French and Red Pact Is Broken Off

Soviet Announces She No Longer Is An Ally of France

MOSCOW, Oct. 5. (AP)—The Soviet government through the semi-official Le Journal de Moscow Tuesday served notice that the U. S. S. R. no longer regards itself as an ally of France.

France, says the newspaper which habitually expresses the views of the Soviet foreign office, no longer has an ally in Europe except Britain—and the value of that alliance is doubtful.

Discussing the four-power Munich settlement of Sept. 30, the paper says "International public opinion now says what is the value of France's word—the value of her pledges to the U. S. S. R. and of the Franco-Soviet pact?"

"The fact is that France on her own initiative and without consulting the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics has already annulled the Czechoslovak-Soviet pact which was a corollary of the Franco-Soviet pact."

"What now is the value of the latter pact since France has just torn up her treaty with Czechoslovakia—a treaty which bound her much more strongly." "It has done this at the very moment when the latter country (Czechoslovakia) was under the threat of fascist aggression. Loss of her allies and isolation—that is the price France will pay for her capitulation to the aggressor."

"On whom can France rely now? Her sole ally in Europe now is Britain—this same Britain which went behind France's back and signed the naval agreement with Germany (in 1936)... and which today comes to terms with Hitler—again behind France's back."

"Isolation—that is the inevitable price of France's capitulation to the aggressor and that isolation was precisely Hitler's aim."

Jewels Once Worn By Empress Found, Thief Is Arrested

LAREDO, Oct. 5. (AP)—The precious Empress Carlota jewels, stolen from the Mexican national museum a month ago, were recovered here Tuesday and a 23-year-old Mexican was arrested as the sole perpetrator of the crime.

Enrique Mezando Cordova, picked up on the United States side of the international bridge, calmly admitted the theft to an investigating board and told officials where the jewels might be found.

The youth said he concealed himself in the Mexican national museum September 4 and remained in hiding until everyone had left for the day. Then he walked to the large show case containing the many jewels once belonging to Empress Maximilian's beautiful wife and lit off the alarm. He jumped from a balcony and fled from Mexico City.

PRAGUE, Oct. 5. (AP)—President Eduard Benes resigned as head of the Czechoslovak government today. The resignation of Benes, who held Czechoslovakia together as long as possible under the pressure of tremendous events had not been expected. He became president in 1935, succeeding the founder of the republic, the late Thomas Masaryk. It was understood General Jan Syrov, soldier-philanthropist, would be acting president until an election could be arranged to choose Benes' successor.

RELEASE OF CZECH HOSTAGES SOUGHT.

BERLIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today the international commission supervising cessation of Sudetenland to Germany was confronted with new difficulties in delimitation of the fifth zone of occupation and the "question of reparations for injustices inflicted by Czechs on Sudetens since 1918."

The spokesman indicated progress might be difficult from this point. "Hitherto it was easy as the four zones to be occupied by the German army before October had already been fixed at Munich and only certain technical details remained," he said.

In London, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons that Britain was seeking the release of "certain Czech officials of frontier districts and Czech residents in Germany who had been imprisoned in Germany as hostages."

Opening the third day of debate on the loss of power and on cessation of Sudetenland to Germany, Chamberlain said the government had received reports such persons had been held during occupation of the ceded territory.

Anti-Trust Suit Against 15 Oil Companies Dropped

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—Texas anti-trust suit against 15 major oil companies and two associations was settled by agreed judgment Tuesday.

The settlement called for payment of $425,000 by only one defendant, the Texas Petroleum Markets Association.

The association also paid $25,000 to special counsel who aided the state.

The judgment provided the state should not receive anything from any other defendant. Special counsel for the state and the amounts paid them were Robert E. and John E. Cofer, $13,000; George Mandell, $3,000; Everett L. Looney, $6,000; and Bryan Blalock, $3,000. All live in Austin.

The judgment ended nearly seven years of litigation. The suit was filed in 1931 by Governor Allred, then attorney general.

A cashier's check in payment of the judgment was immediately given Attorney General McCraw and other drafts were given special counsel.

The state had sought maximum penalties of $17,850,000 and forfeiture of the defendant's charters.

Commenting on the outcome of the important case, McCraw told the court he was well satisfied with the settlement and "I'll take the blame or fault as it falls."

Judge J. D. Moore in whose court the litigation started thanked all parties for their courtesy and indulgence and expressed an opinion the settlement was "fair and equitable to the state and all parties."

"His Big Moment" - A Dramatic Fiasco

By BRUCE CATTON.

It is a shame to say so, but it looks as if the great genius and mastermind of the Nazi military machine, Herr Hitler, had fumbled one.

All along we have heard about Hitler's great sense of timing, about his psychological insight, which enabled him to know precisely when, where, and how to strike, about the shrewd efficiency of his moves as compared with the slow and clumsy fumbling of the democracies.

But a cool review of this whole Czech situation indicates that Hitler misplayed his hand badly.

The psychological moment, for Hitler, came at the height of the Nuremberg conference. Whether he wanted victory by war or victory by peace, that was the hour when it was his for the taking.

If he planned to be ruthless—to shoot the works, take on a big war, and gamble everything on a quick blow with what he has boasted of as the finest army in the world—that was his chance.

Czechoslovakia was not yet mobilized. England and France, far from being ready for war, were confused and half-hearted.

Suppose, on the other hand, that he wanted a bloodless victory; then that, too, was his for the asking. The Franco-British plan for surrender of the Sudeten territory was a distinct triumph for Germany. It could have been offered to the home folks as one more instance of a great gain made by the fearless Fuehrer, the man who could win whole provinces for the empire without firing a shot.

But Hitler chose neither war nor peace. Instead he chose delay.

The delay solidified anti-Hitler sentiment in the great democracies. It gave France and England time, not only to mobilize their war machines, but to rally their peoples and clarify their own minds.

It gave Czechoslovakia, also, time to get its army ready and mass its people solidly behind a defiant government. The easy victory Hitler might have had a few days ago vanished forever during the interval.

Furthermore, the delay took the edge off of the bloodless victory that could be had without war. For after fuming and ranting for a week, Hitler finally goes back and accepts what he was begged to accept in the beginning.

Hitler had all the cards in the deck, a week or 10 days ago. It is hard to avoid the conclusion that he has played them like a duffer.

An inventor predicts that there will be no new death-dealing instruments in the next war. Oh, that's all right: what was good enough for pa's good enough for us.

Comes a flash that Florida has produced two million pounds of tung oil in the last year. If that's an item about the chambers of commerce the spelling's not very good.

"Japan Friendly to Poland," reads a headline. Well, friends of peace, they're two countries for a starter, anyway.

A New Jersey candidate for sheriff has just opened a "front lawn" campaign. That hurricane probably made the coast a Heaven for stump speakers.

The Greatest Minority Problem of All

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. — It takes more than the threat of another World War to jolt the Supreme Court from the even tenor of its ways as it continues to grind out decisions shaping the law and public policy.

More than ever the court is recognized as a "super legislature." This conception of the court, on which the ill-fated Roosevelt plan to reorganize it was based, has been easier to grasp since the pronounced swing toward more liberal opinions which began during the historic Senate struggle over "packing" the court and continued as vacancies permitted the President to appoint justices leaning toward New Deal viewpoints.

TVA, the Wagner labor act, the Tom Mooney case and other items of national interest are on the Supreme Court docket as it reconvenes—with only eight justices sitting because of the death of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo. The docket includes about 400 cases.

TVA IS UP AGAIN.

EIGHTEEN power companies still seek the injunction against the whole TVA program which was denied them by a three-judge circuit court. If the Supreme Court sustains the lower court, the TVA act finally will have been judged constitutional.

Among several National Labor Relations Board cases before the court, that brought by the Consolidated Edison Company of New York probably is the most important. Here the NLRB undertook to cancel a contract between the company and an A. F. of L. union, maintaining that the company had violated the law by encouaging the A. F. of L. union as against a C. I. O. union, thereby allegedly depriving employees of the right to choose their own collective bargaining representatives.

Because the board's insistence on its right to invalidate as illegal such contracts is a chief A. F. of L. complaint against both it and the Wagner act, a Supreme Court decision against NLRB would soften the A. F. of L. drive to have the act changed. But if the Supreme Court sustains the lower court, the labor federation is likely to intensify its attack on the act.

Whether NLRB may order reinstatement of strikers who engaged in a strike violating an arbitration contract or of sitdown strikers who allegedly broke the law by staying in company property are points also before the court.

The Mooney case comes to Washington again through an appeal from decision of California courts against a habeas corpus petition based on claims that Mooney's conviction was obtained by perjured evidence, following fatalities in the Preparedness Day bomb explosion in 1916.

DEWEY METHODS CHALLENGED.

Judge Ferdinand Pecora's recent action in declaring a mistrial in New York's sensational Hines case will be recalled as lawyers for "Lucky" Luciano, sent to Sing Sing by District Attorney Tom Dewey as a "white slave king," argue before the Supreme Court that Luciano was deprived of his constitutional rights. As in the Hines case, Dewey's methods of prosecution are questioned.

Possibly foreshadowing developments in the Department of Justice's most recent action against the big motion picture companies, the court will consider Texas and Pennsylvania cases involving the validity of exhibitor-distributor contracts forbidding "double feature" programs and restriction of admission prices. Lower courts have held such contracts illegal.

A partial test of the Robinson-Patman act is on the docket and the question of what shall be done with funds impounded during litigation in the celebrated "fair-hearing" Morgan case involving stockyard fees is also before the court. The court may also rule on the Massachusetts laws against birth control information and the University of Missouri's refusal to admit a Negro law student.

THE CAPITOL JIGSAW
By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP). — Heaviest out-of-state tourist traffic the past summer moved through the Shamrock port over highway 66, the highway department says.

The opinion was given this was because highway 66 is a transcontinental east-west route which has had much advertising and is attracting a great flow of travellers from the north and east to New Mexico and California and vice versa.

In recognition of the importance of the new traffic artery, the department will keep its information booth at Shamrock open this year, in service throughout the winter.

The booths at El Paso, Wichita Falls, Laredo and Texarkana also will remain open throughout the winter months. Because of decline of seasonal traffic, eight at other border ports recently were closed.

Purpose of the booths is two-fold: to give information on Texas to out of state visitors and to give Texans information on other states. The last season they were manned largely with college students employed temporarily.

The tourist from outside Texas is caught at the border, informed of the outstanding and historic attractions and aided in choosing the best routes. Material on nearly every state in the union is available for out-bound Texans.

Mail for W. Lee O'Daniel is arriving at the capitol, some addressed him as "Governor" O'Daniel, some as "Hon." and some as plain "Mr. O'Daniel."

The mailman takes it to the suite of Gov. James V. Allred, whose staff sends it to the governor-nominate in Fort Worth. It isn't opened in Austin.

Gov. Allred's secretaries say they haven't the least idea what the letters to O'Daniel are about but persons who have had a look at the mail received at his Fort Worth offices knew pretty well without close examination.

The bulk of O'Daniel's mail is

The Town Quack

Those who have lived here as long as thirty years probably remember a quiet, studious, easy-going school boy by the name of Claude Quebedeaux, called Queebie for short. He left here, attended college, got into the power and light business out in New Mexico and Arizona, sold out his holdings and went into the automobile business at Phoenix. He has one of the largest dealerships in the southwest. Each season he takes his sales manager and other department heads and make a trip to the factory where his product is manufactured. A letter was received today by an old friend of Quebedeaux's here today. The former citizen said he was returning to Phoenix from his Michigan trip, intending to stop at Midland and look up old friends. Being absorbed in conversation with his companions, he drove right through Midland and didn't discover that he had done so until he reached Odessa. On thinking back, he couldn't remember having seen a road sign or anything to impress upon him that he was entering or passing through Midland. Now, if that is the situation, we need one of those "Welcome Colorado" signs across the street, or we need to keep up the rodeo sign the year round. We need something to let a man know when he gets to Midland, even if he may be a fraction absent minded and buried in his conversation. I think I'll drive off out east of town and come back this way and see what I can see.

I've noticed for a good many years that Midland doesn't get much of a break from the state on the highway mileage markers.

PAULINE MOORE

made up of requests for jobs and suggestions on how to run the government. In the latter category, the communications on old age assistance are large.

Types of persons who visit the capitol for sight-seeing purposes vary with the seasons.

Along in April and May hardly a day passes without the arrival of throngs of school children, some of whom travel long distances to "take in" Austin and the many points of historic interest about it.

In June, July and August, the visitors are distinctly "tourist" in type. The women are clad, quite often, in riding pants and slacks; the men, also in sports outfits. Cameras are plentiful.

A few days ago, custodians of the house and senate chambers report, there was an influx of bright-eyed, rather bashful, boys and girls around the ages of 16, 17 and 18, accompanied, apparently, by their mammas and papas.

They were new students at the University of Texas whom the parents had brought to Austin. Parents and children were giving the statehouse the "once over."

About the first of the next year, the custodians add, there will be an influx of visitors from other states, virtually all elderly. They will be retired business folk, or others with independent incomes, going south for the winter.

Three fine oil portraits which always attract much attention from visitors to the capitol are those of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, vice-president John N. Garner and Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, which rest on floor racks in the senate chamber near the rostrum of the senate president.

They seem to be orphans, or step-children, among the rest of the senate paintings: All the others, which include two huge ones giving an artist's conception of the battles of the Alamo and San Jacinto, hang on the walls. Those of Roosevelt, Garner and Jones have been on the plain wooden floor racks about three years.

Employees of the senate who work about the hall the year around don't know where the portraits of the distinguished trio finally will be placed. They dare not move them for fear whatever they did would be censured by the senate.

Ultimately the senate will adopt a resolution directing the disposition of the portraits. In the meantime, nearly everyone in the capitol is afraid to lay a finger on them.

It has been suggested the paintings now hung in the house and senate chambers have become so numerous they ought to be displayed in some other rooms of the capitol, especially planned for a gallery.

The walls in both halls are simply full, not only with the paintings of historical character, but also with the group of pictures of the various legislatures. Every two years another batch of the latter goes up. There is bound to be a halt.

A gallery for the historical works—and some say this might also house the pictures of the senators and house members—would greatly relieve the congestion.

Long Lived The King... But It Was a Hard Life

All Europe marveled at the pomp and splendor of Louis Fourteenth. Yet, in all his 77 years, the French King had no refrigerator, fans or telephone... no radio or movies... no inflated tires on his gaudy coach.

So, it appears that we Americans don't live like Kings at all. We live better... far beyond the dreams of our pioneers... in a land of peace, coddled by science and invention... strengthened by the knowledge that this land of ours will always offer ample rewards to those with faith in the foundations laid down by our forefathers... faith in our national destiny... faith in themselves.

The new pastel-hued pottery seems to be growing in favor. Although it lacks the vital, dashing quality of the more vivid colors of the past few years, it will give a table a delicate, lady-like air that some housekeepers will prefer.

A clever hostess we know of gave her tables a distinguishing note by using one of the brilliant shades and one of the pastel shades in her pottery service at a party.

That is an idea that any housewife will appreciate who feels that she cannot do away with all the brighter dishes at once but does have some of the new lighter-shaded pottery that she wants to use.

Oh yes, and there are pots for the barbecue sauce in which masculine cooks take such pride, with swab sticks to spread it on the hot steaks or chickens. And if you want to go quite elite, there's even a wooden shovel for serving hot rolls, et cetera, without danger of burned fingers.

Beta Sigma Phi Has Model Meeting Tuesday Evening

President Marguerite Bivens was in charge of the business meeting and Miss Willette Duncan in charge of the program at the model meeting of Beta Sigma Phi in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday evening.

Subject of the evening's discussion was "Painting the Person." Under this general subject, Mrs. Tom Potter told of "The Primitive," Mrs. M. D. Johnson Jr. of "The Theatrical," and Miss Norene Kirby of "The Modern." Under the latter topic, Miss Kerby explained "Suntans," "Ultra-rays," and "Cosmetics."

A roundtable discussion followed the topical talks.

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. L. C. Link.

A communication from headquarters of the sorority was reported, giving the information that Penny Singleton, member of Alpha Rho chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at Los Angeles, is to play the role of Blondie in the picture of that name to be produced by Columbia.

The Midland chapter has been invited to attend initiation ceremony at Odessa Thursday evening, a new chapter of the organization being now in progress of organization there. Miss Stella Grace Elliott, field secretary, is the organizer.

After the program the group went to the home of Miss Bivens on Illinois street where Chinese checkers furnished amusement during the social hour. A refreshment plate carrying out the sorority colors in orange sherbert and chocolate cake was served by the hostess.

Chapter guests for the evening were: Miss Alma Heard, Mrs. S. R. McKinney, Miss Margaret Cronin, Mrs. Jessie Parsons, Miss Ethel Long.

Members present were: Miss Bivens, Miss Madeline Roberts, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Link, Miss Duncan, Miss Mary V. Miller, Miss Ellen Potter, Miss Norene Kirby, Mrs. Frances Stallworth, Miss Lou Annice Reeves, Miss Ruth Pratt, Mrs. Johnson.

Monthly examinations were taken last week and fairly good grades for the first month of school were reported.

Miss Mary Jo Weigers, county home demonstration agent, meets with the 4-H girls' club every Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Eleven girls are members of the club. They are planning to attend the district meeting which will be held at Eldorado, Nov. 5. The girls plan to enter several things in the show.

Some improvements are being made in the story telling hour. One of the things the third and fourth grades have done is to frame seven beautiful pictures for their room.

Football Injuries Should Be Given Prompt Attention

Editor's Note: The following paper on "Football Injuries" was read by Mrs. E. H. Ellison at the weekly health broadcast over station KRLL this morning at 11:15 o'clock. Source of the discussion in the American Medical Association.

Football is not a game for the untrained. It calls for strength and courage. Intercollegiate football is three times as hazardous as interclass football. At least twelve out of every hundred football players are injured during the season, usually with fractures, dislocations and sprains that disable the men for more than three weeks.

Whenever the player is injured on the football field, he should be examined immediately by some one competent to judge the extent and character of the injury. Players who are injured should not be permitted to attempt to walk unaided from the field; either they should be carried or suitable stretchers should be available to transport them to the training quarters. A man whose leg is injured should never be permitted to limp off the field. The use of the stretcher may look bad to the crowd, but for the player it may make the difference between a successful and prompt relief of his injury or a long delay in healing.

Ankles, knees and shoulders are more likely to be injured in football than any other part of the body. The thighs are more frequently bruised. Weak ankles should always be strapped before practice, and certainly before any game in which the player may be subject to injury.

Straps, protective pads and braces are used because experience has shown that they help prevent serious injuries. The player who throws away his headgear at the height of the conflict makes a magnificent gesture of appeal to the audience. If there is any chance to injure what brains he has, he is giving himself extra opportunity for concussion of the brain or fracture of the skull.

The most serious of all injuries are those affecting the brain and the skull. A concussion of the brain means that the brain tissue has actually been bruised. The first sign of this injury is loss of memory for recent events; the least significant is slight dizziness. Coaches and trainers should not, however, be unimpressed when a player comes out of a conflict merely being slightly dizzy or dazed. He should immediately be put flat on his back and questioned as to his headache and dizziness. If he cannot remember the names of his opponents, which side is on the offensive, the score, or the day of the week, he should not be permitted to play again in that game. If he is just dizzy, he should be permitted to walk and move about to determine whether or not he has lost his sense of balance. A loss of sense of balance is serious and a player thus affected should be removed from the game.

Football is a great and spectacular sport. The very qualities of character that are stimulus, at the same time, are the ones which may cause the player to hazard his life for the game. No game is worth such a cost.

Your Child's Future

The biggest job you have ever had, parents,—that of caring for your children—is safeguarding their health so that their future happiness and success may be assured.

Nothing is more important to them than their eyes. No child is healthy without healthy eyes. No child can achieve success without good vision.

There's only one way to tell whether or not your children's vision is normal—have their eyes examined. Do it now before school begins.

YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT backs up his personal assurance of easy winter starting and oil economy by

OIL-PLATING YOUR ENGINE

—more than an oil change!

JUST because this is in print instead of coming direct from Your Mileage Merchant's lips doesn't change the fact that he backs every word personally. How does he go through with that? By giving your engine the only OIL-PLATING. That's not mere words; it's what patented Conoco Germ Processed oil does.

Activated by an added man-made compound—added to oil's best natural qualities—added to the best refining—this exclusive Germ Processed oil adds itself direct to the inner engine surfaces... unites so thoroughly that every working part stays constantly OIL-PLATED.

Does the chrome plating on the bumpers drain down every time your car stops? Neither does OIL-PLATING in your engine. When you want to start up again, after hours of wintry parking—after nights or even weeks in the coldest garage—you've got ready lubrication faster than instantly!—in advance of the fastest oil-circulation. For drain-proof OIL-PLATING has stayed lastingly plated all the way up, to make things slide lightly and swiftly for your starter and battery. That also tells you why you're rid of costly starting wear. And OIL-PLATING stays in as long as you use Germ Processed oil. The gauge-stick backs Your Mileage Merchant! Switch in Time!

STORIES IN STAMPS

Hungary's "King" Ties To Herr Hitler
REAR Admiral Nicholas Horthy found himself a national hero on half pay at the close of the World War. So he plunged into Hungarian politics. By 1920 this dynamic soldier with the aristocratic bearing had become Hungary's regent-governor. A year ago he became the nation's uncrowned king.

For the Hungarian Parliament invested the head of the state with royal rights, making Horthy king in all but title. He is responsible to no one but himself, and only death may part him from his office. He possesses sweeping powers over legislation, and authority to recommend his successor, all of which makes him a vital figure in Central European politics.

Europe saw a new cause for alarm in Horthy's official state visit to Berlin and Adolf Hitler. Horthy, it was believed, chose to tie Hungarian fortunes to the Nazi banner, thus strengthening the German position in the Danubian states. He spent five days of intimate association with Der Fuehrer, five days which may change the course of history.

Nearing 70, Horthy has been the head of a state longer than any uncrowned ruler in the world. Today he is a key figure in Europe. He speaks French, German, English, Italian, Slavic, is a fine rider, plays the piano, indulges in drawing. So long has he held power, that he is virtually a Hungarian institution. He is shown here on a 1930 Hungarian stamp issued in commemoration of his regency. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

Glasses Stop Fowl Murders

Now that the 100 pullets in the poultry-yard of the Essex County Penitentiary at North Caldwell, N. Y., are looking at the world through rose-colored glasses, as pictured above, Warden Hamma reports they have stopped murdering their prize white leghorns. Any slight peck that drew blood inspired the pullets to leap on the bleeding leghorn and kill it. With the glasses, the murderous pullets cannot distinguish red.

13-Year-Old Boy Is Freshman at Baylor

WACO, (AP). — John Galen Lawrence is only 13 years old, but he doesn't allow his age to stand in the way of his education. He registered at Baylor University last week and now is a full-fledged freshman at the Baptist institution.

"High school was easy for me and I believe I can make good grades in college too," he said confidently while his older classmates gazed in awe as the 85 pound youngster used both arms and his chest to hold his college books.

John is the son of Supt. W. E. Lawrence of the Axtell public schools, a Baylor alumnus. He said he would like very much to play on the Baylor football team but he is afraid his 85 pounds would make him ineligible.

Pushing him for age honors at the school is little Miss Frances Scott, 14 year old from Utopia. She was valedictorian of her class with a 98 per cent record.

Both expect to give much of their time to extra-curricular activities and will take the full four year period for finish Baylor. They reached college at the early age by skipping several of the lower grades.

Tuberculosis Fatal To 4,181 Texans

WASHINGTON, (AP). — The census bureau reported 4,181 Texans died of tuberculosis in 1935, including 424 persons whose death came while they were out of their home area.

Actually, there were 4,202 deaths from the disease during that year within the state lines, including 445 non-residents there as patients or visitors.

The bureau said 1,671 of the total deaths of tuberculosis occurred in urban areas, including all cities of 10,000 or more population. The remainder, 2,531, died in rural areas.

Data showed the death toll of the disease in the following Texas cities for the year:

- Dallas, 133; El Paso, 188; Fort Worth, 108; Houston, 268; San Antonio, 343; Amarillo, 139; Austin, 73; Beaumont, 30; Corpus Christi, 35; Galveston, 49; Laredo, 60; Waco, 38; Wichita Falls, 19; Abilene, 9; Big Spring, 8; Brownsville, 24; Brownwood, 2; Cleburne, 5; Corsicana, 9; Del Rio, 27; Denison, 12; Greenville, 8; Harlingen, 9; Lubbock, 6; Marshall, 20; Palestine, 5; Pampa, 7; Paris, 14; San Benito, 9; Sherman, 12; Sweetwater, 4; Temple, 11; Texarkana, 15; Tyler, 4.
- In most cases the number of non-resident deaths, included in the above figures, were offset by the number of residents of a city dying in some other area. Exceptions were noted in a few towns, especially in West Texas, where climatic conditions attract patients seeking recovery.

BULLDOGS DRILL ON PASS DEFENSE TO STOP STANTON HERE FRIDAY NITE

The Midland high school Bulldogs, facing what should be a fairly easy game this week, are being allowed to take practice sessions fairly easy this week.

The condition of Jay Francis is causing the coach a lot of worry and it is possible the spark plug of the club will not get to see action in the Stanton game.

Captain Bud Taylor is confident of his boys' ability to handle the Stanton lads, but has warned them not to be too sure of a victory.

Taylor is hopeful his first string can run up a lead over the Martin county lads early in the game so he can use his second string boys for the remainder.

While denying that he is "playing" the Wink game before the Stanton game, the coach will admit that he is planning on saving his first string men as much as possible in the Stanton game in anticipation

How to See Football

The old saw, "There is more than one way of skinning a cat," holds good in football, where there is more than one way of scoring a touchdown.

And to score touchdowns in modern football, coaches usually plan their offenses along various lines, or according to a certain system.

One of the more common today is the single wing, which probably owes its development to Amos Alonzo Stagg, who is credited with originating the shift.

Although there are any number of plays which can be run from a basic formation, it is simple for the spectator to spot the single wing. In most cases the left guard or left tackle will move into the right side of the line, forming an unbalanced line, with a strong side.

The tailback, or Number 4 back, takes a position about six yards immediately behind the center, with the Number 2 blocking back up close. The wing, or Number 1, is a yard behind and about a yard outside the right end, and the Number 3 back takes a spot a couple of yards in front of and a yard or so to the right of the tailback.

This setup is capable of producing plenty of power on line plays to the so-called strong side, ranging from plunges over the middle to wide end sweeps.

Doc Prothro Named Skipper of Phillie For Next Two Years

CHICAGO, Oct. 5. (U.P.)—Gerald Nugent, president of the Philadelphia Phillies last night signed Dr. James Thompson (Doc) Prothro of Memphis to a two year contract as manager of the club.

Prothro, who has held a manager's job in the Southern association for nine years and resigned recently as the Little Rock pilot, said he would return to Philadelphia with Nugent after the world series to confer on the club's 1939 prospects.

"The Phillies have some good pitchers," Prothro said, "but I want more power and want to add speed to the club."

The new Philly pilot managed Memphis in the Southern association for five years, winning one pennant, then resigned four years ago to go to Little Rock where he won another flag.

Fifty sacks of cement were pumped in behind 12 1/2-inch pipe, set at 357, cementing it to the surface. It was erroneously reported yesterday that none of the pipe had been cemented; actually light cement jobs had been used, but operators decided to put more cement behind the 12 1/2-inch pipe as precautionary measure should heavier gas be struck. It topped Delaware black lime at 3,254 and sand at 3,283.
