Behind the Scenes in Washington

Editor's Note: The opinions expressed in this article are those of Mr. Dutcher, NEA-Reporter-Telegram Washington correspondent, and are not to be construed as expressing the editorial policy of The Reporter-Telegram.

WASHINGTON, April 26. — The WPA, whose federal theater project productions have attracted widespread attention, is likely soon to start producing a movie or two.

Representatives of 14 labor unions, representing workers in the motion picture industry, were here recently to report that many actors, actresses and technicians were unemployed and that something ought to be done to keep them from starving.

Assistant Administrator David F. Niles told the union people to go back to Hollywood and submit proposals for possible projects. WPA will take the attitude that men and women who make movies when employed are as much entitled to work relief as actors, writers and musicians who have been employed on special projects in the last two or three years.

No government-sponsored love thrillers, gangster or cowboy films are in prospect. The productions are expected to be documentary films and dramatizations of government activities which will be sufficiently interesting and artistic to have box office pull.

Propagandists Working. Unofficial British propagandists have been arriving in New York and Washington rather regularly, seeking to build up good will and plugging the idea that the "democratic nations" — meaning England, France and the United States — must stick together in this evil world.

One of the best stories emerging from the series of visits comes from a conversation between Lord Rothermere, the British publisher, and Capt. Joseph M. Patterson, publisher of the New York Daily News. "A nation which insisted on defending her national honor would not stand for the bombing of the Panay," said Rothermere.

"Just wait until they shoot our ambassador!" replied Patterson. (The British ambassador to China had been seriously machine-gunned by a Japanese plane.)

Russia Wants Peace. Heated arguments developed the other night after dinner at the Russian embassy, between isolationists and "collective security" advocates among a group of American legislators, officials and private citizens who were guests.

Suave, popular Ambassador Trotsky started it by deploring anti-Russian propaganda and saying that he wasn't seeking American aid for Russia, since Russia was almost as isolated as the United States and historically just as hard to attack.

Billion-Dollar Church Would Result From Unification of Methodist Sects

By NEA Service. BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — In busy Birmingham, deep in the foundation of religious reverence and zeal, the General Conference of the Methodist church convenes April 28 to vote on a plan of unification which would fulfill the dream of John Wesley, 18th century father of world Methodism.

Although in his farewell message to American Methodists, Wesley made a plea that the church might always remain a single, undivided group, the eve of the 1938 General Conference finds American Methodism divided into 19 branches through schisms produced by nearly as many causes. The record of this faith in the United States reads sometimes like thrilling fiction, sometimes like complicated political history.

On Christmas Eve in 1784, 60 Methodist preachers met in Lovely Lane Chapel at Baltimore, Md., to organize the scattered American followers of Wesley into a united church. The chapel had no stove and the ministers were forced to sit on benches, rough new benches. Yet they remained in session for 10 days in the bitter cold, organized the Methodist Episcopal church, and elected Francis Asbury and Thomas Coke as their first bishops.

The clippety-clop of hoofs on dirt roads beat a rising crescendo of Methodism throughout the Atlantic coast states as early-day circuit riders spread the gospel on horseback.

On the frontier, the circuit riders had to face ruffians who delighted in whipping preachers and breaking up religious gatherings. Accordingly, the ministers developed a "sanctified pugnacity," and many a sinner was converted by the strong right arm of a circuit rider.

The rigors of the work, however, were so exhausting that two-thirds of the ministers died before they could render more than 12 years of service.

Democrat Appeal. Pioneer Methodism made a rapid growth because it never lost contact with the masses. It made a special appeal to poor and disinherited classes and to negroes. By 1860 one third of all American Protestants were Methodists.

Early-day Methodist circuit riders, who braved untold dangers and hardships to carry the gospel to wilderness regions, are honored by the statue above, a gift to the state of Oregon by R. A. Booth, wealthy lumberman.

It was the slavery issue which caused the first great dissension. After the 1844 General Conference ordered Bishop J. O. Andrews to cease episcopal functions until he had freed himself of the institution of slavery, southern church leaders met at Louisville, Ky., in May, 1845, and formed the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The Civil War widened the breach, and peace brought no remedy, for Secretary of War Stanton turned over to the northerners the houses of worship in southern Methodist territory captured by the Federal army.

In 1876, however, a joint commission was set up to adjust property ownership difficulties. Later another committee abated home and foreign mission competition. In 1906 a common hymnal and order of worship were selected. Finally, in 1923, a plan of unification was approved by the northern branch—but the southern branch refused adoption.

The present plan, drawn up in 1930, has been approved by the northern church, the annual conference of the southern church, and the Methodist Protestant church which has always remained independent. Recently, however, Tennessee contingents have gone on record against the plan, principally on the contention that it destroys autonomy, results in property loss, and makes negroes eligible for membership. A two-thirds vote of the General Conference will be necessary for adoption.

A united Methodist church would have a membership of 8,000,000, making it the largest Protestant body in America. Its assets would total more than a billion dollars. Administration of the church would be under geographical jurisdictions. A uniting conference next year would harmonize regulations and combine various agencies.

Still standing and perfectly preserved, with its spire towering proudly toward the sky, is the Lovely Lane Chapel in Baltimore, pictured above, where 60 ministers formed the original Methodist Episcopal church more than a century and a half ago.

Original Copy of Song 'America' Found

WACO, (P). — Workers at the Baylor University library in the process of spring cleaning have uncovered beneath a stack of books and papers an original copy of the anthem "America" valued at $10,000. The copy, it is said by Dr. W. S. Hoole, librarian, was an original written by the Rev. S. F. Smith in 1892, and autographed by the author February 21, 1895, for Dr. A. F. Beddoe of Dallas. Dr. Beddoe has affirmed before a notary public that this copy is not a facsimile, and values the manuscript at "no less than $10,000." There were six original copies, Dr. Beddoe said. One is in the Harvard University library, one in the hands of the royal collector of valuable manuscripts in England, and another in the hands of relatives of the author. Two others are unaccounted for he said.

Vocational Courses Discussed by High School Teacher

Informative discussion of the history, aim, and process of working of the vocational education courses now being adopted by a number of schools in the state was presented by L. P. Stark, high school teacher, in an after-dinner talk at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer Monday evening.

"Diversified Occupations" is the title of the course taught in Midland high school, the work done outside the schoolroom being correlated with class work. The aim of the course is an attempt to eliminate misfits in the business world by training the boy or girl in a trade or business for which he is fitted.

The speaker declared that Texas is looked up to as having the foremost project of this kind in America.

He praised the club for the business survey of the town which it is sponsoring, as an aid in his work.

Miss Laura Jesse was in charge of the program, a special feature of which was a humorous reading on the effect of spring given by Miss Wilda Brickell, expression and kindergarten teacher. She also presented an encore selection.

Plates were laid for Miss Brickell, Mr. Stark and the following club members: Miss Dru Lord, Miss J. Edwards, Mrs. Iva M. Noyes, Misses Ophelia Greene, Mamie Belle McKee, Betty Wilson, Clara Jesse, Laura Jesse, Fannie Bess Taylor, Geneva Risinger, Maria Spencer, Lorene Kirby, Kathleen Eiland, Mmes. Susie G. Noble, L. A. Denton, Frances Stallworth, Addison Young, J. L. Rush.

Baptist Circles Study Lesson Texts At Meetings Monday

Studies of various lesson texts were continued in circle meetings of the Baptist women's missionary union at the home of members on Monday afternoon.

Kara Scarborough Circle.
Mrs. S. L. Alexander taught a lesson from "Re-birth of a Nation" at the meeting of Kara Scarborough circle with Mrs. A. T. Donnelly, 909 W. Louisiana.

The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. W. W. Wimberly and the devotional was brought by Mrs. Eula Mahoney.

Mrs. Myrtle Smith, WMU president who called during the meeting, dismissed the group with prayer.

Ten women were present including: Mmes. Wimberly Mahoney, Ernest Neill, J. L. Manly Jr., Martin Duval, Fred Middleton, Brooks Pemberton, John M. Scroggin, Alexander, and the hostess.

Annie Barron Circle.
Mrs. Myrtle Smith, WMU president, presented the opening prayer and the devotional, as well as teaching the lesson for the meeting of the Glenn Walker circle with Mrs. C. G. Murray, 717 W. Louisiana.

G. A. Members Are Initiated in Candle Light Ceremony

Fifteen G. A. members were initiated in an unusual candlelight service in the Baptist church basement Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, under sponsorship of Mrs. Chas. Skinner.

Arranged in the form of a five-pointed star were the various "stations" which represented the five-fold aim of the Girls' Auxiliary—Bible study, prayer, mission study, personal service, and giving.

Girls of the YWA assisted in the service as did Mrs. H. R. Braezeale.

Before each station, Mrs. Braezeale sang an appropriate solo. Before the Bible study point where Miss Ann Blackburn was stationed, she sang "I Know the Bible Is True" before the prayer station where Miss Boerne Kidwell stood, she sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer"; before the mission study station of Miss Marcella Strawn she sang "Send the Light"; before the personal service station of Miss Jane Doran, "Give of Your Best to the Master"; and before the station of giving where Mrs. Skinner was in charge, "I Gave My Life for Thee."

The girls took the oath of allegiance to the G. A. and received green and white ribbons to wear as G. A. colors.

Initiated were: Vernelle Howell, Marjorie Hale, Evelyn Britten, Irma Tunnell, Dorothy Shelburne, Lena Fay Shelburne, Theresa Styron, Jean Ann Preskitt, Mary Roberta White, Annie Lee White, Joyce Forrest, Jennie Lou Wood, Wanda Lee Tindle, Anita Tindle.

Visitors were Mrs. H. K. Engleman, Mrs. H. A. Sheldon, and L. J. Ann Sheldon.

Rijnhart Circle Completes Pledge Payment Monday

Last payment on its building pledge was made by the Rijnhart circle of the First Christian church in its meeting at the church Monday afternoon. In addition, a love gift of $15 was added to the amount given the fund.

Mrs. Geo. Rathiff taught the study from the third to sixth chapters of St. Luke.

Mrs. S. P. Hall was in charge of the business session.

Present were: Mmes. Rathiff, Glenn Brunson, Hall, Chas. Brown, Ella Ragsdale, J. E. Pickering, J. R. Jones, Max Engle, Joe Norman, J. K. Graves, F. C. Cummings.

Child Movie Stars are Growing Up

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

HOLLYWOOD.—Deanna Durbin is an ingenue now—still very dewy, but headed for romance. It's all being planned with the utmost care.

Not since she went to work in Hollywood about 20 months ago has there been any real threat of a gangling, awkward interval in the enormously valuable young star's development. Indeed, so maturely graceful was she that the studio considered adding a couple of years to her age, which was 13. It is now 15.

"Anyway," she told me, "I'll not grow any more. I'm 5 feet 3 1/2 inches, and already the tallest female in our family."

She looked at the chops and baked potato on her luncheon plate and sighed, "I won't weigh any more either. I'm 112 now. I guess I'll have to start worrying about that."

Actually Miss Durbin doesn't seem to worry about much of anything. This by no means indicates childish irresponsibility. She is poised, confident and rigidly self-disciplined. In an interview she is inclined to be cool, but honest, answering questions with a "yes" or "no" until pressed. She never equivocates with a "perhaps" or a "maybe."

Hired by Universal at a salary of $150 a week, which she received during the production of "Three Smart Girls," Deanna is now earning $1250 weekly, mainly as a result of the efforts of her agent, Jack Sherrill. She holds a contract with six-month options calling for small increases. When she was singing over the air she was earning $400 a week for that job.

Every penny of her savings from the various sources has been going into a trust fund, so that her financial future will be secure. Sherrill, incidentally, is now being sued for an accounting by Mrs. Rita Starwood Warner, who claims to be the "discoverer" of Deanna.

Maturity by Easy Steps.
If Miss Durbin is not worrying about her future, her studio is taking every possible precaution for it. Universal's problem is to guide its singing prodigy through cinematic adolescence into young womanhood, with each successive picture leaning a bit more toward romance.

Besides her voice, which is said to be mature and safe from change or strain, the actress' charms are her healthy beauty and wholesome naturalness. She must not be arch or smartly or amorously precocious. Universal's council of elders has agreed that the faintest taint of these things would do her irreparable harm.

At the same time, her studio is anxious to bring her along as rapidly as possible. The visual transition for the screen will be merely a matter of taking away the hair ribbons and frilly dresses and flat-heeled shoes.

The film to go into production in a couple of weeks will be called "That Certain Age." In it, I was able to tell Miss Durbin, she will be a rich man's pampered daughter who awakens to certain realities and decides not to be a parasite. She will have two teenage suitors, a rich and a poor one. There will be no real love scenes, but audiences will know how she feels about the lucky boy.

After that, the studio will come right out on the theatre marquee and announce Deanna Durbin in "First Love." The story has not yet been adapted, but the chances are that Deanna will get herself kissed. There also has been some secret discussion of buying Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen" for her.

Talking Looks Musical.
Although these assignments seem essentially dramatic, with music sandwiched in, Miss Durbin considers them in the opposite light. "I think of myself as a singer," she said. "The acting is just something that I have to do between songs."

I asked what she intended to do with her money. She said she would save it. If she were not working at anything, she would travel. She would like to make a concert tour and perhaps appear in a musical on Broadway, but most of all she wants to join the Metropolitan Opera Company. Plenty of assurances have been given Miss Durbin that she will be welcome at the Met when she is ready.

No movies? "Yes," she said, "I'll do both. A season there, two pictures here. It has been done; look at Grace Moore and Lily Pons."

A Complicated Life.
Miss Durbin does not expect to begin another regular radio program next fall. Her parents, her teachers and the studio are opposed to it. For the Cantor

Feminine Fancies

By KATHLEEN EILAND

Sometimes we wonder where this vaunted ingenuity of women will find a stopping place. Specifically, we wonder about it when we read of Mrs. Opal M. Fisher of Colorado Springs, Colo. Dummies are far from dumb so far as Mrs. Fisher is concerned for she makes them yield her a profitable home income.

Dealing in the rejuvenation of the beautiful mannequins with which department store proprietors display the splendors of their feminine apparel, Mrs. Fisher has built up her own home studio business.

It seems that even though these stiff beauties never have attacks of nerves or headaches or grow tired, they nevertheless do reach the point where new hands and arms, yes, even new complexions, or a change of makeup are needed. All these changes Mrs. Fisher supplies. She changes pink lips to dark red ones, changes figures as styles change, or re-does the hair of the mannequins as the owners' advertising policy directs.

We shall expect to hear next of some busy mother who has launched into business on the strength of constant practice in sewing on buttons or hanging up the bathroom towels.

We are never so aware of our innate weakness or will as when we view some particularly becoming dress, one of those that are "musts"—a week before pay day when our financial budget is tottering on its last legs.

The bolero dress seems to be about the best bet for the fashion-minded woman's wardrobe. Lending itself to variety of appearance and likewise to multiplied useful-

Program Leader Discusses "The Church College"

Mrs. E. W. Anguish, program leader, talked on "The Church College" and Mrs. W. L. Miller brought the devotional on "Teach Us to Pray."

Mrs. O. R. Jeffers, presented a papare on "Loyalty."

Martha Byrnes of Dallas, president of the Baptist state convention of colored missions, told of the work of the convention, particularly of the colored Baptist college near Seguin.

The afternoon's program opened with the singing of "Have Thine Own Way, Lord."

During the social hour which followed the speakers' hour, refreshments were served by Mmes. W. J. Coleman, Andrew Fasken, K. S. Ferguson, D. D. Utterback. About 40 women were present.

A REAL COWBOY.

Roaming over the sage and mesquite covered dunes of the Sand Hills he loved, riding down the lonesome trails made by the hoofs of the contented cattle grazing there, the music of the jingling spurs and bits and leather creak of saddle and chaps.

To the rhyme of the loose swinging gait of the favorite horse, accompanied by the softly sugar whistled tune, was his freely happy delight.

In his love of being a cowboy and making a life he well spent. Ever extending a helping hand to all who come his way. Then when the passing call came, to go quietly on.

To ride in the new and happy land, where so many of his comrades are riding too. There to greet his friends to whom he had said goodbye. There too he will exchange that loved cowboy regalia for whatever rewards are awaiting him beyond the hills of time.

VERSES.

What have you attained only the Heights?
The lights are dim and far away, you stand alone and all is dross. Because on your way you pushed friends and foes aside one main objective "to reach the Heights." Beware lest you miss hearing the Temple Bells.

Whose tones guide to the glorious way
Tread lightly and glance to the side paths from your strait road.
For fear you pass a foe or friend, to whom a lift you might extend. Do this without a murmur. Then when "The Heights" you reach you will not stand alone.

Let your good thoughts find expression. The other kind will be smothered out by confinement.

When we have an urge to wander

ness in these busy modern days when one must dress both for utility and beauty, for work and for pleasure, the bolero dress is a standby for the woman whose wardrobe is built on a budget and also for the one who needs to consider only her own desires in the purchase of clothes.

Hostesses who are sighing over piled-up social obligations should welcome the advent of warm weather. Picnics, weiner roasts, back-yard suppers, and buffet snacks will be in the ascendancy so far as entertainment is concerned for several months—and all these are easy on the hostess as well as delightful to the guests.

Methodist Society Has Circle Sessions At Members' Homes

Mrs. S. H. Hudkins, who was hostess to the Mary Scharbauer circle of the Methodist missionary society at her home, 1200 W. Indiana, Monday afternoon, presented a 40-minute report on the general missionary conference at Snyder which she attended last week. She touched on the more interesting talks given there.

Following the report, Mrs. Frank Prothro taught the lesson from the missionary text "The Way of the Witness."

Mrs. M. V. Coman offered the dismissal prayer.

A short business session opened the meeting for which Mrs. Velma Stewart was colostess.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. N. G. Oates, 610 N. Main. She also brought the afternoon's devotional.

Belle Bennett Circle.
Mrs. J. M. Haygood taught the lesson taken from the second and third chapters of the text, "The Way of the Witness," at the meeting of the Belle Bennett circle with Mrs. N. G. Oates, 610 N. Main. She also brought the afternoon's devotional.

Mrs. J. H. Rhoden, a visitor from the Mary Scharbauer circle, reported on the missionary conference at Snyder.

Mrs. Oates served a refreshment course at the close of the program to: Mmes. Everett Klebold, Effie Sanders, B. F. Haag, E. J. Voliva, J. M. Flanagan, Mary S. Ray, N. J. Bigham, T. A. Pollard, Terry Elkin, J. M. Haygood, the visitor, Mrs. Rhoden, and a new member, Mrs. Kemper Kimberlin.

Young Women's Circle.
Mrs. S. F. Hardip was hostess and Mrs. Roby C. Fagg colostess to the meeting of the Young Women's circle at the home of the former, 1007 W. Tennessee.

Mrs. Tom Switzer brought the devotional, dealing with China and the war in the Orient.

Mrs. Dave Harmon presented a paper on "The Life of Charlie Soon."

A roundtable discussion of the Chinese situation followed.

Report on the Snyder meeting last week was made by Mrs. Oliver Haag.

Present were: Mmes. Switzer, T. N. Roberts, Karl Rathiff, A. H. Flaherty, Oliver Hang, A. B. Cather.

Former Home Demonstration Agent Here Is Married

Announcement has been received by friends here of the marriage of Miss Myrtle Miller, former home demonstration agent here, and Frank Bunyan Austin. The ceremony took place at Fort Payne, Alabama, Sunday, April 10.

Mrs. Austin is well-known in Midland county, having spent about two and a half years here as county home demonstration agent in the early 1930's. She resigned to complete her college work, obtaining her degree from C. I. A. Since she has been employed in home demonstration work at Fort Payne.

Study Club Disbands Till Fall Season

St. Thomas Study club held the last session of the season at the home of Mrs. W. T. Walsh, 1503 W. Holloway, Monday afternoon, after which it disbanded until next fall.

Father O'Connell was present along with the following members: Mmes. Allen Tolbert, Henry Wolcott, J. W. Jordan, O. C. Duffey, A. H. Riley, D. L. DeHommie, Ben Dansby Jr., and the hostess.

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE INSIST ON CONCRETE for all streets

MANY accidents on the streets are caused by pavements that are bumpy, raveled, slippery when wet, difficult to clean, obscure at night. These accidents can be prevented by paving with concrete which:

1. Reduces skidding in all weather
2. Has high visibility at night
3. Keeps a true and even surface, free from bumps
4. Drains and dries quickly; no pockets of standing water or mud
5. Encourages traffic to use the full street width—passing is easier

Concrete costs less to build than any other pavement of equal load carrying capacity—costs far less to maintain—cuts motoring costs.

Don't be satisfied with less than clean, safe, enduring concrete on your streets.

CARDS OPEN SEASON IN BIG SPRING TOMORROW AFTERNOON, 2:30

FROSCHAUER WILL GET STARTING JOB IN THE INAUGURAL

It will be "Play Ball" and "Batter Up" tomorrow afternoon in one West Texas and two New Mexico towns as the clubs of the West Texas-New Mexico League swing in to a 130-game schedule that will carry them through August 23.

All managers in the league have pronounced their charges ready and anxious for the starting gong, and all have predicted they would finish "in the money."

The Midland Cardinals will be the guest team on the Big Spring field, meeting the strong Barons of that city at 2:30.

Other opening day games will find Wink at Hobbs and Lubbock at Clovis. All members of the loop have settled on what will probably be their regular line-ups for the first few weeks and all, at the present, foresee a pennant.

Pre-season dopsters declare the Lubbock team is the class of the circuit right now. And at present, the team probably is. It has had several weeks start on other clubs in the matter of conditioning and has been hand picked by big league scouts.

But there is plenty of doubt that the Hubbers will be able to make a runaway of the league race this year. Both Midland and Hobbs have connections that will allow them to add strength to their clubs if at any time they decide they do not have what it takes to match the Lubbock county boys.

In fact, Manager Withers of the Cardinals has not waited until the season opens to announce added strength. He reported this morning the acquisition of a young catcher from the Sacramento Coast League club who, the manager says, will be one of the sensations of the league. The new man, Don Ballinger, is expected to arrive here either Friday or Saturday.

Withers announced today that Henry "Hank" Froschauer, a young righthander who has shown a lot of stuff in workouts to date, would get the opening day assignment in Big Spring tomorrow afternoon.

Froschauer appears to be the only member of the local pitching staff capable of going nine innings at the present time but the manager expects to have the other four hurlers in top condition in another week or ten days. Froschauer has had two or three weeks more in camp than the other members of the pitching staff. After being capable in quelling the Inman team here in four innings last week and showed no evidence of tiring.

The second day's assignment, also to be played in Big Spring, will likely find Frank Nelson, another righthander, taking the mound for the Cardinals. After being blasted out of the box by the Crane team here Saturday in less than two innings, the youngster came back the next day and gave up only one hit in four innings.

The Cardinals and Barons will open here Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and long Cliff Neighbors, who appears likely to be the number one man of the staff this year, will be given the call. Neighbors is not yet considered in good enough shape to go the entire nine innings but the manager is convinced he can hurl shutout ball for at least six or seven frames.

Another Blow Hits Windy City

The PAYOFF

By JESS RODGERS.

Tomorrow is the day! The day that Midland baseball fans have been waiting for since the day last July when Wray Query, head of the club here then, announced the team was being disbanded.

The Cardinals open the season tomorrow in Big Spring and play in the same city again Thursday. They return here Friday for the first game of the year, and if present plans work out, it will be a gala day indeed.

The first game here will start at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, and it is believed that most, if not all, of the merchants of the town will be willing to close their stores from 2 until 4 that day.

The game will open in Big Spring tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and probably as many as 50 local fans will accompany the team to the Howard county capital for the inaugural.

Ladies of the Episcopal Auxiliary today took over the sale of tickets to the opening day game here and will thoroughly canvass the city between now and Friday noon—the deadline for pre-game sales.

It has been agreed to pay the women a commission on all tickets sold and they will use the money made by them as a donation to the Episcopal church building fund. Purchase a ticket, NOW. You will be helping the baseball club, the merchants, and the church.

There have been some complaints over the price of $1.10 for the opening day game but the price is standard all over the league. Furthermore, the tickets are good for any one of the first three games here. Not all these—but they will get the bearer in either Friday, Saturday or Sunday.

While discussing tickets, it might be well to point out that the regular price during the season will be 50 cents in the grandstand and 35 cents in the bleachers. However, the grandstand tickets can be purchased for 40 cents each when as many as three are purchased at one time.

Each Friday night has been designated by Head Man Withers as "Buddy" night and all persons buying two or more tickets will get them at 40 cents each. Each Monday night will be Ladies' night. All females will be admitted to the park free, regardless of whether or not they are accompanied by anyone purchasing a ticket.

Tickets for Knot Hole members have been printed and will be distributed Sunday in the churches of the city.

Knot Hole gang members are boys under the age of 14 and Withers has arranged a method of taking care of them that should have the approval of everyone. Tickets will be given to Sunday school teachers each week and they will be asked to hand them out to boys present that day.

The tickets will be good each day or night except Sundays and holidays. But the boys MUST go to Sunday school to get them—or have a very good excuse for not going.

Withers says that boys who are too "rowdy" to attend Sunday school are too rowdy to have in the park and that he is not interested in having them at the games.

In answer to many inquiries: Midland will open under the lights here May 13 with Clovis furnishing the opposition.

The Cardinals will finish their first home stand of the season, Big Spring here for three days, and Lubbock here for three days, and then go on the road for nine days. They will play in Hobbs May 5-6-7, in Clovis May 8-9 (double header on May 8), in Lubbock May 10-11-12, and then return here for nine games.

Swine Breeders Give Prizes to 4-H Boys

LLNO, (AP).—E. N. Regenbrecht, swine specialist of the A. & M. College Extension Service, announced here recently the Texas Swine Breeders' Association of which he is secretary, would offer cash prizes this year in 4-H club pig work over the state.

In one group prizes of $100, $50, and $25 would be awarded to first, second, and third place winners in counties carrying on the best 4-H pig work, and similar awards would be offered to future Farmers' chapters having the most outstanding pig work for the year.

Regenbrecht said details of the contest had not been completed.

Cadets Take Second Polo Game 6-4

IMPROVEMENT IN MIDLAND TEAM IS SHOWN MONDAY

Hampered by a southeast wind which swept sand across the field throughout the game, the New Mexico Military Institute polo team made it two straight by beating Midland 6 to 4 in an evenly matched, hard fought game at Midland Fair park Monday. The sandstorm reduced the crowd only slightly, from 400 to 600 seeing the games both Sunday and Monday and exhibiting much interest in both teams.

Jack Shirley, Institute's hard hitting, desperate riding No. 3 man, easily merited the rating of the game's most spectacular player Monday, putting up even a better game than he did the day before. Team work of the Midland four-some improved and the game looked like a two-sided affair after the opening two minutes of play.

As the first period started Referee Colie Means threw the ball in. Shirley, just outside the line-up, raced in, stole the ball and ran for a goal before he could be covered. A minute later, as the ball was thrown in, he repeated the performance, making the score 2 to 0 for the cadets with only Shirley's horse showing a streak of sweat.

In the second period, John Bannister, playing No. 2, and Frank Cowden, No. 4, for the Institute made a goal each, but the Midland boys were coming alive and A. C. Woodward, playing No. 1 for the locals, brought the ball around with short strokes and raced for a goal, ending the period 4 for the cadets and 1 for Midland.

Midland led the scoring in the third chukker, Woodward getting another goal and Jay Floyd shooting a hard-driven penalty shot for another marker. Shirley made one for the visitors. Score at the half, Institute 5, Midland 3.

The farther along the game went the harder it was played, both teams putting out all they had and getting all the horses could give. Two fouls were called in the fourth period, one on Woodward of Midland and one on Bannister of Institute, but neither Shirley nor Floyd managed to put the goals through from the sixty yard stripe. Neither side scored in that chukker.

In the fifth, which was hard fought, each minute and saw some hard drives by each side, with the ball often carried out to the side because of riding-off plays, Cowden was the only one to score, making the game stand 6 for the Institute and 3 for Midland.

Gus White drove through a Midland goal in the sixth and final period to wind up the score 8 for the visitors and 4 for Midland. One penalty was called on the Institute this chukker but the sixty yard knock by Floyd failed to get through the cadet line-up.

Midland used four players continually through the game, although changing two positions at the opening of the third. The final line-up was A. C. Woodward No. 1, Jay Floyd No. 2, Gus White No. 3, and Rip Smith No. 4. Smith played a great defensive game and repeatedly saved Institute scores by his hard, fast riding, carrying his opponents off of the ball or to the side of the goal. His knock-ins from the end of the field accounted for good distance.

Floyd played a more aggressive game in the forward position getting much speed out of his ponies which were seeing their second game of the polo. He used the mallet to good advantage on back strokes and forward shots alike.

Woodward and White, the well-

Big League Umps Miss 'Em, Too

President Roosevelt, the nation's First Fan, likes plenty of baseball action, so the Washington Senators and the Philadelphia Athletics put on thrillers like the one pictured above in their season's opener at the Capital. Bill Werber, Athletics' third sacker, took off on a wild flight through the air to first base. Wes Ferrell, Senator pitcher, covering the bag with ball in hand, apparently made an easy put-out, but when Werber landed, umps called him safe.

Pastor Offers Wood Pile for Needy Families

ST. LOUIS (UP).—The Rev. C. C. Rinebarger, believing the only answer to the relief problem is work, has established a community woodyard next door to the Central Church of the Nazarenes.

Through this medium the Rev. Rinebarger provides work for the jobless and free wood if they come and cut it. He said nine families had been kept alive this winter by providing them with fuel.

The minister obtained timber which had been discarded by a construction company. A transfer company offered to haul it to the church. The minister then offered his congregation the privilege of cutting it, two-thirds going to the workers, the remainder divided among widows unable to do the chopping themselves.

Major McCoy Is Expected Today

One landing was reported for this morning at Sloan field, Major Thomas arriving from El Paso and departing for Fort Sill, Okla. He was flying an O-39.

Major McCoy was expected to arrive in mid-afternoon from San Antonio where he went Monday, traveling in an O-43.

Four additional landings for Monday afternoon were reported. A C-14 and a BT-9 both came from El Paso and went on to Randolph field. The C-14 was flown by Master Sergeant Wallace and the BT-9 by Pilot Rhenshaw.

Lieut. Cuenter made a trip from Brooks field and return in an O-43. The same trip was made by Lieut. Arnold who brought supplies for the 22nd observation squadron at Sloan field.

School Census Is Being Taken Now

The school census for the Midland Independent School District was taken by the school during the month of March. It is barely possible that some scholastics, especially those who will become six years of age before next year's school term, were overlooked by those whose duty it was to enumerate the children of scholastic age.

Since the State appropriation will be allowed only on those scholastics who get on the rolls, it is to the interest of every one in the district to help get all scholastics on the census roll. Those knowing of any children between the ages of six and eighteen, who have not been placed on the census roll, will do them a favor by calling Principal Iris N. Bounds at 373, or 9037-F-12, of the superintendent's office at 287, giving them this information.

Pan-American Line Forced Down at Sea

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 26 (AP).—A Pan-American air liner was forced down at sea near West Indies, 30 miles from Kingston Monday and the 12 passengers and crew were rescued by a passing boat.

The tug Killierig was sent from Kingston to salvage the plane which was reported in a sinking condition. The plane was en route from Santiago, Cuba, to Kingston.

Pan-American officials at Miami said a radio message advised the plane was under control but was forced to alight because of mechanical trouble.

The Elder and Fyffe steamship Cavina was in the vicinity a steamed immediately to the rescue. The Cavina took the crew and passengers off and started west to Bowden, in East Jamaica, about 40 miles from Kingston.

100 Ice Company Employees Will Be At Meeting Here

With more than 100 officials and employees of ice companies in this area having signified their intentions of attending the district meeting here tomorrow afternoon of the Southwestern Ice Manufacturing association, officials here in charge of arrangements today announced all preparations had been completed.

Col. P. A. Weathered, Dallas, executive secretary of the organization, will be the principal speaker at the meeting here. The meeting here will be strictly business in all forms, and no entertainment program has been planned.

A short film showing how to properly ice beverages and other articles, along with interesting data on the uses of ice will be offered to the delegates.

Officials of companies from as far east as Colorado and as far west as Pecos are expected to attend the meeting here. The meeting will get underway at 3 o'clock in the Crystal ballroom of the Hotel Scharbauer with Ben Cole, Big Spring, district chairman, presiding, of great religious leaders being studied.

A social hour followed the program.

C. Sivals, 811 W. Louisiana, Monday afternoon. Mrs. Richard E. Gile was the guest.

Mrs. J. P. Butler reported that the recent coffee at the Country Club was a success both financially and socially.

Mrs. J. L. Crump was asked to serve as chairman of the committee for selection of green altar hangings.

Additional plans for raising money for the church building fund were discussed.

Mrs. R. W. Hamilton was in charge of the program for the afternoon, substituting for Mrs. W. A. Yeager who was out of town. She discussed "Confucius" in the series

Washtub Drudgery

The greatest tyrant of the household is the washtub, symbol of a day of drudgery long since passed.

The washtub and his reign was abolished by the modern laundry, where the family washing is done quickly, thoroughly and inexpensively.

There is no economy in doing the washing at home.
