The Wolf and the Shepherd

Once there was a little boy whose job it was to watch sheep.

It was arranged that, should a wolf attack his sheep, the boy would cry "Wolf! Wolf!" Then the villagers would all come a-pelting to protect both sheep and boy.

The boy tried it out, though there wasn't any wolf. The villagers came a-running, puffing and steaming. And the boy laughed.

He tried it again. It was awfully funny. But the villagers began to be a little annoyed.

Next day a real wolf attacked the sheep. "Wolf! Wolf!" cried the boy in terror.

But the villagers yawned. "Confound that shepherd kid," they said. "He's hollering 'wolf' again. We should go running up the hill on a hot day like this!"

"Pass the beer, Julius!"

And so the boy had to fight it out with the wolf all by himself, losing 13 sheep and sustaining contusions, lacerations and abrasions about the head and body.

For nearly 20 years now, there have been cries of "Wolf!" coming across the Atlantic from the eastward. Some of them seem to have little behind them but vocal exercise. Others have had an anguished tone which showed that if the wolf wasn't actually among the sheep, he had been seen prowling perilously close.

Since 1933, those cries have been louder and more insistent, and last year they reached a hysterical pitch which, by some trick of acoustics, seemed to be even louder on the American side of the Atlantic than even in the sheepfold itself.

Perhaps some sort of amplifier was being used. Anyway, the uproar among the distant villagers was really louder than it was among the shepherds.

Such cries are now being heard again. Shepherd France is crying that Wolf Mussolini is trying to steal some African sheep, and that Wolf Hitler is going to grab off some choice merinos in the Holland and Switzerland end of the corral.

But the villagers are beginning to calm down a little. "Say," they are saying to one another, "those wolves have been prowling around for a long time. Why don't those shepherds build a fence, or something? Anyway, they seem to have bought themselves shotguns."

"Wonder if we haven't been too keen on rushing up the hill every time we hear voices? Did those new shotguns come for our own corral? Is that new strand of barbed wire all finished at the top of our own fence? Fine!"

"Pass the beer, Julius!"

That Gorilla Again

A famous editorial writer used to trot out at regular intervals a little homily which was always good for a mild sensation.

Between pictures of contestants in a heavyweight fight, he used to run a picture of a gorilla. Then he moralized temperately on the respective merits of Brain and Brawn, and came inevitably to the conclusion that "a gorilla could lick both of them!"

The moral becomes a little hazy with the passage of time, but it seems to have been that while the gorilla might lick the fighters, he could never appreciate Schopenhauer and Da Vinci, while the fighters could.

Now it seems that the gorilla may have been libeled. For in the London zoo, a young gorilla named Meng had been observed to trace on a wall the outline of his own shadow. Dipping Meng's finger in lampblack, the keepers let him do it again, producing quite a creditable drawing something like an early Picasso.

Gosh! It would be awful if we found that a gorilla could beat us at everything else, too!

FEMININE FANCIES

By Kathleen Eiland

The designer who first had the idea of making an entire bolero of blossoms sewed upon a net foundation deserves a rose leaf for an idea so fascinatingly feminine and so delightfully springlike.

But such a bolero should be worn only by a woman who has not succumbed to the craze (more marked a few years ago than now) to be ultra-sophisticate. Only a woman who still retains something of a little girl's ability to dream and a little girl's belief in life and people is entitled to the airy beauty and weakness of a blossom bolero.

Add to things we like exceedingly: old-fashioned hominy plentifully seasoned with butter; pamphlets which tell how to travel on little money; people who have the nerve to do the aforesaid traveling; poems about the wind; moving pictures of foreign countries; eyes that crinkle at the corner when their owner laughs; people who are serene but not too serene; people who are violent and temperamental but not too much so.

Don't tell us men aren't interested in clothes and styles. Not after reading a United Press dispatch concerned only with the wardrobe of King of England is to bring to him on his American tour.

Colors of the wardrobe will be chiefly blues and grays, the story of and the trousers will be "cut considerably higher than advocated American tailors."

We don't know about the styles, we'd say the King's taste in colors is good. Blue is standard, but exciting, while gray is one of most becoming colors that the average man can wear.

During the last season or two when gray has been so popular, have you noticed how it heightens whatever good looks most any man has?

Gray suits and gray eyes. Two very nice things for men to possess.

One important item of medical news which should make every citizen give thanks to the doctors and others who toil at research, has to do with sulfapyridine, a drug which was invented by the British last year and is said to cure a great percentage of pneumococcal pneumonias.

Because of sulfapyridine, the medical profession has licked pneumonia, "America's No. 1 killer." Dr. Charles F. McKham of Boston told a clinical society meeting at Dallas this week.

And still some cynics wonder "What good are doctors?"

Any man who, through his medical skill, can save even half a dozen lives in a lifetime of labor has done more than most of us accomplish during our three-score years and ten.

Hats off to the doctors—when they are REAL doctors—the ones who are conscientious and sincere and really like to help people.

Auto Industry Urged For India Home Market

BOMBAY, India, (U.P.)—Establishment of a motorcar industry, which will enable India to produce its cars by the middle of 1941, is the first item on the program for development of industries in India. Sir M. Visvesvaraya, noted engineer and economist, the former prime minister of Mysore, has made a detailed survey, and recommends that a leading foreign manufacturer be asked to design, construct and equip a factory.

England expends $1,645,000 on weather reports annually, employing 561 persons for the service.

College Romance Leads to Wedding Here of Midland Girl and Pampa Boy

A college romance which had its beginning when the bride and groom met on their first day as freshmen at Texas Technological college climaxed in the marriage here Wednesday evening of Miss Darleen Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Vance of Midland, and Fred Sterling Vanderburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vanderburg of Pampa. The ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, 302 South I street, with Rev. H. D. Bruce, pastor of the First Baptist church, reading the single ring service in the presence of members of the bride's family.

The couple had no attendants. The bride wore a frock of navy sheer with white accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Vanderburg left on a wedding trip of about two weeks. They will visit her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Vance, student in the University of Texas, at Austin, and go on to San Antonio, Galveston, and Houston, returning by way of Pampa to visit Mr. Vanderburg's family before returning here where they will probably make their home.

Mrs. Vanderburg traveled in a gold dress with blue coat and Japanese accessories.

The bride is well-known in Midland, having attended the Midland schools from the first through the eleventh grades, graduating with the class of 1937. She was a member of the choral club and pep squad and took part in school dramas. After graduation, she entered Texas Tech college and was classified as a sophomore at the time of her marriage.

A graduate of Pampa high school, Mr. Vanderburg was prominent in high school track events during his school years and was president of his class in his senior year. After graduation, he also entered Texas Tech, meeting the girl who was destined to be his future wife on the day of their matriculation.

Mrs. Zant Hostess To Bridge for Entre Nous Club

Mrs. J. B. Zant was hostess to the Entre Nous club and two guests with two tables of bridge at the home of Miss Cordelia Taylor, 405 North A street, Wednesday evening. The gay green and white of St. Patrick's Day were favored colors in playing appointments, prize wrappings, and the party plate served at the close of the games.

High score for club was held by Mrs. Susie G. Noble and high score for guest by Miss Ruth Carden. Cut prize was won by Miss Lotta Williams, member and guest at the refreshment hour.

Playing with the club were Miss Carden and Mrs. Georgia Moreland.

Members present were: Miss Annie Frank Stout, Miss Theresa Klapproth, Miss Helene Miley, Mrs. Noble, Miss Taylor, Miss Williams, and the hostess.

St. Patrick's Theme Featured at Slam Club Party

Members of the Baptist Adult Union were complimented with a St. Patrick's Day party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Ferguson.

Opening the fun for the evening was a "radio broadcast" in which each guest performed as an amateur. The orchestra played St. Patrick's Day songs.

Games of progressive 42 followed, with the score cards carrying out the green and white colors of St. Patrick's emblems.

A sandwich plate in green and white was served at the close of the games to: Mmes. and Messrs. C. G. Murray, Thurman Pylant, J. Boyd East, Cecil Waldrep, Cecil S. Aycock, R. L. Denham, Tom Carr, Floyd Pace, Miss Edith Conyers, Gerald Fuller, Mrs. Harvey Kiser, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Blackburn, Miss May Beth Judkins, and the host and hostess.

Mrs. Ryan Tells of The History of Gardening

The history of gardening was discussed by Mrs. W. E. Ryan as leader for the program of the Woman's Wednesday club which met with Mrs. M. C. Ulmer, 111 North C street, Wednesday afternoon. Beginning with primitive peoples and their gardening, the speaker told of the development of gardening tools and the cultivation of wild plants in an interesting paper.

In the business meeting preceding the program, Mrs. J. M. DeArmond conducted a Parliamentary drill on motions.

The club voted to send a yearbook to the yearbook judging committee of the eighth district, and to contribute to the penny art club movement.

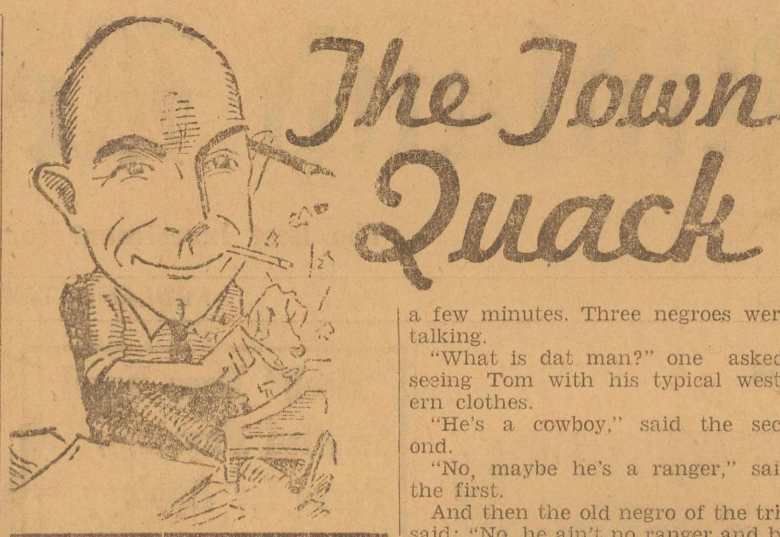

Mrs. Robert M. Turpin was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. R. C. Conkling reported on the meeting of the safety council.

Mrs. Andrew Fasken reported on the City-County Federation meeting. The club was in charge of the program and since Mrs. Ulmer was unable to present her paper on the history of Midland county, as originally planned, Mrs. M. R. Hill presented her paper on the Big Bend area of Texas.

Various members submitted their subjects for study next year.

Present were: Mmes. J. M. Caldwell, R. C. Conkling, J. M. DeArmond, Andrew Fasken, George Glass, M. R. Hill, O. B. Holt, R. L. Miller, E. Erle Payne, John Perkins, W. E. Ryan, Robert M. Turpin, W. T. Walsh, W. G. Whitehouse, and the hostess.

Almost one-third of the non-occupational causes of accidents are traceable to automobiles.

A few minutes. Three negroes were talking. "What is dat man?" one asked, seeing Tom with his typical western clothes. "He's a cowboy," said the second. "No, maybe he's a ranger," said the first. And then the old negro of the trio said: "No, he ain't no ranger and he ain't no cowboy. He's a hoss trader."

'Abraham Lincoln' Is Read Before Play Readers Club

"Abraham Lincoln," a play dealing with the life of the Great Emancipator up to his term as president, was read by Mrs. Fred Wilcox at the meeting of the Play Readers club for which Mrs. De Lo Douglas was hostess at the home of Mrs. R. D. Scruggs, 605 N. Pecos, Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

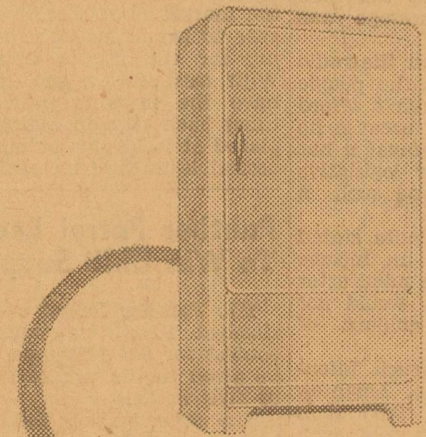

Guests were: Miss Ella Lunday, Miss Jo Hestand, Mmes. T. Paul Barron, Thomas, Alden Donnelly, B. A. Ray.

Members present were: Mmes. R. M. Barron, W. L. Haseltine, Jack Hawkins, J. Howard Hodge, Wallace Irwin, Chas. L. Klapproth, W. L. Miller, W. T. Schneider, R. D. Scruggs, W. B. Stowe, Fred Wilcox, and the hostess.

NEA Service Sports Writer.

We were idly glancing over statistics and names which make up Purdue basketball history when suddenly we wondered if any other school could name an all-time quintet which could come anywhere near approaching the brilliance of a Bollermaker all-time five.

And the more we thought of it the more positive we were that it couldn't be done.

Purdue will give you Jewell Young, Bob Kessler, Stretch Murphy, Johnny Wooden and Norm Cotton and try as you might, we don't think you'll find five more like them who played under one banner.

All were developed in the last decade by Ward (Piggy) Lambert, the bombastic little gent who has made Purdue the perennial power that it is. It has been our privilege to have seen each member of this mythical quintet at the height of his greatness, which only helps cement our belief.

WOODEN POSSESSED BASKETBALL INSTINCT

Best of the bunch? Hard to say, but our choice leans to Wooden, the greatest college guard we've ever seen. He was a dead shot. For three years he flirted with Big Ten handed shot of his, the scorer automatically added another basket to his total.

He had, perhaps, a better shooting eye than Kessler, but wasn't equipped to travel at the latter's dizzy pace for the entire game.

COTTOM PERFECT TEAM PLAYER

Cotton, who performed at both forward and guard, was smooth, constant, and a marvelous team player. There were plenty of men who had much better scoring averages, but two years in a row his all-around ability brought him All-American rating.

The gigantic Murphy, of course, capitalized on his size — six feet, six inches of it, with plenty of left. He had none of the grace exhibited by Gene Anderson, present Bollermaker center, but once he planted himself in the pivot (it could be stationed smack under the bucket in those days), you couldn't hold him down with an anchor.

It was virtually impossible for one man to stop him once he got his hands on the ball and started going up in the air. Most coaches played two men against him—one in back or to the side, and one in front, in an effort to keep him from getting the ball.

For better all-around play, there are Purdue followers who might select Anderson, of Blair Gullion, present Cornell coach, over Murphy, for their all-time center.

Robyn Junior Music Club Elects New Officers Wednesday

New officers for the Robyn Junior Music club were elected at the meeting of the group at the Watson studio, 210 W. Ohio, Wednesday afternoon.

The following slate of officers, presented by the nominating committee composed of Alberta Smith, Margaret Mims, and Elaine Hedrick, was accepted by the club: President, Charles Barron; vice-president, Pauline Wingo; secretary, Dorothy Rose Otho.

Each of the three made a talk pleading his loyalty while in office. They will assume office next meeting day.

A rising vote of thanks was given for the loyalty of the retiring officers: President, Elaine Hedrick; vice-president, Margaret Mims; secretary, Charles Barron.

The following absentee committee was appointed: Betty Jo Joplin, North Ward; Eileen Eiland, Margaret Mims, Alberta Smith, Elaine Hedrick, Junior High.

Program numbers presented were: Piano—"Sonatina," Opus 34, No. 24 (Clementi)—Eileen Eiland; Piano—"Solegno" (Bach)—Margaret Mims.

Violin and piano—"At a Country Fair"—Edith Rave Collings and Jean Walsh.

The meeting closed with the telling of Irish jokes in observance of St. Patrick's day and the group was dismissed with the club motto.

Margaret Mims and Lois Dee Eiland presided at the attendance card.

About 20 children were present.

Preventable, Controllable Diseases Are "Million Dollar Thief Gang" in Texas

Preventable and controllable disease eats into the tax dollar. Preventable disease lowers the chances of children to secure an education. Preventable disease is a great problem in increasing the costs of education.

Each year Texas school children lose about 3,760,000 school days due to preventable and controllable disease, an average loss of 1 1/2 weeks from school per child. Considering the average school year for a child in Texas to be 35 weeks, this means that about 1/70 of the monies expended on education by the State of Texas are not used by the children because of preventable diseases. Now, this is not an exceedingly large percentage of time in one sense of the word, but I am sure you will agree with me that this percentage of loss from schools is preventable, however, when we consider that the State of Texas each year invests upward of $70,000,000 in its public schools, this rather insignificant 1/70 of unnecessary loss takes on a new meaning. It means that close to $1,000,000 of tax money appropriated for the purposes of education in this State are lost to those who should be receiving its benefits due to the fact that preventable and controllable disease runs rife among our school children.

Let us investigate for a few minutes the nature of this one million dollar-a-year thief gang from the Public Treasury of our State. Herein we find cold, chickenpox, malaria, smallpox, scarlet fever, whooping cough, typhoid fever, and typhus fever. So far as diphtheria, smallpox, and typhoid fever are concerned, we can rest assured that these can be prevented definitely and specifically and easily by immunization. For each of these other diseases, there are a number of usable methods of control and prevention. The point which I wish to make is that we have the necessary instruments, implements and methods for controlling this group of diseases which extracts near one million tax dollars from our school children's benefit each year.

One peculiar thing about these diseases is that our modern school set-up tends to be favorable to their activities in many instances and really makes the extraction of their toll easy. Let me cite a few of these conditions:

Overcrowded classrooms, poorly ventilated classrooms, unscreened cafeterias and eating places, poor disposal of garbage at the school building, unsanitary water supplies for the school children, lack of regulations by local school boards requiring immunization, inadequate supervision of children removing wraps during play and like personal habits of children, unsanitary toilets and privies for the school, lack of routine procedure of sending children to school when they show symptoms of common diseases, lack of periodic health examinations by physicians, even lack of regular physical examinations by teachers themselves, and lack of handwashing facilities and sanitary toilet facilities.

These citations are not meant to be critical of our school practices, for one, an confident that our teachers and administrators in public schools of Texas are doing their professional work well, that they are making out a good product and that they are due the respect and commendation of every citizen. However, it is my firm belief that we have not given sufficient time, thought and effort in our schools to bring these preventable and controllable diseases under effective control. Certain not all of these conditions should be blamed upon the school people. The responsibility for many of them is even more the responsibility of the citizens of the community than those of the professional people. I mention them in order to bring our attention upon some practical steps for saving the taxpayers of Texas about one million dollars a year which is unnecessarily lost and which rightfully belongs to the school children. The solution of these problems becomes the problem of all of us. The problem is of special importance to parents and teachers, those in the field of public health work and to the medical profession. The parents and teachers are primarily interested because of the loss to the children in time from school and inconvenience in the carrying on of the daily routine of home and school life. The public health worker recognizes the loss due to preventable diseases as one of his greatest problems and as a problem with which he can cope, given the proper cooperation of the school and home. The practicing physician is interested in the problem because he recognizes the effect of these diseases as a harbinger of later poor health in many instances and that only one case in eight of these diseases is attended by a physician as reported by Pinckney, Miller, and Bredt in their outstanding report entitled "A Study of Causes of Absences Among Texas School Children."

It is unfortunate that at the present time we do not have specific measures for the prevention of all these diseases which are effective in our complicated social surroundings both in school and in our community living. Some of these diseases are known to the medical profession and to the field of public health work much more accurately by their symptoms and results than by their causes and methods of spread. There remains much research work to be done in the field of medical science and in public health pertaining to these diseases. Until the time arrives, if it ever does, when we shall have specific preventive methods against the contraction and spread of these diseases, it behooves us to so organize our lives and experiences in the social situations in which we live as to avoid the spread as best we know. It is apparent from these statements that we must cooperate as citizens, parents, teachers, and specialists in the various specialties of health care in order to control this million dollar-a-year thief gang in our public schools. I would offer the following suggestions as being essential parts in this cooperative undertaking:

First, as parents, secure for your child a periodic health examination by a competent and reliable physician and dentist. Do this through the years of the preschool years and continue until it will be habitual with the child as he grows into adulthood.

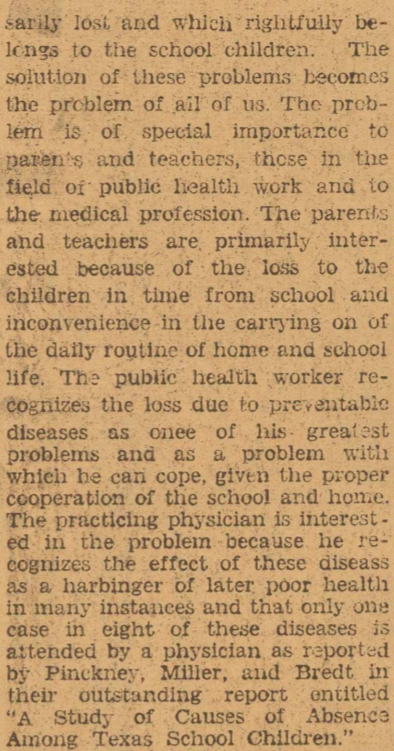

Second, as parents and patrons, insist that your school be provided with teachers trained in the science of health control of children the same as in English, mathematics and other important phases of education.

Third, as school administrators, seek the cooperation of the parents in administering the approved public health practices for control of these diseases as well as the cooperation of the teachers in applying these principles in school.

Fourth, as teachers exemplify the best practices of health while in school and elsewhere for your own health, and in the home for the benefit of the children under your care.

For all of us, promote the best type of public health facilities and practice for our communities in order that we shall have the opportunity to control useless, preventable and controllable disease, and thereby live more happily and more healthfully.

Henry Thomas in Race For Office of Marshal

Henry Thomas, for several years in the produce business here, announced Thursday that he is a candidate for the office of city marshal, subject to balloting on Tuesday, April 4. A resident of Midland for fifteen years, Thomas formerly lived at Childress where he was connected with the Fort Worth and Denver railway shops as machinist. Before leaving there, he served as deputy sheriff under Sheriff Jim Crane, widely known peace officer of the lower Panhandle, and received high recommendations for his services.

The candidate also did work as a special deputy at Detroit, Mich. a few years prior to his services at Childress, and expressed the belief that he can handle the position here to the satisfaction of the public.

is drilling at 5,432 feet. Gaines Test Going Fast.

Making rapid progress, Osage and A. S. Everest No. 1 Dr. E. H. Jones, northwestern Gaines wildcat in section 29, block A-7, public school land, this morning was drilling below 1,000 feet in red beds. No pipe will be set until anhydrite has been reached.

Shell No. 1 Mann, in the Seminole pool of central Gaines, was killed in eight hours by pumping in 450 barrels of water. Previously, pumping in 1,162 barrels of oil had failed to kill it. Tubing has been pulled, and the well is temporarily shut down for motor repairs. It will be deepened approximately 150 feet from present depth of 5,060, in search of the lower pay of the pool.

WE WANT YOU TO KNOW ABOUT OUR LAUNDRY SERVICE

Modern laundry service is as different from the old time service as night from day. Modern machinery, equipment and methods are responsible for the change. Nowadays it is possible to complete laundry service—washing, ironing and delivery—in only a fraction of the time it used to take. This makes the up-to-date laundry practically indispensable to the housewife of today.

Mrs. J. M. Hills Reviews Book at Modern Study Club

"Of Men and Music," a book review by Mrs. J. M. Hills, was the focal point of the program at the meeting of the Modern Study club with Mrs. Tom Sealy, 406-A North Big Spring, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. F. C. Cummings was program leader. During the business session the club voted to contribute to the penny art club. The members also voted against sponsoring the Girl Scouts. Mrs. J. J. Kelly took the club pledge. Roll call was answered by suggestions for the year book for next year. Present were: Mmes. R. H. Biggs, R. C. Crabb, F. C. Cummings, J. M. Hills, T. S. Jones, H. E. McRae, P. A. Nelson, A. H. Riley, P. R. Schenck, J. W. Skinner, S. S. Stinson, M. A. Park, J. J. Kelly, Ronald K. DeFord, and the hostess.

Junior Wednesday Club Hears Talks On French Riviera

Mrs. L. L. Maloney was hostess to the Junior Wednesday club at the home of her mother, Mrs. Porter Rankin, 910 W. Louisiana, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Although still in a cast because of injuries received in an automobile accident during the Christmas holidays, Mrs. Maloney was wheeled into the room and presented her part of the program on the "French Riviera." The subject was handled by a description of the various towns and Mrs. W. M. Blevins presented the other section of the two-part discussion. In the absence of Mrs. Hugh West, who is ill, Mrs. Louis Thomas gave the secretary's report. One associate member, Mrs. Johnny Starr of Seagraves, was present. Members attending were: Mmes. Ben Black, W. M. Blevins, W. M. Holmes, Frank Miller, Donald M. Oliver, Alf Reese, Kathleen Speed, Louis Thomas, Misses Helen Paskin, Georgia Goss, Mary Maude Sparks, Lucile Thomas, and the hostess. Approximately one-fourth of the automobile drivers in the United States are women.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. If the 10 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 10 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Consistent vitamin value is the benefit derived by your child from our nutrition-full milk.

More Garden for Less Money

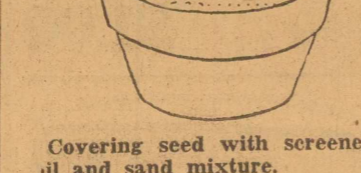

BY DONALD GRAY
 Reporter - Telegram Landscape Consultant.

THE only reason for planting annual flower seeds indoors instead of outdoors is so as to increase the time of blooming outdoors. Most varieties of annual flower seeds should not be planted outdoors until the danger of frost is passed. It takes another month after the seeds are planted before they bloom. By growing plants under artificial heat they are of blooming size when set out in the garden as soon as seed can be planted. At best the gardener has a limited number of weeks during the year when he can have annuals outdoors. So it is an advantage to start the blooming period as early as possible.

Section of pot filled with soil ready for planting seed.

These annual flower plants can be purchased from a greenhouse or commercial grower, but this series of garden articles is on the subject of how to get the most for the least expenditure of money. There's fun too in growing your own plants.

Take ordinary garden soil and screen it. Mix one-third of this soil with two-thirds of sharp sand, place it in a flat pan and put in a hot oven for several hours. Heat will sterilize the soil. Put in the bottom of a crock or shallow box a number of pieces of broken crock. Add peat moss if it is available. Fill the balance of the container with baked soil. Water until the surface of the ground is an inch below the rim. After the soil has dried out sow seeds of annual flowers. Cover with sterilized screened soil and sand mixture. The finer the seed the less covering.

Place container at a sunny window. A pane of glass over the pot will help germinate the seed.

When the seedlings show their second sets of leaves they are ready to be transplanted. Repeat the soil sterilization and use pots of wooden flats. Transplant each plant so that it has several inches each way to develop roots.

It is no longer possible to keep the glass covering on and if the seedling begin to grow at an angle towards the light, then place a white cardboard at the rear side of the pot so as to reflect some of the light.

As the seedlings grow pinch out the leading stems so as to make the plant less high and delicate and more hardy and bushy.

These seedlings can be transplanted again into individual pots, but they will do just as well if transplanted directly to the open ground after the danger of a frost is passed.

When planting outdoors use a small amount of water in each hole before planting. If a hot day cover the top with newspaper or small basket.

W. Stuart Booth Named Director Of Mother Church

The election of W. Stuart Booth C. S. B., a Trustee of The Christian Science Publishing Society, to be a Director of The Mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts, was announced yesterday by The Christian Science Board of Directors. Mr. Booth succeeds Mr. William R. Rathvon, deceased, and will be nominated for the other positions heretofore occupied by Mr. Rathvon. Mr. Booth has resigned as a Trustee of the Publishing Society. A native of Iowa, Mr. Booth removed to Denver, Colo., in early boyhood. He was educated in the public school of Denver, after which he engaged in business for a number of years. He became interested in Christian Science about 44 years ago. He received class instruction in October, 1895, after which he devoted part of his time to the practice of Christian Science. Since 1911 he has given all his time to Christian Science work. He is a member of the Mother Church, also of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Denver, Colo., which he joined in 1896, and in which he served as First Reader. Mr. Booth later served for nine years as Committee on Publication for the State of Colorado. Mr. Booth became a teacher of Christian Science following instruction by the Board of Education in the Normal Class of 1919. In June 1925, he was elected a member of The Christian Science Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, which position he resigned in June, 1932, to join the editorial staff of the religious periodicals of the Christian Science organization as an Associate Editor. Mr. Booth became a Trustee of The Christian Science Publishing Society in May 1935, and a member of the Trustees for Gifts and Endowments in September, 1935.

Movies in Syphilis Campaign to Be Shown

Moving pictures connected with the federal, state, county, and municipal campaign against syphilis will be shown at the district court room here Monday at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, with no admission charge being made. The showing is made through cooperation of district six officials of the state health department.

The fact that syphilis can be cured is made plain by the pictures, health authorities stated, but the need for regular examinations, prompt and adequate treatment is important.

A majority of people are ignorant of the serious consequences of the disease, it was stated, and ignore it because no discomforts are caused in the early stages, or hide it because of the moral obliquity attached to a person known to have syphilis.

To overcome both ignorance and moral attitude, so that cases may be cured and others prevented, is the goal of health authorities. All citizens are urged to witness the showing of these pictures Monday.

Logger Finds Branches Grown to Form U. S. A.

SEATTLE, (UP) — Last summer Henrik S. Birkeland, a logger, found an unusually shaped branch which formed a perfect letter "S". Several weeks later another growth was found which was in the shape of a "U". Fellow workers told Birkeland he would have trouble finding an "A" so his collection would include

It's true. These were carried from last spring, but they are very attractive, all wool, 54 inch, Fieldcrest coatings in spring weight. We have owned these long enough. A real bargain for March Dollar Days; four pieces of this at THE YARD $1.00

SIX-PIECE RECIPE SET $1.00

Just another of those novelty items that have made Wadley's outstanding for gift items and new merchandise. An attractive hostess apron, a table cover with four napkins, all printed with special recipes, guaranteed washable. THE SIX-PIECE SET $1.00

ENAMELED KITCHEN STOOLS $1.00

Has rubber tipped legs; comes in white, green and ivory; just 48 of these, and you will want one, we are sure, at EACH $1.00

22x44 DOUBLE TERRY TOWELS 25c

This is not only a splendid quality in a large bath towel, but the colorings and design are very outstanding and attractive. You would hardly expect to buy this item under 39c anywhere. Five colors in the plaid and block designs at 25c each, or FOUR $1.00

IRONING BOARD COVERS 25c

We offered this item last Dollar Days and the three dozen we had went within a few hours. Five dozen more for March Dollar Days, is this unbleached sheeting ironing board cover with eyelets and lace, ready to put on, at 25c each or FOUR $1.00

39-INCH CURTAIN SCRIMS 10c

Just in time for your spring renovating and replacement. Seven color combinations in this regular 19c curtain scrims, in rose, blue, ecru, green, gold, ivory and navy, at just 10c the yard or TEN YARDS $1.00

CLOSE OUT CANNON TOWELS 25c

Here is a lot of about eight dozen Cannon towels in regular face towel size of which we have sold the matching towels, regular values 35c, 39c and to 50c each. Rose, blue, green, orchid, tan, and gold. Priced to close at 25c each or FOUR $1.00

WOMEN'S BATH SLIPPERS 35c

Here is an item that is so very outstanding that you will want more than one pair. Made of woven straw, terry cloth lined and ideal for the bathroom or house, all sizes, and a real bargain at 35c the pair or THREE PAIRS $1.00

ENAMELED WASTE BASKETS 35c

You would hardly believe it possible to buy an attractively decorated, all steel waste basket for this price. All we ask is to see these and we know you will want one or more at 35c each or THREE $1.00

ENAMELED CAKE SAVERS $1.00

An item of which we have sold many, and this is decorated to match the other kitchen items. A very splendid value at, EACH $1.00

MEN'S BATH SLIPPERS 17c

An item similar to the ladies' shoes advertised above, but not lined. Almost a necessity for the locker or bathroom and you will want more than one pair at this price of 17c the pair or SIX PAIRS $1.00

Over 100 Items For the Balance of This Week.

for CHAPPED SKIN

MENTHOLATUM Gives COMFORT Daily

CHAPPING is a real skin ailment. Therefore it's best to use a medicinal treatment. Mentholatum contains medicinal ingredients that quickly soothe hot chapped skin, relieve the painful smarting and promote more rapid healing of the skin. So, whether you have chapped lips, chapped hands, or chapped ankles, get quick relief by applying Mentholatum Jars or tubes, 30c.

To Make a Long Tale Short

a friend dropped in yesterday and we asked him whether it was true that his wife called him a block-head. "No," he replied, "not in so many words—she simply said, 'Pull down your cap—here comes a woodpecker!'" A used car as sold by us means a reconditioned car, one in which the worn parts have been replaced, and the car put in first-class running condition.

Girl, 17, Movie Winner, Never Thought of Acting

CLEVELAND, O. (UP) — Seventeen-year-old June Hatney never thought of acting—until she won a talent contest here.

"I've always been movie crazy since I was just a kid," she said, "but I thought only about going to see them as often as I could—and not about acting in them."

Now if she wins in competition with others from 24 cities, she will play the lead in a Hollywood production.

Logger Finds Branches Grown to Form U. S. A.

SEATTLE, (UP) — Last summer Henrik S. Birkeland, a logger, found an unusually shaped branch which formed a perfect letter "S". Several weeks later another growth was found which was in the shape of a "U". Fellow workers told Birkeland he would have trouble finding an "A" so his collection would include
