

2 Feared Dead in Odessa Accident Governor-Elect O'Daniel to Attend Rodeo Here Labor Day

Warning to Nazis Party Is Projected

Any Aggression of Czechoslovakia to Call for Action

LONDON, Aug. 30. (AP).—Britain and France today took emergency action to prevent war, but at the same time prepared to meet the conflict if it comes.

Cabinet members of both countries meeting simultaneously mist the heaviest war clouds since 1914, gave unanimous approval of steps foreign minister had taken in the Czechoslovak crisis and agreed on policies of the future.

It was believed the British had decided to make a calm and firm final demand Germany halt her campaign of hate against Czechoslovakia.

The French cabinet voted to lengthen working hours in national defense, public service and "public safety" industries and gave itself virtual power to mobilize the country's industrial layout if necessary.

Actions of the cabinet indicated the probability of strong coordinated action by both countries.

German-Czechoslovak tension was increased by additional German protests against insults to the German army by a Czechoslovak newspaper and continued Czech-Sudeten clashes police termed "street brawls."

General uneasiness was felt because of German naval maneuvers in the North Sea, possibly lasting until the middle of September, and British maneuvers at the same place beginning next week; also German orders retaining portions of the conscripted army "under colors" after training had been completed.

German newspapers said Lord Runciman had presented an ultimatum to Henlein demanding mediation within two days. Czechs denied this but increasing pressure on the situation was obvious.

The Czech populace was quiet and calm on the surface.

In the far east, Japanese War Minister Itagaki blasted early peace hopes in China by demanding the strengthening of forces on the Sibirian frontier. He said more border incidents were liable to occur, and expressed doubt Japan would accept even the unconditional surrender of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. He repeated the Japanese determination to crush the Chinese regime.

"This policy is absolutely unchangeable," he said.

LONDON, Aug. 30. (AP).—A bold warning against any German aggression against Czechoslovakia was understood projected yesterday by key British ministers to check the dangerous drift of European events.

Informed sources suggested such a warning might be directed personally by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to Chancellor Adolf Hitler who inspected Germany's frontier fortifications facing France.

The final decision, however, rested with the cabinet. It will meet today to pass judgment on the prime minister's plans for easing the crisis welling from the dispute between Czechoslovakia and her German minority.

As a prelude to the cabinet meeting, Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, reported to Chamberlain and other ministers on Germany's present attitude and intentions toward Czechoslovakia's minority problem.

A direct meeting between the prime minister and an ambassador was pointed out as an unusual occurrence.

In weighing the outlook for the future, informed sources said they considered Hitler held the upper hand in event of a sudden open conflict because of German maneuvers which begin next Thursday and for which an estimated minimum of 1,000,000 men will be under arms.

Military attaches said Germany thus would be fully ten days ahead of any other country should war break out suddenly.

This was interpreted as meaning any British cabinet action certainly would fall short of threatening Germany with the possibility of armed reprisals either in the form of war or support of France if she should feel compelled to assist Czechoslovakia under the French-Czechoslovakia mutual assistance pact.

Why Hungary Ties to German Star

TERRITORY LOST BY HUNGARY

The map above shows why once-powerful Hungary has reason to line up with Hitler's Germany. The visit of Regent Nicholas Horthy, left, Hungary's "uncrowned king," to Berlin has brought reports that henceforth Hitler will be allowed to use Hungary as a springboard for economic penetration in the Balkans in return for formidable military protection. The Little Entente, composed of Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania, all of which countries gained large chunks of Hungary after the war—opposes German-Hungarian friendship because of Hungary's key position. Hitler reportedly has guaranteed the boundaries of Hungary, and Hungary will benefit territorially at the Entente's expense.

VIRGINIANS HERE.

R. J. May of Mathias, W. Va., and Glade Sonder, J. S. Whitmore, and Lester Runion of Broadway, Va., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Hedrick. They were returning from the Pacific coast where they had been touring for the past month through the southern states to their homes in the east.

'Hill Billy' Band Will Be With Leader Acceptance of Invitation Is Announced Today

Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel is coming.

Definite answer to an invitation to attend the Midland Rodeo was received by Clarence Scharbauer, president of Midland Fair, Inc., this morning in a telephone conversation with John N. Sparks, president of the First National Bank of Ft. Worth.

Mr. O'Daniel and a party of twelve, including the famous Hill Billy Band, will arrive here Monday morning, remaining all day, Mr. Sparks said.

Fair officials have awaited expectantly the news from the governor-elect since calling on him personally shortly over a week ago. At that time Mr. O'Daniel said he had so many calls and invitations that it was impossible to say whether he could be here, but that he would do everything possible to arrange the date. He said many of his Fort Worth friends had requested him to attend the Midland Rodeo, because of the fact that thousands of residents of the Permian Basin, who had not had an opportunity to meet the newly nominated official, were anxious to see him here.

Mr. Scharbauer reserved the "state suite" of Hotel Scharbauer for the guests and said everything possible would be done to make their visit to Midland and to the mammoth rodeo an enjoyable one.

It will be the last day of the rodeo and is expected to set by far the greatest attendance figures ever recorded since construction of the fair plant in October 1935.

"You can give it all the publicity you like," Mr. Sparks said in the conversation with Clarence Scharbauer. Dispatches were sent at once to The Associated Press and to state papers, with stories also being mailed to weekly and daily papers of the Permian Basin.

Nine Mexicans Die In Monterrey Flood

MONTERREY, Aug. 30. (AP).—Twenty-five homeless sought food and shelter today as this flood and hurricane stricken city counted ten dead and expected to find many more bodies, and estimated the damage at more than 1,000,000 pesos.

Red Cross, municipal, state and military facilities were taxed. Several American tourists were marooned one mile west of Monterrey. No word as to their safety has been received.

The Rio Grande continued to rise and meteorologists predicted flood over low land. They predicted "probably more water than in July."

MONTERREY, Mex., Aug. 30. (AP).—Jose C. Pizwell, city editor of El Provenir, Monterrey newspaper, said last night that nine were known dead and 400 families homeless after gales and floodwaters swept this area yesterday.

"We cannot estimate the consequences," said Pizwell. "Hundreds are homeless, without food, drink or clothes. We do not know for sure, but there apparently were many tourists caught in the storm on the road to Mexico City and Ciudad Victoria. It is believed here that the storm which struck here was mild compared with the havoc wrought at Ciudad Victoria, which still is cut off from the outside world."

No Americans were among the nine known dead, but it was reported that the automobiles of several Americans, returning to Monterrey from Chipinque, a resort high in the hills, were swept away by a wall of water which descended the Santa Catalina River.

Saturday Shutdowns Over State Ordered for Sept.

AUSTIN, Aug. 30. (AP).—Statewide Saturday oil field shutdowns were ordered by the Texas railroad commission Monday in another drastic move to eliminate excessive gasoline stocks.

Chairman C. V. Terrell and Ernest O. Thompson, constituting a majority of the commission, decided Texas wells should stand idle on both Saturdays and Sundays through September. Sunday closings have been in effect since January 15.

The commission said the basic production allowance for the state, counting the two day a week shut-ins, would be 1,233,248 barrels daily. This is approximately 12 per cent under the United States bureau of mines recommendation of 1,398,600 barrels.

The current allowable is approximately 1,410,000 barrels. The allowance at the start of the month, not considering Sunday shutdowns, was 1,514,965 barrels and that for September 1, not considering Saturday and Sunday closings is 1,649,493.

Exemptions from the closings of the Texas portion of the tri-state Reddessa field and of wells which would be materially damaged by being shut in were continued.

Thompson said a return of Saturday shutdowns was necessary to eliminate pipe line prorations and liquidate excessive stock. Stocks of crude oil are much lower than a year ago but those of heating oils and gasoline are materially higher.

The peak gasoline consumption season will end Labor day.

The allowable for the various districts, not considering the shut-downs, were as follows for August 1, August 18 and September 1: East Texas, 513,893, 514,741 and 516,147; Panhandle, including Moore county and Osborne area, 81,590, 82,080 and 82,927; North Texas, in-

EXPLOSION DESTROYS GASOLINE TREATING PLANT EARLY TODAY

ODESSA, Aug. 30. (Special).—Three men were injured, probably fatally, another was suffering severely from shock and it was thought possibly some workers may have been burned to death in an explosion and fire at the Barnsdall Refinery, in the Foster pool four miles west of Odessa, this morning. Records showing names of men at work when the explosion occurred were lost in the flames, consequently an exact check-up was not possible immediately.

Midland County's First Bale Ginned Here Late Monday

Midland county's first bale of the 1938 crop of cotton was ginned here yesterday afternoon and placed on the streets here this morning.

The bale was ginned by T. E. Bizzell and Joe Barnett on a farm one mile south of Valley View school. When ginned it weighed 573 pounds. The first bale this year was ginned 15 days later than that in 1937, also raised by Bizzell. Last year's bale was ginned August 14.

The bale ginned yesterday marked the eighth time in the past 14 years that the third time in succession that Bizzell has raised the first bale.

It will be auctioned off Friday morning in front of the Midland National bank by W. E. Wallace, veteran auctioneer. Raising of a bonus for the growers of the first bale of cotton has been turned over to the chamber of commerce.

New Baptist Pastor Expected to Arrive in Midland Today

Rev. H. D. Bruce and Mrs. Bruce are expected to arrive here late today where he will assume his duties as pastor of the First Baptist church.

Mr. Bruce comes here from a five-year Pastorate of the First Baptist church at Huntsville, Texas. He has to his credit a record of achievement in the East Texas church. During his tenure as pastor the church was cleared of indebtedness; more than 500 people united with the church, bringing the membership from approximately 500 to approximately twice that number; considerable improvement was made on the church building and grounds; fans were installed in the church and plans completed for a modern gas heating system; a Chair of Bible was instituted; offerings of the church were increased; and other constructive and progressive religious work was done. Known as a denominational worker, Mr. Bruce has held official positions in the Associational and District organizations of the Baptist church and has appeared on the various programs of Associational, District and State meetings.

Mrs. Bruce has taken an active part in the W. M. U. work of the Association, District, and State.

The couple will be at home at 1108 W. Illinois, in the Dr. L. E. Pemberton home, until a parsonage is constructed. The church plans to tear down the present parsonage and rebuild on the present site, church officials said.

Rev. Bruce will take part in the midweek prayer service Wednesday and will preach his first sermons as pastor next Sunday.

Senators of Two States Will Be Nominated Today

By Associated Press President Roosevelt's campaign for election of "liberal" legislators was undergoing acid tests today in democratic primaries in South Carolina and California. Voters were pouring into the polls in both states.

Senator Ellison Smith (D-SC) and Senator William G. McAdoo (D-Calif.) are up for renomination. The latter bears presidential endorsement, Smith the opposite. Sheridan Downey, ardent new dealer and pension scheme supporter, is the principal McAdoo opponent.

Governor Olin Johnson, avowed new dealer, is Smith's opposition. The outcome in South Carolina is being particularly watched because of the possible relationship to next month's primaries in Georgia and Maryland.

Yoakum and Hockley Received New Wildcat Well Locations

By FRANK GARDNER. A brace of important new wildcats, one each in Yoakum and Hockley counties, today enlivened considerably lagging interest in the North Basin region.

Certain to be followed closely is the new test of Honolulu Oil Corporation, Ltd. No. 1 R. M. Kendrick, in southern Yoakum. It was staked 1,650 feet from the south and west lines of section 825, block D. J. H. Gibson survey. Location falls a mile and 990 feet east and 990 feet north of Shell No. 1-D George Baumgart, farther east—together with its south offset, Skelly No. 1 Kendrick—producer in the prolific Denver field. The new Honolulu test is four and one-quarter miles south and one and one-half miles west of the closest production in the Bennett pool, southeastern Yoakum, and will afford "control" needed to determine if the Bennett and Denver pools will eventually be linked.

Milhoan Drilling Company has been awarded contract to drill the new Honolulu wildcat. Water well is being drilled, and material is now being moved in. Rotary will be used to drill to approximately 4,700 feet, then will be replaced by standard tools.

The Bennett pool itself received location for a northwest edge test. It is Cascade Petroleum Company (C. J. "Red" Davidson) No. 1 Bennett, 330 feet out from the southeast corner of section 632, offsetting Honolulu No. 1-677 Bennett to the north and Siosi No. 1 Bennett to the west. It was reported that operators today were preparing to set surface pipe at approximately 300 feet.

Shell No. 3-A Bennett, west out-post to the pool, topped anhydrite at 2,220 feet, according to driller's log, and is drilling past 2,345 feet in red beds.

Protect the Wild Game Before Too Many Extinct

Every citizen should interest himself in the protection and propagation of wild game. Counties are being organized in West Texas at present and the success of the efforts depend largely on attitude of the general public.

In each county, purposes of game management associations are set up as follows:

Purposes of the association have been listed as follows: To provide adequate protection to game and other desirable species of wildlife; to establish and maintain the game management area for increase of all desirable species of game birds, non-game birds, game animals, furbearing animals, and fish, with special emphasis given to dove, quail, deer, antelope, turkey, and fish of all kinds; to improve cover and food for wildlife; to propagate and stock game as necessary to increase the supply; to regulate the taking of game in all lands in the game management areas; to prohibit hunting and trespassing in violation of state laws and association regulations; to provide regulated hunting in cooperation with the state game commission.

Don't let the West Texas bird and animal life become extinct.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON. — War between John L. Lewis and President Homer Martin of the United Automobile Workers' Union is certain unless someone backs down. Lewis wants reinstated the five big union officials expelled by Martin. Lewis then asks temporary C. I. O. control in all disputes. Martin refuses to put the union's affairs in C. I. O. hands.

MARTIN AT BEST IN ROUGH GOING. Homer Martin: A former Baptist preacher, he regards himself as a man of destiny. He is pompous, often boyish in manner, bespectacled and of ruddy complexion. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds—"of steel", his friends say. He lifts weights every day and once was a hop-skip-jump champion.

No liquor or smokes for Martin. Carries a gun for protection. His voice has a trace of evangelical twang as he calls you "brother." He is married, has two children, lives on a $5,000 salary and is considered entirely honest.

In southern Illinois—where he vacations on the old family farm—and in Kansas City, Martin preached as an ordained minister. He became labor-minded and too liberal for parishioners, the story goes, and had to take an automobile job before leaping into labor leadership by force of oratory. . . . brilliantly effective as a crowd speaker, he's at "fighting foot" when the going is rough. . . . But not an able administrator and often inconsistent. . . . Some associates thing he plays on the "Red" issue with undue fervor, but whatever part Communism may take in the Martin opposition the internal fury is intensified by the fact that Jay Lovestone is an important Martin adviser and that Lovestone Communists hold key posts under Martin. . . . Stalinists, and Lovestoneites hate each other worse than anything.

FINE FIGURE FRANKENSTEIN. Richard Frankenstein: An expelled U. A. W. vice president at 31, he stands more than 6 feet, weighs 244 pounds and make a handsome figure. . . . He played college football and worked summers in a Dodge plant. Graduating from Dayton University in 1932, he expected to get a teaching-coaching job, but had to go to work as an automobile body-trimmer instead. When unionization came he voted for Cecil Collings. If ever a race was conducted on a high plane, that race was. Hats off to a couple of candidates who are the same good fellows while candidates as they are in their everyday life.

The man who became jittery after the election was over was our state representative—Cecil, Jim Goodman. He was so well pleased with the outcome that he got to picking up stuff and putting it in his pockets. When one of our boys got to looking for the keys so as to haul a few thousand Sunday papers out over the Permian Basin, the keys "couldn't" be found. We searched everyone of the office force as well as everyone we could think of who had been leaning on the desk where the keys were parked. When we got to Jim's pockets, there were the keys. What we couldn't figure was what he wanted with the keys if he didn't take the car too.

It's time to get those rodeo clothing back into circulation. Everybody dressed up a week ago, then began tapering off late in the week, and when Monday rolled around it was hard to find so many loud colored shirts. Now that there has been time to launder them, how about getting dressed up the rest of the week, so people won't forget the rodeo starts Saturday?

Editor Ralph Shuffler's paper over at Odessa had this streamer Sunday across the front page: "Dennison, Marr and Bradford Win." In his story, however, he had the facts that Jim Goodman led Bradford for state representative by the score of 6373 to 4946. Any headline writer can see that Goodman would have fit just as well as Bradford, in the same space. About all we could figure, after studying the headline, was that when Shuffler endorsed Bradford he was so sure the Midland man would be defeated that he went ahead and put Bradford in type as the winner before the election.

I am not sure that Shuffler's endorsement of Bradford was the reason why Goodman was elected. Ralph also endorsed our friend Paul Moss, and Collings got elected.

Practically every voter hated to see Paul Moss lose, even those who tained ratings prior to November 1, 1937, when such ratings were discontinued and 1,560 with solo licenses.

The bureau said the pilots included 543 women, namely, 72 with commercial; 24 with limited commercial; 354 private pilots, 41 amateurs and 51 solo flyers. The bureau's report by states showed that on July 1, Texas had 575 planes, 470 of them certified, and 881 pilots. The state's pilots included 112 airline; 390 commercial; 27 limited commercial; 316 private; 23 amateurs; and 13 solo flyers.

Contracting of Fall Mohair Is Started

SAN ANGELO, (AP). — Contracting of fall mohair in the Uvalde, Brackettville, Del Rio sections, has been started with a number of clips reported signed up at 40 and 50 cents a pound. Shearing will begin soon. Buyers put out offers at Mason, Menard and Junction, but few growers contracted.

Boosting the contract schedule was the announcement of the sale of 74,000 pounds of mohair at Menard and Mason at 45 cents for the grown hair and 55 cents a pound for kid hair, and advance of four cents for grown hair and double early prices in the spring.

The last of more than 1,000,000 pounds of mohair, or one seventh of the spring clip, which had been bought and stored by a Uvalde group at Houston, has been sold and shipped. The last big accumulation gathered by Dolph Briscoe, Jake Schwartz and others of Uvalde went out at 40 and 50 cents per pound.

Today there is a little more than 100,000 pounds of mohair in the state, 10,000,000 pounds being sold this year, including a carryover of 3,600,000 pounds of the 1937 fall clip.

Scientific Buying Lessons Scheduled

PORTR ARTHUR, (AP). — Having taught scientific farming to farmers, Uncle Sam is now going to instruct store employees here and elsewhere how to teach "scientific buying" to the public.

Federal and state governments and the Porth Arthur independent school district have agreed to sponsor a course here in September by a federal instructor who will teach clerks the answers to such questions as:

How can rayon be told from silk? How about wool from wool-and-cotton? Good soap from bad? If the plan works here, it is expected to be extended to other cities in this area.

was soon elected head of a bargaining unit. A natural leader. Education is obvious in him. He talks in quiet, matter-of-fact voice. A democratic appointed by Governor Murphy to the Michigan state relief commission, he scoffs at Martin's Communism charges, claims two of the other four suspended or expelled officers are 32nd degree Masons and another a Roman Catholic. . . . Admits Stalin Communists all support the "outs."

MORTIMER LOOKS LIKE LANDON. Wyndham Mortimer: Another expelled vice president, once Martin's chief opponent for the presidency. . . . Often accused of Communism, he is 54, has a wife and one child, looks and talks like a small business man. . . . Looks like Alf Landon. . . . Quiet and reserved—in private conversation, at least.

He is self-educated. . . . Entered the Pennsylvania coal mines at age of 12, became a union member at 16, later was a machinist in first the steel, then the auto industry. . . . Wears ordinary gray suit, sport shoes, and rolled socks. . . . Three years ago was elected to high union office.

He and other vice presidents helped form policy and handle difficult situations. . . . Some Communists have done fine work for U. A. W., he says, admitting sympathetic interest in the Soviet experiment. . . . But he insists charges of Communism against him were invented by A. F. of L. leaders and perpetuated by Martin.

Martin's foes say Martin is incompetent, demagogic, suspicious, and consumed with desire to build his power. Martin's friends say Frankenstein is politically ambitious, that Mortimer violated a peace agreement by speaking against Martin and that the opposition tried to oust Martin by trickery.

Record Ears of Corn Are Grown

ITALY, Tex. (AP). — W. J. Smith, farmer residing on Chambers Creek near Italy, this year grew two well-filled ears of yellow dent corn each 12 inches long. Corn specialists say these specimens are probably as long as any recorded. United prizes have been offered in the United States for an ear measuring more than 12 inches. Smith's farm is part of the original M. J. Smith league of land patented to Maj. Smith in 1839 for services in the Texas revolution. The present owner who is not related to the original holder, said his corn crop is well above average.

Probate Case Fifty Years Old Nears End

EDINBURG, (AP). — A probate case filed more than 50 years ago, the first in Hidalgo county, is about to be closed, says Judge Oliver C. Aldrich. The cause involved settlement of the estate of J. N. Reynolds, Hidalgo county pioneer who died between the organization of the county in 1852, when the probate court also was established, and 1885 when the first claim against the estate was filed. The estate included 4,600 acres of land in northeastern Hidalgo containing the famous "Sal Del Rey," largest of a group of salt lakes in the desert lands of that part of Hidalgo and Willacy counties. "Sal Del Rey" varies in size from 600 to 1200 acres, according to rainfall. When Reynolds died the lakes were the only source of salt south of San Antonio and Corpus Christi. They were considered so valuable that early explorers reserved them in the name of the king of Spain,

Battleship Maryland Boasts Historical, Shining Silver Set

WASHINGTON, (U.P.)—The battleship Maryland is proud of its heavy steel armor and eight 16-inch guns, but not less boastful of its magnificent silver service, presented by the citizens of the Terrapin State.

Capt. Harry W. Hill, U. S. N., when a young gunnery officer aboard the Maryland, was fascinated by the 48 pieces of shining silver which on festive occasions were taken from the glass cabinet in the Admiral's cabin. This set is said by some experts to be the most beautiful ever made in this country.

In spare hours outside the turret, Hill collected photographs and historical data now issued in a book.

Now With Battle Fleet.

"Maryland's Colonial Charm—Portrayed in Silver," privately printed in Baltimore, represents the literary hobby of a naval officer, recently transferred from the Naval War College to the staff of the Commander-in-Chief, Battle Fleet.

The silver service portrays about 200 scenes in colonial and state history, ranging from St. George

YWA Group Elects New Officers at Monday Meeting

Reorganization of the YWA was effected at a meeting at the home of Miss Dorothy Hines, 108 W. Maiden Lane, Monday evening.

Anne Blackburn was elected president. Other officers named were: vice president, Marjorie Hall; secretary, Genell Conner; treasurer, Helen Ruth Merrill; reporter, Dorothy Hines; program chairman, Alta Merrill; social chairman, Elwanda Hays and Alice Lippold; personal service chairman, Emma Mae Richmond.

A sponsor will be chosen later, in conference with the Baptist W.M.U. Decision was made as to the program for each meeting in the month and it was decided to have next week's meeting on Tuesday evening, as Monday is a holiday. Anne Blackburn will be hostess at her home, 210 W. Kansas.

Cardinals Honored With Picnic and Theatre Party

As a courtesy for the Midland Cardinals, Mr. and Mrs. N. Woody, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Girdley, and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Girdley entertained Mr. and Mrs. Fincher Withers and the ball team with a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Girdley, 409 North F street, Sunday after the ball game.

A theatre party followed the supper hour.

Members of the ball team present were: Jake Suiyar, Tom Warren, Benny Franklin, Clarence Beers, Larry Battle, Barney Barnhill, Jim Morris, Del Ballinger, Frank Nelson, Cliff Neighbors, Jerry Soule, Bob Evans.

Others attending beside Mr. and Mrs. Withers and the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Beauchamp from Pecos, Bob Throckmorton and B. C. Girdley Jr.

ming, horseback riding and tennis win her favor more than indoor recreation.

Lamars Hosts to "Back to School" Dance at Club

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lamar, who are leaving today for Austin where he is employed and where they will re-enter the University of Texas next month, entertained for a group of their friends with an informal "back to school" dance at the Country Club Monday evening.

Chaperones for the occasion were Mrs. Lamar's mother, Mrs. Rea Sidorf, Mrs. J. G. Harper, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson.

Music for dancing was supplied by the club nickelodeon.

Special guests calling during the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Fincher Withers and the boys of the Cardinal baseball team and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Philippus.

About 60 young people were present.

Helium Being Used In Pilot Balloons

AMARILLO (U.P.)—The government is using helium in its smallest aircraft-pilot balloons in the weather bureau service.

The inert gas, which the U. S. government controls, has been substituted for other gases in pilot balloons sent up at intervals to test wind velocity at various altitudes. Several weather stations are using the helium. It will be used at all stations as soon as the present supplies of other gases are consumed.

The use of helium is not a safety feature, since the use of explosive gas in the small balloons could cause little danger. The helium is being used because the government owns it.

The world's supply of helium is produced in the government's Amarillo plant. Small quantities are being sold for medical purposes. A deal to supply the German Zeppelin company with enough for use in giant dirigibles has been delayed indefinitely because of the question of possible military use and other details.

Molly O'Daniel to Be Belle of Ball

AUSTIN, (U.P.)—The belle of the next inaugural ball is pretty sure to be Molly O'Daniel.

Unless Texas political history reverses itself, hundreds of persons will dance next January in honor of the then first family of the state, the W. Lee O'Danields.

Molly, who loves to dance—she's just learned the chug—probably will have more partners than any other woman at the ball.

Her brown eyes twinkle in anticipation and already she's earned the money for her frock by writing feature articles about herself. She's planning to take early mid-year examinations at her Fort Worth high school so she can be at Austin well in advance of the ball.

The O'Danields plan to remain at Fort Worth until just before the inauguration but Pat and Mike, the two sons, will enter the University of Texas in September. Molly finishes high school at mid-year and will then matriculate at the state institution.

Fresh and sparkling with enthusiasm, Molly, like her brothers, enjoys the prospect of life in the governor's mansion.

She likes people and with her easy manner makes friends quickly.

As to clothes, she favors sports models of the shirtwaist type and likes prints better than solids. She caters to green, brown, beige and yellow.

Outdoor sports, including swimming, horseback riding and tennis win her favor more than indoor recreation.

However, she says, life in the mansion will not differ in some respects from her present life because there will be no dates on school nights.

Special guests calling during the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Fincher Withers and the boys of the Cardinal baseball team and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Philippus.

Slaying the Dragon—symbol of the state's religious liberty—to the establishment of a rural free delivery.

The silversmiths used great ingenuity to incorporate local traditions into their plates, cups, and bowls. Each of the Eastern Shore counties along Chesapeake Bay, for example, is represented by its complete dish, bordered by oyster shells, and fringed by silver rope typical of the nautical theme. The "covered wagons" of the pioneers are shown on the game platter, and a ladle handle depicts the stone markers of the Mason and Dixon Line.

Punch Bowl for Baltimore.

The largest piece of the dinner service, the punch bowl, represents the city and county of Baltimore. Its exquisite workmanship depicts the first telegraph set, the Peter Cooper locomotive, the sketch which symbolized the birth of the "Star Spangled Banner" and other famous local topics. Other pieces typify each of the other Maryland counties.

The silver service was presented to the cruiser Maryland on May 1, 1906, at Annapolis by a Maryland cruiser fund commission representing citizens of the state. The armored cruiser Maryland was launched in 1903, and was attached to the cruiser and transport force during the World War. The service later was transferred to the battleship Maryland, launched in 1920, and assigned to the Battle Force of the fleet. The Maryland is now stationed on the Pacific coast. The Maryland, Hill reports, is known in the navy as "a lucky ship."

All-American Recognition Is Goal of Midland Rodeo

By T. PAUL BARRON

Publisher Midland Daily Reporter-Telegram

Pointing toward the world championship type of rodeo, such as is staged each year at Cheyenne, Pendleton and Calgary, the officials of Midland Fair, Inc., present on September 3-4-5, 1938, the fourth annual Midland Rodeo with the full expectancy that it will be a decided step forward.

With larger purses than ever before, including the added entrance fees, and with several new attractions as well as the elimination of those found less desirable, the 1938 Midland Rodeo is calculated to appeal to the pleasure seeker, the admirer of colorful pageantry and the critic of professional western sports.

Staged in the $60,000 plant constructed in 1935, with the spacious and comfortable steel grandstand and the welded steel arena, the only one of its kind in America, officials of Midland Rodeo take pride in playing hosts to citizens of several states and of cities and towns throughout the Southwest.

The program each afternoon and night, given in detail in this official souvenir booklet, speaks for itself, affording the acme in contests of cowboy skill. The colorful cowgirl sponsors' contest, the competition of junior cowboys, the fun-provoking antics of oil men "gone western," the extraordinary special attractions of arena and ground stage, all depict the strenuous efforts and elaborate expense to which Midland Fair officials have gone, for your pleasure.

The Midland Rodeo is staged in a manner to carry your favor. Suggestions for future rodeos will be appreciated. Frankly voice your opinion of what you like or don't like about Midland Rodeo. In years to come, plan to meet the sports loving public of North America each season at Midland Rodeo, where champions of the world meet the skilled and determined cowboys of the range. The Midland Rodeo is more than a local project, and is building steadily toward "All American" rating as a center of western skill and thrills.

Good Grooming Requires Good Care of Wardrobe

BY ALICIA HART

NEA Service Staff Writer.

Being perfectly groomed, like having lovely skin, hair and a nice figure, depends more on the time you are willing to devote to making yourself attractive than on the amount of money you have.

Step number one in the right direction is to realize the importance of taking excellent care of your clothes, no matter how little you paid for them. Invest in several shoulder-shaped hangers and remember to hang up your dresses, the minute you take them off. Try not to wear the same dress two days in succession. This saves pressing. And constant pressing often weakens fabric. By giving the dress a day of rest between wearings, the wrinkles often will come out without the aid of a hot iron.

And do have hat stands for your hats. No hat, regardless of its original cost, is going to retain its shape and chic if you toss it on a table or a closet shelf every time you take it off. Hats, like dresses, need a rest now and then, too. And they'll be happier looking bonnets if they take their occasional rest in a hat box with plenty of tissue paper stuffed in to their crowns.

If, when you are putting on an old dress, you will try to remember and catch again your feeling for it the first time you wore it, you'll look better in it once you get it on. You won't have pulled it on haphazardly, not bothering to straighten it here and pat it there, when it was new, now, will you? Don't treat it badly now.

And do use shoe trees. Also remember to have new lifts put on often enough, to brush suede shoes carefully before each wearing and to use a creamy dressing on patent leather ones. The better care you give shoes, the longer they'll last.

Naturally, scrupulous cleanliness and daintiness are the foundation of perfect grooming. A daily bath (two or even three a day in the summertime), regular use of a deodorant or an anti-perspirant, clean stockings and fresh underwear every morning—these are the rules. No woman possibly can look her best in any dress if she knows that the slip beneath it isn't spic and span.

Police Fingerprints Stolen.

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (U.P.)—The Phoenixville Police Department has taken an oath to catch a particular thief. The entire force diligently is seeking the person who entered the police station locker room and stole the department's entire file of fingerprints.

Midland Cowgirl Sponsors' Contest

By BILL COLLYNS

Manager Midland Chamber of Commerce

Adding much additional color to the annual Midland Rodeo, September 3, 4 and 5, will be the Cowgirl Sponsors Contest, annually one of the highlights of Midland's famed cowboy event, the sponsors, pick of the cowgirls of West Texas and New Mexico, also adding materially to the type of show offered.

Sharing the limelight with notables, rodeo contestants and others, the charming sponsors, representing towns and cities of West Texas and New Mexico, will have the entire spotlight during a goodly portion of the three day and night attraction. The Cowgirl sponsors will be featured in the opening day parade and at each rodeo performance, both afternoon and evening, the Sponsors Contest in the past always having been termed by the spectators as one of the most interesting divisions of the entire rodeo. The glorification of the typical cowgirl of this section is the prime factor in the staging of the Sponsors Contest and everything possible is done to glorify the young ladies participating in the contest.

A very colorful spectacle is presented as the Cowgirl Sponsors, bedecked in typical cowgirl attire, ride in the parade and perform before the spectators at the rodeo arena, displaying their ability at riding and handling their mounts.

Reigning over the 1938 contest until a new Rodeo Queen is selected at the close of the show, will be Miss Fern Sawyer of Brownfield who last year was selected as the champion cowgirl out of a field of more than 25 contestants. Other winners in the 1937 show were Mrs. Beverly Herndon, Sweetwater, second; Miss Louise Voelcker, Wichita Falls, third; Miss Mary Beth Eaves, Lovington, N. M., fourth, and Miss Mary Nell Edwards, Big Spring, fifth.

The annual Sponsors' Ball, honoring Sponsors and their escorts, will headline the list of entertainment functions arranged for the Cowgirls attending the 1938 Rodeo, the other functions to be announced upon the arrival of the Sponsors in Midland.

In the sponsors contest, the contestants will be judged as follows: 25 per cent on personal appearance of cowgirl in costume; 25 per cent on appearance of horse and saddle; 25 per cent on ability of girl to ride and handle horse, and 25 per cent on ability of horse to be reined. Final judging in the contest will be held at the rodeo arena Monday morning, September 5, with winners to be announced at the final rodeo performance Monday night.

A beautiful handmade saddle will be awarded the first place winner in the contest, the saddle and other attractive prizes constituting the most beautiful and most costly array of prizes ever offered in a similar contest anywhere.

Miss Walter Faye Cowden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cowden, has been appointed to serve as Miss Midland in the contest, and although she will ride with the visiting sponsors in all events, she will not compete for the prizes. Miss Cowden has represented Midland at numerous rodeos over West Texas and New Mexico.

The official hostess and chairman of the Cowgirl Sponsors Committee is Mrs. Foy Proctor who served most graciously in the same capacity at the 1937 rodeo.

MIDLAND, CLOVIS MEET IN FIRST PLAY-OFF GAME TONIGHT

FRANKLIN WILL START GAME FOR THE CARDINALS

Tonight is THE night as far as baseball fans are concerned. For the first time since 1929 Midland has a baseball team that has a possible chance of winning a league pennant.

At 8:30 tonight the Midland Cardinals and the Clovis Pioneers meet at City Park in the first game of a three out of five series to decide which will meet the winner of a like series between Lubbock and Wink for the West Texas-New Mexico League championship.

By a coincidence, the series here will be between two clubs that fought it out together during the first month of the season for the cellar championship. But a lot of changes in the playing personnel, including a new manager at Clovis, caused the two teams to do an about-face and they wound up two-three in the league standings. Clovis finished one game in front of Midland to cop second place.

Appearing on the mound tonight will be Benny Franklin for the Cardinals and Luke Coburn for the Pioneers. Franklin has defeated the Pioneers four games and has lost only one to them. Coburn, a well known semi-pro hurler in the Panhandle, only recently joined the Pioneers. In his only appearance against the Cardinals he lost a 2-5 decision.

Another coincidence that appears in the meeting of the two clubs is that each has won a majority of games on the opponent's field of play. Midland has defeated Clovis 10 out of 13 games in Clovis while winning only six at home.

Midland batters have clubbed Clovis pitching for a .279 mark while playing in Clovis but have been able to hit only .226 in their own park against the same pitching. Meanwhile, Clovis hitters rolled up a .279 mark in their own park against Midland pitching while hitting .282 in the Midland park.

Should Franklin be unable to hold the Pioneers in check tonight, either Neighbors or Warren will replace him. Manager Billings of the Pioneers is expected to call upon "Slim" Watkins as his first relief should Coburn get into trouble.

The two clubs will play here tonight and tomorrow night and journey to Clovis to wind up the series.

Wreckage of Plane in Which Died Frank Hawks, Speed Record-Breaker

From this splintered pile of smoldering wreckage, rescuers carried the dying Frank Hawks, who once flew safely the fastest ships and held as many as 214 point-to-point speed records in the United States and Europe. Hawks, retired from speed competition, was demonstrating a commercial model plane designed for simplicity and safety to J. Hazard Campbell, New York stockbroker, who also was killed. Apparently violating an elementary safety rule, the veteran Hawks took off into a cross-wind, failed to gain altitude, and struck telephone wires. Destruction of these wires in the crash of the plane delayed the arrival of hospital aid from Buffalo, N. Y., to the E. H. Rogers estate near East Aurora, where the tragedy occurred.

Much Can Be Saved For Wild Life, But Many Species Gone

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Many species of American wildlife have already become extinct or are in danger of passing completely out of the picture, according to The American Wildlife Institute. Eight kinds of birds and 11 types of mammals which once roamed this country are no more. At least 15 species of birds and 30 kinds of mammals are in danger of extinction. Passenger pigeons were once plentiful. The last survivor of this species died in the Cincinnati Zoo in 1914.

Not even zoo specimens remain of the heath hen (eastern form of the prairie chicken).

The great auk, Labrador duck, Carolina parakeet, Guadalupe caracara—all are gone. So are practically all grizzly bears in the United States, except those in Yellowstone Park. Gone, too, are the Maine giant mink, Gull Island meadow mouse, Amargosa meadow mouse, Pacific white-tailed deer, Badlands mountain sheep, Texas mountain sheep and the Merriam elk. The White Mountains California dwarf shrew is possibly exterminated. The fisher, black footed ferret, wolverine, sea otter, Plains or buffalo wolf, Guadalupe fur seal, monk seal, hooded seal, Pacific walrus, Atlantic walrus, eastern fox squirrel, Florida manatee, gray whale, Atlantic right whale and Greenland right whale are among the mammals most seriously threatened.

The masked bobwhite is probably already extinct in the United States and extermination threatens such birds as the Eskimo curlew, Attwater prairie chicken, Ipswich sparrow, dusky kinglet, Florida seaside sparrow and many others.

Research into wildlife problems, establishment of refuges, application of scientific management to game problems, the restoration of proper environment and sensible protection for threatened species is advocated by The American Wildlife Institute to preserve those forms of wildlife in danger of becoming no more.

A more intelligent attitude towards land and its use is the basis of the program of wildlife management, according to the Institute. Misuse of this basic natural resource, it is said has ruined millions of acres of once good wildlife range.

Production of grain and meat, utilization of areas for cities, towns, parks, roads and many other purposes has removed permanently vided into unit votes as follows: six votes each; the next 30 counties have four votes each and the 121 smaller counties have two votes each.

Therefore the candidates, Sen. Walter F. George, Lawrence Camp, Eugene Talmadge and William G. McRae have literally "taken to the woods" seeking the rural vote.

Camp Relies on New Deal.

Camp, endorsed by President Roosevelt and an ardent New Dealer, bases his campaign solely on what the New Deal will do for Georgia.

George, whom the President virtually read out of the party when he asked for his defeat at Barnesville, Ga., contends the issue is now the "right of states to the free ballot."

Talmadge, former governor and anti-New Dealer, promises the voters free homesteads in Georgia if elected.

McRae, old-age Townsend plan advocate, argues the voters should put a "little man" in the senate once in a while. Political observers believe that it will be a neck and neck race between Camp, George and Talmadge with McRae running far behind. All four candidates, however, have their eyes on the rural vote.

Comparison of Population.

Of the 159 counties, 117 have a population of less than 20,000 each; 61 have a population of less than 10,000 and eight counties have fewer than 5,000 residents each.

The County Unit system, product of the "agarian revolution" which swept the south and west during the latter part of the 19th century was designed originally to balance the voting strength of Georgia's urban centers and the farming districts. Today, the result of the system is that residents of the state's more populous counties have little voice in state elections.

For example, a candidate can carry three small counties having a combined population of less than 15,000 and completely nullify an opposite vote in Fulton county (Atlanta) which has six nominating votes and a population of 350,000.

Loser May Have Most Votes.

The unit system makes it possible for a candidate to receive the most votes cast in the state—and yet lose the election. Therefore the candidates are spending the final stage of the campaign in the agricultural sparsely populated small counties talking about farm problems and local legislation.

An exemplary quirk of the unit system is found by comparing Fulton county with Echols county. Fulton has a population 122 times as large as Echols' 2,744 residents. Yet Fulton county has only six unit votes, whereas Echols can match equally the votes of 40 people in Fulton.

Talmadge said once during the campaign he didn't expect to carry a single county where there are trolley cars. George, Camp and McRae have each decided the farmer is the man to woo for the vote.

Unit Votes Basis Of Counting in Georgia's Ballot

ATLANTA, Ga. (U.P.)—The Georgia primary campaign of the "New Deal" versus the sovereign rights of states to the free ballot" will be settled Sept. 14 by the rural areas, with the populous centers having little voice in the decision.

Under Georgia's unique election laws the county unit system is used—the popular statewide vote of a candidate has no bearing on the results. A candidate must carry a county to receive its unit vote. The state has 159 counties di-

CAST OF CHARACTERS LINDA GORDON — heroine. She gave up Manhattan to return to her Blue Grass.

BRUCE RADFORD — newspaperman. He would give up anything for Linda.

UNCLE SANDY — horseman. He would give up anything, too, for a good horse.

MONTE HILL — rich racing devotee. He also wanted Linda.

Yesterday: Linda turns her back on New York and on Monte Hill's offer of marriage. She decides to scratch it out in the Blue Grass.

CHAPTER II The night was pitch black — a night such as the Blue Grass knows in the summer, before a gathering storm; intense blackness, then sheet lightning flaring across the sky, followed by the rumble of far-off thunder.

Linda Gordon turned off the main highway, in the second-hand car she had bought to carry her home. She was taking a short cut, which would carry her past the Radford Farm.

"Dam-darn!" she exclaimed straightening up. Her head had struck the windshield's top. Jerry, thrown to the floor, gave a yelp of pain.

"Bent fender. Lucky to get off so lightly," she commented, after making a hurried inspection with her flashlight.

"That's all in the past, Bruce." "In the past? You didn't answer my last letter—after I came back here."

"Oh, you were a millionaire, and I just a working girl, my lad." She tried to make her voice sound whimsical.

"Not so rich as you'd think. Uncle left a lot of fool bequests; they got the cash, I got what was left over. Tomorrow we're selling off the last 2-year-olds. I'm going to bid one in—got enough money for that. I—"

"Oh, going to become a big horseman like our friend, Monte Hill?" SHE could sense a coldness on his part. He said: "Maybe, if I have his luck. See his Merry Maid won the Juvenile at Belmont. Well, this colt I'm buying tomorrow will take the best in America. You wait and see. But look here—"

"How's the great American novel coming, Bruce?" she asked suddenly. "Oh, that." He spoke as if he had been jolted back to an unpleasant reality. "I've been so busy—"

"So busy playing the country gentleman? The Bruce Radford I knew was going to be a second Balzac—"

"Oh, I still have hopes!" he said. "But first I want to make myself secure. But look here: I'm giving a barbecue tomorrow—bunch from Lexington will be out—and Linda," he leaned toward her, spoke eagerly, "you've got to come over; some folks I want you to know."

"Afraid I can't make it, Bruce." "But you must. Then, later, you and I—we'll go to the auction together. I want you to see this colt. He's a half-brother of Pompey. By Pompey out of—"

"I'll be busy with Uncle Sandy tomorrow, Bruce." She pressed the self-starter. The motor whirred. "I'll see you some time—maybe." "But look here—"

"Good night, Bruce. I must hurry." "But, Linda!" She drove off, leaving a puzzled young man in the dark—a man who couldn't understand it all.

HALF an hour later she drove up to a small cottage half hidden by sycamores. One light was shining from a window. Now a hall light went on, as dogs began barking. A man came through the doorway, his tall, stooped figure silhouetted against the light.

"Who's there?" Linda sprang from the car, bounded up the steps. "Somebody you didn't expect!" She threw her arms around him.

"Linda — Linda — Linda!" Incredulously blended with happiness, a happiness so sharp that it hurt. "But child, what are you doing—back home?" She stood off, put hands on his shoulders, smiled into a time-worn face settling into defeat. On a split-second's inspiration she exclaimed:

"Uncle Sandy, I'm fed up with New York. I've saved a penny. I'm going to take my money—your brains—and we're going to put the Gordon colors back on the track." Those words sounded like the notes of a bugle, calling an old campaigner to the post. In the light from the hall she could see his shoulders straightening — his chin jutting out—a flash coming into faded eyes.

Citizens Honor Cardinals With Steak Barbecue

Base-ball minded citizens of Midland complimented members of the Cardinal team with a steak barbecue at Cloverdale Monday afternoon at 7 o'clock.

Broiled steaks with accompaniments featured the meal. A program of impromptu talks was presented, with Manager Fincher Withers and Cliff Neighbors speaking for the team.

Clarence Beers sang a solo, "Rancho Grande." Geo. Hough and Jim Moore were in general charge of arrangements.

Among officials present were Clarence Scharbauer, head of Midland Rodeo and Mayor M. C. Ulmer. A crowd estimated at approximately 100 persons was present.

Will Read Paper On "Heart Disease"

"Heart Disease" will be discussed in a paper to be read by Mrs. E. H. Ellison on the health program over station KRLH Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

Morris Fishbein, M. D., well-known medical writer, is the author of the paper which comes from the American Medical Association.

FEMININE FANCIES By KATHLEEN EILAND

All those who dread the slow process of dampening a garment and pressing it bit by bit will appreciate news of the invention of a new electric iron which doubles as a dampener.

The iron has a water compartment and dampens the garment as it presses, a circumstance which besides being very convenient is said to eliminate danger of scorching.

The new iron might be well investigated by the next young business woman who buys an iron with a canny eye toward pressing her frocks instead of having them pressed.

Fall days are coming. Besides the fact that cool cloudy days say so, there is no other sure sign abroad. Hostesses have begun "back to school" festivities and organizations have started having "initial meetings of the club year." When these omens may be read, the calendar is pointing toward fall.

If your budget for draperies is extremely limited, try pepping up inexpensive curtain materials with rows of vari-colored wool yarns run in parallel lines as a border. You'll be surprised at the way it helps out.

Studio couches are now being made with frames at the back so that they may be placed wherever desired in a room rather than being forced to stand straight against the wall, so that the cushions may be supported.

Wonder why these men who are wearing outlandishly long whiskers in celebration of the coming rodeo can't distinguish between two facts: That while orange, or purple, or red shirts often add a certain flair and air to a man's appearance, an unruly crop of whiskers never does.

We daresay the feminine population of Midland would vote 1000 per cent with us on that last statement.

For a substantial salad to add backbone to a meal, try opening a can of peas and adding thereto apples, cheese, pickles, pimientos in desired quantities, plus a suitable amount of mayonnaise.

TO THE FRIENDS AND SUPPORTERS OF MY NEPHEW, JERRY SADLER

To the friends and supporters of Jerry Sadler in his race for Railroad Commissioner of Texas, I wish to extend his and my own most sincere appreciation, and to those who honestly opposed him, we have no ill will and invite the co-operation of all that Jerry Sadler may render the people a fair, honorable and worthy service.

Most respectfully, H. F. Anthony, Campaign Mgr. For Jerry Sadler in Trans-Pecos Area

Your Child's Future

THE biggest job you have ever had, parents,—that of caring for your children—is safeguarding their health so that their future happiness and success may be assured.

Nothing is more important to them than their eyes. No child is healthy without healthy eyes. No child can achieve success without good vision.

There's only one way to tell whether or not your children's vision is normal—have their eyes examined. Do it now before school begins.

New Record Made by Seversky in East To West Flight

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30. (AP).—Alexander P. de Seversky had an early breakfast in New York and a late luncheon in Los Angeles yesterday.

The little Russian who manufactures fast ships for the United States army, was 10 hours, three minutes and seven seconds between meals. This was the time for his one-stop flight as given by a timer for the National Aeronautical association, although it is subject to checking.

Major de Seversky—"just plain Mr. Seversky, please"—delivered the sleek little monoplane to Jacqueline Cochran, who will fly it in the Bendix race to New York next Saturday.

Although Seversky beat Roscoe Turner's east-west record by one hour, 26 minutes and 33 seconds, he insisted he wasn't "pressing" his ship.

Sversky said his top speed was something over 300 and he said he never went slower than 207 miles an hour. He lost 29 minutes refueling in Kansas City.

"I didn't need to stop there, but I wanted to redistribute my load," he explained. "I might have refueled in half the time, but they forgot I had four gasoline intakes and they used only two."

In this plane, which Seversky says is exactly like his army pursuit ship except for its Pratt-Whitney motor, all of the 640 gallons of gasoline are carried in the wings. There is gas from tip to tip and no other tanks. He said he flew at altitude of from 6,000 to 16,000 "to see what it would do."

Yucca Last Day

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Aug. 30. (AP).—John Cobb, wealthy London fur broker, covered the famous racing course here twice today and postponed his assault on the world's land speed record.

He was unofficially timed at approximately 300 miles an hour on his outward trip and 323 miles on his return, far below Captain George Eyston's recent record of 345.59. Cobb's runs were declared "trials" when he failed to complete both laps in one hour.

"I am learning a lot and it won't be long before I "gun" it," he said.

Personals

Walter Lee and Charles Sutton, sons of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Sutton, are spending the week with their grandmother in San Angelo. The couple's other son, Robert, is convalescing from a recent tonsillotomy.

Miss Georgia Goss and Miss Laura Goss have returned from Denver, Colo., where they spent the summer. They came home by way of Oklahoma. While in Denver, Miss Georgia Goss studied ballet, tap, and character dancing under Lillian Cushing and Fred Merritt. She will re-open her dance studio here this fall.

TO MY FRIENDS OF MIDLAND COUNTY

The loss of my race for District Attorney is more than compensated by the value of the friendships that were evidenced by the confidence in me that you exhibited by your help. I regret that I cannot more adequately express my gratitude and appreciation than by thanking you.
