Expansion of Aged Benefits Asked by FDR

Urges Amendment of Present Social Security Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. (AP).—President Roosevelt recommended to congress today wide expansion of the social security act and warned against "turning to untried and demonstrably unsound panaceas."

Proposed expansion of the program included beginning old age benefits sooner and liberalizing them in early years, affording greater protection to dependent children; extending employment and old age protection as rapidly as possible to "all our people" and increasing in some instances federal grants-in-aid to states.

He also proposed the states receiving aid be required to institute merit systems for personnel agencies handling social security funds.

Dallas Newspaper Supports Shorter Route to El Paso

Editorial support of a highway connection between Midland and Odessa and Kermit, and thence to the intersection of U. S. highway 62 and State highway 5 in northwestern Culberson county, was given today by the Dallas News. Connections to Kermit from Midland and Odessa, now in final stages, were worked out through joint efforts of the three towns, as well as of Goldsmith, in line with ambitions of the State Highway Commission.

Following up this step in highway development to the west, the following editorial appeared in today's issue of The Dallas News:

It is in the interest of Dallas motorists and businessmen to support the West Texas plea for a new highway from Midland or Odessa through Kermit to the junction of U. S. Highway 62 and State Highway 5 in northwestern Culberson county. This would greatly reduce the highway distance between Dallas and El Paso and would be a convenience to those who visit Carlsbad Caverns, 60 per cent of whom are Texans.

Today the motorist from Dallas or Fort Worth or Abilene, all of which are north of El Paso, is forced to go fifty-five miles south of El Paso and then double back that far north. The angles of the road are so wide on the map that he may not realize how far out of his way he goes but the people of Ector, Winkler, Loving and Culberson counties are keenly aware of the need of a direct route, which would serve both local and interstate traffic.

Some years ago, Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene, then a member of the State Highway Commission, advocated building of this cutoff road, but the project was shelved for the time being after objections were made by those who did not wish to see traffic diverted from the roundabout route through Pecos and Van Horn. Since then, however, interstate travel has greatly increased and the need for the proposed road is more acute than ever.

The new route would still leave for Van Horn the heavy traffic between El Paso and San Antonio, Houston and New Orleans. Pecos would still be on the route between South Texas and Carlsbad. But motorists between El Paso and North Texas would save vast amounts annually in gasoline and incidentally would have a more scenic route that would take them near the state's highest mountains. The project deserves support from both ends of the state.

High School Girl Slain by Intruder in Milwaukee Home

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 16. (AP).—Ruth Scott, 16, high school student, was killed with an axe early today by an intruder who broke into her home and killed her after tying her arms together and partially stripping her of clothing.

The girl's body was found in her bedroom after her widowed mother, Mrs. James Scott, 37, had fought off an attempted attack by a man and aroused tenants living in the upstairs section of the house.

Detective Lieutenant James O'Gorman said the girl had not been criminally assaulted.

O'Gorman said two men acquainted with the family were being sought for questioning.

Noted Coloratura to Appear in Concert at School Tonight

Miss Alice Mock, young American coloratura soprano, member of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, will appear in concert this evening at eight o'clock at the high school auditorium.

She will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Shibley Boyes, gifted and talented pianist. Miss Mock and Miss Boyes have appeared a number of times together in concert, and radio program and in motion picture productions.

After her debut in Italy, Miss Mock made several operatic performances in this country, in such operas as "Carmen," "Lakme," "Rigoletto," "Faust," and "Lucia de Lammermoor."

In both concert and oratorio, Alice Mock's success has been equally great. She has appeared with the Harrisburg Mozart Festival, Evans-ton, Illinois Festival and the Carmel Bach Festival.

Her radio work is noteworthy. For four consecutive years she was soloist on the Household Hour with Edgar Guest, and for sixteen weeks she appeared on the Kraft Cheese program. She has appeared as guest artist on many other prominent programs. Here is a singer whose exquisite voice together with impeccable musicianship, sincerity and charming simplicity of manner, make her a joy and inspiration to all who hear her.

The music lovers of Midland are indeed privileged to hear these two fine artists and all are urged to attend.

The series is under the auspices of the senior class of the high school. Admission is fifty cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Loyalists in Flight After More Losses

Key City Captured By Insurgents in New Offensive

HENDAYE, France, Jan. 16. (AP).—The Spanish insurgent command today reported the capture of Cervera in a swift drive toward Barcelona. Cervera, important town of 4,000, lies within 50 miles of the government capital.

HENDAYE, France. (AP).—The Spanish frontiers, Jan. 16. (AP).—Spanish insurgents reported Sunday they had captured historic Tarragona, second city of Catalonia, in their swift drive toward Barcelona, the government capital.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's high command said Navarrese troops, veterans of almost every major action in the two-and-one-half-year-old civil war, entered the seaport shortly afternoon (6 a. m. CST.).

The government at first denied the fall of Tarragona, but later issued an official communique that "Spanish forces, obeying orders given by the high command withdrew to positions already chosen to the east of the Valls-Tarragona line."

Tarragona, from which vital communications road radiate inland from the coastal highway, is about 6 miles by road southwest of Barcelona.

The reported occupation gave Franco's forces virtually complete conquest of Tarragona and Lerida provinces, two of the richest in Spain.

Insurgents said that Reus, government munitions center about 9 miles from Tarragona, also had fallen to Franco's converging forces on the south of the 100-mile Catalonia front.

A third insurgent corps was reported to have driven south from Valls, reaching the Mediterranean near the mouth of the Goya River, on the highway to Barcelona.

The smashing success of the insurgent drive for a decisive victory, led by Franco himself, apparently had paralyzed the government.

All along the Catalonia front in northeastern Spain government forces were giving ground. In central and southwestern Spain, where the government had attempted to draw some of Franco's Catalonia manpower with counter-offensives, the fronts were stalemated.

Barcelona advised said the attempt to turn the tide of insurgent victories with a drive in Estremadura had been washed out only temporarily by heavy rains. But insurgent said reinforcements they had brought up definitely had ended any government threat in the southwest.

The offensive launched by the government in the Madrid sector apparently had been crushed against strong insurgent lines encircling the former capital. Barcelona was silent on General Jose Miaja's progress there.

Thus, on the third anniversary of the formation of the Spanish popular front, the government found itself in the gravest position in its history.

A ministerial decree (Saturday), making possible the mobilization of virtually every able-bodied Spaniard in government territory—man or woman—indicated the government's own appraisal of the dangers it faces.

A second insurgent army was within 40 miles of Barcelona, rapidly advancing eastward toward a junction with the southern forces in the Tarragona sector.

Beating a hasty retreat before waves of insurgent warplanes, tanks and infantry, Franco's commanders reported, the government dug in on the east bank of the Goya River to make another stand.

School Superintendent W. W. Lackey and football coach L. W. Taylor left at noon today for Big Spring where they attended a meeting of coaches and officials of district 3-A-A.

Officials of the Abilene high school are expected to announce entry of that school in the district, since they have indicated they preferred to compete against other schools of the district than in the Oil Belt, Interscholastic League of officials have given Abilene permission to enter district 3-A-A.

Coach Taylor is expected to schedule a game with Abilene for this fall while in Big Spring today. It is expected the game will be played in Abilene since three of the other conference schools are scheduled to play here. However, it may be necessary to alter the conference schedule as it now stands.

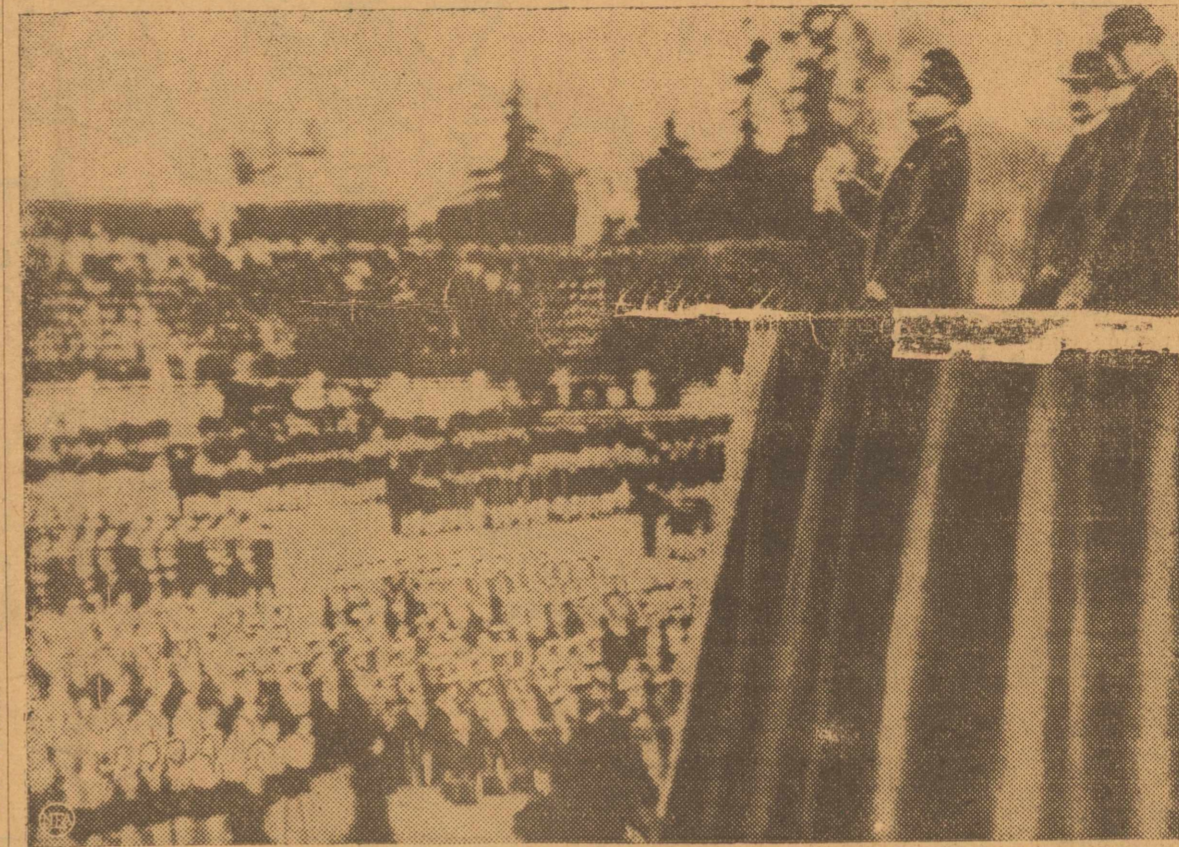

Other schools in the district are Big Spring, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Odessa and Lamesa.

Stern Note Given To Japanese From British Leaders

LONDON, Jan. 16. (AP).—Great Britain in a stern note to Japan published Sunday rejected any change in the status of China brought about by force.

The government in effect aligned itself with the policy of the United States government.

The note was handed to the Japanese government yesterday by Sir Robert L. Craigie, British ambassador to Tokyo.

In the most forceful language Britain has used since the undeclared Chinese-Japanese war started, the communication declared:

"His majesty's government are at a loss to understand how (former Japanese premier) Prince Kono's assurance that Japan seeks no territory, and respects the sovereignty of China, can be reconciled with the declared intention of the Japanese government to compel the Chinese people by force of arms to accept conditions involving surrender of their political, economic and cultural life to Japanese control, indefinite maintenance in China of considerable Japanese garrisons and virtual detachment from China of territory of inner Mongolia.

"For their part, his majesty's government desire to make it clear that they are not prepared to accept or to recognize changes of the nature indicated which are brought about by force.

"They intend to adhere to the principles of the nine-power treaty and cannot agree to unilateral modifications of its terms."

Britain voiced "grave anxiety" over Japan's new policy. The note declared "his majesty's government infer that it is the intention of the Japanese government to establish a tripartite combination or bloc composed of Japan, China, and Manchuria in which supreme authority and was an able public speaker handling the organization work in many West Texas counties. Funeral Today in Nolan County For H. E. Lewellen, Crash Victim

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon, at the Shepp community in Nolan county, for H. E. Lewellen, 61, Midland cattle commission man whose death occurred early Sunday when his automobile was struck by a hill-and-rain driver on the highway a mile east of Warfield.

Rick Lewellen, son of the deceased, was driving, as they were returning here from Odessa. He stated that a westbound automobile pulled out around two cars, meeting the Lewellen machine which was unable to get out of its path. The Lewellen car was side-swiped, causing it to be overturned several times in the barrow ditch.

Both men were thrown from the car. Mr. Lewellen being killed almost instantly and his son escaping with bruises, none believed to be serious. Treated at a local hospital, Rick Lewellen was able to be out a few hours later.

Officers began at once in an effort to apprehend the driver of the westbound car which caused the wreck but had been unable to establish any identification today. A Plymouth hub cap, found nearby, was the only clue.

H. E. Lewellen, who moved here with his family seven years ago from Sweetwater, was widely known among ranchmen and had a clientele of buyers from several states. He was regarded as a local judge of cattle and had many orders from buyers who left the selection and price to his discretion.

He formerly engaged in the polo pony business, while living at Sweetwater, and handled several lots when he first moved to Midland. He was an excellent horseman himself and a recognized judge of horsethief.

While living at Shepp, in Nolan county, he had served for many years as a school trustee. He at one time was connected with the Farm Bureau Federation, as organizer, and was an able public speaker handling the organization work in many West Texas counties. He was a member of the Hilton Masonic lodge.

He was one of the founders of the Nolan County Fair at Sweetwater and was responsible for exhibits of both livestock and agricultural projects which annually were viewed by spectators from several counties.

O'Daniel to Lead Record 'Community Sing' at Inaugural Ceremony Tuesday

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—The largest "community sing" in the history of Texas will pay tribute to W. Lee O'Daniel, governor-elect.

Part of the pageant immediately preceding the oath-taking ceremony in the University of Texas Memorial Stadium will be a mass chorus of 10,000 high school voices, Miss Nell Parmlee, music supervisor of the State Department of Education, said today.

At the conclusion of the inauguration, Governor O'Daniel will lead the entire audience and 60 high school, college and military bands in his own composition, "Beautiful Texas."

Probably most notable among the school choruses, according to Miss Parmlee, will be the delegation from the Texas State School for the Blind in Austin—50 youngsters

O'Daniel to Take Office Tomorrow

Football Stadium Will Be Scene of Big Ceremonies

AUSTIN, Jan. 16. (AP).—Austin was ablaze with color, flags and bunting today in anticipation tomorrow of the inauguration of W. Lee O'Daniel of Fort Worth as governor of the state.

The mammoth University of Texas football stadium, where the ceremony will be held tomorrow, was transformed into an amphitheater of pageantry.

A huge stage had been erected at the open end of the stadium and on it the 48-year-old business man will take the oath of office.

O'Daniel, accompanied by Mrs. O'Daniel and daughter Molly, left his Fort Worth home early today for the capital.

More than 100,000 are expected for the ceremonies. Probable rain was the weather forecast.

Governor Allred today held his last formal press conference. "It isn't a very happy occasion," he said, "I'm going to miss these conferences."

The 48-year-old Fort Worth flour salesman, indebted in the main to farmers, laborers and small business men for his startling election triumph last summer, has emphasized he wants the inauguration to be a plain people's celebration. Instead of a tuxedo he will wear a business suit at the six receptions and dances Tuesday night.

While the hillbilly band, which played such an important role in the gubernatorial campaign, will be the center of attraction it will by no means be the only purveyor of music. Scores of college, high school, military, American Legion, and municipal bands will add entertainment and color to the occasion.

The inauguration of O'Daniel is not the only one scheduled for Tuesday noon. Coke Stevenson of Junction, the only man in recent history to serve two terms as speaker of the house, will be sworn in as lieutenant governor, succeeding Walter F. Woodull of Houston. There will be brief talks by retiring Governor James V. Allred, Stevenson and Woodull and a slightly longer one by O'Daniel.

O'Daniel's "honeymoon" as governor will be exceedingly short. Pledged to considerably greater age pension expenditures, he faces the task of getting a speedy appropriation from the legislature in order to keep the rolls at their present level after next month.

Controversy concerning the extent to which pension should be liberalized and the method financing to be adopted seem likely to break out in the legislature before the end of the month.

A Golden Rule for South American Trade?

An American business man, one of the leaders in the effort to hold United States trade with South America, advances an ingenious suggestion. It would seem to merit the attention of those interested in the return of prosperity.

Here's the idea: South American countries don't buy nearly as much American goods as they might, simply because they haven't enough American dollars to trade with. And that is because we haven't been buying enough South American goods to furnish them the dollars.

Now this situation dovetails nicely with another situation we already have in the United States, this business executive points out. We have nearly two-thirds of the world's gold, most of it buried under the ground at Ft. Knox and other places. We are getting more all the time. In fact there is danger that we will get so much that the rest of the world will stop using it for money at all. Then we would be holding not only the gold, but the bag.

Suppose that American treasury experts figured out how much of that gold we can conceivably use as monetary backing and for adjustments we may want to make in the international money market (stabilization fund, etc.). There would still be a great store of gold left over.

Very well. Is there no better use for this surplus gold than to bury it in the ground? Yes, we suggest this business man.

Why not take it, and buy with it, in friendly countries, surplus stocks of certain raw materials which are necessary war sinews, and which, not entering competitive trade at all, could be stocked as national assets just as the gold is stocked today? All materials either not produced, or at least not adequately produced in the United States. Examples: tin, manganese, chromium, vanadium, nickel, wolfram, tungsten, mica, mercury, quartz, crystal, asbestos.

We buy these for gold from countries which itch to export the raw materials and desperately need gold to steady their monetary systems. There are many such countries in South America, countries with which we seek friendship and increased trade. Much of the gold would find its way back to the United States to buy American goods. The rest would serve to spread gold backing in many countries which desperately need it, and by tending to bring the world back to a gold system, would also tend to make all the more stable and valuable our own gold.

The United States loses nothing of value, gets precious raw materials against an emergency, serves to protect its remaining gold. The other countries export their raw materials, get needed gold. Trade is encouraged. Everybody is happy.

While the business man advancing the suggestion is primarily interested in getting American dollars into the South American countries so he can sell American goods for them, his suggestion is so simple and so apparently practical that it at least seems worthy of consideration.

Anything Going to Be Cut Besides Expenses?

President. Here they are:

1933-34	$ 540,256,000
1934-35	709,831,000
1935-36	921,684,000
1936-37	935,114,000
1937-38	1,027,841,000
1938-39	1,119,810,000
1939-40	1,688,283,000
Total	$6,933,019,000

Here they are by years:

1933-34	$ 6,553,000
1934-35	176,336,000
1935-36	147,246,000
1936-37	79,604,000
1937-38	53,735,000
1938-39	77,904,000
1939-40	50,726,000
Total	$645,313,000

The last figure for 1939-40 is of course the President's estimate and includes $500,000,000 which he proposes to outline and ask next week.

Glance at the column of figures and see how each year the amount has increased. In 1937-38 it was twice what was spent in the first year of the administration. Now in 1939-40 the sum proposed is three times what was spent in 1933-34. The whole total is a huge sum—nearly seven billion dollars.

RELIEF AND RECOVERY ALLOCATIONS

In arriving at these figures which are taken from the Treasury reports, I have included the sums which have been spent from the recovery and relief funds. Each year the President has spent not merely the sums appropriated by Congress for national defense, but also many millions which he has allocated from recovery and relief funds. The amounts are very great.

About these allocations, two very significant features appear. First of all these are sums not appropriated by Congress, but appropriated by the President himself. Thus in 1935 Congress appropriated $333,596,000 for national defense. But Congress has been turning over to the President billions each year to spend as he likes. And in 1935 he appropriated another $176,000,000 for national defense.

MUCH OF THE MONEY BORROWED

Second, the money appropriated by Congress in each year was spent out of tax moneys. But the money appropriated by the President was spent out of borrowed funds. So we have actually in the last seven years spent $645,000,000 on national defense which was never collected in taxes and which we still owe. The practice of using borrowed funds from the relief appropriations for army and navy purposes ought to be stopped. Whatever we spend on national defense ought to be paid for in cash on the line as we go.

The Capitol Jigsaw

By Howard Marshall
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUS (AP) — The "snowbirds" are making their annual migration to Texas and as usual are creating a problem for officials of Texas cities.

They are vagrants who normally spend the warm months in the cities of the north and move south when winter sets in.

As it always does, the state capital has received its full share of crippled beggars, panhandlers, moochers, hoboes and so on, and the police have been forced to take a hand.

First a warning was issued that vagrants must be on their way and the next day arrests were started. Twenty-four hours in jail on a diet of bread and water and a specific order to leave town were meted out to undesirables in efforts to clear the city.

In general, other Texas cities cope with the problem in the same way. The idea is to keep the transient gentry moving.

At The Library

The ninth collection of International Mind Above Books, sent out by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, has just been received at the library. Miss Amy Hemingway Jones, Division Assistant says: "... In spite of the serious crises we have been facing and to my mind are still facing, the books this time do not deal with serious problems with the exception of:

THE FEDERALIST — Hamilton, Jay and Madison: At this time when democracy is being tested as never before, it is of special significance and help to have once again set before us the fundamental principles upon which our government was established. Anyone who reads the clear introduction by Professor Earle will go on to read more to find out what was being said "in support of the Constitution agreed upon, September 17, 1787, by the Federal Convention." That document may be studied with profit at a time when the general welfare and the blessings of liberty are hourly in jeopardy throughout the world.

EUROPEAN SUMMER — Emma G. Oterre: This book was chosen at a time when the idea was still prevalent that happy carefree travel was part of the every day existence of those who had the good fortune to cross the Atlantic to visit not only great centers of culture and tradition, but also out of the way corners of Europe. That idea no longer prevails. The world has just escaped the immediate scourge of unprecedented suffering and tragedy. Many of the places so lightly touched upon in the pages of this book are subject of serious consideration of the nations of Europe and of our own as well. It may, however, be helpful to regain something of the old spirit through contact with this book and to reflect upon the events which have caused the destruction of so much that was natural and spontaneous and joyous.

THE ROCKY ROAD TO DUBLIN — Seumas Macmanus: For a personal intimate portrayal of life in Ireland as experienced by a native country boy, I can recommend no more charming book than this. It makes no pretense of dealing with the grave problems of political Ireland—or the State of Eire as it is now officially called—nor does it make any claim of giving advice on the economic and religious situation. It offers frankly an escape from serious questions and allows the reader to wander through an Ireland of laughter and pathos and warm human contacts. In its own field it contributes vitally to better international understanding.

WEST INDIAN ODYSSEY — Charles B. Farmer: These pages take the reader for a complete swing through the Caribbean Sea "into strange civilizations—from the primitive to the most urban—under the flags of six different nations." The photographs, the light-hearted recollections and the concise summary of reliable facts at the head of each chapter offer a delightful opportunity for armchair travel at its best. To this country went the author and his wife and as a consequence wrote this book and filled it with really lovely photographs of unusual scenes taken by themselves. On the very first page of the first chapter our interest is aroused by the hint as to why such a title was chosen for a book on Guatemala. We want to learn more about the drums and about the people and

1. The administration of the law with respect to regulation of railroad, express, dock, wharf and terminal companies, also interurban railways carrying freight.

2. Its duties in this respect are specific in many instances, and in addition thereto there is a general provision of the statutes placing upon it the responsibility of enforcing all laws pertaining to the operation of railroad and express companies.

3. The administration of the law regulating motor and bus and motor truck transportation over the highways for compensation and hire in Texas.

4. The administration of the law regulating common carrier pipe lines for the transportation of oil and gas.

Gov. Allred always has spoken in terms of praise of former Senator Frank Rawlings of Ft. Worth, who championed the opposition to repeal the race betting law.

"He was and is a very able man," Gov. Allred said recently of Rawlings. "Anything he said he would do he could be depended on to do."

The name "railroad commission," says Ernest O. Thompson, member of that department of the state government, is a misnomer.

Originally created to regulate the railroads and especially railroad rates, the commission, of which John H. Regan was the first chairman, has had its duties enlarged until its regulation of railroads is one of its less important tasks.

In an address on the occasion of the automatic passing of the commission chairmanship from Thompson to Lon A. Smith, Thompson said that court decisions had taken away from "the sovereign states" almost all of their former rate-making

The Town Quack

They decided that at first it was the fair's fault, next it was Billy's and finally it was the saddle maker's. But he got it in time for the 1939 rodeo.

I was glad to see the fair stockholders set the dates for the next show. It takes a good many months of preparation to put on a rodeo and not have to take the loadings of talent, livestock and added attractions. Starting now, the Midland Rodeo should be able to book the best entertainment in the arena world, get the best contestants, officials and livestock. Not that we haven't had about the best right along.

Bill Wyche, who had a saddle stolen out of the back of his car Saturday night, would like to communicate with the thief. He feels that anybody with a saddle needs a horse, and he would just as soon get the horse trading business as to see it go to the next fellow.

Frank Williamson had a pair of spurs swiped out of his car a while back, and didn't even get a chance to throw in a pair of boots, as the thief left no forwarding address. However, a friend of his later bought the spurs, so Frank may be able to buy them back if his heels get to itching for that particular pair.

The saddle was the old one belonging to Billy Wyche Jr., who won a new one in the junior roping at the rodeo last fall. The new saddle had just been received, and the reason it didn't get swiped too was that Billy had it in bed with him. Roy Parks and Billy had a conversation the other day about why the prize saddle was so long coming.

Record Number Toys Repaired and Given Away by Boy Scouts

Troop 54, Boy Scouts, in a check-up of the toy repair program for Christmas found, that the scouts had collected, repaired and delivered 1,440 toys to the needy children of the community for Christmas. The repairing took all of the first three weeks of December and the work was done in the troop's crafts' shop in the scout building. In addition to the above number, 200 toys were donated by clubs and individuals and needed no repairing and approximately 150 toys were furnished to churches, clubs and individuals who were furnishing baskets of food to needy families.

The scouts are assisted in this project each year by the Lions Club, which furnishes the materials necessary to make the toys as good as new. The toys are repaired by the scouts in their own shop which is maintained by the troop with each scout contributing a small amount for operation of the shop.

Remodeling Front Of Store Building

Remodeling of the front of the Everybody's Store building was started this morning, the First National Bank having bought the property several months ago, making possible the erection of the eight story office building across the west portions of it and the bank property.

Modern stucco and glass front will be installed, removing the old awning. The work will be completed in a few weeks, it was expected. Interior remodeling of the two story structure is contemplated in the near future, bank officials said.

White Sales Make These Red-Letter Days for the Thrifty Home Maker

(From Lord & Taylor, New York.)

January and February... white months... months of white snow and ice and White Sales. If your supply of household linens has run pretty low, the array of snowy sheets, pillow cases and towels shown in this white sleigh should inspire you to investigate current White Sales right away.

CAN STOCK UP AT LOW COST

BY MARIAN YOUNG, NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK. — In spite of all that's said about post-holiday depressive states and mid-winter doldrums, January and February are pretty good months after all. From the homemaker's viewpoint at least, it's wonderful to be able to refurbish the linen closet with fine linens at prices she can well afford to pay.

Featured in this winter's White Sales are lovely peasant linen cloths for bridge, informal luncheon and supper tables. It's smart to put pottery dishes and Mexican glasses on a cream or tan cloth with gay, colorful borders. Try using a creamy yellow cloth with orange, green and brown border stripes under pale green Mexican glassware and creamy yellow or soft green pottery dishes.

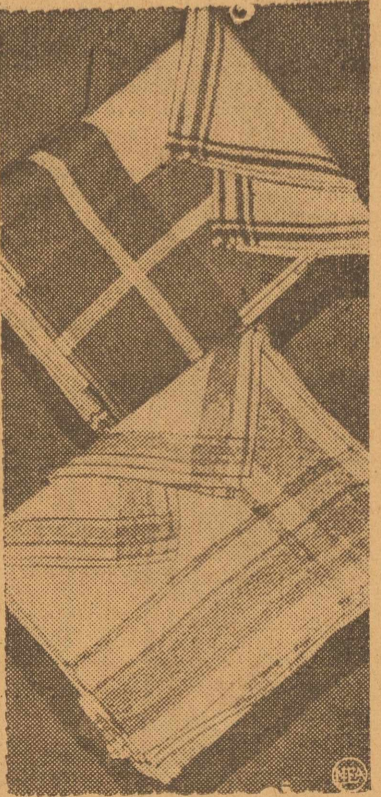

MANY attractive sheets and pillow cases (white is more popular than pastel shades) are dressed up with gay monograms in green, peach, blue, old rose, navy blue and burgundy. It's chic to have one gigantic initial on the top sheet and a matching one on a plain silk bedspread. Speaking of bedspreads—usually called blanket covers these days—look at de luxe silk and satin ones with lace inserts, as well as plain, ally, solid color chenille spreads are considered smarter than those combining two or more shades.

Also included in mid-winter White Sales are warm but lightweight hemstitched silk, satin and cotton varieties with simple though large monograms. New in chenille spreads are those with the tufting in wavy instead of straight lines. Incident—blankets in beautiful dusty pastels with matching satin or taffeta borders. And you needn't fear that the blankets will overwear the sumptuous bindings keep you from buying truly beautiful blankets. It's possible to get satin and taffeta blanket binding by the yard, simple to sew it on.

IN addition to fine, sturdy percale sheets and pillowcases for the bedrooms and new table linens, there are inspiring arrays of bath-towel, mats and rugs at new-worthy prices. Soft, dusty pastel towels are more in demand than the dark browns, navy blue, burgundy and scarlets of past seasons. Delit blue and creamy, lemon yellows also are popular.

Plain white towels with colored borders and one large initial to match the border are a good choice. A large, pure white bath towel has a narrow black border and a black initial that is half the length of the towel itself. There are wash cloths, bath mats and face towels to match of course.

Peasant table linens are smarter than ever. These two luncheon cloths—one cream with red borders, the other tan with brown and orange stripes—are lovely on informal luncheon tables.

FEMININE FANCIES

By Kathleen Eiland

The wife of the proprietor of a drug store tells us that she sold more stationery at Christmas time this year than in a long time. Now that is interesting. Wonder what it means—more leisure to do writing, a trend toward renewal of the more intimate friendly relations of life, or simply that the once-favored gift, a box of writing paper, is coming back into favor?

Rather pleasant to explore the possibilities and probabilities of such a seemingly trivial fact as that people are buying more stationery these days.

And speaking of paper—it seems that our devotion to plain white stationery sans any edgings or decorations whatever is just old-fashioned. The thing to buy these days, we are assured, is paper with color—colored borders or better still, plaids. Yes, plaids, bright red ones, for instance.

Well, we always thought we'd be adaptable enough to keep in step with the times but for once we'll have to admit we aren't. Borders on our stationery will permit, though grudgingly. But far be it from us to strain anybody's eyes by forcing them to decipher our lamentably poor handwriting against a background of red plaid! Or blue plaid! Or any kind of plaid whatever.

Attending sales must be the favorite indoor sport of the average American woman. She goes, she jostles and is jostled, she hunts through mountainous piles of merchandise for the piece she wants, she waits weary minutes, while her feet ache increasingly and her bundles grow heavier, for a clerk to wait upon her, she goes home at the end of the day a wreck physically but mentally at peace with the world.

Why? Because she has saved a few cents, even a couple of dollars if she's lucky. It's the breath of life.

With Home Demonstration Clubs

Mrs. J. D. Bartlett of the Valley View home demonstration club has a frame garden now in production. She has spinach, turnip greens, and lettuce now ready to eat. In addition, she has choice quality beets and carrots about three inches high.

Because of the success of our frame garden last year and this winter, we plan to make another," Mrs. Bartlett said. "In spite of our surprise at the ice over their thin canvas covering during a recent cold spell, none of the five varieties of food just up was hurt."

Frame gardens are to supply the vegetable part of a balanced diet, especially those foods which tend to prevent pellagra, and will be featured as part of this year's work in home demonstration clubs, according to Miss Alpha Lynn, Midland county home demonstration agent. The frame garden furnishes the opportunity for a year-around garden.

Such gardens are being made this month as demonstrations in all seven of the girls' 4-H clubs in the county, she said. Also, numerous women are reconstructing gardens this year on the basis of results obtained last year.

At the homes of Bonnell Brunson of Valley View, Sylvia King of Cotton Flat, Rosa Lee Hart of Prairie Lee (Junior club), and Pearl Wilson of Warfield, frame gardens will be planted as demonstrations with all club members present, Miss Lynn said. These projects of the 4-H girls are expected to plant this week.

Take Calotabs to Help Nature Throw off Colds

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed. How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleaning the intestinal tract of any virus-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which may be needed in the treatment of colds. Calotabs are quite economical, only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package—(adv.)

14 ENTRIES FILED FOR GOLDEN GLOVES

Record Field of 40 or More Boys Expected to File

If enthusiasm of contestants means anything, the Reporter-Telegram-Golden Gloves tournament here can already be counted a success. The boys are willing—it only remains to sell the people on the idea—and that apparently is going to be easy.

Because of the high school basketball team having scheduled a game here Friday night against the Odesa team, it has been found necessary to schedule the second night of the fight for the night of January 23. First night's fights will be held Thursday.

A total of 14 boys had entered the tournament at nine o'clock this morning and several other entries were expected to be filed during the day. At least 40 contestants are expected to file for the tournament before the deadline Thursday at noon.

Several of the boys who have entered will start working out this afternoon with Bob Royal at the old north ward school building in an effort to get in fair condition for the opening fights.

Boys that participate in the city-county tournament here will probably be in as good shape as the majority of the boys that enter the district tournaments in Big Spring, and few will have to concede the boys at the district tournament anything.

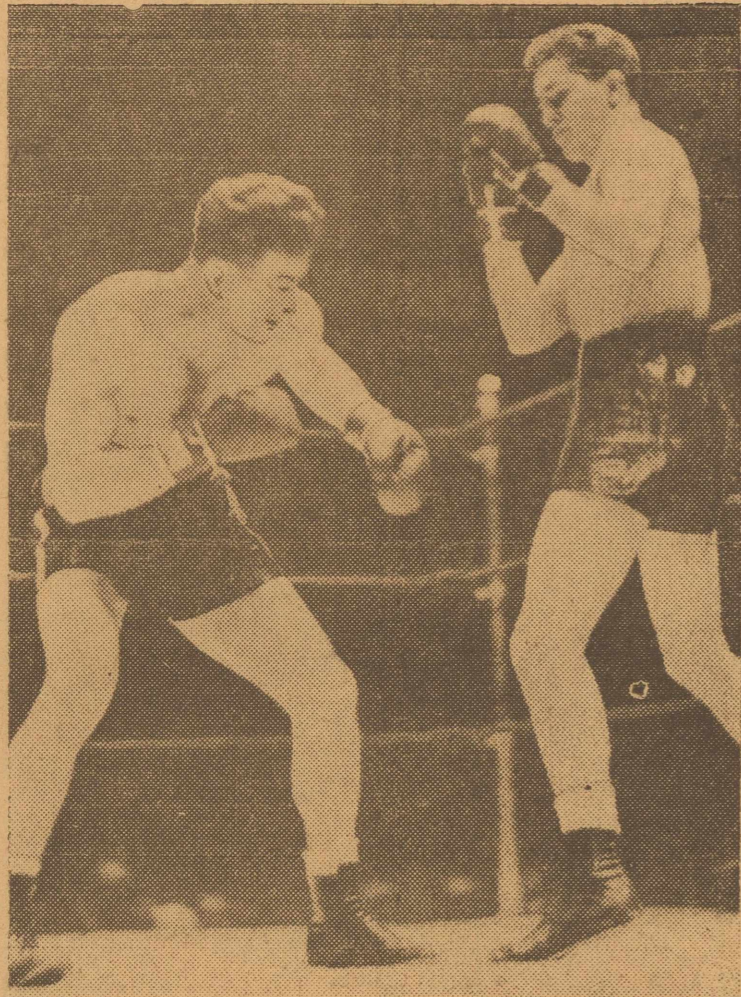

A very few of the boys who have entered declared they had no expectations of winning championships here but were determined to get all the experience possible before tournament time next year. Others who have entered the tournament here have announced they were looking forward to a trip to Fort Worth—the trip being offered winners in the district tournament.

Boys desiring to enter the tournament are advised to clip out the entry blank to be found elsewhere on this page, mailing or bringing it to the Golden Gloves Editor, Reporter-Telegram. All entries must be in by Thursday at noon.

Entries have been received in all eight divisions except two, with the welterweight class attracting the most candidates at the present time. Most of the entrants are high school boys, many of them ex-football luminaries during the past season.

The fact the boys are good friends won't make any difference once they get into the ring. All will be after the medal that goes to the winner—along with a trip to the district tournament. If successful there, the boys will be taken to Fort Worth to the state tournament.

League Leading Bulldogs Meet Texas Tonight

Two basketball games, one of them affecting one of the league's leading clubs, will be played at the high school gymnasium tonight by Industrial League clubs.

In the first game of the evening, the Service Drug and Atlantic five, each winner of one of the two games played by them to date, will clash. The second game of the evening will find the league leading high school team pitted against the twice defeated Texas company club.

The high school team, highest scoring aggregation in the league, should have no trouble in coming through with a third straight win. The Texas company, while showing improvement in the last game, is not expected to prove a severe test for the high-flying Bulldogs.

In Raymond Gee, the Bulldogs boast the leading scorer in the league and also have another player, Charlie Dodson, among the top 10 scorers of the league. In two league games to date, the Bulldogs have scored 53 points while allowing the opposition only 30 points. The Texas company, meanwhile, has scored only 35 points while giving up 53.

The Atlantic club, after looking good in the season's opener against the Texas company team, showed a complete reversal of form last week against the high school team, and will be the underdogs against the Service Drug company team tonight. The druggists seem to have developed a fair offense through recent practice sessions and will be tougher to beat as the season goes on.

The first game will start at 7 o'clock, with the second following as soon as the first game is played. Admission will be 25 and 10 cents.

All men or boys over 16 years of age who have never fought for money are eligible to enter. There is no possibility of the amateur standing of any boy to be jeopardized, thereby eliminating him from school athletic activities.

First entries to file for the tournament were Noble Van Dyke and Trueman Whittaker, a couple of regulars on the Midland high football team during the past season. Both entered the middleweight division, Whittaker coming in at 162 pounds and Van Dyke 160. Several other boys are expected to enter in the middleweight division, making it the most attractive of the tournament.

Eugene Richman and Ernest Richman are the two light heavies entered. Neither has had tournament experience, but both are as rough and tough as they come.

In the welterweight class, Joe Whittaker, Lloyd Pittman, Buddy Hewett and Thomas "Fats" Wright have filed entries. All disclaim any experience but admit a liking for the game that bodes evil for each other.

Lomer Green, Thomas McMullen and Kenneth Wheeler have filed entries in the lightweight division. All are high school boys.

In the featherweight class, Charles Sapp, high school boy, and Theron (Arkansas) Ruple, Reporter-Telegram pressman, have filed entries. Neither has had tournament experience but gloves will be no novelty for either. Ruple, a left-hander, will enter as one of the favorites in his division if he can get into anything resembling his fighting condition of three or four years back.

The only entrant in the bantamweight class is Johnny Pickering, a 118-pounder who was the class in his weight at the Fort Worth YMCA one year ago.

A Southwest Conference basketball game January 24 at Fort Worth, Houston sports writers are arranging an all-star basketball game between Rice Institute and former Southwest Conference stars in February; Doyle Vinson, of the Children's Index, is staging a Golden Gloves boxing tournament Feb. 6; and R. tutions and makes a monthly study. Although there was a slight rise in foreclosures during November as compared with October—7.3 per cent—all other indices pointed toward the conclusion that borrowers increasingly are better able to keep up their payments on home mortgages, according to the statement of Chief of the Board's Division of Research and Statistics.

November was the third lowest month of 1938 in the number of foreclosures and stood nearly 15 per cent below November last year. "There were 21 states and the District of Columbia reporting declines in foreclosures from October aggregating 825 cases," said Mr. Forgy's statement. "Twenty-four states reported increases totaling 1,257; and three states reported no change. Thus, for the country as a whole, there was a net increase of 432 cases."

There were 35 states reporting fewer foreclosures this November than during the same month of last year, the declines ranging from 62.6 per cent to 4.9 per cent. Of the 12 Federal Home Loan Bank districts, only the New York district registered an increase for this period—24.2 per cent.

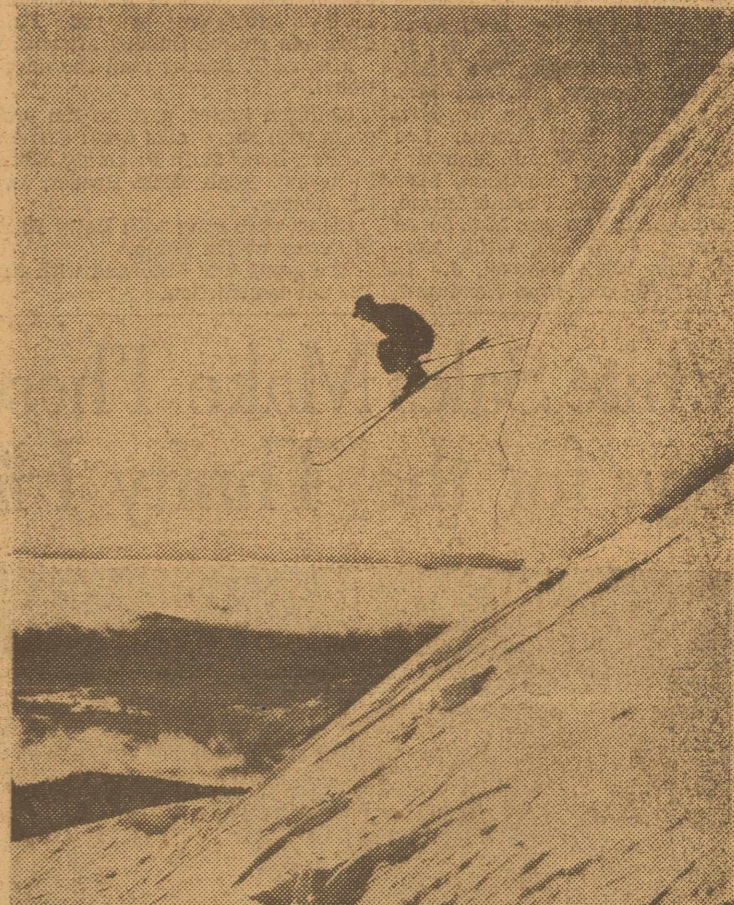

"Despite its rise over October November was nearly 15 per cent under the corresponding month of the preceding year, was the third lowest month for 1938, and stood below the average month of 1932." Regarding the 11-month period in the comparative years, Mr. Forgy reported: "With only seven states, Maine, Vermont, New York, New Mexico, Oregon, Wyoming and Nevada, reporting more foreclosures in the first 11 months of 1938 than in the same period of 1937, it appears that the non-farm real estate foreclosure records will show the current year (1939) about 22 per cent below 1937 which, in turn, was 18 per cent below 1936."

NEW SECTION OF GIRLS CHORAL FORMED.
An additional section of the girls' choral club has been created for those whose schedules will not permit them to practice during the regular period. This new period is to be from 8:00 to 8:30 a. m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Fridays. These girls will sing the same songs as the original club and will actually be a part of it. Those who have signed up already are:
Doris Lynn Pemberton, Jo Ann Proctor, Christine Johnson, Marilyn Skidwell, Lady Rankin, Eula Ann Teibert, Louise Bryan, Margaret Erwin.

NEW STUDENT
Mary Lou Whittaker, a junior who has recently moved here from Jacksboro, stated that everyone here had been very nice in helping her with entirely new books.

The Jacksboro High School has about the same number of students enrolled as Midland High School; however, they only have 14 teachers and the classes are larger.

The students had assembly once a week and this consisted of one of the classes in a play.

An outstanding difference between the two schools is the fact that Jacksboro High has no demerits. They go to school at nine o'clock and are dismissed at four.

NEW STUDENT
Marilyn Holle, sophomore who moved here recently from Wink, has been greatly honored in her old school. The Wink graduating class of 1936-37 presented a trophy to the Wink High School. On this scholarship trophy is to be engraved the name of the boy and girl who have the best average each year. This is to be done for the next ten years. Marilyn's name is to be inscribed this year for the highest average of all the girls in the Wink High School. Her averages were 95.375 and Mr. Lipscomb, principal, highly recommends her to us.

In the same letter a word of thanks was given for the hospitality shown the Wink student body and fans at the ball game last Friday.

Troops in Palestine To Kill Dog Hordes

JERUSALEM (U.P.) — Steps to destroy all village dogs throughout Arab Palestine in an effort to prevent a serious outbreak of rabies from becoming an epidemic are now being taken by the authorities. The removal of the dogs would at the same time greatly facilitate military operations at night, which have frequently been futile because the village dogs have given the alarm, thus permitting the rebels to escape.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Beautiful Birds But They Can't Sing

SCIENTISTS, returning from exploration in the wilds of New Guinea, invariably agree that the bird of paradise is the most beautiful in the world.

At mating time, the bird of paradise stages its greatest show, a riot of color to outdo technicolor. But it is a highly exclusive show and has rarely been photographed and only with partial success.

For the birds are found only in the depths of the New Guinea jungles. They are difficult to approach. When mating, as many as 20 males will gather for a "sacaled" or dancing party. It begins with a great quivering of wings and loud cries. Then the wings are suddenly raised in a gorgeous cascade over the body.

The bird holds this resplendent position often for 20 seconds. Next, each bird leaps along his branch in a sort of ecstatic frenzy. Finally, the cascade is lowered and the bird is quiet again.

A beautiful sight but not suitable for sound reproduction! For the bird of paradise has anything but a good voice. Some scientists have compared it to the raucous squawk of an old automobile horn.

It is a voice distinctly incongruous with the beauty of the bird. Shown here on a 1928 stamp of New Guinea is the bird of paradise.

Motorist Thinks Fast, Stops Runaway Trolley

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (U.P.) — Douglas Brill was driving home early one morning when he saw a trolley moving slowly downhill without any operator or passengers. He drove swiftly into the path of the trolley, slowed his machine so that the trolley gradually gained on him while he drove along the tracks, and then when it touched his front bumper—he was driving backwards—he slammed on his brakes, stopping the runaway. "Thanks," said the motorman, who was changing poles when the trolley ran away from him.

Dictators ARE NOT WHOLE SHOW IN S. A.

This is the third of a series of four articles on South America. By WILLIS THORNTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent ple are so strong that even dictators must swim with the tide. This pressure may already have turned the tide against Fascist influence. For the first time an elected leftist government has been allowed to take office.

Victor Haya de la Torre, the will of the wisp Peru, is a fugitive in his native land, but nevertheless a leader followed by thousands all over South America in a native radical movement which exerts great influence.

Pedro Aguirre Cerda, Chile's new president, takes office by virtue of a coalition of leftist elements joined even by the Chilean Nazis, so complete was the reaction against recent rightist governments.
