make untenable the Mediterranean route between France and her North African possessions.

Finally, there is the threat to Britain. A hostile Italy and Spain block her way through the Mediterranean just as effectively as they do France's. Outside of the Americas, the British naval fleet is still the strongest in the world. But if Britain had simultaneous trouble with the three gangster states, her navy would not be adequate.

It must be remembered that Britain has things that the three allies want. Germany wants her colonies in Africa back.

Italy, with an army in Libya, is not averse to dominating Egypt. She still remembers with anger that the French and British did not keep their promise about giving her part of Asia Minor and would not mind taking a crack at Palestine.

In the Far East, Japan looks with suspicious eyes at the fortifications of Singapore. And there is much loot lying about, Hong Kong for instance or Australia. And the rich Dutch East Indies, now practically protected as much by the British navy as if they were John Bull's own possessions.

Many to See Bulldogs On Odessa Grid

Business Houses Will Be Closed The Entire Day

A quiet Thanksgiving Day loomed for Midland as business houses, almost unanimously, will be locked for the entire day. Some of the pharmacies planned to remain open until 2 o'clock this afternoon but all other stores were to observe the day by remaining closed the entire day.

With no celebration scheduled for the city, many persons expected to be out of town during the day. The largest delegation will follow the football team to Odessa to see them engage the Odessa high school team in a district 7-B game this afternoon at 2:30.

Approximately 500 persons, excluding members of the band and pep squad of the high school, are expected to be in the stands of Piy stadium when the game gets underway.

The Midland squad will be the underdogs in the game but loyal Midland fans will be yelling for an "upset" by the rapidly improving Bulldogs.

Football games over the state will get the bulk of those who leave Midland for the holiday. Several are expected to go to Lubbock to see Texas Tech and Creighton University when they meet this afternoon while many others will be in the stands of Kyle field at College Station as the Texas University Longhorns and the Texas Aggies renew their feud.

Mayor M. C. Ulmer has proclaimed an official holiday, and city and county offices will be closed as a result. Postmaster Allen Tolbert warned patrons that the general delivery window would be open for only 30 minutes after mail from train No. 7 is distributed. All first class mail and daily newspapers will be placed in the boxes. The general delivery window will likely be open from 10 until 10:30.

"We've a lot to be grateful for, and should give thanks for them," Mayor Ulmer declared. "The past year has been a prosperous one for Midland and there is no indication that the next 12 months will be otherwise," he further declared.

Many of the school teachers will take advantage of a holiday for the rest of the week by journeying to their homes, and some are expected to attend the annual convention of the State Teachers Association in Houston.

School Supt. W. W. Lackey left yesterday morning for Dallas where he will visit a brother, leaving this morning for the game at College Station this afternoon. From there he will go to Houston, returning home Sunday.

Electric Power Consumption Less

AUSTIN, Texas. — Electric power consumption in Texas during October declined more than the usual seasonal amount from the preceding month but was still well above the corresponding month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Reports from fifteen electric power companies, representing a large percentage of electrical energy produced in this state, reported consumption of 12,789,000 kilowatt-hours during October, a decrease of 10.2% from September but an increase of 14.6% over October last year.

Commercial power consumption showed a decline of 14.1% from September but an increase of 13.3% over October last year; industrial consumption showed a decline of 3.8% and an increase of 15.6% respectively for the two comparable periods; and residential consumption, a decline of 7.2% and an increase of 14.1%.

David M. Blevins who has been stationed in Midland at intervals for several years, will sail from San Francisco, Dec. 11 for Sumatra in the Dutch East Indies for a four-year stay. He is associated with the Geophysical Service Incorporated. Mrs. Joe Crump of Midland is a sister of Blevins.

Cattle Trading on Increase During Past Few Days

Cattle trading, in small lots, was under way during the first half of the week, with Ray Hill of Ravenna, Calif., the principal buyer. Hill bought several loads of cows, shipping them to southern California ranges.

Roy Parks made him the biggest sale, with 300 head. Foy Proctor sold two loads, Ratliff & Bedford two loads, the Midland Farms Co. one load and Mabee & Pyle one load.

Mrs. W. M. Pyle received Tuesday afternoon 54 head of choice steer calves which she bought at seven cents per pound from Sherwood Foster of Odessa. The calves, trucked to the stock pens here and then to the Nall place, averaged 435 pounds in weight.

INJURED MAN BETTER.

Slight improvement in the condition of John Gay, severely burned a week ago at an Andrews county drilling operation, was reported at a Midland hospital last night after a blood transfusion had been administered. Percy J. Mims, Midland insurance man, gave blood for the transfusion.

ELYRIA, O. (U.P.) — On his 65th birthday, Charles J. Crehore, Elyria business man rode his horse, Mountain Storm to first place in the five-gait event of the Lorain county fair's first horse show. His racing numeral for the day was 65.

New Methodist Minister Assumes Duties In City

Arriving at Midland Wednesday morning, the Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Hinds became located here where he will serve as pastor of the First Methodist church. They came here from Perryton, in the north Panhandle, where he was presiding elder for four years. Three children of the couple are all married, a daughter, Mrs. Frank Ehrle, living at Childress, another daughter, Mrs. C. W. Garrard, living at Fort Worth, and a son, Marshal Hines, also living at Fort Worth. The new pastor and wife moved immediately into the parsonage at 311 North Baird street.

The Midland area is not new to the Rev. Hinds, as he formerly was pastor at Big Spring and Colorado, and later at Childress before being located at Perryton. In his early career as a preacher, the Rev. Hinds did circuit work at Stanton and other nearby points, while living at Big Spring. He has a wide acquaintance in this section.

The Rev. Hinds attended school with Mayor M. C. Ulmer at old Polytechnic, Fort Worth, and took theological work at Southwestern University, Georgetown.

He said he always had thought a great deal of this part of the state and welcomed strongly the transfer to the Midland pastorate. He succeeds the Rev. Chas. M. Epps who was transferred to the Herring avenue church at Waco. The Rev. Hinds will be in charge of all services at the Methodist church Sunday, with detailed announcements to appear in this paper Friday afternoon.

Shipments of Eggs, Poultry From Texas Showing Increase

AUSTIN, Texas. — Shipments of poultry and eggs from Texas to out-of-state points during October were substantially above those of the corresponding month last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has announced. Poultry shipments totaled 43 cars, including 32 cars of chickens and 11 cars of turkeys, compared with only six cars during October last year, of which four cars were chickens and two cars turkeys. Interstate egg shipment totaled 21 cars, against 18 cars during October a year ago.

Only six cars of eggs were brought in from out of state points during the month came from Kansas and five from Missouri. During October last year 29 cars were brought in—seven from Kansas, twelve from Missouri, two from Oklahoma, six from Nebraska, and two from California.

Lost Mother Quickly Found.

LOWELL, Mass. (U.P.) — Miss Mary Sargent enlisted police aid in finding her mother who was traveling in the west. Mrs. Sargent telephoned her daughter 50 minutes later after being stopped by a Blair, Neb., policeman.

Well-Known Farm Owner Here Dies

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Greenwood church, southeast of Midland, for C. F. Eggleston, 69, well-known Midland county farmer who succumbed at his home near German in Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock. Interment services will be held at Greenwood cemetery.

Eggleston had been a resident of Midland county for approximately 10 years and was known as one of the most successful farmers in the county.

Rev. Williamson, Stanton, is to be in charge of the funeral and interment rites.

Record Crowd Hears Thanksgiving Sermon by Rev. Coleman at Union Services

A record crowd last night heard Rev. W. J. Coleman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, deliver the sermon at the union services held at the First Baptist church.

Members of all churches of the city were in attendance at the affair. The services are held annually all churches joining together on the occasion. The sermon each year is delivered by one of the pastors of a local church.

Rev. Coleman urged the audience to be particularly thankful at this Thanksgiving period, and took his Thanksgiving sermon from the book of Psalms.

Following is a copy of the sermon delivered by Rev. Coleman: Thanksgiving In Psalm 107.

The one-hundred-seventh Psalm rises to the sublime heights of inspired song. Nowhere in literature can it be matched for its spontaneous surge of thankfulness to God. Its vivid imagery depicts the varied course of human experiences and the wise providence of a merciful God. It sounds both notes of warning and notes of encouragement, and exhorts God-loving men and women to broadcast His goodness and mercy. "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so." (vs. 2).

In this materialistic, pragmatic age; with its speedometer's turnstills, statistics, codes, brain-trusts and every conceivable measuring device for the computation of output and production, it might be well to inject more of the poetical. True poetry rises from the aspiration of the human soul. It is the spiritual expression of the mind and heart. It is God-centered and God-directed.

One great test of immortal poetry is its universal application and appeal. It is ageless and timeless. So the magnificent one-hundred and seventh Psalm of Thanksgiving, while based directly on the experiences of ancient Israel, awakens kindred echoes and responses in every human heart.

In four realistic and timeless, masterful pictures, we see ourselves: 1. How graphically the inspired writer portrays DIRECTION IN THE DESERT (verses 4-9). His oriental mind is thus revealed.

Amidst the aridity, waste and trackless emptiness, where life was difficult to hold, the Providence of God impressed itself upon the thought and conduct of man. There, Monotheism had its birth. The Patriarchs were sustained by the guidance of Almighty God, and Israel saw a mighty demonstration of it for forty years. Preserving the memory of it all in verse the Psalmist writes: "They wandered in the wilderness in a desert way; they

STRIVING FOR SOMETHING MORE

Seed of that happy phenomenon, Thanksgiving, was sown back in the legendary days of our earliest settlers when, around the third Thursday of one cold, snowy November, they came to the conclusion that their half a loaf was better than none—and gathered to praise the thought.

By grace of public proclamation and a national weakness for turkey, that earnest little beginning has grown into a custom of sturdy proportions.

And as a custom, it is a good one—so appropriate, in fact, that it stirs conjecture of what might happen if we made it a year-round proposition.

Imagine all the cliques and classes, all the social and economic subdivisions of the nation giving up their private ambitions in order to keep the Thanksgiving spirit at high tide for, say, 12 whole months.

Strife and turmoil would disappear magically. The labor wars would fold up and collapse; there would be no more high tax worries, no more carping at Nazis and Communists. There would be no concern over Japan's war on China, or the high cost of living, or the neighbor's roving chickens, or Sivash's fifth football defeat of the year. Everybody simply would be too grateful for the status quo.

In plainer words, life would be just too nice, too sweetly smooth to be real in a modern era which requires lots of realism—and the ability to fight back when it's called for.

Today's human beings aren't striving merely for enough corn and meat to carry them through a hard winter. They have to contend, as well, with the arbitrary forms and prescriptions of a welter of new political, economic and social schemes which may change the mode of life virtually over a week-end.

Perhaps that's why we can't spend a whole year as disciples of the credo of gratitude. Like those early pioneers, we have other duties that monopolize our attention. Three hundred and sixty-four days of the year, we are striving to keep our balance and our jobs through the confusion that has become the hallmark of the first half of the 20th century.

Keeping that level head through the depression deeps and the weird aftermaths of the depression has required all the balance, and the precision of judgment and discernment the nation could muster.

But we did remain sane, and the nation is still intact. There can be no gloating until many still hungry persons are fed and clothed, but in the meantime, Americans have proved to themselves that they can take it on the chin, and they have every right to be thankful for that.

Mile Southwest Extension of Bohago Looms As Kiser Strikes

By FRANK GARDNER.

One mile southwest extension of the Bohago area in Yoakum loomed yesterday when Skelly Oil Company and Sun Oil Company No. 1 James Kiser encountered free oil from 5,276-84 which rose 400 feet in less than two hours. The well is drilling ahead at 5,303 feet in lime, carrying 650 feet of oil and 150 feet of water. The water present was said to be drilling water, although some reported it as salt water. Location of No. 1 Kiser is 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 640, block D, Jno. H. Gibson survey.

Three-quarters of a mile northwest of the Bohago discovery, Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 M. B. Sawyer, section 576, block D, was swabbing ten barrels of fluid hourly, oil being cut with salt water in indefinite amount. It is bottomed at 5,403 feet in lime and has been shot with 1,000 quarts.

P. N. Wiggins, Jr. et al. No. 1 J. T. Bartlett, western Yoakum wildcat in section 350, block D, is trying to free drillpipe stuck at 4,516 while it was being pulled. Total depth is 5,154 feet in lime.

In extreme northwestern Yoakum, Lou Stogner and Gene Pipkin No. 1 J. A. Blades, section 103, cemented surface pipe at 218 feet and is testing.

In the Denver area, Murchison & Fikes No. 1 Sawyer is drilling red beds at 1,500 feet, while Shell No. 1 Lynn is drilling anhydrite and red beds at 2,600.

Shell No. 1 Bennett, in the pool of that name in southeastern Yoakum, is drilling at 2,485 feet in anhydrite; Honolulu No. 2-377 Bennett is preparing to drill plug from 7-inch pipe cemented on bottom at 4,920.

"HANDS OFF BRAZIL"; BUT FOR HOW LONG?

Until Rio de Janeiro air clears of the smoke screen thrown out to effect the installation of Getulio Vargas as dictator, Brazil will remain an uncertain political quality, and as such, will be dangerous goods for the United States to be tampering with.

Some recognition of this has come from Washington, where the belief exists that now is a time for full indulgence of the "good neighbor" policy sponsored by President Roosevelt. A firmer barrier against intervention is the Buenos Aires peace conference agreement, under which American governments promised not to interfere in any way in the domestic affairs of other American nations.

But behind these fairly strong persuasions to keep our hands off, are some clamoring contradictions. And there's something familiar to their ring.

In the first place, there are the $560,000,000 worth of obligations due the United States from Brazil. Approximately $200,000,000 is in direct investments—public utilities and manufacturing enterprises. Brazilian bonds held in this country total some $362,000,000.

Then there is the matter of big business carried on between the United States and Brazil. American commercial men fear that a Fascist Brazil—suggested by the corporative state form of the new government—will resume barter trading with Germany, and possibly Italy, at the expense of American exporters.

Only a few months before Getulio assumed dictatorial power, American firms estimated that German goods landed in Brazil at low prices had slashed American competitive sales from 25 to 95 per cent.

What will happen now that Vargas is in the saddle and fully committed to a course of anti-Bolshevism similar to Germany's, is something American traders can only groan and pray over.

These grumblings and worries are bound to reach the ears of the administration if it develops that Brazil has turned in the "wrong" direction. Cries for protection of investments and property always have been about as much an official concern as the loss of lives, in foreign embroglios.

Add the State Department's own little worry about preserving the "democratic form" in governments of the western hemisphere, and you have the makings for an "incident" which may lead to a "misunderstanding" which may lead to something far worse.

So it is admirable that word has already come from Washington that wherever Brazil is heading, she can go for all the United States cares. But people with good memories and a curiosity to see if history ever repeats itself are going to have fun seeing just how long this noble experiment will last.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON Nov. 25. — Although Congress is giving an all-star demonstration of how thoroughly 531 men from various states—of 532 if you include the vice president—can get themselves thoroughly gummied up when the national welfare is at stake, the real issues are being fought out back-stage.

Members of Congress are reacting in the bulk, as usual, to the preponderance of pressures behind them, whether the pressures come from the administration, the voters, special interests in their constituencies or other forces. There are a few members who vote their own convictions and let the ballots fall where they will. But their number is negligible.

Right now the White House and Wall Street are swapping secret challenges which, at least according to the Roosevelt conception, have to do with the question of who's going to be boss during the current economic unpleasantness. This dispute probably is more significant than the mix-up on Capitol Hill and its outcome probably will largely determine future congressional rivals.

IT has been pointed out in these dispatches that the administration and "big business" blame each other for the industrial slump and that the issue between these two forces centers around the question as to which has the best ideas for achieving the nation's economic salvation.

This state of affairs seems to be rapidly boiling down toward the question whether it is the New Deal or business (the capitalist system, industry or, as New Deal propagandists like to simplify it—"Wall Street") which is really on the spot.

The word is being passed out rather freely, although surreptitiously, to bankers, public utility magnates and captains of industry, that the New Deal is going to march on nearer to socialism unless private capital picks up the prosperity ball and makes a few yards of recovery. (Whether the New Deal can march on or is more likely to be thrown for a loss is a question that can be reserved for future discussion.)

SOME persons—and they may know—feel that business is being given what amounts to a last chance to co-operate with the ad-

Postscript to Old College Is Written

RUSK (AP)—A postscript to the history of old Rusk College was written last week when employees of the Lion Oil Company, for some months engaged in razing the buildings, removed the corner stone of the administration building. Of the hundreds who jubilantly gathered to celebrate the laying of the stone in 1894, Miss Jessie Boone of Rusk was the only one who saw its removal. A now damp and yellowed copy of the Baptist Standard she placed in it is again in her possession. She has also been made custodian of other relics, some of which are expected to be replaced when it becomes the corner stone of the auditorium the Rusk Baptist Church plans to erect. The oil company donated the stone to the church in recognition of its support of the college.

Opened in 1895 as the East Texas Baptist Institute, the school was operated under various names, attaining the rank of junior college in 1918. Twenty years later the Baptist denomination closed it. Among its faculty members were the late Dr. B. W. Vining and Dr. A. J. Armstrong of the present Baylor University faculty. Its alumni are scattered throughout many states.

The oil company purchased the college property in 1934.

Hunters Assured of Plenty of Ducks

MELVIN (AP)—In the open season on ducks "just around the corner," West Texas hunters appear to be assured plenty of game this year, says Jim Rice, a ranchman here. "There were ducks on every inch of the surface of that tank," Jim said, "and some standing around waiting their turn to get in." Which is a lot of ducks on anybody's tank.

The PILGRIMS Gave THANKS for much less ministration and that if it fails to do so it can look forward to such prospects as government ownership of railroads, other public utilities and insurance companies.

And that jibes with the real attitude of the administration. Believing that "Wall Street" has put on a campaign to discredit him, Roosevelt has decided that he is much more likely to be able to turn the tables and discredit his conservative opposition.

Privately he contends that he has cut down government spending—as demanded—and that he is moving rapidly toward balancing the budget—as demanded.

Inasmuch as these moves have been followed by a pronounced business recession, Roosevelt now feels he is in a position to demand that business keep its promise to "take up the slack", to re-employ the unemployed, to keep the wheels of industry turning and so on.

Along with promises of tax revision, the administration is moving to facilitate large capital investment in housing in a program designed to stimulate a resuscitating building boom. If private capital doesn't respond, Roosevelt and his advisers are determined, the government will plunge in and build millions of houses of its own.

Judge Whitaker, in greeting the Lions and Rotarians, said it was the first time they had met jointly since the Lions beat the Rotarians in donkey baseball last September. According to Fred Middleton, the Rotarians have it on their records that the donkeys won the event. The only way the Lions could have won would have been to play on the same side as the jass-acks.

Harley Sadler's juggling team, Mr. and Mrs. Munday, have been putting on the act for 28 years, but I don't see how he ever got the nerve to step in front of his wife when she had that Indian club in her hand.

Howard Hodge was host to the Lions and Rotarians at a brief "short," right after the luncheon. His short feature was of inspirational nature, showing the happy employed husband who went haywire when the boss, on a grouch, failed to speak as he came in the office. The young man thought he was in bad and about to get fired. He worried, half-did his work, fumed at his wife and kid, cussed out his golf playing friends and tried to lie about his score. In the long run it all came out all right, by accident. I couldn't tell whether the moral was for the boss not to fail to speak or for the employees to pay no attention to the boss, but the main point I noticed was that every time the young man started out the door or in at the front gate, he stumbled over his kid's tricycle, which made the film very true to life. It would serve as a home safety week inspiration as well as one for Thanksgiving.

From Chorus To Stardom

FROM chorus to stardom was the overnight jump made by Miss Martha Tilton now singing with Benny Goodman's swing band every Tuesday evening over a coast-to-coast network. Miss Tilton had to go to Hollywood to make good in New York. After training in her home town—St. Louis—she sought a career in the film capital. Benny Goodman heard her there as one voice among many in a "swing chorus." He chose her at once as vocalist for his band, and after a trial tour, now has her singing in New York with one of radio's big-time orchestras.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD

- "Always drive fast out of alleys.
- "Always race with locomotives to crossings. Engineers like it; it breaks the monotony of their jobs.
- "Always pass the car ahead on curves or turns. Don't use your horn, it may unnerve the other fellow and cause him to turn out too far.
- "Demand half the road—the middle half. Insist on your rights.
- "Always speed; it shows people you are a man of pep even though an amateur driver.
- "Drive confidently, just as though there were not eighteen million other cars in service.
- "Always lock your brakes when skidding. It makes the job more artistic.
- "Always pass cars on hills. It shows you have more power; and you can turn off if you meet a car at the top.
- "In sloppy weather drive close to pedestrians. Dry cleaners appreciate it.
- "Never look around when you back up. There is never anything behind you."
- Of course you, the reader, never do any of the above things. You are a gentleman and act accordingly—but do you look the part?
- And try dry cleaning your own clothes in gasoline near a fire or when there is plenty of static in the air, which will often cause a spark and set fire to the gasoline, and burn you and your house to a crisp.

"Objectives of the Safety Week Contest" were read by Mrs. A. P. Shirey at the meeting of the Fine Arts club with Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, 408 N. Marientfeld, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Tom C. Bobo made a report on the contest.

Mrs. W. Edelen, mother of Mrs. Nelson, was a guest.

Present were: Mmes. R. H. Biggs, R. C. Crabb, P. C. Cummings, J. M. Haygood, F. I. McConnell, P. A. Nelson, A. H. Riley, Tom Sealy, J. W. Skinner, S. S. Stinson, Fred Turner.

Yellow Color Motif Employed at Party For Enigma Club

Yellow was chosen by Mrs. M. C. Ulmer as the party color when she entertained the Enigma club with four tables of bridge at her home, 111 North C, Tuesday afternoon.

Yellow chrysanthemums brightened the party rooms and tallies and score pads were in the same gay shade as were the prize wrappings.

Guests for the afternoon were: Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Mrs. Fred Wright and Mrs. Roy Parks, with the latter winning high guest score in the games.

Mrs. Allen Tolbert scored high for club members and Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer held high cut.

A party plate was served to Mmes. Armstrong, Wright, Parks, and the following club members: Mmes. Harvey Conger, Ellis Cowden, Frank Cowden, Clay Cowden, Clyde Cowden, Miss Lula Elkin, Mmes. George McEntire, Scharbauer, Allen Tolbert, Harry Tolbert, Henry Wolcott, and the hostess.

Nancy Ann Stevens Is Honored With Party on Birthday

Nancy Ann Stevens, daughter of Mrs. Nancy Stevens, was honored with a party at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Porter Rankin, 910 W. Louisiana, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in celebration of her fourth birthday anniversary.

Indoor games were played by the small guests. At refreshment time a white birthday cake decorated in pink, bearing the honoree's name and four white candles was the center of attention. Favors were baskets of candy with pencils for handles.

Children present included: The honoree, Bill Miller, Steve Oles, Bill Aldrich, Billie Joplin, Mary Ann Wilson, Rosemary Rankin.

Other friends, unable to be present, sent gifts.

About ten grown-ups also attended the party bring packages for Nancy Ann.

A special feature of the afternoon was the presence of both her grandmothers, Mrs. E. E. Stevens, and Mrs. Rankin.

Two Are Hosts to High School, College Crowd at Dance

Entertaining for the high school and college crowd, Billy Noble, son of Mrs. Susie G. Noble, and Bobbie Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Martin were hosts for a dance at the Country Club Wednesday night.

A Thanksgiving motif was followed in decorations for the ballroom.

At 11 o'clock supper was served in buffet style, the table being centered with a fruit basket.

Sul Ross Chooses Sun Carnival Entry

ALPINE Nov. 22. — Miss Anna Goering of San Antonio, was elected as Sul Ross College Princess to the Southwest Sun Carnival in El Paso, January 1.

Miss Goering is a member of the 1937 graduating class of Texas Lutheran College, and also a member of the 1935 class of Brackenridge High School of San Antonio. She is a member of the Brand Staff, Gamma Delta Kappa, Mask and Slipper, and is playing one of the leading roles in the Dramatic Club production, "Death Takes a Holiday," and is a member of the Junior Class.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Goering, 635 S. Presa, San Antonio.

Looking forward to a period of growth," Bryant said.

Residents to Stay Even If Homes Are Taken Into Park

ALPINE (AP).—Most of the residents of the proposed Big Bend National Park will be encouraged to continue making the area their homes when, and if, the project is approved, says Mrs. Berta Clark Lassiter, secretary of the Brewster County Chamber of Commerce.

They are chiefly of Mexican descent and live in the four small settlements of Boquillos, Castolon, San Vicente and Molinar. They are as much a part of the color of the Big Bend as the rugged mountain range, the desert waste and the winding Rio Grande.

Collective population of the four towns is estimated at around 250 by County Judge R. B. Slight, but an accurate count never has been made because the people take no interest in public affairs.

The residents make a living from small herds of sheep, goats and cattle and small truck gardens. This is supplemented at good seasons by working for landlords in the Bend.

Beauty for these people is expressed in bits of brightly colored cloth and a few lonely green shrubs beside the doors of their adobe huts.

With the exception of perhaps a little flour and salt their needs are few and they want for little. For their sick they concoct medicines from herbs.

They have deep reverence for their dead, and funeral rites, like their life, is simple. Their cemeteries are elaborately decorated and

Injuries Come High On Dam Project Job

AUSTIN (AP).—Injuries and three deaths in 15 months cost the Lower Colorado Authority $61,151, C. B. Sheffield, auditor, reports.

The authority, constructing four dams on the Colorado River, operated its own workmen's compensation insurance plan and thereby saved $228,505 under the cost of purchasing insurance based on established rates for dam construction, the auditor said.

For the 15 months ending in October, the authority paid $5,633 to 69 injured workers, an average of $81.64. There were three deaths.

Benefits of $5,921 were paid in two cases and $2,842 in the third. Cost of operating its own hospital also was included in the $61,151 outlay.

Texas has 3,000 persons more than 90 years of age and 137,602 under one year.

Just a Little Jog Of 18,000 Miles

AUSTIN (AP).—A new appreciation of Texas' vastness? Twenty-seven residents of Panhandle and West Texas counties, uniting in a request for the highway commission to complete a proposed north-south artery in their sections, said they drove a total of 18,000 miles to Austin, in Central Texas, to appear before the commission.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

JEANNE DAVIS CROWNED QUEEN.
Jeanne Davis was crowned "Queen of the Court of Hearts" in a magnificent ceremony held in the high school auditorium Tuesday night.

The elaborate court setting of the stage had a background entirely of silver. A large red satin heart surrounded with red lights formed the setting for the throne seats of the king and queen. Chairs of the six attendants were draped in white cloth and carried out the heart motif with smaller dagger-pierced hearts for backs.

The heralds, Helen Armstrong and Jack Sappington, were dressed in gold satin costumes with red capes and carried long gold bugles adorned with the heart insignia.

The attendants at the "Court of Hearts" impersonated famous lovers of history.

Virginia Ford as Cleopatra wore an Egyptian costume of green tulle decorated with sequins and pearls.
Her escort, Frank Nixon, was clad in a Roman costume with coat of mail and long cape.

Jessa Lynn Tuttle wore a lovely Juliet costume of royal blue satin with a beaded and embroidered panel in front. Marvin Park as Romeo was dressed in an Elizabeth-than suit of black satin and a small hat decorated with a plume.

Helen Droppelman, representing Ramona wore a beautiful white satin Indian costume which was beaded and fringed. Gordon English as Alessandro wore an Indian costume of beaded leather and a huge feather head dress.

Barbara Jean Harper, who represented Josephine, wore a gorgeous pink satin dress trimmed in silver lace. John Dublin wore a blue cloth Napoleonic costume.

Mary Sue Cowden, as Scarlet O'Hara, was attired in a pink taffeta hoop-skirted dress and a black taffeta bonnet trimmed with pink roses. Joe Norman as Rhett Butler wore a suit typical of the southern gentleman of the period.

Edna Earl Linebery impersonated the Duchess of Windsor and wore an afternoon dress of Wallis blue crepe and Robert Filson, as the Duke of Windsor, was dressed in formal attire.

His Majesty, Jack of the House of Nobles, wore a period costume of blue satin and wore a red and gold crown.

Her Majesty, Jeanne of the Houses of Davis, had an elaborate cloth of gold dress and a long queen's train made of red velvet decorated with gold.

The crown bearer, Sarah Lou Link, and the train bearers, Duane Abell, Peggy Simons, David Anguish, and Jerelen Jewell were dressed in costumes fashioned of white taffeta and white satin.

Courtney Cowden wore a clever jester's costume of blue and green satin.

The program presented for the royal pair featured musical selections. A choir of thirty high school students marched in before the entrance of the royal party. The members wore white robes with huge red hearts under their chins. They sang "All Hail the King" for the king's entrance and "The Sweetheart of Midland High" for the approach of the queen. The quartet, composed of R. O. Brooks, Val Borum, Fred Gordon Middleton, and Jack Walton sang, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" in honor of the queen.

Miss Georgia Goss presented an excellent Egyptian dance for Anthony and Cleopatra.

Fred Gordon Middleton rendered a solo, "Gone with the Wind," as a favor to Scarlet and Rhett.

George Walker played, "Indian Love Call" on the flute complimenting Alessandro and Ramona.

Marvin Park sang, "All for You" to Juliet.

Melba Schlosser, in a ballet costume of white tulle decorated with small red hearts, presented a ballet dance honoring Napoleon and Josephine.

A trio, consisting of Fred Gordon Middleton, Wanda Ticknor, and Robert Spikes, sang, "I Love You Truly" for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

The program was concluded with a grand finale—"Sweetheart" from "Maytime."

THANKSGIVING DAY PROGRAM

Given by High School Students

A characteristic and interesting Thanksgiving program was given Wednesday, November 24, at 2:00
p. m. in the Midland high school auditorium by the Literary Society.
W. J. Adams, president of the Literary Society, presided at the meeting and Freda Fae Turner, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and announced the program, which was as follows:
"In a Persian Market" (Ketelby),
"Western World" (Chenette), "Pawnee Indian March" (Goldman), by Midland High School Band. Bobby
Martin played a saxophone solo,
"Pale Moon", accompanied by the band.
Chorus: "The Angelus" (Lieur-ance) by Midland High School.
Reading: "One Hundredth Psalm"
by Midland High School.
Girl's Quartet: "Rose of Picardy" Jessa Lynn Tuttle, Barbara Jean Harper, Jacqueline Crawley, and Wanda Ticknor.
Thanksgiving Proclamation (President Roosevelt) by Jack Walton.
Reading: "A girl Counts Her Blessings" (Fuller) by Helen Armstrong.

Boy's Quartet: "Anchors Aweigh"
(Zimmermann) by R. O. Brooks, Val Borum, Fred Gordon Middleton, and Jack Walton.
Speech: "Thankful Times" (Big-
low) by Jean Lewis.
Critic's Report by Louise Elkin.
The students and visitors enjoyed the program very much. Another program will be presented at Christmas to which the public is cordially invited.

"Laugh and The World Laughs
With You— Weep and you weep alone."
All of you have heard this, I'm sure. Also you have heard some person laughing a lot. Many times this seems silly, but, on the other hand, you can't stand to have a grouchy person around, can you?
In an article I read by Jimmy Durante, the famous screen and radio actor, he stated that laughing at himself once "saved the day" for him.
In most cases this is true, so when you feel yourself, so to speak,
"slipping," laugh and it really won't hurt you.

BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES TO STOKES.

The Midland basketball club lost their first game of the season to Stokes, Tuesday after school by 25-10 score. Coach Lawson gives the following statement for the defeat:
"Those boys from Stokes are so small that they could run between the legs of the Midland boys and make a goal before we even missed them."
The main basketball players are still playing football but will start coming out the first Monday after Thanksgiving.
For Midland, Raymond Gee was high-point man, scoring only 4 points. Oran Stevens played guard; Bill Hart, forward, Spencer Collins, forward, Jack Reid, guard. Substitutes were Bobby Martin, Jack

Kenny, Bobby Sidwell, and Odie
Kelly.
For Stokes, W. T. Lewis played the center position; Douglas Wise, forward, Junior Wise, guard, Care, forward, Graham, guard. Substitutes were Raymond Lawson and Bill Lewis.
The next game for the Midland team is to be played Wednesday afternoon after school with Valley View.

FOOTBALL BOYS GIVEN FEED.

The football squad of Midland High School was treated to a steak supper Monday night, November 22, by the Athletic Association in the Blue Room of the Hotel Scharbauer.
Those present were: The football squad; the coaches, L. W. Taylor, and R. W. Myer; the principal of the high school, Mr. D. D. Shillett; and the superintendent of schools,
Mr. W. W. Lackey.
Mr. Lackey commended the boys

WHITE, KARAMATIC CRASH ALL-AMERICA FIRST TEAM OF NEA

SMALL SCHOOL STARS PROVE WORTH OVER BIG LEAGUERS

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service.

All America hails 1937's supermen of football—All-America!

Here are the greats who Saturday after Saturday stood out above their fellows on college gridirons, whose play earned them the game's highest honor—the name of All-America.

These names for the football Hall of Fame are the choices of the men who really know the game, who see behind "grandstand plays" and "lucky breaks," who know not only who is foremost on the fields of battle, but why. NEA's football immortals were chosen by the nation's leading coaches, the men who have the best opportunity to see the athletes in action, the most ability to select the really great from the merely flashy.

For All-America decorations in 1937, then, America's most famous drillmasters put their heads together, compared experiences, rec-one place, although at least two, Pittsburgh and California, easily might have been given three each. Indicating how tough it is for a college football player to achieve the cherished goal of every one of them, is the absence from the first team of a member of the Fordham and Alabama creations, who as teams belong in the country's first five.

But to get down to the All-America team of 1937. Byron White of Colorado, Marshall Goldberg of Pittsburgh, Clinton Frank of Yale, and George Karamatic of Gonzaga are the backs.

The much-abused word, "sensational," may be employed in describing Whizzer White, the most widely publicized small-school player in the country, but rightfully so. Everybody who has seen White say that he is the peer of or at least the equal of Earl (Dutch) Clark, the professional whose name is mentioned in the same breath with has seen since Jerry Dalrymple of Tulane. Although he is noted chiefly as a defensive end, it was his pass receiving that led to the Tarheels' upset victory over Duke.

Six foot, 200-pound Joe Beiner, Notre Dame junior, came along with a rush in his second year of varsity play to gain one tackle post. Pitt called him the best tackle the Panthers faced all years.

Frank (Bruiser) Kinard, Mississippi senior, used his 210 pounds of hard-packed muscle to real advantage in the Bulldogs' line. Possibly the best defensive lineman in Dixie, he was a virtual stone wall when the enemy shifted into gear.

Fast-moving Vard Stockton of California, 190 pounds and one of the most nimble in that speedy Golden Bear forward wall, slips into a guard post. When it came to pulling out of the line and running interference he had no peers.

From Oblivion to Fame.
His running mate could be no other than Joe Routh, Texas A. &

M. 192-pounder, who rose to his greatest heights this season after receiving considerable honor team mention last year as a junior. And as a freshman Routh wasn't able to make his numerals!

The most bitter fight in the country for a first team berth bobbed up at the center position, and after the smoke of battle had cleared away, big Charley Brock of Nebraska, a 193-pound junior with the speed of a lightweight, came out of the brawl on top.

A great linebacker, particularly good on pass defense, Brock played sensational football all year. But it was only by the closest of margins that he nosed out California's Bob Herwig and Fordham's Alex Wojciechovic.

We might go on to unveil the talents of our brilliant second team, and possibly an equally good third team. It's hard to tell where an All-America leaves off and a second choice begins.

But it might easily be said that every boy on our honor squad is an All-America in his own right.

ords, personal knowledge available to no one else, and chose the most authentic All-America football teams.

A surprisingly wide distribution of all-star talent appears in the final analysis, with the east landing three positions, the midwest, south, and far west two each, and the southwest and Rocky Mountain region one apiece.

It perhaps is the first time since the late Walker Camp got out of the try-sprinkled Big Three that the usually all-powerful Western Conference goes unrepresented on the first string. But the Big Ten wasn't up to its customary standard this autumn. Its poor record against outside competition is something in the way of proof of this.

Bears, Pitt Almost Land Three.
No team is awarded more than that of Jim Thorpe, with no apologies, and who also came out of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

White, weighing 183 pounds and standing five feet ten, is the triple threat extraordinary. He was such a great ball carrier that he ran 40 touchdown after touchdown through complete teams. He was a superlative passer and kicker, and a brilliant field general.

The Whizzer is vastly more than a football player. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and is a candidate for a Rhodes scholarship.

Goldberg, one of four juniors in the first lineup, was the year's top back. Weighing 180 pounds and standing five feet eleven, the Jewish hill-billy of Elkins, West Va., was the hardest running back in the country. A master of the cut-back, this phenomenal 19-year-old Panther also kicks and passes.

Harry Stuhldreher, of Wisconsin, who was one of the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, considers him the fastest boy on the second step that he has ever seen.

Captain Frank earned his place as a Yale immortal by starring week in and week out. The Evans-ton lad lacked some of the savagery of Goldberg, but was a superlative ball carrier, passer and an inspirational leader.

The west will marvel for a long time over George Karamatic, the fullback who came out of little Gonzaga College to startle the entire coast. Almost six feet tall and weighing 190 pounds he fairly breathes power and ability. Slip Madigan, St. Mary's coach, runs out of superlatives when describing his actions.

No Halter on Him.

According to the Gael mentor, Karamatic is so terrific he needs no interference. Once he gets under way he'll stampee right out of the stadium. In addition to that he's a tremendous punter.

Frank Wysocki, Villanova junior, rates on end. Raney fast, and absolutely glue-fingered on the receiving end of a forward pass he definately was the best offensive end in the east. And once he got his hands on the ball he'd swing off with all the dexterity of a half-back.

Andy Bershak, greatest end in North Carolina's history, is awarded a job at the other terminal. A senior standing an even six feet and weighing 187, Bershak is regarded as the best end the south-

SECOND ROUND MATCHES IN HANDICAP TOURNAMENT BEING PLAYED THIS WEEK

Second round matches in the Ellis Cowden handicap golf tournament are under way this week, and when play is over only 40 will be left in the running for the championship.

First round matches were played last week and several who were given a chance at the cup were eliminated in a series of minor upsets.

Tournament committee members last night stressed the importance of all entries playing their matches this week and turning in their scores to Howe at the country club in order to keep them from being eliminated. All golfers participating in the tournament who do not either play their matches or claim a forfeit by Sunday night will be crossed from the eligible list.

No "Hookey" for Him If It Means Home

AUSTIN (AP).—Week-end jaunts to their homes to break the monotony of restaurant or boarding house food are unlikely for at least 67 University of Texas students.

The forty-one Mexican students might cut a few classes and make the trip but not so for Seizo Huga from Japan. It would take him 17 days to get home, he says. Other students come from Central and South America, Germany, Turkey and the Philippine Islands.

Highest Monument to Mark San Jacinto

HOUSTON (AP).—Texans are raising the highest monument in the United States to the memory of the heroes of the Battle of San Jacinto—that 18-minute fight in which Texas was freed from Mexico in 1836.

The $1,150,000 monument will be 564 feet high, nine feet higher than the Washington Monument in the nation's capital.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt will be asked to dedicate it April 21, 1938, the one hundred and second anniversary of the historic battle. Jesse Jones of Houston, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, broke the ground for the towering structure in 1936. The Houstonian will be invited to participate in the dedication ceremony.

San Jacinto is one of the most revered battlefields in the Southwest. It was there a handful of Texas patriots under Gen. Sam Houston defeated Gen. Santa Ana and several thousand Mexican soldiers. The battle avenged the Alamo and Goliad massacres of Texans.

Approaching the monument, now three-fourths completed, are two terraces, one rising six feet and spreading 364 feet in each direction; the other rising nine feet and spreading 244 feet each way.

The base building is 124 feet square and 36 feet high. The entrance approach will be through a Hall of Honor, 44 by 15 feet. Niches will be provided for statues of the heroic men and women who made history in Texas more than a century ago.

To the left of the Hall of Honor will be a museum of historical relics occupying a space 36 by 103 feet. To the right will be an auditorium matching in size the museum.

An elevator will whisk visitors to the observation tower. The tower will be 47 feet square at the base and 36 feet square at the top, and will sway more than two feet in high winds that sometimes visit the region.

The monument is 13 miles south of Houston on the battle site and opposite the spot where the San Jacinto River forks into Buffalo Bayou.

An amphitheater seating 5,000 persons will be included in the rear base of the memorial. Atop the monument will be a huge star showing five points in every direction.

Texas artists consider the star one of the most beautiful pieces of workmanship in the nation. Alfred C. Finn, architect, said the designing of the Texas Lone Star was one of the most difficult tasks in the construction of the monument.

The memorial is of reinforced concrete faced with variegated golden buff Texas limestone. This stone is of shell formation and its polished surface is similar to Travertine marble.

Plastered spaces above the marble finish of the walls will be decorated with murals depicting Texas historical events.

'River Horses' Kept Near By Ranchmen

AMARILLO, Texas. (AP) — Many plains cowmen still keep river horses in their remudas. Practically all the ranches along the Canadian and Red rivers have river horses, or those than can negotiate high water with safety. Many horses "lose their heads" when they get in the water or shifting river sand, but the river horse is a steady animal with even temper and a level head. The river horse is usually a large, trained animal that takes its time in the water or sand. Good river horses have been known to lie down when they encounter quicksand they couldn't negotiate on foot. Fences fronting rivers or having big stream running through them need river horses practically all seasons of the year.

XIT Ranch Reunion To Be Held Again

DALHART (AP).—The XIT Ranch reunion last summer was so successful an expanded program has been planned for the second annual get-together of the old-timers who used to punch longhorns on the world's largest ranch. S. E. Brown, general chairman of the reunion, says the first reunion more than paid expenses. Improvement of the roundup grounds, including the rodeo pens, cost $800, the biggest item of expense of the first reunion.

Half-Hidden Revolver Aids Defendant's Case
BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The butt of a revolver saved Clayton Beck, 31, from a fourth felony conviction which under the New York State Baumes law calls for mandatory imprisonment of from 5 years to life.
A Supreme Court jury found Beck guilty of a misdemeanor instead of a felony in possessing a revolver, when the arresting officers testified that the butt of the gun was protruding from the man's belt. The court had directed the jury to determine the question of a misdemeanor or felony on whether the gun was concealed. The maximum penalty for a misdemeanor conviction is a year in prison and a $500 fine. As Beck previously had been convicted of felonies three times, a felony verdict by the jury would have resulted in the mandatory Baumes law sentence.
