

The Romance of News! — by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Story Behind a 90th Anniversary

Twenty-seven Presidents ago, young Sam Topliff braved Boston's dark harbor in a rowboat to report on one of the encounters out of which grew the War of 1812. In 1828, sailing sloops replaced rowboats and raced each other to deliver news. Still later, carrier pigeons became news hawks.

Fixed bayonets sweep Nippon's flag into a shell-smashed Chinese village. . . . Lights burn at 10 Downing Street while Britain grapples with an empire crisis. . . . An heiress elopes with a hog caller. . . . The Department of Justice uncovers a new nest of international spies . . . and even as these events occur detailed accounts stream over 285,000 miles of Associated Press news wires to 1,400 member newspapers all over the nation.

Do you know the 90-year story of this AP?

On a black November night in 1811 young Samuel Topliff shoved his rowboat into Boston harbor to learn the cause of distant cannonading. His perilous trip—guns of a British fleet were sounding the prelude to the War of 1812—was the first systematic attempt to gather news.

Out of that plucky beginning grew the first important news gathering organization, founded in 1848. It was called The Associated Press. The year 1938 marked the 90th anniversary of that name in newspaperdom.

In Topliff's time there were few daily newspapers; they printed little news because they had no way of obtaining it. There were no big cities, no telegraph, telephone, oceanic cable, wireless.

As the country grew, mechanical means for transmitting news developed apace with a mounting demand for public information. The years, however, showed one potential flaw in the early news gathering system. It was a proprietary commercial organization and there was the danger that private interests might prostitute the news for personal profit.

One far-sighted publisher, Victor Lawson of the Chicago Daily News, recognized this peril. Staunch believer in the need for an uncontrolled press, he led what has become known as "The Revolution of 1893." This ended the old private news monopoly. In its place, Lawson and his allies set up the new Associated Press—first and only world-wide, non-profit, cooperative news gathering organization, dedicated to ideals of accuracy and impartiality.

In 1900 AP's maximum news output was 15,000 words a day to 612 members. Today 1,400 member newspapers are linked in a 285,000 mile wire network which transmits 200,000 words every 24 hours.

Once the AP staff was a mere handful. Today 100,000 men and women, directly or indirectly, help gather and transmit each day's report. Once $10,000 covered AP's budget. Today it exceeds $10,000,000 annually, yet the organization makes no profits, declares no dividends.

In every country, in every state, news bureaus operate. In virtually every hamlet on the globe there is a correspondent. Bureau staffs range from a single reporter to as many as 500 employees.

All this is a far cry from Topliff's primitive day. Not the least of today's wonders is Wirephoto, which transmits AP pictures from coast to coast with the speed of light.

A Board of Directors, composed of eighteen publishers, is responsible to the membership. In active charge of the world-wide organization is the General Manager. Throughout newspaperdom he is familiarly known as "The Managing Editor of The World."

Over an ever-widening web, news hummed across the nation. The San Francisco earthquake occurred in 1906. The auto around which the AP news staff congregated is modeled today, but it was ultra-modern then. Now even foreign correspondents use the latest method of transportation—the airplane.

The first AP foreign correspondent entered Europe in 1866. Today, thousands of American-trained reporters cover and cable every piece of foreign news to New York for relay over the vast wire network of member papers. One correspondent penetrates the Ethiopian war zone; another turns delivery man to reach the Duke of Windsor and his bride in their guarded chateau.

Thousands of automatic machines rush all the news to waiting front pages. The machines never stop; the offices never close. Through the greatest transmission feat of modern times, WIREPHOTO machines also send pictures over parallel circuits. Thus, news and pictures now ride the wires side by side destined to reach millions of newspaper readers only minutes after any event, anywhere.

Next came pony express to connect New York and Washington, with 24 horses racing night and day. They galloped woodland trails, swam rivers. In 1844, science stepped in. Samuel F. B. Morse's first telegraph tick-ticked the famous message "W-H-A-T H-A-T-H G-O-D W-R-O-U-G-H-T."

No matter where news breaks—a reporter is there to get the story. . . . Tireless reporters and editors work at candle-lighted desks in darkened flood areas. They're equally alert at political conventions. Coverage of elections is so accurate that the government accepts AP's findings weeks in advance of the official count.

Photographic history was made during the Civil War with pictures of soldiers on the march. But as late as 1890, papers considered news pictures a fad. Now, hundreds of cameramen risk their lives in perilous places, side by side with reporters. In war-torn Ethiopia, one cameraman follows the troops; another rides a steel cable for his pictures of a domestic disaster.

Rock Springs Youth Wins A & M Award

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Horace Brown, 17, of Rock Springs has been named winner of the Lulling Foundation Farm award for 1938-39. Dean E. J. Kyle of the Texas A and M. College School of Agriculture, announces.

Under the award, Brown will work at the Lulling Foundation for one year, where he will have opportunity to study dairy, poultry, sheep, hogs and general farm practices. He will receive maintenance and a salary.

In addition, young men eligible to enter Texas A. and M. College after spending a year at the Lulling Foundation, may receive a $200 scholarship payable at the rate of $50 yearly and is enough to pay the boys' matriculation fees at the college.

Brown won the award for work done the past three years as a Future Farmer of America. His project for the past year was raising sheep for wool. He began when he was given a heifer calf, which he traded for ewes. From these he built his flock which grazes on the 8.21 acres of land he purchased and the 225 he rents, paying the rental by giving the owner all mutton lambs. The ewes he retained to increase his flock.

Sheep Spend Half of The Time at Eating

SONORA (AP)—It makes no difference in the life of a sheep, but findings at the ranch experiment station near here show a range sheep spends half its life feeding, around 13 per cent traveling, about one-third of one percent of its time licking salt and a similar period drinking water.

The average sheep day is 13.2 hours while the average "animal day" for a goat is around 12.8 hours. Experiments at the station show that in pastures averaging slightly less than one section, the daily travel of sheep averages 3.8 miles and six miles for goats.

The turf-forming grasses, curly mesquite and buffalo, furnish 50 per cent of the grazing of goats and 53 per cent for sheep. Weeds furnish 21 per cent of goat grazing and 24 per cent for sheep. The live oak supplies 63 per cent of the browsing for sheep and 55 per cent for goats. The ill-scented sumac is browsed upon by sheep, as second in importance to the oak, but goats turn to shin oak for their second most important browsing.

Of the sheep's "animal day" of 794 minutes, the time is spent, according to the findings at the ranch station, as follows: traveling, 106.8 minutes; feeding, 396.8 minutes; licking salt, 2.5 minutes; drinking water, 1 minute; resting 122.5 minutes; ruminating, 78.4 minutes; idling, 86.2 minutes.

Of the goat's "animal day" of 768 minutes, 148.4 minutes are spent traveling; 351.2 minutes feeding; 27 minutes licking salt; drinking water, 9 of a minute; resting, 121.5 minutes; ruminating, 83.5 minutes, and idling, 60.5 minutes.

Deer Hunter First To Find Wind Cave

HOT SPRINGS, S. Dak. — A strange whistling noise that aroused the curiosity of a Black Hills deer hunter, led to discovery of the fantastic subterranean chambers that comprise the major attraction in the Wind Cave National Park.

The whistling is caused by a strong current of wind blowing through a small vent in a formation of rocks—the only natural opening that has ever been found to this underground Fairyland. Inside the cave, now reached by trail and elevator, are formations of box-work, not found elsewhere in the United States. These consist of delicately colored crystal fins, arranged in honeycomb pattern. Tiny white crystals, super-imposed on a pink or tan background, also are prevalent, hanging like frost from ceilings and ledges. Stalactites and stalagmites, such as are found on a small scale in caves of the Dead-horse Mountains, in the proposed Big Bend National Park in Texas, are practically non-existent. These are the formations of the Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

The wind phenomenon is believed to result from changes in the atmospheric pressure outside. When the barometer is falling, the wind usually blows outward; when it rises, the wind blows inward. The Wind Cave National Park, ten miles from Hot Springs, was established in 1903. The limestone cavern is approximately ten miles

Salt in Water Is Urged by Physician

AUSTIN—If your work is such that it causes excessive perspiration, add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water you take to help prevent heat cramps. This is advised by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, to prevent a possible increase in the number of heat victims as the Texas thermometer hits 95 degrees and above.

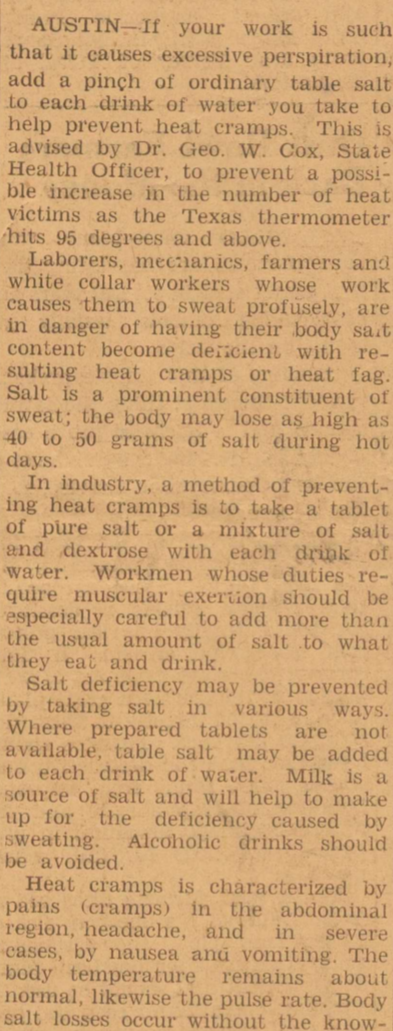

Laborers, mechanics, farmers and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely, are in danger of having their body salt content become deficient with resulting heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat; the body may lose as high as 40 to 50 grams of salt during hot days.

In industry, a method of preventing heat cramps is to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to what they eat and drink.

Salt deficiency may be prevented by taking salt in various ways. Where prepared tablets are not available, table salt may be added to each drink of water. Milk is a source of salt and will help to make up for the deficiency caused by sweating. Alcoholic drinks should be avoided.

Heat cramps are characterized by pains (cramps) in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases, by nausea and vomiting. The body temperature remains about normal, likewise the pulse rate. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until there is a deficiency; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp.

Speaking of the Governor's Job....

TEXAS NEEDS A LEADER

ERNEST THOMPSON

Trained...Talented...Tested

Qualified for the Governor's Job by a Sound Record of Public Service

WHAT HE HAS DONE!

As Mayor of Amarillo, he saved citizens nearly a million dollars a year by cutting every utility rate in the city and lowering the tax levy.

As Texas Railroad Commissioner, he assisted the farmer through lower freight rates and the livestock industry with emergency drouth rates; brought many millions of dollars to the school fund by sensible supervision of the Texas oil industry; helped lower the gas rates in scores of Texas towns.

As a man, whose boyhood was spent at hard work, he has achieved a brilliant record of private and public service, fought for his country with high honors during the World War, is chairman of the Oil States Compact Commission, has earned the respect and admiration of straight-thinking people all over the nation.

WHAT HE WILL DO!

Tackle the farm problem with both fists and help the farmer and rancher work out a solution that will take the penalty off owning or working a farm or ranch—his belief being that the farmer is entitled to a fair profit, the same as any other man.

Urge the legislature to change the old age assistance law so that no needy old person will be denied a pension merely because a son or daughter happens to have a job.

Actively encourage industrial expansion to relieve unemployment; wage war on governmental waste and fight new taxes; and advocate state control and regulation of all utilities.

summer school at the University, Miss Olga Juniger, supervisor of the educational division of the insurance department said. These courses are taught in many towns and rural schools, which receive actual monetary benefit from the installation of such courses as well as benefits in safety of life and property, she added. Towns which inaugurate fire prevention courses in their public schools are accorded reductions in their fire insurance rates, while rural school districts teaching the courses receive reductions in school property valuations.

Indicative of the tendency among the school children to relate their posters to modern times and to their recent experiences is shown by the fact that in the last contest approximately thirty entries had for their theme "Snow White and the Seven

Unusual Dog Is Dead; Obeyed Phone Orders

REGINA, Sask. (UP)—Dinty Moore, Saskatchewan's most unusual dog, is dead. He took orders—and obeyed them—over a telephone.

His owner left his car and the dog at a garage one day. The dog refused to let the mechanic into the car. Then he thought of phoning the owner. He asked the owner to speak to the dog over the phone. The phone line was extended and pulled out to the car and the owner shouted, "Come home," into the dog's ear.

The dog was off like a shot and on his way home.

Mr. Kellam said that students who wish to apply for NYA Student Aid jobs should communicate with the principal or superintendent of the school or the president of the college they wish to attend, since these officials select the students for NYA jobs at the institutions over which they have supervision.

CARDS DEFEAT HOBBS, GAIN ON HUBBERS

DOUBLEHEADER IS SLATED TODAY AND TONIGHT: WINK

The Midland Cardinals took things easy last night while handling the Hobbs Boosters an 11-4 defeat and climbing within one game of the title Lubbock Hubbers. The Lubbock-Big Spring game was rained out, giving the Cards a chance to further tighten the race between the two clubs.

The Cardinals will meet the Wink Spudders here in a game this afternoon, another tonight and a third tomorrow night. The first game was scheduled to start at 4 o'clock this afternoon and both night games are to start at 8:30. The Spudders have been having more than their share of trouble lately because of the recall of their clean-up hitter, Fullenwider, and departure from the club of "Red" Roberts, one of the league's leading pitchers. Fullenwider was leading the club in home runs and hitting, being one of the two Spudders batting over .300.

In last night's game, the Cardinals made five runs in the first inning and three in the second to let Tommy Warren coast to his eleventh victory. The Indian gave up only six hits, one of them a home run by Smyly and was never in danger. The Boosters never got around to home base until Smyly got his four-ply blow with a couple of mates aboard in the seventh. The other tally came in the eighth.

Righthander Keller, picked up by Hobbs after drawing his release from Big Spring, started on the mound for the visitors and gave up eight runs before he was derricked with two out in the second. Hogan, who was knocked out of the box Sunday by the Cardinals, relieved Keller and gave up the remaining three runs, only one of which was earned.

Big Jake Suytar paced the Cardinal hitting attack with a double and his twenty-sixth homer of the season. Guinn and Beers also came through with two doubles each to drive in seven runs.

Irishman's Flight Causes Joy, Worry For Air Bureau Head

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—A man named Mulligan was torn between pride and duty Monday on learning that a broh of a lad named Corrigan had flown the Atlantic to Dublin in an old "crate."

The first reaction of Dennis Mulligan, chief of the Air Commission Bureau, on hearing the news, was joy and he gave vent to it with a hearty exclamation "It's a great day for the Irish!"

But Mulligan was a bit flabbergasted when, as head of a government bureau, he remembered that Corrigan had no permit to fly the Atlantic, no passport, no visa—that, in fact, the whole flight was a jaunty-nose-thumbing gesture toward federal authority.

It was apparent that Mulligan's impulse was to forgive and forget, but he couldn't quite bring himself to say so. He said something about "considering the case." The maximum penalty for flying the ocean without a permit is a $500 fine and loss of pilot's license, but it was indicated that Corrigan's punishment, if any, would be nothing like so severe as that.

Officials of the air commerce bureau expressed fervent hope that Corrigan, having accomplished his feat safely, would not try to fly back, and they warned other fliers of trying to emulate him.

Thompson Pushes Campaign With Speech in Austin

AUSTIN, July 19. (AP)—Ernest Thompson pushed on today in his vigorous quest for votes to put him in the gubernatorial run-off after Saturday's first primary election.

After addressing an attentive crowd estimated at 7,500 here Monday night, he spoke at Lagrange at 11 a. m., at Columbus at noon, at Hallettsville and Rosenberg this afternoon and will wind up tonight at Houston.

Thompson was the last candidate for governor who will speak at Austin during the first primary, and he took advantage of the occasion to outline the entire program he hopes to carry through. He dwelt on his industrial expansion plank which he said would mean prosperity for the entire state by affecting every sort of business for the better.

The candidate's remarks drew frequent applause and his homely witticisms got many laughs. He stuck to his policy of talking only of his own record and platform and did not refer, directly or indirectly, to any opponent.

Before Thompson spoke the following telegram from Amarillo was read to the crowd:

"Son, I am thankful for your clean campaign. Keep it that way. Mother."

Mrs. Z. T. Scott, wife of a prominent Austin physician and one of Thompson's ardent campaign workers, presided at the rally. The candidate was introduced by B. H. Bloor of Austin.

Speakers from half a dozen central Texas towns brought greetings and confident assurances of support in brief preliminary speeches. Foremost was the white-bearded patriarch of Seguin, former Sen. F. C. Weinert, who said he liked Thompson's program because "what Texas makes makes Texas, and I am for a Texas man for governor, Mr. Thompson."

Thompson has night engagements at Houston, Dallas, Tyler and Greenville this week.

Mule Rides Strawstack In Flood, Loses Life

MEXIA, Tex. (UP)—Kenneth Parrish's mule hitch-hiked a ride on a strawstack during a recent flood and that trip was fatal.

Flooded Mustang creek surged over its banks and the mule scrambled on top of the stack. The waters swept the straw 1,000 feet and dumped the mule into a barbed wire fence. The mule's injuries were so serious that the animal was destroyed.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 88th LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT

As the campaign draws to a close, I realize that I have been unable to see every one. For this I am deeply sorry. However, I have been compelled to attend to my job and but a portion of the time could be devoted to "getting acquainted." It has been no little pleasure to have met so many fine people of West Texas—always my home—and to have contacted all would have been a rich experience. This, then, must be my last solicitation for your support. Elect me your representative and I will serve you with conscious sincerity in all things.

Yours very truly,
