Gas and Electric Firm Named in Bankruptcy Suit

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—An involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed Tuesday in the United States district court against the Associated Gas & Electric Co., big utility holding company with a far-flung chain of operating and sub-holding companies.

The action was brought under the Chandler act which supplemented the Federal Bankruptcy act, and which makes it possible for three security holders with claims of more than $5,000 to file a petition for reorganization, based upon allegations a corporation is unable to meet claims as they mature.

The petitioning creditors were Blanche Creamer and Charles C. Johnson of Brooklyn and Raymond C. Durling Jr. of Montclair, N. J.

It was drilling ahead at 2,215 feet in anhydrite, at last reports. The test is located 1,980 feet from the north, 660 from the west line of section 216, block G, W. T. R. survey. Driller called anhydrite top at 2,203, three feet lower than the sample analysis showed it.

On the first marker, the Adams & Bradley well is one foot low to Atlantic No. 1 Parker, dry hole two miles northwest of the pool; 120 feet low to the Frick-Osage (Cope) No. 1 Riley, producer two miles due west; 45 feet high to Osage and Atlantic No. 1 Miller, dry hole farther northwest; 18 feet low to Amerasia No. 1 Robertson, producer a mile east of the pool; and 140 feet low to Magnolia and Atlantic No. 1 Havemeyer & Jenny, pool well now in process of completion.

Humble No. 51 Means, east edge well in the Means pool of Andrews, pumped 440 barrels of pipe line oil the first 13 hours of potential test, bottomed at 4,512 feet in lime. It has been acidized with 10,000 gallons at that depth. Humble No. 52 Means topped brown lime at 3,829 feet and is drilling ahead past 3,930, still in brown lime.

Reuts Still Swabbing.
Shell Petroleum Corporation No. 1 J. M. Ruyts, promising a one-mile southeast extension of southeastern Yoakum's Bennett pool, swabbed 48 barrels of fluid, 30 per cent oil and 70 per cent drilling water, through 2-inch tubing during the last 24 hours. Fluid level remains 200 feet off bottom while swabbing. The well is bottomed at 5,266 feet in lime and has not yet been treated or shot. It is 990 feet from the north, 330 from the west line of section 743, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

A mile and a half farther west, J. E. Mabey No. 1-D Coline-Willard, section 741, is awaiting small-diameter drill pipe to drill plug from 5 1/2-inch casing cemented at 4,799. Total depth is 4,940 in lime.

On the northeast edge of Yoakum's Roberts area, Shell No. 6 Mrs. Dora Roberts is drilling past 4,125 feet in anhydrite and gypsum.

In the Denver pool of Yoakum, Danvers et al. No. 3 Shell-Lynn recovered stuck drill pipe and is preparing to drill ahead from 4,683 feet in lime.

An unconfirmed report stated that Gulf No. 1 Swenson, northeast Garza deep wildcat, had halted drilling at 8,104, plugged back to around 7,400 feet, and now is running 7 5/8-inch casing.

FDR Scores Treatment Given Jews

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—The White House said today President Roosevelt's condemnation taken against minorities applied to Catholic elements as well as Jewish.

Secretary Stephen Early, referring to the President's statement yesterday denouncing Nazi attacks, said the morning newspapers had "overplayed" the Jewish angle and neglected to point out that Catholics were also involved.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt denounced the German dictatorship's treatment of Jews Tuesday as almost beyond belief, and then pictured a vast two-continent defense system in which all the Americas would present a united front against aggression from abroad.

His remarks on the Jews, given out of a press conference, were as follows:

"The news from the past few days from Germany has deeply shocked public opinion in the United States. Such news from any part of the world would inevitably produce a similar profound reaction among American people in every part of the nation.

"I myself could scarcely believe that such things could occur in a twentieth century civilization.

"With a view to gaining a first hand picture of the situation in Germany, I asked the secretary of state to order our ambassador in Berlin to return at once for report and consultation."

Thus Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that he himself was back of yesterday's order calling Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson home. Mr. Roosevelt said he could not disclose how long the ambassador would stay here. This gave rise to speculation that the envoy might be kept at home indefinitely.

Mr. Roosevelt's work on military defense was closely linked, in his listener's minds, to his statement about Germany because of widespread speculation that the totalitarian Reich may seek to extend its influence in Latin America.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that, as one measure of insuring protection for the 20 American republics and Canada, he and his aides are discussing an increased air force.

10,000 Hunters Get 3,000 Deer First Day Of Hunting Season

KERRVILLE, Nov. 16 (AP).—State game department officials at temporary headquarters here estimated today 3,000 deer and 2,000 turkeys were killed yesterday, first day of the hunting season.

Estimates were based upon reports from wardens throughout the hunting area. Ten thousand hunters, many breaking number were estimated roaming the territory.

Red Cross Quota for City Passed in One-Day Drive

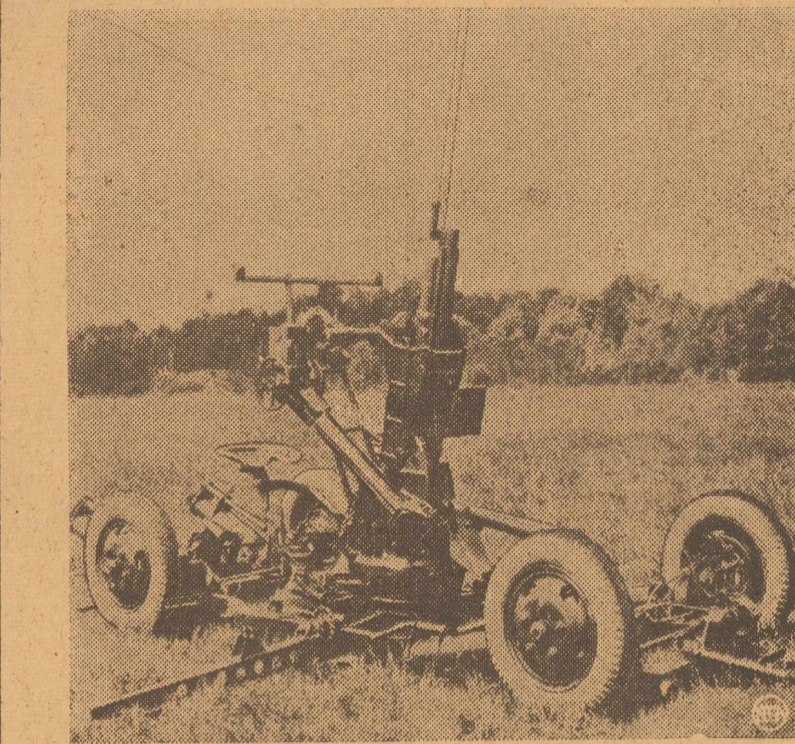

Following a precedent set last year, this year's annual Red Cross roll call in Midland went "over the top" by a wide margin yesterday, the first day of a scheduled two-day drive. Volunteer workers last afternoon had reported membership enrollments in the American Red Cross amounting to more than $1,250, according to an announcement this morning by Mrs. Don Sivalls, vice-chairman in charge of membership solicitations. More than 50 ladies comprised the group of workers who yesterday canvassed the city very thoroughly. The local goal had been set at 1200 members.

An excellent response was reported by all workers, most of the citizens responding readily and generously when called upon. Midland, widely recognized as one of the most active Red Cross cities in the state, retains its high standard in American Red Cross circles, and the Midland Red Cross Chapter will be able to carry on its fine work for at least another year. Mrs. J. A. Haley and John P. Butler, president and treasurer, respectively, of the local Red Cross unit, were highly pleased with the results of the roll call and voiced appreciation to all

FATHERS AND SONS HONOR GUESTS TONIGHT AT BAPTIST REVIVAL; 8 ADDITIONS TO CHURCH TUESDAY

Large congregations attended both services at the First Baptist church revival Tuesday. During the day there were eight additions to the church membership. Rev. Bruce Announces that "Fathers and Sons" will be the subject this evening when fathers will sit with their sons. Tomorrow evening will be Sunday school night, Friday evening public schools will be guests. One feature of all the services is a worshipful song service led by Chase Murph. A special number is given each evening. Morning service is at 10 o'clock.

The subject last night was "Mothers and Daughters." The following is a summary of the pastor's message: "Have mercy upon me, O Lord, thou son of David. My daughter is grievously vexed with a demon. A mother is the greatest character on earth. God could not be everywhere so he made mothers. The greatest compliment God ever paid to any human being was when he entrusted in the arms of Mary His beloved and only begotten Son.

"The mother in the scripture came to Jesus as He was on His way to Tyre and Sidon for a little rest. Jesus has never been successfully hidden. The angels announced his birth. The stars guided the wise men to the place of His birth. The spirit witnessed in the hearts of Cimeon and Anna concerning Him. Tyre and Sidon in your heart, He will be manifest in the words of your mouth, in the deeds of your hand and in every act of your life. Jesus was in her territory. She had heard how He had healed and cured and saved others and she believed that He could bring a blessing to her daughter who was grievously vexed with a demon.

"Two things we know about the girl. She was a little girl and she was possessed with a demon. How old she was we do not know, probably between ten and eighteen. There are some rather large girls that are still babies in their mother's sight. How the unclean spirit but an unclean spirit is mean spirit manifested itself we are not told, a foul spirit, an ugly spirit. Let me citizens who responded.

Follow-ups are being continued today and memberships will be reported through out the remainder of the week. A membership booth has been set up at the chamber of commerce office for those who were missed during the drive yesterday. Workers Thanked.

Russell C. Conkling, roll call chairman, and Mrs. Sivalls, stated this morning that a check-up will be made later in the week, with a final membership tabulation to be announced early next week. Both said that the drive yesterday was even more gratifying than they had anticipated and that they were highly elated with the results.

The roll call chairman and vice-chairman issued a statement expressing appreciation to the group of volunteer workers who put the drive over in such an excellent and efficient manner and stated that all credit for the success of the campaign should go to the ladies who did the actual work. They also expressed appreciation to the citizens of Midland for the excellent and generous manner in which they responded. The cooperation of all concerned was very gratifying and greatly appreciated, they said.

Danger Driver to Foster Safety by Stunts Thursday

"Danger for Safety" is the stunt to be staged Thursday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, by Jimmie Lynch, world renowned stunt driver, on Missouri street, near Loraine.

Breath taking stunts in a stock sedan, designed to teach correct methods of meeting highway emergencies, will be made. Lynch has appeared throughout the nation, at the Chicago world's fair, the Dallas and Fort Worth Centennial celebrations, and now is booked for the New York world's fair. In the meantime, he will be stunt man in a movie production.

Tucker Warns Hunters Take Great Caution

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—Opening of the general hunting season in Texas caused Will J. Tucker, secretary of the game commission, to post the following warnings: "Don't shoot until you are utterly positive the game you think you've spotted isn't a human being."

"Be sure your shots are not in a direction where they might do harm. Never get into an automobile with a loaded gun. Don't bring a loaded gun into a crowd. Put your gun through the fence first, previously making sure it cannot go off. Exercise the greatest caution with firearms generally."

He said three members present questioned the propriety of one committee of congress investigating another and would not take final action until the full committee could meet.

'Jewish Situation' In Germany Subject Of Talk at Luncheon

"The Jewish Situation in Germany Today" was the subject of an open discussion at the regular weekly luncheon of the Midland Lions club today noon, Lions Duke Kimbrough, Joe Mims and Frank Stubbsman making brief but interesting talks on the subject. Kimbrough said that the severe punishment being inflicted upon the Jewish race in Germany today is the will of a strongly organized minority and is not the desire of the majority of people in Germany. He stated that the Jews in Germany are being reduced to serfdom and slavery and that such action on the part of the Germans cannot readily be comprehended by other nations of the world. Such action is opposed to every principle of Lionism and Lions clubs over the world should protest the infliction on the Jews, he said. International difficulties will arise over the matter, but will perhaps be settled without war, he predicted.

Lion Mims told of the early day persecution of the Jews and of the ultimate destruction of the powers who have led in the persecution. Mims quoted a verse of Scripture in predicting the downfall of the present Jewish persecutors. Any nation who so ruthlessly persecutes a people without any just cause will suffer, he said, and any persons who lead in such persecutions may have a nationality but certainly do not have humanity.

As has been the custom for several years past, the Rotary club will be invited to meet in joint session with the Lions club on Wednesday, November 23, Thanksgiving Day. The meeting will be held at the Midland Hotel. Lion Clint Myrick See (Luncheon) Page 6

Attorney General Cummings Will Quit Cabinet January 1

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP).—Homer S. Cummings, 69-year-old attorney general, will leave President Roosevelt's cabinet in January to resume the private practice of law.

The president disclosed at his press conference Tuesday that Cummings had asked to be relieved and said the resignation—which has not yet been formally presented—would be effective in the new year. The date has not been determined.

At the same time, Mr. Roosevelt said his 30-year-old son, James, had resigned from the White House secretariat pending his complete recovery from an operation he had last September. James, now recuperating on a California ranch, is expected to return to his post in the spring.

The president said he had not considered, so far, appointment of a successor to Cummings. James' post probably will not be filled during the interim.

In announcing Cummings' intention to resign, the chief executive took cognizance for the first time of persistent reports of possible cabinet changes. He left the door open for other cabinet replacements.

High-Kicking Drum Majorette Arouses Ire of Coed Sisters

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 15 (AP).—Indignant coeds went before the Stanford student body executive committee last night in an effort to have charming 17-year-old Maxine Turner ruled off the football field.

Maxine is the majorette of Stanford's 100-piece band and the one truly bright spot this season on Stanford's gridiron where the team has performed rather dismally.

The Stanford women's conference objects to the little highkicker's hand-springing, bare-legged brunette because her majoretting is "unbecoming a Stanford woman" and she isn't a Stanford woman in the first place.

Maxine, a San Antonio high school student who hopes to be a Stanford coed next year, thought the conference "very narrow minded."

Property of Americans Is Said Ruined

Further Action Is Considered Likely, Reported in Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—The United States embassy sent a formal note to the foreign office today protesting destruction of American Jews' property during attacks by Nazis last week.

No details were given but the United States reserved the right to take further action on behalf of any interest harmed.

An editorial in an important Nazi newspaper angrily assailed what it called "concessions of the American government to American Jewry."

The editorial was directed specifically against Secretary of Interior Ickes and the summons of Ambassador Wilson to America.

Ickes, in a radio address Monday, deplored the anti-Jewish drive in Germany.

Jews returned to hiding today until after the funeral of Ernst von Rath, afraid the worst was yet to come.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Two Jaded Words to Rest

Those pleasant little Martians that came jumping out of a 40-year-old book and began shooting rainbows at mosquitos in the Jersey meadows one fine Sunday night have accomplished one thing for the general good.

The public caught by both ears in the invasion suddenly realizes that "flash" and "bulletin" have been badly shop-worn.

News simulation is an old trick, antedating the radio as applied to hackneyed ideas grown jaded in service. Now the heads of the three largest broadcasting companies have met with Chairman McNinch of the Federal Communications Commission and agree the two words should be used with great discretion in broadcasts.

The public is entitled to more than that. Both words have earned a long rest and it is hoped they will again return to the dignity they once enjoyed in the newspaper business.

SO THEY SAY

THE DRIVERS AND THE COPS

(Amarillo Globe.)

An Amarillo man followed a Texas Highway Patrol car from White Deer to Panhandle after the football game at White Deer Armistice Day. The highway was crowded, for a majority of Panhandle residents had driven over to watch their high school Panthers battle the White Deer Bucks on the gridiron.

The Amarillo man kept his car about 50 yards behind the patrol car. Several speeding machines passed him, but when the drivers saw the patrol car they slowed down, took their places behind the state police. Although a dozen cars passed the Amarillo man on the 15-mile stretch of highway, not a one attempted to pass the patrol car.

This proves one point conclusively—that the drivers had respect for the law to the extent that they wanted to save themselves the trouble of being arrested and the expense of paying fines. Whether they had any regard for the lives of the hundreds of other persons on the highway is not known, but some of them were driving between 60 and 70 miles an hour until they saw the patrol car. Then they were content, or persuaded, to cut down the speed to about 50 miles an hour and drive on in to Panhandle. They likely are as happy and as prosperous as they would have been had they clipped five minutes off the time it took to drive from White Deer to Panhandle.

There is rarely a major traffic accident that does not bring this question: "What's wrong with the cops—why don't they do something?" That is a good way to start a discussion on the matter of paying taxes.

If Amarillo had enough policemen to place one on every corner in the city and the state had enough policemen to place one on every 500 yards of the 25,000 miles of highway in Texas the officers likely could prevent many accidents. But who would pay the bill? The situation that actually exists this moment is this: There are many tax-payers who are helping pay police and patrolmen to prevent the said tax-payers from killing themselves and their neighbors in traffic accidents.

Policemen have to be assigned to the schools on the busy streets in Amarillo because motor vehicle drivers have to be watched or some of them will kill a child. The policemen have to be paid to stand and act as an individual guard of each child in the school. That is one answer to the question of "What's wrong with the cops?"

With policemen stationed at the schools—a necessity because of the fool drivers—the force is cut for other duty. There are fewer officers to patrol other sections. If the property owners want to pay the price of increasing the force there is no doubt that the city would be willing to add many traffic officers. If the tax-payers of the state want to pay the price of increasing the highway patrol there is no doubt that the state would be willing to double or triple it.

What are we going to do? Are we going to let a few careless drivers run up our tax bill and, in the meantime, keep killing persons who have every right in the world to life and happiness? Enough traffic officers can make the streets and highways safer. Do we want to pay the bill or do we want to bring into action the sharp sword of public opinion and cut down the careless drivers?

The public opinion exists, of course, but there has been no public pronouncement of an open revolt against the careless and drunken drivers. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a "not over 50 mile per hour" campaign, which is laudable. But what shall we do when a member of the "not over 50 club" is killed by some worthless chump who is driving 70 miles an hour to a drug store to get a cold drink?

The public has not petitioned the city to establish a farm on which careless drivers must spend 30 days at hard labor. Kansas City, as pointed out in a previous editorial, has such a farm. Possibly the public, if it wants to put fear in the hearts of murderous drivers, would like to see such a farm in Amarillo—one on which careless drivers, women and men, would be given sledge hammers and the privilege of hammering for eight hours a day on wrecked automobiles.

Possibly the public would like to see district court juries send drunken drivers to the penitentiary. The officers arrest many of them but there are few convictions. In a case like that, "what's wrong with the cops?"

Vote rioting in the Philippines proves little Brown Brother is about ready to enjoy all of the rights of a free citizen.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. — Tom Dewey will continue to be a republican presidential possibility, despite his defeat by Gov. Herbert Lehman.

Only a few votes—less than 70,000 among nearly 5,000,000—have kept Dewey from becoming almost a sure-shot for the 1940 nomination and reduced him to the ranks on a more or less even basis with other G. O. P. hopefuls. The group now includes two other New Yorkers, Mayor LaGuardia who already seems to be flirting with the third party idea, and Bruce Barton. Their names would have been erased from the board had Dewey become governor.

As New York's district attorney, crusading against racketeering and political corruption, Dewey can continue to build up both his position as the party's "glamor boy" and his national prestige as a public official who gave Roosevelt, Farley and New Dealers the scare of their lives. You can expect him to declare himself frequently on public issues other than crime.

Such, at least, is the view of liberals prominent in the New York G. O. P. organization, who supported Dewey in his effort to sever the ties with the "old gang" and "re-make" the party. Significantly or not, neither Herbert Hoover nor National Chairman John Ham-

AUSTIN, Nov. 16. (AP). — Why mountain sheep in West Texas apparently are not propagating as rapidly as antelope, both species being protected by a perpetually closed season, is the subject of special study these days by the state game department.

The department recently concluded an agreement with the U. S. biological survey and New Mexico game department calling for an extensive field research survey of the spectacular game animal.

While factors limiting the number and increase of the sure-footed species are undetermined, residents of the Guadalupe, Beech and Sierra Diablo mountains blame the mountain lion and more especially the golden eagle.

Robert Snow, an experienced field naturalist sent by the department to study the sheep, said he trailed four bighorns three days and found they became excited but once when a flock of eagles circled over them. Then they huddled together as if for protection.

Snow said the animals, leaping from crag to crag, almost unbelievably scale sheer cliffs hundreds of feet high as easily as a man walks on a sidewalk.

Antelope, on the other hand, are reported increasing steadily in some portions of West Texas. Game Warden W. D. Stubblefield, stationed at Ysleta, estimate there are about 3,000 in Hudspeth county where conditions are good and the landowners generally, favor protection of the animals.

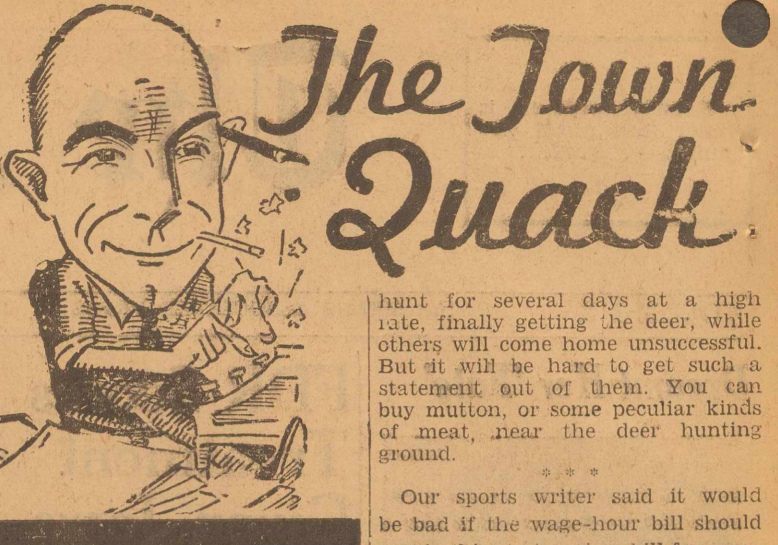

Stubblefield said, however, extensive clearing operations along the Rio Grande valley below El Paso will be detrimental not only to the antelope but to gambel quail and ring-neck pheasants.

In the opinion of Dr. H. T. Manuel, professor of educational psychology at the University of Texas, numbered grades, promotion, and grades showing comparative ability in classwork eventually will disappear in schools.

The grade system, Dr. Manuel claims, is built on the fallacy a number of children can be lumped together without regard for their individual differences. He would substitute what he calls a "social group."

Whether in the first, second or third year of school, those of like abilities will work best together and if a child's ability is low, he should be placed with those of like capacity," said Dr. Manuel. "By the same rule, the child who knows how to read when he enters school should not be bored with the tedium of first readers but be advanced into a reading class of his caliber."

Dr. Manuel holds schools should be Democratic leaders are appreciative. They agree privately with Dewey's managers that Dewey would have been elected had LaGuardia come out for him publicly. So LaGuardia will carry extraordinary weight in the conferences he plans with other progressives to try to penetrate the fog in which the 1938 elections leaves the progressive element.

The Lindberghs are planning to move to Berlin. Lindy, once the No. 1 American hero, just can't seem to get located. He is in very much the plight of the Duke of Windsor, since he abdicated the No. 1 spot in England. They are the modern men without a country. Tom Sloan is better off than either of them, in spite of the fact that he owns a big home in San Angelo, rents one in Midland and pays a hotel bill at Fort Stockton.

And who is the No. 1 hero of America now? Some say he is Roosevelt, some say Elmer Andrews, some say O'Daniel, some say Davey O'Brien. A junior high boy said he is Jay Francis.

How many hunters will bag their bucks today? Some will be lucky and return right away, others will "fit the children" and asks "who should be labeled a misfit when the child fails—the school or the child?"

Although he would not predict when Texas school would take this step, Dr. Manuel said a Cleveland, Ohio, high school is trying it in a modified form. The grading system, however, is maintained to the extent of "satisfactory" and "unsatisfactory."

Soil erosion by wind and water still is one of the most pressing problems facing farmers and ranchers of the so-called dust bowl. Paul H. Waiser, coordinator for the U. S. Soil Conservation in Texas, said thousands of acres of the most productive cropland in the Texas Panhandle have been ruined for further agricultural use by the removal of productive topsoil.

To combat this evil, Waiser said, the service is cooperating with 376 farmers in the Panhandle in demonstrating means of keeping erosion under control.

The coordinator said 180,393 acres have been planted to close-growing crops that keep the soil tied down and shield it from the wind while 158,399 acres of cultivated land have been terraced to retard surface runoff and conserve moisture.

Other acreage, he reported, have been contour-furrowed and strip-cropped while hazardous "blow land" has been returned to grass.

FEMININE FANCIES

By KATHLEEN EILAND

Most astounding thing in the realm of shoe fashions that we've seen or read about recently is having one's evening shoes decorated with butterfly wings. Not imitations, but real butterflies' wings.

It sounds utterly frivolous and, of course, but there's something appealing about the idea. Surely any girl, aware that she was tripping down the length of the ballroom or banquet hall in slippers daintily bedecked with such an airy ornament as a butterfly wing, would unconsciously acquire a kind of ethereal air. She would forget such mundane cares as beset her in the daytime (or even such as aching feet) and would be just what a girl should be at a ball—gay and dainty, with just a hint of that dreamy quality of mystery which should bring young men to their knees.

The last, we hasten to explain, is merely figure of speech. No American girl really expects a man to bow down to her, even though he loves her enough to take on the task of providing her with her daily quota of bread and butter, not to mention butterfly-decked dancing shoes, all the rest of her life.

It's queer how intensely interested people can become in small things—especially if the things are lovely as well as small. Take the bulb-planting idea, for example.

The housewife purchases a container of some kind (perhaps just one of the cardboard cartons now provided) with the bulbs ready to germinate. From day to day, members of the household peek at the container to see if the green shoots have appeared.

Day after day, with an odd kind of pride, they watch the slender green stalks climb upward. And when the first thick, knobby blossom tube appears, there is real excitement among the watchers.

When the first creamy, unbelievably fragrant blossom opens out its delicate petals—the family feels that something really important has happened! Perhaps it has, something more important than most of us realize.

Anyway, trivial though they seem, we believe that such tiny excursions into beauty as watching a narcissus bulb come to blossom are really worthwhile things. That, in some minute, indefinable way a family is better off for having joined its interests in such a thing. Or in the watching of birds build their nests and rear their young in the tree outside the dining room window. Or in building a pool for gold fish in the backyard.

It was a wise poet who said "A thing of beauty is a joy forever." And there is so much wasted beauty in the world. Wasted because people pass it by every day without stopping to rejoice in it.

Membership in North Ward PTA Reaches 180 Persons

A crowd of 118 persons heard the North Ward PTA program on "The American School" presented at the North Ward building Tuesday afternoon.

Talks were made by Mrs. Geo. Grant, Mrs. Alma Thomas, Principal A. L. Gilbreth, and Miss Ruth Anderson, in development of the subject.

Mrs. D. C. Sivalis made a safety talk and Mrs. Thomas gave mothers present pointers on how they might help the teachers.

Announcement was made that Miss Ruth Robinson's room would be complimented with a free show Thursday afternoon as reward for winning the recent PTA membership contest. So near to winning were Miss Louise Rippey's room, Miss Dawn White's room, and Miss Geraldine Dabney's room that the PTA will favor them with a treat of ice-cream sandwiches the same day. The North Ward Association now has 180 paid members.

Miss White's room won the prize for attendance at yesterday's meeting. Miss Ruth Anderson's room won the prize for attendance at the recent health talk by a visiting physician, this counting as the December meeting. The PTA will not meet next month.

Fine Health Habits Make Fine Skins

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Service Staff Writer.

Absolute cleanliness and a firm resolution to cultivate better health habits are the first steps toward eliminating blackheads and other minor skin blemishes.

If your pores seem to be enlarged, if they are clogged with small particles of dust and dirt or if there are tiny, hard lumps just underneath the surface of your skin, the chances are that your circulation is sluggish. You need exercise—preferably outdoor exercise. And you ought to start slapping in your creams and lotions with real vigor.

In addition, wash your face with soap and water at least twice a day. Be sure that your diet includes more fresh vegetables and green salads than starches, more fruits than rich pastry. Try to get eight hours sleep every night. At night, after you have washed your face, applied cream, then remove it carefully, cover forefingers with clean cotton gauze or cleansing tissue and press the foreign matter out of a few of the pores. Squeeze gently so as not to bruise the skin, and do not try to do too thorough a job during the first treatment. Remove only the particles which come out easily.

Afterward, moisten the irritated spots with an antiseptic. When it has dried, apply night cream, if your complexion is quite dry, a special lotion or cream for oily skin if it's oily. Next morning, wash again with soap and water, apply foundation lotion and make-up in the regular manner.

If, after six weeks of sticking to your rules for exercise and diet and giving your face a thorough but gentle treatment three nights a week, you still have a pretty unattractive complexion, better see your family doctor.

Take Calotabs to Help Nature Throw off Colds

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of any virus-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which may be needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package—30-

Duke Spends Rest of Season Pointing For November 26 Battle With Pitt

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service.

Wallace Wade has a splendid Duke team and nothing much to do between now and Nov. 26 but sharpen it up for Pittsburgh.

The Blue Devils ate the Orange at Syracuse, Nov. 12, and should hurdle North Carolina State this week-end.

Wade professes to believe that his squad hasn't much chance against Pitt, but the feeling in the tobacco triangle is that with its talent and spirit the current Duke varsity will give any of them a bad afternoon.

Unbeaten, untied . . . and unscored on . . . in a half dozen starts, the Blue and White has come to be known as a defensive team, but Wallace Wade knows he has the ball-handling material with which to build a vicious offense.

The wonder is that the Durham outfit has moved along as well as it has . . . considering George McAfee's foot infection, Eric Tipton's injury, and blocking Bob Spangler's illness and abscessed nose.

A fine example of how the wily Wade scrambled things around to meet emergencies came in the Wake Forest fracas. With Spangler out and another back hurt, the Scotsman turned the signal-calling over to Dan Hill, the center, who directed Duke to a touchdown. The versatile and 200-pound Tiger Hill was running the works when the Blue Devils crossed North Carolina's goal line the first time.

LINE SEES CRIPPLED BACKFIELD THROUGH.

During the summer, Wade, who is observing his 20th campaign as a gridiron guide, believed that he would have a roaring backfield but was worried about a line hit hard by graduation.

But, as it has turned out, he has been concerned about his backfield all fall while a line of blue steel has held six opponents to a total net yardage by rushing of 247 yards.

The formidability of the Duke forwards was best illustrated in the Colgate contest. They held the Red Raiders to a net zero by rushing. Andy Kerr's athletes rushed the ball 45 yards, but were thrown for losses of a like number of yards. That's what you call holding Wade, a master of the punting that line . . . with plenty to spare.

game, is well equipped in that department. Duke's punts have averaged 40.3 yards and the hard-rushing forwards have kept opponents to a total of 213 yards in the business of returning them.

Because of its crippled backfield, Duke has no scoring total like those of Pitt, Dartmouth, or California. The Blue Devils scored 18 points against V. P. I. and 27 on Davidson before skipping by Colgate, Georgia Tech, and Wake Forest by a touchdown each. North Carolina, their traditional rival, was beaten by two touchdowns.

PITT WILL FIND NO COWERING OPPONENT.

But even Wade admits that Duke should be on the upgrade in its last three engagements.

"George McAfee should improve," says the famous coach. "Tipton and Spangler should get back in good shape right away. Our club has as fine a morale as any I've ever drilled. It has fought hard despite the injuries and illness of key men."

George McAfee, triple-threat southpaw junior halfback, ended the spring drill by scoring four touchdowns . . . two on long runs . . . and passing to a fifth in a practice game with Clemson's tough Tigers.

Because infection set in following the removal of a growth from the bottom of his foot, George McAfee did not get back in harness until the second period of the North Carolina battle, when he immediately returned a punt 20 yards and then made a grandstand catch of a 92-yard pass from Tipton that put the ball on the Tar Heel 13 and paved the way for Duke's first touchdown.

Against North Carolina, Tipton, while still slow afoot because of his ailment, punted, passed, and played defensive ball with all his runner skill and daring.

Bob O'Mara has several times been the lone veteran back in the game. The fullback has gained 483 yards by rushing . . . twice as much as all six enemies picked up against Duke.

O'Mara will have plenty of help from now on in . . .

Potent Pitt will find no cowering adversary when the nation's top team deploys in Durham.

Johnny Allen's arm trouble was one of the principal reasons why the Cleveland Indians collapsed in the American League stretch. Allen still complains of an ache in his salary soupbone. Indeed, it has made a southpaw of him, as shown above. The fiery right-hander plans having an X-ray taken following a hunting trip this month. Horned Frogs and Owls Will Meet in Feature Battle

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16. — Lights! Action! Camera!

No Hollywood football movie ever had a better plot than the TCU Rice set-up in Houston Saturday.

Twice the Rice Owls have won the Southwest Conference grid championship—1934 and 1937. In both of those years, however, they lost to the TCU Horned Frogs, by the identical score of 7 to 2. In fact, the Owls have not won from the Frogs since 1924.

Last year the Owls returned home from their defeat in Fort Worth (their only one in the conference) vowing to get revenge in 1938. Great elevens were predicted for both schools and Rice officials enlarged their stadium to 85,000 in order to take care of the fans who would want to see this game of games.

Because of hard luck along the injury route, the Owls have had a rather bad season. But now comes not only the chance to get even for the 1937 defeat but to break the long losing streak, but also a chance to turn an ordinary year into one of glorious memory by upsetting the top-ranking TCU eleven.

Yes, it's lights—some of the leading lights among sports writers will be there to cover the game. Action—all that could be demanded by any crowd of frenzied football fans. Camera—the nation's leading news-reel men will be shooting.

For the first time since the Baylor game, the Frogs will be able to throw their full strength at the opponent. Capt. I. B. Hale, tackle, Forrest Kline guard, Earl Clark and Johnny Hall, halves—all will be ready to go Saturday.

The day has been declared a holiday on the TCU campus. A special train leaving Fort Worth at 5 a. m., will carry seven or eight hundred students, together with the Horned Frog Band, all decked out in new uniforms, used for the first time at Homecoming last week.

"We are expecting the toughest opposition we have had this season," Coach Dutch Meyer says. "We'll be ready to do our best, and that's all anybody can do."

Residents Urged to Send Out Christmas Mail Early This Year

Postmaster Allen J. Tolbert reminded Midland residents again today that the month of November has been designated by the Post Office Department as Parcel Post Month which is in celebration of the silver jubilee, or twenty-fifth anniversary of the beginning of the parcel post system.

Tolbert urged all persons who are planning on sending Christmas packages to friends in foreign countries to mail the gifts this month, furthering receipts during the parcel post month.

Scarlet fever is a disease of the colder months and may be expected to continue until late spring. The current increase in prevalence is not cause for alarm but emphasizes the importance of early recognition, prompt reporting of cases and careful isolation of infected persons.

Seasonal Rise of Scarlet Fever on

AUSTIN.—The seasonal rise in prevalence of scarlet fever has been, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, reports. Each year as cold weather approaches, reports of scarlet fever cases tend to increase in number. This year, a slight increase in recorded prevalence was noted in September, with a larger rise recorded for October and the first week of November.

Fever, headache, sore throat and vomiting are early signs of invasion by the scarlet fever germ. The incubation period, or the phase between exposure and onset of illness, is usually from two to six days. On the second day, as a rule, a rash appears which may cover the entire body.

The rash of scarlet fever is usually but not always present. The patient who has symptoms and signs of the disease, but without rash, should be isolated as well as the patient who shows the rash.

A disease such as scarlet fever is dreaded whether in severe or mild form, because of the frequent development of secondary complications especially those of septic nature. Among complications, the same turnover reported by identical stores for 1936.

Dr. Buechel stated, however, that the Retail Credit Survey, from which the figures were secured indicates considerable variation in the nation-wide monthly trend of open-account collections during 1937. Collection ratios higher than in 1936 were typical of the early months of 1937, but adverse business conditions slowed down collections in the concluding months. On the other hand, the rates of collections on installment receivables in the principal trades were moderately below 1936 throughout 1937, influenced more by normal accumulation of receivables than by adverse collection conditions, which probably exerted some influence at the close of the year.

Bad debt losses on open accounts of the reporting stores in the West South Central area, in which San Antonio and Austin are located, were above the general average for stores in all cities during 1937," Dr. Buechel said. "An average loss of forty-four one-hundredths of one cent per dollar of open-credit sales was indicated for 1937, compared with thirty-six one-hundredths of one cent per dollar in all 86 cities throughout the United States. Identical stores in the West South Central area reported an average loss of forty-seven one-hundredths of one cent per dollar of open-credit sales in 1936, which was slightly above the average loss of forty-three one-hundredths of one cent for all cities in that year. Installment losses of reporting retailers in the 86 cities averaged one and one-tenth cents per dollar of installment sales in both 1936 and 1937. In the West South Central area the average installment loss was above the nationwide average and increased slightly from one and two-tenths cents per dollar of installment sales in 1936 to one and four-tenths cents in 1937."

The 21 credit-granting stores reporting sales information for San Antonio and Austin revealed an increase in total sales for 1937 of 9.5 per cent, compared with 5.1 per cent for all of the 1,645 reporting stores throughout the country. Of the total sales of the reporting San Antonio and Austin stores 63.8 per cent were made on some type of credit; in 1936, a slight change from 63.4 per cent in 1936. The percentage of installment sales decreased from 21.3 per cent in 1936 to 20 per cent of total sales in 1937, with the proportion of open credit increasing from 42.1 per cent to 43.8 per cent. Dr. Buechel observed that these percentages do not represent a typical cross-section of all retail activity in San Antonio and Austin owing to the fact that strictly cash stores are excluded from the sample and the reported dollar volume of credit sales in some of the fourteen trades may give a disproportionate influence to these types of business in the summary picture. This problem is not presented in the separate sections of the study which analyze data for each of the selected trades by size of store, geographic region, and city. The fourteen trades are: Automobile; automobile tire and accessories; coal, fuel, oil, and wood; department; furniture; grocery; hardware; heating and plumbing; household appliance; jewelry; lumber and building material; men's clothing; shoes; and women's specialty. Dr. Buechel worked with the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in securing cooperation of local retailers.

"The present report is the twelfth of a series of surveys of credit conditions issued since 1930, and on an annual basis since 1934," Dr. Buechel said. "Including additional information on installment sales, the study contains forty charts illustrating monthly collection trends and sales data."

AUSTIN. — Average monthly collections on open accounts of reporting stores in San Antonio and Austin showed no change in 1937, according to a recent announcement by Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas. Stating that the returns from credit-granting retailers in San Antonio and Austin are combined in the survey of credit conditions in 86 cities, made annually by the Department of Commerce, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Dr. Buechel said that in the two cities open accounts were collected on an average of 66 1/2 days in 1937. This was the same time required in 1936, calculated from average monthly collection ratios of 45.1 per cent and 45.2 per cent for the respective years. Throughout the 86 cities all retailers averaged open-account collections of 63 days during 1937, the

Burns, Cobb Battle With Wisecracks

Paducah, Kentucky, came to grips with Van Buren, Arkansas, when two proud native sons battled it out on the set of Paramount's new comedy-drama, 'The Arkansas Traveler', opening Sunday at the Yubca Theatre. The opponents were Irvin S. Cobb, Paducah's first citizen, and Bob Burns, the sage of Van Buren and star of the picture.

As the two were cast together for the first time, Cobb took the opportunity to ride Burns by telling tall tales lampooning the citizens of Arkansas, while Burns, not to be outdone, painted a none-too-bright picture of Paducah. As one story followed another and the temperature of both comedians rose, Alired Santell, the director of the picture, arranged a temporary armistice.

Social Security Account Numbers Necessary on Jobs

Persons who expect to work temporarily in stores, shops and other business establishments during the holiday season were urged by David S. Pruitt, manager of the El Paso office of the Social Security board, to assure themselves that they can produce their social security account numbers before making application for employment.

"Those who have not already done so should equip themselves with an account number because many employers now require numbers to be recorded before the worker may start on the job," Pruitt said. "Duplicate cards should be requested by workers whose originally issued cards have been lost or destroyed."

Employment in seasonal businesses such as turkey picking and pecan shelling usually is covered by the law. It was pointed out that the fact that workers are employed on a temporary basis does not exclude them from participation in the old-age insurance program. Generally, any employment in the fields of commerce and industry are covered.

"Employers should request all employees to obtain account numbers promptly, since each employer is required to report each three months the name of each worker, his number, and amount of wages paid him," Pruitt said.

Application forms, available in El Paso at the Social Security Board office, and elsewhere in this area at post offices, should be filled out and returned to the Social Security Board, 234 U. S. Courthouse, El Paso. To those who apply at our office personally, we are able to issue an account number in just a few minutes. Account cards are forwarded for applications received by mail on the same day they are received, provided they are properly executed.

It was explained that persons who already have established social security accounts should not apply for another number. Pruitt emphasized that a worker keeps his one social

The old clothes drive sponsored by the City-County Federation has brought out comparatively few clothes this year, according to Mrs. William Simpson, committee member.
