

City Assumes Responsibility For Cemetery

Bovina's city council, in an action-taking mood during a special meeting Monday night, voted to bring Bovina Cemetery under the city's jurisdiction and passed three ordinances.

In the action on the cemetery, the council was answering a request by officers of Bovina Cemetery Association -- for the city to assume control of the burial grounds. This request was made several months ago.

The councilmen voted unanimously in favor of the proposal Monday night.

Mayor Bedford Caldwell explained that separate books will be kept by the city for the cemetery. Dues will continue at their present rate of $10 per lot per year.

The cemetery association presently has approximately $3000 in its fund. This amount is expected to be turned over to the city along with the responsibility of maintenance and operation of the grounds.

Consensus of opinion of the council was that people would pay dues more willingly when the cemetery has better maintenance and management.

Council Passes Three Ordinances

Ordinances passed were one tagged an "anti-peddler" ordinance, one requiring that weeds and grass be cut on property and rubbish and trash removed, and one, called a "dog ordinance," requiring that dogs be tagged, vaccinated and kept in owner's care.

Details of the first two ordinances are explained in legal notices in this week's issue of The Blade. Publication of the dog ordinance will be made when Hurshel Harding, city attorney, prepares the ordinance according to the council's direction. This may be ready as early as next week, it was indicated.

Aimed primarily at transient salesmen, the peddler ordinance says, "It shall be unlawful for any peddler to sell or solicit in said City door to door, or to use the public streets of said City for purposes of soliciting or selling without first obtaining a license . . . which shall cost $25 for each person engaged in said city as a peddler, and said license shall be valid for a period of 30 days."

Exceptions to the ordinance include sales made to any dealers by commercial travelers or sales agents in due course of business, to sales made by vendors of farm or dairy products, for sales of daily newspapers delivered daily to residents, insurance salesmen, and local school, church or club-sponsored activities.

Fine for being convicted of violating the ordinance will be from $10 to $200.

The weed and rubbish ordinance makes it unlawful for anyone in charge of premises to allow weeds to grow on the premises, or trash or rubbish to accumulate on the premises to such an extent as is calculated to create a fire hazard or become injurious to the health of the citizens.

The ordinance also gives the city authority to have the property cleaned and then charge this cost against the property. It provides that this action will be taken only after the property owner has been given sufficient notice of the city's intentions.

Fine for violation of the ordinance is not to exceed $50. The city has had a dog ordinance in the past. However, the one passed Monday night says, in addition, that dogs must also "be kept in owner's care." Therefore, a dog even though tagged, is subject to being impounded.

The city is presently making plans to build kennels so stray dogs may be kept for a legal number of days after they are caught. Owners will have a reasonable length of time to claim their dogs after the dogs are picked up, it was pointed out during the discussion.

Just because it's still May and Bull Town Days isn't until the third weekend in August doesn't mean the event isn't already being promoted by ambitious beard growers.

Those sporting beards which we've seen or heard about include Pat Quintana, who was mentioned here a few weeks ago, Jon Lin Riddle, Larry Scott, Jerry Strawn, Jim Seaton and James Roach.

Whether those fellows can were the itchy whiskers from now until the annual community celebration remains to be seen. We hope they can. They have our best wishes and encouragement, but it's not an easy task.

Elton Venable is one we know about who started a partial-beard. But he let the temptation of a smooth-cutting razor get the best of him, and his whiskers, during the past few days, we understand.

The monetary encouragement for growing a beard is almost nil considering all the itchiness that goes with it. Shave permits are usually sold for about $2. Of course, you can add to this amount the savings on the cost of razor blades or electricity, if you use an electric razor.

The men who grow the beards all summer long are really entitled to more, according to our way of thinking. That may enter the beard-growing contest, it's true, but the winner of it, and there can be only one, gets little reward for his effort.

As a matter of fact, we believe the beard growers are the unsung heroes of Bull Town Days!

There's more yakkity-yak, kidding and horse play in Bovina Roping Club than any organization we've ever known about.

Smart and sarcastic remarks are a dime a dozen when members of the organization get together. Being thick-skinned is almost a prerequisite to being a member.

So, we don't envy the plight of one member, a leader in the club he is, who reportedly got lost prior to the beginning of the parade at Hereford Saturday and missed it all-together even though he was in Hereford and mounted.

Said member should be granted an excused absence from the next monthly meeting of the club to save his having to hear remarks which will no doubt be made in regard to the incident.

The remarks will be made, anyway, we feel sure, but if he isn't there, he won't have to hear them first hand.

Keith Garner, who farms northwest of Bovina, says he's changed the name of his place during the current drought from the Ponderosa to the Badlands.

Bovina's boys' baseball program is underway. Proof may be obtained any Monday, Tuesday, Thursday or Friday night from most any place in town if you'll just step outside and listen to the noise coming from the lighted ballfield.

Saturday can be added to the list of nights this week as the TV 10 Tigers from Amarillo will be in town to take on the Goldsmith Fireballs in a slow-pitch softball game, which starts at 7.

In Amarillo --

F.P. Wilson Dies Friday

Frank P. Wilson, Sr., 71-year-old director and stockholder of First State Bank of Bovina and former resident, died about 7:30 a.m. Friday in Amarillo of a heart attack. He was a resident of the Palisades near Amarillo.

Funeral services were held at 4 p.m. Saturday in Blackburn-Shaw Memorial Chapel in Amarillo with Dr. James Carroll, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial was in Memory Gardens Cemetery.

Frank P. Wilson was born Dec. 10, 1895 in Harrisonville, Mo. He was married to the former Miss Iris Kirk in Amarillo and the couple moved to a ranch north of Texline on the Oklahoma strip. They came to Bovina, where they lived for 20 years northwest of town. Mr. Wilson was a farmer and rancher here.

Following a year of retirement, the Wilsons moved to Amarillo about 11 years ago.

Mr. Wilson was an original director and stockholder of the First National Bank, which was established here in October, 1955. The name was later changed to First State Bank of Bovina and Mr. Wilson continued on the board of directors until the time of his death.

Most of the highway to be improved is in Parmer County. A seal coat will be applied from the New Mexico state line to the Deaf Smith county line. This stretch includes all of the highway through Parmer County and a short strip through Castro County.

Coated asphalt has already been hauled to several locations along the route and work is expected to get underway in the near future. Only about 10 days will be required for completing the coating, a spokesman said, after work is begun.

'67 Seniors Receive BHS Diplomas Friday

Before a large crowd of friends and relatives, 22 Bovina seniors for the last time walked across the stage of the school auditorium Friday night to receive their high school diplomas.

Grady Sorley, president of the school board, presented the certificates of graduation as Otis Spears, superintendent, called their names.

The 12 girls wore white caps and gowns and the 10 boys were dressed in maroon caps and gowns. The class marched into the auditorium and left following the ceremony while Tommy Spears, organist, played the processional and recessional.

The valedictory address was delivered by Miss Janie Hawkins who said, "There is plenty to be put right in America, poverty, injustice and inequality." She said the seniors want to be remembered as individuals.

"We did not live through the depression of the '30's, and the bomb was born before we were." The valedictorian of the class continued that the seniors are young enough to make mistakes, but old enough to be realistic; young enough to believe in the goodness of the human heart, and old enough to keep faith when disillusioned. Miss Nancy Hewitt, salutatorian, said the seniors welcome opportunity. "Within our hands is the future of our nation. We welcome the future." She continued that hard work is necessary for an individual to obtain success, and that it is up to the individual to make the world a better place.

The top ranking boy of the class, Lane Gober, read a poem titled, "Opportunity," and Gale Boyd, an honor student, spoke on that subject. She said that this nation is free, and freedom offers opportunity -- to attend college, work or study. The seniors are leaving, Miss Boyd said, to find a place in society. "Opportunity is just as great as I can see."

Miss Karen Beauchamp, the fifth honor student, gave the class history.

Invocation was given by senior student Eddi Corn and the benediction pronounced by Sorley.

"Halls of Ivy" was sung by the class, accompanied by Tommy

ALPHA AND OMEGA -- Josie Alonzo, left, and Gregg Wilson, right, are the first and last senior students, as listed alphabetically, who received their diplomas as graduates of Bovina

Delegates attending annual conference approved two proposals in a referendum vote. One was to dissolve the central jurisdiction and absorbing it into other jurisdictions according to locality.

Another proposal approved was the merger of the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren.

Both referendum approvals will be sent as recommendations from the Northwest Texas Conference to the jurisdiction and national conferences.

Rev. Cole had been at Oklahoma Lane two years.

Rev. Fowler is beginning his third year as pastor here.

TEN YEARS AGO
May 28, 1957
Bovina people were scared, alarmed, and/or excited, depending on the individual, Friday morning shortly before noon when a tornado, and possibly more than one, was sighted south of town.

J. W. Wright was elected president of Bovina Lions Club in a regular bi-monthly meeting Thursday night at Bovina Restaurant. Wright has served as Tail Twister for the past year. "Preparation Day" for the annual Vacation Bible School, sponsored by the First Baptist Church, will be Friday afternoon at 3.

Diplomas were presented to 26 eighth grade graduates Friday evening in the school auditorium.

Soaking spring rains -- welcomed by almost everyone -- have been frequent visitors to almost all of the western part of the High Plains during the past week.

League-leading Nazareth knocked Bovina's Central Plains Circuit Bulls out of the unbeaten ranks there Sunday afternoon, 4-2.

With the recent passing of the $30,000 street improvement bonds, the City of Bovina again reached out for bigger and better improvements. This is not the only bond issue which has been placed before the people for a vote; there have been four others, one of which failed.

A tornado ripped through a six-mile area near the Oklahoma Lane community at approximately 11 a.m., Friday, resulting in considerable damage at the E. H. Meeks farm.

The twister struck the Joe Brummett residence southeast of Friona, picked up and then dropped down again at the Ashford Hill and J. L. Stowers residences nearby. Then it raised again and traveled several miles northeast before coming down again on the H. H. Elmore farm.

Parmer County voters saw eye-to-eye with the majority of the ballot-markers throughout the state in Saturday's special U. S. Senate election, giving Republican John Tower a slight edge over his Democratic opponent, Bill Blakley.

Bids for construction of water and sewer lines into Bovina's proposed housing development will be read at 1 p.m., tomorrow in city hall.

Fellowship hall of First Baptist Church was scene of a tea honoring mothers of G. A. members recently. Joyce Hudson and Toni Vee Ivy presented a pantomime and Margie Carter played a piano solo.

Charles Thompson, Bovina High science teacher, has been awarded a stipend scholarship to Eastern New Mexico University by the National Science Foundation in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Harold Hawkins was feted with a surprise birthday dinner Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Estes.

Little League baseball is scheduled to get underway here Friday night. Two Pee Wee teams and four Little League clubs will be launching a two-month, 15-night season.

Bindweed, long a menace to most every High Plains farmer, was the main topic of discussion Monday night when about 35 farmers attended a meeting on weed control in Friona.

The newly-formed Parmer County Irrigation Gas Users Association continues to gain steam.

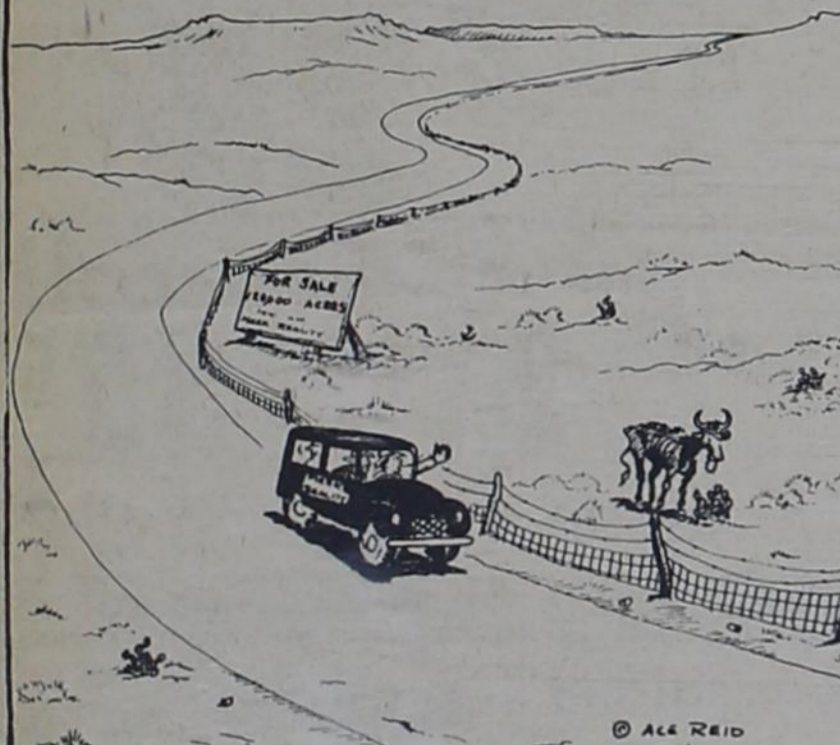

Mrs. G. E. Free hosted a covered dish luncheon for members of Widow's Club last Thursday in her home.

Couples Bridge Club was entertained Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Stevenson at their home.

Mrs. C. E. Trimble was honored with a birthday party Tuesday evening by members of the 39ers Birthday Club.

the baseball program fund. The admission is slight, but necessary, and here's hoping a good crowd is on hand to see the tilt and support the program.

The TV 10 Tigers, according to Jack McCracken, who is sort of their local front man, are undefeated during their past several games. The same team plays baseball, softball or slow-pitch softball, allowing the opposition to name the game. This should be an interesting group to watch, according to limited information we have on them. They've performed throughout the "Golden Spread," and we're fortunate to have them make an appearance here.

We know that people who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.

But we're going to take the liberty here to knock The Amarillo Daily News in a sympathetic sort of way.

Saturday morning, we turned quickly to our issue of The ADN to read a report of Friday's game between the Houston Astros, our favorite major league team, and the Chicago Cubs. On page two of the second section we looked. That page, which we thought would be sports news, turned out to be a re-run of page two of the first section of the paper. This irritated us for obvious reasons and especially because this was the page we figured the Astro game story would be on and we couldn't find it elsewhere.

Then, to make matters worse, we explained our plight to another ADN subscriber, Flossie Rhinehart, at the post office. We checked Flossie's paper to explain what we were complaining about.

Sure enough, her copy of the paper was right; not like our misprinted copy at all.

That sort of embarrassed us about complaining in the first place.

And we know better than to mention mistakes in our newspapers publicly, but we thought we'd try it just this once.

From Washington --

This summer's Head Start program for Bovina Schools is awaiting approval from Washington, D.C., according to Otis Spears, superintendent.

All is in readiness for the program to be held from June 5-July 28, but a recent call to Austin revealed that Bovina's application is "bogged down somewhere."

Head Start Class Awaiting Approval

Before classes can get underway, approval must be received from the Office of Economic Opportunity in Austin and Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D. C.

The first application for Head Start in 1967 was made in December. After revisions were made the final form was filed about the middle of March.

Teachers, lunch room employees, teachers aids and a bus driver have been secured for Head Start. All that is lacking is Federal approval.

Last year the program was operated here.

The Head Start program is designed for children who will be entering school for the first time in September, who either have a language barrier problem or any other problem that would make beginning school difficult.

An appeal is being made by Spears to area residents for names of children who will fit into the program. Anyone knowing such a child should contact Rev. Raymond Delgado, Principal Tom Templeton or Spears.

There is room for about 30 students more than those whose names are already in the hands of school officials.

If the Head Start program is held this summer, classes will be held from 7:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., Monday through Friday for 40 days, from June 5 until July 28.

On The Farm In Parmer County
By RONNY McNUTT
County Agent

This has been a hectic year to get a crop established and going according to many farmers visited over the county. Pre-plant irrigations moisture ran out in places before planting time. This was a result mainly from the wind drying it out. This loss of moisture caused some dry planting and watering up. Grain and cotton is still coming up that has been planted three weeks.

Sugar beets are looking real good over the county and making good growth. Growers should be on the lookout for the beet leafhopper. This insect causes little damage, however it is the vector for Curly Top Virus. The identification of the beet leafhopper is hard to make. It resembles several other leafhoppers. Identification has to be made by professional entomologist.

Leaf spot is a disease often attacking beets. It seems to be worse in rainy seasons. Fungicide should be applied at first symptoms.

Some cotton fields are up to fairly good stands and others are still coming up.

Early season insects that first attack cotton are thrips and fleahoppers. Thrips cause the most damage from emergence until early squaring. Thrip damage is characterized by wilted, wrinkled, blackened leaves and terminal growth. Shedding of small squares is another Thrip damage symptom.

Fleahoppers damage small squares causing them to shed from the plant. During early fruiting period 15-20 fleahoppers per 100 plants is generally considered an economic infestation.

The guide L-508 for controlling cotton insects in the high plains can be obtained from the county agents office in Farwell.

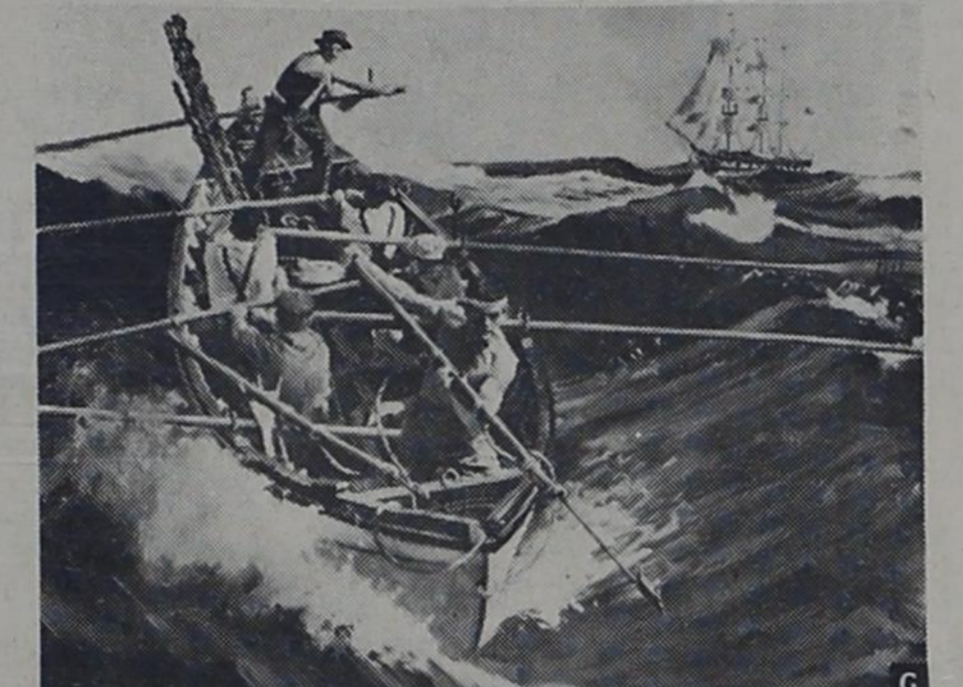

Timber is a renewable natural resource which contributes millions of dollars to the State's economy. That is why the Texas Forestry Association urges all citizens to be extremely careful with fire in or near the woods. Help Keep Texas Green!

IMAGE IMPROVER

The image you present to people around you is more important than most men realize. Many people say they consider a man who smokes a cigar both elegant and mature!

THE LAST YANKEE WHALER

A century and more ago, the cry "Thar she blows" echoed round the Seven Seas as Yankee whalers hunted the fighter sperm whale -- the most awesome of mammals.

From historic northeastern seaports -- Martha's Vineyard, New Bedford, Sag Harbor, Nantucket -- Yankee seafarers signed on for whalehunts that sometimes lasted seven years.

Many of them returned with enough oil and spermaceti "to light the lamps of China." And from these whalehunts were built many of today's New England fortunes.

But many of the whalers, as chronicled in the famed Disaster Books of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, never made home port... or if they did, they limped back, victims of gale and heavy seas.

Of the hundreds of whalers whose exploits are recorded in the Atlantic Mutual Library, none had so lengthy... or profitable... a career as the "Charles W. Morgan."

From 1841 to 1921 -- a full 80 years -- the Morgan sailed the seas... in the Tropics, in the Arctic, off Cape Hatteras and the Cape of Good Hope, in the Indian Ocean and China Seas.

As she left the ways in New Bedford on September 6, 1841, the "Charles W. Morgan" was just another whaler. Who would have guessed she was destined for immortality!

On board were thirty men, the youngest 15, the captain a ripe 34.

Her maiden voyage of three years, three months and twenty-four days was auspicious. From this voyage, the "Charles W. Morgan" unloaded 1,600 barrels of sperm oil, 800 barrels of whale oil, 10,000 pounds of whale bone, a sizable fortune.

The third voyage, as recorded in the Atlantic Mutual Disaster Books had all the ingredients of a Hollywood epic: an encounter with South Sea cannibals, a giant squid which threatened to maim several crewmen, and a tropical hurricane which nearly capsized the ship.

At the turn of the century, she plied the North Pacific before returning to her home berth in New England. Long after most whalers had disappeared, the "Morgan" continued her career. Finally in 1921, the redoubtable whaler was laid up in Fair Haven.

And then her second career began. The "Morgan" appeared in three Hollywood sea sagas: "Down to the Sea in Ships," "Java Head," and "Miss Petticoats."

In the fall of 1941, just a month before Pearl Harbor, the "Charles W. Morgan" was retired gracefully in the Mystic Seaport Maritime Museum. Here in placid Connecticut waters, the "Charles W. Morgan" today recaptures for thousands of visitors the dramatic "Age of Whaling."

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

ENJOY YOUR SURF FISHING—Experienced surf fishermen know that to enjoy surf fishing to the utmost, proper equipment is necessary. Here are the essential items of equipment for happy surfing: a spare line; a waterproof jacket; pants that can be worn over boots; a sand spike; rod rest or belt; bait box; an assortment of hooks from No. 6 to No. 8.0; plenty of leaders, swivels, leather thongs, sinkers, fish-finding rigs, pliers, reel oil, insect repellent, and any other pieces of equipment usually used in your particular section.

OFT FORGOTTEN ITEMS—Always keep a bailer handy; use a bait-cutting board instead of boat seat to cut bait, and don't forget to carry a good, deep landing net.

BEACH BUGGIES ARE GREAT—A surf fisherman's best friend is the beach buggy. If you don't use one now, next time out borrow or rent one for the day. Surf fishing success often depends on covering a wide area of beach. With one of these buggies you can take in twice as much fishing territory in half the time.

KEEPING FISH FRESH—Fish spoil quickly lying on a hot beach when the weather is sultry. But it is often impossible or inconvenient to lug along an ice chest full of ice. When refrigeration isn't handy, bury your fish about a foot deep in the moist, cool sand. Then mark the place with a stake so the tide won't eradicate signs indicating the spot. Your fish will remain cool and fresh.

URGE TO CAST FAR—Most surf fishermen have an irresistible urge to cast out as far as their strength and skill allows. This is sometimes a great mistake. Often the fish that inhabit inshore coastal waters move right into the surf. So don't neglect the water close to shore.

WATCH OUT FOR TEETH—Most marine fish are equipped with tooth-studded plates in the back of their mouths unobservable at a casual glance. These plates are used to crack and grind their prey and can inflict painful cuts and mangle fingers and hands. So be sure to carry along a hook disgorger to remove hooks that might be sunk deep in a fish's throat.

PREVENT LINE TWISTING—Line twisting when trolling often is caused by faulty swivels that don't do their job. To overcome such aggravating line twists, switch to the newer ball-bearing swivels. But be sure to keep these swivels free of salt water corrosion by cleaning after each use, then storing in a small bottle filled with light, non-gummy oil. And be sure the bottle has a non-rust screw top.

BALANCING TOP-HEAVY SURF ROD—A famous surf fisherman once advised that anglers should select their rods very carefully. He said: The leverage of a long surf rod gives power in casting. However, there are many anglers who are not physically able to handle a long surf rod comfortably. There is just too much weight in the tip for them to swing over a long period of fishing. To balance a topheavy surf rod, bore a hole in the end of the butt and pour in 2 or 3 ounces of melted lead. Replace the butt cap and pin the cap. You will be able to cast much better.

Hall of Bovina Methodist Church Friday morning.

Hostesses for the annual occasion were members of Woman's Society of Christian Service and Wesleyan Service Guild.

Carl Harris sang for the group, accompanied by Gina Clawson.

Carrying out the theme was a globe and graduate with various vocations depicted. Footsteps on which years were written decorated the tables.

About 35 people attended the event, including members of the class, sponsors, Mrs. Patricia DiCuffa and Truck Lusk, Supt. and Mrs. Otis Spears, Mrs. Vernon Estes, president of the Guild, and Mrs. John Dixon, president of WSCS, along with other guests.

Scoopin' Around

By Pat Jacobs

Speaking of the Bob Burnetts' cat reminds us of another story. This one could be called "Where, Oh Where Did My Money Go."

One day while looking through a stack of pennies, came across an "oldie" and tucked it away for future reference. Further investigation led us to believe (according to a coin magazine) that the penny might be worth a small fortune.

It, too, was rare. Our numeral on the penny was difficult to read, so put the penny in a wallet to take to the bank for scrutiny.

Before leaving for school next morning, one of the kids asked for a dime and was given an okay. In our usual unorganized flurry to get everyone off, told the young'un to help herself.

Arriving at the bank, breathless, anxious and excited, discovery was made that the penny was gone. Panic. Then realization.

The third degree ensued as soon as school was dismissed for the day. "Yes, Mommy, I got the pennies. You didn't have a dime."

"Where is it now?" "It's in the bubble gum machine." That isn't the end of the story. After waiting, watching a week for the bubble gum man and buying $20 worth of pennies, the search began.

And finally, there it was. Appraisal was made by a coin collector. Days were spent thinking about how the profits could be spent -- all those things one dreams about but never buys.

Then disaster. The penny disappeared for good. We'll never know which machine gobbled up all that beautiful money. But it was a lesson well learned -- the hard way. Something about hatching chickens.

The Study Club has closed the book on another year well spent. Actually, study clubs were originally started with the idea of improving the mind and giving women some social outlet. This is not the case anymore. Bovina's club is far beyond that category. Although many clubs may be as civic-minded as this bunch, we'll wager you won't find one in a town this size that does so much hard, dirty work for a community. The Bovina club does not follow -- it leads.

COOK -- OR BOTTLE WASHER? -- Justice of the Peace Wilbur Charles donned an apron one day last week at the Spudnut Shop when Lula White was out of town. The JP spent the morning serving coffee and Spudnuts to the town "coffee breakers" and was accused of doing a little "moonlighting." In the background is Mrs. Jay Sherrill.

Attending were Nancy Hutto, Darla Hawkins, Rita Nuttall, Rhonda Nuttall, Cissie Minter, Paula Beavers, Galen Carson, Brenda Goldsmith, Randy Kirkpatrick, Al Kerby, Curtis Dillger, Buz Mast, Joe Steelman, Barry Goldsmith, Rodney Hromas and Jana Barrett.

At Home In Parmer County

School is out and girls and boys feel free as birds - just doing what comes naturally - loafing and resting.

With the energy that the young possess that won't last long though - they will be seeking some kind of activity to take up time. Adult guided activities, where youth learns by doing and have fun and satisfaction from participation can be very worthwhile. Adult leaders in 4-H work are to be commended for the contribution they make in this effort.

Project work will continue through July - and then 4-H camp and vacation time.

Everyone is looking for ways to save time and energy during the busy summer months - especially in food preparation and caring for clothes.

INSTANT FLOUR - is a time saver - but in case you have not found this product the most satisfactory, take a look at the recommended way to use it.

When is a cup of flour more than a cup of flour? When it's instant flour, say ARS researchers. They recommend that when homemakers bake with instant flour, they take 2 level tablespoons out of each cup of flour called for by the recipe.

A full measure of instant flour in a cake or cookie recipe designed for regular flour can, as many homemakers across the country have discovered, alter the shape, texture, and flavor of the final product. ARS food specialist R. H. Matthews and E. A. Bechtel conducted a series of baking tests to make instant flour more compatible with standard recipes.

Instant flour is processed with steam or hot water after regular milling to make tiny granules stick together as larger particles, thus taking up less space in a measuring cup. Because of this characteristic, instant flour mixes up readily with water without forming lumps and is therefore a handy product for making gravy.

For baking, however, this same characteristic causes problems. The instant flour weighs more per cup and takes up liquid at a faster rate than regular flour. This has the net effect of providing too much flour for the dough in relation to the liquid. For example, in popovers the batter does not contain enough water to provide adequate steam for the product to "pop" properly.

YOU GIVE MORE THAN MONEY

Some years ago in a city there was a parishioner who gently chided his own minister and other ministers with "making too much of money" in the worship Sunday by Sunday. He felt it detracted from the spiritual impact of the service to receive and dedicate the offerings. He was himself a generous supporter of Christ's cause. So it was tried, gently, too, to persuade him that there was and is Christian materialism. When God made Himself known in a human person-- Jesus of Nazareth-- He used the material body of His Son. The parishioner also realized that money is more than money. It is life -- or death, depending on the purpose to which it is devoted.

Did you ever think that your weekly pledge to Church is more than money? It is a gift of part of yourself to support and extend the Christian cause.

Paul, the Apostle, said to his Corinthian fellow - Christians: "It is you I want, not your money" (11 Corinthians 12:14, NEB). When they gave Him their love and loyalty, the money would be given too. It would be more than money.

Horse Show Here June 10

Parmer County 4-H horse show will be Saturday, June 10, at the Roping Arena in Bovina, according to Ronnie McNutt, county agent.

Also the junior and senior winner of each performance event will receive a trophy. Ribbons will be presented to 4-H'ers placing in halter and performance classes.

A concession stand will be available at the arena the day of the show.

All parents and interested people are invited to attend the show, McNutt says.

Activities will get started at 1 p.m. with the halter classes. Two changes have been made this year concerning halter classes. This year all four year old registered horses are now included in the younger registered class. Another change is that grade halter classes are now divided at 14 hands 3 inches instead of 15 hands.

Judging of halter classes will be followed by performance events, Western pleasure, reining, pole bending and barrel racing are the four performance events in which 4-H'ers will be participating. Each member is allowed to enter any.

The 4-H'ers will be divided into two different age groups for the performance contests. Senior contestants will be members 13 and over on Jan. 1, 1967. Junior contestants will be members age 12 and under Jan. 1, 1967.

One other rule change is that single or roping reins are not allowed in western pleasure or reining classes. Length of ownership for eligibility has been reduced to 90 days.

Trophies will be presented to the grand and reserve champion mares and gelding of the show.

HORSE SHOW ENTRY -- Laura Beth Doshier, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doshier, Jr., spends part of each day preparing her horse for the coming 4-H Horse Show which is set for Bovina Roping Arena June 10. Laura Beth is a member of the Farwell Lucky Clover 4-H Club.

leader will be required for this country, which could well emerge from "one of us," and he will need strong supporters to keep America free from communism. She told the class members that they cannot fail God in what He expects from them. The valedictorian is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hemke.

The salutatorian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore, after thanking teachers and school board members, said, "What we call disappointments, troubles and hardships are probably God's opportunities." She continued that there are three things that can never be recalled, time spent, words spoken and opportunity. Each should be used to its greatest advantage, Miss Moore said.

Mallard told the class that boys and girls should know the dangers of "going steady" before they enter high school rather than when they are out. He said the experts report that the high divorce rate in the United States is partly because of the habits formed by young people in "going steady" and breaking off the romance once it has cooled.

He challenged the boys and girls to be "different," not for the sake of being different, but for the sake of being right.

Diplomas were presented the boys and girls by L. F. Jacobs, high school principal, and Mrs. Gene Douglas, class sponsor.

Receiving them were Marilyn Allen, Ben Alonzo, Michael Beauchamp, Greg Bell, Sandra Bowman, Dala Boyd, Pansy Clawson, Loy Christian, Jennifer Cockerham, Carolyn Cox, Johnny Dane, Delores Delgado, Olivia Delgado, Ellen Denney, Allen Dilger, David Dixon, Carissa Engant, Patti Foley, Tony Foster, Elevation Garza, Deborah Hawkins, Sharon Hemke, Becky Jacobs, Lynette Joplin, Debra Kirkpatrick, Steven Lane, Olga Lopez, Meloney Marshall, Gary McCormick, John McLean, Michael McMeans, Doyle Merrell, Sheryl Moore, Brenda Newbrough, Debra Nuttall, Toni Pinner, Manuel Quintana, Susie Ritchie, Roger Shook, Mary Jane Sisco, Royce Sisk and Deborah Spicer.

Softball Exhibition Here Sat.

An exhibition low-pitch softball game is scheduled here for Saturday night. The tilt will feature the TV 10 Tigers of Amarillo against Goldsmith's Fireballs, a local team.

Starting time is 7 p.m. The game will be sponsored by Bovina Lions Club with the boys' baseball fund to benefit from the admission charges which will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, according to Harry J. Charles, Lions Club president.

The Fireballs played in Bovina's slow-pitch league last summer and are currently in second place in a Clovis league. This is the only Bovina slow-pitch team organized at present.

"We're glad to have the TV 10 Tigers come to Bovina and we hope to have a good crowd on hand for the game," Charles says.
