Recreation Program Discussed at Lions Club Lunch Today

Discussing in detail the WPA recreational program, William McCall of San Angelo, recreational supervisor of WPA District 19, was the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon of the Midland Lions club today. McCall being introduced by John C. Burnside of San Angelo, WPA district supervisor. Burnside was introduced by Lion A. M. East, city engineer and member of the Lions club recreational committee.

McCall explained that the WPA will do in case the current WPA recreational program is adopted in Midland, urging that this city take advantage of the funds now available for that purpose. In case the program is started here, the first step would be for the WPA to employ a local superintendent of recreation who would then select and train assistants for each of the local playgrounds, the assistants to serve as play ground directors. The local program being set up in cooperation with citizens of Midland, the second step would be to set up a local recreational council to serve as an advisory board. The third step would be that of starting a varied program of activity which would interest the greatest number of local citizens, especially the children of the community.

The program would be varied and would be for the entire citizenship, the activities not to be limited to the physical side. A special effort would be made to get as many of the boys of the city interested in the project as possible. McCall stating his belief that if boys are kept busy doing right things, they will not have time to get off on the wrong track.

As to financing, McCall stated that any community can secure the program at very little cost, the cost being figured on a two-thirds basis, the government contributing two-thirds and the local community one third. The government's share would be spent for salaries, the community's share going for playground equipment, etc. The community must furnish or arrange for building and playgrounds.

The Lions Club recreational committee, Bob Norris, chairman, met with McCall relative to the project following the meeting. The club is considering the sponsoring of a playground in either the Mexican or Negro districts of the city. It is understood that the American Legion is sponsoring a playground in the south part of town.

The musical part of the program was featured by several numbers by three members of the Chase Bickie Orchestra, Miss Jane Walten and Bickie rendering vocal numbers with Berry Camp at the piano. Bob Williams was in charge of the program.

Convention Delegation Named.
Ed M. Whitaker, immediate past president, and Bill Collyns, new club president, were elected as official delegates to the Lions International convention which opens in Oakland, Calif., next Tuesday. Collyns will leave by automobile early in the morning and Whitaker will board the Texas special train at Sweetwater Saturday morning. See (Program) Page Six

Incumbent Leads Field In Oklahoma

Thomas Piles Up Margin Over Two Other Candidates

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 13. (P.)—Sen. Elmer Thomas, called "my old friend" by President Roosevelt, maintained a steady lead last night in his race for renomination on the basis of scattered primary returns. He pulled away from Rep. Gomer Smith, who voted against the president's reorganization bill, and E. W. Marland, New Deal governor.

Eight hundred thirty of the state's 3,522 precincts gave Thomas 39,342; Smith 28,986; and Marland 18,639. Leon C. Phillips, cigar-chewing Okemah legislator and New Deal supporter, ran ahead of four major rivals in the race for the democratic nomination for governor.

In second place was former Gov. W. H. "Alfalfa" Murray, referred to inferentially by Roosevelt as "nationally known as a republican." Murray replied with an attack on what he termed "carpetbaggism" and a declaration that if the governorship was appointive, he didn't want it.

W. S. Key, former state WPA administrator, who based his campaign on thorough cooperation with the Roosevelt administration, was running third in the governor's race.

Returns from 830 precincts gave Phillips 31,590; Murray, 28,399; Key 27,301; Former Gov. Jack Walton, 5,729; and Ira Finley, president of the Veterans of Industry of America, 5,446.

The eight democratic congressmen seeking renomination were leading their opponents on the basis of early returns.

In the fifth district, where Gomer Smith left the field wide open through his decision to make the senate race, T. Bone McDonald, Edmondson conservationist, paced Mike Monroney, Oklahoma City business man, and Merle G. Smith, Guthrie attorney.

In the republican primary voting was light and the endorsements given by a state "grassroots" convention was proving effective.

The election was expected to give President Roosevelt a speedy answer to his speech delivered here Saturday.

Texas 1 Mallet Pumps 74 Barrels For Potential

By FRANK GARDNER.

The long-deferred gauging of southeast Cochran's new pool opener, Texas Company No. 1 Mallet Land & Cattle Company, has been completed, showing the well capable of pumping 74.45 barrels of oil daily, with gas-oil ratio of 270:1. It had been shut in for over a month awaiting installation of pump. The discovery topped pay at 5,938 and was plugged back to 5,558 to shut off sulphur water found in drilling to total depth of 5,122. It was acidized with 5,000 gallons. Location is in section 7, block G, public school land, eight miles west of the Slaughter pool of Hockley and six miles southeast of the Duggan pool proper, in Cochran.

Gulf No. 2 Mallet, new Hockley wildcat four miles northwest of the Slaughter pool, is drilling red rock at 485 feet.

In southeast Hockley, Skelly No. 1 Ellwood estate is drilling plug with standard tools from 7-inch casing cemented on bottom at 4,290 feet.

Gill Test at 4,440.

Ralph H. Gill No. 1 Gulf-Dixon, southeast Yoakum test two and a half miles northwest of the Bennett pool, this morning had drilled to 4,440 feet in anhydrite and lime. No definite call had been made on top of brown lime. The well is in section 611, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

West of the Denver pool in southern Yoakum, Gulf No. 1 Lucy K. Moore, section 897, is drilling lime below 4,465 feet.

Skelly No. 1 Kendrick, south offset to Shell No. 1-D Baumgart, farthest east producer in the Denver pool, is drilling lime at 4,220 feet, circulating oil. In the pool, Skelly No. 1 Thomas cemented 7-inch casing at 4,891 feet and is standing.

Humble No. 2 Abilene State Bank, also in the Denver pool, treated with 1,000 gallons at 5,915 feet per hour for 11 hours.

Perryman Showing Nothing.

J. T. Perryman, Jr. No. 1 C. H. Doak, wildcat west of Cedar Lake in northeast Gaines, last night had drilled to 5,032 feet in lime, with no important shows yet encountered. Samples from 5,012-18 bore trace of oil, but only oily seum showed up on drilling water.

Riddle & Warr No. 1 J. B. Brown, eight miles to the west and two miles to the north, is drilling at 5,163 in lime, with nothing showing. SEE (OIL NEWS) PAGE SIX

Franco Puts 200,000 Men on Front for Big Valencia Offensive

HENDAYE, France, July 13. (P.)—Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco today was reported to have taken personal command of a unified army of 200,000 men in a grand offensive against Valencia from three directions.

The government was said to have massed more than 250,000 men in desperate opposition to the drive of the insurgents. Insurgent bombers raided Barcelona today in an apparent reprisal of a government air attack on insurgent coast lines. There was some property damage but no casualties.

France Gives Warning to The Germans

Nazis Are Told to Keep Hands Off Czechoslovakia

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 13. (P.)—Senator Elmer Thomas continued to pile up a steady lead today over Congressman Gomer Smith and Governor E. W. Marland in the senatorial primary. In the governor's race, Leon C. Phillips was gaining over W. S. Key, in second place, and ex-governor W. H. "Alfalfa" Bill Murray was third.

PARIS, July 13. (P.)—A scarcely-disguised French warning to Germany to keep her hands off Czechoslovakia last night was given pointed significance today when France announced a huge unlimited arms loan and published laws of wartime organization of the country.

No limit was set for the amount of the arms issue.

France also strengthened her anti-aircraft defenses after reports were received that Generalissimo Franco planned a northern campaign in Spain, using Italian troops.

BOMBING OF BRITISH SHIPPING DENOUNCED

LONDON, July 13. (P.)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today that Britain was "not prepared to acquiesce to repetition of attacks of certain character" on British shipping in Spanish waters.

He also disclosed the government's efforts to form an international bomb investigation commission were unsuccessful.

BULLETIN

YAKUTSK, July 13. (P.)—Howard Hughes took off for Fairbanks at 9:01 tonight (7:01 a. m. EST) on the fifth leg of his round-the-world flight. He remained in Yakutsk two hours and 53 minutes after completing a hop from Omsk.

He estimated he would reach Fairbanks about six p. m. EST.

Spending Program of Government to Cost 8 Billion in Year

WASHINGTON, July 13. (P.)—President Roosevelt estimated Tuesday the administration's spending program and other government activities would cost $8,985,157,600 in this fiscal year and pile up a $3,984,887,000 deficit.

The president made public a revision of his January budget estimates for the year which began July 1, 1938. Saying the January figures were based on a hope for a decided improvement in business he added:

"Business conditions not only did not improve, but gradually grew worse. This made it necessary to request additional appropriations to provide work relief for the unemployed and to lay out a program of federal public works which would not only aid the unemployed but would at the same time provide a needed stimulus to business. The business recession will likewise affect our revenues for the present fiscal year and they will be materially lower and our expenditures much greater than were expected seven months ago."

The expenditures for this fiscal year will set a peace-time record. The president estimated the Works Progress Administration and national Youth Administration alone would cost $2,135,000,000 in the 12 months ending June 30, 1939. This means, he explained, Congress probably will have to appropriate $500,000,000 more for WPA because funds already made available will finance relief only for eight months.

The estimated spending total is $2,200,000,000 more than was expended last year. While the net deficit was set at $3,984,887,000, it was indicated the gross deficit would be $4,984,887,000, the second largest since the World War. Last year revenues fell short of expenditures by only $1,524,713,050, the smallest deficit in seven years.

The president said the recession would make inroads on every important branch of the Treasury's revenue. Total revenues, he said, probably will fall from $6,241,661,227 last year to $5,000,270,000 this year. Increased spending was shown all along the line in a table attached to the President's brief statement.

Thurlow and Bauer occupied the same plane with a complement of 16 planes were flown to Havana one year. Thurlow acted as pilot and Bauer as mechanic.

New FHA Amendments are Explained at Meeting Here

New amendments to the National Housing Act were explained in detail and the launching of an extensive Better Housing program to stimulate building activity under the FHA in this area was discussed by officials of the Federal Housing Administration at a special meeting of architects, contractors, realtors, lumber dealers and representatives of financial institutions and utilities of Midland and Odessa in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer here last night. Approximately 50 persons, 18 of whom were from Odessa, attended.

Title One of the National Housing Act was outlined and explained by E. E. Sikes, mortgage conference representative of the Dallas office of the Federal Housing Administration, while Title Two, or the insured mortgage plan, was discussed by Judge J. A. Raley, Jr., manager of the District FHA office at Lubbock. The meeting was arranged by Charles A. McClintic, local chairman of the better housing committee and John P. Butler, chairman of the housing committee of the Midland chamber of commerce. Bill Collyns, chamber of commerce manager, presided at the meeting.

Sikes complimented Midland on its rapid and permanent growth and predicted even greater building strides under the new FHA plan. He said that lumber dealers, contractors, architects and allied interests have a wonderful opportunity of increasing their business under the new program, but that they must become familiar with the program in order to profit from same. The success of the program depends upon material dealers, contractors, architects and financial institutions, he said. He declared that the American public is "housing conscious."

Section two of title one, as re-enacted and amended by Congress, provides for three classes of loans, according to Mr. Sikes, the three classes being (1) for improvement upon existing structures; (2), provides for new structures, those exclusive of residential structures; (3) provides for new structures, those used wholly or in part for residential purposes. Title One is entirely different from Title Two said Mr. Sikes.

Judge Raley discussed Title Two or the Insured Mortgage plan, declaring that the Midland building program is one of the most constructive he has ever seen. He said that Midland and Odessa have been a feeding ground for the FHA program in West Texas and lauded both cities on their building activities. The government was lauded by the speaker as a helping hand to the average small salaried American citizen.

Since February 3, insured mortgage loans are available up to 90 per cent, he said. Judge Raley outlined the full procedure in the preparing, filing and passing upon FHA applications. Provisions and interest rates were also discussed. Judge Raley stated that although it is not a set rule, a home should not exceed two to two and one half times any man's annual income.

The speaker said that the FHA has new money exceeding 44 million dollars in Texas with only one foreclosure. He urged local financial institutions to handle the loans, but said that the Federal Mortgage Corporation and the RFC have been set up by the government to handle Title Two loans.

Lumber dealers, contractors, financial institutions, and others were furnished with information concerning the new program and are now in a position to develop applications for loans for those desiring to repair, remodel or otherwise modernize their existing property, as well as those interested in building new homes. Immediate objectives of the campaign will include the construction of several small "demonstration homes" by dealers and builders with newspaper advertising and publicity, inviting public inspection during construction and attendance at the formal opening upon completion.

A comprehensive newspaper advertising program, telling the story of the new amendments will also be undertaken, according to the FHA officials. Outdoor advertising, radio programs, direct mail campaigns, will also be carried on by the local Better Housing Committee, working in cooperation with the Federal Housing Administration.

Those attending last night's meeting were: Odessa, C. B. Mallett, P. G. Willis, E. C. Kenner, J. E. Perkins, I. E. Ellis, Wm. Watts, J. H. Hunter, C. A. Jones, C. N. Hodge, J. B. Hill, Joe Ruchs, J. Confession Discounted By Officers

Officials Declare Man Was in Asylum At Time of Crime

TACOMA, July 13. (P.)—Chief William Cole of the Washington highway patrol announced today he was convinced a man of many aliases who yesterday confessed the Mattson kidnaping was a "mental case" and had no part in the crime. He said the man would not be charged with the crime but probably would be given a sanity hearing.

The latest name given by the man was "Clarence White."

The state hospital in Spokane announced the man was an inmate there at the time of the Mattson kidnaping-slaying. He went under the name of Lester Mead at the hospital, and escaped this week.

TACOMA, Wash., July 13. (P.)—A man who State Patrol Chief William Cole said confessed the Mattson kidnaping-slaying of 1936, was held last night by authorities who reported the confession did not tally with all known facts in the case.

The man, identified by Cole as Frank Olson, 32, arrested at Ritzville, Wash., yesterday, was held in a downtown hotel while authorities checked his story in the death of Charles Mattson, 10, who was slain by his kidnaper.

R. C. Suran, agent in charge of the Seattle Federal Bureau of Investigation office, hurried here to participate in the questioning of the man. He said he had "no comment" to make as he left Seattle.

Several other persons, but added it did not check in several details with known facts in the kidnaping case.

"For that reason," Cole said "Olson is being questioned further and is being held without charge."

The patrol chief said several persons mentioned by Cole and produced alibis covering the period of the kidnaping. One man who was detained for investigation was released after some questioning.

Cole said Olson would be held "for several hours, perhaps all night" while investigation of the case was conducted.

Mrs. Mattson, reached on the telephone, said her family had had no notification an arrest had been made in the case.

The Post-Intelligencer quoted Sheriff Melvin Oestreich, Adams county and Capt. F. H. Morgan of the state patrol, as saying Olson surrendered to the sheriff at Ritzville, Wash., yesterday, and after questioning said he kidnaped and killed the Mattson boy a year and a half ago.

Olson implicated another Tacoma man, who also was taken into custody after Olson was brought by the officers to Tacoma yesterday.

Cole was quoted by the Post-Intelligencer as saying every possible confirmation of the confession would be sought before charges would be filed.

"We will be satisfied beyond any possibility of doubt that Olson is really the Mattson murderer before we surrender him to Snohomish county," Cole was quoted.

Roosevelt Is Urged To Seek Third Term By Steel Workers

SALT LAKE CITY, July 13. (P.)—Bearing a petition of 4,000 Pueblo steel workers urging him to seek a third term, President Roosevelt stopped here today and headed again westward into Nevada. BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Many outstanding economists in Washington are now beginning to believe that business has left the bottom of the 1937-38 depression and is proceeding upward toward another period of recovery.

Even some conservative experts who until recently feared that any marked early upturn would be followed by a sharp drop in business activity during autumn have now lost their skepticism. And many expect the wheels of industry to be whirling merrily by January.

Chief difference in confidential forecasts available is a diversity of opinion as to the probable rate of acceleration of the upswing.

The stock market is something else again. In the opinion of some of the leading government experts, who believe its recent spurt was not justified by the relatively small business pickup and that stock prices previously had held up well as compared with the precipitous decline of industrial production. A sharp market drop would cause no surprise in Washington.

FINANCE TRENDS
The Federal Reserve Board industrial production index figure of 76 showed no change for June, indicating a leveling off, and weekly indexes show something of a subsequent increase. Production fell off far more drastically than consumption until a few weeks ago.

Now, according to confidential new figures, department store sales—indicative of the retail trend—have stopped declining for the first time since last September, simultaneously with the first increases in production.

LONG ON NAME SHORT ON CASH

ANNOYANCE at the Hitler government's nonchalant policy toward payment of German—and Austrian—debts continues to spread. Even the New York Stock Exchange has made a unique application to the Securities and Exchange Commission for removal of a German bond issue from its list.

The telegraph office of one of the larger New Deal agencies is always on the watch for instances of possible lese majeste.

An editor of one of the agency's publications, needing a photograph of President Roosevelt but desiring something a bit more serious than his famous smile in full bloom, wired to a New York picture concern for a photo of Roosevelt "grinning." Considering the word somewhat disrespectful, telegraph office censors refused to clear it.

So the message went through for a picture of F. D. R. "smiling, not too broadly."

The securities involved are the German Central Bank for Agriculture Secured 6 Per Cent Loan Gold Sinking Fund Bonds of 1928, which matured April 15. Because of German foreign exchange restrictions, the bank was unable to provide dollars in New York for payment. So it offers other bonds or blocked checks, which can't get outside Germany.

The New York exchange's committee on stock and bond listing gave an opinion to SEC that it would be in the public interest to drop the listing of the bonds.

SEC had a hearing at which no opposition was registered, although it subsequently received a letter from the bank expressing concern in German, which required three days for translation. SEC is now considering. It nearly always follows the exchange's recommendation in such cases.

POLITICS IN TEXAS

This Family Doesn't Squawk--It Works

By NEA Service.

CUSHING, Okla.—Albert O'Dell brings home $135 a month from his job as section foreman on the MKT railroad.

That doesn't seem like much in these days. But the O'Dells make it cover the cost of rearing a family of 15 children, as fine, clean, and healthy as you ever saw.

A learned committee on population problems recently reported to the president that the U. S. population will reach a peak in 1938, the start of a decline. But a few more fathers like O'Dell could make the experts eat their words.

Far from being dismayed as their growing family outstrips the pay envelope, the O'Dells are proud, and happy—and smart. They don't mean about burdens. They figured things out.

To help reduce the grocery bill, they raise hogs and chickens, and cultivate a large truck garden. They keep cows to supply the family with milk and butter. Like other Katy section foremen, O'Dell occupies a house furnished by the company at $5 a month. That leaves only $130 a month for all other expenses.

So seven hogs which should yield 8000 pounds of meat for the winter are not too many. The three cows and 150 chickens produce no surplus for the market, but they provide the family with food that the $130 probably wouldn't buy at grocery or meat market.

Mrs. O'Dell believes in everybody taking a hand in bearing Healthy, proud, independent, and self-supporting are the Albert O'Dells of Cushing, Okla. 14 of whose 15 children are shown in the group above. Left to right are: Gretta Mae, 12; Lucille, 15; Lindberg, 11; Edgar, 23; Ramona, 9; Ila, 18; Henry, 7; O'Dell and Mrs. O'Dell; Shirley, 3; Grover, 10; David, 5; Harold, 26; Elizabeth, 22; Deloris, 6; and Evelyn, 14. Their youngest son, Robert, born June 12, is not included in the group.

the family burdens. So she manages the household in such a way that each child has daily chores.

The Town Quack

If you watched construction of the basement of the First National Bank's eight-story office building, you saw one of the most solidly built jobs ever turned out in Midland. The basement itself was built like a vault, and it will be further reinforced to house the bank's vaults themselves. Yesterday afternoon a truck rolled up from Houston carrying the vault door, and that door itself weighed 20,000 pounds. The U. S. treasury could use that new vault for handling its best stuff.

A former Midland man who now lives in California came through the other day and said he guessed Ralph Shuffler's town of Odessa was on another boom. He saw another tent going up as he came through. I'll keep on until I start that argument Ralph has been wanting. I see by Ralph's paper where he has employed a business manager. That's a good idea. According to Ralph's own statement, on his last vacation trip he had to float his own checks and then beat them home so he could prepare his banker for the shock. It will be Johnson's job to take care of such trivial details, along with meeting the payroll for the crew who stayed at home. But before you Midland merchants take too seriously the responsibility of this Odessa situation, consider the matter of feeding the Reporter-Telegram force.

The fastest animal on record is said to be a goat passing a Del Rio hospital.

To the Voters OF Midland County

Judge Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, Texas, is seeking re-election as Associate Justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals of the State of Texas.

He has had a long experience at the Bar, has served faithfully as a public servant, having been the watch dog of the State Treasurer for many years while he was a member of the House of Representatives of our State Legislature. He is an experienced lawyer in the trial of criminal cases, and since he has become a Justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals has given evidence of the soundness of his knowledge, of the fundamental soundness of the man, and that he believes in fundamental justice and right. He is a safe man to whom can be entrusted the passing on appeals of conviction in violation of our criminal laws.

We, the undersigned members of the Midland Bar Association, believe that he is a proper man to be elected, and believe that he will always serve the best interests of law enforcement within the State of Texas. We unhesitatingly recommend him to the Voters of Midland County as a good man of integrity, and a good lawyer of sound judgment.

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. Harvey Powledge Is Honoree at Surprise Shower on Tuesday Afternoon

Mrs. Harvey Powledge was honored at a surprise shower for which Mrs. Felix Stonehocker was hostess at the home of Mrs. Stacy Allen, 720 W. Storey, Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Zinnias predominated in decorations for the living room where vases of the vivid blooms were arranged on mantel and book cases. Roses and sweetpeas added variety to the summer blossoms used in the entertaining rooms.

A clever name contest was played with Mrs. Powledge and Miss Cordelia Taylor winning the prizes. Miss Taylor presented her award to the honoree.

Presentation of gifts was made in novel manner at the close of another contest in which Mrs. N. G. Oates and Mrs. Lynn Butler entered with suitcases from which they took articles of clothing and donned them to see which could first complete the task of dressing.

Mrs. Oates, as winner, presented the suitcase she carried to Mrs. Powledge with the remark that since she had won, the honoree might have the suitcase which pro-

Garden Apron Blossoms

(From Hammacher Schlemmer, New York.)

No, she hasn't draped odds and ends from the tool kit that belongs in the family car in fantastic array on her skirt. Nor has she been kneeling on a rubber beach pillow that, somehow, got sticky and stuck to her knees when she got up. She's just wearing one of the latest apron creations for women who do a-gardening go. Of printed cretonne, it is equipped with straps for pruning shears and other garden paraphernalia, a kneeling pad and huge pockets. Notice the kerchief, tied peasant-fashion about her head. This summer, kerchiefs are worn by smart women the world over for afternoon and evening as well as for active sports and gardening.

Mrs. Sidwell Teaches Lesson at Auxiliary Meeting

Business Girls' auxiliary of the Presbyterian church held a program meeting Tuesday evening with Miss Marguerite Bivens hostess at her home, 1009 W. Illinois, with Mrs. Fred Hallman as cohostess.

Mrs. Ernest Sidwell presented the lesson study for the evening, discussing the life of the Biblical character, Deborah.

The business discussion was led by the auxiliary president, Miss Zelah Gravette.

Four visitors were present including Miss Bivens' mother, Mrs. S. P. Park, Mrs. Sidwell, and two newcomers to Midland, Mrs. O. B. Aldridge and Miss Mary Rogers.

A refreshment plate was served to the visitors and the following members: Mrs. T. J. Potter, Clint Creech, Olin Fryar, Sherwood O'Neal, J. V. Ogle, L. H. Tiffin, Misses Maedelee Roberts, Lucille McMullan, Zelah Gravette, and the hostesses.

Pink Above Black

Another Mainbocher idea. The blouse is fine, dusty pink lace over a silk crepe foundation. The same lace, but in black, appears on the lightweight wool skirt in triple bands to form a hip yoke.

Damp Ironing.
Some materials look best when ironed nearly dry. Fabrics with a crepe, crinkled or pebbled weave are of this type.

DOCTOR'S ADVICE TO NEWLY-WEDS

The fashionable wedding was over. The bride and groom made a rush for their motor car to escape the rice and the ragging of their friends and were speeding away on their honeymoon. The ladies of the company remained to exchange greetings and express adulations over the beautiful ceremony, the loveliness of the bride and the brilliant future that awaits the newly-weds.

The father of the groom, a prominent Southern physician, wanders thoughtfully out into the corridor of the church where he meets a fellow physician, an old friend of the family. "Well, Doctor, your son is married and if he and his bride will keep all of the many vows that the minister made them promise, they should live most happily—for he made them promise nearly everything."

"But," said the wise old physician, "the minister overlooked the most important vow." "What's that, Doctor?" "He should have made them promise that when either of them became fretful, grouchy, and bilious, the other would promptly administer Calomel, for," said he, "biliousness is the cause of more family trouble, misunderstandings, fights and divorces, than almost any other factor."

Note.—This is a true story of a conversation between two physicians in the corridor of a fashionable church on Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga. (Printed as an advertisement by the maker—Celanese.)

Milk Valuable Food In Summer; Should Be Kept Carefully

Editor's Note: The following paper on the "Care of Milk in the Home" was presented as the chief feature of the weekly radio program broadcast over station KRLH this morning at 11 o'clock under auspices of the Midland county public health board. The paper, written by S. H. Osborn, M. D., was read by Miss M. Elizabeth Wilson, county health nurse.

When the hot days of summer arrive and the zest for food is on the ebb, one very sensibly turns to more simple foods. And one of these is milk. Already this habit has been acquired by many office workers as bottles of milk are appearing more frequently on the noon-day trays at cafeterias, and cereal and milk is becoming a favorite luncheon dish.

The housewife too is building more of her menus around milk, using ice-cold milk drinks and substituting simple milk desserts for the heavier ones of winter practice. In many homes there has been an increased use of milk during these last winter months, as a re-budgering of the waning family income has made it necessary to select those foods which would bring the best health returns for the money spent.

Keeping pace with this more extended use of milk are precautions for the production and distribution of safe milk throughout the state. To safeguard the public against the dangers of disease-laden milk Texas is rapidly increasing its area of tuberculin-tested cattle, the pasteurization of milk (milk heated to 145 degrees F. and held within 3 degrees of that temperature for 30 minutes) is more widely practiced to free it from possible disease germs, milk handlers are under control by local health authorities and milk sold to the consumer is largely bottled and must be served in its original container to individuals at restaurants and soda fountains.

The consumer also has some responsibility. Milk should be bottled and covered until used and at a temperature of 50 degrees or less. Refrigerator temperature should be checked as at a temperature above 50 degrees bacteria develop very rapidly and frequently cause foods to spoil. Milk should not be left out in the sun after delivery but placed at once in the ice box where a low temperature is maintained. Before pouring milk from the bottle, the top and neck should be carefully wiped with a clean cloth and then only as much milk as is needed at the time should be poured. Milk remaining in the pitcher after

Mrs. Skinner Is Hostess to Party For Chez les Amis

Mrs. John W. Skinner entertained for Chez les Amis club with a morning bridge and luncheon at her home, 1208 W. College, Tuesday.

Purple petunias were used in the living room where guests assembled at 9:30 o'clock.

Two tables of bridge occupied the group until one o'clock when a two-course luncheon was served. Green pottery vases filled with pink verbenas centered the quartet tables during the service hour.

Mrs. Roy Downey was a guest. Club members present were: Mrs. Bill Collins, Bob Clarke, B. W. Stevens, Hoyt McClendon, Sam Giesey, Payton Thurmon, and the hostess.

Feminine Fancies

The Christian Science Monitor, that newspaper which has proved that a publication can make its own rules of conduct and still make a success in the printing world, tells of the newest trend in flower arrangement for the dining table.

This is to have a glass-lined trough sunk into the center of the table and filled with flat-lying blossoms such as primroses.

Having the flowers level with the table in this way is said to be quite effective, giving the general impression of looking into a garden bed.

A quite striking and novel idea, we are willing to admit. But one that is rather hard on the table—and the pocketbook of the owner. Those who have only one dining table will probably omit the trough and muddle along with flowers in vases and bowls.

Speaking of vases and bowls, we have a sentimental leaning toward those graceful vases of simple lines which are now available in pottery of the softest green. Their Grecian lines have a "rightness" which is hard to explain unless one is an artist but which even the least artist pouring, should not be returned to the bottle as it may affect the rest of the milk. Milk should always be covered in the refrigerator as it may absorb odors from other foods.

Milk is a safe and nutritious food. Every member of the family needs milk and would do well to use milk liberally during the summer months.

Unsophisticated, guileless and essentially cool-looking, is this Mainbocher afternoon dress, which features the schoolgirl silhouette. It is made of multi-color striped net and is worn over a black silk crepe sheath.

For Snowy Linens.

White cottons or linens require about a half hour's soaking in warm soap suds. Wash thoroughly, giving special attention to the most soiled sections, such as collars and cuffs, rinse in hot water until every bit of the soapy water is entirely rinsed away. Blue, if necessary, and hang in the sun. If further bleaching is required, wet the clothes again and dry once more in the sunshine.

CARDINALS AND PIONEERS BATTLE FOR SECOND HERE TONIGHT

RED BIRDS LOSE FINAL GAME OF SERIES TO WINK

The Midland Cardinals returned home today after a road trip on which they won four and lost four and tonight at 8:30 will play the Clovis Pioneers in the first of a two game series.

The Cardinals lost to Wink last night, 1-10, to drop a half game behind Clovis again in their ding-dong battle for second place. Clovis overpowered Hobbs, 20-9, and will be risking their second place crown in tonight's game.

The Pioneers have won six of their last eight games including three in a row against the league leading Lubbock Hubbers. The two losses were inflicted by Midland in a series closing last Sunday.

After the game here tomorrow night with Clovis, the Cards will leave for Lubbock where they will play Friday and Saturday. They return here Sunday for a double-header with Hobbs and one game with the same club Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the Wink club will be here.

In the game last night, "Molly" Ferguson hand-cuffed the Cards giving up only four hits, striking out nine and walking none. The Spudders, meanwhile, were gathering 14 safeties off two Midland hurlers. Eight hits and nine runs came off Soule, starting hurler and six hits and two runs were made off Nelson.

A circuit blow over the center field wall by Morris was the only run Ferguson gave up. Morris also got a single to gain half the Midland hit. Jubela and Rey of Wink divided batting honors, each getting three singles in five trips to the plate.

Kindly Gabby Street Cracks Down At Browns Stay in Dizzy Tailspin

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service.
NEW YORK.—Charles Eward Street, long a hard guy of baseball, mellowed with age . . . became a kindly soul.

Gabby Street was the good-fellow type of manager when he swept the Cardinals to National League pennants in 1930 and '31 . . . to a spectacular victory over the Athletics in the world series the latter fall.

With the Red Birds some dozen games behind the leaders, Aug. 1, 1930, the Old Sarge kept plugging away . . . always cheerful. As director of the last-place Browns today, Street is still trying, isn't exactly glum, and remains in a happy frame of mind. "I never go to a ball park with the idea of losing," says the hero of St. Mihiel, which is a new high note in optimism coming from the foreman of an outfit like the current St. Louis American League club.

But Street has grown tired of losing, and has cracked down on his athletes for the first time.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP FAILING, STREET USES MAILED FIST.
He fined Oral Hildebrand $50 for failing to cover first base. He docked Jim Walkup four days' pay and suspended him for seven more days for insubordination, after the Arkansan touched off a five-run White Sox rally by walking Pitcher Johnny Whitehead at Comiskey park with two out.

Street couldn't understand Walkup's inability to get a single ball over the plate to a gent as large as Whitehead, and particularly a pitcher. It was the ninth consecutive time that Walkup had failed to finish or win, and the grizzled pilot blew up when the right-hander popped off.

Gabby isn't worried about losing his job. "I've lost them before," he smiles.

He laughs at the story about a petition being circulated through Sportsman's park demanding his scalp. "How do they expect me to win with a pitcher and a half and one 300 hitter?" asks the Old Sarge, who insists that he would act as valet for a half-way decent relief worker.

BROWNS FLOP WITH FAILURE OF BELL AND CLIFT TO HIT.
Next to poor pitching, Street

Before

Gabby Street

After

traces the flop of the Browns to the failure of Roy Chester Bell and Harland Clift to hit. Beau Bell batted .344 and drove in 123 runs in 1936, compiled a .340 average, and batted in 117 runs last season. Clift hit .295 in '35, .302 in '36, and .306 in '37. His total base figure was 312 last trip and he chased 118 runs across the plate.

Bell is now hitting just .236, and Clift .263.

"And to think of the deals we could have had for them last winter," remarks Street. But Gabby has hope. The Cardinal farm system required five years to bring results.

The Browns now own three minor league clubs outright and have working agreements with 11 others. They have one of the finest second basing combinations in the minors at San Antonio in Sigmund Gryska and Johnny Berdino, and promising pitchers there in Kramer, Bill Trotter, and Kimberlin. Emilio Bildilli, Brown property, turned in a couple of eye-batters in bagging 10 straight for Springfield of the Three Eye.

Gabby Street, the optimist, chooses to believe that there are better days ahead, but meanwhile he has cracked down. Who wouldn't?

Farmer's Blue Literally But He Is Cheerful

BATON ROUGE, La. (U.P.)—Sidney Woods, Holden, La., farmer, has been blue for the past seven years.

His body lost its natural color after he took silver nitrate for a stomach ailment. During warm weather the blue tone is intensified by the heat.

Woods has become accustomed to his condition and even declined to take a treatment which might have restored him to normalcy. There was, however, a chance that instead of being successful, the treatment would have left him with several other colors. Rather than resemble an artist's palette, the farmer decided to remain blue.

His temperament is cheerful and he's used to being question about the change. Woods held a public position at the time of his illness, but quit because his new appearance frightened people. It was then that he retired to his farm 30 miles east of here with his wife and three children.

A marsh rabbit, which takes to water readily, has partially webbed hind feet.

To the Voters of Midland County

An Open Answer to Veiled Propaganda

The following statement is made in answer to propaganda to the effect that I, J. M. SPEED, as your next Sheriff, might close legitimate businesses.

DO NOT BE MISLED; I am 100% for a greater and better Midland County, and will do everything consistent to promote the growth and progress of our community.

The laws of the State of Texas are enacted by the STATE LEGISLATURE. The ENFORCEMENT of such duly enacted laws is delegated to the offices of the County Sheriffs.

THE SHERIFF DOES NOT MAKE THE LAWS, nor does he have power to exercise any process or regulation without authority provided by the statutes for such action.

I CAN ENACT NO LAWS OF MY OWN. I CAN proceed only by the authority given me by the State of Texas and the People of Midland County in the handling of the business of the County.

I will not interfere with the peaceful conduct of any LAW-FUL BUSINESS, BUT LAW VIOLATORS WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO MULCT THE PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTY, under my administration.

With the support of the voters of MIDLAND COUNTY, I will be elected your next Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector, and will enforce the law to the satisfaction of all LAW ABIDING CITIZENS.

Yours truly,
J. M. SPEED

Geo. Shelburne led the memorial service and called for silent prayer in commemoration of oldtimers who have died since the last reunion, eight names being on the obituary list.

Informal talks were made by old settlers.

A basket lunch was served with Rev. Fred McPherson, Baptist pastor at Stanton, offering the invocation preceding the meal.

In the annual business session, W. Y. (Dick) Houston was elected president of the Old Settlers' Association to succeed Bill Wilkinson. L. M. (Jack) Estes, former commissioner of Midland county was elected vice president.

Midland visitors reported large attendance and an enjoyable evening at the affair.

Billy Noble will again enact the role of the Old Observer in the dramatization, assisted by Freddie Turner and Marvin Park.

The programs are being presented each Thursday at the hour named and the public is invited to tune in. They are being well-received by hearers, the sponsors report.

School Most Unusual

Now he conducts what is probably the world's recruiting school for the thing of which he is past master.

Three or four times a week, his class meets at the Young Men's Christian Association, where Piers also is night secretary. The oldest of his students is a business man in his 50's; the youngest, a high school boy of 15.

For beginners, Piers provides safety belts tied to ropes in the ceiling. For everybody, there are soft mats to break falls.

Piers himself shows his students how it should be done. Although in his 50's, he twists through the air in triple-bar gymnastics.

Never Seriously Injured.

"Dangerous? I don't think so," said Piers. "In all my years I've never broken anything. A few scratches, one or two sprains. That's all. And I've taught dozens; not one of them has ever been hurt."

Every three or four months, sometimes more often, one of Piers' graduates gets a job. With times looking up for the circus, particularly the one and two ring kind, and carnival, careers also look better for trapeze students.

Last of the class to get a job was Frank Lovoi, who studied four years. He will join the Parker & Waitis circus in November.

Fund to Fight Spotted Fever

HAMILTON, Mont. (U.P.)—Amunition for the Federal government's hypodermic artillery in the war against dreaded spotted fever will be increased with the additional appropriation of $25,000 for the U. S. Public Health Service laboratories here.

The war against the fever, started 13 years ago, has spread over the country where the diminutive Rocky Mountain wood tick resides. The money will be used for the construction of a third unit for the government laboratories manufacturing vaccine to fight the fever which already this year has taken several lives among the scores of persons infected. Construction is expected to be completed next year.

The enemy in the fight against the infection is dermacentor ant-personal stiles—a wood tick with a bite as ominous as the sound of its scientific name.

Once Considered Mere Pest.

Thirty-five years ago fishermen, hikers and hunters knew the wood tick merely as a troublesome pest that would keep them awake unless removed after a day's sport in the mountains.

Not until Dr. L. B. Wilson and Dr. W. M. Chouvenet of the University of Minnesota started a study of the fever was it traced to the troublesome wood tick. Formerly the fever was attributed to contaminated drinking water.

The public health service became interested in the disease and in 1925 Dr. R. R. Parker of the Montana state board of entomology and Dr. R. R. Spencer of the public health service perfected the vaccine now manufactured at Hamilton for use throughout the United States and many foreign countries.

Vaccine Made From Ticks.

Unlike serums, which are made from animal blood, spotted fever vaccine is made from the tissues of the carrier tick. Annually crews are sent through the low brush and grasslands of Montana game trails to gather ticks. They carry flannel flags which they drag through the bushes and over the ground. In the laboratory the ticks are fed on rabbits and are allowed to reproduce. Each year the laboratory raises approximately 50,000,000 ticks which are either immediately utilized for vaccine or placed in cold storage until ready for use.

As this laboratory's product is the only known preventive, and since it is impossible to vaccinate everyone, authorities of the public health service said spotted fever would be a menace.

In addition to studying fever the research workers in the $400,000 plant here study and experiment with typhemia, relapsing fever, bubonic plague and tick paralysis.

Football Players Dumbest Students

DALLAS, (U.P.)—Football players who participate in no other college sport are the dumbest athletes as a group if grades assembled by John S. Windell in a graduate thesis at Southern Methodist University correctly represent the academic ability of athletes.

Windell examined the scholastic records of 1287 athletes at S. M. U., T. C. U., Simmons, North Texas Teachers, Stephen F. Austin Teachers, Southwest Texas Teachers, and East Texas Teachers.

Dividing the athletes into those who lettered only in football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, or golf, and those who lettered in two, three, four, or five sports, Windell found that the highest grades were made by the five-letter man, but as only one of the 1287 athletes lettered in five sports, he did not consider this conclusive evidence that five-sport men were better students.

Ranking second academically were the tennis players, with track men, golfers, three-lettermen, four-lettermen, baseball players, two-lettermen, basketball players, and then the football players next in order.

Reasons suggested by Windell why football players rank lower than other athletes include long absences from classes because of trips, long practice sessions, and too much attention paid to reading what the sports columnists say about them.

Windell explained the low standing of the basketball players by the fact that many are country boys who enter the universities without the necessary foundation in literary studies. The author said that students participating in sports requiring individual effort outrank those who compete in sports involving team play.

Limitation of the number of sports in which an athlete may compete would not solve the academic question of grades, results obtained by Windell indicate.

Although he is getting white-haired.

He left the sawdust, the big-top and the grease paint, years ago. Previously, Piers played on bills from New Orleans to New York with Will Rogers, Marie Dressler, Eddie Cantor and W. C. Fields.

At that time it seemed as if the roar of the crowds, the tanfare of the circus band and the lure of show travel was over for him. It was, partly. But Piers got to needing money, and happily combined the means to get it and the means to satisfy his longing for the "hickory stick" at one time.
