New Border Clashes Are Reported

Train Crash Kills Ten

Forty Hurt As Trains Telescoped

Faulty Switch Blamed for SP Rail Tragedy

NILAND, Calif., Sept. 20. (AP).—The sudden and unexplainable decision of a brakeman to throw a siding switch was blamed by Southern-Pacific officials for a railroad wreck today that killed eleven persons and injured 100, many critically.

C. F. Donnatin, Southern Pacific superintendent at Los Angeles, blamed the wreck on "man failure and the unexplainable act by Eric Leonard Jacobs", head end brakeman employed by the road for eighteen years. Donnatin said Jacobs, dazed and hysterical by the effects of his sudden decision, was unable to explain his actions.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20 (AP).—Ten persons were killed and about forty injured today in the telescoping of two Southern Pacific trains near Niland.

Officials said the tragedy apparently was caused by a faulty switch that shunted the west-bound Argonaut onto a siding where the California, east-bound from Los Angeles to Chicago, waited for it to pass.

S. E. Mason, engineer of the Californian, leaped to safety on a shout from his fireman who was crushed to death before he could jump. The dead included three trainmen and seven women. Most of the dead and injured were on the Californian. Acetylene torches were used to cut away metal in order to reach the victims.

The Argonaut was en route from New Orleans to Los Angeles. Later the list of injured was placed at 77. Many were reported so seriously hurt they probably will die.

Nearly all passengers were asleep at the time of the collision, 1:25 a. m.

Penrose May Take Scout Executive Western End Post

Appointment of Jack Penrose, formerly of St. Louis, as field executive of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, subject to ratification of the Council Executive Board, was announced here today by Alfred J. Stiles of Sweetwater, council executive officer.

Penrose, who may make his headquarters in Midland, replaces Harold Wilson, resigned, as field executive of the western end of the council. Stiles and Penrose are spending today in Midland contacting scouters and others interested in the scout movement.

Midland Women Aid in Dedication

Mrs. Fay Proctor and Mrs. Holt Jewell went to Portales, New Mexico, Sunday to take part in the dedication of the First Methodist church there.

Mrs. Proctor sang "Ave Maria", accompanied by Mrs. Jewell.

Portales is Mrs. Proctor's home town and the new church, which cost about $100,000, has special significance for her as it is built on the spot where she joined the church as a child. Also, her father, G. W. Carr, is chairman of the board of stewards which did most of the work of raising funds for the building. The church is paid out, with no debt on it, Mrs. Proctor said.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, Ph.D. D.D., conducted the dedicatory program, assisted by Dr. Robt. Dixon, pastor, and Dr. Geo. W. Shearer, presiding elder.

Following the morning sermon, a crowd estimated at 500 to 700 people was served with luncheon in the church basement. The Midland visitors declared they had never seen so much food on one table and enough remained for the serving of supper in the evenings.

Bishop Holt, who will go to New York City, then to Wichita Falls, and then to Fort Worth, will be in this district in October, Mrs. Proctor said.

Democrats Vote Today on Final Party Purge Issue

The Democrats of a section of New York City will decide today the outcome of the last of President Roosevelt's announced efforts to rid Congress of Democrats whom he calls conservatives.

They will choose between Representative John J. O'Connor, whom Roosevelt has denounced as "one of the most effective obstructionists" in the House, and James H. Fay, New Dealer backed personally by the Chief Executive.

Although the President was beaten in similar fights recently in the Democratic senatorial primaries of South Carolina, Georgia, and Maryland, Roosevelt's aids indicated they were hopeful of better fortune in New York.

Because of its national aspects, the O'Connor-Fay contest overshadowed other primary elections today throughout the remainder of New York and in three other states—New Jersey, Wisconsin and Massachusetts.

In New Jersey, former Senator W. Warren Barbour was seeking the Republican senatorial nomination against C. Dan Coskey and George O. Pullen. William H. Ely was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

The Massachusetts primaries presented spirited contests for the gubernatorial nominations of both parties. Governor Hurley, Democrat, was opposed by former Governor Curley. Francis E. Kelly and

ARMED PEACE TO PREVENT WAR IS PLEA OF LEGION KEYNOTER AFTER WORLD CONFLICT DIDN'T END WARS

ARMED PEACE TO PREVENT WAR IS PLEA OF LEGION KEYNOTER AFTER WORLD CONFLICT DIDN'T END WARS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20. (AP).—The men who helped win the World War 20 years ago only to find out later that it did not prove to be a "war to end all wars," roared last night for a powerful armed peace and neutrality that will keep the United States out of war.

The 20th annual convention of the American Legion, its greatest gathering, had for a keynoter United States Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts. He talked of neutrality, national defense, and communism.

He gave the legionnaires a command to move. It was: "The command is forward—forward, not for world democracy, but for peace and democracy at home here in America."

National commander Daniel J. Doherty reported that today there are 372,933 members of the legion. He pointed to the legion's Americanism commission activities as "of greater import now than at any time in the history of the legion."

The four-day convention was geared for action on policies and election and selecting a next year convention city. Pre-convention action found Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle proposed for national commander, and Chicago the choice for the 1939 convention.

Following the opening session in the morning the convention committees went to work. Most of the delegates however were thinking of tomorrow—the big parade.

Storm Headed for North Carolina

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 20. (AP).—The weather bureau today ordered northeast storm warnings to be displayed along the North Carolina coast, declaring that a "hurricane of great intensity" would pass east of Cape Hatteras tonight.

The storm, which yesterday menaced south Florida, was moving northward at seventeen miles an hour.

District Agents Inspect Work Here

J. D. Prewitt, district agricultural agent, and Miss Ruth Thompson, district home demonstration agent, are here today, looking over work of the county agricultural and home demonstration agents, S. A. Debnam and Miss Mary Jo Weigers.

Mr. Prewitt went with Agent Debnam to southeastern parts of the county this morning inspecting contour listing in sheep pastures. The Hutt, Hutchison and Floyd ranches were visited.

Prison Officials Given Indictments

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20. (AP).—Murder and manslaughter indictments were returned today by the grand jury against ten officials and guards of the Philadelphia county prison where four convicts died in punishment cells. William Mills, superintendent, and Frank Craven were among those indicted.

Radioed Pictures Recall War Terrors

Fleeing Clashes in Border Region

Reminful of World War misery are these pictures of refugees from the war-menaced areas of Czechoslovakia. Top photo shows aged and crippled refugees from Schwaderbach turning for one last look at the Czechoslovakian homeland after crossing the border to seek sanctuary in Germany. A pitched battle at Schwaderbach was typical of the sporadic fighting that drove an estimated 25,000 into Germany and threatened to precipitate the long-feared German invasion. Lower photo, taken in Prague, shows a group that fled the Sudeten region when clashes between Czech police and German sympathizers threatened their lives and homes. These pictures were radioed from London.

Czechs Perpare to Defend 'Every Inch'

When a Czech foreign office spokesman pronounced these words: "We will defend every inch of territory that belongs to Czechoslovakia. We will fight if necessary," he was backed up by the action of his government in moving large forces of troops and artillery into the troubled Sudeten area where German invasion threatens. The radiophoto above shows Czech soldiers wheeling a field piece into position at Motol, south of Prague, for defense of the capital.

CC Drive Captains Call Workers for Meetings Tonight

Opposing sides in the annual chamber of commerce membership campaign contest to be conducted Friday will lay their plans of attack at separate meetings to be held this evening. The side captained by George Abell to meet at the chamber of commerce office at 7:00 o'clock while John P. Butler's group will meet at 7:45 o'clock in the same office. The two captains were today contacting their workers, advising them of the time and place of the meetings.

The contest will get underway with a breakfast for both sides in the Blue Room of the Scharbauer Hotel Coffee Shop at seven o'clock Friday morning, the one day contest to wind up with a dinner at Hotel Scharbauer at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening. The losing side in the contest will be the host to the winning side at the dinner. Committees will make their final reports not later than 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, the winner to be announced at the dinner.

Considerable rivalry is being worked up between the two groups in the contest, both sides being confident of victory. Russell C. Conkling is general chairman of the campaign.

Points in the contest will be given as follows: new members, listed, 100 points; new members, unlisted, 200 points; dues raised, 200 points; collected one month, 100 points.

Cards bearing the names of prospective members will be divided equally among the two sides, each side to divide the cards among the workers who will make the solicitations. Members of the two sides are expected to work in pairs. Many present chamber of commerce members will also be asked to increase their pledges.

Operating on a limited budget for the past several years, an effort will be made during the one day drive to increase the annual budget of the chamber of commerce to at least $10,000 in order that the diversified program of the organization will not have to be curbed. In carrying out this year's program of work, the chamber has expended approximately $500 more than has been taken in on pledges and it will be necessary to cut down on activities unless additional pledges are secured.

The side captained by George Abell in the membership contest is composed of J. E. Hill, Clint Myrick, J. C. Smith, Raymond Epham, R. D. (Bob) Scruggs, F. A. Nelson, Clarence Scharbauer, Tom Sealy, W. T. Doherty, W. F. Hej, Dr. W. E. Ryan, S. M. Vaughan, L. G. Mackeay, K. L. Sappington, Marion Flynt, Earl Horst, Harvey Conger, George McEntire, H. F. Fox and Claude Crane.

John P. Butler's group of workers are as follows: R. L. Miller, Luther Tidwell, Ralph Geisler, Charles McIntire, George Philipps, W. B. Simpson, Joyce Howell, L. T. Boynton, Barney Greathouse, T. R. Willson, R. M. Barron, Allen Watts, M. H. Crawford, Lester Short, J. M. Foster, Paul McHargue, Dr. J. B. Thomas, Clinton Lackey, and John Howe.

The Czechoslovak cabinet was said to have found "unacceptable" the British-French plan to cede Sudetenland to Germany, but was ready to use provisions of the plan as basis for further negotiations. The need for quick action was emphasized by a series of clashes on the German-Czechoslovak frontier.

PRAGUE SOURCES SAY SPLIT UNSATISFACTORY.

PRAGUE, Sept. 20. (AP).—A source often regarded as a spokesman for the Czechoslovak foreign office declared today the Franco-British proposals for splitting the nation's territory to appease Adolf Hitler was unacceptable to the Prague government.

The authoritative newspapers, Lidova Noviny, whose diplomatic editor, Hubert Blaha, often reflects the foreign office viewpoint, declared, "if the guarantees of borders made us 20 years ago are invalid today, what assurance have we that promises made now will be kept in the future?"

The newspaper's comment came as from other sources, usually having access to government information, indicated the government would consider the London proposals but only as a basis for further negotiation.

Bewildered and harassed between the two desires — to maintain their Republic intact in the face of the drive of totalitarian powers, and to solve the differences with their minorities, which they claim always has been well-treated — Czechs saw in the French and British proposals a sounding board for additional parleys in the future.

Injured Oil Man Improving Today,

Encouraging reports were given today on the condition of C. Lem Peters, Midland independent oil operator who was injured near Fort Sumner, N. M., when his car overturned early Sunday afternoon. To avoid complications from a possible brain concussion, attending physicians at a Fort Sumner hospital recommended that he remain there for ten days or two weeks, according to information telephoned by Mrs. Peters to Miss Beverly Chambers, secretary in the oil man's Midland office.

X-ray examinations revealed that no bones were broken, the report said. Although Peters was suffering from severe lacerations about his head and back, his condition appeared more favorable today. Normal temperature was registered.

The Midland man, accompanied by T. Holman, negro porter at the Scharbauer barber shop, was en route to Santa Fe where he was to have been joined by Guy Shepherd, New Mexico state railroad commissioner, and others on a hunting trip north of the New Mexico capital. His car overturned, Peters being at first severely hurt. The negro, going to serve as cook for the hunting party, was only slightly hurt and was en route to Midland today.

Mrs. Peters left here Sunday morning for Strawn, simultaneously with the departure of Mr. Peters, but rushed to Fort Sumner on receipt of news of the accident. Dr. A. F. Shirey, Midland dentist, and Mrs. Shirey, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Peters, went to Fort Sumner yesterday and were expected to return here early this afternoon.

Czechs Stall For Time on Peace Plan

British-French Plan Declared Unacceptable

PRAGUE, Sept. 20. (AP).—Czechoslovakian government announced tonight it had delivered its reply to the Great Britain-French proposals to end the European crisis and that it considered the way was left open to further "diplomatic negotiations."

UNDINI, Italy, Sept. 20. (AP).—Premier Mussolini tonight emphasized Italy's readiness for war, without reference, however, to the perilous crisis in Czechoslovakia.

The Czechoslovak government said this afternoon three attacks on frontier customs houses had been made by bands which crossed the boundary from Germany, armed with machine guns and pistols. Two Czechoslovak officers were reported to have been wounded.

German reports, on the contrary, charged that the Czechoslovakians had been the aggressors in several border clashes. The official German news agency said seventeen German frontier guards had been wounded in one clash.

RUSSIAN SUPPORT OF CZECHS INDICATED.

Czechoslovakia, pressed by Great Britain and France to surrender the Sudeten areas to Germany, stalled for time today while reports from Geneva said Russia had promised support if the Czechs decided to resist efforts to take the areas by force.

Neither Russian nor Czechoslovakian sources would confirm reports officially, but sources of the Next Three Months Are the Hardest for Traffic Safety

Texas made traffic safety history in August, with a 43.3 per cent reduction in street and highway fatalities, the state department of safety has reported. The August death toll was 106, compared to 187 in the same month last year.

But the season has arrived when utmost caution must be observed if the good results are to continue. In every city, town, village and hamlet, as well as on highways leading through rural communities, school children are in circulation, likely to dart across in front of an automobile at any time.

Then too, the football season is just beginning, with its week-end traffic increases. College and high school games throughout the country mean that extra thousands of people and automobiles will be scurrying to and from these athletic events.

Inclement weather is apt to lend its effect to the daily increasing traffic hazard season. Parents should do everything possible to impress upon their youngsters the necessity for watchfulness. And motorists must use every caution at their command to protect their own lives and the lives of others.

Texas, for 1938, has 228 less traffic fatalities than in the eight month period of 1937. The good work may be kept up, but only with the cooperation of all citizens.

Didn't One Man Become the Governor With Hill-Billies?

Is it proper for a college dean of men to direct the college jazz orchestra? Morton P. Brooks, dapper young dean at John Tarleton college, Stephenville, Tex., thinks it is, says an Associated Press story.

For two years he has directed the college dance band. "Bo" Brooks, as he is known to the 800 cadets who look to him for advice, has appeared with his dance band in many well known dance places in West Texas. To him the directing is a hobby, for he gives his shares of the earnings to the student members of the organization.

"Many fine boys have financed their education by playing in college dance orchestras," said Dean Brooks. "As a rule," he added, "I have found the jazz musicians in my orchestras to be both studious and serious minded."

Speaking of 'Persecuted Minorities' ---

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON.—Justice comes alike to the rich and the poor in this great city of contrasts.

But the scheme of contrasts runs in two courts here, one the mighty United States Supreme Court, housed in a $10,000,000 marble palace atop Capitol Hill, where litigation costing many millions comes each year. The wealthiest corporations and a government which speaks in billions fight their battles here.

Downtown in a rather shabby chamber of the Municipal Courts building is the contrast—the Small Claims Court of the District of Columbia.

This is a federal court, but also a local court. It's the "poor man's court." It handles cases which involve sums of $50 or less at practically no cost to litigants. Anyone can file a suit. Servants girls, landladies, small storekeepers, tenants, wage earners, owners of dilapidated automobiles which someone has damaged still further — are among those who come to this court for justice.

If they can't afford to pay the $1 fee charged for filing a case, the act of Congress says it may be waived. New York, Detroit and certain other cities have similar courts. But they're not common.

Capitol Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL.

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP). — The hills and plains of Texas this fall will be "happy hunting grounds in the truest sense of the words," says Will J. Tucker, secretary to the State Game Commission.

Tucker, one of the southwest's foremost naturalists, says deer, turkey and duck hunters will find the same great abundance of game in its accustomed haunts as dove hunters have found during the current season.

"Range conditions for deer in most of the state have been excellent," Tucker said. "They were particularly good in the central Texas hill country, the heart of the deer hunting area. Rains have provided lots of food for the fawn crop last year was first rate."

The secretary said most of last year's baby bucks would be big enough to shoot this season.

The south Texas deer range, Tucker said, while not profiting as greatly from climatic conditions as the hill country, probably would have its share of venison ready for the hunter's table.

"Drought conditions in spots have not helped deer," he said, "but for the most part, our reports show the real hunter will not lack for targets."

The secretary said Blacktail or Mule deer, the West Texas Peccos prize which roams the Trans-Pecos region, also had benefitted by good weather.

"Starvation rations," he said, "which plagued the deer some years ago, apparently are over for the present. Conditions improved last year and were still better this year."

A game department survey showed more than 30,000 deer taken by hunters over Texas last season and Tucker predicted the number would increase in the coming season.

"There will be more turkeys this fall than in any the past seven years," Tucker said.

The same conditions which made for a good deer crop in the hill country applied to turkeys, the secretary explained. He added the wild fowl enjoyed a particularly favorable breeding season.

The game department's coastal observers have reported unusually early duck flights arriving to take up winter residence and Tucker said this indicated increased numbers for the hunters.

"We'll have a 45-day season this year as compared to 30 days the past several years," the secretary said. "Since the federal government controls the migratory fowl season, it means ducks have enjoyed better breeding on the lakes up north."

Farm States Want Research Lab, as Congress Ponders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP). — When Senators Lee and Thomas, democrats of Oklahoma, made formal application to Secretary Wallace to establish in Oklahoma one of the four regional agricultural research laboratories provided in the 1938 Farm Act, they found applications of nearly every farm state also on file.

For when Congress approved the establishment of the laboratories to develop new uses for farm commodities, it dropped into the Agriculture Department's lap another kind of research problem—where to locate the laboratories and which commodities will benefit from research work.

Congress merely directed that one laboratory must be located in each major farm producing area and research work carried on by them be devoted "primarily to those farm commodities in which there are regular or seasonal surpluses, and their products and by-products."

An appropriation of as much as $4,000,000 each fiscal year beginning with this one was authorized, the money to be allocated annually with each laboratory getting one-fourth.

James T. Jardine, experiment station chief, estimated that between 850 and 1,000 birds have been received from individuals, communities and states interested in location of the laboratories.

He said the first step in establishing the laboratories would be selection of the commodities in which the research work would be started first. The South's cotton crop is assured of consideration. All cotton producing states have sought one of the laboratories.

Because of the great amount of work to be done, Agriculture Department officials say they do not look for the laboratories to become things of reality within an early date.

State rivalry for the stations first became apparent during the session when Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.), early proponent of the research idea, painted a glowing word picture of his state's advantages as a site for a cotton laboratory. He said Mississippi stood ready to provide $750,000 toward the project.

"How about Texas?" and "How about Arkansas?" other congressmen immediately inquired, urging selection of their own states.

Declaring the research should be on a nation-wide basis, Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said he did not agree the government should "auction off the project to a community from which it can get the most 'swag' in connection with location of a laboratory."

Headline in the Wink Times-Herald said: "Honky Tonks, Beer Joints on Way Out." What a difference the arrangement of a few words can make. Suppose the editor had said: "On way out to Honky Tonks, Beer Joints."

And then I suppose everybody would have thought it was the expression of Ralph Shuffler of Odesa.

A lot of magazines these days are devoting space to correcting false opinions. One magazine is composed entirely of that sort of copy. The magazine "You 'n' Life" lists these general beliefs which have been proved "medically untrue":

Wearing hats causes baldness; Whisky is good for snakebite; Boils cleanse the system; Oysters are not fit to eat except in "R" months;

Swallowing seeds causes appendicitis; Rusty nails cause lockjaw; Lemon juice removes freckles;

The Town Quack

Cucumbers must not be eaten with milk; Hair can turn gray overnight; Cracked ice on the back of one's neck will stop nosebleed; Drowning men always come to the surface three times.

And here we are again, picking up something interesting from the column of State Press in the Dallas News. This time it's about our old friend Marion F. Peters of Plainview, formerly district manager of the gas house here. Says State Press:

From Plainview, and wrapped in a tear sheet of the Plainview Herald, there comes a package of candid camera shots, shot by Marion F. Peters. Mr. Peters, we believe, is in the gas business (fuel, not conversational) and appears to be an explorer — and picture taker. He seems to have gone as far as Matador, at a locality called Bob's Oil Well. There he found Bob messing with rattlesnakes, teasing them, choking them, stretching them and otherwise toying with them, for no other purpose than to hear them rattle, apparently. Now, the rattle of a rattlesnake is music only to eccentric ears, and while we allege no lack of diatonic appreciation to Bob or Bob's Oil Well, we do think rattlesnake percussion registers the all-time low in hillbilly harmony. We are told in Scripture that the woman's heel shall bruise the serpent's head. We hope it does, we hope it bruises the serpent's head and tail both.

And then I suppose everybody would have thought it was the expression of Ralph Shuffler of Odesa.

Board in Favor of O'Daniel's Plan To Industrialize

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 20. — The Texas Planning Board today was prepared to throw all its resources behind the industrialization program of W. Lee O'Daniel, nominee for governor.

O'Daniel met with the planning board in Fort Worth and appeared to be particularly impressed with the work of the board in respect to mapping and the assembling of information required by financial interests which might make industrial investments in Texas.

"I can see where your board and its program fits into the plan I have for the industrialization of Texas," O'Daniel said after hearing members of the board report on their activities.

The planning board's 10-point program for the social and economic development of Texas was outlined to the gubernatorial nominee by W. M. Massies, Fort Worth, chairman; E. A. Wood, Austin, director; E. L. Kurth, Lufkin, who is in charge of the board's forestry work; C. S. Clark, Austin, chairman of the board's water resources committee; Hill Youngblood, San Antonio, who stressed the need for correction of freight rates and better health control; and Tom Cotton, Amarillo, who discussed the need for encouraging mining.

Since its creation in 1935, the planning board has gathered a mass of information and data on the resources of Texas and much of this

Exposition Points To Livestock's Favorable Status

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—A prevailing optimistic outlook for the livestock industry has put the 40th Annual American Royal Livestock and Horse show in a favorable position to render a real service to farmers and stockmen this fall. The Kansas City show's dates are Oct. 15-22.

Abundant feed supplies point to wide restocking of farms this winter. For this reason the feeder cart load will be of great interest to feeders together with all phases of the pure-bred industry to be seen at the Royal.

Tangled in Rope, Boy Drowns

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UP).—Edward Perreault, 16, drowned in the Second Level canal here when he became entangled in a rope used by swimmers to pull themselves from the water.

Son's Body in Father's Net

ROME (UP).—When a Cagliari fisherman pulled in his net recently he found the body of his 12-year-old son. The boy had been on the way down the shore to his father's boat when he was drowned.

Information already has been disseminated to industrialists who have requested information on Texas resources.

Numerous industrial surveys have been made by the board's technical staff and these will be used by O'Daniel when he launches his campaign to bring new industries to Texas.

Rev. Bruce Speaks To Baptist Women At WMU Meeting

Mrs. S. T. Cole brought the devotional at the meeting of the Baptist women's missionary union held at the church Monday afternoon.

A special musical number, in addition to group singing of hymns, was a duet by Mrs. A. T. Donnelly and Mrs. Joseph Mims.

Mrs. Ernest Neill presented the opening number, the title topic, on the subject, "The States" which occupied the study program.

Mrs. Martin Duvall discussed "Our States 50 Years Ago."

"Cooperating in Missions" was the subject of a talk by Mrs. S. L. Alexander and Mrs. Garth Neill spoke on "Cooperating in Christian Education."

"Cooperating in Healing and Support of Old Ministers" was discussed by Mrs. Ernest Neill.

Rev. H. D. Bruce, pastor, made an address on the WMS, stressing the missionary phase of the organization's idea.

Mrs. W. W. Wimberly offered prayer.

Kara Scarborough circle was host to the group. A refreshment plate was served to approximately 43 women.

Miss Esme O'Brien, one of the most attractive girls in this year's crop of debutantes, appeared at the open polo championships at Westbury, L. I., in a smart wool skirt, plain jersey sweater and a contrasting jacket of checked tweed. Distinctive touches are new wide belt and the large buttons. In spite of all the controversy about upswep coiffures, she still clings to her long bob.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe At Home Here After Wedding in Ozona

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Monroe are at home at 1310 S. Main following their marriage in Ozona last Friday and a wedding trip to Old Mexico.

Mrs. Monroe, the former Miss Alice Barron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Barron of this city, and Mr. Monroe, also of Midland, were united in an evening ceremony presided by the Reverend Childress, Baptist pastor, at his home in Ozona.

The couple had no attendants.

Black chiffon velvet was chosen by the bride for her wedding dress and with it she wore black accessories.

A brief trip to Via Acuna followed the wedding and the couple returned here Monday night.

Mrs. Monroe has lived here for several years. She attended high school at Paris, Texas, and Brantley-Draughon Business College at Fort Worth. She is now employed in the offices of Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Zach Monroe of Rankin and is a graduate of Rankin high school. He holds a degree from Sul Ross college at Alpine and is associated with Culbertson and Irwin, oil operators, here.

Plaid Over Plain

Miss LeBrun Cruger Rhineland attended the polo matches in a lovely fall sports suit which includes a solid-colored wool skirt and a plaid jacket with an unusual, plain neckline. The jacket has a self-belt and squared but not exaggerated shoulders.

Council of First Christian Church Meets in Circles

Study programs and business occupied the meetings of three circles of the women's Council of the First Christian church Monday afternoon.

Circle No. 1.

Mrs. Frank Elkin, 1414 W. Indiana, who was hostess to Circle No. 1 also brought the devotional for the afternoon, reading Psalms 23.

Several other short extracts from the scriptures were read by others present.

Opening prayer was offered by Mrs. J. V. Stokes Sr.

The group decided to take up the study of the New Testament.

Refreshments were served by: Mmes. Ella Rasgado, J. R. Jones, G. H. Butler, J. S. Cordill, J. V. Stokes, J. K. Graves, N. M. Bradshaw, D. B. Snider, two guests, Mrs. L. A. Thompson of Jacksonville, Florida, and Mrs. Ida Bright of El Paso, and the hostess.

Circle No. 2.

Eleven were present for the meeting of Circle No. 2 with Mrs. M. A. Park, 1111 W. Indiana. Mrs. Glenn Brunson, circle teacher, presented a lesson from the Gospel of St. John.

Mrs. J. E. Pickering presided and also offered prayer.

Following the study a social hour was held and an ice course was served.

Present were: Mmes. Brunson, Pickering, Chas. Klapproth, L. B. Penberton, L. A. Arrington, B. W. Stevens, A. B. Johnson, McBrian, Horace Rankin, Earl Griffin, and the hostess.

Circle No. 3.

Mrs. Chas. Brown, teacher of the group, brought the lesson for Circle No. 3 which met with Mrs. W. M. Blevins, 807 W. Kansas. The study was taken from the first chapter of Acts.

Mrs. Fielder of Fort Worth was a visitor.

Business was discussed in addition to presentation of the lesson.

Present were: Mmes. F. C. Cummings, F. R. Schenk, Louis Thomas, Wade Heath, W. B. Standefer, B. W. Reer, Chas. Brown, Mrs. Fielder and the hostess.

Off to the Races in Plaid and Stripe

Mrs. Tracy Barnes is another smart member of society who obviously ignores the "up with your hair" trend. Her costume consists of an accorion pleated, plaid wool skirt and a simple pullover sweater with a scarf tucked into the neckline. Mr. Barnes wears a striped jacket and plain slacks.

Mrs. Hurley Named President of Auxiliary

Several changes were made in the official staff of the Presbyterian auxiliary in the executive board meeting held at the church at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and in the regular business session of the organization which followed at 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Butler Hurley was elected auxiliary president to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. O. R. Jeffers, resigned.

Mrs. Jeffers was appointed to the position of secretary of Christian education and ministerial relief, taking the place of Mrs. E. W. Anguish, resigned. Mrs. D. M. Secor was appointed to the position of secretary of religious education, made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Hurley, who accepted the presidency.

A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Harry Adams and Mrs. John Drummond, was appointed to make a selection for vice president to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. W. G. Whitehouse who gave up the place because of ill health.

Approximately 25 women were present.

Two Are Hostesses For Tea Honoring Episcopal Group

Complimenting members of the Episcopal auxiliary and other women interested in the Episcopal church, Mrs. I. E. Daniel and Mrs. E. H. Ellison were hostesses for a tea at the home of the former west of the Country Club, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mmes. Daniel and Ellison greeted the guests after which the tea hours were devoted to conversation among those present.

The quilt recently completed by the auxiliary was on display.

Punch was served from a dining table laid with Italian cut work, with a centerpiece of flowers. Miss Mary Maude Sparks, niece of Mrs. Daniels, presided at the punch bowl.

Approximately 30 women called.

Methodist Women Have Program and Social Monday

All circles of the Methodist missionary society met at the home of Mrs. W. A. Black, 111 North G street, Monday afternoon for a social and program meeting. Belle Bennett circle was in charge of the program and Mary Scharbauer circle was hostess.

Mrs. J. M. Prothro opened the meeting, which was then taken over by Mrs. T. M. Switzer who was in charge of the program. "Our Work in Mexico" was the subject of the afternoon's study with Mrs. P. A. Nelson, Mrs. B. F. Haag, Mrs. L. L. Payne, and Mrs. Mary S. Ray discussing phases of the work in the southern republic.

Following this part of the program, Mrs. Switzer reviewed the last chapter in the text, "The Way of the Witness." She also brought the day's devotional, taking her text from the Book of Proverbs.

A social hour was held after study, with refreshments served by Mary Scharbauer circle.

About 30 women were present.

Texas Professor Says Europe Good Place to Be From

AUSTIN, (AP).—The best thing about visiting Europe is returning to the United States, says Dr. Walter P. Webb, University of Texas history professor who delivered the Harkness lectures at the University of London during the summer.

He believes America is a good place to be while the question of what Hitler will do about Czechoslovakia is being answered.

Dr. Webb said London was tense during the Austrian crisis and at the beginning of the Czechoslovakian crisis.

In his opinion Hitler would be "foolish" to invade Czechoslovakia. His strength would be evident only as long as the Fuehrer's armies were winning, Dr. Webb says.

"One loss and Hitler's might would begin to crumble," he adds.

The historian was careful to observe, however, that Hitler has done much for Germany by leading his people out of the post-war chaos and reducing unemployment.

Robert Wren is suing her for that sum on grounds that her dog "bit, mangled and wounded" the boy.

Theatre Management Backs Judgment on "Andy Hardy" Film

J. Howard Hodge, manager of the Ritz, Yucca, and Rex theatres will fully suck out his neck for the axe when announcement was made in last Sunday's Reporter-Telegram that he would gladly give a complimentary ticket to "Blockheads," the Yucca's next attraction, to the person who claimed to dislike "Love Finds Andy Hardy."

So far, not a complaint has been heard by the manager or personnel of the Yucca. On the contrary, many have actually been heard to say, "I've laughed so much my sides hurt."

Hodge states that too often pictures are over-advertised, thus resulting in disappointment on the part of patrons. Occasionally, a manager will become oversold on a picture because of the reports given him through other theatremen. In turn he advertises the picture highly, only to have it do a nose dive at the boxoffice.

It is the policy of the management to be sincere in exploitation, because it realizes that when one pic-

LIVING COST CUT 50%

• If all living costs were cut 50% it would be news—BIG NEWS. Black headlines would tell the story. You would rejoice at how much you could save and how much better your family could live.

Yet the Texas Electric Service Company has cut electric rates on an average of 50% throughout its system since 1928. Isn't that big news, too?

Lowered electric rates have reduced drudgery and toil in homes we serve—have increased the comfort, added to the convenience and saved the time of electric users. And while the cost of electricity has been going down, the trend of living costs is upward.

For Rehearsal Only Is Brand New $100,000 Radio Layout of Department of Interior

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON. Walk up to the north penthouse of the new Department of Interior building and you'll decide right off that the federal government has gone in for radio broadcasting in a big way.

There are studios and equipment, reception auditorium and conference rooms, offices and listening galleries, microphones and gaudy modern furniture in chromium and red leather, a layout which cost $100,000 and outshines all but the bigger broadcasting stations.

But the government doesn't broadcast.

This new project is operated by the new Radio Section of the Interior Department's Division of Information, and its purpose is to provide a sort of laboratory for preparation, rehearsal, and delivery to commercial networks of educational and informational programs from PWA, the Office of Education, National Park Service, Reclamation Service, and other of the department's bureaus.

By courtesy, the penthouse will be open to other government agencies when the radio section isn't using it.

EVERYTHING BUT BROADCASTING.

The big broadcasting auditorium with capacity for a 40-piece orchestra, choir or dramatic company is there because educational-informational programs require dramatization and entertainment quality if they are to be acceptable to broadcasting networks and large radio audiences.

The "artist's lounge" is there to provide "proper atmosphere" for performers.

The radio section will develop programs, then offer them to broadcasting companies, competing in the market. There's no intention of using the studio as point of origin for speeches by government officials, for whom a trip to a broadcasting station will be at least equally convenient.

First program out of the studio probably will be one of a series on conservation of natural resources. This is likely to begin with noises from back in 1620, with Pilgrim Fathers landing and Indians screeching in the broadcasting auditorium, and trace a long history of exploitation, the winning of the west—gunfire and all in recreated historical settings, until finally radio listeners will know of the growth of national needs from which arose various services of the Interior Department.

ONLY THREE ON STAFF.

DR. JOHN W. STUDEBAKER, commissioner of education, started all this, although he probably doesn't relish removal of the studio from his jurisdiction to the information division.

The Office of Education has supervised several major series of educational programs and Studebaker designed the studio as a place to prepare for more.

Studebaker believes apparently in teaching people what democracy really is. Hence the 13-part "Let Freedom Ring" series, dramatizing historically the bill of rights, freedom of press, speech, worship, and so on.

Your Child's Future

THE biggest job you have ever had, parents,—that of caring for your children—is safeguarding their health so that their future happiness and success may be assured.

Nothing is more important to them than their eyes. No child is healthy without healthy eyes. No child can achieve success without good vision.

There's only one way to tell whether or not your children's vision is normal—have their eyes examined. Do it now before school begins.

Shannon Allen, director of the radio section of the Department of Interior, runs a program from the control room of the federal government's new radio studio. Hillaire Robitaille, radio technician, operates the controls.

A popular science series called "The World is Yours" was done in collaboration with the Smithsonian Institution.

The "Brave New World" series, dramatizing Latin-American historical episodes with emphasis on democracy, was partly designed to offset Nazi-Fascist radio propaganda in South America.

Aside from the similar programs, record transcriptions will be made for regional use, covering such matters as new national park developments, opening of new roads, localized problems met by Interior bureaus, and possibly new PWA projects.

Shannon Allen, who was assistant director of the Office of Education's radio project (financed by WPA) is director of the radio section. Bernard G. Schoenfeld is chief script writer. Miss Lola Wyman, supervisor of audience preparation, will seek to build up both selected and general radio audiences for particular programs. The staff has only three other members.

Visit the studio on your next trip to Washington. In lieu of a guest book they take your name, identification, and complimentary remarks through the microphone onto a record and then play it all right back at you in almost any room you enter.

Two Good Men to Each Job, Bible's Boast for Season

AUSTIN, Sept. 20.—Your football coach dreams of a husky squad "three deep" at every position, with everybody hustling to make the front row. Dana Bible can't find that many gridgers on his 1938 University of Texas squad, but he does have two fair players for nearly every job and the lads are trying as Longhorn players haven't tried in several seasons.

Intra-squad games, of which they have played several, always develop into blood-and-thunder battles with each team tackling and running as whole-heartedly as if a championship depended on the outcome. It is a tribute to the excellent physical condition of the candidates that they have suffered few injuries despite their strenuous head-butting.

The Texas coaches have made it a practice to "promote" and "demote" rather freely after these scrimmages, with several first and second stringers swapping posts for the next game. That has intensified the rivalry. It is in the nature of a phenomenon at U. T. when gridgers actually come out of scrimmage crying because they can't keep playing, but that's the way it is this fall.

Coach Bible hopes that the rejuvenated spirit among the players and the white-hot competition for nearly every position will do much to overcome certain fundamental weaknesses in the team, such as lack of weight and power in the backfield, absence of a really good passer and a shortage of reserves.

Even such experience veterans as Wallace Lawson, Beetus Bryan and Charley Haas can't feel safe with several green but determined sophomores and squadmen yapping at their heels. In fact, after one of the two scrimmages this week, Bible dropped the entire first-string backfield to the second team.

Bulle Gray, an uninspired full-back last season, has been carrying the ball as if pursued by a prairie fire, and that means Lawson is no longer the double-barrelled cinch he was a week ago.

Two first-year men, Bounding Bobby Moers and Cotton Evans, are pressing Bryan at left half, and little Gilby Davis, a 147-pound dynamo from Kilgore junior college, is making a surprisingly strong bid for Haas' right halfback job. Carl Bage, a third-year squadman, will be dangerous competition for Bill

The PAYOFF

BY SUBSTITUTE.

Maybe I ought to explain that the substitute is on this job because Jess Rodgers, city editor, sports editor, desk man and crime reporter, is taking a week's rest. Or at least he's taking a week off from work. Besides a few short jaunts through the last year, he has let the summer get by without a vacation.

Comment in other departments of this newspaper about the possibility of an annual horse show at Midland may bear some fruit yet. For a while it looked as if Chapple Davis was the only supporter, but now it appears Jay Floyd also is in favor of the idea. And, on top of that, Floyd has been invited to be one of the judges at the Big Albuquerque horse show during the state fair there next month. He hopes to make the date.

Many a hard working football candidate works his heart out, trying to do his bit for the team while a flashy basketball star gets all the newspaper publicity. I'm here to say that this Jay Francis has plenty of publicity coming, being one of the outstanding quarterbacks of all time on the Bulldog team. But I want to throw in a word for those youngsters who are down on the ground, opening up holes, taking out tackles, blocking and otherwise making possible the good work of the ball carriers. They don't hold the eyes of the spectators, because the fans are watching the ball, but they are working all the time.

We lost a couple of fine, big tackles with last year's team, but we have a couple of tight-built little guards who are going to be heard from in 7-B all season. I refer, of course, to Klatt and Eidsen. There's a lot of man power in those small knots.

A growing kid can be gauged to some extent by the size of his hands. Jim White, up and coming backfield man, is about to grow to fit his big hands. Circling the ends at full speed, he apparently can carry the inflated pigskin in one hand as easily as a lot of us could carry a pound of bacon. Another Bulldog to be seen and heard about this season.

A lot of coaches over the state would like to have the good start and apt material Bud Taylor and his coaches are working with this fall. Let's get in behind this championship prospect and make Midland football minded.

at the frontback post if Gray cracks the starting lineup, for Bullett could then take over Forney's line-backing duties.

Two lettermen are battling on about equal terms at center, with Roy Bames holding a slight advantage over Glen Jackson because of superior passing.

The Longhorns will get in four sharp practice sessions next week before they depart for Lawrence, Kansas, and their opening game with the University of Kansas Saturday, September 24.

up against the finest sophomore prospects Morley Jennings has ever had.

In all the practices, the defensive play has completely overshadowed the offensive tactics and this has been because of the strong competition for the starting berths and places on the varsity squad.

Jennings himself admits that he is going to have the best line play in years and close observers say that the quartet of sophomores look like polished seniors.

At the end posts, three veterans from last year's eleven—Sam Boyd, Sreman Barnes and W. J. Wimpee—are back. Wilson Lucas and Jack Lummus have been setting a fast pace in the race for the places. All of the players weigh in at 190 pounds and should give the Bears the best line play in the circuit.

Radio Education Studied by Dean

AUSTIN—A study of radio education in Great Britain and the United States was made this summer by T. H. Shelby, dean of the division of extension of the University of Texas, under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. Dean Shelby spent three weeks visiting American institutions recognized as leaders in radio education, several days at the United States office of education in Washington, D. C., two weeks in the New York offices of the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System, and a month in England and Scotland studying the educational program of the British Broadcasting Corporation. He found that the University of Iowa, the University of Wisconsin, and Ohio State University are broadcasting educational programs over their own radio stations. Two types of programs are given, those for use in public schools and those intended for adult education. In Chicago, Dean Shelby noted the use of forums in adult education broadcasts. The forums are conducted by faculty members from the three universities sponsoring the programs. In Cleveland, O., he studied the experimental work done by the public schools of the city in radio education. For five years the Cleveland schools have used broadcast programs in the elementary grades for such subjects as spelling, music, history, geography, and nature study. Local commercial stations have been used for the broadcasts; but, beginning this fall, the public school system will operate its own short wave station to send programs to city schools. In comparing radio education in Great Britain and the United States, Dean Shelby considered the differences in operation of the two broadcasting systems. Whereas the United States radio is supported by advertising, no advertising is allowed in Great Britain. The radio in England, he found, is under the control of the British Broadcasting Corporation, which is a non-profit, government monopoly. Stations are owned and controlled by the corporation. "It is difficult to say which is the better system, that of Great Britain or that of the United States," Dean Shelby said in comparing the commercial radio system of the United States and the government-controlled one of Great Britain. He pointed out that the radio of America seeks always to be democratic, to assure freedom of speech over the air, and to present various points of view. In Great Britain a monopoly has complete authority to determine what will go over the air. The American system, he granted, is probably able to secure better talent because of the money brought by advertising; but the British system, being free of advertising, can effectively determine the quality of program being sent out during the broadcasting hours. Radio education, he declared, has developed further in England than in the United States. Regular broadcasts in a number of subjects are available to all schools of the nation, and between thirty and sixty per cent of the schools make use of the broadcast programs. An advisory council of education, made up of representatives from the schools, sets up the programs to be broadcast. The program of adult education is carried on through a similar advisory committee and various sub-committees, who initiate programs and recommend what will be broadcast. Listening groups have been organized among adults who desire to discuss broadcast programs, and discussion leaders are appointed.

containing much of the nation's vital defense fortifications and a huge percentage of her industrial resources, a glimmer or two of hope lifted up the Czechs who earlier had almost despaired of outside aid.

After a nearly 12-hour session of the cabinet ministers, it was indicated in sources close to the government that the assistance of the Czech-French allies had not entirely disappeared in the excitement of British Prime Minister Chamberlain's efforts to produce a settlement.

These sources said as the cabinet meeting broke up at 9:30 p. m., that two new developments threw a little sunlight into the otherwise gloomy situation:

1. A majority of the cabinet stood firmly against Hitler's purported suggestion that all cities which gave the Sudeten German party, now outlawed, a 70 per cent or more plurality in the last municipal elections be handed over automatically to the Reich.

2. The French cabinet was understood to be exercising no pressure on Czechoslovakia to accept the Franco-British program.

Semi-official information reaching here from Paris said the French were caught between these alternatives:

Spanning Half of Continent

Turning homeward after leading the national legion parade in Los Angeles Sept. 20, the Mississippi legion caravan, which has for two consecutive years been accorded this honor, will visit this city en route to Mississippi. Pictured above as it set out on its 5,750-mile journey across half the continent and return, the flotilla has attracted widespread attention. Miss Elaine Russell of Vicksburg, Miss., national "Miss American Legion," is accompanying the caravan as personal representative of Gov. Hugh White, extending the Mississippi executive's greetings to governors and other high officials of states included on the route.

Pauline Frederick, Stage Star, Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal. Sept. 20. (AP) - Pauline Frederick, famous star of stage and silent pictures died at her home Monday, apparently from an asthma and heart attack. She was 33 years old.

An inhalator squad worked for an hour over Miss Frederick in an effort to revive her.

She was first stricken by an asthma attack on Friday and had been under the care of a nurse and Dr. J. J. Kirchoff. The physician and Mrs. George Pettigill, the actress' aunt, were at her bedside.

Miss Frederick was known on the stage as "the girl with the topaz eye." She rose from the chorus ranks to become America's most popular actress. She was lately in carriage, black-haired and exceptionally talented.

First Fatality

Princeton football notes received a big setback for 1938 when Bill Lynch, Tiger fullback from Birmingham, Mich., died from a heart attack at the conclusion of a light practice session. Lynch, 22, who also was a star track man having toured Europe with an American A. A. U. squad this summer, was the first collegiate grid fatality of the season.

Broadway Garage Being Enlarged

Work of enlarging and remodeling the Broadway Garage, at 207 West Wall street, is nearing completion, the building having an addition of 50 by 40 feet constructed at the rear. W. F. Hejl, proprietor of the garage, also is owner of the building which has a fifty-foot front on the highway.

Hospital Extension Nearing Completion

Work on addition to the Mid-west Hospital-Clinic was reaching an advanced stage today, the new portion to house the operating rooms, doctors' lounge, X-ray rooms and other departments, thereby creating additional room in the hospital proper. A new nurses' home with facilities for eight nurses, has been completed by the owner, Dr. W. E. Ryan, at the north of the property, fronting Illinois street.

Goldsmith Man Is Robbed of $300

GOLDSMITH, Sept. 20 (Special). -Thief of $300 in currency and silver, from a dresser drawer in the home of M. M. Moon, was reported here this morning. No one had been apprehended for the theft at noon, although officers had been investigating the case and questioning suspects.

The Moon home adjoins his repair shop and filling station and the money represented several days' receipts of the business. The theft occurred after midnight, or early this morning.
