

Validity of Shutdowns to Receive Test

East Texas Company Declares Monopoly Set Up by Practice

AUSTIN, Nov. 22. (AP).—The long expected court test of the legality of statewide oil production shutdowns two days each week was instituted in state district court here Monday.

The suit was filed by the United East and West Oil company, which operates in the East Texas field and of which C. R. Starnes, of Gladewater is president. It alleged the shutdown orders furthered a "monopolistic price-fixing scheme," had driven independent East Texas refiners out of business and had greatly reduced the market for East Texas crude.

Statewide Sunday shutdowns were adopted by the railroad commission last January in an unprecedented move to keep Texas from producing more oil than the commission felt was needed. Saturday shutdowns were added for most of May, all of June, all of September, most of October, and all of this month. At last week's protraction hearing here, Starnes was the only operator protesting against continuance of the closings.

Starnes based his contention the shutdowns are illegal on several counts. One was that the closings reduced the output of wells below the amounts to which they are entitled under the marginal well statute. Another was that they have cut East Texas production below actual demand for oil from that field.

Starnes charge in the court petition that the major companies drove independent East Texas refiners out of business by maintaining a high posted price for East Texas crude, then after eliminating competition by slashing the crude price.

The plaintiff asked that the commission be enjoined from enforcing the shutdown orders. District Judge Ralph W. Yarborough did not indicate when a hearing would be held.

Plenty of Tickets Reported Left for Game Here Thursday

School officials today reported reserved seat tickets to the Midland-Monahans football game here Thursday afternoon were being sold slowly and notified all persons planning on attending the game to get tickets as soon as possible, there by assuring themselves of good seats.

All seats in the center section of the west side stands have been sold but plenty of seats between the 25 and 40 yard markers remain.

Officials blamed the slow turnover in the tickets to cold weather and to the fact many persons will leave town for the holidays, many of them to remain for the week-end. However, it was generally agreed most of the reserved seats in the stands would be sold out before game time.

As has been the case on nearly every game played here to date, a last minute rush is expected to be started for the tickets. The tickets may all be sold before game time, thereby leaving several fans to be caught short," officials warned.

The Midland team, although in bad shape because of illness and injuries will be favored to cop the game although the coaches expect it to be close. The list of players who will not be in first class condition for the game was increased yesterday when Temple Harris, a regular back, and Gordon Geddes suffered a broken hand, was put to bed with the flu. It is doubtful if he will be able to participate in the game. Others on the injured list include Francis, Wright, True-love and Eldson.

Italian Rotary Clubs Dissolved On Own Initiative

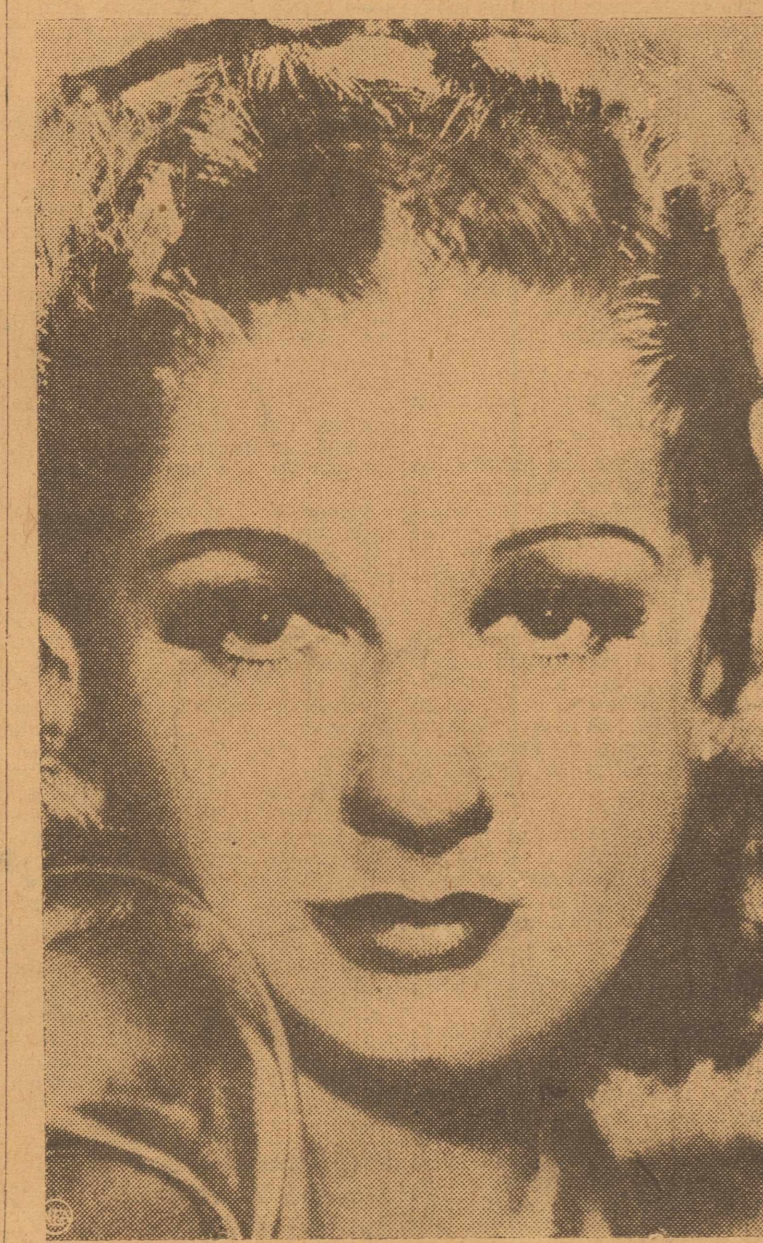

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Supplementing news releases on the dissolving of Rotary clubs in Italy, Rotary International announced that this action was taken on the initiative of the Rotary clubs rather than by order of the Italian government.

Copies of a resolution by Rotary's General Secretary, Chester R. Perry, in Chicago, indicate that Italian clubs agreed that the objects of Rotary are "already entirely expressed through the various cultural and social organizations of the regime now serving the country."

Following this action by the clubs, Secretary Starnes of the Fascist Party replied, in part: "taking note of that decision" (of the clubs to disband) expressed his appreciation of the work done by Italian Rotary and asked Senator Pazzo (governor of Italy) to convey to the members his cordially greetings.

The action of the Rotary clubs in Italy in disbanding is in line with the considered judgment of Italian Rotarians with regard to their obligations as good citizens of their country.

City-Wide Thanksgiving Service Will Be Held at Revival Tomorrow Night

Last evening was another good service in the Revival at the First Baptist Church when four new members were added to the church. The pastor makes the following announcements: This evening the subject is "Life's Most Important Question." Wednesday evening the subject is "When the Saints Go Marching Home." The churches of the city are uniting in the Wednesday evening services for their city-wide Thanksgiving service. The final week-day morning service will be held Wednesday morning. The revival will be concluded Sunday evening.

The pastor's subject last night was, "The Unpardonable Sin." His text was, "There is a Sin Unto Death." A summary of his message follows: "A Dying Man Remarked, 'I have known for twenty years that I have sinned away my day of grace.' For twenty years he had carried the awful thought in his heart that he was doomed, that 'The lights had gone out on the road' and he was groping his way to eternal darkness. Keep in mind that the Holy Spirit is a person. When you sin against the Holy Spirit you sin against a divine person whose work is to 'Reprove the world of sin, of righteousness and of judgment to come.'"

"The Unpardonable Sin is not infidelity or unbelief. To doubt or deny the existence of Jesus is an awful sin. If Jesus is the eternal son of God, not to worship Him is to rob Him of honor due Him. It is terrible to deny the inspiration of the Bible. Doubts are due to doing doubtful things. "Pull up doubts by the root and you will find something on the top root and that something will be sin." But infidels have been saved.

"Gambling is not the unpardonable sin. It is one of the most common sins of our country, practiced from the lowest dives that curse the community to the most fashionable homes and places of entertainment; from the working man in his overalls to the banker in his princely abode. Where do our gamblers come from? Three thousand gamblers were interviewed and it was found that nearly all of them learned to gamble in their homes. The habit of gambling once formed is hard to break. Friends may warn, wife may entreat, children may cry for bread, but once in the awful snare, the man is seldom saved. But gamblers have repented and been saved; so gambling is not the unpardonable sin.

"Drunkness is not the unpardonable sin. It is a vile vulgar habit, it is unnatural, unprofitable, unexcusable to swear. Robert Ingersoll said: 'The man who swears is either a hypocrite or a liar.'"

President Roosevelt Arrives at Warm Springs for a Vacation of Two Weeks

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 22. (AP).—President Roosevelt arrived here by special train last night for a two-week stay.

A crowd of villagers, officials and patients of the foundation for the after-treatment of infantile paralysis welcomed him at the depot and watched him leave by car for his cottage on the summit of Pine mountain which he so often uses as a temporary White House.

During the afternoon the president reaffirmed his faith in what he called the "constructive" social betterments of TVA in a speech at Chattanooga.

The brief informal talk addressed to the 2,200 workers on Chickamauga dam, one of seven such projects built or building in the Tennessee river watershed, was made at the first stop on a 50-mile automobile tour of the Chattanooga area that covered scenes of civil war days along with modern social economic projects. "We are not merely putting an obstruction across a river just to make a few kilowatts of electricity," he told the workers.

"We are doing a much bigger job than that. We are not only improving navigation and stopping floods, we are not only making highways across the tops of these structures, we are not only helping reforest chonover land and conserving soil, but taking it by and large we are doing something constructive that will affect the lives of our grandchildren in the United States."

Prisoners Distill 'Soap Liquor,' Trio Die, 10 in Hospital

LANSING, Kans., Nov. 22. (AP).—Three prisoners of the Kansas state penitentiary were dead today, another in a critical condition and at least ten others in a hospital after drinking what Warden Kirk Prather described as "a concoction made up from soap solution."

Prison authorities indicated the concoction had been mixed by convicts as an intoxicant. The warden said from 15 to 18 drank the solution.

Survey Ordered On Winkler Road

Location survey for extension of highway 158, from its intersection with highway 51 westward through Goldsmith and to a point 7.5 miles east of the Winkler county line, in Ector county, was ordered Monday by the State Highway Commission.

The order was just another step toward construction of the paved highway from Midland to Kermit and followed the visit here two weeks ago of Commissioner Harry Hines who inspected the project.

Work is under way at present on the eight mile Ector county strip from the Midland county line west to intersect highway 51. Contract has been let by Ector county for construction of the road from a point 12.5 miles northwest of Odessa to the Winkler county line. The last 7.5 miles of this road will serve both the Odessa and the Midland routes, giving connections with Kermit.

State funds are not yet available for construction of the segment for which yesterday's survey order was made, the commission stated.

Japanese Advance Is Reported Halted on South China Fronts

SHANGHAI, Nov. 22. (AP).—Chinese reported today they had halted the Japanese advance with counter-offensives on both the Central and South China fronts.

Dispatches from the Central front said Japanese were beaten back by vigorous attacks northwest and south of Hankow and near Yochow, gateway to Hunan province. In the south, the Chinese said their forces launched a general offensive which forced Japanese to fall back to the outskirts of Canton. Japanese commanders reported one of their armies almost wiped out the village of Kiuling, 80 miles northeast of Changsha, capital of Hunan Province and objective of the apparently stalled Japanese drive.

A statement from the association yesterday representative of the majority of American interests in China, was issued in comment upon Tokyo's note of last Friday to the United States denying American charges in a note of Oct. 6 of "unwarranted interference" by Japan with American rights in China.

"Tokyo's answer to Secretary of State Hull leaves no doubt in the minds of Americans in the Far East regarding the real intentions and objectives of Japanese imperialism," it said.

It added that most Americans here interested in upholding American commercial, cultural and philanthropic activities in China believed "a situation has developed which no longer can be met by orthodox methods of diplomacy or normal commercial competition."

Mob Lynchs Negro After Woman Attacked

WIGGINS, Miss., Nov. 22. (AP).—Wilder McGowan, 24-year-old negro, was lynched Monday by a mob of about 200 white men who had trailed him for several hours after the alleged rape and robbery of a 74-year-old white woman.

Sheriff S. C. Hinton said the mob seized the negro while he and his deputies were six miles away.

This was the second lynching at Wiggins in four years, and Tuskegee Institute records showed it to be the sixth in the South during 1938.

The elderly white woman, Sheriff Hinton said, was alone in her home last night when the negro broke in the door and attacked her. "The woman," the sheriff said, "furnished a description but could not name the negro who raped and robbed her. I don't believe the woman, in spite of her years, is in a serious condition. She is the mother of a Wiggins physician and is a member of a socially prominent family."

Jal Sand Pool Is Credited With a 1,200-Barrel Well

By FRANK GARDNER

The Jal sand pool of southeastern Lee county, N. M. today was credited with one of its largest natural producers as Italo Petroleum Corporation of America No 2-A-22 Carlson permit flowed at the rate of 1,200 barrels per day. Flow was through tubing, and potential was based upon a 16-hour test. Gas-oil ration was 800-1. The big well topped pay sand at 3,226 and is bottomed at 3,354 feet. Its location is 990 feet from the south, 1,650 from the east line of section 22-25S-37E.

Southeast of Lovington in Lea, Westmount Oil Company No. 1 Amerada-State this morning was still circulating. A 35-sack cement plug has been set at 3,025 feet. An attempt to squeeze 200 sacks of cement between surface pipe and 8 5/8-inch pipe set at 1,936 feet apparently was without results. Present total depth is 3,986 feet in anhydrite and salt.

Amerada No. 1-La State diagonal northwest offset to the Westmount well, has completed water well and is building derrick. Three miles farther northwest, Barnsall oil Company No. 1 Humble State is drilling on junk, bottomed at 3,135 feet in anhydrite and salt.

Shell No. 1 Harwood permit, two miles north of the town of Mine-sand in southern Roosevelt county, is remaining core-hole at 4,393 feet. Total depth is 4,498 feet in lime. It is reported that operators do not intend to make drillstem test at present depth.

NEW SLAUGHTER PRODUCER Logging practically continuous pay from 4,993 to 5,066, the total depth, Murchison & Clossuit No. 1 Snowden & McSweeney-Slaughter, diagonal southwest offset to Gulf No. 2 Mallett in the northeast extension of the Slaughter pool of Hockley, appeared assured of production. It was drilled in circulating oil, and no test of natural production was made. The well is swabbing through tubing after initial acidization with 1,500 gallons.

On a gill-site at Sundown, in the heart of the Slaughter pool, standard-rod tools are being rigged up for E. T. Marlon No. 1 Paul F. Lawlis, 165 feet from the south, 495 from the west line of labour 58, league 39, Maverick county school land. Several months ago, hole was spudded to 88 feet. It then was known as Penn Royalities, Inc. No. 1 Lawlis, and it is understood that Marlon traded his 2 1/2-acre well-site for the Penn 2 1/2-acre site, which joins it on the west. Marlon also had spudded a hole 165 feet out of the southwest corner of the labour, and Penn now has taken it over.

Texas No. 1-B Mallett, two-mile west extension of the pool, swabbed and flowed 15 barrels per hour during the past 24 hours. Basic sediment and water cut varied from four to 20 per cent. Total depth is 5,035 feet in lime, and the well has been acidized.

Wasson Location Staked. New west side location for the Wasson pool of northwestern Gaines is Phillips et al No. 1 Mattie, 2,200 feet out of the northwest corner of section 52, block AX, public school land. Callan and pits have been dug. Magnolia and Atlantic No. 1 Haver-myer & Jenny, on the northeast edge of the Seminole pool in central Gaines, last night kicked off and cleaned itself after wash water had been swabbed down 3,200 feet from top. No gauge was made, and the well now is shut in. Total depth is 5,072 feet in lime, and 2 1/2-inch tubing is set on bottom. Continuous pay was drilled from 5,033 feet, where 7-inch pipe was set, to total depth.

Lion-Rotary Joint Lunch Wednesday to Attract 100

Annual joint Thanksgiving meeting of the Lions and Rotary clubs, scheduled for Wednesday noon at the Methodist educational building, is expected to attract as many as 100 men, it was predicted today by presidents of the organizations. Each club has more than fifty members, the additional guests being expected to offset the absentees.

Mayor M. C. Ulmer, member of the Lions club, will bring the Thanksgiving address, and W. Clinton Lackey, president of the Rotary club, will preside. Mrs. Joseph E. Mims will sing a soprano solo. Rufus Steele, internationally known bridge expert who will begin classes here next Monday, will entertain with several card tricks which customarily are used by card sharps.

Admission to the luncheon will be 75 cents per person, the turkey dinner to be served by members of the Methodist Missionary society.

Each year the joint luncheon is held the day before Thanksgiving and is one of the outstanding meetings of the year for the service club members. The members are invited to bring guests, officers said, to add to the city-wide nature of the meeting of business and professional men.

Strikers Look on as Commission Members Work in Stockyards

CHICAGO, Nov. 22. (AP).—Striking stock handlers watched white collared commission men take over their jobs today in the stock yards here.

A CIO handlers' strike had not only halted trading of livestock but left open the problem of caring for more than 50,000 animals in pens. It was decided to clear the pens by tonight and not accept further shipments until the dispute is settled.

British Condemnation of Anti-Semitic Plan Adopted

BERLIN, Nov. 22. (AP).—The United States has presented a note to Germany asking formal assurance that the decree outlawing Jews from business enterprises, a part of the Nazi regime's sweeping anti-Jewish campaign, does not apply to Jews holding American citizenship.

The note was presented to the foreign office yesterday, it was disclosed today, as Nazi plans for extending the anti-Jewish campaign through the winter development.

LONDON, Nov. 22. (AP).—The British house of commons with rare unanimity adopted a motion last night deploring infuriated Germany's treatment of the Jews after the government had announced plans to create havens for the refugees in Africa and British Guiana.

Adolf Hitler was reported angry at Prime Minister Chamberlain's announcement Jews would be sent to a former German colony in Africa, Tanganyika, as well as to British Guiana in South America, and led to unconfirmed reports here that Germany's ambassador to London might be recalled.

The Tanganyika project was regarded in Berlin as a "plot" to avoid returning the colony to Germany.

Germany's anti-Jewish drive was bitterly assailed in the house of commons debate which disclosed that already Chamberlain's hope of reaching an appeasement settlement with Germany based on the

Dies Raps Williams As Being in Favor Of 'Class Warfare'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (AP).—Chairman Dies displayed to the house committee investigating un-American activities today a newspaper clipping which, he said, quoted Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, as saying he was "not sure that class warfare is not all right," and commented: "It is a most amazing statement coming from a government official in a high place."

Dies said the statement merely corroborated what the committee had been trying to show—that some government officials were "trying to achieve some objectives by spreading class hatred."

Colder weather is forecast for most of the state tonight.

No snow was recorded from Trinidad, Colo., to Amarillo, as the thermometer dropped here from a maximum of 48 degrees at noon to 20 degrees.

In Yellowstone, Mont., the mercury sank to an official 25 degrees below zero yesterday at the entrance to Yellowstone national park.

The second below freezing attack of winter hit Midland and surrounding area early last evening, causing the mercury to drop to 28 degrees during the night. It was the second coldest night of the season in the city.

Preceded by a sandstorm out of the northwest, the wind shifted to the north before night and the mercury started a precipitate slide towards the bottom. Maximum temperature yesterday was 78 degrees, a drop of 50 degrees being recorded within 12 hours.

Ice was plainly visible this morning where water was exposed during the night.

The cold managed to hang on throughout the morning, the mercury having climbed only eight degrees by noon today.

The forecast for tonight is fair, colder, severe freeze in the north, killing frost in the southeast tonight; Wednesday fair, not quite so cold in the north and central portions.

MALVERN, Ark., Nov. 22. (AP).—Vasco Wayman Carrier, an Oklahoma ex-convict, was brought here Monday from El Paso, Texas, to face murder charges in the beer bottle slaying of John Van Hooser, Lubbock, Texas, salesman, whose body was found on a roadside near here Nov. 12.

Circuit Judge H. B. Means, appointed Attorneys F. D. Goza and Joe McCoy, Malvern, to defend the prisoner. He instructed Carrier to be ready to enter a plea when arraigned Tuesday.

The ex-convict was captured Thursday at El Paso where Capt. Stanley D. Sikes, of the sheriff's office quoted Carrier as saying he struck at Van Hooser in self-defense when they quarreled near here.

Civilization Can Do More Than Protest

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The LaFollette committee investigating violations of civil liberties and the Dies committee investigating "un-Americanism" have had several skirmishes. But the real clash, apparently, is yet to come.

The battleground will be in California. Congressman Dies has promised to go to the coast shortly and hear about 150 witnesses said to be ready to tell of "Communist activities," especially among labor groups.

Senator LaFollette meanwhile has several investigators in California checking up on the Associated Farmers and allegations of terrorism against labor unions by vigilantes. His hearings also will be held in California, following those held by Dies.

Generally speaking, the friends of the Dies committee are the foes of the LaFollette committee and vice versa. Dies' witnesses are likely to be put on the pan before the LaFollette committee. One of them is Harper Knowles, former secretary of the Associated Farmers, who made sensational charges of "Communism" against California labor leaders.

Dies recently charged a LaFollette committee official tried to "plant" an investigator on his staff, and Dies inferentially has attacked LaFollette for "un-American tendencies." One or two Dies witnesses have accused LaFollette investigators of being chummy with Communists.

LaFollette investigators privately have enjoyed discrediting Dies witnesses and investigators.

PENSIONERS HAVE PLENTY OF TIME.
A democratic politician returning from the west reports it wasn't easy for a bold candidate to stand out against the $30-per-Thursdays and other such pension plans. Previously strongest opponents of the Townsend plan turned tail in the end.

DEWEY STRONG ON THE S. A.
District Attorney Tom Dewey's appeal to women was one of the factors which kept him close to Lehman in the New York governorship dog fight. The Dewey campaign photograph was carefully selected from a large assortment and the keen men who picked it did so because they said, it looked more like a "movie actor with sex appeal" than any of the others. Dewey gagged for a while, preferring other camera portraits, but was persuaded to consent.

AUSTIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—Traffic enemy No. 1, says the department of public safety, is the failure of motor vehicle drivers to dim headlights.

And, except for attempts at education, the department is virtually powerless to do anything about it. There is no law requiring a driver to dim lights. The department can only appeal to the driver's sense of courtesy or play on his fear of death or injury.

Ninety-four lives were lost in traffic accidents this year because drivers' didn't dim lights, the department reports. No one knows how many persons were injured in those accidents, but the total was huge.

"The dimming of headlights is one of the easiest things about driving an automobile," said a department attache. "It is one of the most important things, yet it is something which thousands of Texans are not doing. "There isn't a law requiring it, although there may be one after the next legislature meets. At present a driver may or may not dim headlights, according to his state of mind."

"It is almost incomprehensible why anyone able to drive an automobile is so careless of his own safety and the safety of others that he will not move his foot or hand to reduce the intensity of his headlights and decrease the possibility of collision."

The same man, an operative of the department who has studied causes of traffic accidents in all section of the state, said the driver who refuses to dim his headlights has taken the place of the one who a few years ago claimed more than his share of the highway.

"He has displaced the road hog," the investigator said. "Not a night passes but he roars down the highway with blinding lights, forcing cars to pull off the road or come to a standstill while he charges past."

Termites, more or less common, are found in every one of the 48 states of the Union except North Dakota.

Signals of approaching motor cars to dim lights mean nothing to him. If the other dims lights, so much the better, he thinks. That enables him to see perfectly with his own undimmed lights.

"At heart, the fellow is a coward and a bully. He is hiding in the dark, and he thinks he can get away with something he knows is wrong because there is no one to pick him out and censure him."

"The same man wouldn't think of walking down a street turning a brilliant flashlight in people's faces. He would be afraid someone would sock him.

"He doesn't mind blinding people on the highways behind the protection of darkness and the speed of modern automobiles. That shows he's a coward."

Austin and the vicinity is believed to be the worst in the state in regard to failure to dim headlights, the operative said. He could give no reason why this was so but asserted it was a fact.

The highway between Austin and San Antonio was cited as one of the most dangerous at night because of its heavy traffic of automobiles with undimmed lights.

North Texas and West Texas drivers, it was said, generally were much more prone to dim lights.

The department has information that a survey is being conducted in New Jersey by an insurance rating company to determine if possible whether drivers with blue eyes are more susceptible to "night blindness" than those with darker eyes.

The national safety council reported that 15 per cent of drivers examined in certain tests were susceptible to "night blindness," which has been defined as inability of eyes to adjust themselves normally to varying intensities of lights at night.

It has been suggested to the safety department that a test revealing "night blindness" be made a part of examinations for drivers licenses, but no action to that end has been taken.

Two Austin physicians, when questioned, expressed doubt there was anything to the "night blindness" theory, one, an outstanding specialist, said that because a fair skin was susceptible to sunburn because it lacked the pigment of dark skin it did not follow that blue eyes also lacking dark pigment were susceptible to blindness from the glare of motor vehicle headlights.

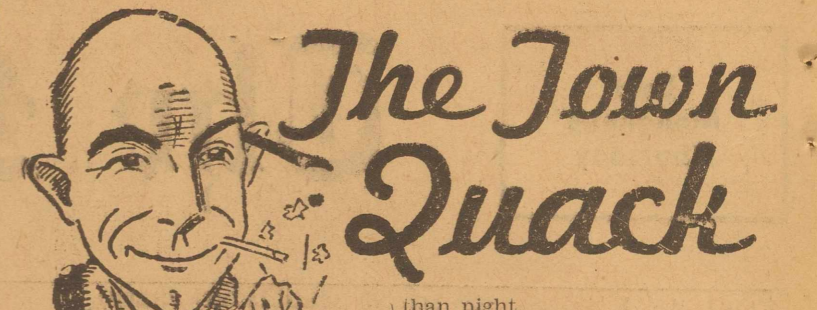

No complaints have reached the safety department and its highway patrolmen, or the railroad commission, of failure of truck and bus drivers to dim lights.

Reports uniformly are that such drivers generally are quick to reduce the power of their lights and observe other driving rules of the highways, written and unwritten.

One reason, a department representative said, is that drivers of commercial vehicles often are well trained in their duties and usually have strict instructions from their employer to carefully abide by all traffic regulations.

Another, it was said, is that large truck and bus drivers have charge of expensive equipment, trucks often are carrying valuable loads. The drivers cannot afford to take chances.

Our first day's use of the new Linotype and its new headline type brought forth considerable comment, much of it complimentary. Mr. Wilcox, over at Wilcox Hardware, called up and asked if it were not customary to "bawl out" the paper when one had criticism. We told him it was. He said he wanted to say that the new type made the paper "darn good looking". We had several others to mention the change to us. They probably appreciated a change, whether for the better or worse.

Personally, I think we got it a little too black on the front page yesterday, and will try to perfect a better balance. Anyway, we will try to make the paper look different every day and will try to have some news in it, which, after all, is what the readers want.

In saying yesterday that we have one of the two best equipped plants between Fort Worth and El Paso, we should have said three. The Abilene Reporter-News and the Big Spring Herald are the others. However, they do not operate job printing establishments in connection with their papers, and we have an unusually well equipped job shop for a medium sized city.

Do you have your tickets to the Monahans game? They were going pretty lively this morning, so you need to get on down there and clobber a good time for Thanksgiving afternoon. I'm still old fashioned enough that I like afternoon games better

Warehouseing and Storage Work Is Subject of Course

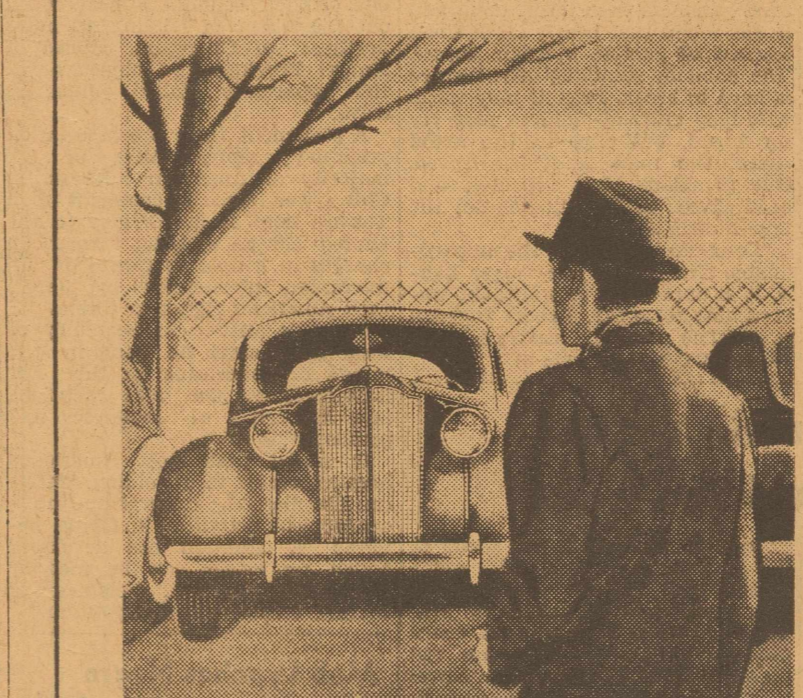

AUSTIN—A new course discussing the use of storage and warehousing facilities, by producers and distributors of agricultural products and manufactured goods, to be offered in the School of Business Administration of The University of Texas the second semester of this year and the first session of the 1939 summer school, has been announced by Dean J. Anderson Fitzgerald.

"Storage and warehousing have become increasingly important in marketing and distribution," Dr. Fitzgerald said. "This is true of agricultural products, raw materials and finished manufactured goods. A study of the facilities and services of public warehouses is, therefore, particularly important in the Southwest where the products produced in the area and the goods brought in for consumption all pass through certain storage and warehousing steps."

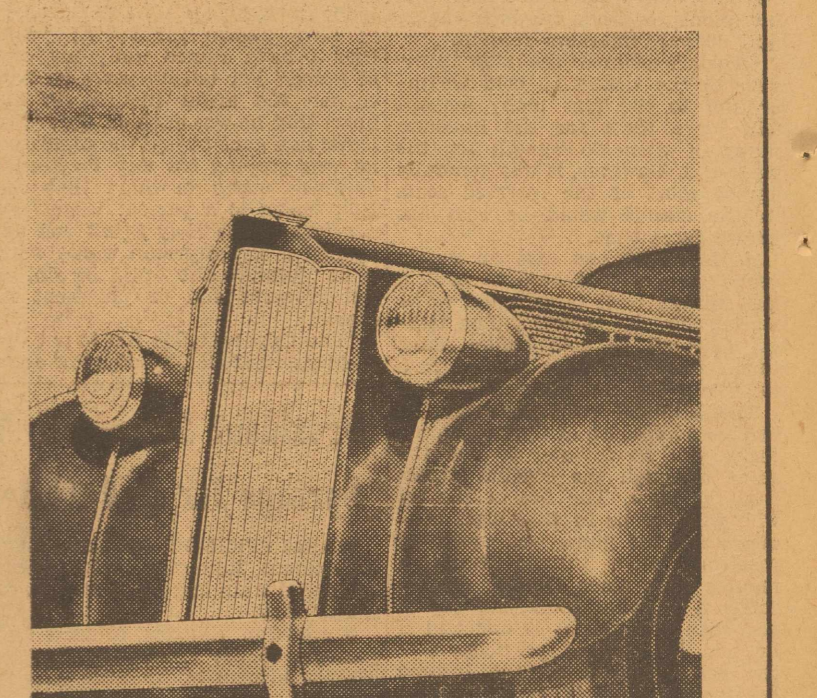

"In the new course, the various types of warehouses and the services offered by each will be discussed ranging from the special assembling warehouse such as grain elevators or cotton warehouses, to the specialized distribution or merchandise warehouses used by manufacturers in carrying stocks of their products close to points of consumption. The important part played by the warehouse organizations of the country in financing goods between production and consumption and in reducing transportation, storage and handling costs will also be covered."

The course will be given by Dr. John H. Frederik, professor of transportation and industry. Dr. Frederik is well known in the warehousing industry having acted in a consulting capacity for the American Warehousemen's Association, the National Distributors' Association, the Distribution Engineering Corporation and various manufacturers on distribution problems. He also has written and spoken frequently on the use of public warehouses in economical distribution.

Fats from roasting meats were used as illuminating fuel in early types of lamps. Later, in the Mediterranean regions, olive oil came into use for this purpose.

QUESTION: What's the one car you can recognize at a glance?

QUESTION: What's the one car that has protected its owners against radical style changes?

Answer to both questions: PACKARD!

IF YOU WANT the car you buy to look smart and stay smart...
If you'd rather people would know, not guess at, the kind of car you're driving...
Then there's only one 1939 car you can consider seriously—a Packard. For Packard offers you beauty plus individuality. Packard, alone, offers you cars that are recognizable at a glance.

This is worth thinking about seriously. And it's doubly serious if you buy your car by monthly payments. How much fun is it when radical style changes label your car a last year's model before half your payments are made?

So see your Packard dealer now. Learn how surprisingly easy a Packard is to own. See both the new Packard Six and Packard 120, running in smart new colors, and ready for immediate delivery. Get the facts—and discover that these better-quality cars are not only styled, but built, for years of faithful service!

We'll deliver a new 1939 Packard Six 5-Passenger Sedan to your door, with standard equipment $1265 for only...
Your present car, if of average value, will probably cover $422 the small down payment of $422. Monthly payments can be arranged.

The PAYOFF

BY JESS RODGERS.

If the Midland football team can do as well next year as the local superintendent and coach did at the schedule making session Midland should be somewhere near the top when the season is over.

Two home games were booked and it appears probable another will be added. Messrs. Lackey and Taylor flat barked upon going to both Big Spring and Sweetwater for games next year, insisting that one or the other pay a visit to Lackey field.

Stubbiness was the keynote of the meeting, following a dinner that ended amicably enough. First, Sweetwater, Big Spring and San Angelo officials killed about an hour while they bickered about sites and dates for their games next year. Next, after more than an hour of arguing, Midland, Big Spring and Sweetwater officials called their argument a draw in order to adjourn the meeting.

Ablene officials, after previously indicating they would stay in district 3-AA, sent notice they would seek entrance into the district east of their school. Few were shed over the Ablene decision. However, there is a possibility Colorado may be forced into the 3-AA league next year, having an enrollment of 470 at present. District officials would have voted Colorado into the league last night but the boys on the river indicated they preferred to remain in Class-B.

A threat by San Angelo officials to seek admittance into the Oil Belt with Ablene was taken by most of those present as meaning the officials were not satisfied with the schedule they booked and were trying to get it changed. None regarded the threat seriously.

After listening to all the coaches present we cannot figure out why all schools concerned don't drop football. There wasn't a coach present who would admit he would win a game next year.

The Monahans club has been an in and out aggregation all year, alternately playing good and bad games. And it is their time to play a good game. In their last game they barely managed to gain a 13-6 decision over Kermit. All the Green Wave backs and ends did in that game was drop six passes that would have been good for touchdowns. Ed Hary, Monahans' quarterback, tossed 27 aerials during the game, completing nine of them. According to Toby Greer, Monahans' coach, Hary should have completed at least eight more.

This'n that—Win or lose against Monahans, the Bulldogs are still lucky. They have tickets to see the TCU-SMU game in Dallas Saturday. . . . In case any of them are interested: Scalpers are getting from $10 up for choice seats. . . . Here's one on Leland Foster, scrappy little Bulldog tackle: The other day Bud Taylor said he didn't know what his usual position on an offensive line was and Foster wanted to know what he was supposed to do. "Nothing, you'll just serve as a decoy," Bud said. Foster appealed to Paul Klatt for a definition of a decoy and when the latter refused the tackle said he didn't know what a decoy was and darned if he was going to be one—regardless. . . . If Weldon Williams continues to show up like he did Saturday night he will make coaches forget next spring all talk of placing him in the line.

Williams bears a strong resemblance to Dave Wafford while carrying the ball. . . . If he is half as good he has a backfield position cinched for next year. . . . We'll print our 7-B All-Star team next Sunday and will disregard the team picked by coaches, writers and the men who officiate the games during the season. . . . Under that set-up (the latter one) Wink gets no less than 13 votes in deciding the team. . . . And that should call for a monopoly probe.

Wrecked German Ship After Blast

With coast guard craft alongside, the German freighter Vancouver is pictured shortly after an explosion tore a great hole in the ship's bottom as she lay in the estuary at Oakland, Calif. Several of the crew were injured and a federal investigation of the mysterious blast was begun at once. An unidentified informant called an Oakland newspaper 10 minutes before the explosion with the announcement that a "bomb just went up on a German ship."

Midland Boys Tour With Cowboy Band

Attending Hardin-Simmons University this year from Midland County and Midland are George Alva Walker and Raleigh O. Brooks, Jr. These boys attended Midland High School and finished with the class of 1936.

Active in campus activities, these boys are members of the world famous Cowboy Band, and have traveled with this organization since their enrollment in the University. They have traveled with the band to the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, September 18-25, The Deming Rodeo, Deming, New Mexico, September 14-18, The Texas Medical Convention in Dallas, September 30, and to the North Little Rock Rodeo, in Little Rock, Arkansas, November 8-15.

Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Walker, was student director of the Midland high school band last year. He was also a member of the debate team that represented the school last year. He is majoring in music at Hardin-Simmons. He is scheduled to play a flute solo for the crowning of the university queen, Jeanette Green, at the annual affair to be held Tuesday, November 22. Walker is a staff member of the Broncho campus yearbook.

Crane and Kermit Move Up Game Date To Wednesday Night

KERMIT, Nov. 22 (Special). — Date of the Crane-Kermit 7-B game was changed today from Friday to Wednesday night to avoid conflict with Thanksgiving Day holidays.

"DYNAMITE" DAVEY O'BRIEN
T. C. U. QUARTER

Quarterback and dynamo of the undefeated and untied Texas Christian Horned Frogs is Dynamite Davey O'Brien, 162-pound senior from Dallas. The statistics for the season speak more eloquently of O'Brien's great work than could any words of praise. Davey has thrown 137 forward passes, only four of which have been intercepted, and 78 of which have been completed for a total gain of 1374 yards. Fifteen of the heaves were direct touchdowns. His completion percentage is .569. In addition, he has carried the ball 92 times for a net average gain of 3.14 yards per try. He has returned 24 punts for an average of 12.4 yards each return. He has returned two kick-offs for 56 yards, and has punned twice for a 42-yard average. He has intercepted four enemy passes, returning them for an average of 9.5 yards each time. He has scored two touchdowns and kicked 23 points after touchdown, for a total of 34 points, to rank second in Southwest Conference scoring. No wonder Coach Dutch Meyer says Davey's theme song is: "Little Man, You've Had a Busy Day!"

Models in Paris' Midseason Shows Can Be Taken as Winter Staples

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS.—Fashion-minded women are interested in the current mid-season collections, not because new or startling styles are featured in them but because, generally speaking, the models shown are those that are here to stay. In other words, midseason showings offer one a chance to see which of the numbers from the August collections have survived thus far and are likely to be good all winter.

Also, midseasons indicate future trends. It certainly seems too early to speak of spring, yet for those who have to plan wardrobes far ahead—the prospective bride, for example—advance tips may be helpful.

Molyneux's intermediate collection shows, as usual, the sort of clothes which are inherently elegant because they are deliberately simple in line and trimming. According to this style czar, skirts show no signs of getting any longer, and while he still features the picturesque crinoline for formal evening wear, these are superseded by the slinkiest, siren sheath gowns, complete with swishing fish-tail train and beltless, most of the time. A third silhouette is an intermediate one—a surray pleated skirt and bodice, falling in slim folds over the hips, with high, rounded neckline to the bodice and shoulders covered.

Strapless Bodice Out.
Fichu draperies, straps and asymmetrical necklines, i. e., one shoulder covered, the other bare, have replaced the strapless bodice. The Toulouse-Lautrec sleeves have likewise disappeared. Dinner gowns show sleeves that are slightly puffed at the top and stop above the elbow or the demurest little gathered sleeves attached to a widened armhole.

The new sheath gowns are often shirred through the bodice, this drapery effect carried on through the neckline, giving an idea of a slightly lowered waist.

Daytime clothes are the acme of simplicity. The two-piece dress consisting of a plain, fitted top, often fastening center front, over a surray pleated skirt is shown in a black crepe satin model, with the mat side used for the top and the shiny side for the skirt. It is also shown in a beautiful shade of orchid mauve silk crepe under a purple heather monotone tweed full-length coat with round lynx collar. This last model would be a perfect "going away" ensemble for a blonde bride.

Moire for Sophistication.
More sophisticated is an afternoon dress of black moire with brief, but flaring skirt and tailored bodice. Moire is certainly a good "future" buy, as it will be carried on right through the spring. But be sure it is silk moire, as it should fall in soft, no stiff, folds. The lame dinner suit, with daytime length skirt, is also extremely elegant, and Molyneux completes his, which is in supple silver and black, with the finest black angora wool sweater.

There is a good deal of black

Blue fox blends in with the purplish brown linings which fascinate this town coat by Jean Faton. Note the spiral effect of the fur trimmings repeated on the sleeve, also the emphasis on the rounded hips and the indrawn waistline. The hat is made of a cluster of brown felt flowers on a tiny skull cap.

In this collection and embroidery still provides the touch of glitter at the neckline, which continues to be high. Sequin embroidery appears on several formal evening gowns as well as on dinner dresses. In the latter the decorative effect is concentrated on the bodice and sleeves, while the more formal gowns are often embroidered all over.

Sheared Raccoon Makes Its Bow

Sheared raccoon, the latest news in fur fashions, is used to make a casual, three-quarters coat with moulded shoulders and a small, jaunty collar. If, during National Fur Week (Nov. 14 to 19), you decide to search for a coat which will be light as a feather, smart as a whip and sure to wear well for years and years, by all means consider sheared raccoon. It resembles nutria or beaver, comes in a variety of short, chubby jackets as well as longer coats, and is as flattering to mature figures as it is to very youthful ones.

Room, Board Cost To Univ. Students Only $17 a Month

AUSTIN.—It will cost students at The University of Texas an average of $17 a month for room and board in student cooperative houses, according to statistics recently compiled at that institution. In the thirteen units for men and two units for women more than $25,000 in living expenses will be saved this school year, it was estimated. The addition of six houses for men this fall marked the first great increase in cooperative living at the University since the movement began in 1936. University authorities reported. Over three hundred students are taking part in the program.

In selecting students to occupy the several houses, both men and women, the primary factors considered are whether or not the applicants are interested in the cooperative movement in its economic, social and other phases. The financial status of students does not enter into selection of cooperative members.

Operating under an independent management plan, the men's houses are each headed by a student house manager appointed by the Dean of Men. Birds elect a student house coordinator to head their units.

Men's houses have an elected Inter-Coop Council to receive bids from local dairies, grocers, and bakers and to act as a central purchasing body for the thirteen houses. Food buying for women's groups is carried on by the house coordinator.

About one hour of each day is required of cooperative members to do household duties. Sweeping, dishwashing and general house maintenance work is shared by every person—men and women—in the houses. The girls prepare their own meals. The men's groups, however employ a cook. A system of exchange of Sunday dinner guests between men and women's groups is one of the social activities promoted. They also join to give dances.

Home decoration and furnishing is left largely to the taste and ingenuity of the students, curtains, bookshelves and dressers being hand-made in some units.

Stressing that the popularity for cooperative housing among students at the University is causing a large scale growth of the units, Arno Nowotny, assistant dean of men said:

"These enterprises are making a real and practical contribution to education. It is a process that should produce leaders who will be better able to go beyond the college campus and assist in improving an economic structure that is battered and unstable from mismanagement."

You Might Think About Giving Gifts For Christmas Now

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Some of the women you intend to remember at Christmas probably would appreciate getting their presents Thanksgiving Day or thereabouts. This may seem like a pretty unorthodox idea, but it is true that many a girl would like to have new perfume for pre-holiday dances or new makeup and creams to glorify her complexion before the big Christmas whirl.

You might, for instance, send a gift order for a series of facials so she'll be able to have a de luxe treatment once a week between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Or one for admittance to an exercise class. And a gift order for a new permanent wave is ideal for the woman whose beauty budget is so small that she probably will have to put off getting a new wave until weeks after Christmas.

HANDY GIFT

A box of hand preparations fits into this scheme nicely, too. Into a lovely gift box put two or three cakes of soap of the kind she wouldn't ordinarily buy for herself, a jar of special hand cream, a bottle of hand lotion, cuticle cream and perhaps a small but complete manicure kit.

Write a note wishing her a Merry Christmas and adding that you thought she might like to have these at the beginning of cold weather rather than later. A note to go with perfume might tell the recipient that you thought she'd like to have her gift in time for ALL the holiday parties.

If you know her very well and know, too, that she has dry skin problems during winter months, consider sending a large, attractive jar of cleansing cream and one of special emollient cream.

If she's in college, a new ornament for her evening coiffure, a lovely bracelet or a couple of pairs of gossamer sheer stockings will make the pre-vacation dances more gala from her point of view.

Withdrawn from Spain at last, after months of diplomatic shilly-shallying, the first contingent of some 12,000 Italian "volunteers" to be recalled are pictured above as they marched through Naples. They are shown on their way to the Naples parade ground, where they were reviewed by Italy's King.

HOLC Loans More Than Half Billion

WASHINGTON.—Borrowers of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation have repaid more than a half cent of billings for October, it can be conservatively estimated, that the corporation will represent about 1.3 per cent of borrowers entire principal indebtedness, or more than $57,000,000. Mr. Jones declared. More than 39,350 accounts, amounting to more than $90,000,000, have been paid in full.

At the same time, he announced that borrowers have been saved at least $168,000,000 in investment since the HOLC took over their loans—the difference between the amount they would have paid under the old mortgages and the 5 per cent HOLC interest rate.

"It should be remembered," said Mr. Jones, "that, although the HOLC ended its fifth year of operation in June of this year, we have not been collecting on our loans for that length of time. The HOLC still was lending money up to June 12, 1936, so only a very small portion of our borrowers have been paying back their loans for five years. In fact, 290,000 took advantage of a moratorium which made it unnecessary for them to pay anything on account of principal until June, 1936."

From June, 1933, to June, 1936, we loaned nearly $3,100,000,000 to more than a million men and women who were without private credit and who faced the loss of their homes through foreclosure. Today we can announce that more than 720,000 of those people have rehabilitated themselves, are in excellent standing with the HOLC, and are clearly on the way to debt-free home ownership. There are 132,000 others who still are making adjusted payments which have enabled them to maintain their homes.

"Even at the worst of the recent recession, HOLC collections were good. It has been proved to us time and again that the average citizen will make almost any sacrifice to retain his home. Realizing that, and being empowered by Congress to extend the utmost leniency, we have cooperated to the fullest extent in every case where our borrowers had the slightest chance to rehabilitate themselves."

Mr. Jones stressed two other important results from the operations of the HOLC—the extension of an amortized loan program through which a borrower approaches nearer to complete home ownership with every monthly payment, and the expenditure of millions for home improvements.

"With every month, under the amortization plan, HOLC borrowers are paying back more in principal, while their interest payments are declining," said Mr. Jones. "As they draw nearer to liquidating their debts, those interest payments will become nominal."

"We directed the expenditure of more than $70,000,000 for repairs and reconditioning as we granted our original loans. We sought improvements both for better security and for the protection of home owners themselves. They have enhanced and in thousands of cases those neighbors, seeing the effects of the comparatively small sums expended for HOLC borrowers, have improved their own properties. Furthermore, we have followed a consistent program of improving the properties we have been forced to acquire; those improvements, too, have protected neighborhood values."

In referring to the $169,000,000 which HOLC borrowers have saved in interest, Mr. Jones declared $200,000,000 was saved to HOLC borrowers at the time their loans were granted, when the HOLC induced mortgage holders to scale down their mortgages as a matter of "fair play" during the depression.

He reported that the HOLC now owns 82,343 properties and has sold 26,064. Of the homes valuable to yield income, 83.2 per cent are rented and rent collections for September were 94.4 per cent of billings.

"Approximately 18.5 per cent of the homes we have acquired were abandoned, or virtually so," said Mr. Jones. "About 5.5 per cent came to us through death of home owners and refusal of heirs to assume their obligations. A considerable number of properties were acquired because their owners absolutely refused to cooperate, although in the possession of funds. Hundreds of other borrowers were overhoused—utterly unable to carry the burdens they had assumed in prosperous days. For the rest, we sought jobs, or welfare allotments which would enable them to meet their payments—exhausted every resource.

"Today, foreclosures have dropped 73 per cent from their peak in 1936. In all, we have been forced to acquire only 11 per cent of the homes we sought to save. That record is a tribute to the American home owners with whom we have dealt, when it is remembered that only a few years ago they were in almost every case without hope of saving the home in which many of them had invested their life savings."

Winning Letters in Go to Church Contest Re-Printed for Readers

Reprinted for the second time, winning letters in the Why Go to Church contest appear in this issue of The Reporter-Telegram. Mrs. Chas. Brown having won the $5 for the best letter on "Why I Go to Church" and C. C. Harris winning the same amount for the best letter on "Why I Don't Go to Church." The prizes were paid by a Midland committee and the judging was by disinterested judges. Winning letters follow:

When I read of your contest "Why I Go to Church" or "Why I Don't Go to Church" I asked myself the question, "Why do I go twice each Lord's Day?" and the answer came back, simply because I love to go to church.

When I enter God's house, there is a wave of calm that passes over me; burdens become lighter; joys become dearer; communion with my Lord becomes sweeter.

I was born with a sense of duty. In fact all my life there has scarcely been a day when I have not torn between duty and desire. And so if love didn't lead me each Lord's Day to His house, duty would drive me there.

Worship is a time for that intimate companionship with God which revives the soul. It delights a true servant of our Lord to obey His commands. He gave us one day out of seven as a day of rest. One day in seven was solemnly set aside for rest and relaxation of the physical man, for the refreshment and illumination of the intellectual side of man, and for the renewal and development of the soul of man. He set an example at the creation; Jesus followed Him and He in turn expects the same of His followers.

A weekly visitation into God's house, a time when we enter into His very presence; binds us closer in fellowship with our fellow Christians; and encourages us in our daily tasks.

The Lord's Day is precious to me because it brings before my mind's eye the first appearance of my Lord after His resurrection. The early apostles met on the first day of the week to pay their homage. Can I do less? If I did, I would see His accusing finger pointed at me, and I would know I had failed Him.

"I love Thy Kingdom, Lord; the House of Thine Abode;" everything about the worship I love; the music, which brings tranquility; the communion which restores my soul and furnishes me with spiritual food; the sermon from God's servant; and the solemn benediction wherein we are entrusted to His care until we meet again.

I recommend Lord's Day worship to all mankind everywhere; if you can't go through love for Him who sacrificed all for you, then let duty dictate the terms of your Lord's Day conduct. In setting a correct example you will let your light shine before men, that others seeing your works, will glorify the Father.

MRS. CHAS. BROWN.

WHY I DO NOT GO TO CHURCH

My main reason for not going to church is that I do not wish to be hypocritical and if I went that is what I would surely be. I like to be censured by no one but my God, as I see Him, and myself. That there is a God I surely believe but that you must go to church to have Him hear your prayer I do not believe. There is an old song that goes something like this: "While there's many a long horn coaster, I mean just so to speak, who hasn't had advantage of the range on gospel creek. Will get to crop the grasses that in the master's pastures grow and the C. will show up 'neath the devil's checker-board."

Did you ever watch some ragged urchin looking wistfully in some window? Perhaps it was cold and the child looked hungry or perhaps the tot had hardly enough clothes to keep out the bitter wind.

After observing this did you do anything to alleviate the suffering so plainly stamped on the little one's face or did you, like so many others, pass it by, with a hurried glance you hoped no one would notice? If you had only stopped, taken the youngster into the shop or store and spent a few nickels of your ready cash, you would have known that feeling of wonderful warmth that is caused only by a true Christian act. Do you think this could happen in any church?

I believe that a child should be taught the work of a church as he is taught in school, but when he reaches the age that he has to go to church in order to make the right contacts for his own advancement, then I believe the church in the true sense of the word has lost its meaning.

The politician goes to church because he has to put up a good front for the people he expects to get votes from. The business man goes because he caters to the sort of people who can afford to trade with him and he is most likely to find them in the church. The average son of toil does not go because he has so little of the better things of life and so little leisure that when he does find time for a little recreation and has a few nickels to spend, he is apt to go a bit too far with it and put on a real celebration. One that no group of church people would approve of. He does not like to be censured for that sort of life and so he does not associate with the sort of people who might censure him. He wants his children to be better and will sacrifice to the limit to have them so, but feels that if he sends them to Sunday school he is doing his part towards making them so.

I do not think that one must go to church to be a Christian. That no man can live unto himself alone is true but he is never alone when he carries his God with him in his heart.

Preacher are no longer called to preach as they were in the past. No indeed. They study just as hard as any lawyer, engineer, or what have you. Theirs is now a profession just as much so as the lawyer and engineer. Preachers therefore are in the same class as any other professional man, but would you go in (pay him a fee, and ask him for advice as to whether or not you were living a Christian life? No you wouldn't. Yet that is exactly what happens in most churches today. Not in the same manner of course, but it happens nevertheless. Now how many preachers do you know that would meet with er very wicked or very foolish. If there is a God, it is a very wicked thing to take His name in vain. If there is no God, it is very foolish to be swearing by His name. But probably is not the unpardonable sin. John Bunyan, who wrote the world's greatest book aside from the Bible, was, before conversion, a very profane man.

"Murder is not the unpardonable sin. It is a fearful thing to take human life. No man can stain his hands with human blood without suffering for it in his conscience until he has consciousness that his sin has been covered by the blood that cleanses from all sin. Moses killed and Paul was privy to murder and both were forgiven. For every scarlet sin there is a scarlet atonement. If Jesus could save the chief of sinners, He can save any man who has not sinned away his day of grace.

"The unpardonable sin may be committed in three ways. It may be committed by blasphemy. Christ was casting out demons, and His enemies said: 'He hath an unclean spirit' and, 'He hath been dumb and by the prince of devils casteth out demons.' They blasphemed the Holy Spirit. Jesus said: 'Verily, I say unto you, all sin shall be forgiven unto men and blasphemies wherewithsoever they shall blaspheme, but he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Spirit hath no forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation. Because they said, he hath an unclean spirit.' There can be no conviction and no regeneration until the Holy Spirit moves upon the heart.

"One can commit the unpardonable sin by a definite refusal because I have called and ye have refused." None of those men which were hidden shall taste of my supper. When a man definitely makes up his mind not to accept Christ as His Savior, the Holy Spirit would cease to strive with him. And procrastination will bring the same results. There are thousands in hell today because they kept putting off their acceptance of the Lord Jesus Christ. "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation." God never inspired a man to ask a more solemn question. There is danger and death in indecision and delay. Neglect no longer. "Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near."

their church without the necessary stipend? Not many, I wager.

Where is the church I have heard about where all the members went for the sole purpose of worshipping? Where is the pastor that visits the sick regardless of class or denomination? Where is the church that never brought politics into the pulpit at some one of its meetings? Show me a church like that and I will show you a church that does not want for attendance.

I readily admit that the modern preacher is probably better versed than the pastor of yesteryear but is he as sincere? I somehow don't think so. Most preachers of this day and time are genteel good fellows if you get to know them, the kind of fellow you like to know but not the one to tell you what you are going to suffer in the hereafter.

Does Mrs. Gotrox tell Mrs. Iv-enough about the lesson she learned today when she returns from church? No! She saw Mrs. So & So with the cutest new dress. And that young widow had on the most charming new suit, "sch, seh, How does she afford such clothes?"

I am sure of course that some of the people who go to church are genuinely sincere and for them there is a warm spot in my heart, but as for the others I can only say that when Gabriel blows his horn, I'd hate to have to tell the good Lord that I hunted with the hounds and ran with the hare.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Disarmament to Launch Rearmament

SIX years ago at this time 60 nations looked back on their work of many months at Geneva and agreed that the world had made a long step toward peace. The World Conference for the Reduction and Limitation of Armaments was not altogether successful, to be sure, but it had opened the way, they were confident, to rule by parity instead of force.

The conference decided for one thing that aerial bombardment should be prohibited, "if certain conditions can be fulfilled," and to make this prohibition effective bombing aircraft should be abolished.

It was decided to prohibit all forms of chemical warfare. At the same time the conference agreed that some sort of budgetary limitations on armaments must be effected.

So the delegates went home and the world breathed a bit easier. But instead of disarmament, humanity got rearmament, on a scale never known before. The plans so carefully laid in the sanctity of Geneva's halls of peace bore fruit in fleets of new aerial bombers, in myriad new devices of chemical warfare, in arms expansion that stretched the budgets of some governments until guns became the national goal ahead of bread.

And today, even after Munich, the race goes on. Ironically enough only a mere "scrap of paper" recalls the Geneva conference now, the 1932 special "Peace" stamp issued by Switzerland. It is shown above. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

Above is pictured the new Folger coffee plant located at Houston, the first plant to be built by the company in Texas. The plant is new from the ground up—new building, new equipment and new employment for Texans. It has been judged the most modern coffee plant in America by general coffee authorities. Officials of the company declared the increasing popularity in Texas of Folger's made it necessary to build the plant, and while happy that Texas has shown such a preference for Folger's, they were also pleased that they can reciprocate in helping furnish employment to additional Texans besides those who are already associated with Folger's in sales activity throughout the state, as well as distribution of Folger's through various Texas warehouses.

Horned Frogs Book Only 9 Games for The 1939 Season

FORT WORTH.—An intersectional game with Temple University in Philadelphia, for the second consecutive year, a conference game in December, and an open date Oct. 28 are highlights of the 1939 football schedule for Texas Christian University, as announced today by Athletic Director Howard Grubbs. "We would still book a game for Oct. 28 if a suitable opponent could be found, but the chances are that the date will remain unfilled because almost all 1939 schedules are now completed," Grubbs says. Not since 1927 have the Frogs booked as few as nine football games as a season's work. In 1935 and 1936, with bowl games added, the schedules totaled 13 games. The 1939 bookings include all of the schools played this year, with the exception of Marquette. The complete 1939 grid schedule for the Frogs: Sept. 30—Centenary at Shreveport. Oct. 7—Arkansas at Fayetteville. Oct. 13—Temple at Philadelphia (Night). Oct. 21—Texas A. & M. at Fort Worth. Oct. 28—Open Date. Nov. 4U—Baylor at Waco. Nov. 11—Tulsa at Fort Worth. Nov. 18—Texas at Austin. Nov. 25—Rice at Fort Worth. Dec. 2—S. M. U. at Fort Worth.

Only 50 Million Dollars Is Needed For State in 1939

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. (U.P.) — Fifty million new tax dollars must be found in Texas during the coming year, if the legislature is to satisfy seekers of government manna who are demanding that "something be done" for their causes. The principal request is from the forces of the incoming governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, who campaigned on the pledge to provide $15 per month pension money to each citizen over 65 years of age, and hoped to match it with a similar amount from the federal government. The pension bill, if the plan is carried out, has been estimated as high as $35,000,000. Other requests send the total soaring.

They include an appropriation of at least $2,000,000 annually for the state's part of the teachers' retirement fund, $1,500,000 annually for assisting dependent children, $350,000 per year for aid to the blind, $2,000,000 more for the next biennium of eleemosynary institutions, and indefinite amounts for additional common school, college, and state advertising purposes.

Urges Revision of Wagner Act

Donald Richberg, former NRA administrator, pauses outside the White House after lunching with Mr. Roosevelt. Richberg urged the President to seek revision of the Wagner labor act to "bring in more mediation and co-operation" and end "industrial warfare."

STAMP NEWS

UNOFFICIAL advice from the Post Office Department at Washington, indicates that already the 1939 stamp program is shaping up with at least 16 issues definitely planned.

Heading the list will very likely come the "Famous Americans" set of perhaps 10 values. Final choice for this series will rest with the nation's No. 1 philatelist, the President, who is already said to be in favor of including Ralph Waldo Emerson for philosophy; Walt Whitman for poetry; Mark Twain for prose; Stephen Foster, representing American music; James Abbott McNeil Whistler for painting; August Saint Gaudens in the field of sculpture; Thomas Edison for invention; Horace Mann for education; Walter Reed for medicine, and Jane Addams for sociology.

Both the New York World's Fair and the San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition will be marked with at least one stamp for each event and likely the Pan-American Exposition at Tampa next year will be honored with one stamp. Its theme will be the 400th anniversary of the arrival of explorer Hernando de Soto. Three more Constitution commemoratives are planned, one recalling George Washington's inauguration, one memorializing the marking of the establishment of the United States Supreme Court. All of these events have their sesquicentennial in 1939.

At least one survey flight of the Atlantic Ocean to Europe is expected before the end of the year. Airmail may not be carried on this initial trip, but when trans-Atlantic service is finally established philatelists are going to experience exceptional opportunity to obtain covers. Eventually a vast network of airmail routes will be mapped out to Europe, Asia and Africa to connect with trans-Pacific service now operating with Latin-American routes. Watched over by a faithful police dog, the pajama-clad body of Mrs. Marian Nichols, above, presented a mystery to Evans-ton, Ill., police when they found it in the street four blocks from her home. Her husband, a research engineer, said she left home a half hour before to walk with the dog. Bruises indicated either the work of a hit-and-run driver, or some sort of attack.

Six Schools Tentatively Agree Upon District 3-AA Alignment for Next Year

Officials of six West Texas high schools—Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, San Angelo, Lamesa and Sweetwater—met in Big Spring last week and tentatively agreed upon a schedule for the 1939 season.

The meeting was characterized by bickering that at the end found officials of San Angelo notifying others that the Tom Green county school might ask for admittance into the district to the east, along with Abilene, Breckenridge, et al. Three of the schools completed district schedules, contingent upon San Angelo staying in the district. These failed to do so. Officials of Midland and Big Spring and Midland and Sweetwater agreed upon dates of their games next year but were unable to agree upon sites for the games. Midland officials demanded either Sweetwater or Big Spring play on the field here, officials of these two schools were equally adamant upon insisting the games be played on their home fields. The meeting was adjourned with an agreement of the principals to either agree upon a site for the games later on or to let committee members decide the question.

First thing on the program for the evening was a dinner, followed by election of officers to perfect the organization. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of the Big Spring schools, was elected permanent chairman, Ross S. Covey, superintendent of the Sweetwater schools, was elected vice-president, Chester H. Kenley, principal of San Angelo high school, was voted secretary-treasurer. The district will be officially known as district 3-AA.

Sale of Christmas Seal Sales Starts Here on Thursday

The stage is set for the opening on Thanksgiving Day of the 32nd annual Christmas Seal sale to raise funds for the fight against tuberculosis, according to Mrs. W. H. Sloan, chairman of the local committee. Making the Seal Sale a real community project, the committee has obtained the assistance of many organizations.

December 4, pastors in several churches will urge their congregations to aid in the fight against tuberculosis through their purchase and use of Christmas Seals.

Posters carrying a replica of the Seal and the message, "Protect Your Home from Tuberculosis," will be distributed by Mrs. A. M. East for display in prominent places about the city.

Theatre-goers will be invited to aid. Special moving pictures on tuberculosis will be shown frequently at the motion picture houses. Out-of-doors advertising will be obtained by poster panels to be placed at strategic points on the highway.

Facts about tuberculosis and the campaigns against it, financed by Christmas Seal funds, will be presented before various organizations by a speakers' bureau.

Conductor of Bridge School Arrives Here

W. F. (Rufus) Steele, who will conduct the bridge school to be sponsored by the Lions club here Nov. 28 to Dec. 2 inclusive, is in Midland this week and will answer inquiries of those interested in taking the series of lessons.

During the five days named, he will conduct classes both afternoon and evening in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer, the evening classes being repetitions of those in the afternoon. The nominal fee of two dollars for the course entitles the student to attend both day and night sessions for the five days if he wishes to do so, Mr. Steele said.

The public is invited to enroll for the school. Proceeds will go to the sight conservation and recreational programs of the Lions club.

Solvents Hurt Enamels.

Compact Refreshment Case.

Football addicts know it is important to have something hot to refresh the inner man (or woman) as the chill of late afternoon creeps into the bones, even if the home team is charging down to victory. Keep Costume Jewelry Attractive.

Costume jewelry being so important this season, a compact kit containing a fluid jewelry cleaner, brush, metal tray and tweezers, is handy to have in order to keep it always clean and bright. Simply brush the solution on the piece to be cleaned until it forms a lather; then wash in clear cold water and dry with a soft cloth. Or simply wash in warm suds, adding a little ammonia if you wish. Use a soft brush, taking care to go all over the piece, back and front, rinse in clear water and dry.

Rockefeller Estate Totals 26 Million

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP).—John D. Rockefeller, who died last year, left a net estate of $26,410,837, consisting principally of securities, a transfer tax appraisal filed today showed.

Virtually the entire estate was left in trust for his granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Strong DeCuevas, her two children and the Rockefeller institute for medical research.

The only other beneficiary was John D. Rockefeller Jr., who received personal household effects.

Airport Radio Man Flown to El Paso

Major Kirksey, flying an O-47, arrived from El Paso at 12:05 this afternoon and left on the return trip at 1:10 this afternoon, taking John G. Reeves, radio operator at Sloan Field, to an El Paso hospital. Mr. Reeves was suffering from chronic appendicitis and is expected to undergo an operation.

Three other landings were reported for the day. Aviation Cadet Mottsinger arrived from Dallas and went on to El Paso. He was flying a utility amphibian.

Capt. J. H. Pite arrived from El Paso, en route to Hensley Field, Dallas, in a BC-1.

Pilot Dunlop, flying an SLP, came from Hensley Field and went to El Paso.

Shearing Changes Character of Fur.

Not a new fur, but a new version of an old favorite, is sheared racoon. By a special treatment which leaves a rich, lustrous pile, the character of the pelt is changed from one of purely utilitarian uses to a lightweight flatterer fur equally suitable for sophisticated town of country wear. Undyed, sheared racoon is lively enough to be charming with black, yet soft enough to make an excellent foil for the season's high shades. Best of all, it is said to retain all of its long-wearing qualities.

Gorman 4-H Boy Wins Chicago Trip

Neil Eaves, 16, of Gorman is a delegate to the 17th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, as a result of an electrical survey made on his father's 20-acre farm. This all-expense trip is the state award in the third annual National Rural Electrification Contest, conducted through the state Extension office.

The Eaves farm is not now wired for electricity, but Neil feels that in his 4-H project work he could have used it to advantage. An electric grinder would have lessened feed cost and reduced labor; a milk cooler would increase dairy profit; an electric pump would furnish a better water supply for all animals; and tools used in crop cultivation could be kept in better repair with the use of an electric grinder.

He discussed the importance of electricity before his 4-H group; gave a talk on the value of electricity to a boys' 4-H Club; assisted the county agent in securing moving pictures on electrical appliances; helped in preparing footlights for a club drama; and attended community rural electrification meetings.

Neil has been in club work for three years. The Chicago trip is an award of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company which is also offering college scholarships of $400, $500, $200, and $100 to the highest ranking state winners. Hascocks Stores Conveniently.
