

Quint's Make Mark in Hollywood

Ten tiny footprints of five famous girls, the Dionne quintuplets, were impressed in the fresh cement in front of Grauman's Chinese Theater, with Actor Jean Hersholt, shown here, acting as proxy for his five little friends. The quint's five sets of shoes, worn in their newest movie, "Five of a Kind," were flown from Callander, Ont., for the ceremony.

Northwestern Reeves Delaware Well Flows 3,770,000 Feet Gas

By FRANK GARDNER.

Official Railroad Commission gauge on Pacific Mid-Continent Corporation (formerly Frankley & Rice) No. 1 W. A. Tunstall, Delaware discovery three and a half miles northeast of Orla in northwestern Reeves county, credited it with a gas volume of 3,770,000 cubic feet per day. Gas was accompanied by light spray of oil, figured at one gallon per hour and testing 42.6 gravity.

Gauging of the gas was performed after the well had been allowed to blow for 45 minutes, exhausting the 1,600 pounds pressure on casing it had built up while shut in. Flow was through two 2-inch lines off casing to separator, with a 4-inch line off separator.

No. 1 Tunstall is now shut in pending deal to sell the gas to the El Paso Natural Gas Company, whose gas line runs 14 miles north of the well. Total depth of the discovery is 3,305 feet, 27 feet in the Delaware sand. It had been shot with 100 quarts.

Humble No. 1 A. H. Robertson, wildcat northwest of Fort Stockton in western Pecos, is drilling at 3,682 feet in anhydrite and lime.

Two Vacuum Tests Produce.

Proving of a wide expanse of territory on the east side of the Vacuum pool in Lea county, N. M., was accomplished today by Phillips 11 Santa Fe and Shell No. 1-U State, both wildcats.

No. 11 Santa Fe, bottomed at 4,511 feet, flowed 97 barrels of oil on three-hour natural test, after swabbing in through 2 1/2-inch tubing run to 4,000 feet. It has been completed for that output. The well is three-fourths of a mile east and 660 feet south of Cities Service No. 1-K State, east edge producer, and a mile and a quarter northwest of Helmerich & Payne, Inc. and Conoco No. 1-G-36 State, test indicating two miles southwest extension of the pool. No. 1-G-36 State still is cleaning out after shut.

Shell No. 1-U State, two miles west by southwest of the Helmerich & Payne and Conoco well, swabbed 27 barrels in eight hours, cut 1.4 per cent with basic sediment and one per cent with water, through 2 1/2-inch tubing set at 4,895 feet. Total depth is 4,900 feet in lime. No. 1-U State is two and a quarter miles east of the south end of the pool and one and one-quarter miles due south of Phillips No. 7 Santa Fe, original east extension well.

Preparations were being made to deepen Shell No. 1-S State, pool well, from 4,675 feet in lime after it swabbed only 28 barrels of oil in 16 hours. At the end of the test, it was swabbing a barrel and a half per hour. Cities Service No. 1-K State has been completed after gauging natural flow of 20 barrels an hour for eight hours, bottomed at 4,325 feet in lime.

Nine miles southwest of the pool, Texas No. 1 Lodewick is drilling post 3,810 feet in anhydrite.

Kendrick Plugging Back.

Plugging back with lead wool and lathe cuttings had reached 5,158 1/2 feet this morning in Honolulu No. 1 R. M. Kendrick, mile and 990 feet east extension of the Denver pool in southern Yoakum. Operators plan next to run limit plug, then a lead plug. Hole is being plugged back to shut off one-third of a barrel of salt water per hour encountered from 5,162-69, the total depth. Before oil flow was killed with Halliburton pumps, No. 1 Kendrick had gauged 568 barrels in 24 hours, filling all storage.

Humble No. 1 Randall, west side Denver well, flowed 577.19 barrels of fluid, of which 404.03 barrels were net oil and the remainder basic sediment and water, on 24-hour potential test. Gas-oil ratio was 786-1. The well had been acidized and is bottomed at 5,160 feet in lime.

In the pool, Shell No. 7 Lowe is drilling at 2,090 in red beds; Danvers No. 3 Shell-Lynn had reached 1,683 also in red beds; and Denver No. 13 Whittenton is drilling at 4,995 feet in lime.

Shell No. 1 Ruyts, wildcat a mile southeast of the Bennett pool, south-east Yoakum, is drilling at 2,090 feet in red beds.

May Abandon Gaines Test.

Abandonment was noted for Atlantic No. 1 Parker, wildcat two and a half miles northwest of the Seminole pool in Gaines, as it swabbed one and one-half barrels of sulphur water hourly yesterday in swabbing down to packer at 4,946. After a shut-down of eight and one-half hours overnight, water was found to have risen 2,500 feet. Swabbing has been resumed early today. The well is bottomed at 5,290 feet in lime.

Montecito Corporation No. 3 Emma Cowden, short west outpost of the Emma pool in southern Andrews, was reported showing oil as it drilled to 4,163 feet with cable tools. Farther north, Superior No. 1 University halted coring at 4,227, ran 2 1/2-inch tubing, and is swabbing oil load for acid treatment. Last core, from 4,220-27, recovered four and one-half feet of hard lime, only slightly porous, and showing oil at the fractures.

Bert Fields, Inc. No. 1 Owenwood, three miles northwest of the Harper pool in Ector, is drilling at 4,440 feet in lime, showing 100 feet of oil. Steel line measurement corrected 4,395 to equal 4,404. Slight show of oil had been logged from 4,375-80, with slight increase in gas at 4,380-82, and more oil at 4,430-40.

Wentz No. 3-B TXL, Harper pool, well, flowed 2,468.73 barrels a day, with gas-oil ratio of 955-1, after 4,000-gallon acid job. It topped pay at 4,054 and reached a total depth of 4,183.

Noted Educator to Address Rotarians

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the Texas School of Mines at El Paso, will address the Midland Rotary club at its luncheon Thursday noon. Program Committee men H. F. Fox, and W. R. Upham, on learning that Dr. Wiggins would be here Friday for the Southwestern Conference of Mayors and Chamber of Commerce Representatives, extended him an invitation to come a day earlier and address the Rotarians. He is a member of the El Paso Rotary club.

School Safety Pledges Being Signed as Junior Traffic Patrol Go on Duty Today

Pledge has been taken by Junior Traffic Patrol members at John M. Cowden junior high school, it was announced today by A. L. Gibbreth, principal. Boys of the sixth and seventh grades were eligible to serve, a small group from each room being selected by teachers to be on duty for a limited period, other boys then taking the places.

School safety pledges passed out to be signed by children were as follows:

I want to help make the streets and highways safer for children and I am willing to do the following things:

Obey the advice of the Highway Patrol. School Safety Patrol and Police.

Walk on the left side of the street when there are no sidewalks.

Cross the street carefully. Look both ways before crossing. When crossing have my mind on it.

Will walk within Safety Zone. Will watch for approaching cars,

Green Asks CIO Return To AF of L

Strong Address Delivered to Texas Labor Convention

BEAUMONT, Oct. 18 (AP).—Rank and file members of the CIO were asked Monday by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor to come back to the AFL.

The national labor leader addressed the Texas State Federation of Labor convention before he crossed into Louisiana en route to New Orleans and Washington.

"We have kept the door open to the CIO rank and file," he shouted. "We ask them, we beg them, we plead with them to come back."

"There would be no division in labor today," he continued. "If the rank and file, who plead for peace, refused to follow those who set up the dual labor movement. The American Federation of Labor has nothing to give them except a labor home—let them come back and we will have labor peace in this nation."

The address was considered one of the strongest Green has delivered in Texas, which he termed one of the strongholds of the AFL.

"We stood three years ago, when the division came, where we stood in the beginning, in our house—the house of labor," the AFL boss said.

"We have not left it. Would it not be proper that those who left it should return? They can come back. We can have labor peace, if they will only come home."

The dual movement is expensive to the wage earner and a waste of money, he said.

General McKenzie, Early Rancher, to Be Buried Here

Funeral services for one of Midland's first settlers, J. M. "General" McKenzie, who died late yesterday afternoon at Big Spring, will be held today, 11:30 o'clock, being at Big Spring, with commitment service at the Midland cemetery at 5 p. m. He was born September 9, 1857.

Coming here in 1884 or 1885, "General" McKenzie was one of the most widely known ranchmen of West Texas. His eldest son, according to relatives, was the first child born in Midland after the town was settled. The first wife of the early resident is buried at the local cemetery.

After ranching here for a number of years "General" McKenzie moved to Arizona, engaging in the cattle business. He returned to Midland later, starting a real estate business in partnership with Jack Carter. For the past fifteen years he had lived at Big Spring.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Norma McKenzie of Big Spring; three sons, Thomas N., E. Waller and James G.; one step-son, R. A. Roberts; four daughters, Mrs. Mary Bell Childers of San Antonio, Mrs. Flora Swarbauch of Cleveland, O.; Miss Ada McKenzie of Boston, Mass. and Mrs. Ruth Edwards McDonald of Big Spring; and several grand-children; two brothers, J. F. of El Paso and R. E. of Fort Sumner, both of whom will be here this afternoon; six sisters, Mrs. Jenny B. Moody of Bartlesville, Okla., Mrs. N. Waitzloven, Mrs. Alice D. Sanders of El Paso, Mrs. Ora A. Daley, Mrs. Theresa Dockrell of Massachusetts and Mrs. Walt Wood of Montana.

Parents of "General" McKenzie are buried at San Marcos. He was one of fourteen children of whom eight still are living.

Veteran Ranger Succumbs at Mexia

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 (AP).—The public safety department was advised today of the death of Albert Mace, one of the most colorful Rangers, in Mexia after a long illness. He was 62.

He joined the rangers in 1903. He also served as chief of police in Mexia and Corpus Christi and as sheriff of Lampasas county.

Additional Seats Will Be Provided for Game Friday

Seats for everyone! That is, unless the crowd that attends the Midland-Wink football game here Friday night exceeds 3,000, school officials announced this afternoon.

The last of the 2,100 reserved seats in the east and west side grandstands was sold this morning and officials immediately went into a huddle to devise some way of seating the crowd expected. At the meeting plans were adopted calling for the erection of 900 bleacher seats, 600 of them to be reserved. Half the reserved seats will be offered to Wink, half to Midland residents and the remaining 300 will be thrown open to the public when the gates are opened Friday night.

Superintendent Lee Johnson of the Wink schools came here last night for tickets and was successful in landing only 560, less than one half what he wanted. He called back this morning to say that he had sold the tickets in less than 15 minutes and "just had to have a lot more. He expressed the belief he could sell at least 1,000 more tickets in the Winkler county oil field city. Arrangements were made this afternoon to send him the 300 tickets allotted in the bleachers, and to prepare to seat more Wink fans if the demand for them is made.

Six hundred of the bleacher seats

Costly Vessel

Costliest religious vessel ever used in the United States, the diamond-topped monstrance, above, is one of the spectacles of the Eighth National Eucharistic Congress, to be held Oct. 18 to 20 in New Orleans. Valued at $35,000, the monstrance contains 817 diamonds, is 42 inches high, weighs 24 pounds.

Box Takes Stand in His Own Defense in Murder Trial Today

Defense witnesses were being heard this afternoon in the trial of S. L. Box, charged with the murder of Hershell Gunter in Midland last May 30.

Box took the stand in his own defense shortly before noon and went back to the witness box when the trial was started again at 1:30. This morning, he related how he arrived in Midland the night before the shooting incident and spent the remainder of it with his estranged wife's family. He then told of meeting with Gunter and calling him over the curb where an argument and fight ensued, culminating in his grabbing a pistol from a paper bag and firing one shot that proved fatal to Gunter.

He testified he did not know whether or not the shot hit Gunter in the back, since he was badly frightened at the time for fear Gunter would stab him with a knife he had in his hand. He said that after Gunter was shot and fell he was still able to close the knife.

John Massingill and Travis Massingill, father and brother-in-law, respectively, of Box, testified that Box spent the night with them and that he was told of his wife "running around" with Gunter.

Enoch McTerry, cafe proprietor, told of hearing an argument between the two men; and Bill Ramser told of driving up and parking at the curb where the two men started fighting.

Previous to testimony by defense witnesses, the state rested its case after testimony by officers A. J. Norwood and Dave Morren and Dr. W. E. Ryan.

Selection of a jury was completed at 4:30 yesterday afternoon with A. G. Bohannon, C. W. Kerr, C. R. Fryar, N. G. Baker, J. M. Armstrong, Jas. L. Daugherty, A. L. Hallman, L. T. Boynton, J. M. Graybeal, J. E. Davis, C. A. Messamore, F. E. Curtis being selected. Selection of the jury was delayed through the many men excused by defense counsel.

E. W. Jennings was the first state witness called by the state and he testified he was standing in what was then Shelton's paint store when he saw a couple of men in what appeared to be a scuffle. He said that he walked to the door, calling to John R. Truss, Jr., to watch as he did so. He said he saw Box knock Gunter down, Gunter got up and raced across the street with Box in pursuit. Just before they reached the opposite side of the street Gunter whirled with something in his hand that he had jerked from his pocket, Jennings said, and pursued Box back across the street. As Box reached the sidewalk he reached down and picked up a paper sack and after some apparent difficulty he managed to pull a gun from it, saying as he did so "I'd like to see you," in answer to something said to him by Gunter. Gunter whirled and started running, then Box fired one time. After firing he placed the gun back in the paper sack, Jennings testified.

John J. Bailey, a brother-in-law of Gunter, testified that he and Gunter were sitting in his (Bailey's) car in front of the Montgomery-Ward store when Box walked up, with the paper sack in his hand, and motioned for Gunter to come to the curb. As he neared the curb, See (BOX TAKES) Page Four.

Spy Relates How He Stole War Secrets

Says Information Was Passed Along To One 'Sanders'

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP).—Guenther Gustav Rumrich, confessed spy, testified today at the trial of three persons on espionage charges that a mysterious "Sanders" to whom he was supposed to turn over his United States military information was "very critical" of his progress.

Rumrich related how he exchanged letters with Sanders, reputed to be assistant to the chief of the naval intelligence office in Bremen. He testified Sanders asked him to send two catalogues of the federal printing office with a list of army and aviation publications.

"Sanders said I wasn't prompt enough in complying with his request," Rumrich said.

The witness said when he had asked for financial support Sanders replied he would have to take it up with the "war ministry."

Rumrich, 32, confessed spy and U. S. Army deserter, began his wavering story in federal court Monday of how life pretty tough for me" led him into complicity in a spy plot in this country.

The witness said he sold out his country after reading a book on spies written by Col. Walter Nicolai, famous head of German espionage during the World War.

He went "A. W. O. L." from his army post on Governor's Island, he said, "because by English was very bad and the soldiers were very prejudiced against me."

Rumrich took the stand after United States Attorney Lamar Hardy, white-haired former Mississippian, bluntly charged "high officials of the German war ministry" with directing an espionage plot that included attempted forgery of President Roosevelt's signature on White House letter paper, a thwarted plot to murder a United States army fort commander and the theft of vital American defense secrets.

Czech Areas Under Martial Law After 'Incidents' Occur

BUDAPEST, Oct. 18 (AP).—One thousand university students demonstrated today, demanding arms to enforce Hungary's territorial demands of Czechoslovakia.

Renewal of conversations between Czechoslovakia and Hungary were expected because of pressure Hungarian sources indicated had been exerted by Rome and Berlin on Czechoslovakia.

Meanwhile in Berlin a foreign spokesman said Germany's army reserves, marshaled during the German-Czechoslovakia crisis, were being dismissed daily.

PRAGUE, Oct. 18 (AP).—Districts along most of the length of Czechoslovakia's frontier with Hungary were under martial law last night as this republic took firm action against alleged Hungarian terrorism pending resumption of territorial negotiations.

Thousands of persons—including Hungarian army officers and soldiers, according to Czechoslovak accounts—were arrested on charges of violence and sabotage. A general staff bulletin reported open fighting in the areas of Chlumec and Pilsen.

The bulletin asserted Hungarian soldiers opened fire there on Czechoslovak troops on patrol and threw grenades across the border.

It said the Czechoslovaks obeyed orders not to reply to attacks, however.

Officials said martial law was imposed especially in a determination to prevent a chaotic situation which might offer Hungary a reason for military occupation of the Hungarian-populated regions she has demanded.

Official circles still were without official information on when negotiations with Hungary which the latter broke off at Komarom last Thursday, would be renewed.

Maybe Barney Was Just Flying Low

Flying here this morning in his own plane, Robert Bean, Lubbock attorney, transacted business with Barney Grafa of Midland. He was accompanied by R. Q. Pierce, Lubbock real estate man. According to previous arrangement, when Grafa heard the plane circle over town, he drove at once to the airport to bring the Lubbock men in. He arrived just as plane landed. Bean said he may have been flying higher, but apparently no faster than Grafa.

VISITS SISTER. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mitchell of Houston are the guests of his sister, Mrs. Foy Proctor.

Gay Leading Lady

Feminine interest in the trial is guaranteed by the smiling Johanna Hofmann, above, a 24-year-old hairdresser aboard the German liner Europa. She is charged with having acted as an international messenger between German spies in the United States and their masters in Europe. The red-gold hair and blue eyes of Miss Hofmann lent a decorative effect to the trial, which is expected to be the most startling spy revelation of the year.

Prosecutes

United States Attorney Lamar Hardy, pictured outside the courtroom where he is prosecuting the alleged spies, has conferred with President Roosevelt about the problem of alien spying into U. S. military secrets.

Presides

Judge John C. Knox, arriving at New York Federal Court to preside over the spy trial, warned jurors not to be prejudiced by speculations, as the government's evidence has been kept highly secret.

10,000 Bales Destroyed During Day

Origin of Blaze Unknown, Firemen Isolate Fire Area

BIG SPRING, (Special). Oct. 18. —Fire loss of a half million dollars occurred at Big Spring this morning when a blaze of uncertain origin broke out in the Big Spring compress, just north of the downtown viaduct, at about 5:30 o'clock and still was smouldering at noon.

The building and machinery of the compress suffered damage of $90,000, being reduced to a blackened ruin, and approximately 10,000 bales of cotton, estimated at more than $400,000 in value, were destroyed, according to a statement by E. B. Bethel, city fire marshal.

Approximately 80 per cent of the cotton destroyed was financed through government loans and held over for storage. It was reported, the remainder being in freight cars on sidings, ready to be shipped.

The compress proper covers a city block, with warehouses nearby covering several acres. Firemen succeeded in restricting the blaze to the compress site but could do nothing toward extinguishing the flames there, using both water hose and chemicals. The cotton was slowly burning itself out early this afternoon.

Firemen thought possibly the blaze could have been caused by a "hot bale" sent over from one of the gins. A night watchman discovered the blaze at six o'clock this morning, attempted to extinguish it himself for a short time before calling the fire department. A strong wind had made a holocaust of the compress before firemen arrived.

East and Midwest Swelter, West in Cold Weather Grip

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP).—The middle west and east basked in milder temperatures today while the plains and mountain sections of the west shivered.

Thirty inches of snow had fallen in sections of Montana, and temperatures were unseasonably low. Cody, Wyoming, reported a temperature of 16.

Montana's first snowstorm sent hundreds of searchers for a 60-year-old woman, a WPA worker, feared lost in the hills, and two missing deer hunters.

Many temperatures in the high eighties were recorded in the east.

Investigator Says Stalin Was Back Of Sitdown Strikes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP). — Jacob Spolansky, criminal investigator under the Wayne county, Michigan, sheriff, testified today before the house committee investigating un-American activities that Joseph Stalin, Russian communist dictator, had ordered the outright destruction of the American Federation of Labor.

The witness said Stalin at a Moscow conference ordered communist agents in America to boost the cause of industrial unionism and to expand activity among negroes.

Spolansky attributed to communists the major part in sit-down strikes in recent years.

Broadway Group to Meet Here Friday

Call for a second important conference here Friday has been made by H. L. Birney of El Paso, founder of the Broadway of America, to be held during the Southwestern Conference of Mayors and Chamber of Commerce Representatives. He asked all towns from Weatherford to El Paso to send representatives here for business in connection with the Broadway of America. More than twenty are expected here for this phase of the meeting, in addition to the hundred or more for the principal meeting.

F. O. Mackey of Douglas, Ariz., president of the association, will preside at the meeting here, according to Birney, who had been in touch with him in arranging for the session.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Munn, parents of a son born in a Midland hospital Monday afternoon. The baby weighed 9 1/2 pounds.

The Town Quack

The man who invented the saying that he would rather be right than president must have been able to see way over into New Deal times. If there is a boy alive who still cherishes an ambition to be president, I haven't heard of him. And from now on, I doubt if they will want to be governor.

Fish Pollard came through Del Rio recently, from way down in Mexico, and he encountered old "Prickly Pear" J. Travelstead, editor of the Evening News there. J. told him to tell me where to go and to quit putting his name in this column. But I can't quit unless I start in trying to please the readers. As long as I write copy which is tinged occasionally with sarcasm, the best sources I can get are the column of J. Travelstead and Ralph Shuffler, and the book by Irving D. Tressler, "How to Lose Friends and Alienate People."

We reporters on the paper have to have some way of learning of the comings and goings of the public and of the guests here from out of town. If we don't contact the right people we don't get their names. I have thought all the time that the citizens ought to telephone us when they have guests, as such news is interesting to their friends. Now I know that it would be to the advantage of the guests, at least, to have such information sent in. When you have a guest from out of town, call us the information. We will put same in the paper and the guest, or guests, will be sent a free pass to either the Yuca or Ritz theatre. This is entirely through the courtesy of the theatre management and doesn't cost us a cent. But we recommend that you take advantage of it. We want your and your guests' names in the paper anyway.

We seem to be getting scooped around the country on the resignation of one of our biggest oil company division superintendents, and the stories probably are right, but as long as he says it isn't official yet, it isn't official with us.

THE CAPITOL JIGSAW
By HOWARD C. MARSHALL, Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 (AP)—Revision of election laws in Texas will be considered by the general session of the legislature. For several years the state democratic executive committee has been urging overhauling the election statutes, not to change their intent or alter policies, but to remove ambiguities.

A bill in line with views of the committee, introduced at the last biennial session, probably will be sent up again but only slightly revamped. Senator-Nominate Pentrose Metcalfe of San Angelo also has been having some thoughts of the subject, especially as concerns poll tax exemptions. The present system is very lax and encourages fraud, he said in Austin recently.

Under the law citizens 60 years and older are exempt from the tax. Those residing in cities of more than 10,000 population must obtain an exemption certificate while those living in towns of less than 10,000 and in rural areas do not have to have one. Metcalfe would require everyone exempt from the tax to obtain a certificate. "The system is very loose and ought to be corrected," he said. "No county in Texas knows how many invested for him through UESCO—in A. G. & E. securities. After the hearing Hopson talked lengthily to this correspondent—of UESCO as a fulfillment of an old dream of his to devise an employee savings plan.

LAWYERS from another hearing came up to shake the great man's hand. One asked Hopson to remove his hat so he could "see his horns." Hopson complied. "I'm de-horned," said Hopson. "I'm just what they call out west a mooly cow!"

The manipulator of hundreds of millions reminisced. There was the time in the Chicago office during boom days "one of our salesmen sold a million dollars of securities over the telephone in an day"—when Hopson found the cashier's cage piled and littered with cash, checks and bonds. He thought there must be two or three millions there. He asked. Only $250,000.

"My respect for a million dollars increased tremendously," said Hopson. SEC officials regard Hopson and UESCO sourly. UESCO sought exemption from the holding company act, passed on the theory that many utility holding companies were primarily big milking machines for men like Hopson. SEC countered for a decision whether UESCO, which buys up securities of A. G. & E. top holding companies—now selling low—and can hold up the market for them as well as taken them over from insiders, is an A. G. & E. affiliate. If it is a subsidiary, securities can't be sold to employees without SEC approval and the precedent will affect many other companies which SEC believes are subsidiaries of the system and wants to regulate. The record indicates an SEC at-

Conventions Call for Display of Hospitality by Midland Citizens

Convention time is on in Midland. The Southwestern Conference of Mayors and Chamber of Commerce Representatives, one hundred strong, will hold its quarterly meeting at Midland Friday and Saturday. A week later, the district American Legion convention will have charge of the city. On November 5, the Permian Basin chapter of the American Petroleum Institute will be the guest organization.

These people have accepted invitations to come to Midland under the impression that western hospitality still prevails here, as it did forty years ago. They are coming with the full expectation that Midlanders will extend them a warm hand of welcome. They should not be disappointed.

Accustomed to seeing new faces daily, due to the growth of the city, many of us have dropped the old habit of greeting strangers to make them feel at home—not that we should have dropped it. When these convention people arrive, all Midland citizens having regard for the welfare and good name of the city should be on hand to welcome them, to give them information which will help them enjoy their stay, to provide transportation and entertainment when called upon. Cities and towns which are sought after by convention crowds have the right kind of reputation for hospitality.

SO THEY SAY

POURING OUT THE BILLIONS

(The Texas Weekly.)

Simple facts cannot be said to hold any great degree of widespread popularity just now. Indeed, it is the history of unpleasant facts that they are ignored by most people just as long as possible—and a great many of the facts about life in the United States today are not pleasant. Pleasant or not, however, they are facts which are going to have to be faced sooner or later. And "later" may not be soon enough.

Some of these unpleasant facts recently were brought together by the United States Chamber of Commerce in a compendium on taxes and public spending. Most of the facts included were obtained from official sources. Here are some of them: The cost of government—Federal, State, and local—in the United States increased from $8,918,000,000 in 1923 to $18,900,000,000 in 1937, or from $79.96 per capita to $130.75. The national indebtedness for all classes of government stood in 1937 at $55,579,000,000, which is $429.99 per capita. During the last fiscal year the Federal Government spent more than $21,000,000 a day.

"Spending for recovery" is the slogan of the New Dealers. Well, the Department of Commerce estimated the other day that the national income of the United States for 1938 will approximate sixty-four billion dollars. The estimate is based on the assumption that the income for the last four months of the year will hold up to the average of the first eight months. If it turns out that the national income this year does amount to about sixty-four billion dollars, that will still be more than five and one-third billion dollars below the national income in 1937. The spending continues, but where is the recovery?

And if any person has the quaint idea that the spending activities of the Federal Government affect him only remotely, let him consider one further fact: That approximately three-fourths of the direct obligations of the Federal Government are held by (1) banks, (2) reserve banks, (3) insurance companies, and (4) non-finance corporations.

DANGEROUS TRESPASSING

(The Dallas News.)

When railroad companies put up signs to remind people that their rights of way and switching yards are not public thoroughfares for pedestrians or playgrounds for children, they are expressing concern for public safety rather than a petty attitude on property rights. The high accident rate for trespassers on railroad property should be an effective argument against taking short cuts down the tracks.

Not only are many pedestrians hit by trains but others who insist on walking the rails or ties meet with tragedy from other causes. W. Wackher, Katy superintendent of safety, reports the case of two small children who walked barefoot on the tracks just after a rail had been repaired and was still extremely hot. The children's feet were burned severely. On another occasion, he relates, an eleven-year-old boy found a torpedo or a dynamite cap and hammered it with a rock. One of his fingers was blown off.

The railroads, like other major companies, have been conducting safety campaigns among their employes and have succeeded in cutting down accident rates. But irresponsible trespassers are still a hazard. Deaths on railroad property would be much lower if persons who have no business on the tracks would keep off. Saving a few steps is much less important than saving a life.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—With-out-rolly-polly Howard C. Hopson of Associated Gas & Electric, the New Deal warfare on the public utility front would be as dull as a Mae West picture with no Mae West.

Hopson is the life of the party whenever he's invited down here to explain this or that about the great, Associated holding company system whose assets he had pyramided up to $642,000,000 in 1929. If he doesn't start a game of hide-and-go-seek you'll find him playing some kind of legal checkers, always with the mischievous air of a kid having a lot of fun.

Most of the audience consists of Hopson's own lawyers—at least seven of them—during his appearances before an SEC examiner in proceedings concerning his utility which Hopson and his mates refer to euphemistically as "Yooy-esc-o."

Employees Securities Co., COMFORT OFFICES LAST.

IT'S a small room and the chairs are none too comfortable and there's little of the dramatic excitement that attended Hopson's celebrated appearance before Senator Hugo Black's lobby committee in 1935 after a long period of hide-and-go-seek. But if you like brilliant legal sparring, here's your place. The rather young bespectacled SEC examiner on the Co-Op Boys Get Truck at A. & M.

S. A. Debnam, who returned early Monday from College Station, where he attended the T. C. U. vs. A. & M. football game, reported the Midland boys living in the "project house" making good accounts of themselves in school and living on a business like basis.

There are 45 boys in the cooperative-home, buying groceries in conjunction with 1,500 boys living in similar places, and attending school at drastic reductions in expenses. A truck was delivered to them late last week, through cooperation of L. G. Mackey of Mackey Motor Co., to provide transportation to and from school, the home being situated in Bryan. The truck also will be used for transporting fruits, vegetables and other commodities which may be bought cheaply at points of production.

Midland boys living at the home include Dalton Cobb, James Copnor, Dub Stanley, Kelly Jones, Speck Voliva, Robert Crane and Bill Estes. Their address is 204 West 29, Bryan.

First 100 Women To Register Will See Screening

The first 100 women who register at the box office of the Yuca theatre from today until 6 o'clock Saturday evening of this week will be given invitations to attend the special screening of Fannie Hurst's "Four Daughters." Tom Kirkham, assistant manager of the theatre, has announced. The special screening will be held Thursday, Oct. 27, at 10 o'clock in the morning, at the Yuca.

It is not necessary to buy a ticket in order to register, Kirkham said. Merely to come to the theatre and sign one's name is sufficient.

Mrs. Pemberton Is Honored With Party On Birthday Monday

Mrs. Fred Middleton entertained at her home, 900 W. Tennessee, Monday afternoon honoring her mother, Mrs. Brooks Pemberton, on her birthday.

A Halloween motif was chosen for party appointments.

Marigolds decorated the living room where the guests gathered for an afternoon of conversation and handwork.

At the tea hour, guests were seated at the dining table which bore a centerpiece of nasturtiums and was decorated in Halloween style. Halloween place favors marked covers.

The birthday cake was decorated in yellow and white.

A feature of the party was the presentation of gifts to Mrs. Pemberton.

Present were: The honoree, Mmes. Anna Klapproth, Mary S. Ray, Arch Coleman, W. W. Wimberly, Frank Ingham, J. Pemberton, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Dill, and the hostess and Mr. Middleton.

Midland Couple Married Monday In San Antonio

Friends of the couple here have received news of the marriage of Mrs. Janell Burns and Ray Rhodes, both of Midland, which took place in San Antonio Monday. The ceremony was read at high noon.

Mrs. Rhodes, proprietor of the Book Stall, has lived in Midland about two years, coming here from Abilene.

Mr. Rhodes is engaged in the oil business. After a wedding trip, they will be at home here.

A Tisket, A Tasket, Wear a Jeweled Basket

Miniature jeweled baskets, filled with tiny flowers of multi-colored stones, offer the newest idea in this season of sophistication when jewelry has taken on real importance. Pin one at a saucy angle on a saucy hat and two more on the little pointed cuffs of the briefest of gloves. Or figure out for yourself just where on your costume a pair will be most effective. They add a nice note to dinner as well as daytime clothes.

The citizen intimates that the society editor omits prefixes because of personal prejudice.

For "high on to three years," the distressed writer says, he has tried to figure out why this attitude.

If the letter writer has read The Reporter-Telegram for three years and has observed this remissness all along, he should know that it is reportorial style and not personal prejudice—for during the last three years at least three different young women have served as society editor.

In the second place, if the peeved person would read the society page carefully, he would see that the Mr. is omitted only the first time that the man's name is given. Thereafter he is consistently referred to, quite respectfully, as Mr.

Omission of the title the first time the name appears is observed simply to follow the trend of journalistic style which in larger papers is to avoid over-use of prefixes, as over-use gives a florid, stilted effect. In this respect, The Reporter-Telegram is more generous than some city papers which frequently employ girls' names (college girls and society girls) without the prefix "Miss." We shudder to think what the I. I. W. (indignant letter writer) would say if his hometown paper did that. Or perhaps his sensitiveness to alleged injustice extends only to the oppressed masculine race.

As to the implication that the society editor is a man-hater—she is not. Neither is she an abject worshipper of the race which calls itself the lords of creation. Men are humans first, in her estimation. Thereafter, she likes or dislikes them on their likeable or unlikeable qualities.

One thing she does appreciate in a man, however, and that is courage.

She is still wondering why I. I. W. preferred to masquerade under the name of "Kitty Cat" rather than sign his legal name.

The society editor is not overly large and she doesn't wear long finger nails.

Louisiana believes it can match the world on the basis of strange names for babies.

On its records are such as Castor Oil, Delirious, Hardtimes, Louise, Turnip Tissue.

Real-Dimple, Stew, Sausage, and Louisiana has our vote for the doubtful honor.

What worries us is why supposedly devoted parents could ever find it in their hearts to burden their offspring with such outlandish names.

Reading the list reminds of a story about the real unhappiness caused a man because his fond parents ill-advisedly tacked the Christian name Aiken onto the family name of Bunyan when he was christened. Of course he used the initial but A. Bunyan is bound to call forth a lot of wisecracks from self-styled wits. The story was an extreme instance and fiction, naturally.

But parents would do well to consider how the name they favor for a tiny, pink baby would fit that same baby when a grownup man or woman before deciding upon it irrevocably.

Coffin Corner Artists Feature of A Nation-Wide Upswing in Kicking

Far and High on 60-Yard Journey

Anchor Aweigh and So's Navy Punt

Johnny Pingel

Lem Cooke

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD, NEA Service Sports Writer.

There is a general renaissance in kicking this fall. More than ever the punt is being used as an offensive rather than a defensive weapon. Boosters the country over are hitting the coffin corner from 45 yards out . . . and better.

Football certainly isn't a waiting game in this day of high explosive offensive fireworks, but a team with an accomplished kicker can afford to boot the opposition back on its heels time and again and wait for a break.

The late Leroy Mills, the Mount Vernon, N. Y., attorney who spent spare hours teaching youngsters to punt, always contended good kickers could be made . . . that they didn't have to be born with the talent. Coaches spend more time than ever with boys who show the slightest tendency toward laying foot to the ball in the grand manner.

Good punters are found in every section of the country but particularly in the midwest have the results been outstanding.

At this point there may not be another Harry Kipke, Elmer Layden, or Ollie Olson in sight, but the trend is to better kicking all the way round, rather than just a remarkable booter every 500 miles.

One midwest punter is so good, in fact, that he kicked his team into defeat. Mike Kabealo of Ohio State kicked 62 yards against Southern California, giving Granny Lansdell plenty of time to shove the throttle to full speed on his 85-yard touchdown jaunt before Buckeye linemen could get close to him.

Illinois Sophomore Stands Out; Pingel, Jefferson Consistent.

George Retinger, Illinois sophomore fullback, averaged 47 yards on his first seven punts this season.

Bernie Jefferson, Northwestern's Negro triple-threat, is the most consistent booter the Wildcats have had since Ollie Olson.

Johnny Pingel, considered the greatest ever to toe the ball for Michigan State, not only gets them off far but in an amazingly short time. Few of his attempts have been blocked in three years of play.

Lou Brock of Purdue, who does his kicking with his left foot, hits the coffin corner with unerring accuracy, and manages to get distance as well. Against Minnesota he got one away for 83 yards—70 of which were in the air.

The east has topnotch kickers in Steve Kazlo of Fordham, Torbert Macdonald of Harvard, Ray Cannelly of Carnegie Tech, John McLaughry of Brown, and Lem Cooke of Navy. And Sid Luckman and Art Radvilas of Columbia aren't half bad.

Critics chant the praises of North Carolina State's Art Rooney, a triple-threat whose punting kept mighty Alabama in a worried frame of mind. The Crimson Tide has quite a kicker itself in George Zivich.

Coffin Corner Kicker is Valuable; Must Kick Away From Safety Man.

Little Davie O'Brien of Texas Christian is one of the better kickers in the southwest, with Dick Todd of Texas A. and M. also listed in the expert class.

Stanford would be worse off if it weren't for Bill Paulman. California gets better than average results from Dave Anderson.

A good kicker who can keep the ball away from the opposing safety man can gain 10 yards on every exchange. Keeping the pigskin from the clutches of a speedy, slippery-hipped ball carrier is one of the tests of a punter. It doesn't do much good to kick 45 yards directly at the safety man unless a club has a pair of ends fast enough to get downfield ahead of or with the ball.

Nor does it do much good to get off a 50-yard spiral from the 30-yard line. The net gain after being returned to the playing field on a touchback is 10 ya. ls.

Cowboys Journey to Kentucky for Game

ABILENE, Oct. 18.—To return a visit paid them a year ago, the Hardin-Simmons university Cowboys were preparing today for their journey to Paducah, Ky., for an inter-sectional clash with the strong Murray State eleven, defending champions in the STAA, on Saturday night, Oct. 22.

Coach Roy Stewart, a Texas product, and former high school teammate of H-S-U's Coach Frank Kimbrough, brought his thoroughbred to Abilene last fall, and after a scoreless first fall, bowed to the 1937 undefeated edition of the Ranchers, 21 to 0.

This year, Coach Stewart's Breds will do the entertaining, and the Cowboys are polishing both their razzle dazzle and their hipper dipper to make sure they are not given too thorough a treatment of Kentucky hospitality.

Hardin-Simmons opened the current season with a streak of seventeen games in a row without defeat, and ran the total to eighteen with an opening game win over Daniel Baker. Then, the University of San Francisco Dons and Centenary handled the Ranchers a pair of defeats.

These losses, to outstanding foes in the west coast and deep south sectors, seasoned a less experienced combine than Coach Kimbrough has opened the season with since 1935. Coaches Stewart and Kimbrough, in their high school days, both starred as four sport athletes, at Haskell, Tex. Both played halfback in football. In track, both were dash men. In baseball, Kimbrough was a pitcher and infielder, Stewart an infielder. In basketball, both were forwards.

Both boys served as captain in four sports. Before their graduation in 1922, each was elected best all around man in Haskell high school, in different years.

After their high school days, Coach Kimbrough entered Hardin-Simmons, and continued to star in Texas athletic circles. Coach Stewart entered Union university, at Jackson, Tenn. He lettered in four sports and was elected captain in all.

To Paducah, for the second grid clash between their elevens, Coach Kimbrough will bring a showy Purple and Gold aggregation.

Moon Mullins, Kirk McKinnon, Owen Goodnight, W. J. Ford, Jack Hartsch, Bob Russ, Bedford, Hal and L. E. Russell, an unrelated trio, are gallivanting backs who will perform with Luke Raley and Clarence Headstream, co-captain backs. They'll operate behind a charging line in which Ed Bigelow and Bud Reeves, co-captain linemen, are spark plugs.

How to See Football

The 7-1-2-1 Defense

By JERRY BRONDFIELD, NEA Service Sports Writer.

Football has developed into such an open game that coaches have been forced to design defenses to meet many styles of attack.

Probably the oldest of all defensive set-ups is the 7-1-2-1, which still comes in for use today despite the tendency toward six-man lines.

As the numbers and illustrations indicate, seven men are placed on the line of scrimmage. The line backer, usually the full-back, takes a spot about two yards behind the line and slightly to the left of the center, because that would be the strong side of the opposition's attack. The line-backer roves along the line of scrimmage . . . diagnosing and meeting plays.

The halfbacks take posts seven or eight yards behind their tackles. The safety man takes a position 25 yards or so behind the line of scrimmage.

This set-up is fairly effective when the attacking team is deep within its own territory, where the danger of passes is not so great. The seven-man line works very well in stopping line plays.

The chief weakness of the 7-1-2-1 defense is against passes. The halfbacks have too much territory to patrol . . . and they must cover it by themselves . . . when aerials start coming over. The safety man is too far back to help out much, and a weak spot is left straight down the middle.

Laterals, too, present a big problem to a 7-1-2-1 defense.

It's a safe bet that whenever you see a team go into 7-1-2-1 defense its opponent probably has a weak passing attack. The defense wants to concentrate on smashing the opposition's running game when such is the case, and a seven-man line is a good way to accomplish this.

NEXT: The 6-3-2 defense.

Bomb Blanks Cameraman's Mind---But He Gets Picture

These two pictures of a demonstration bombing attack at Chattanooga, Tenn., were snapped within a few seconds of each other but the cameraman remembers taking only the first one. Photographer William Davis of the Chattanooga News snapped the picture, left above, of Major Al Williams flying over the target building, quickly changed plates for the next "shot." Davis got the picture of Major Williams' direct hit, right, but he doesn't remember taking it. When the bomb exploded something snapped in his head. When his brain cleared, Davis found he had made the picture, pulled the plate holder from the camera and waded two creeks in a mad scramble to safety.

For a Goat "Pretty" Doesn't Do So Bad While Taking in New York City

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (P).—For a goat, "Pretty" did pretty well Monday.

Pretty ran away from the rodeo livestock at Madison Square Garden, was chased by—and evaded—a policeman, and took complete possession of a hardware store for half an hour. He ended up the glorious day with a taxicab ride.

Traffic Policeman William Kip—who up to that moment knew nothing about goats—was minding his business when the proceedings started.

The goat took an instant dislike to Kip and tried to butt him. Kip dodged in time but fell down. Several taxi drivers, whose goats Kip had had for some time, laughed.

Pretty trotted half a block beyond and turned into Frank's Hardware company, ignoring large numbers of innocent bystanders crowding into protective doorways.

A clerk, Stanley Hartstein, tried to get into a back room, but employer and the cashier got there first and locked the door. Hartstein divided behind a counter.

Hartstein asserted that the goat "put his forefeet upon the counter and wagged his beard at me."

Patrolman Kip had arrived by now, all out of breath. With him he brought one of the taxi drivers who had laughed, Alex Silverman.

"Now you try getting somebody's goat!" ordered Kip.

And Silverman did, dropping nearly from the basement stairs onto the goat and pinning it to the floor. Patrolman Kip bound it with clothesline gratefully donated by the store.

Then, in Silverman's taxi, the policeman and the goat rode to a police station where Pretty was permitted to gnaw on the bars of a cell until the S. P. C. A. wagon arrived.

having loans from the Farm Security Administration will be served first under the water facilities program.

Water control and irrigation programs, to be on a sound economic basis and to stabilize a permanent program of farming will be worked out through the joint offices of the Soil Conservation Service, the Farm Security Administration and the extension service.

Loans are available for the irrigation or water storage projects and county machinery has been tendered for the actual construction work, as it is in terracing and farm or ranch soil conservation programs. Farmers may secure detailed information immediately at the county agent's office. An office will be established by Fenner, probably in the court house.

Hitch-Hiker Polite In Thanking for Ride with Oil Man

Pat Riley, scout for the Standard of Texas, met his most business like hitch-hiker when, near Port Stockton the other day, he picked up a youth wearing a football sweater from North Carolina university. The boy rode as far as Riley was going his way, thanked him for the lift and handed the Midland man his card: "Thanks for the ride. David Stick, Kill Devil Hills, North Carolina."

The youth said he was a journalism student and was en route toward the west coast, seeking a small town without a newspaper, so he could start one.

Water Projects Officials Arrive For Midland Work

Machinery for putting in motion the water conservation and irrigation program of the Soil Conservation Service, announced in The Reporter-Telegram Sunday, was launched Monday with arrival here of Olen L. Fenner, to be in charge of the Midland office, and Emil Stuter, to serve as resident engineer. They were accompanied by E. M. Millollen, superintendent of the San Angelo project, and M. A. Hartman, engineer there, who made preliminary surveys here to determine the inclusion of Mustang and Seminole draws for such projects.

According to S. A. Debnam, county agricultural agent whose trip with F. P. Elkin and W. E. Whitson to Amarillo, to inspect such projects, brought about the inclusion of Mustang and Seminole draws, farmers

Herbert Hoover Urges Election Of Independents

HARTFORD, Conn. Oct. 18 (P).—Herbert Hoover called on the American electorate in a speech last night to elect "independent-minded" men to congress to halt what he termed new deal "assaults" on representative government.

With that plea, the former president coupled a suggestion that the voter experiment for the next two years with a "stop, look, and listen" policy.

The republican chieftain, warning that "subservience in legislative halls is the spot where liberty and political morals commit suicide," accused his democratic successor, President Roosevelt, with attempting "to control elections."

"That alone," he asserted, "should make the election of independent minded men to congress the first task of men who would be free."

Hoover, who prepared the speech for delivery to a rally sponsored by the Connecticut council of republican women as a follow-up to one he gave last month at Kansas City, Mo., charged the "new deal and its yes-men in congress" had experimented "with the American way of life for six years at dreadful cost in human misery and despair."

"The voter might well experiment for himself for once," he suggested. "He might vote for men who would halt this whole movement. For a nation to take the next two years to stop, look and listen is an experiment that could not make the situation worse. It is not a very great risk for the voter to take."

The speaker listed the "malignant growth of personal power" among "evil products" which he charged had grown from the "new deal corruption of liberalism."

"Under a screen of fair-sounding phrases," he said, "we have seen the president of the United States steadily driving for more and more power over the daily lives of the people. We have seen him attempt to control the supreme court. We have seen his domination of congress. We have seen personal control of expenditures. We have seen the attempt through the power of government expenditure to pollute the ballot. We have seen the attempt to mix in a system of free enterprise a system of creeping collectivism. We have seen a vindictive campaign to array class against class and group against group."

"All this is the destruction of freedom and prosperity." Asserting that the people alone "can make congress the sword and buckler of their liberties," Hoover said an "independent, courageous congress" would furnish "a start at the solution of our ills."

"Therefore my first recommendation to you is: elect to congress independent-minded men," he urged. "Elect men who will stand on their own feet. Elect men of character and capacity."

"Second: defeat every man of the kind who says he is a follower of any president, 100 per cent or 50 per cent or any other per cent. Such a man is not fit to serve. Members of the congress of the United States, if they are men, do not take orders from anybody."

That's One Birthday Present, Anyway

Birthday passes will be given school children below high school grades, it was announced by Tom Kirkham, assistant manager of the Yucca and Ritz theatres. Cards have been passed out to the students, to be filled out and turned over to the theatre management. When a child's birthday falls due, he is admitted free to the show of his choice on that date.
