

Flood Death Toll Continues to Mount

Rodeo Officials Start Procedure

Definite plans for the annual rodeo of Midland Fair, Inc., were instituted at a meeting Friday night when Clarence Scharbauer, fair president, named a committee of five experienced men to stage the spectacular western event. The general committee is composed of Foy Proctor, chairman, John Dublin, Roy Parks, Leonard Proctor and Donald Hutt. As chairman of the publicity committee, W. T. Doherty, West Texas superintendent of the Humble Oil & Refining Co., was appointed. Dates for the rodeo previously had been set for Saturday, Sunday and Monday, September 3, 4 and 5, which includes the Labor day holiday.

A full program of western events will be staged afternoon and night of each rodeo day, giving six complete shows for the spectators which are expected to flock from hundreds of miles and from several states.

For the first time, entrance fees will be added to purses. The purses of last year will not be decreased. It was voted, so that with the addition of entrance fees the contestants will have a total of $4,000 for which to contend. Open to the world, the annual event is expected to attract the cream of roping, riding and bulldogging talent of the United States and Canada. Cowboy contest events will include calf roping, team tying (using Mexico steers), bronc riding, bareback wild mare riding, steer bull dogging and wild horse races.

As in each rodeo staged since organization of the Midland fair in 1935, there will be the annual cowgirl sponsor contest, with attractive equestriennes entered from three dozen or more towns and cities of Texas and New Mexico.

For the second time the Midland Fair rodeo will feature a boys' calf roping contest, divided in two age groups. Boys aged 12, 13 and 14 will contend for one set of trophies, being required to rope and turn loose their calves. Boys aged 15 and 16, in the other class, will have to rope and tie their calves. Trophies especially attractive to boys of those ages will be given the winners each day and for the show's best average time.

Midland Fair officials a week ago contracted with Beutler Bros., of Elk City, Okla., to furnish bucking horses, bucking steers and bull dogging steers. Pick up men, saddles, bells, ropes and other equipment will be furnished by Lynn and Jake Beutler for the event.

Last year's rodeo, staged around the Labor day week end, showed a reasonable profit. Fair officials and the rodeo committee will stake much on public interest this time, offering greater purses and better attraction than at any of the previous shows, seeking to establish further the annual Midland Fair rodeo as one of the premier western events of the southwest.

Silence Over Levine Home; Boy's Body Hunted

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. March 5, (P).— Silence settled over the home, picture above, of Peter Levine, 12, right, suspected kidnap victim, as New York police began draining a Bronx lake today in search of the boy's body.

Three anonymous telephone messages sent to the police to a lake where, partly covered by snow, they found a note reading "find Levin boy in middle of lake." Murray Levine, the boy's father, pictured left, disclosed yesterday one attempt to pass the ransom money demanded had failed.

Seagraves Rotary Club Organized with the Midland Club as Sponsoring Organization

Organization of a Rotary club at Seagraves was accomplished Friday, subject to granting the charter, when Earl Harrison, representative of Rotary International and Fred Wemple of Midland met District Governor J. Edd McLaughlin and a group of Seagraves business and professional men. A provisional setup was completed, with the Midland Rotary club named as the sponsoring organization and Wemple as special representative.

Meetings will be held each Tuesday noon at the American Legion hall.

Jess Hall, former member of the Big Spring Rotary club when he was district manager of the Southern Ice & Utilities Co. in this district, was elected president. J. Frank Matchett, cashier of the Seagraves bank and formerly secretary to Harry Rogers when the latter was president of Rotary International, was elected vice-president. Woodson Jones, fire insurance agent, was named secretary-treasurer.

Additional directors, besides the officers named above, are Cliff

Armstrong, automobile dealer; Thos. W. Hagood, dry goods; Amos Harper, newspaper publisher, and Joe Hudson, petroleum products dealer. Other charter members were listed as Lawrence L. Barber, corporation lawyer; A. L. Curtis, water service; Gene F. McCullough, education; A. L. Bradford, physician; Jesse Roach, civil law; Joe H. Webb, mortician; Mack Hill, Petroleum products distributor; Harry T. Davidson, hospitalier; Walter T. Price Jr., variety store; Claude Hearne, grocer; Chas. E. Sherrill, hardware dealer; Joe Grimes, building material dealer, and Ben D. Cooksey, druggist, making a total of twenty.

It was the second provisional Rotary club to have been organized in the district, and in this section late in the week. Odessa having perfected preliminary organization Thursday, with the Big Spring club as sponsoring organization.

Charters will be delivered by District Governor J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls as soon as details are completed with the offices of Rotary International at Chicago.

Wink Attorney Files His Candidacy for Representative

A. T. Folsom, Wink attorney, Saturday authorized The Reporter-Telegram to announce his candidacy for representative of the 88th legislative district.

Folsom, a resident of West Texas since 1902, four years after completion of his studies at Texas university, said he was announcing at the request of numerous citizens of the district.

In making his announcement, he declared:

I have resided in West Texas for many years and am familiar with the needs and problems of the people of this section.

I believe that the following legislation is needed, and I favor laws along these lines:

1. Amendment of the workmen's compensation laws to prevent the delays in payment of money due injured employees by insurers, and to enforce prompt payments. This can be done by simplifying the procedure and cutting out the technicalities which cause delay.

2. Amendment of venue laws to permit all suits for labor to be brought in the county where the labor is performed. The present law permits this only in justice court cases.

3. A law authorizing the court to assess collection fees to be taxed as costs in suits by merchants on open accounts for merchandise sold. The present law allows such fees on labor claims, building material, freight claims, stock killed, etc., but does not include merchants claims for goods sold.

4. Amendments providing that justice and county courts shall be in continuous session for both civil and criminal business.

5. Laws simplifying procedure for participation of lands and mineral interests therein, and quieting titles.

6. Amendment of acknowledgment laws, providing that the acknowledgment of a married woman shall be taken in the same manner as that of her husband.

Marketing Quota Opposition Rises On Eve of Voting

WASHINGTON, March 5 (P).— Reports of mounting opposition in the cotton belt to Secretary Wallace's proposal to apply marketing quotas to this year's cotton crop aroused concern at the Agriculture Department today.

The proposal is to be submitted to more than 2,000,000 cotton growers in 19 states at a referendum March 12. It must be approved by a two-thirds vote to become effective.

The department ordered I. W. Dugan, director of the southern division of the AAA to Texas next week for a series of speeches stressing advantages which the department says would derive from the quota system.

Denver East Extensioner Flows 43 Barrels In One Hour and A Half

By FRANK GARDNER.

Flowing 43 barrels in an hour and a half after kicking off, Shell Petroleum Corporation No. 1-C George Baumgart yesterday showed unexpected large production as a result of acidizing with 5,000 gallons. It is still on test, with gas volume gauged at 915,000 cubic feet daily. The well's flow commenced after it had been swabbed for 15 1/2 hours, heading occasionally, recovering an estimated 240 barrels of fluid, 82 per cent oil, 12 per cent basic sediment and six per cent acid water. Fluid had cleared up to only eight per cent b. s. and four per cent acid water during the last hour of gauging after flow began.

No. 1-C Baumgart, located 1,320 feet from the north, 2,200 feet from the east line of section 866, block D, J. H. Gibson survey, provides an east extension to the Denver pool, southern Yoakum, of one mile and a half. Prior to acidizing it flowed 220 barrels of oil in 23 hours. It had been shot with 600 quarts from 4,810 to 5,018, the total depth. Favorable Yates top at 3,040, datum of plus 523, in Shell No. 1-D

Ranchmen Here to Exhibit Cattle in Fort Worth Show

Entries of Midland ranchmen and Hereford breeders at the Southwest-ern Exposition and Fat Stock Show had gained late in the week, when it was evident that carload lots of steer yearlings, coming yearlings and registered bull calves, as well as 4-H club calves and single entries in registered classes would be exhibited.

Scharbauer Cattle Co. will show a car load, forty head, of steer yearlings, also placing them in the auction sale scheduled for Tuesday, March 14.

Roy Parks will enter a car load of coming yearling steers, placing them in the auction sale.

R. W. Aycock will exhibit a load of fifteen head of junior bull calves in the registered Hereford show. He also will have single entries in the registered junior bull and steer classes.

School Official Is Indicted by Grand Jury in Austin

AUSTIN, March 5 (P).— Miss Edger Allen Wilson, second assistant state school superintendent, was indicted by a Travis county grand jury today on charges of extortion and misapplication of funds.

The extortion count was based on a charge of collecting $1700 in illegal fees.

Overcrowded Road Blamed in Deaths Of 16 During Year

AUSTIN, March 5 (Special).— Sixteen lives were sacrificed on the badly overcrowded Midland-Pecos stretch of Highway 1 during 1937 because highway officials have neglected to route a life-saving portion of the traffic on other roads, figures from the department of public safety showed this week.

During 1937, 22 persons were killed on that deadly 93-mile strip of highway. For comparison the number of deaths on the Sweetwater-Midland portion of Highway 1 was only six during 1937. The difference between the six killed on the Sweetwater-Midland strip, and the 22 killed on the Midland-Pecos strip, is sixteen—the number of persons killed by the oil field traffic. It is 100 miles from Sweetwater to Midland.

Chief L. G. Phares of the highway patrol declared that this great difference is undoubtedly due to the "tremendous traffic through the Odessa fields."

Seventy-eight persons were injured in the 107 accidents on the Midland-Pecos stretch, Phares' figures showed.

Still pending before the Texas highway commission is a plea by Winkler and Midland county officials, urging the commission to take over and pave the 25-mile part of Highway 158—from Midland to Kermit—which is not now paved. This would take a great deal of the oil field traffic between Midland and Hobbs off the Bankhead Highway, leaving that transcontinental route clear for regular tourist traffic.

Mountains Searched For Missing Liner

FRESNO, Calif. March 5 (P).— Airplanes searched snow-covered mountains today in the search for a passenger skyliner which vanished Tuesday night.

The plane, enroute to Chicago from San Francisco, was believed to have crashed into a mountain peak in a snow storm.

Searchers believed the skyliner, with six passengers and three crew members, fell somewhere northeast of Fresno.

The hunt today was conducted within a 30-mile radius touching the southern tip of Yosemite park.

Rev. and Mrs. Borum Return From Trip

Rev. and Mrs. Winston F. Borum returned Thursday from a 10-days' trip to Louisiana and Mississippi. They visited Mrs. Borum's parents and other relatives at Shreveport, La., and relatives of Mr. Borum at McGehee, Mississippi.

A high point of the trip was a visit to Jackson, Miss., where they attended the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the First Baptist church of that place, where the Midland minister's father was pastor for nine years.

Midland Students Capture Honors In Speech Tourney

Midland high school students carried home the lion's share of honors at the conclusion of the sixth annual speech tournament held in Abilene yesterday.

One first, one second and two third places were taken in the speech events and two firsts were captured in the tennis tournament held at the same time.

Donald Griffin took first place in senior boys' declamation and Joyce Beauchamp took second place in senior girls' declamation. Val Borum took third place award in boys' extemporaneous speaking and Margaret Watford took third place in the girls' section of the event.

In tennis, Joe Norman won first place in singles and the doubles team of Fred Gordon Middleton and Frank Wade Arrington won first place honors. The Midland tennis players were easy winners in every match played, spread eagling the field.

HEALTH BOARD NOT TO MEET

Meeting of the Midland county public health board, scheduled for Monday evening, has been postponed, as Mrs. Harvey Sloan, chairman, has been called from the city.

C. of C. Membership Drive Will Be Held During April

Realizing that the annual budget of the Midland chamber of commerce must be increased by at least $5,000 if the recently adopted program of work for 1938 is successfully carried out, members of the executive committee of the organization met in the chamber of commerce office Friday evening to discuss ways and means of securing additional operating funds, members of the committee attending the session being President Marion Flynn, W. T. Doherty and Russell C. Conkling, vice-presidents; Clarence Scharbauer, immediate past president; and Manager Bill Collins.

As a result of the Friday evening session, a one day membership drive in which the entire city will be thoroughly canvassed for new members and in which many present members will be asked to raise their pledges, will be staged early in April, under the direction of R. C. Conkling, membership chairman.

The membership drive will be staged in the form of a contest with two sides of approximately twenty members each participating, team captains, who will select their own workers, to be named within the near future. Tentative plans call for starting the drive at nine o'clock a. m. on the designated day of the campaign, same to be concluded at five o'clock that afternoon. A banquet for the membership workers would be staged that evening, with the losing side paying for the dinner.

McCraw and Governor in New Quarrel

Bitter Criticism Of "Wisecracks" Voiced by Allred

AUSTIN, March 5 (P).— The quarrel between James V. Allred and William McCraw, possible opponents in the impending governor's race blazed again today.

Governor Allred accused Attorney General McCraw of attempting to gain a following solely through wisecracks. He said he awaited with interest "one serious statement from the attorney general of any principal for which he stands."

McCraw's brief but scorching reply was: "I am glad he (Allred) now is in the open doing his own talking instead of operating through his 'Charlie McCarthys' Hill and Holbrook (Senators Joe L. Hill of Henderson and T. J. Holbrook of Galveston)."

Allred asserted in a press statement that "the attorney general says he will run for governor on his record and his own merits," then inquired, "what are they? Wisecracks? Grandstand play? Tom Clark? Carl Estes? Changed marble machine opinions? Compromised lawsuits?"

'People Want To Know'

"The people want to know. They like a good show, all right, and the attorney general staged one (referring to McCraw's skirmish with the senate investigating committee), but the people are not interested in electing a comic opera governor. They are interested in what a man has done and what he stands for."

The governor sought to compare McCraw's wisecracking to that of James J. Walker, former mayor of New York.

Walker's wisecracks did not satisfy President Roosevelt, who was governor of New York," Allred stated. "The president said: 'See here Walker, I don't want flippancies and witticisms. I want the facts.'"

"In the serious matter of choosing a governor, the people of Texas are like President Roosevelt."

Rabe Suspended Indefinitely by President Payne

BIG SPRING, March 5 (Special).— Neal Rabe, playing manager of the Roswell Sunshiners in the West Texas-New Mexico league in 1937, was placed on the indefinitely suspended list Saturday by Jim Payne, President of the Roswell club, who announced he had mailed evidence of "tampering with players" by Rabe to Judge Brantman, head of all minor leagues, asking his suspension by the National Association.

Payne, in announcing the suspension of Rabe, declared he would operate the Roswell club again this year, despite reports Hobbs had purchased the Roswell franchise. He declared he still owned the Roswell franchise and was making preparations to put a team on the field opening day.

In a telephone conversation with the Reporter-Telegram sports editor, Payne declared he had forwarded evidence of his charges against Rabe to both Judge Brantman and Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of organized baseball.

In Love Suit

Bodies of 104 Victims Discovered

More Than 100 Still Missing as Rains Finally End

LOS ANGELES, March 5 (P).— The total of dead and missing in Southern California's most devastating flood today soared to more than 200. The latest check showed that the bodies of 104 victims had been found, including 77 unidentified. More than 100 are missing.

The death list is expected to be swelled considerably in the next two days as many marooned farm houses are yet inaccessible and the fate of their inhabitants is a matter of speculation.

Preliminary official estimates indicate damage to public property is in excess of $50,000,000 in Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties. No guess has been hazarded of the damage to homes and crops.

Red cross workers were supplying food to almost 1,000 persons marooned in the Madera county cotton camps.

Rains, Snows Blamed. The flood here originated from heavy rains and snows that have been falling alternately in Fresno, Madera and other central California counties for several days.

Rivers and creeks have been running out of their banks for three days.

Sixty miles northeast of here, in the mountainous vicinity of Big Creek, a transcontinental and Western Airways liner has been hunted since Tuesday night, when it vanished on a flight from San Francisco to Los Angeles with nine persons aboard. Searching planes have been operating out of the Fresno airport and the storms have impeded the search.

Flooding is from six to eight feet of snow on the Sierra mountains east of here.

Culbertson Leaves For Funeral of Newspaper Magnate

E. A. Culbertson, member of the Midland oil firm of Culbertson and Irwin, will leave today for Los Angeles and Miramar, Calif., to attend the funeral services of his brother-in-law, Robert W. Scripps, 42, major stockholder of the great Scripps-Howard newspaper chain. Mr. Scripps died aboard his yacht off the coast of Lower California, the body being transferred Thursday to the steamer Pennsylvania which docked at Los Angeles yesterday.

Mrs. Scripps, sister of the Midland man, was in Mexico City with one of the sons. Pending their arrival at the California home, tentative funeral arrangements were scheduled for Wednesday of this week.

The Culbertson family moved from the east to Los Angeles in 1914. It was in 1917 that Mr. Scripps and Miss Margaret Lou Culbertson were married. They have six children, Robert Payne Jr., Charles Edward, Margaret Ellen, Mackey Elizabeth, Samuel Hollingsher and Edward Wyllys III.

Mr. Scripps began his newspaper career as a reporter in 1916. He was the son of the late E. W. Scripps, founder of the newspaper chain which is represented by dailies in many of the larger cities of the United States. Robert W. Scripps at the time of his death, was president and treasurer of the E. W. Scripps Company and a director of Newspaper Enterprises Associated Service, the Newspaper Information Service and of the United Press Associations.

He had been in ill health since last summer. Death came while the yacht, the Nova Del Mar, was anchored off Santa Margarita Island, Lower California.

Two vacancies are to be filled in the annual election scheduled for Saturday, April 2, the terms of Foy Proctor and W. A. Yeager expiring at that time.

Friends of the two candidates pointed out that Simpson, owner of the M System grocery store, has been a patron of the schools for nine years. He is a native West Texan, civic club leader, director in the chamber of commerce and has been president of the Midland welfare association, having been appointed by the last three state governors. He formerly served as a member of the Odessa city council.

Link for fourteen years was employed of the local school system, both from standpoints of operation and from tax problems, and are qualified to hold responsible positions of public trust.

Announcement Saturday of the two candidates marked the first campaign of the approaching school election.

Barcelona Is Hard Hit by New Air Raid

BARCELONA, March 5 (P).— Twenty-four persons were killed and 35 wounded and the populous districts of Barcelona were heavily damaged today in the fifth air raid in several hours.

Several planes flying from the sea swooped upon the business section, dropping 20 bombs.

WHY IS LIABLE TO SMITH? Answer on Page Six.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

SMITH rented an office building to Jones for a year at $350 per month. The lease expressly provided that Jones should not assign his lease to anyone.

In spite of the clause, a month later Jones assigned the whole leasehold interest in the property to Brown. Before this assignment was made Smith was told about it, but he made no objection.

Thereafter no rent was paid to Smith and he sued both Jones and Brown and sought to recover the full amount of the balance due for rent from both of them.

Jones defended on the ground that he assigned his interest in the lease to Brown without any objection from Smith.

Brown defended on the ground that the assignment was improper and invalid because it was contrary to the terms of the lease, and that he had no contract with Smith; that if he owed anyone it was Jones, not Smith.

struction. It has many other advantages. One reason Midland has never been able to secure free mail delivery is because of the fact that the houses are so scattered, the sidewalks so disconnected and the population spread over such a large area that too many miles have to be covered by a postman in delivering a given amount of mail. With the filling in of vacant lots closer in, the whole city would undergo a beautification campaign, making it more attractive to residents living both close in and farther out.

This is not a campaign against erecting homes in new sections of the city. It is just a tip to those liking the nearer distance to town to select their sites where it is possible that a remodeling campaign will put the neighborhood on a beautiful basis. The one-car family can save many a dollar in a year's time by living from four to twelve blocks from the city. The man who walks to town keeps down his waist line, enjoys better health and has time to view the beauties of nature in the spring time, as outlined in our letter from Suzy, printed Friday.

CIRCLE OFFICIAL HERE.

Mrs. Laura Ferguson of San Angelo, spent Friday night in Midland as the guest of Mrs. J. P. Wyrick. She made the visit in the interest of the Woodman Circle. Mrs. Ferguson, who has been promoted to the position of state deputy and manager, has just returned from a week's course in state managership held at Omaha, Neb. Saturday morning she left for San Angelo but will return here in three weeks for a meeting of the circle group.

1,000 Rabbits Estimated Slain in Drive Friday

100 HUNTERS WREAK DESTRUCTION ON LOP EARS IN PRAIRIE LEE VICINITY

By JESS RODGERS.

Well, the dogs in the Prairie Lee community are safe for another year. About 100 Twentieth Century Daniel Boones saw to the welfare of the canines Friday when they blasted to kingdom come all rabbits that showed an ear above grass level.

The number of the vicious man-eating, dog-killing hares that were slain must remain problematical, but a guess of somewhere around 1,000 wouldn't be so very far off, probably.

We talked to most of the 100 hunters and didn't find but one who admitted killing less than 25. And, believe it or not, the honest one was Joe Phillips. Using the statements of the hunters as a basis for figuring out the number killed, we figured that if each killed as many rabbits as he said he had that would have made about two rabbits every square yard, so we just divided the total by three and decided to let it go at that. And if you don't like our estimate, make your own.

It was one of the first rabbit drives in the county in a long, long time, and certainly one of the best of them all. The hunters got all the hunting they wanted, from the sale of arms to put on bruised shoulders this morning more than some of them wanted, along with a meal that would be hard to match anywhere.

Messrs. Matlock and Wilmoth stayed up all Friday night preparing the barbecue, and evidently some of the women of the Prairie Lee community stayed up the same hours preparing some of the salads and cakes that went along.

Being a pacifist by nature, I didn't take along a gun. I waited until almost time (I thought) to eat, before starting out. But I did take along Bill Collins to guard me against any sudden attack by any rabbits that might have eluded the hunters.

We got to the place where the meal was prepared about 12 o'clock, more than ready to eat. But there was nary a hunter in sight. Lots of women and children and a few men, but no hunters. And there seems to be some kind of an unwritten law against anyone eating before the hunters show up.

First thing, we run into a politician. Isn't there any place a fellow can go and dodge them? The one we got mixed up with was Paul Moss. And regardless of what kind of a race he hunts he talks a hell of a good one. Anyway, before he got thru talking I was prepared to vote for him on the spot only there wasn't any ballot handy.

Not only was I ready to vote for him—I was all set to come back and not ask for but demand a raise of the boss. Why, with my influence I can do any candidate a lot of good, in fact, I was believing I could just about elect who for whatever reason he say, was I feeling good? Boss, you have no idea. But along about that time Paul spotted another prospect and up and left me. I'll have him know that when he is giving me banana oil I'll set up and take it like a trained seal, and it is sure hard to give up the spoon.

With the realization that I was alone once more something more important than the district judge's race or any other race was demanding my attention. It was food. The flavor of barbecue, beans, "Gentleman from Odessa" and other savory odors was temptation enough to make a person sass his mother-in-law. And for some reason, the longer I looked at that food the hungrier I got.

Finally, I saw a way to get to some of it without breaking any rules set up by Emily Post. I got a knife and started cutting up the meat, gently edging Jess Watkins out of his knife. And some of them watching probably thought there was an octopus in the crowd as I started slashing off steak with one hand and tossing it in my mouth with the other. I know I'd get that raise if ever I could get my typewriter keys to moving like that knife was.

For some reason, I wasn't even hungry in a little while. Neither was some of the others who were so valiantly getting the food ready for the boys to "come and get it."

A little bit after one o'clock the hunters started a slow march up the hill to the barbecue pit. And I mean slow for they had walked about five miles and that was farther than some of them had walked in months. One of the first to reach the table was Johnson Phillips. And when questioned about where others were he said he honestly didn't know because he had been lost for about two hours.

For them it wasn't long until all of them gathered around the plate of plenty and started in. And it was worth paying admission to see the fastidious Judge Klapproth, Merritt Hines, Clyde Thomas, Boyd Laughlin, Luther Tidwell and some other cover quite a bit of territory so a fellow should be able to take his plate off so far he will get out of range of the voices.

Elmer was in town yesterday morning and said that A. C. Francis and Clarence Scharbauer had already offered to donate a couple of beehives for the barbecue. Members of the committee in charge of the drive will meet at the Midland Hardware Monday afternoon to complete all arrangements.

I haven't got anything against any candidate personally, witness my carrying Boyd Laughlin five miles Friday, but I'd rather they would put their speeches in paid ads. Anyway, I had to carry Boyd around as he got his glasses busted when he tried to get around the barrel for a drink of water and he couldn't see any too well.

A lot of school kids Monday are going to be explaining their absence Friday with something like this:

Romance of The South Seas

brother, I haven't eaten yet."

Well, when everybody had eaten as much as he or she had room for Judge Klapproth mounded the platform, (probably through force of habit) and called for everybody's attention. Being as how everybody knows he is not a candidate this year, he got only what he asked for. What he had to say was that there would be another drive held next Friday. It will start at the Gist barns in the south part of town and lunch will be held at Elmer Bizzell's farm about a couple of miles south of town.

It should be as good as the one held Friday except for one thing. During the lunch hour, they are going to let all the candidates on hand make a speech. But Elmer has a lot of trees handy and they

Today's Sunday School Lesson

By W. W. LACKEY

SERVING WITH WHAT WE HAVE.—Mark 6:1-13. Read: I K. 3:5-14; Ex. 4:1-5; Matt. 25:14-40; Jno. 6:5-14; Romans 12:3-8.

I. REJECTED AT NAZARETH:
1. "When the sabbath was come, he began to teach in the synagogue."
2. Threefold attitude of Nazarenes: Marveled, acknowledged, refused.
3. A prophet without honor, and familiarity and the closed mind.
4. Hindered but not defeated: Serving in the face of difficulties.

II. DEDICATING ALL:
1. "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give these."
2. The Lord's requirement: Not superb endowment, but "Who-soever will."
3. The tragedy of the empty hand, and gifts without grace.
4. Serving with what we have: They also serve who only stand and wait.

III. MISSION OF THE TWELVE:
1. "Called unto him the twelve . . . sent them forth . . . two by two . . . gave them power."
2. Instructions: "Take nothing for the journey . . . into an house . . . abide there."
3. Their work: Preached . . . men should repent; cast out demons; healed the sick.
4. Day of judgment: More tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah; much given—required.

IV. FOUR GREAT LAWS:
1. In all his work, God uses earthly instruments. What is in thine hand?
2. God has a right to use any instrument he pleases. And he said, a rod.
3. God does not despise an insignificant instrument: Rod, horn, lunch, voice.
4. God holds us responsible for the right use of the talents we possess.

V. POINTS TO PONDER:
1. Every one is under a moral obligation to be always at his best.
2. "Power is increased by companionship, counsel, and co-operation."—Erdman.
3. "A prophet is not without honor but in his own country."
4. "He could do there no mighty work . . . because of their unbelief."

VI. SENTENCE SERMONS:
1. "It is good to think that no grace or blessing is truly ours till we are aware that God blessed some one else with it through us."—P. Brooks.
2. "How far that little candle throws its beams! So shines a good deed in a naughty world."—Shakespeare.
3. "Lean to labor and to wait."—Henry W. Longfellow.
4. "Who gives himself with his arms hungers neighbor, and me."—James Russell Lowell.

SON BORN TO EMERY'S.
Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Emery are the parents of a son, born in an Odessa hospital Friday morning. The child has been named Richard Westbrook. Mother and baby are reported doing well.

SOCIETY NEWS SECTION

Mrs. Goodman, Mrs. Schenck Entertain With Friday-Saturday Afternoon Parties

Mrs. Jas. H. Goodman and Mrs. F. R. Schenck were cohostesses for two parties, one on Friday afternoon and one on Saturday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Schenck, 1062 W. Kentucky.

Chosen colors for appointments were pink and green. Gladioluses and sweetpeas were used in the reception rooms.

Party colors were repeated in the tallies for the bridge games which furnished diversions for the guests and in the party plate of salads and stuffed fruits served at tea time.

Award for high score in Friday's games went to Mrs. Paul Osborne and was a bottle of "Tweed" toilet water. Cut prize, a Parfalt glass powder puff container, went to Mrs. R. L. Miller.

Guest list for Friday afternoon included: Mmes. Tom Sealy, Frank Cowden, W. G. Whitehouse, Erie Payne, Andrew Fasken, Nelson Young, M. C. Ulmer, Fred Wilcox, F. H. Schouten, J. Howard Hodge, L. G. Byerley, H. A. Hemphill, W. B. Chapman, R. W. Pattenon, Paul Osborne, Barney Greathouse.

Mrs. W. L. Miller was a tea guest. Saturday Party.

The pink and green motif was repeated in appointments for Saturday afternoon's party.

First prize for the afternoon's games, a box of Yardley's toilettries, was awarded to Mrs. Russell Conkling for high score. Cut prize of a packet of English perfumes went to Mrs. Chas. Klapproth.

The invitation list included: Mmes. R. B. Cowden, A. T. Donnelly, R. C. Conkling, Frank Williamson, Foy Proctor, Harvey Sloan, Chas. L. Klapproth, W. L. Miller, E. H. Barron, R. W. Hamilton, T. D. Kimbrough, L. C. Link, F. C. Cummings, A. P. Shirey, J. M. Haygood, John W. Skinner.

Tea guests were Mrs. John Van N. Dorr and Miss Lydie G. Watson.

Spring Femininity Plus

A shining example of the feminine mood which is affecting spring tailleurs is Lanvin's utterly lovely ensemble of navy blue wool. It includes a figure-hugging dress with low neckline and slide fastener closing and a brief jacket with baroque decoration in broad, up-standing braid. The flower-trimmed pillbox with romantic, flowing veil, a double-strand of pearls and clover colored nail lacquer carry out the picture of femininity plus.

Mrs. Coody Named New President of Pastime Club

Election of new officers was the highlight of the weekly party of the Pastime club which met at the home of Mrs. J. E. Miller, 214 W. Washington, Friday afternoon with Mrs. Pat Boone as hostess.

Officers elected were Mrs. W. L. Coody, president, Mrs. Paul Boulding, reporter, and Miss Janie Weathered, secretary and treasurer.

Bingo games were played during the social period, prizes going to Miss Lahoma Brashear, Mrs. Jimmie Sheen, Mrs. W. L. Coody, and Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Boone, who is leaving Midland to make her home at Pampa was honored with a kitchen shower.

A party plate was served to two guests, Mrs. Jimmie Sheen and Miss Ann Ford, and the following club members: Mmes. C. C. Harris, J. T. Weathered Sr., J. T. Weathered Jr., Coody, Boulding, Irwin Wallace, Miller, Miss Brashear, Miss Janie Weathered, and the hostess.

The group will meet next Friday with Miss Weathered at her home northeast of town.

Stacy.

Hostesses for next Friday will be Mrs. J. P. Gibbins and Mrs. A. N. Griffith.

Midland Group Attends Meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma

Six Midland teachers, members of Beta Kappa chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, attended the regular meeting of the organization at Odessa Saturday. They were Mrs. Alma Thomas, Misses Vada Crawley, Ruth Carden, Gladys Pinson, Theresa Klapproth, Mrs. Iris Bounds.

Mrs. Thomas, chapter president, presided at the meeting which included a luncheon in the home economics department of the Odessa high school and a business session.

Principal Taylor Rushing of Odessa high school was the chief speaker on the program, discussing "Interpretation of Education in Terms of Democracy."

Mrs. Will Martin presented a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Edna Marie Jones at the piano. Miss Jones also played a special piano number.

Supt. Murry Fly of the Odessa schools welcomed the group.

Mrs. Thomas was chosen delegate to the state meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma to be held in Austin the last week in April. Mrs. J. B. White of Wink was named alternate.

Appointments for the luncheon featured a St. Patrick's Day motif with shamrocks, Irish castles and carts laden with Irish potatoes bringing color and gaiety to table decorations.

Thirty-six guests were present, among them, in addition to the Midland group, a former Midland teacher, Mrs. B. A. Rogers, now living near Goldsmith.

Miss Ethel Harkins Honoree at Coffee Saturday Evening

Miss Ethel Harkins of Sweetwater was named honoree at an informal coffee for which Mrs. J. Howard Hodge was hostess at her home, 408 N. Marienfeld, Saturday morning.

Miss Harkins, who is a house guest of Mrs. Hodge, is head of the English department of Sweetwater high school and an active member of the Business and Professional Women's club there.

Carnations were room flowers, while an arrangement of peach blossoms formed the centerpiece for the lace-spread coffee table. Miss Geraldine Dabney poured.

The guest list included: The honoree, Mmes. Alma Thomas, W. M. Schrock, J. H. Rhoden, O. J. Hubbard, Len Peters, W. E. Dougherty, M. A. Armstrong, J. M. Harkins, Bill Collyns, W. B. Chapman, Misses Hove Jenkins, Dabney, Eloise Norman, Mary Lowry, Norene Kirby.

Mrs. Chapman Is Hostess for Bridge Christmas Day

Choosing a blue and yellow color scheme for appointments, Mrs. W. B. Chapman entertained the Modern Bridge club with a party at her home, 407 N. Carrizo, Thursday afternoon. Yellow flowers formed the house decorations.

Mrs. Thomas K. Betzel held high score in the afternoon's play, while second high went to Mrs. Richard Anderson.

A party plate was served to: Mmes. Anderson, Betzel, Robert Field, Dallas Dale, Myrl Mannschreck, F. R. Schenck, M. P. Turner, T. N. Roberts, and the hostess.

press him in America they are, as would be expected, the "enormous height" of the buildings in New York which he saw when he first landed and in West Texas the "vast expanses" of the land.

He will spend about three weeks more in Midland, where he has been accompanying M. T. Smith, crude oil representative on trips in the field. In October he will return to London after having spent nearly three years in America.

Versatile Clothes Hamper. To make laundry day easier, there is a new clothes basket of heavy canvas which fits firmly on the washing machine in such manner that it catches the clothes as they come through the wringer. It has a handy pocket for clothes pins and a hooked wire handle to hang it on the line while the clothes are being put out or taken down. When not in use, it may be folded compactly into a very small space. Its wire frame is rustless and small rubber pads protect the washing machine from possible scratches.

St. Patrick's Bridge Party Is Compliment to Club

The green and white of Ould Ireland's patron saint, Patrick, dominated appointment for the bridge party with which Miss Annie Frank Stout favored Entre Nous club and a group of guests at her home in the Rainwater apartments Friday evening.

Tallies and score pads followed the St. Patrick's motif, as did the table covers and the refreshment plate served at the close of play.

Prize for high score among club members went to Miss Helene Miley and for guest to Miss Ruth Carden, while prize for cut was presented to Miss Lotta Williams.

Club guests included: Misses Frances Gillett, Eloise Norman, Vera Heffner, Geraldine Dabney, Carden, Vada Rawley, Lela Legg, Mmes. Roby Fagg, W. B. Standefer, Bob Clarke.

Members present were: Misses Miley, Cordelia Taylor, Theresa Klapproth, Williams, Mmes. Charles Blalock, J. B. Zant, Susie Graves Noble, and the hostess.

et., 904 W. Missouri. The hostess taught the lesson.

Present were: Mmes. C. E. Strawn, G. B. Brock, T. O. Midkiff, G. D. Taylor, W. G. Attaway, C. E. Nolan, Prince Shield, Horace Brazelle, J. C. Hudman, C. O. Fredregill, Herbert King, W. J. Stewart, D. E. Holster, and the hostess.

The class will meet next Friday with Mrs. Brazelle for a lesson on the third chapter of Philippians.

Miss Dora Wall Will Wed Amarillo Man Here March 19

Miss Dora Wall of Fort Worth formerly of Midland, and Bernice E. Payne of Amarillo will be married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Barbara A. Wall here, March 19. Attendants and wedding plans will be announced later.

Announcement of the engagement and approaching wedding was made at a tea given by Misses Ortez Wren and Ruth Hearn at the home of the former in Fort Worth.

Silver hearts pierced with arrows on which were inscribed the words "Dora and Bernice, March 19, disclosed the betrothal.

Mrs. G. L. Wren, mother of the hostess, presided at the tea table which was laid with lace and appointed with crystal and silver. The long centerpiece was of yellow jonquils, pink sweetpeas, and pink and white stock.

Miss Wall is expected to arrive here early this week with her mother and her brother, Ben Wall.

DR. BROWN BETTER. Dr. Wallace E. Brown, veterinarian, ill for several days from undulant fever, was somewhat improved Saturday and expected to be back at his office most of Sunday and Monday. He contracted the malady from blood of cows which he had been testing for Bangs disease.

Mrs. Johnston To Appear in Book Review at Odessa

Mrs. R. Steele Johnston of Odessa, former resident of Midland and well-known here for her book reviews, club activities, and teaching of speech arts, will review Gelette Burgess' volume, "Look Eleven Years Younger" at the First Baptist church in Odessa, Friday, March 11, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Recently published, "Look Eleven Years Younger" is a book which in humorous style points out those unnecessary mannerisms and idiosyncrasies, such as screwing up one's face, pinching one's self, or rubbing one's hands, which tend to make the individual ridiculous in the sight of others and to make him older than his years warrant.

"It is a clever and amusing book all the way through," Mrs. Johnston said in discussing it.

Midland citizens are invited to attend the review which is being sponsored by the Mother's club and the elementary school P. T. A. of Odessa. Proceeds will go to supply milk for undernourished children in the elementary school.

Springtime Air Marks Bridge for Joie de Vie Club

Jonquils employed in house decorations and bridge accessories carrying out a green and yellow color motif brought an atmosphere of spring to the afternoon bridge with which Mrs. Roy Parks complimented the Joie de Vie club at her home, 202 South G street, Friday.

Four tables of bridge occupied the group during the play period with awards packaged in green and yellow going to Mrs. Len Peters for high score in the club, to Mrs. John Dublin for second high, and to Mrs. J. B. Thomas for high guest.

A refreshment course was served at tea time to a trio of club guests, Mmes. Ellis Cowden, J. B. Thomas, Dick Cowden, and the following club members: Mmes. Chas. Brown, Russell Conkling, R. B. Cowden, Dublin, Frank Fulk, Wade Heath, Chas. Klapproth, J. R. Martin, Peter, Foy Proctor, J. M. Speed Sr., Frank Williamson, and the hostess.

Englishman Doesn't Look Upon America With Disapproval

At least one Englishman doesn't look on Americans with the disapproval which has come to be traditional. Vere Tweedie of the Shell Petroleum Corporation, who is in Midland for a brief period of training in the crude oil department of the oil business here comes from Somerset in Southwest England, and he finds Americans, so he says, "friendly and charming." The kindness of everybody is surprising to the tall, blonde young man whose British a's give his speech a drawing softness.

His judgment of the national characteristics might well carry weight for he has a background of contact with other peoples as a basis for it. The son of a British naval officer retired a year ago, Mr. Tweedie has traveled extensively with his family and has visited France, Germany, Austria, West and South Africa.

West Texas plains, he said, are much like the veldt, those great plains of South Africa.

Intense Rivalry Develops among Boy Ropers For The Competition at Ft. Worth

Five ambitious boy ropers, schooled from weeks of training at Midland Fair arena but not unaware of the fact that Southwestern Exposition crowds may cause some stage fright, will leave here Thursday for Fort Worth to present a program of juvenile entertainment not hitherto available to stock show visitors.
The Midland youths, including Roy Parks Jr., Clarence Scharbauer Jr., Buster Cole, Billy Wyche Jr. and Marion Fyatt Jr., will truck their favorite roping ponies to the big show, ready for their initial appearance Friday night. They will come on again Saturday afternoon and night and Sunday afternoon and night, making five ropings each for a trophy offered for the best time made in catching a calf. The boys, aged 12 to 14, will not be required to tie their calves, merely having to catch them.
The contest, in which only the five Midland boys will appear, is a special publicity stunt arranged several weeks ago between John W. Davis, manager of the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show, and Roy Parks Jr. Not only did the local boys take to the idea, they took to it to the extent that they brought in a small herd of calves for practice and have roped each afternoon and over week-ends regardless of weather or of hindrances.
All of the boys having had some roping experience, mostly on their father's ranches, their skill has developed remarkably with the steady practice. Their ponies likewise have become proficient and the spectators are due for a surprise at the manner in which these youngsters will rope their calves when the fleet animals are turned out of the chute.
Not only have they developed individual skill, they have steadily developed rivalry and determination to win the trophy until it is "anybody's contest" at this stage of the game.
One boy, noted for his reticence, had become so enthused Saturday afternoon that he said: "If I improve as much in the next week as I have the past week, I've got it cinched."
Heavy attendance at the exposition is expected from Midland, as always, and it has been indicated that scores will be on hand the opening week-end, beginning Friday night, when the home boy ropers make their debut in the big time arena.

Students Will Study Consumers' Viewpoint

OBERLIN, O. (UP).—Students in economics at Oberlin College next semester will be offered a course in the marketing of goods from the consumers' point of view.
"The study of the consumers' viewpoint will supply a constructive analysis of certain widely-recognized weaknesses in the present system of commodity distribution," said Prof. Harvey A. Wooster, head of the department of economics, in announcing the course.

Cat and Sparrow Hawk Become Jail Comrades

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP).—Add to the list of unusual friends of the animal world:
A Persian cat and a sparrow hawk at the city jail here are the best of friends. The cat—a pet of Mrs. Mary Brown, jail matron—found the sparrow hawk flitting along the jail floor with a broken wing, but refused to make a meal of it. They now share the same quarters at the jail.

RICHMOND, Va. (UP).—Delegate W. H. Adams of Richmond, although deaf, can hear better than any other member of the 1938 house of delegates.
A new electrical gadget in the hall of the house allows the Richmond delegate to plug in an earphone attached to wires running from his desk to the speaker's stand and enables him to hear anything said in the hall.
Adams says he can even hear what Speaker Ashton Doveat whispers to the clerk.
Other delegates are a bit envious, too, because they lament, Adams can turn off his earphones when the speeches from the floor become boring.

SEA BISCUIT NOSED OUT WHEN WINNER RALLIES

SANTA ANITA, March 5 (AP)—A track record of 2:01.6 was set in the $100,000 mile and a quarter handicap race here today when Stagehand nosed out Sea Biscuit to bring his backers $9.20 to win, $3.80 to place and $3.00 to show. Sea Biscuit paid $3.40 to place and $2.89 to show, and Pompoon's third spot was worth $3.40. The old record of two minutes, two and one-fifth seconds was set at the inauguration by Azucar.

A record in mutual handlings for one race was set when $406,994 was wagered.

Top Row, winner in 1935, broke down on the back turn and failed to finish, disappointing a large number of betters.

Sea Biscuit made a bid first off the back turn with Stagehand, winner of the Santa Anita Derby and an entry in the Kentucky derby, getting his head on the turn to pass Aneroid, early leader.

Stagehand battled neck and neck with Sea Biscuit to the wire, with the brown colt by Sickle out of Stagecraft showing the greatest stamina.

Pompoon ran two lengths back of Sea Biscuit. Gosum, a slightly regarded candidate owned by Nelson A. Howard, ran fourth.

The Earl Sande entry of Stagehand and Sceneshifter proved the public choice but were more or less disregarded by the handicappers and the two opened on the mutual board at scant two to one odds.

A crowd of better than 60,000 persons bet $835,000 on the first five races. The day's total betting was $1,247,182.

With 18 starters, the big race paid $92,640 to the winner, $20,000 to the second place winner, $10,000 to third place winner and $5,000 to fourth place winner.

Beck of Gosum, they finished: Aneroid, Star Shadow, Sceneshifter, War Fellow, Woodberry, Prexo, Whicchee, Amor Brujo, Count Atlas, Primulus, Top Row, Time Supply, Townsman, Ligaroti.

Launch Movement to Re-Elect Cardenas

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A new movement for President Lazaro Cardenas' reelection was launched last week as congress got ready for an extraordinary session in March.

This time the National Federation of Employees of the electrical industry was responsible for injecting new life into the recurring efforts to keep "labor's president" in office six years more.

At its general assembly, the federation approved the proposal of the Syndicate of Electrical, Gas, Water and Drainage Workers of Monterrey that the congress be formally petitioned to initiate reform of the constitution to let Cardenas run again.

The constitution, as it stands, provides no president may succeed himself.

For Cardenas to stand at the 1940 elections, congress must vote by two-thirds majority in each of its houses to amend the constitution and the reform must subsequently be approved by a majority of the state legislatures.

That would not be difficult nor require much time, most observers agree, should the influential president lend his support to the drive to reelect him.

However, few believe he will do so.

He has said time and again, apparently in all sincerity, that he would abandon the presidency, quit politics and leave Mexico City when his term ends in December, 1940.

He has said further he would have no hand in selecting his successor.

Persons close to the executive, commenting upon the electrical workers' initiative, said his stand against reelection had not changed one whit.

The matter of the presidential succession was not the only book for congressional consideration next month. Others tentatively on the calendar:

1. Reduction of the drastic tariff increases, ranging up to 500 per cent, the finance ministry put into effect last month on some 200 articles Mexico imports. Purpose of the move was to keep money at home, thus protecting the shaky position of the peso. It has boomeranged, however, shaking business confidence to an extent Finance Minister Suarez did not foresee. Too, Washington, seeking to lower trade barriers, has not been pleased. Legislators say Cardenas will ask them to revise the tariff schedules.

2. Amendment of the constitution to permit women to vote and give them equal rights with men. Cardenas asked this insistently of the regular session which ended December 31, but the lawmakers failed to get around to it. They expect to do so this month.

3. Legislation to prevent theft of electric current. Because thefts take 25 per cent of the total power output in the federal district, the industry has refused to expand to take care of the area's growing needs until it is afforded protection. This, too, Cardenas asked of the last congress.

4. A law of civil responsibility for public employees, giving the government the right to confiscate their properties to cover losses it sustains through speculation.

5. A law defining the status of government workers as regards their right to organize, strike, and enjoy privileges granted labor in private industry.

Cow Nears 40th Year, Says Indiana Farmer

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—Old Red, a cow that has had 37 calves, will celebrate her 40th birthday "sometime this spring."

Her owner, John Hetrick, said she had given a good supply of milk until last fall—"that's why we never sold her. She's just part of the family now."

Old Red hasn't any teeth and must be fed chopped feed. Hetrick said she shows "a strong strain of Hereford blood, but she might have a trace of the Scottish Highland breed in her."

Ontario Maps Program For Highway Safety

ST. JOHN, N. B. (UP)—Ontario hopes to cut highway accidents approximately 60 per cent by a $4,500,000 reconstruction program, according to R. M. Smith, Ontario deputy minister of highways.

All provincial highways will be transformed into two-lane boulevards, separated by turf 10 to 30 feet wide. Shrubbery set in the turf would reduce the glare from auto headlights.

Between 75 and 80 miles of shrubbery have been constructed, Smith stated here before he sailed for England.

WIDENER ENTRY IS VICTOR OVER MEDIOCRE FIELD

MIAMI, Fla., March 5 (AP)—War Admiral, unbeaten three-year-old champion of 1937, won the $50,000 Widener challenge cup at Hialeah for his tenth straight victory today. Zevson was second and War Minstral third.

War Admiral paid $2.70 for a $2 ticket to win, $2.80 to place, $2.20 to show. Zevson paid $14 for a $2 place mutual ticket and $7.10 to show. War Minstral returned $5.60.

War Admiral, carrying the silks of Samuel D. Riddle, Philadelphia, covered the mile and a quarter in 2:03.8, and the victory was worth $49,550, running the colt's earnings to $231,625, only about $18,000 less than his famous sire, Man o' War, won during the 1919-20 campaigns. After delaying the start by refusing to go into his stall, War Admiral was placed on the outside, but he got away like a flash, jumped into the lead and at the quarter mile held a length and a half advantage over R. A. Moore's Piccolo.

At the half mile, he still had a length to spare with Hal Price Headley's King closest and War Minstral running third, another length and a half behind. At the mile War Admiral had four lengths margin with the order unchanged. On the home stretch, he was five lengths ahead as Bourbon King faded and Zevson moved into the picture.

Jockey Kurtzinger had a snug hold on War Admiral all the way through the stretch and breezed home without using the whip.

In fourth place was Corinto, then Piccolo, Tatter Demalion, Columbiana, Cotter Scandal, Burning Star,

Cardinals 73
Cowboys 53
Herefords 3

That was the final count, and the Midland entry in the West Texas-New Mexico league will be the Midland Cardinals again this year.

Fans who wanted the club to be named the Cardinals again this year came through nobly in the stretch drive, turning in 25 ballots Friday to put the name over. Those supporting the names "Cowboys" and "Herefords" lagged at the last moment, allowing their names to be beaten out.

As a result of the final count being as it was Roy McKee wins a season pass and a box seat for the year and Cotter Hiett gets a season pass. Hiett, after getting into the lead early and staying there until the final day of the contest doomed his own chances of winning when he started soliciting ballots for McKee.

"I don't want the box seat, and I would a lot rather see the club be named the Cardinals," Hiett said, and backed up his talk with several ballots marked in favor of the McKee entry.

So, if we have a team here this year, Hiett and McKee will get to see all the games free.

Interest in the contest was high throughout than had been anticipated. Most of the credit for the interest can go to the two winning ticket holders as they missed few opportunities to get residents to listening to baseball talk.

And now, if we could get about

Bourbon King, No Sir, Page Boy and Thorson.

2,000 more tickets to the opening day games sold everything would be honky dory.

Results so far have been far from satisfactory in the ticket sale. And in about a couple of weeks Fincht Withers is going to demand some kind of a guarantee that sale of the tickets will be completed. And when he does, he will be justified in it. He has spent a lot of time and money in going as far as he has. It is now up to the ones who talked so glowingly and optimistically over prospects for this year. Talk is the cheapest thing there is—unless it is having to be printed—and it is time for something else to be done.

This'n that: One of the most enthusiastic supporters of baseball here a month ago now seems to be devoting more time to making insinuating remarks about Withers than the possibility of baseball not going over this year than anything else.

He's not making any friends by doing so but is making some enemies. . . . Prexy Hutcherson over at Big Spring has mailed out contracts to six of his last year's men. . . . Those getting the chance to sign up again are Harkey, Keller, Jacot and Trantham, pitchers, and Joe Sappario and Decker, infielders. . . . This department will wager not more than three of the six last year.

Hutcherson also announces he is considering a former Texas League manager as skipper for the Big Spring club. . . . "Shorty" Holster turned in 500 ballots marked Cardinals. . . . We lopped off 499 of them.

Here's hoping Ernie Potocor is a member of the Cards again this year. . . . He had more color than all the other members of the team combined last year. . . . Bud Brewer

Robbers Ask Victim For Minimum Loot

CLEVELAND (UP)—Two Cleveland robbers are demanding minimum loot from their victims. Of their first victim, Robert Moore, 19, they demanded "at least $50." When Moore couldn't produce the minimum, they forced him to drive them to his home. There the robbers were satisfied with $5.30 taken from Moore's aunt, Mrs. Margaret Summers. The robbers fled in Moore's automobile.

Australia Expects Large Crop.

SYDNEY (UP)—Australia expects a bumper wheat crop this season of 163,000,000 bushels, about 12,000,000 bushels more than last season. The average yield per acre is estimated at 11.87 bushels.

The patented holes which carry off destructive heat generated internally in all tires have another important function. As the first tread wears off the holes become grooves forming the second anti-skid tread.

As the tire revolves, the holes close in the center, creating a vacuum which reduces destructive heat.

As the holes open, cool air is drawn in, cooling the tire's tread on the road.

German Eagle Screams Defiance

Under the aegis of the Swastika-clutching German eagle, supported on three sides by the new military might of Germany symbolized by ranking army and navy officers, and with the subservient Reichstag facing him, Adolf Hitler is shown above, standing before the white panelled rostrum, as he emerged as the dominant personality in Europe. Giving an account of his five-year stewardship of Reich affairs, he demanded return of war-lost colonies and denounced foreign diplomacy, with pointed reference to the anti-dictator policy of England's then Foreign Minister, Anthony Eden.

Fuehrer Hitler's Big Day

Hitler (arrow) strode to his historic three-hour Reichstag speech before these steel-helmeted troops, presenting arms with fixed bayonets. Confidence in the newly revitalized German army, which the above Guard of Honor represented was seen in the aggressive tone of Hitler's Reichstag address, culminating in the warning that, although Germany wants peace, if circumstances should compel action, "steel and iron will take the German people and the German homeland under their protection."

Big Ben Ticks Off History

Smiling Eden Quits Diplomatic Scene

"By uprightness of character, wisdom and firmness in action—" reads the commemorative plaque beside the steps of Britain's Foreign Office, but former Foreign Minister Anthony Eden is apparently unaware of the ironic commentary on the crisis which forced his resignation. Leaving the building following his final disagreement with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain over policy, he smiles and waves to cheering crowds.

British-Italian Link?

Lady Chamberlain, widow of Austen Chamberlain, sister-in-law of Britain's Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and personal friend of Mussolini is shown above in Rome, escorted by a Fascist officer. Her relationship to the Prime Minister, friendship with Il Duce and the coincidence of her Roman visit gave rise to rumors that she did much to bring about the Mussolini-Chamberlain rapprochement.

German Propaganda Rains on Vienna

Excited citizens, Nazi and anti-Nazi alike, grasped for the propaganda leaflets showered into the streets by the Austrian followers of Der Fuehrer. The photo shows a group of Viennese trying to catch a few of the throw-aways. To hold the demonstrations within bounds, the Viennese authorities threw a cordon around the entire inner city, the heart of Vienna.

Austrian Nazis Celebrate New Freedom

Touched off by Hitler's Reichstag speech, the firecracker of Nazi fervor exploded in Austria. Serious demonstrations approaching riot proportions were staged by them in Vienna's streets. Cheering columns of Nazis, like the one in the photo above, formed everywhere and surged up and down the streets of the Austrian capital with arms high in the forbidden "Heil, Hitler" salute.

Time Magazine Has Time to Reply to Local Man's Letter

Time, the weekly newsmagazine, has time to answer the letters of its readers and its editorial staff members are willing to go fully into the reasons for publication of news pictures. B. H. Blakeney, Midland cattle and oil man, declares.

Blakeney, a reader of the magazine since it began publication and a southerner by birth and preference, formed the opinion over a period of years that Time gives considerable space to the negro race. When the January 24 issue came out with a picture of "Black's White" on the front cover, showing a background of a negro lynching and a photograph of negro Walter White, Blakeney could contain himself no longer. He wrote Time at some length, giving his views on the subject of negro publicity.

I. Van Meter, "for the editors" of Time, responded with the following letter:

February 26, 1938
Dear Mr. Blakeney:
TIME appreciates your comment on its cover picture for January 24, regrets that space did not permit its publication. With all respect to your opinion, with which we have no wish to take issue, we would like to inform you more clearly why this illustration was chosen.

TIME does not take sides on the news—I think I need only point out how many times the Editors have used individuals on opposite sides of the fence for instance, Tom Ghidier and John L. Lewis, both of the Spanish leaders, etc. It is the news itself, not TIME's Editors, that dictates the sequence of TIME's covers.

Negro Walter White was news. I do not think anyone questions that. He succeeded in forcing an anti-lynching bill into the heart of congressional machinery, causing a filibuster which was the subject of serious concern and nationwide editorial comment. TIME's Editors put negro Walter White on the cover because this was news, and for no other reason.

Nor is the background picture of the lynching any more difficult to explain. Some months ago we instituted a policy of all-color cover pictures, a part of that policy being that wherever possible we should arrange the subject so that the background should suggest the subject's interest—tell why he was news. When we instructed our photographer to take a picture of Walter White he went logically to the headquarters of what is called the Association for the Adjustment of Colored People. Here, again with logic, he posed his subject standing before a picture which explained without words why this subject was news.

I do not think TIME can apologize for any step in this reasoning, but since you were interested enough to write to us we felt we owed you an explanation and are glad to give it.

We set a high store by our reputation for disinterestedness in reporting the news. We can only hope that you may come to see our point of view and that we may continue to have the privilege of providing you with the news service we offer.

Sincerely yours,
I. Van Meter,
for the Editors.

GYMNASIUM STARTED.
The gymnasium was started. This in itself was enough to startle the entire student body into speculation as to how long it would take to build it. I think the large majority of the students expected to see the gym half through by noon and were considerably disappointed when there were only a few stakes scattered around. The workers seem to be in no hurry whatever. In fact they seem to adhere to General Grant's old saying, "We will fight it out on this ground if it takes all summer." Perhaps, however, the long delay before we got the contract through and the years of just talking have made us overly anxious.
The fact remains, though, that the gym is started and you can bet it will be a gala day when it is finished around September 1.

NOTICE TO GARDENERS:
Several of the home economics students are taking for their home project "Improvement of Home Grounds." If anyone, who is thinning out plantings has some left that they do not need, the girls will be glad to have them. Call Miss Crawley, foods teacher, at 11694.

MIDLAND TO SPONSOR TENNIS TOURNAMENT.
An invitation tennis tournament for boys only will be held the 8th and 9th of April in Midland.
Invitations have been sent out to about 50 schools.
Interscholastic League rules will govern the contest and no school will be permitted to enter more than one team in each division.
Individual medal awards will be given to the winners of first to third places in both singles and doubles.
Trophies will also be given to the school winning first place in either singles or doubles.

NOMINATIONS FOR REPRESENTATIVE AND POPULAR STUDENTS TO BE MARCH 8.
The rules for the election of the most representative boy and girl and for the most popular boy and girl were read in chapel Wednesday by Jane Doran, associate editor of the 1938 "Catoico."

The nominations will be held Tuesday, March 8 at 8:30 a. m. The election will be held by secret ballot Thursday, March 10 with a majority of votes electing a nominee.

PLAY IN REHEARSAL.
The sixth period public speaking class at Midland High School is now planning a one-act play to be produced and acted by the members of the class.
The cast of the play "The Valiant" has not been definitely decided, but will be announced at a later date.
The play has one scene which takes place in the Warden's office in the State's Prison at Weatherfield, Connecticut. The time is about half past eleven on a rainy night.
The play itself is different from any ever given in high school and is certain to furnish an enjoyable program.

GIRL'S TENNIS.
The girls are finally getting a tennis court and we'll see if they can get up a team. Some of the girls in the junior class should come out every day. There are several girls in the senior class that are going out. Those who have been playing are: Maxine Hays, Johnnie Howe, Jane Doran, Granada Saye, Kitty Gene Ellis, and Neva Rae Drake.

INTER CLASS BASKETBALL SCHEDULE ENDED.
Teams Locked in 3 Way Tie.
Tuesday March 1, the physical education basketball tournament continued with the fourth and seventh periods playing at 4 o'clock. The seventh period won 22-19. Armstrong was high point man for the fourth period with 8 points. Gee was next with 7 points. Davis was high point man for the seventh period.
At the half the score was 14-14 and it was during the last few minutes of the game that the seventh period forged ahead to cop the game.
On Wednesday the 6th and 7th periods tangled for the last game of the series. The sixth won 19-10. Starby was high point man for the sixth period with 12 points while Brown led the seventh period with 14. The games ended in a 3 way tie among the classes, each having won 2 and lost 2 games.
Coach R. W. Myer, who sponsored the contest, said he believed that the games ended in the best possible way, that the boys all got a great deal of experience and fun out of the games, and that there would be no play-off.

RHYTHM NEWS.
The band is getting ready for the contest they expect to attend soon. They started practicing marching Wednesday morning and show signs of becoming a smooth functioning organization. One contest number has already been selected, "Builders of Youth," on which the members of the band are now practicing. Mr. Armstrong thinks the band will play an overture called "Fraternity," which is very difficult. The march has not been selected, but Mr. Armstrong hopes to choose it soon.

FOODS I CLASSES SERVE FIRST MEALS OF SEMESTER.
The two sections in Homemaking I served light breakfasts Wednesday morning, March 2, at their regular class periods.
Each class was divided into groups according to their experience in cooking and each group planned, prepared, and served a medium breakfast.
A sample menu consisted of: Grapefruit, Eggs, Bacon, Toast, Cocoa.
Each menu varied some in ways of preparation.
The classes have now started their luncheon and dinner units, which

After Truck Wrecked Crack Train

Here's the wreckage that resulted when the crack Wabash train, St. Louis Limited, smashed into a truck while speeding toward Chicago at 70 miles an hour. Five cars were derailed and overturned, the rails were bent like hairpins, ties were splintered. The driver of the truck was killed and almost 50 train passengers, including members of Hal Kemp's orchestra, were injured, some of them critically.

Notice to home economics members:
The next regular meeting is Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 in 202 study hall. All members should attend this meeting if possible.

PUPPET SHOW PRESENTED IN CHAPEL WEDNESDAY.
Wednesday morning during the chapel period the Texas State Board of Health sponsored a puppet show for the high school and junior high school. Dr. L. B. Pemberton, a local dentist, presented the "voices," Miss Ruth Snow, from Chicago, and Mr. Wilson Cronenwet, from Pennsylvania, who are employed by the State Health Department to present the puppets in each county.
To the strains of Hans and Gretel "Opera", the curtains opened. There was red headed, seven year old Jacky, crying and hollering to his heart's content because he had a toothache. Into the living room gaily skips his younger sister, Joan, to tell her brother that their grandfather has invited them to go to the zoo with him. She is bubbling over with joy but is instantly disappointed. She knows that they cannot go to the zoo because Jacky feels bad. So she calls her mother, thinking that she can "fix everything," but her mother phones their grandfather and breaks the date; then whisks her son to the dentist.
The next scene is in Dr. Carson's office. He explains the seriousness of a decaying baby-tooth to a growing child. Fortunately for Jack, Dr. Carson fills the aching toothache before the poison travels to his blood vessels. The reason for Jacky's cavity is because of his negligence in brushing his teeth and in getting the proper foods. After showing Jacky and his mother what will happen if a molar has to be pulled before a new one pushes the old one, the dentist gives Jacky four rules to follow on the road to having good and healthy teeth. First, brush teeth at least twice a day and exercise gums; second, drink lots of milk and eat fruits and vegetables; third, see a dentist three times a year; fourth, play out of door in sunshine. Jackie resolves to follow this road to health.
A side view of Jack's home is the next scene. An Italian fruit and vegetable peddler, Tony, comes in view chanting about the good of his vegetables. He meets Jack and his mother as they are returning from the dentist's office. Jack has his mother buy him a half dozen Texas grapefruit, carrots, and other vegetables and fruits. Tony brings his son, Benito, an Organ grinder who has beautiful teeth, and Jocko, his monkey. The monkey is full of fun, boisterous, but obedient. The children are overcome with joy when Benito tells Jocko to hide while he counts to ten. The best hiding place that Jocko can find is on Tony's forgotten cart; in the bananas. Of course, Tony and Benito have a verbal, nearly a physical battle, but soon peace is restored and the curtain falls.
Between each scene Jack appeared and was greeted with a burst of "Hello's". After the last act, Miss Snow showed just how Jacky worked. Then Mr. Cronenwet pitched his voice so that the monkey, Jocko, talked as well as acted.
In an interview, Miss Snow said: "I am fond of my work. Some people think that it gets monotonous--but it is like a doctor's work, there are always new patients to work on. Each audience reacts differently."
Mr. Cronenwet and Miss Snow say so without hurting anyone.

Cleo, "I certainly do. Can't anything be done to keep Dalton from belching in my ear in Journalism class every day? Cobb, hasn't your mamma ever told you anything?"
Mary Merle, you are one of our most observing students and our ideal. We've often wondered if there were any grudges you hold against anyone?
Mary Merle, "My most outstanding thought at the moment and the thing that irritates me most is the way E. B. bursts out of home room every day. He passes so fast I get caught in the breeze and am spun around for about five minutes. Of course, he doesn't mean anything by this, but what we're after is to make more boys think before they act."
Now may I add a word for the M. H. S. girls as a whole? Sometimes girls are very disappointed when they have on a new outfit and their dates come straggling up to take them dancing or to a show with their football sweaters on. Every girl that is human loves and admires a boy who wears football, track, or band sweaters but there is a time when it is very inappropriate to wear them.
We're all going to watch for improvement next week and see how many of the boys read the paper. Emily Post has books on etiquette, and we know all you boys can read.

THE HIT PARADE
By Dot and Dash.
1. "Two of a Kind"—Mr. Taylor and Harry Sindorf.
2. "They Can't Take That Away From Me"—Barbaree Jean's compact.
3. "I wanna go to the Zoo"—But be sure and see your dentist first.
4. "When Two Love Each Other"—A third one tries to step in.
5. "Love is the Sweetest Thing"—Dorothy Young and Edwin Farrell.
6. "Bei Mei Bist Du Sheon"—That wonderful song with a name we can't spell.
7. "I'll be all Smiles Tonight"—Franklin, date with Dorothy Sue.

IT'S THE TRUTH.
Some of the little "Fish" girls like Wanda Brown are starting out young by having dates, but better early than never.

John Turner, Midland high "Romero", is still in love with M. S. C. Turner, you better get to work.

J. M. White "kinda" takes the background since Button and Jesse Lynn are going together.

R. O. Brooks and Dorothy Caswell have been seen together quite a few times lately. Dorothy, you must like tenor singers?

Four of our beloved senior boys surely were having a good time Saturday night. One even went so far as to give a girl a good brotherly talk.

Franklin Stickeny had better watch out. I know about fifteen girls that would like to take him for a ride. It wouldn't be a joy ride, either.

Margaret Erwin and Jack Nobles are always talking. I wonder if there is anything brewing between them.

"Woodie" Adams is a good old guy and I believe that there should be some sweet girl in school for him.

Helen Droppelman and Miss Kirby were in a style show together. I wonder who won the prize?

Paul H. Jones is getting to be quite a man. He certainly does think a lot of little Ole Virginia Ann. (Don't we all.)

Mr. Taylor, you had better pass about two girls in geometry. (It's mutiny, I tell you.)

"Little" Merrell expects too much of her boy friends at the airport. She thinks that they should come in to see her every week. After all, that is a long way to walk, Helen.

TRACK TALK.
Everything is shaping up very nicely in track. The track men are beginning to turn in pretty good times and the field men in the weight events, especially Taylor in the discus throw. Lynn is romping off the 440 yard dash in good style and Goodrich Hejl is showing the pack his feet in the mile. Harold Barnes, as usual, is rolling over the bar in the high jump way up there and putting his feet toward the sky and going up and over in the pole vault.

Jay Francis is warming his legs up and sprinting the century dash in fine form.

In general, everyone seems happy and is looking forward to the district meet.

Everybody Picketed for Job.

PEORIA, Ill. (UP)—A young man paraded through Peoria streets in a new form of "picketing" which made pedestrians pause and examine his sign. It read: "I am out of work. I need a job. If you have anything to do, I'll do it well."

Goes to Town After 35 Years

Although Andrew Reese, above, lives within four miles of downtown San Francisco, he recently visited the city for the first time in 35 years. "Yep," commented Reese, "35 years sure do make a lot of changes." He liked the tall buildings and new bay bridges, but growled through his whiskers and headed back to his little shack when he found he could no longer shoot squirrels in the parks.

Woodrow Adams, who suffered from an infected leg, came back to school Tuesday.

Miss Mary Waters and Miss Agatha Bruner spent last week end in El Paso.

Dorothy Thomas entered school and is enrolled in 10-C home room.

Miss Merle Smith is spending the week-end at her home in Krum.

Misses Vada Crawley, Theresa Klapproth, Gladys Pinson, and Ruth Carden attended a luncheon given by the Delta Kappa Gamma society in Odessa Saturday.

Misses Helen Miley and Ina Mae Vaught have moved from their apartment to the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Daniel, south of the Country Club.

Mr. L. W. Taylor is spending the week-end in Fort Worth.

"Manners make the man," so let's interview a few "brides" and see what improvement some of our boys need.

Neva, what is it that Gordon Gettes lacks? We hear you think him very ill-mannered.

Neva: "I think Gordon is a little free with his speech and his language around girls. Otherwise, he is an ideal boy."

Louise, do you have any suggestions on how to improve the oncoming citizens?

Louise, "I would like to say this for the sake of mine and many other's waiked on feet. Boys are invariably stomping my toes and tripping me and how in the world can girls walk gracefully when boys are tripping them?"

Cleo, have you any grudges on boys? If so now is your chance to

The Mailing of This COUPON May Be THE BEGINNING OF A GREAT BLESSING for YOURSELF and YOUR WHOLE FAMILY!

IF YOU earn around $100.00 per month and are the head of your family then these new types of policies were made for you, because

NOW—for the first time—you can get exactly the amount of protection you want for each person in your family, at a cost you can afford to pay, and on a basis that you can afford to pay it.

NOW—for the first time—you can get this protection in a way that pays full cash benefits in the event of the death of any person so insured in your family and yet gives you full cash borrowing value on one policy.

NOW—for the first time—you can get a low cost, easy-to-pay policy that is "term"; "20-year-pay"; or "ordinary life", as your judgment decides—and yet enables you to take from as little as $100.00 protection per person in your household up to as much as your income justifies you in taking.

NOW—you can do for your family what formerly only people of larger means could do when buying protection in policies of "old line, legal reserve" life insurance companies.

A Great Opportunity for Agents!
Never before has a soundly financed, long established, old line legal reserve life insurance company offered policies giving such ideal protection to policyholders at such low cost, on such an easy-to-pay basis and with protection ranging from $100.00 upwards covering even infants in a family. This remarkable value should make a tremendous appeal. Those policies were designated to do just this and to make thousands of friends for United Fidelity agents—friends who in later life should buy additional United Fidelity protection. Paul Harrison in Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

HOLLYWOOD—For a couple of weeks, Director William Wellman and a technical crew and half a dozen pilots had the softest job in Hollywood. Day after day they sat around the hangar at the Van Nuys airport and waited for clouds. Not just any clouds, but cumulous banks with the pictorial quality needed for some shots in "Men With Wings."

All previous aviation epics have been able to draw on huge reserves of "stock shots" which have accumulated in film libraries since the movies and aviation began. But "Men With Wings," a celluloid history of flight from the days of man-carrying kites to the new era of multi-motored leviathans, will be in Technicolor.

No historical black-and-white sequences can be cut into the picture. Everything must be done again, and freshly filmed. It's a tremendous job.

And so Wild Willy Wellman and his boys, waiting for their fluffy clouds, knew that there was a lot of excitement and trouble to come. Wellman, a World War flyer, knew best, because he directed "Wings," the sensation of 10 years ago and still the biggest aviation feature yet filmed.

Thrills of the Skies.

In addition to flying ancient pusher biplanes and modern five-miles-a-minute racing craft, they'll have to re-enact for color cameras the gladiatorial sky thrills of the Western Front.

Much of the story, naturally, is devoted to aerial fighting, and to film it they have gathered from all over the country a fleet of relics which once looped and spun and rolled in actual combat.

Search for these planes, and the repairing and testing, have been going on for 10 months. Some of them have been almost completely rebuilt. All have been cleverly strengthened by engineers who now look with amazement on some of those flying coffins. Nearly 50 mechanics have been employed in making the fleet airworthy, and in painting the planes in original wartime colors.

Yanked Out of Fire.

Wellman will use about 20 pilots, chief among them Tex Raman and Frank Clarke, war flyers and ace movie stunters who helped him make "Wings." Paul Mantz, who was Amelia Earhart's technical adviser, is the picture's technical director.

Incidentally, Wellman recently yanked Mantz from a rebuilt biplane which caught fire as the latter was taxiing for a test flight.

Considerable equipment was obtained from Garland Lincoln, veteran movie flyer who has made a hobby and business of collecting old planes. He provided four wartime Niépours and two Liberty-powered DeHavillands, also several extra Liberty engines and some rotary motors, forerunners of today's radial types.

Standing in a barn near Los Angeles, where it had been since it was bought as a rather costly souvenir in 1921, a Fokker D-7, one of the famous German combat planes was found and bought. Some S. E. 5's, Thomas Morse scouts and a special Pfalz, all of which saw service in Europe were located and shipped here for assembly.

Finds an Old Friend.

One of the best-known allied craft, the Spad, eluded searchers for months, and Wellman was told there wasn't one in the United States.

He said, "I know there must be Spads in America. I flew one myself at Rockwell Field when I was a flight officer there after I'd got back from France."

So more wires and letters were sent. Finally somebody reported that two planes of unknown make were rotting away in the basement of the Imperial Hotel, at Imperial, Calif. These turned out to be a Spad and a Thomas Morse scout.

On the wooden molding edging the cockpit of the Spad were the initials of W. A. W. Wellman had carved them there in 1918.

Lt. Col. Roosevelt Off for Cuba

Flashing a typical Roosevelt grin—and proving what a versatile fellow he is—James Roosevelt, above, eldest son and secretary of the President, leaves White House duties behind and boards a marine corps plane in Washington to take part in Army-Navy-Marine Corps maneuvers at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. Jimmy became a lieutenant-colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve in one jump a couple of years ago, and spends some time in training each year, taking time off from a job in which he now rates as a sort of "assistant president."

Expect Padre Island To Become Mecca of Country's Tourists

CORPUS CHRISTI.—Vast, expansive Padre Island, charming for its scenery, is expected to become a veritable tourist mecca rivaling the much-publicized resorts of Florida and California in the next few years with completion of a development program announced by an eastern syndicate which recently purchased the island.

Extending along the Texas coast from Corpus Christi to Brownsville, Padre Island is 100 miles long and ranges from one to three miles in width. A sandy beach rivaling the famous Daytona speedway of Florida in grandeur extends practically the entire length of the island.

Now accessible to automobiles only by a ferry operating to nearby Mustang Island, the long island, when the new program is completed, will be connected with the mainland by two causeways. One of the causeways will be built at Flour Bluff near Corpus Christi, and the other at a lower Rio Grande valley point.

The syndicate plans extensive development of the island as a pleasure resort, with facilities to include residential subdivisions, a dude ranch and yacht basins along the protected waters of Laguna Madre. When the program is completed, an extensive national advertising campaign, rivaling publicity campaigns of Atlantic and Pacific coast cities, will be conducted. The plans also call for inauguration of steamship service between New Orleans, Corpus Christi and Brownsville, with regular excursions to the island.

The developers have announced that they will begin construction of the causeways as soon as title questions now being probed by the state are cleared.

The eastern syndicate, headed by former Sen. John A. Hastings of New York, is reported to have paid $550,000 for the land and certain mineral rights. Other members of the syndicate are John J. Dunnigan, chairman of the New York World's Fair commission; John J. Curtin, member of a Wall Street law firm; Frank R. Fagol, president of the Twin Coach Co., Kent, Ohio; John Sloan, member of a New York architectural firm; and Louis B. Ward, Detroit capitalist.

The tree was planted three years ago in the city's plaza by the Christmas tree. Each year the Grange glorified in personally decorating the tree.

But in 1937 Christmas decorating will be the last by the Grange. It found that the tree had grown so big and fast that it unanimously voted to confer hereafter the decorating on the fire department, which has scaling ladders from which it can decorate and light the highest branches.

A new two-piece plane designed for the beginner has recently been put on the market. The plane has a supercharged motor which has a top speed of 130 miles an hour.

Mayhaws to Be Used For Jams, Jellies

DALLAS, Texas (AP).—Mayhaws are blooming in East Texas, but home management supervisors of the farm security administration, although not indifferent to their beauty, are looking on them with a practical eye, calculating how much jelly, jam, and vinegar this native shrub will contribute to the pantries of the low income farmers being financed by FSA.

The devices used by these supervisors to help the farmers help themselves follow nobody's rules, for they arise from the necessities and opportunities of the season and territory, says a statement from the regional office of FSA. Mattresses have been made from cat tails; skins from wild animals have paid for a cream separator and pressure cooker; baby chicks have been warmed in brooders heated by a lamp made from a peanut butter jar; poultry has been protected from parasites by use of a pill of plug tobacco instead of the more expensive tobacco dust usually fed in store-bought mash; and garden fences have been built from palings split from green poles up to the best of new wire purchased under the new leasing arrangements between landlord and tenant sponsored by FSA.

The results can not be told in statistics. One woman reported to her supervisor she now had sufficient bedding for her family for the first time in 16 years of married life. The canned fruit juices of another provided food for a sick boy whose parents could not possibly have bought the fruit at a store. The father of a family of eleven children whose mother is in the state hospital was given a plan of management which enabled him to keep the children clean, fed, in school, and busy with home tasks they learned to do well.

No longer is the regular afternoon appeal of "I'm hungry, Mother," bothersome to mother. In fact she thoroughly enjoys it now, because she joins her active little daughter in a wholesome "frozen snack," which always is on hand and is just right to carry through till dinner time. The reason? The new 1938 Frigidaire refrigerator with the meter-miser makes it surprisingly inexpensive to prepare and have instantly available a wide variety of delicious dishes which ordinarily just aren't desirable without plenty of crispy, unchanging cold. Dealers for Frigidaire Division of General Motors now are having their spring showings of the new refrigerators.

Approximately 10,000 families in Texas of which 2,000 are new in the program, have had farm and home plans for 1938 completed by the rural supervisors of the farm security administration.

East Texas Boasts Biological Freedom

NACOGDOCHES, Texas. (AP).—East Texas, says Dr. Hal B. Parks of the Stephen F. Austin Teachers College biological department, "is the only part of Texas with the biological right to declare her independence." Dr. Parks' remark was prompted by talk of another section of the state seceding, and based upon the biological history of this region.

"Investigation brought out that East Texas is not in geographical Texas as far as animals and plants existing here are concerned," Dr. Parks said. "Since nature knows no conclusions and moved out again with no profit to the people of East Texas. Scientific records in large northern museums attest this.

"Investigations should be carried on by men trained in Texas biology and wild life," he said. "Let us learn to understand the life of East Texas area and the wealth that might make East Texas famous and rich, that an understand of 'learn East Texas first' might be planted in the future generations of independent East Texas."

Buried Petrol Tanks Planned for London

LONDON (UP).—Proposals for the construction of vast underground petrol reservoirs on the Thames bank at Purfleet, Essex, at an estimated cost of $25,000,000, are being considered by the British government and Thames-side authorities, it is revealed.

The object of this scheme is twofold—it would bring London's petrol supply nearer, and, at the same time, insure adequate stocks in the event of war.

At present all oil tankers discharge their cargoes at Thames Haven, near Canvey Island. If the new scheme is finally approved, large oil tankers would be allowed to come 10 miles further up the river.

CLEVELAND (UP).—Nineteen girls, pattering about and casting doubtful glances his way, don't bother 15-year-old Geza Papp.

Young Papp, who is the only boy in a class of a score of students in the Cleveland Heights high school cooking class, just keeps "my eyes glued straight ahead." And he is leading the class, according to the fairer members of his class.

"I went to camp once," he explains, "and the camp cooking was dreadful. So, I decided to do something about it."

Young Papp says his basic recipes always are taken from cook books, but he lets himself go with seasonings.

"No great chef does," he said. "I season to taste."

Eiffel Tower Visited By 810,185 in 1937

PARIS (UP)—Europe's tallest structure, the Eiffel Tower, had 810,185 visitors during 1937, as against 264,145 in 1936. The total receipts for the past year were about $235,000.

Exposition years have always been good ones for the tower. The record attendance was in the inauguration year of 1889, when 1,968,278 persons climbed the structure or rode up more comfortably in the elevators. Since then, the total number of visitors is 17,588,089. In March of next year the 50th anniversary of the tower will be celebrated. Exceeded in height only by the Chrysler building (1,040 feet) and the Empire State building (1,248 feet), the 1,000-foot high structure weighs 15,400,000 pounds and is composed of 12,000 steel plates, held together by 2,500,000 rivets. On clear days, points 55 miles distant are visible. Recently installed on the summit was a television station, to be operated in connection with the Eiffel Tower radio station.

Babson Comments on Question Whether or Not America is "Automobile Saturated" Says Motor Outlook Cloudy for a While

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1938, Publishers Financial Bureau.)

BABSON PARK, Fla., March 5.—Five years ago at this time every bank in the United States was shut up tight. The panic, starting in Detroit and the motor industry, spread like wild-fire across the country. In the half-decade since then, Detroit and the motor industry have been the trail-blazers. They led us out of the morass of 1933; they gave us a year of relative prosperity; then they helped to pitch us into the current "recession."

With the motor industry such a powerful influence on American business, these two questions arise: (1) Has the motor industry reached the saturation point? (2) Can we have prosperity again without a new boom in automobile sales? To answer these questions, we must analyze the factors behind the automobile's success and see if they are still operating today.

1. Model Improvements: First among these is the engineering genius of the industry. For years the American public has been given a better car each season. Styles have been constantly improved up to this year, but note that the average 1938 automobile is very similar to last year's model in appearance. Thus, a big stimulus for new sales is now lacking. This may be one reason why 1938 sales are running about 50 per cent below a year ago. Rumor has it that as a result of current experience motor companies will radically change their 1939 models.

2. Highway Systems: The constant development of our highway systems has resulted in increased motor demand. As the roads grew better and better, they created a bigger demand for cars. These highway improvements are continuing at a rapid rate. Every year motorists have greater incentive to buy and drive cars over smoother and safer roads. The depression has been a big aid, here. For instance, in 1937, the 48 states put more than $1,000,000,000 in highway building and repairing.

3. Instalment Sales: Introduction of "easy-payment" plans in the motor business was another big stimulant to automobile prosperity. Instalment selling however has now shot its bolt, in my opinion. President Roosevelt was right when he recently criticized the lenient financing terms on automobiles. These unwise sales are now coming home to roost. Vacant lots are lined with used and "repossessed" cars which are blocking new sales. Financing terms will probably be tighter in the future. This will help the nation spiritually as well as financially. While fewer registered cars may taper off the gains in gasoline and tire sales, eliminating unsound ownership should tend to stabilize these industries.

More Value for Dollar Spent.
4. Price Reductions: This is probably the most important factor in giving us motor prosperity. Automobile prices were marked downward from 1910 to 1926. While the cheaper cars have gone up in price since 1926, customers have been steadily given more automobile for their money. The shift from costly hand-tool to efficient machine-tool methods is the thumb-nail story of the industry during the past quarter-century. Today, machines operated by one man do the work which took a hundred men to do 25 years ago. Yearly, for three decades, the amount of work turned out each hour by each man has constantly increased. Even though raw material prices moved higher, the savings on labor were enough to allow prices to be progressively marked down.

The year 1937 saw a change in that trend. For the first time in motor history, output per man-hour dropped. Meanwhile, hourly pay scales increased under union demands. Taxes skyrocketed. So did raw materials. Consequently, motor officials were forced to mark-up the prices of their cars. It is difficult to pin the current "recession" on any single influence—but it is significant that as soon as higher prices on new models are announced, business began to sputter and stall. The reversal of the downward trend of prices is a vital factor in the outlook for the industry.

Life-Line Levelling Off.
Summarizing these trends, I feel that the "golden days" of the motor-building business are over until new developments come into the picture. The automobile industry's life-line has shifted from a steeply rising curve to a steady mature trend. Temporarily, America is motor-saturated. From now on the industry may largely be a replacement proposition. Cars more economical to operate, higher incomes for the "mass-market" buyers, and above all a reversal of the present upward trend of automobile prices is needed to give the industry new vigor.

Here is an interesting thought for the long-pull outlook of the business. Instead of selling cars to people who cannot afford to pay for them, why not develop an automobile renting plan similar to home renting plans? Some of the recent financing schemes were practically rental propositions. Why not extend the idea in an honest manner? There would be cars for rent to fit every pocketbook. There would be an increased use of automobiles because those who cannot afford to

Britain Launches a Sea Monster

The new 1090-ton British submarine Triumph resembles some great monster of the deep as she slides into the water at Barrow-in-Furness, England. The Triumph carries a four-inch gun and six torpedo tubes. Launched along with the vessel are high tide were two smaller submarines designed especially for quick diving.

He Wants to Be in Pictures

Work can be lots of fun, too, Jack Mulhall, Jr., must be thinking, above, as he tries out for the movies at the request of Director Andrew Stone. Young Mulhall, son of the star of silent films, was spotted as he guided tourists around a Hollywood studio. The object of his screen test affections is Cheryl Walker, queen of Pasadena's Tournament of Roses.

buy cars could afford to rent for part of the year, at least. Would Renting Help?

The motor-makers could then control the used-car market. Production could be better geared. Rental rates would include depreciation charges so that at the end of a certain period the cars could be automatically taken off the market and scrapped. A great problem today is that most motor-owners do not provide for depreciation. Hence, in periods of bad business they do not have the money on hand to buy a new car. This makes automobile production very volatile. Some new plan such as this might give the motor industry a new lift.

Time Replaces Coin For Girl on Budget In Quest of Beauty

By ALICIA HART, NEA Service Staff Writer.

THE beauty-minded who are budget-bound pay the price of being beautiful in time rather than money. They brush their own hair instead of depending on frequent scalp treatments for hair and scalp health. They are experts at the art of home facials.

They know how to shop and to care for their clothes and so manage always to look neat, smart and perfectly groomed in spite of a limited supply of costumes or of money for cleaners' bills.

If you can afford to go to an exercise salon for body massage treatments and special exercises under the watchful eye of a teacher, you probably have — at least you SHOULD have — few figure problems. If not, you still can be slim and trim and keep a youthful figure through the years. It comes right down to whether or not you would rather be slender than eat everything in sight. And whether or not you are willing to do a few simple exercises regularly, walk at least a mile a day.

Professional scalp treatments are wonderful, of course, and it's nice to be able to go to an excellent beauty shop as often as you please, but if these ideas are entirely out of line with the amount of money you have to spend on your appearance, you still can have lovely hair.

Proof of this is a woman who recently made a trip to New York from the little Canadian village 3500 miles north of the St. Lawrence River, where she has lived for three and a half years. There are only seven white families in that Arctic town, where it's six months day and six months night — no beauty shop, no manicurist in the home of the man who does the barbering.

Yet this pleasant-faced woman who came down from the far north for a short vacation and to do a bit of shopping, has skin as smooth and white as alabaster, as soft as a child's. Her hair is shiny, healthy, really beautiful. Her hands are well groomed, prettily manicured.

She has learned, and so can any woman who cares, that regular brushing, meticulous shampooing and a real desire to learn to manipulate curlers and waterwave combs make for lovely hair. Also that cleanliness and systematic use of a night cream keep skin attractively youthful and that home manicures can be done with a professional touch.

Training Project To Open at Luling

AUSTIN.—Another NYA resident training project, on which 12 farm boys from Caldwell, Gonzales, and Guadalupe counties will be given an opportunity to earn their expenses while they study agricultural methods at the Luling Foundation farm, near Luling, will begin operation early in March, J. C. Kellam, state youth director, announced.

The boys will live on the farm and during part of each day will work under the direction of the farm staff. During the remaining hours they will be given classroom and laboratory instruction in agriculture. The foundation was established by Oilman Edgar B. Davis for the benefit of farmers living in Caldwell, Gonzales, and Guadalupe counties.

Kellam also announced that 6,634 youths were employed on NYA work projects during February. Since all are assigned to part-time work, opportunity to attend off-job training classes is provided for as many of these youths as possible, he said.

Among recently approved NYA projects are these: Carthage, Panola county: assisting in construction of two-room addition to brick high school building. Youths work as laborers and as helpers to skilled workmen.

Center Point school, Pittsburgh, Texas: Youths now completing construction of cooperative dormitory on school grounds, in which 30 negro youths subsequently will be housed for an NYA resident training project.

Community Center for Girls, Waco: Youths are assisting in remodeling and enlarging building which will be used as community center to be operated by city.

Ringgold park, Brownsville: Park will be cleared and improved; additional trees will be planted; undeveloped sections will be opened to the public.

Midland Colt Shows Two-Year-Olds the Way at Santa Anita

Last summer a little blue yearling colt was given his first gallop under the saddle at the Midland Fair track. Friday he made his initial race at Santa Anita and easily won from juveniles of his age in a three-eighths mile heat, paying his backers $58.20 on each $2 duet and earning his owner, Fred Turner, the major end of the $1,000 purse.

The colt is named Xenora's Fox, sired by Turner's grey horse, Westy's Fox, and out of the Kentucky mare, Lucky Xenora. He stepped the three furlongs Friday in the fast time of 0:34 2-5, despite the wet track, emerging winner from a field of fourteen two-year-olds.

The Spanish peanut, when roasted, contains an average of 50 per cent fat.
