Japs Launch New Attack On Chinese

Island of Amoy Is New Objective of Invading Armies

SHANGHAI, May 10 (AP).—The Japanese navy today launched an expedition against Amoy, chief port of the southern coastal province of Fukien.

Foreign dispatches said a Japanese force had landed after a heavy bombardment of the city and had come to grips at once with the Chinese garrison.

Japanese headquarters declared the eastern half of the Amoy island had been captured.

After 307 days of warfare at an estimated cost of more than 1,000,000 casualties, about 1,000,000 Chinese and Japanese soldiers fought today for control of China's vast interior.

The struggle centered on the Central Chinese front where domination of the Lunghai railway, running more than 600 miles west into the heart of China, and 150 unconquered miles of the interesting Tientsin-Pukow railway were the principal Japanese objectives.

Three Japanese columns were thrusting northward.

The right wing force had driven within 60 miles of the eastern end of the Lunghai.

The battle on the north side of the railway, "backbone" of Chinese resistance yesterday, saw Japanese armies desperately trying to blast a hole in the defenses.

Chinese artillery positions were heavily bombed in almost the same battle zone in which the previous major offensive of the Japanese was rolled back in disastrous defeat a month ago.

The left wing column was reported to have wrested Mengcheng from the Chinese in a fierce contest, and to be advancing on Kwoyang.

All Americans had fled Kwoyang, but six Southern Baptist missionaries remained at Pohjen.

The Chinese denied they had lost Mengcheng and insisted the Japanese had been pushed back.

Government Aids In Feeding 87,000 Cleveland Hungry

CLEVELAND, May 10 (AP).—Solemn-faced women and children piled government rations of cabbage and potatoes into baby carriages and toy wagons to replenish their bare cupboards Monday as city officials grappled with the food crisis among Cleveland's 87,000 direct relief recipients.

Long lines formed at five federal surplus commodities distributing stations.

Mayor Harold H. Burton conferred with officials on transferring money from municipal funds to replace an exhausted $50,000 stop-gap appropriation.

A special relief session of the Ohio legislature meets next week to discuss appropriating state moneys in the crisis.

Frank E. Bubna, city relief commissioner, who estimates between one-third and one-fourth of greater Cleveland's 1,200,000 persons are dependent on either direct relief or WPA work, said the food is larger today than in the 1932 depression.

Southwest Andrews Deep Test Shows Oil Saturation In Cores

BY FRANK GARDNER.

Frank S. Perkins et al No. 1 Cowden, southwestern Andrews county, deep wildcat, claimed attention today when it was reported to have recovered three feet of saturated and porous lime after coring from 7,681-89 and to have shown some free oil in core barrel. Schlumberger electrical survey had shown saturation in the bottom 150 feet. Reaming of core hole was underway today. Some reported that total depth had been corrected to 7,695 feet.

The majority of geologists reported the Perkins well to be still in the Permian, although some thought it might have entered the Pennsylvanian. Cuttings had shown some green shale. It is located in section 14, block A-55, public school land. The well ran high structurally on upper Permian markers in drilling to 5,001, one foot past original contract, and new contract was made to deepen to 8,000 feet in search of deep pay.

Seaboard No. 1 Thornberry, wildcat west of the Fuhrman pool in Andrews, is drilling at 4,670 in lime, showing nothing, while H. S. Forgeron No. 1 Lockhart & Brown was preparing to take a core at 4,400 feet in lime. Samples from 4,390-4,400 showed oil staining.

Southwest Youkum Strike. Shell Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Mrs. Dora Roberts, southwestern Youkum strike four miles west of the Denver field, flowed 471 barrels of oil, cut two per cent with basic sediment and water, the first 20 hours of potential test. It had been acidized with 8,000 gallons in two stages, bottomed at 5,100 feet in lime. The discovery is located 2,310 feet from the south and west lines of section 793, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

Shell No. 1 C. A. Dowden, extending the Denver-Wasson link area a half-mile west, flowed 596 barrels on official 24-hour potential test. Basic sediment and water percentage was one per cent. The well reached total depth of 5,040 in lime and was acidized with 7,000 gallons in two stages. It is 440 feet from the north, 2,200 feet from the west line of section 894, block D.

Magnolia No. 1 Webb, in central Youkum, was bailing out hole preparatory to testing oil showings. It was plugged back to 5,380 from 5,639 to shut off bottom hole sulphur water.

Ray Albaugh No. 1 Dewey Hogg, southeast Dawson wildcat, logged odor of oil in samples from 4,028-38 and is drilling below 4,046 feet in lime.

Cochran Lime in Lime. Solid lime was topped at 4,200 feet, according to sample analysis, by Honolulu No. 1-91 Carrie Slaughter Dean, southeast Cochran wildcat three miles northwest of the Duggan pool. Driller had called the top at 4,188. Drilling continued below 4,230 feet in lime.

Helmsch & Payne, Inc. No. 1 Westheimer & Daube, western Cochran wildcat, is drilling at 4,470 feet in lime. No shows have been logged.

In southern Bailey county, George Elz et al No. 1 Enoch's is drilling below 4,190 feet in lime.

John L. Baldrige No. 1 Alamogordo Lumber Company, in northwest Lynn, cemented 7-inch pipe on bottom at 4,450 with 300 sacks of cement and is standing.

Frick Test Tops Lime. J. L. Frick, co-operator with Osage Drilling Company of the No. 1 Alhambra-Riley, important wildcat four miles northwest of the Seminole pool in central Gaines, announced here today that his well had topped the gray lime at 4,440, datum of minus 1,057. It was drilling ahead at noon at 4,460 feet. The well is said to be running favorably in relation to Seminole producers.

Blackstock Oil Company No. 1 A. L. Wasson, in northwestern Gaines, was preparing to run 7-inch casing, bottomed at 4,900 feet in lime, which showed saturation from 4,889-4,900. Gas-oil contact was at 4,890 feet. The well had shown first gas from 4,619-22 and had good show of gas at 4,680, getting broken increases below that point. It is said by operators to be the highest well in northwestern Gaines, having run 70 feet high to the M. B. K. No. 1 Wasson, 1,711-barrel a mile to the southwest.

Atlantic No. 1 Texas-University, southwestern Andrews wildcat north of the Goldsmith pool in Ector, cemented 10-inch pipe at 1,074 feet with 500 sacks. Total depth is 1,074 in red rock.

Lou Stogner No. 1 Hendricks, southwest of the Addis pool in Ector, is drilling at 3,014 feet.

4 Men Held After Woman Is Kidnaped

Fifth Is Sought; Three Confess to Attempted Attack

SANTA FE, N. M., May 10 (AP).—State police held four men and sought a fifth last night for abduction of socially prominent Mrs. Luis C. de Baca Jr., 25, daughter-in-law of former Lieutenant Governor de Baca.

The young matron, mother of two children, plodded into the town of Pecos east of here, verging on collapse. She said the men abducted her as she left a dance about 1:30 o'clock in the morning at a Pecos tavern.

Several hours later, after successfully resisting efforts of her abductors to attack her, she was pushed from the car in isolated Pecos canyon, she said.

She told police she found shelter for a few hours at a tiny native Spanish home and early yesterday walked into Pecos, where state police already had an alarm out for her.

State Police Sgt. A. B. Martinez said three of the suspects in custody at Pecos had signed statements admitting the abduction. He quoted the fourth as saying he was "too drunk to remember."

Mrs. de Baca confronted the four men at Pecos and declared: "I know each one of you."

Mrs. de Baca, the former Regina Margaret Mars Cole of Denver, was injured, says for cuts and bruises. "She is black and blue," said her husband.

Atina de Baca, who accompanied the matron, sought desperately to save her from her abductors, grasping her by the foot. In the struggle the young matron's shoe came off and she was carried to the abductors' car.

In the ensuing struggle within the automobile, she was able to switch on the dome light and see the faces of the men, she said.

Baby Helaine Colan Undergoes First Operation in Effort to Save Sight

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP).—Baby Helaine Colan underwent a delicate dramatic operation Monday in a desperate effort to save her life.

In 10 tense minutes her tumor-swollen left eye was removed. "She's doing very well."

That announcement spurred hopes of a council of 10 medical experts who had decided the five-week-old infant should be submitted to surgery rather than chance death from growths creeping toward her brain.

The operation was the initial step in a struggle to stave off the advance of glioma, the disease which had blinded the child's left eye and impaired vision of the right.

Little Helaine was borne to the operating room as her mother pleaded: "Save her life. Whether she has one eye or no eyes."

Dr. Robert H. Good and his assistant, Dr. E. P. Garraghan, removed the left eyeball and about a half inch of the optic nerve. "The eyeball was enlarged. This was regarded as a favorable factor because the cancerous growth was inside the eyeball and indicated a similar, although smaller, tumor in the right eye might be checked before it could encroach upon the brain."

After further examination of the baby within the next 48 hours, specialists will decide whether the right eye can be saved by X-ray treatment or must be removed.

Helaine's condition cheered her parents, Dr. Herman Colan, 30, a dentist, and his wife, Estelle, 28. For four days they strove to decide whether the infant should be allowed to die or whether surgeons should attempt to save her life.

Monday morning they placed the baby's fate in the hands of a "jury." Ten X-ray and brain specialists, two rabbis, the father and the maternal grandfather, Dr. Morris Hershman, himself a physician, deliberated for an hour. By unanimous vote they elected to rely upon medical skill.

McCullough was employed by the Texas-Pacific freight transfer company here at the time of his death. His body will be shipped to Robert Lee today and funeral services and interment will be held Wednesday afternoon at Sanco, near Robert Lee. The deceased is survived by his wife, three small daughters, one brother and six sisters.

Adjournment Talk Heard in Capital

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP).—Congressional leaders cautiously talked Monday of an early-June adjournment.

One factor of uncertainty was the wage-hour bill. To hurry that along, the leadership evolved a program under which, if rules committee republicans agree, the measure may be expedited.

The senate finally approved a conference report on the compromise $5,000,000,000 tax bill, which removes all but a remnant of the controversial tax on undistributed corporate profits. House approval expected tomorrow, would send the measure to the White House.

The house schedule called also for debate on the president's program for combating the depression which would $4,500,000,000 of federal loans and expenditures. Leaders expected passage by the end of the week.

After a fortnight of hearings the appropriations committee introduced the bill just before adjournment yesterday. It proposed appropriations and authorizations totaling $3,054,425,000. The remainder of the $4,500,000,000 was previously covered in authorizations for loans by the RFC and appropriations for road building and the Civilian Conservation corps.

The new bill contains $2,519,425,000 in actual appropriations, an authorization of $500,000,000 for public works loans and $35,000,000 for the construction of federal buildings. The outright appropriations include $1,250,000,000 for work relief and $956,000,000 for public works. Among other items are $175,000,300 for the Farm Security administration and $75,000,000 for the National Youth Administration.

Thinking of adjournment, the democratic high congressional command conferred with President Roosevelt, and a second White House conference saw members of the appropriations committee and those concerned with the spending-lending campaign discussing that with the chief executive.

PATIENTS IMPROVED.

Reports from relatives today said that S. T. Cole and R. V. Hyatt both were improving, following injuries sustained in a car wreck near Corsicana several days ago. The former returned to Midland from a Fort Worth hospital last week and the latter returned Sunday.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON, May 10. — A remarkable state—Pennsylvania, where politicians all have a mania to leap hither and thence over each party fence whenever it enters their crania.

That's only one curious phase of the Keystone state's epic political battle, which will be decided in the primary election of May 17.

Both candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination are former Republicans. They are Gov. George H. Earle, who became a Democrat in 1932, and Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, who was elected to his present job as a Republican but subsequently has professed to be a non-partisan. They seek the seat of a consistent G. O. P. man, Senator James J. Davis.

The probable Republican nominee for the governorship—by far the most important prize in this race—is former Governor Gifford Pinchot, and old Bull Moose. He is opposed by Judge Arthur James. The Democratic candidates are Lieut. - Gov. Thomas Kennedy, Charles A. Jones of Pittsburgh, and former Attorney General Charles J. Margliotti, who ran as a Republican four years ago but switched his support to the Democrats and subsequently was rewarded with a job in Governor Earle's cabinet — and recently fired by Earle.

More Fence Jumpers.
C. I. O. Leader John L. Lewis, who insisted that the Democratic state machine endorse Kennedy—a vice-president of the United Mine Workers—for governor and thereby precipitated the great Pennsylvania Democratic split, used to be rated a Republican and backed Hoover against Al Smith in 1928. And Lewis' right-hand man, Phillips Murray, head of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee and active in the Kennedy campaign, was at least until recently a registered Republican in Pittsburgh.

Boss Matt McCloskey of Philadelphia, chief power behind the Jones-Earle ticket, recently was quoted by Senator Joe Guffey as saying, "I used to be a Republican and I can be a Republican again." Guffey himself is a Democrat from away back, although Andrew Mellon, one of the State G. O. P. bosses, once underwrote a guarantee of $75,000 for him when the government demanded the interest on some alien property funds. Joe had been holding.

Officer Studies Technique of Jobs

AMARILLO (P).—Sheriff Bill Adams of Potter county, who has solved many crimes sitting in his office checking through a box of cards, says there is individuality in method among thieves, burglars, embezzlers, forgers, swindlers, robbers, purse snatchers and other criminals.

A trained officer, he says, can look at a rifled safe and establish the technique of the knobknocker. "Each criminal, especially robbers, burglars and safecrackers, has his own technique," says Sheriff Adams, "and he uses it on practically every job."

If a burglary is committed in Potter county there are 246 persons who automatically become suspects. There are fingerprints and other detailed information of that many known burglars on record in the sheriff's office.

The technique used in all burglaries in the county are studied carefully and checked against the information in the files and many burglars have been caught by matching technique with the methods of known burglars.

In the United States Mann will write the concluding volume of his best-selling "Joseph" novels, based on the Biblical narrative.

If everyone kept out of business because there was a chance that he might fail, no one would succeed.

Getting out of a tight fix—particularly a pair of tight shoes—is a grand sensation.

The only subject that can not be adequately handled in a one page letter is adolescent love.

800 and 500 square miles of grazing land. Between 12 and 15 cowboys picked their mounts from the 300-head remuda as the range wagon prepared to leave headquarters. The horses were in good condition but it was expected many cowboys would be thrown before their horses were tamed.

The range "oufit" consists of a chuck wagon, loaded with provisions and the bed-rolls of cowboys, the "hoodlum" wagon which carries branding irons, a forge for heating them, the water barrel and wood to be used at the chuck wagon. The personnel, in addition to the cowboys, includes the range boss, the cook, "hoodlum" driver and horse wrangler.

By These Simple Exercises Mrs. Roosevelt Keeps Fit

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt walks like a much younger woman than she is and wears clothes exceptionally well because she has kept her figure supple, agile, youthful.

The First Lady mounts a horse easily, gracefully. When she walks, it's with a free, light tread—never a stilted or plodding gait. She swims well, even though she did not learn very young. She has managed to keep in form through the years. She does setting-up exercises, designed especially to keep the body muscles pliant.

According to William H. Cranker, whose opinions on matters pertaining to exercise, diet and health habits Mrs. Roosevelt values, these are the types of setting-up exercises:

BEING A THOROUGHLY SELF-DISCIPLINED PERSON, MRS. ROOSEVELT, DESPITE HER MYRIAD OTHER INTERESTS, FINDS TIME FOR THE ELEMENTARY EXERCISES PICTURED HERE.

The three positions sketched below are from exercises 6 and 7, which Mrs. Roosevelt finds excellent for keeping flesh firm and muscles supple.

Stand with legs wide apart, reaching upward as far as possible and locking thumbs as shown in center. Keeping thumbs tightly clasped, touch right toes (see sketch at left). Back to first position, then touch left toes. Back to first position again, then bending forward, swing arms down between legs, keeping thumbs tightly clasped and reaching toward a spot on the floor behind you, as shown at the right.

Stand with legs wide apart, reaching upward as far as possible and locking thumbs as shown in center. Keeping thumbs tightly clasped, touch right toes (see sketch at left). Back to first position, then touch left toes. Back to first position again, then bending forward, swing arms down between legs, keeping thumbs tightly clasped and reaching toward a spot on the floor behind you, as shown at the right.

Stand erect, with heels together, head up, chest high, stomach in, backbone straight. Now stretch upward, reaching for the ceiling with your hands, putting your weight on your toes. Reach—reach, really stretch. Then bring arms down to the sides. Repeat ten times.

Raise arms to shoulder level, palms together. Swing arms straight back, keeping them even with shoulders, but forcing them back as far as possible and, at the same time, coming up on toes. Lower heels and bring arms to front again. This should be done vigorously, rapidly. Repeat ten times.

Incidentally, there should be no pause between these exercises. Begin with the first, and proceed rapidly, resting after the eighth one has been repeated the tenth time.

Now for the third routine. Hold hands in front of you at shoulder level, thumbs touching. Then bend torso forward, swinging arms back as far as possible. This is good for waistline, neck, chest and arm muscles.

Spread legs wide apart. Raise arms to shoulder level at sides. Turn upper half of the body to the right as far as it will go. Then to the left. Repeat rapidly.

Bring arms back to shoulder-level-at-sides position. Bend from the waistline to the right, then to the left.

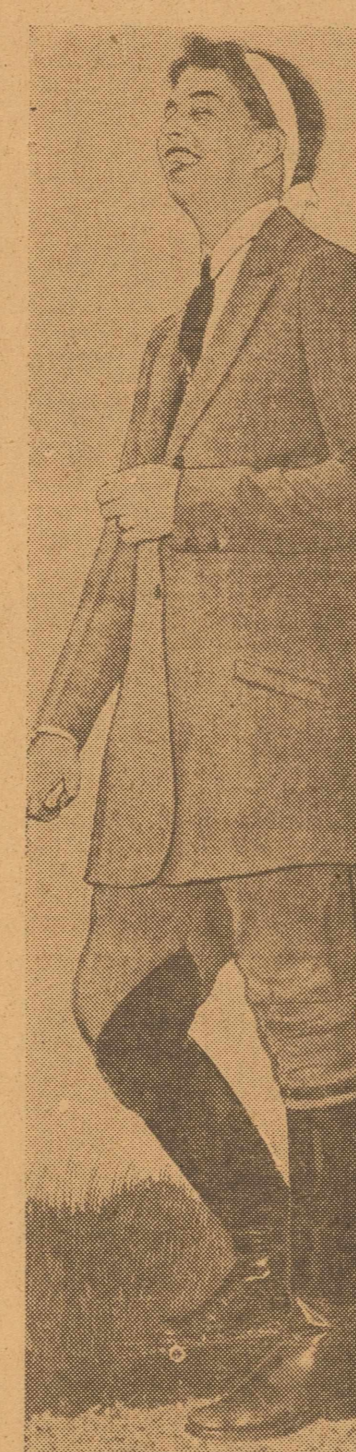

Combination Exercise.
The sixth is a combination bending and stretching exercise. It will do a good deal to keep flesh firm and muscles supple.

Stand with legs wide apart. Reach upward as high as possible. Clasp thumbs high over head. Really stretch the body upward. Keeping thumbs tightly clasped, touch right toes. Back to first position, then touch left toes. Go back to position after each bend, but do not pause before you begin the next.

The seventh begins with legs wide apart and thumbs clasped high above head. Bending forward, swing arms down between legs, keeping thumbs tightly clasped and reaching toward a spot on the floor behind you.

End with a breathing exercise. Simply stand with heels together, head up, back straight, hands on hips. Inhale deeply through the nose, filling chest and diaphragm with good fresh air and gradually coming up on toes as you do so. Exhale just as vigorously through the mouth, coming down on the heels at the same time.

A challenge to dullness is this photo of Mrs. Roosevelt, who, by intelligent diet and exercise, keeps herself "young."

Feminine Fancies

Admission to drink milk as an aid to beauty is commonly heard. But wearing it as an aid to beauty is something else again. That however, is just what Irene Dunne does in a late film.

Twenty-seven quarts of milk (yes, we said milk) are worn by the actress in one gown for the picture. The costume is made entirely of beads and these beads are of milk casein, hardened under pressure.

Al well, people WILL discover new ways of using things.

It is by way of rebuke to those of us who sometimes neglect beauty routines and shirk care in dressing to learn that Mrs. Martin Johnson, accompanying her husband on long safaris in the jungle, always dressed for dinner. Not in evening gowns, perhaps in vividly colored silk pajamas, but always she dressed. She took care of her face and hair, too.

Perhaps that was one reason why her famous explorer-husband liked to have her along on his trips. She was easy to look at, as well as nice to be with.

An unusually effective brand of psychology is being employed by a certain manufacturing company in putting a bath accessory before the public. When the consumer purchases a bottle of the company's pine bath oil, he is given a sample bottle containing enough of the oil for use in three or four baths.

He is told to use the sample bottle and if he does not like the product, he may return the unopened larger bottle for a refund of his money.

Easy on the customer, we should say, as the average buyer hesitates to put much money into a product totally new to him. It also argues the company's faith in its product. The makers must be sure of themselves to put such a scheme before the public. The manufacturers, at least, are convinced of the goodness of their product.

This particular bath oil, with its spicy pine odor, is said not only to soften the water but to prevent bathtub ring (which should be enough in itself to make the housewife go out and purchase it in quantity). Also the odor is said not to be destroyed by soap in the water.

For the graduate, one of the daintier gifts is a white "mortar-board" such as the lucky seniors wear which conceals a generous-sized bottle of the better-type cologne. A gift that is bound to be liked by the fastidious maiden who knows the attraction of a few drops of the scented preparation poured into the palm and swept up the forearm.

STORIES IN STAMPS VOWED TO PAINT WASHINGTON THE overwhelming urge to portray life in color cropped out in Gilbert Stuart when he was scarcely 13 and then a poor youth of Middletown, Rhode Island. At that age he painted his first portrait without instruction. Then in 1770 a friend took him to Scotland for his first lessons. He returned to America in a year as a result of his sheer poverty after his friend died. By 1775, however, Stuart was back in London again for further study, and after more hardship eventually found his footing. By 1792, when he returned to America, he had achieved signal success, was living in luxury. Stuart returned to America with one goal—to paint Washington. This he did for the first time in 1795. Later he executed other portraits of Washington in his late stages of life; the most famous of both artist and sifter. He painted also at this period other famous figures of both Europe and America. Shown here is a Washington portrait after Stuart, appearing on the six-cent ultramarine blue stamp of the U. S. series of 1869. It appears slightly more than one and one-half times actual size. STORY OF THE PLAY Act One Entries have discovered the place where Jack Goose has built his house. They are seen playing and dancing when they hear Mother Goose and her tapping cane coming. They run and hide, but keep a watchful eye on all that happens. It is Jack's birthday and Mother Goose has planned a party for him, to which all of her children are invited. As they talk and plan for the party Jack suggests that the Humpty Dumpty should be sent in a pie. This bit of news disturbs Mother Goose very much, and she then tells Jack of her little thief, the Knave of Hearts, who stole the key to the house and had been banished from the kingdom. Jack is sent to invite the guests to come to the Forest Clearing and Mother Goose goes to market. While they are away he Knave of Hearts comes and discovers everything ready, and connives with three disgruntled crows to spoil the party. They steal the key to the house so that the Humpty Dumpty cannot be secured for making the cream tarts, and run away. Upon her return, Mother Goose is greatly distressed to find the key gone. She greets all the guests as they arrive. The last ones to come are pages bringing the news that Old King Cole and The Queen of Hearts will also attend the party. As night approaches the guests are all assembled and awaiting the arrival of the royal pair. Act Two The sound of trumpets announces the approach of the Pipe Bearer, the Bowl Bearer, and the Fiddlers Three, attendants of Old King Cole, followed by the king himself. He is in a jovial mood, and Mother Goose takes the opportunity to do a little match making between him and the Queen of Hearts who comes with her maids. Mother Goose calls on her children to entertain the guests, but finally has to tell the Queen that there can be no cream tarts because the Humpty Dumpty is locked in the house and the key cannot be found. The Fiddlers appear and offer to tell who stole the key. At the trial the crows confess the crime saying that the Knave of Hearts told them to commit the deed. They are sentenced to be baked in a pie. Then they produce the key and beg for mercy. The king refers the verdict to Mother Goose, and she in turn refers it to her children who clamor for cream tarts rather than blackbird pie. The crows are allowed to go free, the Humpty Dumpty are brought out so that cream tarts can be made and every one is happy once more.

Road Across King County Being Built

AUSTIN, (U.P.) — Completion of preliminary construction of what would be the first public road to pierce the vastness of the former King ranch or, geographically speaking, Kenedy county, appears certain in about a year.

The last link of primary work-grading and drainage structures from Miffin to Armstrong, a 12.4-mile stretch in the heart of the primeval brush country—is scheduled in the federal aid program beginning next July 1, highway engineers say.

This means the final link would be let to contract before June 30, 1939, end of the federal government's next fiscal year.

Step by step the virgin terrain has yielded to modern engineering since right-of-way was obtained from the ranch owners several years ago.

From Kieberg county on the north southward to Miffin the sandy soil has been grubbed, graded and drained in preparation for base work and pavement. From Willacy county on the south to Armstrong, 22.4 miles northward into the interior of the ranch domain, workmen are performing a similar operation which is more than 20 per cent finished.

Its completion would leave only the Armstrong-Miffin sector untouched by the dragline.

Permanent surfacing of the road, a portion of highway 96 which meanders along the Texas Gulf Coast, will follow grading, drainage and base work although plans for it have not been set up.

"We follow the egg-before-the-chicken-principle," said one engineer when asked whether permanent topping of any one of the sections within the ranch would be undertaken before preliminary work was completed on all.

Completion of the road would cut about 45 miles between Riviera in Kieberg county and Raymondville in Willacy county.

Currently the motorist traveling between those points must drive approximately 100 miles, swinging off the long-the-coast road to U. S. highway 281 via Pallurias and San Manuel.

While adjoining counties team with vegetable, citrus and oil industries, Kenedy, footholded for many a fall campaign story is slowly but surely becoming acquainted with the odor of motor exhaust.
