Last Rites for W. F. Scarborough Are Held Today

More than 600 persons thronged the First Baptist church auditorium here today, paying last respects to W. F. Scarborough, 72, pioneer Midland cattlemen whose death occurred Tuesday night at a Kernit hospital. Ranch families and other residents of counties within a 75 mile radius of Midland attended the funeral in large numbers. From Ft. Worth and other cities there also was a large attendance.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. H. D. Bruce, pastor of the First Baptist church here of which Mr. Scarborough had been a member for almost forty years. He was assisted by the Rev. Jeff D. Ray of Fort Worth, the Rev. A. D. Foreman of San Angelo, Dr. B. A. Copas and Dr. J. W. Bruner of Fort Worth. Special songs and scripture readings were given, having been selected by members of the Scarborough family.

Huge floral offerings, hundreds of telegrams from various parts of the country and one of the longest funeral processions in recent years here indicated the esteem with which Mr. Scarborough was regarded. He was buried at Fairview cemetery beside his wife, the late Mrs. Kara Wyman Scarborough, whose death occurred August 1, 1937.

Survivors, present for the funeral, included five daughters of Mr. Scarborough, Mrs. Myrtle Scarborough-Smith, Mrs. T. R. Lineberry, Misses Leta and Lucille Scarborough, all of Midland, and Mrs. Zach Collier of El Paso, and their families; Dr. Lee R. Scarborough of Fort Worth brother of the cattleman, Mrs. Lee Scarborough, their sons, Warren and Byron, and their daughter, Mrs. Foreman of San Angelo; Mrs. Hollis Scarborough and children of Kernit, and a large number of nieces, nephews, grandchildren and relatives of the deceased.

Mr. Scarborough, born at Lexington, Texas, January 3, 1867, resided in Jones county while a young man, having been married there to Miss Kara Wyman on March 28, 1885. After living for a while at Matador, they moved to Midland 39 years ago and the family residence has been here ever since that time.

Meanwhile, Mr. Scarborough has operated ranches in various parts of the Midland territory and, at the time of his death, owned 100 sections in Winkler, Andrews and Loving counties and in Lea county, New Mexico. On these ranges he had well bred Hereford cattle, also a number of producing oil wells on the Winkler and Loving county ranches.

He was a substantial contributor to religious causes and to charities, having donated large sums to the First Baptist church of Midland and to the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth, of which his brother, Dr. Lee R. Scarborough, is president.

Pall bearers at the funeral service included Ed M. Whitaker, Foy Proctor, Ellis Summers of Kernit, Lewis Bever of Hope, N. M., Bob Beverly, Lovington, N. M., Henry Scott, Hunter Irwin of Andrews, and Clarence Scharbauer.

Honorary pall bearers were J. C. Roberts, T. S. Patterson, Henry Smith of Eunice, N. M., Aldredge Estes, J. B. Walton of Kernit, Dick Dillard of Andrews, Frank Price of Andrews, M. M. Fisher of Andrews, J. T. Smith of Plainview, M. D. Johnson, Arthur Wasson, Big Spring, E. H. Barron, E. G. Bedford, Hilary Bedford, George Ratliff, J. P. Butler, R. M. Barron, W. H. Spaulding, T. O. Midkiff, John M. Gist, John Burleson of Lubbock, Dr. V. V. Clark of Lubbock, W. W. Lackey, A. C. Francis, Will Gates and W. H. Strader.

Legislature Finally Ends Wednesday

Longest Session History Closed, All Solons Start Home

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—The forty-sixth legislature adjourned its general session sine die at 6:54 p. m. Wednesday.

At that time Lieut.-Gov. Coke Stevenson of Junction rapped his gavel and formally declared the senate had adjourned.

Similar functions had been performed in the house of representatives by Speaker Emmett Morse of Houston at 6:42 p. m.

Only a hand full of representatives were in the house and only one member of the senate, Senator Houghton Brownlee of Austin, when the officers of the legislative branches terminated the longest session in Texas history.

All except routine odds and ends of business had been completed hours before and most of the legislators had departed for their homes.

After signing a few bills sent over from the house at the last minute, Stevenson, who by virtue of being lieutenant governor also is president of the senate, solemnly adjourned.

"The senator from Travis (county) moves that the senate adjourn sine die," said Stevenson. "All in favor vote aye; all opposed, no."

"Aye," cried the press correspondents, just for fun.

"The ayes have it," Stevenson solemnly announced.

Morse's last duty before the formal adjournment also was signing bills. The law requires that bills be signed "in the presence" of the house and the senate.

Since the middle of the afternoon when other work of the session had been suspended members had been cleaning out their desks, packing papers in boxes and rallying around a piano near the speaker's stand to sing familiar tunes.

When Morse had affixed his signature to the last bill, he gave the bills to a clerk to read the captions.

Then the Rev. G. H. Coltrin, house chaplain, delivered a brief prayer, asking divine blessing on the membership of the legislature and its work.

"Take the good that we have done, O Lord, and magnify it," he prayed.

Fear of Dollar's Fate Keeps All Business Shaky, Flynn Declares

Last of six articles on ways and means to break the jam of idle investment money now impeding a business revival.

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
(Written for NEA Service.)

THE government should put an end, once and for all, to all uncertainty about the fate of the dollar. This includes not merely the matter of further devaluation, but the issuance of currency against the profit.

To this end the President's power over the dollar should be ended and Congress should resume its control over that subject.

But this is not nearly so serious as the possibility of the conversion of the last and future gold profits into currency. The fear of that should be definitely ended by a declaration by both party leaderships.

STOP PEGGING FARM PRICES.

AS for farm troubles—at least one reform should be inaugurated. There should be an end to all price fixing, including price pegging on the major crops, subsidy payments and price pegging through the Surplus Commodity Corporation.

Mayor Ulmer Tells Rotarians About World Fair Trip

Mayor M. C. Ulmer, who recently returned from a three weeks vacation trip in the north and east, talked at the Rotary club luncheon today, giving impressions of New York City and especially the world's fair there. His detailed description of the Trylon and the Perisphere, with the principles on which they were erected, was interesting. Mr. Ulmer also told of shows which he witnessed, expressing high commendation for the Abraham Lincoln play as an inspiration for better citizenship.

Visitors at the luncheon included E. B. Soper of Denver, Judge Chas. Gibbs of San Angelo and Chas. E. Schlessner of Midland, New York and California.

President Clinton Lackey read a telegram from Fred Wemple, one of the eight Midland citizens attending the convention of Rotary International at Cleveland, announcing that J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls, Texas, had been elected a director of Rotary International. A letter from Addison Wadley who also is attending the convention, was read, giving high lights of the big assembly which has approximately 12,000 delegates registered.

Resignation of Gov. Leche of Louisiana Effective Monday

BATON ROUGE, June 22 (AP)—An inquiry was launched by the Works Progress Administration into "all charges involving WPA" in Louisiana today behind closed doors.

Meanwhile, at the state house politicians discussed last night's surprise announcement by Governor Leche he would resign next week, turning the office over to Lieutenant Governor Early Long. Leche gave ill health as his reason for the action.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 21 (AP)—Governor Richard W. Leche last night suddenly announced his resignation, to become effective next week, which action will elevate Lieut. Governor Earl K. Long, brother of the late Huey Long, to the governorship he has long sought.

The retiring governor gave ill health, following two severe attacks of arthritis, as reason for his action.

The announcement came after three days of continuous conferences at the governor's mansion with state officials and aides during which Leche has refused any public comment on the action of state WPA administrator J. H. Crutcher, who said he had asked Washington for a "complete and immediate investigation of all charges involving the WPA" and that such inquiry already had begun.

WPA investigators today began taking testimony in secret in Baton Rouge.

Leche, former lieutenant of Huey Long, will leave the governor's chair almost eleven months before his term runs out next May, and slightly more than three years after he was picked by the old Long machine as a compromise candidate for the governorship.

In his announcement last night he made specific mention of Long's succession, adding "Mr. Long has tremendous backing throughout the country, and is the announced choice of Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans."

3 Billion Is Asked as Aid To Business

Self-Liquidating Projects Listed by President in Note

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt proposed to congress today a $3,860,000,000 (billions) program for stimulating business through self-liquidating projects and low cost housing developments.

The President estimated $870,000,000 would be disbursed in federal loans starting July 1.

The remainder of the program, split into six types of self-liquidating projects, would continue for from two to seven years.

The President said in the long run the program would not cost taxpayers a cent so far as the self-liquidating projects were concerned.

Walter Fay Cowden To Represent City At Big Spring Rodeo

Representing Midland in the Cowgirl Sponsors Contest at the annual Big Spring Rodeo tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday, will be Miss Walter Fay Cowden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cowden, the Midland sponsor to ride in the parade tomorrow morning and to participate in each rodeo performance during the three days. She is being sponsored by the Midland chamber of commerce. Miss Cowden has represented Midland at various rodeos over West Texas and New Mexico, and last fall was among the West Texas cowgirls participating in the Madison Square Garden Rodeo. She was also one of the eight West Texas cowgirls featured at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show and Rodeo last spring. She was first place winner in the sponsors contest at the Lovington, New Mexico, rodeo in 1937.

JAP-BRITISH CLASH IS AVERTED

Southern Yoakum in Limelight as Three Important Tests Are Staked

BY FRANK GARDNER.
A trio of interesting new tests, two of them staked by Alcoa Oil Company, was announced today for southern Yoakum.

Fred M. Allison of Corsicana has awarded contract to George P. Livermore of Odessa to drill No. 1 D. Bush estate, a wildcat a mile and a half northeast of the Bennett pool and a mile south of Shell Oil Company, Inc.'s No. 1 Waples-Platter Company, discovery pumper. Exact location has not been announced, but probably will be in the southwest corner of the west 20 acres of the northwest quarter of section 764 block D. It is a farmout from W. Frank Walker of Tulsa.

The other new Alcoa location is for a link test between the Walker and Roberts areas west of the main Denver pool. It is the No. 1 Madison No. 1 Walker, discovery of section 794, block D. Location falls a half mile southeast of Shell No. 1 Mrs. Dora Roberts, discovery well of the Roberts area, and seven-eighths of a mile due west of The Texas Company No. 1 Walker, discovery of section 8, block 35, township 4 north, T. & P. survey No. 1. McGinty will start drilling with rotary immediately.

Deepest test yet drilled in the Roberts area, Shell No. 7 Roberts is preparing to swab through 2-inch tubing set at 5,237, three feet off bottom. It had failed to flow after swabbing tubing for 18 hours and bottomed at 5,200. The test is a two-location west outpost to production.

Dawson Test in Lime.
Lime was topped at 3,780 feet by Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1, J. B. Fry, southeastern Dawson No. 1, block 35, township 4 north, T. & P. survey No. 1. The marker is running 83 feet higher than the old Humble No. 1 Slaughter, northeastern Martin wildcat nine miles to the southwest, but a lower sand break shows the Magnolia test now running approximately 100 feet high. Core was taken from 4,057-72, of which top two feet were red sandy shale, next 10 feet gray lime, and bottom three feet red shale. This morning, the test was drilling ahead at 4,914 feet in lime.

Richmond Drilling Company and William F. Hanagan No. 1 University, southwestern Andrews wildcat, recovered last drillpipe and this morning was drilling ahead at 4,362 feet in lime. Operators plan to core as soon as formation softens.

S. W. Richardson No. 1-B Sue Alice Slaughter, in southwestern Hockley's Slaughter pool, flowed 409.75 barrels of oil on 24-hour production gauge to set 24-hour potential of 1,639 barrels of 31.6-gravity crude with gas-oil ratio of 600-1. It had been acidized with 8,000 gallons in pay time between 4,882 and 4,975 feet, the total depth.

Texaco No. 6 Bob Slaughter block, after re-treating with 5,000 gallons as follow-up to original 2,000-gallon job, is flowing into pits while cleaning, making an estimated 15 barrels of fluid per hour, 90 per cent oil and the balance basic sediment and acid water.

Texaco No. 1-D Mallett, west-side Slaughter test, is drilling below 4,716 feet in lime.

Gulf Holt Swabbing.
Fluid could not be swabbed below 1,500 feet from the top in Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1 O. B. Holt deep pay discovery a half-mile west of the North Cowden pool in northern Ector, after re-acidizing with 5,000 gallons. At last reports, 215 barrels of oil and acid water had been recovered, and swabbing still was underway. The well is bottomed at 5,177 feet, plugged back from 5,200 to shut off water. It had swabbed 82 1/2 barrels of new oil in three hours following first acid treatment of 1,000 gallons.

H. A. Hedberg of Fort Worth No. 1 H. E. Cummins, in the northeast corner of the Goldsmith pool of Ector, flowed 16.56 barrels of 36-gravity crude the last half of 12-hour gauge to rate daily potential of 66.24 barrels. Gas-oil ratio is 2,812-1. The well topped pay at 4,146 and is bottomed in lime at 4,194, where it was acidized with 4,000 gallons.

Sloan & Zook Company and Ferndale Drilling Company No. 1 J. L. Johnson, Ector wildcat three miles south of the North Cowden pool, is drilling below 3,965 feet in lime.

Lea Test Hits Water.
Magnolia No. 1-S State, Lea county, N. M. wildcat three miles north of the Vacuum pool, encountered 10 gallons of water per hour from 5,085-92 feet and is drilling ahead at 5,095 in lime.

New Warship Is Brought to Swatow Today

Yarnell Declares He Will Protect Lives, Property of Citizens

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The United States bluntly informed Japan today that, instead of clearing out of Chinese harbors, its warships will stay "as long as American citizens are in need of protection."

The United States had been told by Japanese to take the destroyer Pillsbury out of Swatow. Admiral Harry Yarnell, chief of the Asiatic fleet, refused.

He went even further, the navy disclosed today, and brought in another destroyer, the Pope. The gunboat Ashenville will follow from Hong Kong.

Two British destroyers also remained in the harbor. Some 40 Americans are at Swatow.

Admiral Yarnell, who is at Ching-wangtao on the North China coast, was said to have told Admiral Koshiro Okawa, commander of Japan's third fleet in Chinese waters, that the American navy's duty was to protect American lives and property wherever they existed and that it would execute its mission.

Clipper Takes Off For New York Today

VERSAILLES, June 22 (AP)—The Atlantic clipper took off today for New York with only eight of the 18 passengers she took to Europe on a "preview" flight.

Six already had chosen to stay for a longer visit when a combination of bad weather and a heavy mail load forced the clipper to leave four others behind.

Delay Is Granted In Lobbying Probe

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—A court of inquiry into lobbying activities during the recent general session of the legislature was indefinitely postponed today.

Justice of Peace Sam Rogers granted a continuance after E. L. Kuykendall, attorney for 15 persons summoned, said they had not had time to assemble all data requested.

Work Program for WTCC Outlined by Organization Head

ABILENE.—Copies of the work program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for 1939-1940, listing many constructive, far-reaching activities, have been mailed to directors of the regional organization in 180 affiliated cities and towns.

The program is made up of resolutions adopted at the 21st annual convention held in Abilene last month and includes the following plans:

Establish bureau for overcoming discriminatory freight rates and permanently organize Freight Rate Equality Federation.

VISITING BROTHER

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rosenbaum of Valparaiso, Ind., are visiting in the home of his brother, Bert Rosenbaum, Midland ranchman. The Indiana man left here 28 years ago, having worked for the C ranch first driving freight wagon and later in the office maintained at Midland.

TO CONVENTION.

C. R. Young and L. W. Kirby, of the Household Supply Co. of this city, and Bob Williams and Earl Smith, with the same company at Odessa, will leave early in the morning for Dallas to attend the mid-summer Frigidaire district convention.

TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

Leslie Barton Beemer, who underwent an emergency appendectomy recently, will leave a Midland hospital today and after a week's stay in town will return to his home in Oklahoma City.

PATIENT HOLDS OWN

Anna Mary Alkire, patient in a Midland hospital, is reported today to be holding her own and "might be a little better." She is the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Alkire.

Economics, 1900 and 1939

On the front page of a metropolitan newspaper recently appeared two articles whose contrast serves better than all the tomes of experts to accentuate the clash between economic thought of today and that of yesterday.

The first was an interview with a white-haired, spirited widow of 89, whose husband had been an early associate of John D. Rockefeller in the grain and oil business. When the husband died at the turn of the century, he left his widow stocks in the city's privately owned traction company, which had regularly paid 6% dividends.

"I lived on the dividend for a long time," she said. "But now there has been no dividend for two years. The city and the company are deadlocked over a new franchise. People complain about the street car service when there's a car every three minutes. We used to think ourselves lucky to have a car every 20 minutes."

"It used to be that I could get an able-bodied man to do my gardening. Now I have to take old men of 70. The young men don't want to work. Manual work is not good enough any more. People all want to take it easy."

Almost within hearing distance of this widow's home, a young and vigorous Catholic priest whose parish and problems lie in a great industrial community, lashed out from a convention rostrum in an attack on the "cupidity of wealth."

"Accustomed to respond only to self-interest and profit," he declared, "ignorant or contemptuous of all notions of stewardship and social function, and yet living under hallucinations of moral grandeur, wealth daily perpetrates a horror of mass starvation and exposure."

"The poor who have no purchasing power can make no appeal to the cupidity of wealth. There is nothing for it to do except change the system of control. America must erect a system in which wealth will not have the only way."

Neither of these persons is important in the political fight which is raging over attempted reformation of our economic system. It is a struggle which Americans of this generation probably will see settled in their lifetime.

The millions of citizens who are identified with neither camp, but who seek only the right to live in peace, happiness and reasonable security, hope that in between these two contrasting points of view a solution can be found without resort to violent political upheaval.

Barter With Athletes

During his six years as secretary of state, Cordell Hull has become known throughout the world for his "Yankee trading" policies. He has struck up reciprocal agreements with almost a score of nations and even some Republicans have handed him an occasional verbal bouquet for his efforts.

But it now appears that if Mr. Hull is going to compete with the totalitarian governments he will have to include in his bargain bag other items than soy beans and saddle soap, power pumps and paper products.

Italy, in its barter quest for coffee, has found a source of supply in Brazil. But Brazil is demanding in return not olive oil or wine, but a football player.

If that's the kind of twist future international trading takes, the United States will hold a full hand of athletes as well as natural resources.

And despite Congress' disapproval, Mr. Roosevelt might get that Argentine canned beef for the Navy after all. He could just ship them an Annapolis fullback.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON.—Chairmanship of the new Federal Security Agency probably will be offered to Clarence Addison Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Dykstra's name has been presented to President Roosevelt, and is expected to get the president's approval. The chairmanship is one of the most important jobs created by Roosevelt's two government reorganization plans, which become effective July 1.

In the Federal Security Agency will be the Social Security Board, the National Youth Administration, the Civilian Conservation Corps, the public Health Service, the Office of Education and the U. S. Employment Service.

President Roosevelt first offered the post to Arthur J. Altmeyer, head of the Social Security Board, but it is learned. Mr. Altmeyer turned it down, preferring to take reappointment to his present job. He comes up for reappointment this summer, and the term of office is six years; in that job Mr. Altmeyer (whose reappointment can be taken for granted) will serve out his term no matter who is elected President next year. The head of the Federal Security Agency, however, will be like a cabinet officer, in that he will keep his job only as long as the administration which named him stays in.

AND IF THERE MUST BE WAR —

ALTMAYER TO ROCHE TO DYKSTRA

When Mr. Altmeyer declined the job, the President is understood to have offered it to Josephine Roche, who was assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of the Public Health Service from Dec. 1, 1934, to Nov. 1, 1937. Miss Roche declined on the ground that she had to devote all her time to her private business (she owns and manages extensive coal mining properties in Colorado, and quit her treasury job on that account).

Mr. Altmeyer and Miss Roche, then are understood to have brought up the name of Mr. Dykstra. They enthusiastically approved his appointment, won the approval of others in the "welfare group" here, and presented the name to the President.

Whether Mr. Dykstra actually gets the job apparently depends on whether he wants it. He ranks high with President Roosevelt; indeed, it is believed here that Roosevelt was at least partly influential in getting the former city manager of Cincinnati named head of the University of Wisconsin.

BIG SAVING FOR EMPLOYERS

Speaking of the Social Security Board, a little-noticed provision of the amendments to the social security act, passed by the House and awaiting action in the Senate, will save employers something more than $60,000,000 a year.

This provision reduces the amount, though not the rate, of the unemployment compensation payroll tax. Under the present law, the employer pays three per cent on his total payroll; the amendment would require him to pay the tax only on the first $3000 of each individual wage or salary on his payroll, as is the case with old age insurance.

Incidentally, if the spending amendments pass and IF all American citizens should stand on their rights, the Social Security Board could be let in for a swell statistical headache. One amendment provides that the employer must notify each employee in writing, either quarterly or annually, how much money is being deducted from the employee's pay and sent on to the government; it also gives the employee the right to check with the SSB to see if the figure given him is correct. Now setting up the machinery to answer such requests, SSB people say they don't expect many of them — but there could be 32,000,000 a year.

Texas Today

Texas was not on the itinerary of the visiting king and queen, but more than a half century ago there dwelt for a time in northwest Texas a man who subsequently wielded more power in the British Empire than four generations of royalty.

Scions of great families of England, remittance men and devil-may-care fellows from the Tight Little Isle seeking excitement were familiar to the landscape of the Wilbarger county ranch owned by an English company. And he succeeded, old-timers who remember his stay say, because he fraternized with the cowboys, worked with them, played with them and so readily won their goodwill and confidence he obtained the information he sought.

When Balfour arrived at Doans Store at Doans Crossing on the Red river north of Vernon one spring afternoon in 1884, he was, to those who saw him, merely another of the host of adventurous young Englishmen then drifting into the cattle country. Slender but physically strong, friendly and courteous, he began making friends almost from the moment he clambered off from the rickety mail hack that had brought him from the railroad at Wichita Falls.

He gave no hint of his mission but went at once to Doans store, then the last provisioning station for the great cattle outfits driving up the trail from South Texas to Dodge City, Kan. From C. F. Doan he bought a complete outfit of "duckins," boots, Stetson, bandana and six-shooter.

Although only seven, Mrs. Bertha Doan Ross of Vernon, daughter of C. F. Doan, remembers the pleasant young Englishman. His attractive personality, friendliness and evident desire to be liked made a deep impression on her and other members of her family.

"He was not like most of the young Englishmen, especially the lords, who came to Doans," she recalled. "Most of them adopted superior, patronizing attitude towards the cowboys and, consequently, were thoroughly disliked by them and us. For if there was one thing the Texas cowboy and cowmen could not stand it was to be patronized, and woe to the man who took him at less than his own valuation."

"As a matter of fact, about a year before Mr. Balfour arrived the same company had sent a group of Englishmen, whose families were interested in the ranch, to investigate the loss of cattle."

"They came with a retinue of servants and camped under silk tents, a thing which the cowboys could never forgive. Worse was their superior attitude toward the Texans, which climaxed when the Englishmen told their negro porter he could eat with the rest of the 'servants,' meaning the cowboys."

"When the negro, ignorant of the nature of the Texas cowboy, imparted that information things began to happen. Several grabbed

Reports are coming in from the Midland Rotarians attending the convention of Rotary International at Cleveland. Four Midland couples are there, also a "delegate at large" from Odessa.

Fred Wemple writes in to give Grover Whalen credit for a perfect "share the wealth" plan. Fred still has the fillings in his teeth.

Addison Wadley sends in an editorial about Rotary, from the Cleveland News, which we hope to have in print either Friday or Sunday, as it really is a good one. He also gives the dope on others from this section attending the convention.

"Not having much trouble with Ily Pratt and Steve (Debnam)," he said, "but Fred is hard to keep track of, as is Tom Murphy of Odessa. He, you will remember, is the only 'delegate at large' in our bunch. The little boy asked his father what a delegate at large was and his father told him: 'Well, son, when I go to a convention and leave mother at home, I am a delegate at large.' Tom is the only one who doesn't have his wife along, so we call him the 'delegate at large.' Wish you had some of this rain they don't need up here."

The local delegates have been gone about a week now, so it's about time for their business firms or banks to be getting telegrams about some money.

The reason I didn't go, I was afraid Cleveland was so far I could not beat my checks home.

Those Rotarians know how to have a good time. Most of them have reached the age where financial ease, a game of golf and a good joke now and then, with adequate digestion of their food is all it takes to keep them happy.

their guns and, spattering bullets around his feet, suggested that the climate to the south would be more healthful. From then on the Englishmen might as well have been in London for all the information they were able to get."

Because young Balfour's attitude was so different from what had come to be associated with Englishmen, everybody at Doans, "took to him like a biting shoot."

"Mother used to say that he was one of the finest young men who ever came to Doans, and we entertained everybody, from lords to tramps," Mrs. Ross said.

It was an exciting scene on which young Balfour, now clothed in conventional cowboy garb, entered at Doans in '84. Preparations were making to take care of the great trail herds which soon would be moving up from South Texas.

Cowboys, heading for the spring

Wilbarger county, paused at Doans to stay overnight or longer. A dance nightly, horse races, shooting contests and similar activities provided entertainment. From the "territory" not far away came bands of Indians to play monte with the cowboys and add their share to the colorful setting.

It must have been a strange and exciting spectacle to the Englishman, who preferred mental exercise to physical exertion, but he soon became a part of it. Perhaps the individualism and direct action of the men of the frontier was the mold of his future life, because Arthur Balfour definitely was an individual, and throughout his long political career no one ever questioned his courage.

Like most Englishmen of good family, Balfour was an excellent horseman and his skill in the saddle. See (TEXAS TODAY) Page Five

WE WORK THE WIRES "HOT"

• Up among the "hot" wires, skilled linemen work to maintain your electric service. They use many special tools, heavy rubber gloves, cover the live wires with rubber blankets, and use other safety devices to protect them from the current. They do this hazardous work so that you won't be inconvenienced by having your electricity shut off unnecessarily.

Through the heat of summer, through windstorms and lightning, these men work to keep poles and wires in ship-shape condition that you and our other customers may receive dependable electric service.

American Women Refuse to Let Dictates of Style Regiment Them Into Dull Standardized "Uniforms"

BY MARIAN YOUNG,
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

Smart for sports and spectator sports are these youthful dresses. The model at left is of crease-resistant, semi-sheer linen in dark green with a white pin stripe, and is worn with white shoes and belt and a green white printed bandana. The two-piece outfit, right, also of semi-sheer linen, includes a medium blue skirt and a pink and white striped blouse. The snood is of pink fishnet.

NEW YORK. — Among smart New Yorkers the trend is away from the "uniform" type of street ensemble.

Just as town tweeds for fall, winter and spring have partly replaced more formal suits in navy and black, so silk prints, chic cotton suits and non-crushable, washable linen frocks threaten to crowd "the little black or navy sheer" out of the fashion picture.

This is not true in Paris. The smart Parisienne has black sheer day dresses for summer, black cloth coats with or without fur trimming for winter, solid color suits in black or navy or brown for early spring. Right now, she has a print or two for special occasions, but, by and large, she sticks to little black dresses with white touches.

Finds Light Washables Fill the Bill Perfectly.

The American woman, however, with her love of her country, her flair for wearing sports clothes, her desire to be comfortable as well as smart, is taking summer washables to her heart. She's especially thrilled with the new semi-sheer linens, gingham suits in conservative checks and plaids for town, louder patterns and colors for country.

She also likes rough-textured rayons which resemble linen crash and closely woven rayons which simulate hard finish worsted. She likes these in dusty, smoky shades as well as in pastel tones and bright colors.

She has been won away from the idea that only black and white look cool on hot days. She likes to top a black and white print with a scarlet straw cartwheel. She favors touches of canary yellow, royal blue, bright green and cyclamen pink. She likes splashy, flashy prints, but tones them down with plain black accessories.

Many Are Suited For Double Duty.

Many of the new washables in her wardrobe are double-duty affairs. She may have a blue and white check linen which, with navy accessories, is perfectly fine for lunching or shopping in town. With white sports shoes, a casual hat and a country-ish bag, it's ideal for the week-ends out of town or vacation at a resort. Short and boxy—are nice over conservative dark sheers, prints of cottons, and may be worn in town or country, with day dresses or with dance frocks. As a matter of fact, a short, boxy coat of white pique or semi-sheer linen is a simply fine investment. It will do day or night duty—anywhere.

Silhouetted against a rugged background of rock and trees are three charming linen frocks for town or country wear. The full-skirted model, left, comes in a tropical border print. In the center is a navy blue creation—crease-resistant because of the looseness of the weave. The dressier frock, right, is pistachio green with cypress, fuchsia and iris-lavender braid around skirt and sleeves.

Midland Girl Weds Dallas Man in Ceremony Monday

Miss Martha Chancellor of Midland, daughter of Rev. E. B. Chancellor of Snyder and Mrs. Chancellor, and Charles Porter of Dallas were married at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning in the home of a friend of the bridegroom in that city.

The wedding ceremony was read by the bride's father, formerly pastor of the First Christian church of Midland.

The bride wore an orchid dress of sheer silk, made with shirred bodice trimmed with rhinestone buttons and gored skirt. Her accessories were in white.

Mr. Porter is associated with an auto supply company in Dallas.

Mrs. Williams Hostess to Club Group Tuesday

Mrs. Ross Williams was hostess to her club group Tuesday afternoon at her home, 1007 W. Illinois.

Refreshments were served. Present were: Meses, Fred Wright, M. D. Self, I. E. Daniel, C. A. Mix, J. M. Armstrong, Cecil Yaden, and the hostess.

Portable Electric Ironer.

Home laundry almost doubles in the summer, so any appliance that will lighten the work is worth considering. There is now on the market a small, portable electric ironer, that will do both flat work and clothing in a jiffy. Inexpensive and easy to operate, it is equipped with elbow-control, allowing the operator freedom of both hands to manage the clothes. The whole machine can be carried to the coolest room, and it is compact enough to store on a shelf when not in use.

We, The Women

By RUTH MILLETT

One reason why women in business and the professions sometimes have less practical knowledge than men about what is being done in their fields of work is because women are shyer than men about poking around behind the scenes.

Well, the small town or city woman who visits New York this summer can see whatever she wants to see without any feeling of hesitancy.

An organization called "Career Tours"—which is operating under the wing of 35 organizations of business and professional women—is making it possible for women to kibitz on the way their work is being handled in a great city.

Whether she is a nurse, a doctor, an advertising woman, a musician, an artist, an interior decorator, an architect, a teacher, a retailer—or whatever—a visitor will get a chance to meet the top people in her field and see how they work.

Say a woman is interested in communication—telephone, telegraph, or radio. She will be shown such things as long distance operating rooms, overseas switchboards, or a control room where transatlantic telephone calls are conditioned for ocean crossing. She will have explained to her the way in which news pictures are sent over wires, the process by which telegrams are shot through pneumatic tubes under miles of city streets.

GROUP SHOULD INSPIRE FURTHER CO-OPERATION

If she is in fashion business she will be taken through one of the outstanding fashion schools, where she can watch students at work creating designs for textiles, costumes, hats or window displays. And she can follow that up by visiting a plant where the dyeing, weaving, knitting, and laboratory testing of materials will be explained by experts.

If examples of working women pulling together as they do in "Career Tours" were more common, women might get further in business and the professions.

Paris Presents—

That all France is not running to cover in fear of war is indicated by this Paris fashion model wearing a newly designed bathing suit (?) that leaves plenty of room for suntanning.

FEMININE FANCIES

By Kathleen Eiland

Piece goods sales always do make us want to fetch out scissors and needle and straightway busy ourselves at sewing. Maybe it's a good thing we seldom have the time to do so—or our wardrobe might be even less praiseworthy than at present.

Sewing must be rather like cooking—a more or less innate necessity in a woman's life which she

Easy Summer Clothes Are Hard to Wear

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

The truly beauty-minded woman chooses clothes for hot weather even more painstakingly than she selects costumes for any other time of year. She realizes that filmy chiffons, billowing cotton and other summery fabrics are not quite as easy to wear as trimly tailored fall suits, a fur jacket or a streamlined early spring ensemble.

For example, is she is very short and a bit on the plump side, she wouldn't dream of choosing a frock with an exaggeratedly full skirt, even though she knows that a billowing skirt which flares from the waistline often eliminates the need for a girdle. She wears a girde, hot weather or no, and picks skirts which make her will yearn for at odd moments now and then, no matter how busy she may be with what are sometimes termed the "more important things" of a career.

If you have not tried them before, do so some of these days: Boil white onions whole until tender, season and then sprinkle liberally, while still hot, with grated cheese. Rather nice, for a slight change in the menu.

Our vote goes: For convenience to the traveling bags with cozy individual elastic equipped holders for shoes; for sheer deliciousness, to the delicate, melting-in-your-mouth sweetness of peeled plums (the skin gives that sharp tang to the fruit); for super-necessity, to the good old electric fan; for thrills, to the planning of a long vacation trip to new places and new scenes.

Cold drinks are things that we mostly think are necessities on terrifically hot days. We've been rather surprised at the ease with which we've done without them on sunny days—by keeping our eyes fixed on the financial requirements for a vacation looming ahead. Of course, it didn't matter that, after several days' repressing of thirst, we suddenly threw economy to the winds and bought something that cost as much as the daily drinks several times over? We still had that virtuous feeling that we really were being economical.

Which should prove something or other about the often cock-eyed qualities of feminine economy.

seem taller and quite slender. Non descriptor prints seldom do as much for one as clothes should. If you like prints, by all means search for patterns with character.

Don't select transparent chiffon dresses for the office or business-like shopping trips. Femininity may be the keynote of the current fashion picture, but no executive thoroughly approves of the business girl who goes to work in dressy, afternoon-type clothes. Gossamer sheer, transparent effects by all means should be saved for afternoon and evening.

WHITE MUST BE KEPT WHITE

White shoes aren't smart on the streets of our largest cities. However, in smaller cities and at resorts where they may be worn, their charm depends entirely on how spotlessly white they are kept. White gloves, too, regardless of the locale, are dreadful unless immaculately clean. If you simply can't keep white gloves clean, wear dark ones.

Whatever you do, don't treat summer clothes more casually than you do your fall and winter ones. Keep slacks on special hangers, put shoe trees on toe pads in your beach sandals.

Prosecutor in Moe Annenberg Case May Become "Thomas Dewey" of Democrats

By MARY MARRBERRY
NEA Service Special Correspondent

CHICAGO.—A Democratic Dewey may be in the making here.

He's William J. Campbell, whose smile is just as boyish and engaging as that of Republican Presidential Possibility Thomas E. Dewey in New York City. Campbell is the young U. S. district attorney presenting the Annenberg and Skidmore case to the grand jury.

He smilingly insists that he is without political ambitions, but if the grand jury indicts Moses L. Annenberg, wealthy publisher and race-information dispenser, or William "Billy" Skidmore, gambling czar, Campbell might become a national figure over night.

While New York's Dewey built step by step his now national reputation as a prosecutor, starting with minor toughs and building up to the conviction of Tammany's Jimmy Hines, Campbell enters "big-time prosecutions" after only a few months in office.

NATIVE OF CHICAGO

The grand jury is to determine whether Annenberg or Skidmore have failed to pay income taxes they should have paid. Trial of either if indicted would command national attention.

Born on Chicago's west side and educated in Catholic schools, Campbell was graduated from Loyola University in 1926 with an LL.B. He is now 36, a large, well-built man with thick, graying hair.

District Attorney William Campbell and Mrs. Campbell.

a young, sunburned face and a healthy handclasp.

"I've never before held a political job," says Campbell, "and I prefer to regard myself as a lawyer, with an opportunity to do a useful piece of work in my profession. When the President appointed me as head of the Illinois NYA, it was a merit appointment. I did receive generous praise during my administration from the President, and I'm anxious to reflect credit on those who appointed me in this job. I'm not anxious to care out a career, however."

Despite his duties as district attorney, Campbell still is acting heard of the Illinois NYA. He has been interested in youth and its problems ever since, as a young lawyer, he defended poor young criminals as counsel for the Big Brother organization. Then, as personal attorney to Bishop Bernard J. Shell, he became a co-founder of the Catholic Youth Organization. He considers juvenile delinquency the most important field in crime today.

PUT YOUNGSTERS TO WORK

As NYA administrator, Campbell started a state-wide job hunt, sponsored 200 mass meetings throughout the state, and got jobs for 6-187 youths in 60 days. Recently he opened a job-creating contest, in which 300 prizes will be given to youths for ideas on new and unusual jobs that can be created.

Campbell takes keen interest in prosecution of cases which might reveal big income-tax dodgers. It is exceedingly important, he feels, that honesty in public and private business dealings be restored. Campbell declares, "Its most important phase is the effect on the juvenile mind," he contends. "Boys die won the respect and goodwill of the cowboys who taught him how to handle a rope and master other tricks of their trade.

With spring roundups in the offing men were scarce and the likeable Englishman had no difficulty getting a job from the foreman he had come to investigate.

Then for two weeks, the future prime minister of Great Britain worked as a Texas cowboy. He rode as recklessly as the others, engaged in their rough sports and refused to be "fazed" by their practical jokes.

Meanwhile he gathered the information he wanted sitting around a table in the foreman's office. He tried to learn respect for the law when they see that the big shots are prosecuted."

Two years ago Campbell married Marie Cloherly. They have a daughter, Marie, 8 months old.

the campfires at night hearing the cowcamp gossip and also saw cattle were being taken off the ranch with no record kept of their removal.

At the end of two weeks Balfour disappeared from the cattle camp on Blister Creek and reappeared at Doans. There he discarded the cowboy dress and sent a message for the foreman along with his credentials.

"Probably the most surprised man in Texas," Mrs. Ross said, "was that foreman when he walked into our store that day and found his erstwhile hand awaiting him."

In precise English Balfour went over the evidence he had gathered, forced the foreman to reveal where he had deposited the money for cattle taken illegally off the ranch, and obtained an order directing its transfer to the company. Then, informing the foreman that he was fired, he pointed to the road, explaining that it would be a good idea for him to make himself scarce in those parts.

Mr. Doan watched the scene. "Well," he declared at its conclusion, "you are one of the slickest cusses I ever ran into. You sure ain't like those dudsish Englishmen the company's been sending out here the past few years."

Balfour thanked the Doans for their hospitality and, leaving his card, rode to Wichita Falls, took a train to Kansas City, and there recovered the money for his company before returning to England.

For many years Balfour's card was a treasured possession of the Doan family, but it was lost in the fire which destroyed the Doan's "dobe house" Dec. 24, 1922. And with the burning of the card disappeared the last physical trace of Arthur J. Balfour's visit to the cattle country of Northwest Texas 55 years ago.

Arthur Balfour was prime minister of Great Britain from 1902 until 1905, after serving in the cabinets of his uncle, the Marquis of Salisbury, and those of other prime ministers. He visited Washington in 1917 as head of the British war mission, and died in 1930.

Cotton Marketing Quotas Favored by 12 Per Cent Farmers

COLLEGE STATION.—Anticipating fully 92 per cent compliance with 1939 cotton acreage allotments, AAA workers at state headquarters here do not expect much Texas cotton to be penalized through the application of cotton marketing quotas on this year's crop.

Arrangements nevertheless were made here this month to single out the comparatively few growers expected to exceed cotton acreage allotments and to place a 3-cent a pound tax on cotton they sell in excess of their marketing quotas.

E. N. Holmgren, state AAA administrator, explained that the tax, which is a cent larger than it was last year, will be collected by the buyer at the time of the sale.

A farm's marketing quota consists of either the normal or the actual production, whichever is the greater, of the farm's 1939 cotton acreage allotment—plus any carry-over cotton which would have been subject to a penalty had it been marketed in 1938.

Producers who have no carry-over penalty cotton and who plant within their 1939 cotton acreage allotments will receive white marketing cards and may sell all their cotton in 1939 without a penalty. The producer who overplants his allotment gets a red card. If he also has carryover penalty cotton on hand, he gets a blue card to go with the red one. If it happens that the producer with a blue and a white card actually produces less than his 1939 marketing quota, he may sell carryover penalty cotton, together with the 1939 crop, up to the amount of the 1939 quota without penalty; but any carryover cotton sold in excess of the 1939 quota will be subject to 2-cent penalty which prevailed in 1938.

COWBOYS DONATE ANOTHER TO SOX; WIND UP SERIES TONIGHT

Leonard to Get Chance to Stop Rabemen in Final

The Midland Cowboy infield last night fell apart like Humphy Dumpty in the fourth and fifth innings to donate the Amarillo Gold Sox six runs and their second win in a row, 9-1.

Playing errorless ball, the Cowboys would at least have been in the game until the ninth inning. But five bobbles in two frames were too much for pitcher Ray Abernathy and he was derailed in the fifth. Tex Nugent hurled one-hit ball until the ninth when the visitors put together three hits for another couple of runs.

The Cowboys get their final chance at the Gold Sox this half when they meet again tonight at 8:30. It will be "Slim" Leonard on the mound for the Cowboys and probably Thomas, one of the leading hurlers of the league, on the mound for the Rabemen. The Gold Sox will leave after the game and the Abilene Apaches will be here tomorrow night to open a three-game series.

The Cowboys missed several scoring chances last night, thanks to three double plays pulled by the visitors. The lone Midland run came in the third inning when, with three on and one out, Johnny Volk came through with a single to send Petzold home. Lynn Everson then hit into the first of the three double plays and that stopped the Cowboys for the rest of the night. Not a Midland runner advanced past second during the remainder of the game.

For the second straight night the Cowboys were held to less than a half dozen hits—all of them singles. Added to that, every member of the Midland infield made at least one error with Petzold getting a couple.

Abernathy gave up one hit in the first inning, then retired the side without a run to open last night's affair. In the home half of the first, Hale and Kerr singled but never made it all the way around.

James White, a Midland youngster playing left field for the Gold Sox, opened the second inning with a long homer over the left field wall and was followed by a couple of singles but only one run got home on the three hits.

The Cowboys got another man on in their half of the second when Wooten walked but he died on first as the next two men went out.

Pitcher Lynn temporarily lost his control in the third, handing out walks to Petzold, Hale and Kerr and giving Volk one he rapped for a single but he was invincible after that.

Bolton started the Amarillo big fourth by gaining first on Petzold's error. White then hit a perfect double play ball to Manager Hale on third but he muffed it, putting two men on. Parma laid down a sacrifice bunt to advance both men and catcher Mickey came through with a double to send them home. Lynn was an easy out but Holt punched out a Texas Leaguer over second to score Mickey, stole second and went to third on a passed ball. He same home after Jordan walked and Hudson singled.

Two more unearned runs came for the Gold Sox in the fifth. After Bolton flew out, Petzold and Saparito came through with consecutive errors although getting one man, and once more Mickey doubled to send a run home. Wooten chipped in with an error on Saparito's throw of Lynn's grounder to let Mickey score. Holt singled and Abernathy gave way to Nugent.

The Cowboys were getting runners on base in every inning, while Nugent was retiring the Sox in order until the eighth but it did no good. Nugent got eight of the visitors in a row before Jordan got to him for a single in the eighth.

The Gold Sox teed off once more in the ninth. After Sanders popped out to Petzold at short, Bolton came through with a long double. White popped out but Parma came through with a liner down the left field foul line that rolled under the fence and before the ball could be recovered by Volk Parma had circled the bases behind Bolton. Mickey then doubled but Lynn popped out to retire the side.

For the second night in a row it was catcher Mickey that did most of the damage to the Midland team. He drove in three runs with three doubles last night and tallied a couple more.

The dim glow of a single flashlight ushered the seven-pound, 12-ounce son of Mrs. Kenneth Wallace into the world.

Electricity was cut off from the hospital when an automobile knocked down a nearby utility pole. Arriving only a few minutes before the baby was born, the attending doctor was forced to use the improvised lighting system.

City Loses Senecas' Taxes and Voices Fears for Her Financial Scalp

By HERBERT K. LEWIS United Press Staff Correspondent

BUFFALO, N. Y. (U.P.)—A legal raid by Seneca Indians finds the city of Salamanca, N. Y., in grave danger of being scalped financially. If the tribe's court fight is successful, the city of 10,000 population may be deprived of much of its property tax revenue.

First skirmish in the court battle was won by the Red Men when Judge John Knight of the Buffalo district court denied a motion to dismiss the complaint filed against the city. In his opinion, Judge Knight said:

"While we are concerned here only with the right of the United States government to bring this suit (on behalf of the Indians), it is to be said that the laying of any tax by the city or by the municipality is an interference with the right of the tribes. Neither the land nor the occupancy are taxable."

This opinion was a serious blow to the city treasury, because virtually all of Salamanca is located within a strip of land 30 miles long and 1 1/2 miles wide which comprises the Allegany Indian Reservation.

Government attorneys announced that the case probably will be moved for trial during a summer term of the district court at Jamestown, N. Y.

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Senate passed a bill to clear the military record of Emerson J. French, who first enlisted in the army at Fort Bliss in 1897.

War Department records showed French deserted as a private while on a visit to El Paso, but was permitted to reenlist on recommendation of his troop commander for service in the Philippines. He later was honorably discharged. The bill now goes to the House.

Scientists Discover Perfect Lady, Esther, the 2,000-Year-Old Mummy

DURANGO, Colo. (U.P.)—"Esther, the perfect lady," who undoubtedly was enjoying wide popularity in Rio Perdidas de las Animas near here during the lifetime of Christ, again has become a center of attraction.

In 2,000 years, however, her admirers have changed from bronze swains to bespectacled scientists. Esther's mummified form was unearthed from ancient ruins in the valley of the "River of Lost Souls." Scientists reported that year-rings in numerous pieces of wood found near the site indicate the 20-year-old maiden living during the lifetime of Christ.

Men of science believe the mummy to be the best preserved one ever excavated in the southwest. Eastern scientists, attracted by the rare find, requested that Esther be shipped there for study.

In a few months she will be returned to her native land—in a display case — to occupy a place among the antiques housed in the museum building at Mesa Verde National Park.

Esther has a complete set of 32 teeth; a smooth leathery skin; nails on every finger and toe; and a remnant of a loin cloth around her slender hips. Beads strung on a 10-foot length of hair corn hang around her neck. Numerous other feminine ornaments were found in the grave. Esther is one of 26 skeletons unearthed in the Fall Creek ruins, seven miles east of Durango.

Mustang Boys Club Column

The Mustang Boys Club, believe it or not, is really conducting a summer camp for boys, and right in the city of Midland during the months of June and July. The only difference from a regular camp is that you eat and sleep at home, and it doesn't cost a red cent.

There is something doing every day of the week. Two whole mornings each week there are cool refreshing water sports for the Mustang group at the Pagoda swimming pool. This includes swimming and diving instruction, classes in life-saving and just plain water fun. The cost of the mornings fun is only five cents, with a Mustang card, with free transportation to Pagoda and back. The special swimming truck leaves the club at 8:45 and returns at 12:00 on Wednesday and Friday mornings.

Two nights and one day each week the Mustangs play softball with the five other teams of the Midland Softball League.

On Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings the club rooms are open for games, knot tying, first aid, signalling, fire-building, safety, aerobatics, hand-craft or what have you. Dozens of strange and original articles, made at home are being brought in daily. Speed contests in knot tying have aroused considerable interest. At the present moment Morris Richley holds the record of tying 10 standard knots in 31 7/10 seconds or about 3 seconds per knot. Some of the boys have learned to tie 40 knots and are learning more. Two boys are making elaborate deep sea diving helmets and hope to remain on the bottom of Pagoda for at least five minutes. One talented member, James Mims, has painted a remarkable sign advertising Pagoda and now located at the intersection of the Andrews highway with the main highway. Duffy Stanley has painted some unusual comic posters including the one used by the winning candidate for "Tailwaster" in the Lions Club.

About the first of August the big event of the summer will be staged. This happens to be a real honest-

Story of Revolt at Sea Has Great Sweep

"Mutiny on the Bounty," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sea classic that opens Friday at the Yucca Theatre, is a picture that must take the highest place of all sea dramas converted to the motion picture screen.

"Mutiny on the Bounty" a crowning production achievement of the late Irving G. Thalberg, is the sea adventure immortalized in the sensational book of Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall.

It is the true story of a scientific expedition of a group of men who rise in mutiny against the tyranny of their captain and who are eventually tracked down by the long arm of England's sea law and led back to an ignominious death on a yardarm.

Charles Laughton, as Captain Bligh, far surpasses any performance of his spectacular screen career. He gives the role of Bligh the breath of life that only the original Bligh could give it.

Clark Gable appears as the leader of the mutineers, Fletcher Christian, and through his characterization climbs one more notch higher as the most popular male star of the films.

Highway Officers Safety Instructors

AUSTIN. — Now is the time of year when stalwart highway patrolmen climb off their motorcycles and do class-room duty.

They are there as teachers detailed to instruction in traffic safety.

Ten colleges and universities in Texas this summer are offering studies in safety education, and the state police are frequently called on for material and teaching personnel in traffic safety.

The material, booklets, charts and surveys—goes out from state headquarters but the men are picked as instructors by their district patrol captains. Of the 60 per cent of the patrol who are college-trained, at least 44 studied teaching courses and a number of the patrolmen are former school teachers.

In several instances, schools asking for patrolmen as traffic instructors have requested their own graduates who are now on the patrol.

High School Group Swims at Pagoda Pool This Morning

A group of high school boys and girls met there this morning for a swim before the heat of the day set in.

Present were: Margaret Ann West, Charlotte Kinsey, Emily Jane Lamar, Mary Lee Snider, Betty Kimbrough, Hilda Vogel, Mary Helen Armstrong, Melba Schlosser.

Hugh Corrigan, Joe Haygood, Jim Turpin, Tommy Walsh, Bob Preston, Joe Conkling, Bobby Martin.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Elliott Powers and Mr. Powers have as their guests her parents, Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Leighton, her sister, Miss Marilyn Leighton, and her brother Robert Leighton of Iowa City. They will be here about two weeks.

Everybody's greatest ready-to-wear sale starts Friday morning. (Adv.)

Three U. S. Battleships Visit Quebec in July

QUEBEC (U.P.) — Quebec will see what is believed to be the largest squadron of American warships ever to visit the St. Lawrence river.

On July 10 the three battleships, New York, Arkansas and Texas—the "Midshipmen's Practice Squadron" of the U. S. Navy—will drop anchor here for 10 days' stay.

The ships are all of the older type, the sister ships New York and Texas being completed in 1912 and Arkansas a year earlier.

Nightly Thief Revealed As "Baskerville Hound"

LYNN, Mass. (U.P.) — They've been dog-gone. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson decided to get up early and lie in wait for the thief who had on successive nights stolen: a blanket, a rug, rubbers and sneakers from the back porch.

The huge black dog which proved to be the robber ran with such speed that they could neither identify him nor rescue the slippers which he had purloined before being frightened away.

"The Yankee Cook Book," edited by Imogene Wolcott. Here are nearly 600 recipes from the six New England states, representing the best of the best plain cooking in the world which have been brought together and tested by the editor, an expert in her field—recipes ranging from the much-debated chowders and baked beans to squirrel pie and red flannel hash. (Imogene Wolcott, has been for years a home and food authority who has broadcast daily over the entire Yankee network and who directs the Home-Makers' Service for a great chain grocery.) She knows her field and believes that anyone can be a fancy cook, but it takes a really good cook to be a plain cook.)

"Recreation for Girls and Women," by Ethel M. Bowers. This book, the result of many years' work with girls and visits to hundreds of cities fostering leisure time programs, offers definite plans and activities for worthwhile recreation.

"Handicrafts as a Hobby," by Robert E. Dodds. Leather work, painting on glass, metal flowers, book-making—these are but a few of the handicrafts included in this omnibus. Just the book for the hobbyist looking for a constructive and exciting way to spend his leisure time or for the student of arts and crafts. All of the exercises have been worked out in the classroom and require minimum of expense and equipment. Adults can carry out the instructions without the aid of an instructor; and children can execute them with little supervision.

"Safe Conduct: When to Behave—and Why," by Margaret Fishback. "Etiquette," says Margaret Fishback, "needs a thorough overhauling with new parts in the crankcase." Too many of our etiquette books have dealt with what to say to the archbishop and how to shift gears in a home congested with eighteen servants. But this sprightly volume, instead of frightening people with unnecessary rules, charts the proper course of behavior simply and practically, and "lets the boiled shirts fall where they may. All the needed information is here—invitations, introductions, table setting, how to run a wedding, and the like, and it all makes lively reading.

"Don't Say It," by John B. Opydyke: "The purpose of this book is to correct errors and to remove uncertainty about the spelling, pronunciation, use and meaning of the thousands of terms the average literate person may encounter or use in his daily round of listening and expressing himself. These terms represent the author's accumulation of 'troublesome' cases during his thirty-five years of English-teaching in schools and colleges in different parts of the United States."

"Huntsman, What Quarry?" Poems by Edna St. Vincent Millay. "This is the first book since the publication of THE BUCK IN THE SNOW in which Miss Millay has brought together a new group of her lyrical poems."

"Sunset Gun," poems by Dorothy Parker: "She has an uncanny way of placing on paper genuine emotion, 'without pointing.'" (N. Y. Eve. Post.)

Real County Made Her Share of History in Past Hundred Years

By the Associated Press

Real county, tucked in the heart of the "Hill" country of Texas' vast domain with a population averaging less than four persons to each of its 619 square miles, made pioneer Texas history. Goats feed among the brush and liveoaks in its canyons and on its rocky hillsides where a century ago Apache, Comanche and Lipan Indians stalked the early settlers. The crumbling ruins of pioneer log homes—sagging stone chimneys and dilapidated foundations—hidden away in the canyons off the beaten trails mutely tell a colorful story of the dangerous epoch represented by the attempts of the first settlers to tame the country.

Adjacent to Camp Wood the historic old mission, San Lorenzo de la Santa Cruz, may be traced in broken foundation stones and the debris of adobe brick. There is evidence that many buildings at one time stood within the walled grounds, and a number of pits excavated in recent times suggest the activity of souvenir seekers and, perhaps, treasure hunters. Through the years of quarried stone has been removed and used in other buildings throughout the canyon, and nearly all the chimneys for miles around contain stone from the abandoned mission.

The mission was established at the request of the Lipan Indians because the predatory Comanches were warring upon them as well as upon other less ferocious tribes. The Lipan chief, Cabezon, at El Canon on the east bank of the East Fork of the Nueces river in what is now Real county, sought protection of the Spanish missionaries and in due time the mission station was built. Bolten's history says it was founded by the Franciscan fathers, Ximenes, president of the Missions on the Rio Grande, and Joachin Banos, together with the Spanish Captain Rabago and the Lipan Chief Cabazon.

It was several years before the Mission was completed as the Indians had to be trained in the art of building. A garrison of twenty soldiers was placed at Camp Wood Jan. 23, 1762, thus making the earliest settlement in what is now Real county. The settlement proved a failure, however, and San Lorenzo de la Santa Cruz was short-lived both as a Mission and a presidio.

In 1767 the services of the Friars were judged unprofitable by Nicholas La Flora on his trip through El Canon. The Lipans were fierce and treacherous and were soon pursued to their new shelter where massacres took place. In 1769, the presidio was withdrawn and moved to San Fernando de Austria below the Rio Grande when all of this territory was New Spain.

For nearly a century after the abandonment of the Mission almost all of Canyon country reverted to wandering Indians. Many other tribes came in, including the Tonkawas and fierce battles raged. The country which was the wildest of Indian habitats, rarely was traversed by white men. Those who ventured in seldom were heard of afterward.

Short Course Plans Told by Director

COLLEGE STATION, Texas.

A preview of the program for the annual Texas A. and M. College Farmers' Short Course plus the interest expressed by farm and ranch families, has led H. H. Williamson, director of the Texas Extension Service, to predict that the 1939 session will be one of the most successful in recent years.

As in 1938, the current meeting will be divided into two sections—one on July 5, 6, and 7 for 4-H club boys and girls, and a second one on July 12, 13, and 14 for adults. Division of the Short Course allows the institution to provide sufficient accommodations for the crowds.

The 4-H club program will consist of selection of outstanding club members, talks by representatives to the recent National 4-H Club Encampment at Washington, D. C., social activities, and will be climaxed by the colorful ceremony of the good star awards to the 100 boys and 100 girls selected for this honor.

The theme of the adult program will be land use planning, with farm people taking the major part. Guest speakers will be headlined by A. F. Lever of South Carolina, former congressman who was joint author of the Smith-Lever bill on which extension work is based. Walter Jenkins of Houston will again lead the group singing.

There is no record of any attempt at settlement again until 1857, nearly one hundred years after the first tragic attempt to wrest this beautiful country from the native red man.

The old Mission which was still standing and in a very good state of preservation, in 1857 was occupied as an army post by Lieutenant Hood, who changed the name to Camp Wood. For the next quarter of a century there was bloody Indian warfare, the last massacre being in 1882.

A large Indian mound which dates further back than the old Mission, is taken as evidence that Indians occupied the spot prior to the sixteenth century. There are signs of a tunnel, or water ditch, about 150 feet long leading in a westerly direction, possibly to the Nueces river. Whether this was the work of the Monks, or the culture of the Aztec race, who occupied the country centuries before, is not definitely known. If the Aztecs made the ditches it is a foregone conclusion they had a crude system of irrigation.

The old government cemetery is across the highway from the Mission grounds, and a modern little home reposes peacefully over the graves of a dozen or more soldiers. Unless the history was known, no guest of that home would suspect the presence of the dead beneath.

Nature was lavish in supplying this region with an inexhaustible life-sustaining environment, and explains why primitive people chose the shaded canyons to establish their villages, and also why they opposed the invasion of white settlers. The canyons still are full of wild game, fish, berries, nut-bearing trees and other natural foods, which sustained the wild man in the historic times.

Frances Ellen Link Hostess With Hunt And Slumber Party

One of the week's social activities for the younger high school group was the slumber party with which Frances Ellen Link entertained early in the week. She has as her houseguest Bennie Heavington of Decatur, Texas.

Others besides the houseguest present were Bobby Wood, Muriel McHargue, Eula Ann Tolbert, Margaret Ann West, Mary Lee Snider, Emily Jane Lamar, another out-of-town guest whose name was not obtained, and the hostess, Charlotte Kinsey was a caller during the evening.

A scavenger hunt was also a part of the entertainment for the group.
