Reiterates Desire To Have Russia as Member of Front

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—Great Britain wants "to conclude an agreement with Soviet Russia but we must discuss what is best form," Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today.

In a statement on the long drawn out negotiations between London and Moscow on some mutual assistance pact, Chamberlain added: "Although I quite understand there might be a certain amount of impatience, there is no want of good will on the side of the British government."

BRITAIN TO EXPEL AGENTS OF NAZIS

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—Afternoon newspapers said today they had learned the British home office, in conjunction with Scotland Yard, intended soon to expel "more than 50 Nazi agents" from England. In Germany, Adolf Hitler's newspapers took offense at the reports and said "shabby" treatment of German nationals would not go unanswered.

Conservation Law For State Signed By Governor Monday

AUSTIN, May 2 (AP)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel signed a proclamation Monday afternoon starting machinery for organizing under the far-reaching new soil conservation law. Commissioners' courts of each county were directed to call precinct conventions of landowners May 15 to select a representative for each precinct.

In each county the four representatives chosen by precincts will immediately select one of their number to attend district conventions to be held May 22 as follows: District 1, Plainview. District 2, Fort Stockton. District 3, Kenedy. District 4, Crockett. District 5, Stephenville.

At each district meeting, a member of a state board will be chosen, and this board will hold its first meeting to organize and transact business at Temple May 29.

County commissioners were instructed to give the usual notice of the time and place of the precinct meetings.

As a result of the program the Federal Soil Conservation Service is expected to spend several million dollars annually to prevent erosion of Texas' lands.

Farmers will co-operate with engineers and experts in erosion prevention, contributing mostly the labor.

Large Crowds Hear Sermons at Revival

The Sunday services at the Church of Revival were attended by audiences as large as the church has had in several years. The theme discussed at the Sunday evening service by Evangelist Cogdill, conducting the revival, was "Justification by Faith." Monday night's service was also attended by a splendid audience and the theme, "The Hardest Commandment in the Bible to Obey," proved to be a discussion of the theme of "Repentance." At this service one young man made the confession of his faith in Christ and is to be baptized tonight at the service.

The morning services are being spent in a study of the churches of the New Testament period which are proving quite interesting as well as profitable. These services are held at 10 o'clock each morning.

At the service tonight the sermon theme to be discussed is "Bible Baptism." It is proposed in this sermon to give Bible answers to the questions: How be baptized? Why be baptized? Who can be baptized? This Bible study should prove enlightening and all are invited to attend this service beginning at 8 o'clock this evening. After the sermon there will be a baptizing service and then at the conclusion of the regular revival service there will be a program by the capella chorus of Abilene Christian college.

The chorus is on its annual spring tour of West Texas and New Mexico and will make the stop at Midland tonight and render a program.

Hungarians, Nazis Finish Parley Today

Slovakia Discussed By Envoys of Both Countries, Admitted

BERLIN, May 2 (AP)—Nazi officials said today Slovakia was discussed, among other matters, during the three-day state visit of two Hungarian officials, Premier Paul Teleky and Foreign Minister Stjepan Csanaky. The Hungarians left Berlin today.

Authorities refused to commit themselves beyond the statement "naturally, Slovakia was talked about, too," and what agreements, if any, were made to bring nominal independence to Slovakia more closely into line with Hungary probably will remain secret for some time.

Hungary has coveted Slovakia, now under German protection, and informed quarters discussed the possibility of a return for closer cooperation with Germany.

Pensions for War Veterans Are Voted in National House

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—With only one dissenting vote, the house approved Monday a bill to increase or start paying pensions and benefits to nearly 90,000 world war veterans and 50,000 widows, orphans and dependent parents.

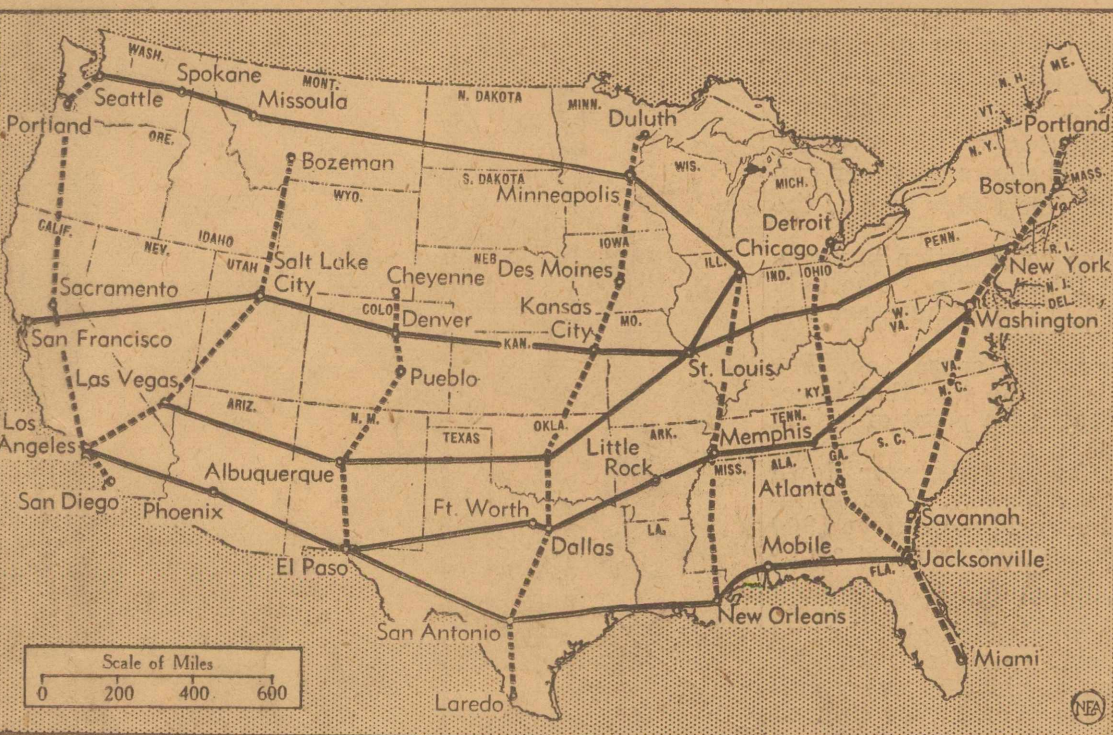

If the senate and president accept the legislation, the government will start paying out an additional $18,751,000 the first year. The costs may increase substantially later as more persons become eligible.

The provisions affecting the largest number of individuals—37,000 veterans—would require a former soldier to be listed as at least 10 per cent disabled if he were wounded in action.

The bill would increase pensions to widows and orphans and grant

Women Lose Suits on Oil Lands at Kermit

NEW ORLEANS, May 2 (AP)—Miss Minnie I. Meacham, South Norwalk, Conn., and Miss Harriet T. Beckert, Chicago, Ill., Monday lost companion appeals to the United States Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in which they sought to have set aside releases they gave on valuable oil land tracts near Kermit.

They claimed to have obtained leases on two 10-acre tracts a year after the land was leased by its owner, S. M. Halley, and that the 10-year leases ran from time they leased it rather than from time of the original lease. The court here affirmed the lower court in holding the original lease as governing and ruled there was no fraud in Halley's demand for their releases.

Arguments to Begin This Afternoon

Proposal Must Get 100 Votes Before It Is Offered Citizens

AUSTIN, May 2 (AP)—The house voted today to begin floor work at three p. m. on the sales-national resource tax constitutional amendment approved three weeks ago by the senate.

A motion to take the resolution out of regular order prevailed, 86 to 38. The proposal must receive 100 of the possible 150 votes in order to be submitted to the people August 19.

The measure would impose a two per cent tax on retail sales and gas, light, telephone bills and boost natural resource levies 25 per cent.

The senate clause suggested by state funds for public school apportionment today by unanimous approval of a bill prohibiting property tax rate in excess of that necessary to provide $22.50 for each scholastic.

Sponsors accepted an amendment by Senator Reddit, Lufkin, which automatically holds apportionment to the top $22.50. The measure now goes to the house.

Rep. H. T. Brown of Jacksonville presented the unavailing motion for a special setting of the amendment.

"We put Jan Anderson (director of the Texas Pensions Union) in jail," Brown said, "but if we don't face this issue straight, the people will want to put us in jail."

Opponents of the motion pointed out that the House had sent a tax bill to the Senate. They were referring to the gross receipts tax proposal on which a Senate committee thus far had declined to act.

Indications the session would extend several days past May 9, the adjournment date suggested by the constitution, were strengthened when the House was advised the departmental appropriations bill would not be ready for floor consideration until May 8. After the House acts on the bill, conference committee work probably will be necessary.

The Senate intends to give floor consideration Wednesday and Thursday to the last of the major money bills before it, those for the higher educational institutions, rural school aid and vocational education.

By a vote of 16 to 6, Senate advocates of the House-approved "fair trade" act succeeded in setting it for floor discussion Thursday. The highly controversial bill would allow manufacturers and retailers to agree on a minimum price to be charged to the consumer on grade-marked articles. Proponents claimed they have votes to pass it if they are able to get it up for final action.

Livestock Feed Freight Rates To Be Reduced

SAN ANTONIO, May 2 (AP)—Freight rates on livestock feed used for drought-stricken counties of Southwest Texas was ordered reduced 66 2-3 of normal Monday by the Texas Railroad Commission.

Approximately 150 dairymen, stockmen and county agents from 15 counties attended the meeting.

The average freight rate reduction, to go into effect at 12:01 a. m. Friday and to extend for 90 days or until such time as the drought is broken, will average about $30 a car less than the present rate.

E. O. Thompson, chairman, and Lon A. Smith, commissioner, presided.

It was brought out that the drought destroyed forage crops and there was no prospect for other crops to be grown for the current feeding season. Ranchers declared the drought in some sections of Southwest Texas was the worst since 1916. The stock growers were forced to buy feed out of the state, they said.

The order stipulated applicants for the reduced rates must fill out affidavits they need lower freight rates. The rates effect only shipments into the drought area from other Texas points.

Counties included in the order are: Bexar, Medina, Atascosa, Frio, Uvalde, Zavala, Maverick, Kinney, Val Verde, Dimmit, LaSalle, McMullen, Webb, Duval, Borden, Comal, Guadalupe, Bandera and Real.

What War Does to Freedom

The decision of the British to train a conscript army instead of relying on their traditional volunteer force is of the greatest importance to every lover of freedom.

It shows, better than anything else has recently shown, what war does to freedom. It shows that men can never be truly free as long as they live under war or the shadow of war.

Chamberlain had promised "no conscription in peace time" to his supporters in British labor circles. The only explanation of this broken pledge is that "these are not in any true sense peace times."

That is ingenious, but it has some sense, too. For Europe is not really at peace today. The war that is going on there simply has not yet reached a point of actual armed conflict. But it is not peace.

War today is something different from war down through all its sickening 5000-year history. Just as invention has changed the face of the world more since 1900 than in hundreds of years before, so war today is a different thing than ever before.

"Totalitarian war," that is, a war which absorbs and demands every ounce of strength, every minute of thought, every penny of money, every drop of blood of every citizen, is a development for which the World War showed the way, but which the next war will bring to full bloom.

The horror of it is that once one powerful country or a group of them sinks to this level, all others are dragged down with it. So traditionally-free Britain still sings "Britons never will be slaves," but pays the price that "Britons must be soldiers."

British organized labor views with distrust this move. For a body of labor that is also a body of army reservists is never quite free.

In France they recently found that out. In the face of the German crisis, Communist leaders of the railway unions insisted on a general strike. It was no time for it, for no country can afford to have its defenses stripped bare in the face of the enemy. So the strikers were all simply called into active army service, breaking the strike and almost breaking the unions.

Thus it is that militarism is able to break down the liberties of free men even without war. The coming of war itself will make that triumph absolute. Then men will have to fight back through the chaos of war-wreckage and perhaps even civil war, to the liberties they once had, and did not know enough to keep.

What, No Bachelors?

Something else to worry about. The recent wave of weddings in Hollywood has left that entertaining city fresh out of eligible bachelors.

Now this is something to cause many an alabaster brow to knit, if that's possible.

Why should beautiful young women flock to Hollywood any more if there's none left unclaimed among the beautiful young men? And if the beautiful young women stop going to Hollywood, there might not be any more Hollywood, and—

Fortunately it's not likely. For on the law of percentages, a good many of the now-married benedicts will soon once again be once-married bachelors, and the whole thing can begin all over again. It always has.

Men may come, and men may go, but Hollywood, like the famous brook, goes on forever.

The Spirit of the Season

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON

WASHINGTON—One thing which makes argument over the neutrality law so heated is that the opposing forces have diametrically opposite ideas about the immediate danger of war in Europe.

The group which endorses the Roosevelt policy of supporting the European democracies and wants to see the neutrality law modified thinks that a European war may come at any moment. Its attitude is best summed up, perhaps, by the testimony which Raymond Leslie Buell of the Foreign Policy Association gave the other day before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

FOR, AND AGAINST

Briefly, Dr. Buell argued like this: the neutrality law hurts France and England more than it does Germany, hence makes their defeat in war more likely. Germany and Italy are hungry and have big ideas. If they beat France and England, the day when they would actively muscle in on American preserves is brought that much nearer.

Hence, it is to our interest to support France and England by "measures short of war," the moves we have made to date have almost certainly averted a general war in Europe.

The opposition argument is well presented by Frederick J. Libby, head of the National Council for the Prevention of War. It goes like this:

Neither Hitler nor Mussolini wants fight, neither wants "world domination," and neither is likely to encroach on our preserves. They are putting pressure on France and England for certain concessions which will have to be made eventually. The only danger in the situation is the chance that by giving France and England our backing we may encourage them to fight.

So there you have it. Each side sees the world situation in a completely different light. One side thinks that Roosevelt is helping to avert a world war; the other thinks he is only making it more likely.

Speaking of foreign affairs... for background to today's news go to your library and study the newspaper files for April, 1939, just 20 years ago.

The Versailles peace conference was on at that time. Italy was demanding World War loot in the shape of territory across the Adriatic. The reparations committee was suggesting 45 billions as the sum Germany could properly be asked to pay. The Bolsheviks were in control in Hungary and also in Munich. Socialists and non-Socialists were fighting in Italian industrial cities.

Woodrow Wilson was promising France American aid in case of a new war with Germany. Japan was being eased out of her claims to the Shantung peninsula in China. A meat famine was reported in Berlin. The German delegation coming to Versailles to sign the peace treaty was stoned by the populace. And at the end of the month an American correspondent, writing about Wilson's efforts at the conference, closed his dispatch with these words:

"The hope of a grand peace that would stamp out militarism and end war has been fading from the hearts of the people. The President has been surrounded by influences that operated against anything in the way of heroic measures."

It would have taken the seventh son of a seventh son to see 1939, back in those days.

PRESIDENT'S RECORD (DISK FORM)

President Roosevelt is going to be "waxed"—and so are the members of his cabinet. To be "waxed," in the jargon of the radio business, is to make a speech which is recorded phonographically, so that it can be broadcast later when the speaker has gone on about other business. Transcriptions have been made of many of the President's speeches, but never before has he spoken directly to the wax disk without any immediate broadcasting whatever.

Now, however, a series of disks

The first applicant was a lazy-looking chap. He yawned as the employment manager recited the duties. "We're looking for a man to demonstrate the restful qualities of our new mattress," related the manager. "All you have to do is lie in bed on the mattress and pretend you're sleeping soundly."

The applicant nodded. "You sleep on the bed from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.," continued the manager. "The applicant stuck out his chin. "Say, those are long hours," he objected. "How about a rest period in between?"

Orange Becoming Big Valley Crop

WESLACO, (AP).—Several years ago the Lower Rio Grande Valley chose the slogan "Garden of Golden Grapes," but today the orange is striding toward the position of the most remunerative citrus crop grown in the area.

The growers industry committee reports that, although orange acreage is but 18 per cent of grapefruit, shipments of oranges represent 34 per cent of all the citrus moved into fresh fruit markets. Moreover, as the prices of oranges usually is higher than fruit gives valley citrus growers nearly one half

West Texas Concert Association Series To Be Ended Friday

SAN ANGELO, May 2. — Frederick Jagel, leading American tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, brings to a close the West Texas Concert Association series Friday evening at 8:15 at the Municipal Auditorium in San Angelo, a brilliant climax to a season characterized by fine artistry as well as variety and excellence of entertainment.

The young Brooklyn, New York, tenor has had a singularly dazzling career in his eleven years at the Metropolitan, where he has become one of the most popular stars of an organization whose membership includes practically all of the world's great singers. Much in demand on the concert stages throughout this country and abroad, Mr. Jagel's appearance at San Angelo is a source of pride and gratification to the sponsors.

In addition to a Schubert group which includes the well loved "Dust of the Earth" and an interesting and familiar collection of songs in English, Mr. Jagel's program features the famous "Celeste Aida" by Verdi, the touching "La Boheme" aria, "Che gelida manina", and his ever popular "Vesti la giubba" from "Pagliacci." A favorite introductory number with concert audiences, Handel's "Largo" from "Xerxes" will open the recital.

It is anticipated that the audience of season ticket holders will be augmented considerably for this distinguished performance. Admission price to non-subscribers is $2.50, for students.

How to Behave As Shown by the Dionne Quintuplets

Yvonne is a happy quint, because she wakes up with a smile and makes other people happy.

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

When mother comes in the morning to say, "Wake up, dear, it's time to get dressed," what do you say? Do you grumble and yawn and mutter, "I don't want to get up?" Or "Let me alone, I'm sleepy?" All wise children know that daylight is the time to do things. Even the birds get up early and scramble for their breakfasts. So do the bunnies. And the flowers lift their lovely heads and say "Good-morning" to the sun.

How fine to think that breakfast is all ready. And there are the toys all waiting to be noticed. And maybe friends will come to play. Daytime is a good time. We don't want to sleep it away. Lazy people are really great sillies. Sometimes they are even ashamed of themselves.

The way to do is to wake up and say, "Good morning, mother," and hop right out of bed, no matter how sleepy you are. That makes her happy. When we make other people happy, it makes us happier, too.

Annuals Lead Garden Race

Annual border will decorate garden and furnish flowers for cutting.

Annual flowers which grow to maturity, produce blossoms, seed and die in one season, have rapidly improved in recent years.

Owing to their varying habits and wide range of colors they are suitable for almost every conceivable position in the garden, for filling spaces vacated by early bulbs in the border, for edgings, for solid beds, for rockeries, many of them for greenhouse plants, and others for shady situations and still others for the hottest and driest of locations. Front yard plantings of annuals are being advocated this year in an effort to make our homes appear as colorful from the street as they are in the garden behind the house.

Annuals alone can completely furnish a garden giving a sheet of bloom that cannot be attained by the use of perennials alone for a long period. They are the sole dependence for great masses of color during the latter half of the summer. Their possibilities have not been thoroughly realized because they have not received the care and attention necessary to their best development, largely from the fact that they grow so easily that the seed is generally sown much too thickly and the annuals are left to struggle along and despite this handicap give a good account of themselves.

PACKARD COMPLETES 4 YEAR PLAN!

TODAY a Packard costs you $100 to $300 less than it did formerly. This is not a temporary price reduction, but the beginning of a new, permanent price policy. It is the fulfillment of a plan that has been four years in the making—a plan to give you, not just more car, BUT A LOT MORE CAR than the same money can buy anywhere else. With its two great factories extensively rearranged, with a multi-million dollar equipment and expansion program completed, Packard effects important savings. And those savings are reflected in Packard's new, low prices.

And because Packard is in a rare and fortunate financial position as well—having no cost-increasing interest charges, burdened with no mortgaged overhead—Packard can make this promise for the future: NO OTHER AUTOMOBILE SHALL OFFER YOU AS MUCH FOR YOUR MONEY AS A PACKARD

REDUCES PRICE TO $888

AND UP, delivered in Detroit, State taxes extra

Prices $100 to $300 lower. Price reductions range from $100 on some models up to $300 on others! So you'll save at least $100! 4 out of 5 4 times out of 5, the car traded more than covers down payment. Hence your monthly payments are reduced still further.

THE sensationally low price of $888 is for the same beautiful Packard which formerly sold for $1,000 and up! The Packard 120 and Super-8 have also been reduced as much or more.

Yet not one detail of these cars has been changed, cheapened, or left off.

Go to your nearest Packard dealer today. Take a 1939 Packard out on the road, put it through every test your ingenuity can devise, get all the welcome facts on its economy of upkeep.

Then—even if your heart was set on some other make—see if any power on earth could keep you from owning a Packard.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

THE FINEST PACKARDS EVER BUILT—The cars so greatly reduced are the same spirited, mechanically great 1939 Packards that have delighted every "man who owns one." Never in 40 years has Packard received such a torrent of enthusiastic letters from new owners.

COWBOYS DROP SIXTH IN ROW; LUBBOCK CLUB HERE TOMORROW

Wind Up Series With the Lobos This Afternoon

White's Double Sets Stage for Four-Run Lead in the First

The Midland Cowboys continued their heavy hitting yesterday, but it was the same old story when the game was over. The Lamesa Lobos were on the long end of a 12-9 score to run their win streak to seven in a row and the Cowboy losing streak to six in a row.

It was the first inning jinx that again got the Cowboys. The Lobos managed to push across four runs in the first inning and that was enough to put them off to a lead that could not be overcome. Just to make sure, the Lobos came back with three more in the second.

Bill Miller started on the mound for the Cowboys but was no puzzle at all to the visiting club. He finally gave way in the fourth to Vic Swartz, a young right-hander who had been with the Big Spring club until a couple of days ago. Swartz pitched good ball for the rest of the day but the damage had been done when he entered the game.

The Cowboys get a final chance this afternoon at four to get a split with the Lobos on the series. On the mound for the locals will probably be Joe Murphy, loser of a close game at Big Spring Saturday. "Lefty" Lucas, who hurled the last three frames for Lamesa yesterday, will probably start today's game.

The Cowboys will be well glad to get rid of the league leading Lobos. They have met for the past three days and the results have been the same. Tomorrow, the Cowboys open a two-game series at City Park with the hard hitting Lubbock Hubbers. The Hubbers, pre-season favorite for the pennant, have been scoring a lot of runs but at the same time have seen the opposition rap their hurlers for an impressive total of tallies.

Miller's fate was plainly visible yesterday early in the first inning. He retired the first man up on a ground ball but the next three up singled and the fourth man up, Bailey White, doubled. It was the first hit made by White in the local park in the past three years. After Kerr took Britt's pop foul, DeNeff threw the ball away at first to let in two more runs, bringing the total for the frame to four.

The Cowboys got one of the runs back in their half of the first on singles by Glowicka, Malvica and Kerr but had to watch the Lobos make three more in the second on an error by Wooten, double by Hovey and a homer by Stone.

Miller retired the Lobos in order in the third, and the Cowboys picked up three in their half. Glowicka and Mort singled, Kerr walked and Glowicka came home when Reeves and Britt let Everson's fly ball untouched between them. Seeond baseman Haney of the Lobos then attempted to get Everson at second on Petzold's grounder but the ball hit the runner, Mort and Kerr scoring.

Reeves opened the fourth with a double and trotted home when Guynes hit one over the left field fence. That was all for Miller. Swartz took over and on the first ball pitched Stone again knocked it out of the lot for his second homer.

Two more singles and a walk filled the bases but Swartz struck out Hay to end the rally.

The Cowboys picked up one in their half of the fourth when Bob Wooten led off with a triple and scored on Mort's grounder to White. They got another in the sixth when Wooten doubled, went to third on a passed ball and scored on an infield out.

The Cowboys came within one of tying the score in the seventh when Malvica doubled, Kerr singled and Everson hit one over the left field wall. That finished Hay for the day and Lucas took over. However, the Lobos came back to lead the bases on an error by Malvica, fielder's choice and a walk, then pinch hitter Cheeves dumped a Texas Leagueur into center field to score two runs.

The Cowboys got one man on base in the ninth when Joe Piet got a pinch single but he died there when DeNeff flew out to center to end the game. Manager Kerr shook his batting order up considerably before the start of yesterday's game but it availed nothing in the long run. The locals stayed even with the visitors on hits but the home runs of the Lobos were too much.

Cowboy's Lament. By Jess Rodgers.

There's no rest for the weary. And that goes for the mentally weary just the same as for the physically weary. Harassed by the demands of Midland fans to get some pitchers, directors of the Midland baseball club Sunday closed a deal for the purchase of a hurler considered a cinch to win in this league.

Yesterday, they were notified the hurler had refused to report to the club. The hurler, Bill Weisenborn, a standout for the Henderson club last year, apparently did not relish the drop from a Class-C to a Class-D league and announced to his manager, Jake Atz, that he would not don a Midland uniform. There was nothing left to do except call the deal off.

However, Atz has offered his cooperation in landing hurling help for the Cowboys and maybe he will come through with a chunker later. But it is imperative that the Cowboys procure help soon or they will face an uphill fight all year to get anywhere in the race. Club directors and Business Manager Jimmy Wilson, along with Manager Kerr, are pulling all strings available in an effort to gain the much needed around strength. But the multitude of "farm" clubs makes it hard to get help by an independent club. Although attendance here has

Six Teams Ready to Open Softball League Here This Afternoon

The Midland Softball League will be opened this afternoon at 5:30 with four clubs swinging into action. The other two clubs will make their debut tomorrow afternoon.

After a last minute mix-up, it was decided to start the league with only six members. A tentative schedule has been drawn to accommodate eight clubs but two managers decided at the last not to enter the league play this year. The Gulf and the Shell clubs will officially inaugurate the season on the South Main street diamond at 5:30 this afternoon and at the same time the Mustang, the Independents and the Texas company teams will meet on the Mustang diamond, located at the old North Ward school building.

Tomorrow afternoon, The Gulf and Mustang clubs will meet on the Mustang field and the Independents and Standard-Phillips teams will clash on the south-side diamond. Directors have decided to play all games during the month of May in daytime, starting night ball June 1. All games this month are scheduled to start at 5:30 each afternoon. Teams will play each Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon and nights until the season closes. Elsewhere on this page will be found a schedule for the month of May.

been light, directors are not worrying over that condition yet. None of them were optimistic enough to believe day games would meet expenses. It has been too cool to play at night and there was nothing left to do except to suffer slight losses by having the games played in the daytime. But night games will be started in the near future, probably Friday, and attendance should take a heavy leap forward.

Abilene probably set some sort of a record yesterday when 21 customers paid cash on the line to see their club have the Big Spring team at a 1-0 defeat. Just why no one seems to know but Abilene has proven time and again that it is not a baseball town. Any of the small towns around it will consistently outdraw Abilene. J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league, dropped several thousand dollars in Abilene in 1928-29, although turning out a pennant winner and a second place team.

Reports from the northern half of the league indicate the Pampa club is going to be hard to stop. They are declared to be strong even though Lubbock at the bat. Fred Pietras, a second baseman who had a trial with the Cowboys but was given his release because of a sore arm, has been hitting around the 500 mark for the Oilers. Bill Garbe, with the Midland Cardinals last year, has also been a large help on offense. The Oilers will be here Friday and Saturday.

This is that—Two of the hurlers sent the Big Spring club by the Yankees were treated rather handsily in their debut against Abilene. Windmill Brown cinched a salary for a while longer with the Barons yesterday although losing that 1-0 game. Something should be done about Ladies Day here. This is one of the bright remarks that came from one of the fannies yesterday: "No wonder Lamesa can beat our boys—those players are professionals." Ouch! Next Sunday has been designated National Semi-Pro Baseball Day.

This department is indebted to Conrad H. Hasse of the Spaulding Bros. for an official baseball guide. In it can be found the averages of all players in organized baseball last year, playing rules and a lot of other very useful information. Hank Hart picks the Cowboys to wind up the season in the cellar and the Barons to wind up third. Just in case the Cowboys do wind up on the bottom, there are very few on the roster right now that will be around to see the finish. Lamesa capped the opening day cup with 1400 paid admissions. Right now, the farm town is outdrawing all other towns. Over 500 paid to see last Saturday's game and approximately 1,000 were on hand Sunday. The softball league opens play this afternoon with six clubs.

And while we're on the subject of color, we noticed an attractive kitchen floor covering recently. Matching the western motif which, along with knotty pine finish, distinguishes a new home in Midland, was the kitchen linoleum in the center of which appeared a trio of Mexican designs—a peon, a cactus, and some other article—in colors which repeated the hazy, cloudlike tints in the linoleum background. Quite unusual and quite effective.

The last word in glove fashions is to have gloves of black lace and net with "fingernails" of pink nacre beads. You don't believe it? A recent fashion letter from Paris describes these very gloves. Just call it a glove, this year, and it will get by.

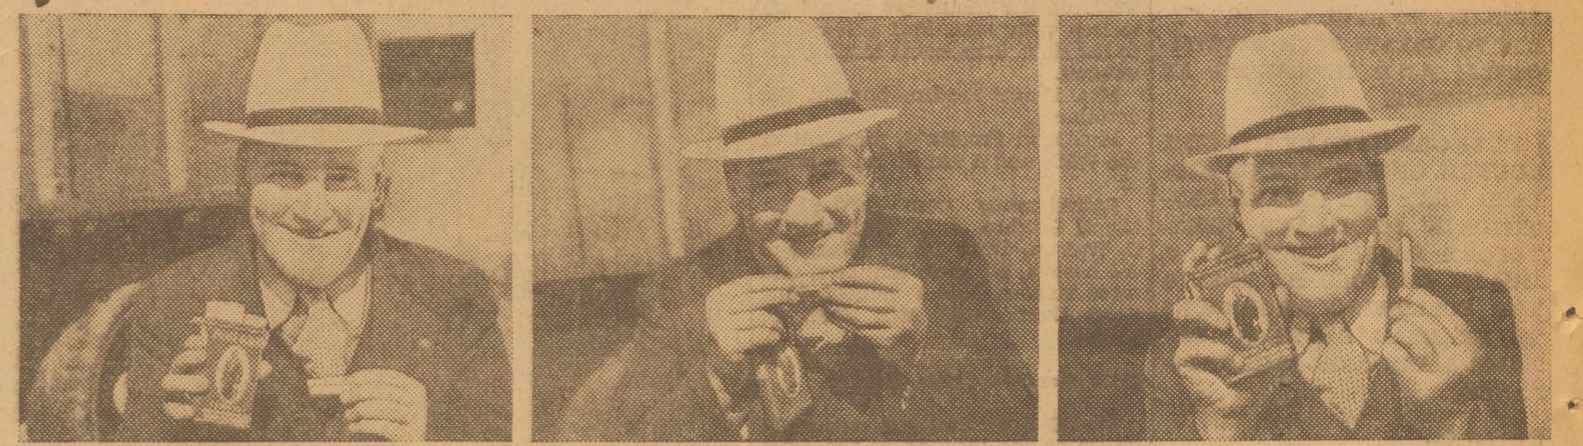

'Nazi Spy' Film Made Behind Locked Doors. "Confessions of a Nazi Spy," the sensational Warner Bros. picture coming to the Yucca theatre Sunday, represents a complete reversal of Hollywood precedent in more ways than one.

In the first place, the motion picture producers in the past have avoided controversial subjects like the plague. But Warners could hardly have chosen a subject packed with more potential dynamite than the spy picture.

Then, contrary to all precedent, they literally filmed the picture behind locked doors. No one not directly concerned with the production was allowed on the set. This rule was rigidly adhered to, with no exceptions made for executives of the company or members of the press.

Ordinarily, studios are anxious to announce the casts of their pictures. That's showmanship and good advertising, for every name added to a cast means additional fans at the box office. After the first ten principals had been chosen for "Confessions of a Nazi Spy," however, Warners clamped down on all casting news and announced that the rest of the players would be known by number instead of name.

3 AND THERE SHE IS—rolled slick as a whistle! "But," Harry says, "the best is yet to come—that mildness, mellowness, and good, rich taste. Prince Albert puts in every puff!" (Pipe-smokers say: "Ditto!")

FANCIES FEMINE

The Daily Texan, on which we got our first reporting experience while a student in the University of Texas, again makes the top rank in college newspapers. Makes us feel rather proud of the old school. Prouder than usual, we should say to be accurate, since we are always proud to claim the University of Texas as our Alma Mater.

The newest idea is to match your pottery table service with knives, forks, and spoons whose handles are in matching colors. These are guaranteed to make even the knife-grinder and fork-wielder's antics more colorful, if no less reprehensible.

For picnics and informal dining or for use in cottage homes, these bright "silver" sets are tops.

Also in the realm of colored pottery ware, we've been noticing rectangular small trays which will do splendidly for serving cream and sugar, salads and sauces, or even just bread for a large group.

If you're the mother of a large household and have hitherto found the brilliant blues, yellows, greens, and reds in the various pottery wares did not provide bowls of sufficient magnitude for your family, take heart and look again. Generous family-sized bowls with covers are now being shown, rectangular in shape at the top and footed, in colors to match the plates and cups.

Just right for those quantities of green beans and black-eyed peas and buttered new potatoes for which the family will clamor during the summer months.

And while we're on the subject of color, we noticed an attractive kitchen floor covering recently. Matching the western motif which, along with knotty pine finish, distinguishes

Lines from beginning to end before a picture starts. Only ten instead of the usual 150 scripts for "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" were mimeographed, however. These were given to six of the principals, the director, supervisor and two trusted department heads. The rest of the players got only one day's lines at a time. Thus, they didn't know the complete story until the picture was finished.

Texas Today

By Associated Press

When great-grandma climbed in to the wagon and went to hear grand-uncle Pike declaim: "Why dost thoust faint, thou maiden fair" at Harmony Hall school house, she helped build Texas as surely as political destinies of the erstwhile Republic at San Jacinto. For those early Texans established a homely foundation for Lone Star culture through their "literaries."

Those literaries paid dividends, for their progeny supplied the civil leaders in the days when oratory was a corollary of statesmanship. They still bear fruit in the medium of the Texas state school interscholastic League contests, the largest "school literary" in the nation, which recently completed the semifinal rounds in 32 districts and eight regions. More than 5,000 white public schools, representing approximately 75 per cent of the state's 1,076,028 school children, competed for honors in public speaking, reading, writing and kindred subjects.

This descendant of the frontier "literary" glorified and expanded to undreamed heights, will climax its 29th annual program when the finals are held at the University of Texas May 4, 5 and 6.

What is now known as the Interscholastic League was organized in December, 1910, at the state teachers' meeting at Abilene. It has been organized each year since by a bureau of extension division of the University of Texas.

The first year the league's activities were confined to debates among the high schools affiliated with the university. The next year, contests in declamation were added and membership was opened to all schools below college rank. Later, essay writing, athletics, music memory, typewriting, art the 3-R's were added. The program was never static, the events depending upon their popularity with Texas educators and students.

Today, the list of events in the Austin finals offers competition to one-act plays, Journalism, track and field, Rural pentathlon, tennis, reading writing (essay), debate, extemporaneous speech, declamation, typing, shorthand, and 3-R's.

All events are open to both boys and girls except track and field and the rural pentathlon. In most events, however, each sex competes with itself. Usually, schools are divided into classes according to enrollment so that their representatives will meet representatives of other schools approximately of the same size. To make further distinction, city and rural divisions are made where it has been found that aspects on the subject-matter than will city children. And in events in which ward or grammar school children compete, grade students appear in one group and high school students in another.

Early in the school year most schools planning to enter competition begin laying their campaign for selecting representatives. Special teachers usually are assigned to coach individual events and in some schools, such as Abilene High, designated class periods are devoted each day to working on certain contests.

When the date for selecting definite entries for individual schools arrives, intra-school contests are held. Winners then appear in city-wide contests, usually held late in March. Those who win the county events are entitled to enter the district meets during the first two weeks in April.

By this time, survivors have been narrowed to competitors of 32 districts, who gather at eight points about the state for the regional contests. Winners of regional events enter the Austin finals. Those who win their events in the finals receive trophies for their schools, medals or certificates for themselves.

Spelling is included—but the "a to zymurgy" teams complete their work in the city or county-wide contests along with several other events—most of which are limited to ward or grammar school children.

Spellers are given a long list of difficult words. If they write perfect papers they receive special recognition from the University in the form of certificates; but they compete no further than their first contest.

Many counties hold contests for grade school students in choral singing, spelling and plain writing, essay writing, story-telling, music and picture memory, and number sense. The latter is nothing more than a test in solving arithmetic problems. Music and picture memory involve identification of music and art classes. Story-telling tests the ability of the youngster to read a previously unidentified story and then tell it to an audience. The HOLLYWOOD. — Mortimer Q. Moviegoer will refuse to believe what he sees and hears in "Angels Making Music" — the parts, I mean, where 45 oddly assorted children play symphonic selections under the leadership of Walter Brennan.

Monsieur Mortimer will suspect that these kids are just actors, sawing away at dummy instruments in tempo with an unseen orchestra of adults.

Fact is that the only movie trick involved is the leadership of Brennan. He is a terrible conductor and is the first to admit that he knows even less about music than these small musicians know about acting.

In the picture he plays the role of an idealistic teacher who organizes and heads a music school for poor youngsters of the Bronx.

Brennan's part is strikingly like the real story of the actual conductor of the California Junior Symphony. However, Samuel Goldwyn and his associates didn't even know other contests are self-explanatory.

Winners in these special "county events" receive certificates or similar awards from the state contest directors.

Those who follow high school sports know that the Interscholastic League also governs Texas high school basketball and football. Since these take place earlier in the year they are not considered portions of the annual spring program.

Today's league motto is "Golem ingenui puerilis calcar industriae," which in working English means "The super to industry, the whetstone of talent."

They wear shabby clothes, and Merenblum has bought shoes for some of them. They have cheap instruments—even $3 and $5 violins. The orchestra is woefully short on some of the costly things such as violas, double basses and percussion accessories.

Merenblum visibly shudders at the thought of all the thousands of good instruments of all kinds which are packed away in the attics of non-musical owners. Even the lending of one decent fiddle might mean a career for some underprivileged prodigy.

STRICTLY NON-COMMERCIAL

The orchestra needs a lot of other things—a hall of its own for the Saturday rehearsals, music stands, and especially a library. Music costs a lot; even a modest library for 100 pieces is worth about $5000.

In spite of its poverty there is no intention of making the California Junior Symphony Association (recently Inc.) a commercial enterprise. It has been invited to take part in a concert in the Hollywood Bowl this summer, but if there is any money it will go into the treasury and not to the pockets of the members.
