Britain-France-Hitler Reach Compact

Highlighting Dramatic 20-Year-Old History Of Czechoslovakia

BY WILLIS THORNTON.
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

ALMOST exactly a year after the death of Thomas Masaryk, the "George Washington" of Czechoslovakia, comes the test of the political unit he forged in the heat of the war fires of 1914-1918.

President Eduard Benes was Masaryk's colleague in creating Czechoslovakia, and hence the history of that country as a political entity falls easily within the life of one man.

Prague, the Czech capital, is the oldest city of central Europe, and the Czechs as a people are very old, but Czechoslovakia as it appears on the map today dates only from 1918. The country was created as an effort to solve the "minority problem" that has bedeviled Europe for centuries.

CZECHS ONCE MINORITY.

THE story of Czechoslovakia is short but eventful. Here are the highlights:

1914 — Czech nation existed only in the minds of Czechs, who were all subject to the Austro-Hungarian empire and themselves a constant "minority problem."

1914-1918 — Strenuous campaign of propaganda in France, Italy, Britain, Russia, and the United States to gain Allied support for an independent Czech state. Masaryk and Benes among most active workers. Masaryk obtaining President Wilson's interest.

January, 1917 — Independent Czechoslovakia made one of official Allied war aims. Czech legion crosses Siberia and, by way of America, joins Allied armies.

June 30, 1918 — American Czechs and Slovaks agree at Pittsburgh to back a united state of both nationalities, the Slovaks agreeing to certain local "home rule" features in foregoing their own dream of an independent Slovakia.

Oct. 18, 1918 — Independence of Czechoslovakia proclaimed at Washington, forestalling an effort of the crumbling Austro-Hungarian empire to reconstitute itself as a new federation. Provisional Czech government set up at Paris, obtains immediate U. S. recognition.

GERMANS EARLY DISSIDENTERS.

NOV. 14, 1918 — First National Assembly meets at Prague, with representatives of all elements but the German, who refuse to participate. Masaryk chosen first president, Kramar premier.

1919 — New government suppresses attempted insurrection by Germans in Bohemia and Moravia. Communists invade Slovakia from Hungary, but are driven out. Border clashes with Poles are also frequent until peace treaties of Versailles and St. Germain.

1921 — For the first time, German representatives accept posts in the ministry instead of contenting themselves with parliamentary opposition.

1928 — Long-standing dispute with Vatican adjusted as climax of series of internal reforms and progressive social legislation.

1933 — Rise to power of Nazis in Germany stimulates resistance of Sudeten Germans to assimilation.

1933-37 — German leaders consolidate the Sudeten party inside the Czech borders, increasing both its demands and its activity.

March 12, 1938 — German troops invade Austria, end its independence. Czechoslovakia partially mobilizes to guard against similar invasion.

Sept., 1938 — German-backed demands of the Sudetens for complete autonomy bring new clashes and a European crisis.

The Czech Legion of 100,000 men fought its way across Siberia to join the Allied troops in France by way of America, a military epic.

Thomas Masaryk was tireless in advancing the cause of a Czechoslovak nation, working in many countries, and even interesting President Wilson.

At Pittsburgh, American Czechs and Slovaks met and decided to combine their causes and fight for a united country to include both nationalities.

While disorder ruled as the Austro-Hungarian Empire crashed, the Czechoslovakian government was set up in Paris, Benes announcing its formation.

Mid-Continent 7 Bennett Flows 1,972 Barrels on 24-Hour Test

By FRANK GARDNER.
Another large producer was completed today in the Bennett pool of southeastern Yoakum county. It is Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation No. 7 Bennett, with 24-hour potential of 1,972 barrels, based upon flow the second six hours of a 12-hour test. It flowed 566 barrels the first six hours after shooting with 600 quarts from 5,050 to 5,232, the total depth. Pay was topped at 5,055, with best pay from 5,115 to 5,200. Gas volume after shot was estimated at 2,000,000 cubic feet daily.

On the northwest edge of the pool, Cascade No. 1-A Bennett is drilling at 4,722 feet in lime topped at 4,628. A west-side offset, Shell No. 3-A Bennett, is drilling lime at 5,021 feet. Honolulu No. 4-A Bennett is drilling plug at 4,384 in anhydrite, and Magnolia No. 4 Bennett, east side test, is drilling at 2,400 in red rock and shale.

Magnolia No. 1, J. H. Lynn, prospective wildcat strike a mile and three-quarters northwest of the Denver pool in Yoakum, is cleaning out 50 feet off bottom after shooting with 110 quarts from 5,123-64 feet. Total depth is 5,165 feet in lime. When shut down Friday night, the well had 200 feet of oil in the hole which had risen gradually as drilling progressed from 5,123, where first free oil showed up. After an 18-hour shut down, oil had risen an additional 1,100 feet. Results of shot have not yet been learned.

Water table of the Denver pool apparently had been defined as a north edge test, Gulf No. 1 Elliott, encountered two gallons of salt and sulphur water hourly from 5,235-41, the total depth, corrected by steel line measurement from 5,243. Hole was plugged back to 5,220 for shut-off of water. After plugging back, the well was bailed for four hours, showing one barrel of oil per hour, with no water.

In the Denver pool, Shell No. 4 Love flowed 540 barrels on 24-hour potential test, bottomed at 5,062, after one acid treatment of 1,500 gallons. Cellar and pits have been completed for No. 5 Love, 990 feet from the north, 2,510 feet from the east line of section 29, block D. Don Danvers et al No. 2 Shell-Lynn is drilling at 5,027 feet in lime. Humble No. 1 Randall is drilling at 5,026 feet in lime.

Shell No. 4 Mrs. Dora Roberts, southwest extension to the Roberts area west of the Denver pool, swabbed and flowed 187 barrels of oil in 15 hours, cut three and one-half per cent with basic sediment and water, while unloading hole after re-treating with 5,000 gallons, bottomed at 5,164 feet in lime. It had already been treated with two 2,500-gallon jobs. Location for a quarter-mile north outpost to the area is being started by Shell at No. 5 Roberts, 330 feet from the north, 1,650 from the west line of section 793, block D. Cellar and pits have been dug.

May Have Anhydrite.
Devonian No. 1 King estate, southeastern Gaines wildcat, was thought to have topped anhydrite at 2,110 feet when formation hardened at that point. Pending examination of samples, the exact top had not been announced. Elevation is 3,226 feet. This morning, the test was still drilling in hard formation at 2,220 feet.

M. B. K. Drilling Company has staked location for a north and west outpost to the Wasson pool of northwestern Gaines on an 80-acre tract farmed out to it by York & Harper, Inc., of Midland, and Sloan & Zook Company, of Bradford, Pa. The test, on Wasson face, will be drilled 330 feet from the south, 1,700 from the west line of the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 51, block AX, public school land.

Atlantic No. 1 A. J. & J. J. Parker, wildcat in central Gaines two and a half miles northwest of the Seminole pool, is standing after cementing 9 5/8-inch casing on bottom at 3,135 feet with 700 sacks. It had not yet topped the Yates. The pipe was set as precaution against high gas usually found in the Yates sand zone by wells in the area.

Montecito Corporation No. 2 Emma Gowden, west offset to the company's discovery in the new Emma pool of southern Andrews, flowed 227 barrels a day through 2-inch tubing, owners said here this morning. Tank strappings had not been checked, and exact figures of the well's potential were not available. Bottomed at 4,221, it had been treated with a 1,500-gallon "wash" and a 4,500-gallon pressure treatment.

Montecito No. 3 Gowden, 880-foot west offset to No. 2, is drilling at 1,460 feet in red rock.
Superior Oil Company of California is staking a location north of the Emma area in the southeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 35, block 10, University survey. It will also drill in the southwest corner of the southeast quarter of section 36, block 10. It was not announced whether the 330-660 or 440-880-foot spacing will be employed on the Superior tracts.
J. W. Triplehorn No. 1-A Thornberry, half-mile southeast outpost to the Deep Rock pool of Andrews, is drilling at 2,955 feet in anhydrite. See (OIL NEWS) Page Six

Washington War Concern Written on their Faces

The grave countenances of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull, pictured as they met in Washington on the President's return from Rochester, Minn., indicate the seriousness with which they view the European war crisis. Hull is shown greeting his chief on the rear platform of the presidential train. Mounting fears of war in Europe caused the President to hurry to Washington from the bedside of his son James in Rochester.

Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Shirey left here early today for Fort Sumner, after being notified of the accident. Dr. Shirey, before leaving, said he understood Mr. Peters was too badly injured to be moved and was in a hospital at Fort Sumner. Withdrawal from Spain of Nazis Is Plan of Germany

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (P).—German withdrawal of some war equipment from Spain or at least from the Spanish war front, was reported in confidential advices reaching diplomatic quarters here over the week-end.

The movement was understood in those quarters to be accompanied by a speeding up of shipments of Spanish ore from Bilbao, Spain, upon which Germany has drawn heavily for raw materials for the last 18 months.

In addition to a new type rapid-fire, electrically-controlled artillery piece, some airplanes have disappeared from the front recently, the advices said. These reports linked the development with decreased offensive activity by the Franco forces.

French Appeal to United States to Help Avert War

PARIS, Sept. 19 (P).—French political leaders appealed Sunday to President Roosevelt publicly to save peace in Europe.

Their calls came at a time when Premier Daladier and Foreign Minister Bonnet were conferring with British government leaders in London over Reichsfuehrer Hitler's demands on Czechoslovakia.

The appeals, in editorials and speeches, indicated a fear that Great Britain and France might fail to hold Germany in check and a belief that United States influence was needed to avert war.

Socialist former Premier, Leon Blum, in an editorial under his name in Le Populaire, asked in referring to President Roosevelt: "Is it not time that he address himself to Europe with all the prestige of his person and with all the authority of the state whose moral or material support would be finally decisive in any general war?"

Bond Posted by Renne Alred Jr. In Hot Oil Case

HOUSTON, Sept. 19 (P).—Cash bond of $2,500 late Sunday was in the hands of United States Commissioner W. F. Carothers for Renne Alred Jr. made arrangements in Dallas to post bond for the brother of the governor as authorities searched for H. E. Hines, third man named in a federal hot oil indictment Saturday.

Commissioner Carothers revealed that Powers, accompanied by two East Texas oil men, came to the commissioner's office and posted the appearance bond. Powers, a former assistant to Governor Alred when the governor was Texas attorney general, had checked out of a hotel. He declined to comment on the indictment.

Attorneys for Renne Alred Jr. telephoned Brian Odem, assistant federal prosecutor, that they were ready to post bond with the United States commissioner at Dallas when the necessary papers are forwarded there from the Houston marshal's office.
Hines, a fugitive on another federal oil conspiracy indictment, had not been heard from, Marshal M. Frank Hammond said. Hines was described as last heard of in Kentucky.

Czechs Yet To Be Heard In Decision

Czechs Asked to Abandon Claims
To Sudeten Area

By Associated Press.
Following agreement of Great Britain and France to a deal with Germany whereby they favor Czechoslovakia's giving up of Sudeten areas this morning, it was generally expected that Prime Minister Chamberlain would not long delay his return trip to Germany to tell Hitler what, officially, were said to be these concessions:

(1) That Sudeten districts which voted 75 per cent for the Sudeten German party last May will be considered to have decided on a union with Germany.

(2) A new frontier will be drawn as soon as practicable to include all such districts within Germany.

(3) Districts which voted between 50 and 75 per cent for Sudeten candidates last May will become autonomous areas within Czechoslovakia and Germany.

(4) Populations will be exchanged to safeguard the liberties of German minorities which do not wish German rule, similar arrangements to be made for Czechoslovakia's Polish and Hungarian minorities.

(5) Czechoslovakia's new frontiers will be guaranteed by the great powers and she will be made an independent neutral state like Belgium.

RUSSIA ASKED TO BACK CZECHOSLOVAKIAN CLAIM

CENEVA, Sept. 19 (P).—Czechoslovakia was reported today to have asked Russian officials here for the Soviet Union's support against delivering over the Sudeten area to Germany. Neither Russian or Czech quarters would say anything officially except "this is a very delicate matter."

HITLER'S DEMANDS MET BY BRITAIN, FRANCE.

By Associated Press.
Governments of Great Britain and France, agreed on a policy of keeping peace at almost any cost, today ratified a tremendous international deal with Germany and apparently were urging Czechoslovakia to give up the Sudeten areas.

With almost desperate finality, the British and French cabinets gave approval to decisions of their premiers yesterday to meet Germany's demands on Czechoslovakia. But Czechoslovakia, which had no part in the decision, was to be reckoned with. Amid increasing resentment throughout the country, her cabinet met to study the Anglo-French plan that may mean her dismemberment.

Britain and France apparently decided to drop resistance to all or part of Adolf Hitler's demands in Czechoslovakia.

In return they hoped to get a general European settlement with Germany.

A brief, guarded communique issued after Prime Minister Chamberlain and his key ministers had been in an almost continuous 12-hour conference with French Premier Daladier and his Foreign Minister Bonnet, said only that they had reached a "complete agreement" on a policy to be adopted "with a view to promoting a peaceful solution to the Czechoslovak question."

It added significantly that the "two governments hope that thereafter it will be possible to consider a more general settlement in the interests of European peace."

To informed observers the communique indicated, however, that the two great European democracies had decided against fighting to preserve the unity of Czechoslovakia as that country is now constituted. Despite official secrecy, thrown about in almost continuous 12-hour reports to quarters usually to be relied upon that Britain and France had decided to accept Hitler's demands. The Sane Way to Fight For Democracy

By BRUCE CATTON. No American can read the foreign news these days without asking himself some searching questions about his duty to the cause of democracy and freedom.

That Europe's freedom and democracy are in dire straits is too tragically clear to miss. The struggle may come tomorrow or it may be postponed for a few weeks; that it is bound to come before very long now seems certain.

We cannot be unmoved by this spectacle. We have in our keeping the brightest, strongest flame of liberty that burns anywhere on the globe today; and as the lights flicker out in Europe we are compelled to ask ourselves just what our duty to the world calls on us to do.

Yet if we cannot avoid asking that question, we must be extremely careful about how we answer it.

Democracy and freedom are indeed in peril abroad; but we would be making the gravest error of our history if we assumed that we were obligated to go abroad to help them.

We do indeed have a duty to perform—but it is a duty that we can perform only by staying at home.

What better thing could we do than to keep democracy and freedom alive within our own borders? How could we serve those magnificent causes better than by preserving them intact on one continent? What more could we do for the world than demonstrate, in our own gigantic laboratory, that the way of liberty brings men and women more happiness than any other way?

The war peril in Europe makes it more than ever important that we do just those things. We can do them only by resolving to stay out of any war that Europe may conduct.

History moves in a roundabout way, and men learn things very slowly. Yet in the long run reason will prevail if it has a chance to make itself heard. The people of this world do not want war, nor do they want the eternal suspicion, enmity, and rivalry between nations that lead to war. They want peace, a chance to make a living, a little time to be happy, a little security against hunger and poverty.

If America goes on, year after year, proving that those boons can be had more abundantly under democracy than under oppression—if it shows that men can live at peace and plenty under a regime of complete freedom—will not the argument some day become irresistible?

Our first and greatest duty is at home. If we continue to make democracy work and to make peace and liberty go hand in hand with plenty and justice, we shall serve the world better than in any other possible way.

Capitol Jigsaw

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL.

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP).—Winging into his native state as plain Douglas Corrigan, the famed "wrong-way" trans-Atlantic flier left the Texas capitol as "Colonel" Corrigan.

Gov. James V. Allred, lauding the modest youngster in a flaming green shirt as an example of young men "true to the ideals and traditions of Texas," commissioned the aviator as a Lieutenant-Colonel on the Chief Executive's staff.

Thus Corrigan rightfully can be addressed as "Colonel," a designation similar to the rank given his admired predecessor, Charles Lindbergh.

Besides the commission, the governor honored the distinguished flier with a present reserved for famous visitors to the lone star state—a 10-gallon Texas cowboy hat.

Corrigan's quip, on trying on the hat, brought a laugh from assembled

Peace or War?

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The rush of propaganda intended to line up the United States with one or the other of the European factions has been going on for some time. Should war break, it will immediately redouble, and truth will be the first casualty in this as in all wars.

There will be less excuse for being misled this time, however, for over at the State Department in the Office of Munitions Control a series of earnest conferences are going on.

Foreign propagandists are registering in accord with a law which has just gone into effect. Others are seeking expert advice as to whether they have to register. If they do under the law, they must set down the names of their thousands. Said he: "Have I got it on backwards?"

Two factors in Corrigan's personality probably account for much of his popularity with all who meet him or have occasion to associate with him.

They are his utter willingness to accommodate and his spontaneous Irish wit.

Eager to comply with everyone's wishes, the diminutive flier signed several hundred autographs during his three-hour stay in the capital city, being waylaid almost everywhere between appointments by signature hunters.

His two speeches while in Austin were replete with homely blarney of a type which only a speaker so gifted could "put over." When repeated by others, his jokes are somewhat flat and much of the charm of his remarks is lost.

There is naivete in the manner in which he depreciates his courageous flight to Ireland and his eloquent but effective good humor defies description.

Pooh-poohing Governor Allred's tribute to his bravery, Corrigan replied simply:

"Well, I thought I was going to California. I knew there was solid land beneath the clouds I was flying over. It was only when I saw all that water on my boat trip back that I really got scared."

He said there were two reasons why he had no radio in the plane which has been referred to by others as a "crate" since it is of the same vintage as that used by Lindbergh.

"First," he said, "I couldn't afford one because I had only enough money for gas and oil and, second, when you have a radio and you hear there's bad weather ahead, you start to worry. If you don't have one, you don't know about the bad weather and you don't have to worry. So, you go on flying and enjoy it."

The governor complimented Corrigan because the intrepid aviator had turned down many "big money" offers to make his flight to cities and towns "because the people want to see him and he wants to see the people."

"Shucks," he said, "I really don't care for night clubs or stage appearances and what would I do with the money, anyway? Nobody will let me pay for a thing since I landed in Ireland."

Then he added, slyly: "What I'm wondering is how long this is going to last?"

Referring to the governor's comparing him to Columbus, Corrigan countered:

"Well, Columbus started for India and landed in America. Maybe his compass was off, too."

employers, the character of their activities, what they are paid, and what their duties are.

The intent of the law is to enable the American people to tell who is feeding them what propaganda. Registration data is open to all. Failure to register subjects the agent to a fine up to $1000 and a jail term up to two years.

Like all laws, this one is not bullet-proof, and the administering office has been for weeks engaged in drawing up regulations interpreting the act. There is some doubt as to just how completely any such law can reveal the inner cogwheels of the propaganda machines, for deviousness is usually their first characteristic.

In the Washington of 1915 you couldn't walk down the street without stepping on agents, avowed or secret, amateur or professional, of foreign governments.

In 1938 it is almost as bad, and should war actually come to Europe it will be much worse.

Ben Cohen, general counsel for the National Power Policy Committee, close friend of Frankfurter and member of the famous Corcoran-Cohen brain-trust team, decided to vacation in Europe in the hope that he could aid Jewish refugees from Austria, Germany, and Italy.

Former secretary of the American Zionist Committee in association with Justice Brandeis, and two years representative of Palestine in London, Cohen thought he might be able to do some liaison work through old friends in London and Paris.

WEST TEXAS GEOLOGICAL SOCIETY MEMBERS TAKE LEAD IN PLANS FOR GREAT AAPG CONVENTION, EL PASO

Midland geologists will account for a major portion of the program when the American Association of Petroleum Geologists holds its convention at El Paso, opening September 29.

The technical program committee has completed plans for the presentation of 21 papers pertinent to West Texas and New Mexico. In addition, arrangements have been made for ample time for discussion, and it is urged that all interested be prepared to avail themselves of this opportunity.

The following program will be presented, in the order as listed, on Thursday, Sept. 29, and Friday, Sept. 30, 1938, in the ballroom of the headquarters hotel:

Ed W. Owen, geologist, L. H. Went, oil division, San Antonio, Texas: Summary of Regional Geology and Oil Development of the West Texas Permian Basin—30 minutes.

The Jown Quack

It's hard to write this column without saying something else about W. Lee O'Daniel's trade against the newspapers which "misquote him." The Dallas News editorial which we published Sunday along with our own was second only to the cartoon of Mr. Knott in the News. Showing O'Daniel shaking hands with a microphone, the cartoon was headed "Mike Never Talks Back."

But a speaker can be misquoted even when he carries his message to the people by radio. One man will hear the speech, but the next ten men may not be listening. The one who hears it goes down town. "Did you hear what O'Daniel said?" he will ask. "No, I wasn't listenin'," may be the reply.

So the one who hears it proceeds to tell what O'Daniel said. And the one he tells about it will go home and tell the folks. And they will tell the neighbors. By the time it gets around, O'Daniel might not recognize his own statement. A man is apt to get misquoted almost any way he speaks, but the newspapers will come as near giving him an even break as ANYBODY.

I don't know what these columnists would do if it were not for O'Daniel, or somebody in a similar position. Did you have as much trouble during the depression keeping your bills paid as you are having now? One of Odessa Editor Ralph Shufler's best cracks was the one he made when he saw Dr. Headlee cashing an oil royalty check. He said the doctor apparently was going to make more out of the well than out of the sick.

One of Odessa Editor Ralph Shufler's best cracks was the one he made when he saw Dr. Headlee cashing an oil royalty check. He said the doctor apparently was going to make more out of the well than out of the sick.

It's hard to write this column without saying something else about W. Lee O'Daniel's trade against the newspapers which "misquote him." The Dallas News editorial which we published Sunday along with our own was second only to the cartoon of Mr. Knott in the News. Showing O'Daniel shaking hands with a microphone, the cartoon was headed "Mike Never Talks Back."

But a speaker can be misquoted even when he carries his message to the people by radio. One man will hear the speech, but the next ten men may not be listening. The one who hears it goes down town. "Did you hear what O'Daniel said?" he will ask. "No, I wasn't listenin'," may be the reply.

So the one who hears it proceeds to tell what O'Daniel said. And the one he tells about it will go home and tell the folks. And they will tell the neighbors. By the time it gets around, O'Daniel might not recognize his own statement. A man is apt to get misquoted almost any way he speaks, but the newspapers will come as near giving him an even break as ANYBODY.

I don't know what these columnists would do if it were not for O'Daniel, or somebody in a similar position. Did you have as much trouble during the depression keeping your bills paid as you are having now? One of Odessa Editor Ralph Shufler's best cracks was the one he made when he saw Dr. Headlee cashing an oil royalty check. He said the doctor apparently was going to make more out of the well than out of the sick.

Pajama and Panda

The coat of the cute white panda is no softer than the downy surface of the cotton and rayon flannellette of this child's handy one-piece pajama. In pink, light blue or tearose, the garment has a trimly tailored front button closing, handy pocket and generous tie belt. The material has been scientifically preshrunk so that every vestige of the shrinkage problem has been removed.

courage, I would put into his hands these two Icelandic sagas, with the Morte d'Arthur and even the Niebelungen Lied. . . (Preface). (6-8 grades.)

Heming, Lifting Forest: Concerns a gold mine, a gang of ruffians, the two boys and an old breed hunter who wanders through the Canadian woods for nearly a year and finally see the outlaws captured and their loot recovered by the mounted police. But it is the woodcraft and woodlore taught the boys by old Bill Hill in their year of wandering with only a knife for a tool or a weapon that may interest the young reader most.

Jordan, Discovering Christopher Columbus: An American boy, Christopher by name, journeys through Spain, following the trail of Christopher Columbus, his most admired historical character. The contrast between present day Spain and the country as it was in the time of Columbus is well brought out, and we read with a new respect and sympathy for the man who persevered in the face of such odds. Beautifully illustrated. (6-8 grades.)

King, Amnon, a Lad of Palestine: A little Jewish boy of eight and his pet goat are the chief characters in an unusual story with its setting among the hills of Palestine. There is a fascinating account of the Feast of Purim as it is celebrated today. (5-6 grades.)

McNeer, Prince Bantam: A Japanese fairy tale, telling of a prince and a giant—the giant an enemy who becomes a friend and ally of the young prince; their journeys over the island kingdom winning back power for the prince and his clan. (5-7 grades.)

Miller, Hidden People: The Story of the search for Inca treasures. An absorbing story of South America, about two young Americans who go adventuring in search of the lost treasure of the Incas. (6-8 grades.)

Mural, Kibum Daizin: How a beggar lad became the leading merchant of Japan. (6-7 grades.)

Phillips, Pixie: A Little Boy of the Pines: Pixie is a small boy who lives with gypsies in the New Jersey woods and who prefers the woods to school. Although his salvation is finally accomplished through the book wagon which comes from the county library, his first friend from the civilized world is Amanda, a little girl who finds him making himself a bed of leaves in the deep woods when the "Piney people," his gypsy friends, have deserted him. (4-5 grades.)

Stevenson, ed. My Country: Collection of poems of history for young Americans.

Stuart, Adventures of Piang, the Moro jungle boy: Episodes in the life of a young Moro prince living on the island of Mindanao. His adventures in the tropic jungle and his meeting with American troops will please children. (6-8 grades.)

Lenski, The Little Family: These are the people in The Little Family: Mr. & Mrs. Little, Sally Little, and Tommy Little. They live in a little house, with doors and windows and a chimney on top. It is the kind of a house you live in. And from the time Sally and Tommy get up in the morning until they go to bed at night they are busy doing the things you do. (For very little folks.)

Senior League Elects Officers Sunday Evening

Election of officers was the highlight of the business meeting of the Senior League held at the church annex Sunday evening.

Charles Patterson was elected president; Miss Ruth Tidmore was re-elected vice-president; Miss Bessie Flournoy was named secretary; and Mrs. Alvon Patterson was re-elected treasurer.

A council meeting was announced for Thursday evening at 7:30 at the church annex, to precede the recreation hour.

Approximately 14 young people were present.

Dallas club women have instituted a new kind of social service for children—the toy-lending library. We read of this idea in New York some time ago but were not aware that it had reached Texas. The Lone Star State is quicker on the uptake than we gave it credit for being.

Anyway, to get back to the toy-lending library, this is just what its name implies—a place where toys are kept and may be borrowed by underprivileged children for a week or two weeks, just as books are borrowed by children or adults at any public library.

It is a project that, if it works out well as it apparently is doing in Dallas, should be carefully studied by any community which has a group of under-privileged children who need entertainment of the sort that will not lead directly to the juvenile delinquency courts in a few years.

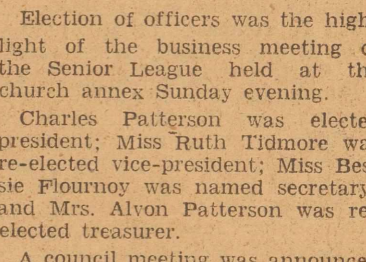

It contributes not only to the proper use of idle hours but fills an aching void in the hearts of children who see others using daily the dolls and scooters that they feel they would almost give their lives for but cannot have, simply because a harried mother and father cannot spare the price of the toys from a budget that barely allows for food and clothes.

Nobody suffers more than the young when they do suffer. Which is one of the reasons we're glad we're grown up. Adult life teaches one there are few things worthy of allowing oneself to suffer over. Children don't know this. To them a forbidden toy can be a tragedy.

Three cheers for the toy-lending libraries and the clubs that sponsor them!

Autumn flowers were used in house decorations.

Various games were played during the afternoon and gifts were presented to the honor guest.

The white and pink birthday cake was lighted by nine candles at the refreshment hour and white and pink ice cream was served.

Present were: The honoree, John Larsh, Florence Larsh, Martin Duval, Bill Hamilton, Alpha Stacy, Mary Elizabeth Collins, Hal Barbour, Jimmy Barbour, Sandra Reash, Bobby Girdley, Bobby Zimmerman.

At the Library
New juvenile books include: Adams, Remember and Forget: A romantic, adventurous tale of the Civil War, written with that storytelling charm and historical accuracy always found in Julia Adams' books for boys and girls. (For older girls.)

Balch, Tiger Roan: This is the biography of a broncho from the time when he was nothing but a fuzzy little colt tagging around after his mother, until he became the fierce "man-killer" of the rodeo arena. Mr. Balch knows horses. He lives in Idaho, and when he is not writing he is in the saddle. He has watched them in herds on the open range. He knows how they fight among themselves, how they select their leader, and where they go in the winter. There is a great fascination about the life of the mustang. Tiger Roan tells not only about their existence as wild horses, but also how they are captured and tamed. (Older boys and girls.)

Barbour, Hero of the Camp: Gil Foster and his friend, Jigger Rubbers, arrive at Camp Deerfoot in the Maine woods, where they are to spend the summer acting as junior counselors to the younger boys. The two chums, who were both football stars at Hillfields School, put their gridiron experience to good service in organizing the different camp activities—swimming, canoeing, hiking, baseball, and field sports. Just when camp affairs are beginning to run smoothly a new boy arrives, and things take an interesting turn. Mysterious happenings follow his arrival—among them a fire in a camp building, a troublesome hoax, and some hard feelings in the baseball team. Finally, in a rousing chapter the whole situation clears up through a fine act of heroism. A story of camp life filled with likeable characters, good sportsmanship, action and fun. (6-8 grades.)

Berry, Girls in Africa: The first story of the collection is about a journey into Nigeria taken by a sixteen-year-old girl on a visit to her father, a British agent stationed there. The other stories are about adventures of girls of various negro tribes. (Book rev. Digest). (5-8 grades.)

Chute, Rhymes About Ourselves: Rhymes about gardening, presents, fairies, birthdays, snowflakes, dressing-up—in other words rhymes about all the important things in the life of a boy or girl of about six or eight.

Crownfield, Katherine Gordon, Patriot: A romance of early colonial times for older girls. The heroine is a lovely and heroic Colonial Southern girl whose beautiful home in Charles Town is burned during the siege of that city by British soldiers, whose father is imprisoned, whose brother—one of Marlon's men—is made to appear a traitor through the clever scheming of a British officer whom Katherine had rebuffed. Driven into exile by an edict of Cornwallis, she goes to Virginia, only to be caught in the siege of Yorktown. Not only a fascinating and dramatic adventure story, but an authentically accurate one in historical background and setting. (Older girls.)

Dragounis, Under Greek Skies: Three stories of true children of sunny Greece. Well written with good descriptions of the country and customs. (5-7 grades.)

French, The Story of Grettir the Strong: "Among Icelandic sagas there are two which deserve to be classed with world-literature. The first of these is the Njal's Saga, the second the Grettir's Saga. . . If I wished a lad to learn from his reading the quality of steadfast

Doc, I bought these teeth at a bargain but I want you to put them in!

IMAGINE the amazement of your dentist if you went to him with a set of "store teeth" you purchased at a bargain and asked him to fit them in your mouth.

Your dentist knows that your health, comfort and well-being depend upon his ability to select teeth which will exactly meet your individual requirements—perfect matching of the teeth to assure a natural appearance and expert fitting to afford satisfactory service for many years.

Neither good teeth nor good plumbing can be purchased economically "over the counter". Plumbing fixtures too, must be of assured quality, carefully selected to meet your requirements, harmoniously matched to enhance the appearance of your home and installed by experienced hands to assure health protection, satisfactory service and real economy.

Good plumbing is vital to the health of your family for it means the delivery of pure water and the safe removal of dangerous waste matter. It can mean much more than the good health of your family alone, because water contamination can endanger the health of an entire community. Good plumbing is so vital that you should be sure that your present plumbing is good.

Entrust your plumbing only to Master Plumbers. They have the knowledge, skill and experience necessary to assure safe, healthful, economical plumbing. Buy your fixtures from them. Place upon them the entire responsibility, as you would upon your dentist.

Your Master Plumber can recommend the "Standard" Plumbing Fixtures best suited for your requirements, help you plan a new bathroom, powder room or kitchen, and arrange the financing on low F.H.A. terms. And remember, "Standard" Plumbing Fixtures, sold through Master Plumbers, cost no more than others.

CAR DESIGN SLATED FOR MAJOR SHIFT IN '39?

Noted Designer Declares End of Current Style Cycle is Now Overdue

By JOEL BARBER

Five years ago two radically different schools of automobile design met head-on in the market. The public evinced momentary interest and curiosity in the blunt-end school of streamlining, then swung over and approved the flying-wedge type of design.

The style cycle set in motion by this choice now appears to be nearing completion. Indeed, the question really is, if its end is not overdue, for while major style shifts cost hugely to accomplish, they cost far less than not to sell cars in satisfactory volume.

Which car users in the distinctive design that is to prevail during the next style cycle is of course enormously important, since to that car will accrue the advantages of setting the pattern for years to come. It is perhaps too early to forecast, but my advices from Michigan convince me that Buick, pioneer member of the General Motors family, will in 1939 be styleblazer of the new automobile mode.

AMERICAN POLOISTS LOOK TOO GOOD FOR BRITISH, WITH PLENTY OF ABILITY, PONIES, MONEY AND TIME

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—America's team for the International polo series with England at historic old Meadow Brook next June will not be officially named until spring, but, barring unforeseen developments, it will be composed of Mike Phipps, No. 1; Cecil Smith, No. 2; Stewart Iglehart, No. 3; and the perennial Tommy Hitchcock, back.

This quartet should ride the British or any other outfit off the field. But while the United States squad on paper looks distinctly like a winner, one must remember that this is an international match—best of three—and for some reason or another such competitions frequently tend to even up.

Maybe it's along the good old line of doing or dying for the good old fatherland, or something. Anyway, experts tell me it won't be any one-sided affair despite the fact that the Englishmen, except for Eric Tyrrell-Martin, haven't played too well in the current championships—the National Open and the Monty Waterbury. The latter determines the national handicap title and concludes Sept. 21.

Other possibilities for the United States array are Eric Pedley of southern California, and the Long Islanders, George Herbert (Pete) Bostwick, Billy Post, and Ebby Gerry.

dered what polo players do when not playing polo. Practically all of them are extremely wealthy. It costs plenty to own and maintain a string of ponies.

Phipps doesn't do much outside of polo, but when he does he divides his time between painting and horses. He's an improving amateur painter. His family has plenty of that for which we slave.

Smith plays polo for the greater part of the year on Long Island, in Texas, California, or England. From a Texas ranching family, Smith still has some ranch interests in the Lone Star state.

Iglehart's family owns much of a major steamship line and has other and extended interests. Stewart decided to go to work for himself, however, made good as a building contractor strictly on his merits. He plays hard, works hard, too.

Hitchcock is a partner in a private banking institution in Wall Street. He works hard, too.

All four are terrific hitters. Phipps has a fine sense of anticipation.

Smith is a marvelous horseman with a keen eye for the ball and goal.

Young Iglehart probably is the finest player in the world today. Certainly, if Hitchcock is still entitled to that distinction, Iglehart is likely to replace him at the top within another year or two.

Iglehart's stroke is unquestionably one of the more fluid in polo. He has a particularly fine back-hand, makes unbelievable back-hand strokes off the near side.

STARS ARE WELL FIXED.

Lum Daugherty came back from the Lovington rodeo, pretty enthusiastic over the big show. He said the bucking steers felt the cooler weather and really gave the boys some spills, and the calf ropers made better time than he had seen all summer, and I guess he's seen twenty or thirty.

this year, what with Bob Myer back on the job, Coaches Freels and Kimbriel handling the junior high squad, Kimbriel last season was on the other end from Sam Boyd on that far. Baylor team which went longer without a defeat than any other team in the Southwestern conference.

You probably noticed in this column where Tony Slaughter, our good friend and contemporary over at Odessa, said all the district 7-B teams would be in action this past Friday, except Midland. Well, he must have found out that Midland was in action too, because he wrote this in his Sunday column:

Midland's surprising 53-0 win over a light an inexperienced Rugby team at Midland last Friday night featured opening play in the (torrid) Permian Basin last week-end. Coach Bud Taylor's Midland Kennel coed at will over the visitors with Francis living up to expectations that he is likely to be the best all-around back this season in the district.

Taylor tried to pull the punches by using second and third stringers but they scampered, too. The exhibition turned in by Midland sounds the warning that they will be the team for Wink to beat to repeat for the district gonfalcon. Monahans, however with Ed Hary and E. Ellis gaining via the ground route, remained a district threat with a 19-0 win over Lubbock's B squad.

We have had preachers here who were football fans for quite a while. And now we have another one. Although he's not outspoken about it, the Rev. H. D. Bruce, Baptist pastor used to coach a team of mountaineer boys over in South Carolina. The boys averaged better than 200 pounds and more than six feet tall. After beating all the high schools available the long, rangy men took on some colleges successfully.

By way of rebuttal, I would ask why Tony was surprised. It's like the time our good friend Louis Link led the ticket for school trustee and we called him a surprise candidate. Billy Walsh wanted to know who was surprised. He wasn't. Well, we were not much surprised at how the Bulldogs beat Roby. Tony just hadn't had a look at this mowing machine Bud Taylor will use on Odessa, Wink, Crane, Monahans, Peecos and some of the smaller fry. We only regret that the game with Odessa won't count in the percentage.

Speaking of Bud Taylor. The head coach has a lot of good help little to those who can afford to play polo.

Effective Modernization

Several slight structural changes and complete redecoration transformed the dining room shown in the above pictures from an example of the "golden-oak age" of interiors into a pleasing modern room.

The window shown in the "Before" view opened onto an enclosed porch. It gave little light and ventilation and was blocked off. The doorways were lowered and arched, creating an illusion of depth. The walls were recovered with a wedgewood patterned paper and the woodwork painted white. A new central fixture was installed and the room was ready for refurnishing.

Redecoration and alteration projects of this type may be financed with the proceeds of a Property Improvement Credit Plan loan insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Runs 7 Chickens, 65 Cents Up in a Year

COLLEGE STATION, Texas. (P). —In 1937, Chester Keeton, 42, moved to a Milan county farm with only his household goods, seven chickens and sixty-five cents in cash. His success was chosen as the best example of rural rehabilitation as reflected in stories submitted by farm security administration county supervisors at their annual conference at Texas A&M college early this month.

The four best stories typifying the FSA program, including Keeton's, were those of Olen L. Birdwell of Fannin county; Fred Pearson, negro, of Limestone county; and Avers A. Cox of Haskell county.

Keeton obtained a FSA loan of $335 in 1937 to make his start and repaid $186 that year. Another loan of $407 was made to him this year. Approximately one-half of both loans was spent for implements, reproductive livestock and other capital goods. At present his chattels consisting of 400 leghorn hens and pullets, three brood mares, one colt, one cow and calf, two brood sows, one litter of five pigs, implements, canned food and feed are estimated to be worth $1,500 more than his indebtedness.

The only security Olen Birdwell had to offer was his ability to work and 15 hens. His first loan was for $553 in 1936 with additional loans of $196 in 1937 and $81 in 1938. Of the total, $464 has been repaid. The value of recoverable goods now securing the remaining debt has been appraised at $789.

Fred Pearson, negro, was left without resources when his landlord could no longer finance his rent. Three mules that he owned died. With a family of eight to support, he was granted a loan of $265 in 1935, of which $216 was repaid the same year. Smaller loans were made in 1937 and in 1938. At present his net worth is $905 and his current living expenses are being met by five milk cows, two of which were bought with FSA funds this year.

Golf Bug Nips Pair Who Wait Years to Play MEDINA, O. (UP). —For a quarter of a century Mr. and Mrs. Earle Blakslee, a farm couple, classified city folk who batted a little white pellet around the rolling greenward of a nearby club as slightly bantry.

But that was before the golf bug bit them. They now tour 18 holes a day doing what they formerly considered was (1) silly; (2) ridiculous; (3) crazy; (4) a plumb waste of time.

What would my farmer friends think of me and my wife running around a field chasing a white ball," Blakslee asked when someone suggested they take up the game. But there came a day when he considered he had saved up enough money to retire. He didn't know what to do with his new leisure time.

Blakslee, 69, and Mrs. Blakslee, 60, form the ideal golfing couple. Both are deaf and so needn't be quiet on green or tee.

When it gets too cold for them to play here they move south to Pine Castle, Fla., and nothing less than a hurricane will keep them off the links. He averages 90; she 110.

Giant Bearing For Huge Lens Nearly Ready PITTSBURGH, (U.P.). —A 317,000-pound steel bearing that will support the largest telescope in the world is nearly ready for its task after being ground for more than four months to give it mirror-like smoothness.

Polishing and grinding given the huge unit at the East Pittsburgh works of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company brought it to within five one-thousandths of an inch of a perfect circle. Installed as support for the telescope which will be located atop Mt. Palomar, Cal., the bearing will turn slowly on oil pressure pads to guard against vibration.

During the grinding process, engineers discovered that the afternoon, streaming through skylights at the plant caused the circle to expand 13 thousandths of an inch—a matter of concern to engineers.

Blue paint over the skylight failed to solve the problem so workmen constructed a "sunbonnet" of composition material a few inches above the revolving bearing.

got odds of 12 to 1 against the Maid in the Stakes. I put up $4,000. I win $48,000 if she comes in; plus the purse. I can win if your colt stays in his barn; the filly is at tops. I'll give you $10,000 cash—tomorrow—to keep him there. And $10,000 more when Merry Maid wins. Fair?"

der's opening up a bit.

THEY were coming into the stretch. The grandstands, crowded with humanity, let out a great roar. "Look—look!" Linda grabbed her uncle's arm. They were running wide into the stretch—Golden Toy was bearing out, carrying Merry Maid with him.

"Uncle Sandy—Uncle Sandy! Come on!" In excitement Linda seized the horseman's arm, started toward the finish line. He ran with her; Norman trotting alongside. "Lawdy, lawdy—what a finish, what a finish!" Norman shouted, as the stands burst into hysterical shouts.

A great golden chestnut—a dark bay—they shot under the wire together noses on a line— Uncle Sandy stopped. "Durn if I ain't afraid— He didn't finish he thought."

PHOTOGRAPHIC FINISH "The judges," Uncle Sandy said calmly, "they go in to look at the picture—look from top o' the grandstand. The nag whose nose touches the wire in that picture—he or she wins. Won't take but a minute for that high-speed camera to show em."

France would seek to induce the little republic to give over to Germany her territory which is preponderantly German-populated. In return, this report said, Britain and France would propose that they together with Germany, Italy, Poland, Hungary and Rumania give a seven-power guarantee against violation to new boundaries of the nation of the Czechs and Slovaks.

Original Stories Declared Best for Screen Production

It is generally agreed that the average motion picture is constantly growing better. It is more entertaining than it ever was before. It is pleasing more theatergoers than it ever did before.

There's no mystery about this, in my judgment. The answer seems quite simple. It is just this—the improvement is due to the fact that we are making more and more photoplays from originals written for the screen.

Originals Best.

Six or eight years ago an original story didn't have a Chinaman's chance of being considered for the screen. The producers' advice to writers was: "If you have a story, get it published in some magazine before you send it to us. Once it's printed, maybe we'll read it. But without publication—no!"

No Formula.

There is no distinct formula which must be followed in the writing of a picture play, but there are certain elements which any trained scenarist knows must be included in the story. An ideal movie, I have always felt, might follow the rule that the great editor Joseph Pulitzer followed regarding the front page of his newspaper, the New York World—"make 'em laugh, make 'em cry, make 'em thrill!"

Because the trained scenarist knows these things and has them always in mind, I would much rather have him writing my stories than some stage playwright, no matter how brilliant.

Has Registered Rams on Display at Old Fair Grounds

Hudson Hanks, operator of the old "Greenswood Ranch" thirty miles south of Midland and breeder of registered sheep, has prepared to fill growing demands for breeding rams by bringing 100 head to display at the old fair grounds, a mile south of Midland on the Rankin highway. Hanks will be here to handle the sale of rams for about thirty days. He has 500 to sell, the remainder being at the ranch.

Son of D. T. Hanks who had raised registered sheep for a quarter of a century, Hudson Hanks said the bucks he has are from the long line of breeding originated by his father and he plans to make this a permanent business here. He formerly lived at San Angelo, grazed the Bill Currie ranch near Garden City for eight years and has been at the present location for the past three years.

Road-

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE right-of-way through Martin county east and west, and from Stanton northward to the Dawson county line on a Lamesa road, lacked less than 10 votes having the necessary two-thirds majority this year. Now Martin county has state designation on a road from Stanton north to Lenorah and westward to the Andrews county line where it will be met by Andrews and carried on to the New Mexico line. It is assumed that if the county secures the roadway along a route already staked by the state, and improves it, that the state subsequently will surface the entire project and maintain it as a regular highway.

Ector Officials Ask State Take Over Kermit Road

ODESSA, Sept. 19.—Three Ector county commissioners, Gene Cody, E. V. Graham, Tom Tripp and County Engineer Buddy Lee are in Austin today to meet with the State Highway Commissioner to ask the Commission to take over the 12.7 mile stretch of road from Odessa to the Goldsmith intersection on the Odessa-Kermit road for immediate paving.

The State Commission at a previous meeting had agreed to take over the road when it was finished to the Winkler county line. Main reason for the county wanting the state to take over the road immediately is to save the cost of maintenance between now and the time the last stretch is graded and calched from the Goldsmith intersection to the Winkler county line.

Bids for grading, drainage and calche work on the last half mile stretch will be received by the county Oct. 10 at the Ector County courthouse.

If the state takes over the 12.7-mile stretch it would be paved at once, it was believed by Engineer Lee and save the county the upkeep cost.

PATIENTS ADMITTED.

Several patients were admitted to a Midland hospital Sunday and today. Included were: Mrs. M. E. King, admitted yesterday for medical attention; G. W. Venable, employee of the Rush Drilling company, admitted today for treatment of injury; Ralph Bailey admitted today for medical attention; A. Harry Anderson admitted today for treatment.

FROM FORT WORTH.

FROM MARTIN COUNTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Deavenport to Martin county are in Midland today.
