Japs Claim Capture One Of Three American Army Air Bases In China

Allies Advance Through Fierce Nazi Resistance

LONDON—(AP)—The American Third and Seventh armies have surged forward three to five miles through fierce German resistance in Alsace-Lorraine, it was announced Friday. The Third Army alone knocked out 82 German tanks in the powerful onslaught.

The two American armies, prying at the Belfort Gap only 11 miles away and knocking at the four main passes through the Vosges to the Rhine, scored the deepest and widest gains of any on an Allied front seething with the mounting power of new offenses.

On the southern sectors of the 500-mile front, they shredded half a dozen enemy counterattacks which cost the Germans heavily, captured eight to ten villages and their bag of enemy tanks was one of the biggest since D-Day.

But to the north the German commander at Colmar asked for surrender terms, while Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's combined British Second Army and parachute forces closed up to the Maas River on a 20-mile front from their Nijmegen corridor in Holland.

The U. S. First Army, on the left, wing and Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army, pushed the line of assault up to the German frontier in yet another sector, capturing Remich in Luxembourg.

Remich is on the Moselle boundary between Luxembourg and Germany, 20 miles southwest of the German city of Trier.

There was no word from the First Army's salient through the Hurtgen forest, 14 miles southeast of besieged Aachen, in the push toward the Rhine at Cologne. There the biggest Allied guns—10-inchers—have been dueling with German batteries and knocking at strategic targets.

Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's 21st Army Group forces pushing out westward from their salient in Holland, where they threatened to cut off some 200,000 Germans, also moved to within five miles of 'S Hertogenbosch and, closing in from the south, extended their bridgehead over the Antwerp-Turnhout canal.

But the fiercest fighting was to the south.

General Patton's Third Army struck five miles east of Pombal-Mousson, between Metz and Nancy, and liberated Port-Sur-Selle.

Thirteen to twenty miles in an arc northeast and east of Nancy the Third held firm against four major counterattacks near Pellencourt, Beaange and Colcourt and smashed ahead to high ground in the forest of Parroy.

It was in and around that forest that the Germans rushed in most of their tank strength—and where they lost the heaviest.

One of the biggest battles was developing for the important road center of Rambervillers, 30 miles southeast of Nancy, midway between Lunéville and Epinal.

At Colmar it was believed the German commander was seeking an armistice as a subterfuge to gain time. He was told the terms were unconditional surrender and was given until 10 a. m. Friday to reply. A BBC field report said fighting continued after the deadline.

Iowa Rail Smash-Up Kills Nine, Injures Over Hundred Others

MISSOURI VALLEY, IA.—(AP)—A fast freight plowed into a passenger train, knocked five cars on their backs and in wreckage scattered over a half mile left nine known dead and about 100 injured, of whom 47 received treatment in Council Bluffs, Ia., hospitals Friday. Two of the injured were reported in extremely critical condition.

Three soldiers, whose names were withheld by Ft. Crook, Neb., officers until the next of kin could be notified, were among those who died in the crash of the two Chicago and North Western Line trains at about 7:30 p. m., Thursday, on the outskirts of Missouri Valley.

The other victims were civilians. The freight train struck one of the coaches of the Sioux City to Omaha No. 10 passenger train which a railroad official said was on a switch at the time.

British Quibble Over American Role In Battle

LONDON—(AP)—A long-anticipated House of Commons war debate—a follow-up to Prime Minister Churchill's global review—lived up Friday when members raised questions concerning American business and military activities.

John Loveseed, elected over a government candidate in 1942 as a member of the new Common Wealth party, made a brief statement without protest that "American troops in France had got most of the plums"—"being given most of the spectacular tasks to perform while our boys have had tough and un-spectacular jobs."

But a longtime independent member, Capt. Alec Cunningham-Reid, drew quick protest when he introduced allegations that "American business men had been allowed by SHAEF to go to Paris, wearing, while in transit, American uniforms."

"Lady Astor Questions Cunningham-Reid said he had asked without success for permission to go to Paris and investigate. Lady Astor, a Conservative, asked what qualifications he possessed besides being a member of Parliament to "investigate such an intricate matter."

Sid Edward Grigg, a Conservative, declared there never had been a war in which Allied armies in the field had "worked so closely together with so little friction considering the immense difficulties involved."

Praising Churchill and President Roosevelt for an "extraordinary combination" of Allied land, air and sea forces, he added: "I do not believe there are any fighting men superior to the men of the British Commonwealth and the United States. Certainly the Germans with their long professional record as a military nation have produced nothing superior to what we have improvised in four or five years."

Fifth Army Advancing On Po Valley

ROME—(AP)—Batting northeastward through mud and rain, American troops of the Fifth Army have captured Battaglia, 11 miles from Imola, important Po Valley city on the Bologna-Rimini highway, Allied headquarters announced Friday.

The doughboys also seized three key heights commanding the direct route north to Bologna. In the Adriatic sector British Eighth Army forces made gains in the Southeastern edges of the Po Valley. The enemy has dug in along strong defense lines that parallel the Fiumicino River, the first major water barrier encountered since the break-through into level country, and is fighting savagely.

Adverse weather which precluded air support slowed the American attack toward Bologna, but the doughboys knocked the Germans off additional heights on both sides of Highway 65, all roughly 20 miles south of the historic city.

The gains gave the Americans observation over the road for many miles to the North. Allied headquarters gains no specific information on gains on the West flank of the Fifth Army, where the Brazilians and some American units have been keeping a steady pace, but said "important advances have been made" and "the entire Gothic zone has now been penetrated with the exception of a small area of the West Coast."

Claude C. Duffey, 66, prominent Midland oil operator, died Thursday night in a San Antonio hospital after a long illness. He had visited Thursday evening in the home of his brother, Walter Duffey, in San Antonio and walked from the car to his hospital bed.

The oil operator had been in ill health about five years, suffering from a heart ailment. Duffey headed the Trenton Oil Company and also engaged in many oil operations in the Permian Basin area. He was active in the ownership, financing and management of the Midland baseball club when Midland had professional baseball.

He was taken to San Antonio for medical treatment last July. Born in Pennsylvania, Duffey was born October 7, 1877, in Millerstown, Pa. He attended Bethany College in West Virginia, and left college to enlist in the Army to serve in the Spanish-American war. He fought on through the Philippine rebellion. Duffey was under the legal enlistment age when he entered the Army.

After leaving the Army, Duffey was associated with his father in development of the Bridgeport, Ill., oil field. Duffey married in 1914, and came to Midland 12 years later. Mrs. Duffey died here in 1941. She was buried at Vincennes, Ind., where Duffey lived for 18 years.

Surviving are a brother, Walter E. Duffey, of San Antonio, and a sister, Gertrude Claire de Veit, of Butler, Pa. Funeral services for Duffey will be held Monday morning in Vincennes, Ind. The body will be forwarded from San Antonio to Vincennes Saturday morning.

FDR Denounces Argentina For Nazi Tolerance

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt denounced the Argentine government for what he termed the growth of Nazi-Fascist influences developing in that country at the very time when Nazi forces are facing defeat in Germany.

Mr. Roosevelt said Argentina has repudiated a solid Inter-American system for defense against Nazi aggression and stated—"in the words of Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain—that every nation will be judged by the parts they play in the war, neutrals and belligerents alike." He said his statement Friday is important now because of deceptions on the part of Nazi propagandists headed to Argentina which say Allied councils are divided in their attitude toward Argentina. Mr. Roosevelt described the broadcasts as fabrications.

President Orders Speed-Up In Plan For Postwar Germany

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt Friday ordered a speed-up in American plans for rendering Germany harmless after the war, and specifically put the job under State Department guidance.

The order was issued in a letter to Leo T. Crowley, chief of the Foreign Economic Administration, and while it covered non-German subjects in its eight points, it apparently is the outgrowth of the sharp division in the President's postwar cabinet committee over a German peace plan submitted by Secretary Morgenthau.

This division reflected a fundamental policy disagreement between Secretaries Stimson and Hull on the one hand and Morgenthau, who proposed the virtual de-industrialization of Germany to prevent its making future wars.

Hull and the State Department, which had exercised unquestioned direction of long-range German planning until Morgenthau won attention for his plan, have tentatively counted on restoration of Germany's industrial economy under ruthless Allied controls. Under the President's order this policy now apparently is to prevail.

Humble Gets Commercial Production For New Mexico From Ellenburger In Southeast Lea County Exploration

Using a 4,050-foot water blanket, and a 5/8-inch bottom-hole choke, the well had a show of air to the surface in 24 minutes. It unloaded two minutes later and then flowed through the drill-pipe for the last three minutes of the period. It (Continued on page 2)

Government May Beat CIO To Wage Adjustments

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Public members of the War Labor Board are prepared to recommend to President Roosevelt a relaxation of wage controls, effective soon after victory in Europe. CIO leaders view this with alarm as a possible substitute for their goal of a general increase in pay by government order.

The wage policy issue may be threshed out at a White House conference Friday between President Roosevelt and his labor advisory committee, composed of high AFL and CIO leaders.

Relaxation of wage controls, as championed by Chairman William H. Davis, would mean that wage increases agreed to by employers would not need approval of the War Labor Board. A measure of collective bargaining thereby would be restored, but labor would be expected to continue to withhold the (Continued on page 2)

Nimitz's Forces Mopping Up Nips In Philippines

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Tokyo radio reported the capture of one of the three remaining advanced American airfields in China Friday as U. S. Fleet carrier forces added up the most remarkable record of ship and plane destruction of the Pacific war.

In an almost unopposed raid on the Central Philippines, sea-borne fighters and bombers sank 22 Japanese ships, damaged about 70 other surface craft, and destroyed 36 planes. The raid, Sept. 23, cost the attackers ten planes and eight airmen, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced Thursday night.

This was the seventh day of sweeping raids over the invasion-threatened islands since Sept. 8 by the air arm of Adm. William Halsey's Third Fleet. Altogether they have wiped out 1,014 Nipponese planes and sunk or damaged 360 surface craft. This mark surpasses most monthly totals for the entire Pacific.

Little Opposition

Only seven interceptors dared oppose the raiders as they wrecked shipping, defensive installations and "thoroughly bombed and strafed" airfields on Cebu, Leyte, Negros, Mactan and Southern Luzon Islands. All seven were shot down. The meager opposition illustrated Nimitz's statement that the enemy's air defense had been broken. Tokyo radio said replacements have since been flown in.

Chennault Threatened

Reds Reported In Hungary In Mighty Drive

MOSCOW—(AP)—The Red Army's three-way offensive against Hungary from Romania and Yugoslavia developed swiftly Friday while rumors of peace feelers by the Budapest government indicated Hitler's last important satellite may be on the verge of deserting him.

Hungary's defensive position was dark as strong Russian forces, pressing forward in a 100-mile arc on the Romanian-Hungarian frontier, increased their mountain salient and utilized Marshal Tito's permission to cross Yugoslavia territory and strike the Hungarians and Germans from the South.

First Installment On A Big Debt

'Youth Shows But Half'

As regards employment, the last three years have been great times for industry's old-timers. Many older workers have been kept on beyond normal retirement age. Others have returned from retirement to fill up the ranks of labor and, incidentally, replenish their incomes.

Their help and know-how has been valuable, as the experience of the Winchester arms people proves. Eight months before Pearl Harbor the Winchester executives saw what was coming and called in their 700 employees of 25 or more years' experience. They asked these veterans to do a double task—stay on their regular job and also help train new workers.

The veterans responded, formed into an organization and proceeded to pass along their wisdom to the newcomers who jumped the Winchester payroll 400 per cent in 18 months.

"I honestly believe, said the Winchester sales manager, "that thousands of American troops wouldn't have had Garand rifles and Winchester carbines except for our 25-Year Service Association. It's been the quarter-century boys and girls in our plant, and I suppose in every big plant, that have armed the United Nations."

That's fine. But what's in store for these oldsters in the future? In his "Practical Psychology," Dr. F. Kenneth Berrien of Colgate University argues "the wisdom of salvaging rather than shelving seniles." He points to the analogy of the athletic coach who, unable to play, can profitably pass along his skill to others. He suggests advisory "exit jobs" to ease the employee's adjustment to retirement, and to avoid a company's loss of his accumulated experience.

These are sensible suggestions. And certainly government, business, the arts and the professions offer repeated proof that usefulness does not end at 60 or 65. But to broaden the example of this proof to include the wage earner in the future will require the full employment of today's most optimistic predictions.

Nobody wants to see a repetition of the absurd and tragic notion that a man of 40 is "too old" to get work. Nobody defends the ousting of a willing, active and capable man of 60 just because he's 60. But if these men cannot work they must be supported.

The problem is only part of a bigger one. But it is one more reason why government and industry and labor should quickly compose their differences and pull together in harness toward the goal of "jobs for all."

The Embarrassing Mr. Lynch

The Italians not only have lynched a Fascist criminal before he could be brought to trial, but have Latinized the English word lynch into the verb "linciare" to describe the deed. Undoubtedly they thought they were borrowing an American descriptive of an American practice, which is as reprehensible as lynching is reprehensible.

For the argument still rages as to just who the Lynch was who gave his name to Lynch's law. The Encyclopedia Britannica says he may have been an Englishman, an Irishman, a Virginian or a South Carolinian.

But one thing is certain. The practice of lynching is older than Lynch. It flourished under a variety of names in medieval Germany and the English border country, in Russia and the Balkans. Only in the past century or so has mob justice been confined to the United States.

Certainly it is time that we erased the last traces of this barbarism, so that Europe won't have to look to America to find a fitting word for execution without trial.

Lethargy

Henry Gorrell, a war correspondent now with our forces in Germany, describes his surprise at coming through the first days in enemy home territory without being killed or wounded by guerrillas. His feeling is natural, but his good fortune is scarcely surprising.

The German civilian who complacently surrendered his liberty to the Nazi party isn't likely to rise up angrily in the Nazis' defense. He, the middle-aged German beyond military age, happily allowed himself to be hypnotized by Hitler's oratory, even though later the Gestapo had to be dispatched to keep him in his traze.

Now, as one burger told Gorrell, the Gestapo is gone and the Germans aren't afraid. They're glad the war is almost over. They want peace and quiet.

Stares, silences and lethargy have greeted most American troops in Germany thus far. Lethargy will probably remain after the fighting is over. It is the lethargy of a people who love to be led, and who accepted Hitler as the alternative to the bothersome chore of governing themselves. It is a lethargy that will be something to contend with in rebuilding Germany under a rational form of democratic government.

High Pressures

Recovery, when the pipe was broken down, was 788 feet of clean oil. Hydro-static mud pressure was 6,225 pounds; flowing bottom-hole pressure was 3,820 pounds, and shut-in bottom-hole pressure was checked at 5,000 pounds.

Operator representatives have not revealed what will be the next step in developing this discovery for completion. Top of the Ellenburger was unofficially reported at around 11,820 feet. Elevation is 3,012 feet. The project had a rather thick Simpson section. That formation was checked at around 10,800 feet.

This is the deepest test ever drilled in New Mexico and the deepest producer in the entire Permian Basin of West Texas and New Mexico.

Another Enters Ellenburger

Tide Water Associated Oil Company No. 1 Wheeler, section 12, block B-7, northwest outpost to the Wheeler-Ellenburger field in East Winkler County, was drilling below 10,585 feet, in the Ellenburger dolomite, marked at 10,535 feet. The surface elevation is 3,102 feet.

On a core at 10,545-555 feet, only one foot of Ellenburger dolomite was recovered. No oil shows have been reported from the formation so far.

Trying For Test

Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 McElroy, section 135, block E, CSD&RGNG survey, in West Upton County, failed three times on efforts to get a drillstem test to the total depth at 5,276 feet, from about 5,116 feet, on account of the packer falling. Other attempts will be made.

Atlantic Refining Company No. 1 Cordova-Union (IAR Co.), section 47, block 34, H&TC survey, West Upton County extension to the Cross-set pool, is swabbing to cleanout and kick-off after treating sections at 5,400-20 feet, and at 5,270-96 feet, with 2,000 gallons of regular acid, through perforations. The well is due for early completion.

Drilling & Exploration Co., Inc., No. 1-A B. J. Gilstrap, 890 feet from the south and east lines of the south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 487, block D, John H. Gibson survey, is a southwest outpost to production in the Ownby field in East-Central Yoakum County. The development is contracted to 5,375 feet to look for oil in the San Andres lime.

Champlin Refining Company No. 1-B University, section 5, block 11, University survey, Southwest Andrews possible wildcat discovery, was bottomed at 8,535 feet in lime, and was preparing to cement 5 1/2-inch casing on the bottom.

Information in unofficial circles is that the operator has found interesting shows of oil for a considerable distance above the bottom and plans to start testing through perforations from the bottom upward. The section in which the hole is now bottomed is said to be Silurian.

Stanford Oil & Gas Company No. 1-B University, section 8, block 11, University survey, one and one-half miles south of the Champlin exploration, was digging under 8,295 feet, in what was thought to be Devonian lime. It is also reported to be showing oil stains and some porosity.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 1-A Morrison, section 29, C&M survey, in Upton County, had reached 2,810 feet and was boring in anhydrite.

Taking A Schlumberger

Warren Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Jones, section 9, block 26, H&TC survey, in Northwest Mitchell County and between the Westbrook field in Mitchell and the Vincent pool in Northeast Howard, was on a total depth of 4,290 feet in lime and chert and was taking a Schlumberger survey.

Woodley Petroleum Company No. 6-B Holt, section 18, block A, psi survey, 1,300 feet south of the closest middle Permian producer on the northwest side of the North Cowden field in North Ector County, was flowing into the pits to clean out, after testing the pay section resistance of Nazi Germany" ends, Mr. Roosevelt directed:

Eight Points

1. Exports controls should be relaxed as quickly and fully as possible to promote international trade by affording increased opportunity for private industry and private trade.
2. Strategic and critical raw materials which FEA has purchased abroad should be adjusted to meet the reduced needs of waging the war against Japan.
3. Preclusive buying has already passed its peak but should be continued in so far as necessary to aid the war against Japan.
4. Economic warfare, concerned with evaluating the enemy's war potential, must be focused on Japan.
5. Lend-Lease should be continued to the extent necessary to defeat Japan as quickly as possible.
6. Surplus property accumulations as a result of FEA purchasing programs abroad should be avoided.
7. Control of the war-making powers of Germany must be a subject of accelerated study.
8. Reconstruction and future foreign trade. Of the first the President said that it is in the interest of this country and the rest of the United Nations that "the destruction and devastation of war be repaired and that the foundations for a secure peace be laid." Of foreign trade, he said that any improvement in economic conditions in this country will improve the condition of "peace-loving peoples of the world" and aid materially "in the building of a durable peace."

Conversations Completed

"Conversations between the United States, United Kingdom, and Soviet Union delegations in Washington regarding the establishment of a world security organization have now been completed.

"These conversations have been useful and have led to a large measure of agreement on recommendations for the general framework of the organization, and in particular for the machinery required to maintain peace and security.

"The three delegations are making reports to their respective governments who will consider these reports and will in due course issue a simultaneous statement on the subject."

It appears possible that further big power talks among top-ranking officials, will precede a full-scale United Nations meeting to organize the world.

Board Declines Cotton Picking Ceiling Prices

The Texas War Food Administration Wage Board has declined to recommend establishment of wage ceilings for cotton picking and pulling, County Agent I. O. Sturkie was notified Friday.

The board's decision was caused by lack of a majority vote by eligible West Texas farmers asking for the ceilings to be put into effect, Sturkie said.

The law requires that a majority of all cotton producers within a given area request ceiling prices before the board can recommend them. In Midland County 83 per cent of the cotton producers signed petitions asking for the ceilings, but over West Texas as a whole only 40 per cent of the producers expressed their opinions. Of those voting 93 per cent favored the ceilings, Sturkie pointed out.

Pressure Eased

The theory is that with a relatively ample supply of labor after war production cutbacks are ordered, employer pressure on wage ceilings will be eased and stabilization can be achieved without continuing the present restrictions on voluntary increases. The bulk of WLB work now is the increases sought or agreed to by employers.

R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, called on the War Labor Board Friday to correct what he called a "lopsided operation of the stabilization program" without waiting for the fall of Germany and without regard to the political campaign.

Dissatisfaction and a "mounting sense of frustration" are growing at an alarming rate in auto and aircraft plants, Thomas said in urging that the Little Steel Wage Formula be breached. He added:

"A decision needs to be made without consideration for double-damning politicians—including one aspirant to our highest office—who are ready with balanced impartiality to damn this board for making wage increases or to damn it for denying wage increases."

Living costs have increased 25.3 per cent, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics and 45.3 per cent according to CIO findings, Thomas said.

Former Pecos 'CO Dies In Plane Crash

ROSWELL, N. M.—(P)—Col. Orin J. Bushey, 50, commander of the Roswell Air Field, and two others from the base here were killed when their AT-7 plane crashed three miles east of Weatherford, Texas, last night.

The others were Maj. Edward E. Baile, 37, the field's intelligence officer; and S/Sgt. J. J. Nemetz, 26. Bushey was transferred here from Pecos last Aug. 22.

through Allied censorship, did not expand upon the explosive radius of V-3. However, the implication was that its power to wreck or damage buildings extended almost two miles from the point of impact.

Information on the V-3, the successor to Hitler's flying bomb and long range rocket, was obtained by American Third Army troops in their drive into enemy territory.

This information disclosed the projectile is just short of 60 feet in length, is five feet five inches in diameter and weighs 14 tons at the take-off. Propelled by a mixture of liquid air and alcohol, it is shot into the air vertically, then is controlled by radio.

No other details were disclosed, but it was believed the Germans have not yet placed the V-3 into operation.

They are but counterfeit of the spiritual and eternal" (page 286).

GERMANY WILL TRY IT AGAIN

By Sigrid Schultz Copyright, 1944, by Sigrid Schultz Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1919 to 1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World War I to World War II. And she saw the behind-the-scenes preparation for the coming "war-in-peace" that she warns may culminate in World War III. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace, plans that even now are being put into effect.

Any militarist, any pan-German, retreats when the resistance against him is found to be too strong. General von Luetwitz accordingly called back his plotters and decided to bide his time. And he could afford to wait. For the Reichswehr, created by the Republic, was run by reactionary officers under the extraordinarily efficient General Hans von Seeckt. Theoretically, von Seeckt took his orders from the Defense Minister, Gustav Noske, but von Seeckt managed him with an adroit combination of flattery and trickery.

DURING the night of March 12, the Republic found out how few of its ranking military collaborators could be depended on. Ehrhardt's Brigade, in Camp Doerbertz, had been ordered to disband. They had responded with an ultimatum. On that March night, there was a conclave of Republican leaders and army chiefs.

The High Command, which had been at such pains to ingratiate itself with Gustav Noske, froze into Prussian stiffness when Noske requested the army to step in and crush the mutiny.

"There can be no question of making men of the Reichswehr fight against men of the Reichswehr," said General von Seeckt in his harsh voice, thus in one sentence incorporating the Ehrhardt Free Corps into the Republican army.

In his ultimatum Captain Ehrhardt stated that his troops would be at the Victory Column in the Tiergarten at 5 o'clock that morning to accept the government's capitulation. At 5 o'clock Ehrhardt and his men were there. General Ludendorff stood on a corner near the Victory Column and watched them march through the gray dawn into the heart of the city.

But the government had gone. A few hours earlier they had left the city by car for a secret destination.

Most of us who were in Berlin in those days were so used to seeing guns drawn up Unter den Linden that we thought there had been just one more of the many minor revolts. Then a soldier in field gray thrust a proclamation into my hands. It was a bold announcement of the conquest of power in Germany by a Generaladmiral, a provincial district director by the name of Kapp.

KAPP was a nobody from East Prussia, plucked out of the air by General Ludendorff as a front man. Despite the assurances of peace in the proclamation, I felt sure there was trouble ahead. I found the Hotel Adlon in an uproar. I had a tip that the labor unions were on the verge of calling a general strike. From the office I managed to get in touch with a few Republican leaders. They confirmed it. A general strike would "show the world how strong the German Republicans are." And it did. The Republican workers saw to it that the gas and electricity, the water services, the street cars, and the railroads stopped functioning. All the shops and factories closed. No food could be found. Hotel service ceased. The telephones went dead all over Germany. To get my calls through, I cooked up a mysterious disease, making it necessary to consult various doctors to save my life. Everybody I called answered to "Herr Doktor" and exchanged bulletins with me in a wonderful mumbo-jumbo of medical terms.

But it wasn't long before Kapp and his backer, General Ludendorff, were the patients, and very sick men they were. For their friends in the Defense Ministry—who had been so warmly encouraging before the putsch—now coldly refused to co-operate. The realistic von Seeckt had seen the whole German people back the government's call for a general strike. Obviously, no man can send out a few squads and shoot the ringleaders if it is the whole nation in rebellion. He retreated from the responsibility of arch-conspirator, to wait for another day.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority Finishing third in the world championship Masters pair event, Robert Chatkin of Brooklyn, N. Y., established quite a record this year. Chatkin is a quiet, unassuming chap who will usually be found playing with a different partner in every tournament. But his good scores went unnoticed until this year, when he finished second in the world championship Masters individual, and now, with Charles Sanders, finished a close third in the Masters pairs.

Today's hand is an example of Chatkin's skill. Care in the timing of the hand, and the handling of the heart suit, gave him his slam contract. When the dummy went down it was clear that the only danger was in the heart situation, where a bad break might cause the loss of two tricks. Chatkin won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, then led a low heart to the ace. He returned a low trump, winning in dummy with the nine. Another heart was led, and East was on the spot. He finally decided to discard, and Chatkin's king of hearts won. A heart was returned at once, West won, but Chatkin still had a trump in dummy to ruff out the losing heart.

Physician Has Little Chance Of Retaliation

LYONS, KANSAS — (AP) — After hunting weeks for somebody to dig a 100-foot ditch so that a new water pipe could be laid at his home—and finally doing the job himself — a Lyons physician said: "Some night one of these fellows afraid of hard work is going to call me out of bed to hurry to save his life. You know what I'll do? ... Yes, I'll get up and go."

Let the OPA Figure The Point Value

DENVER — (AP) — An unidentified householder called police headquarters with the complaint that a passer-by had hammered on his door with the charge that "Your pig just jumped off the porch and attacked me." Four police dashed to the scene. Sure enough, there was a 300-pound porker, evidently lost off a stock truck.

THE Allies wanted peace in 1918.

The German masses wanted peace in 1918. But the German General Staff merely wanted a breathing spell in which to rearm. And its successor, the German secret general staff, although not altogether a military organization, was above all a militaristic one. Three times within the first five years after the end of World War I, the German militarists believed their chance had come to overthrow the Republic and precipitate a glorious new war. General von Luetwitz, chief of the Berlin garrison and several Free Corps, who headed the movement against accepting the treaty, presented an ultimatum to the government, demanding among other things that the officer corps be given a voice in matters of state. But the parliamentary system was beginning to work in Germany, better than many had expected, and the leaders of the young Republic had the courage to stand firm. In July, 1919, after the signature of the Versailles Treaty, General von Luetwitz and his sympathizers tried to seize power. He made a rabble-rousing speech, calling for a levee en masse, a general rising of the people against the government. His fellow officers and his soldiers cheered. The population just ignored him. The German people didn't like the Versailles Treaty, but they wanted war even less.

Staff Sgt. Neill Does 'Fine Work'

AN AIR SERVICE COMMAND DEPOT, ENGLAND—S/Sgt. William M. Neill, husband of Mrs. Genell C. Neill, Midland, Texas, has been commended by his commanding officer for "fine work" in the supply division of the Air Service Command Depot in England. The division rushes repaired airplane parts to combat units operating in Western Europe and has increased its activities five-fold in the last six months. In the citation, Col. John G. Moore of Las Animas, Colo., depot commander, said the work of Sergeant Neill was "worthy of the highest commendation."

The American's Creed was written in 1917 by William Tyler Page clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives. It was accepted on behalf of the American people by the House the next year.

OPA Files Suits Against Meat Dealers

DALLAS — (AP) — William A. Orth, regional head of the Office of Price Administration said that civil and criminal suits will be filed Friday against 166 slaughterers, wholesalers and other meat handlers in four Southwestern states for price regulation violation. Orth said included among the cases, mostly civil, would be several for triple damages totaling about $132,000. The suits were to be filed by district offices in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Louisiana. Orth asserted the action was taken by OPA's enforcement division to defeat what he called the black market in meat prices before the anticipated supply shortage grows more acute this winter. Charges of upgrading utility or Grade C meat to Grade A, and Grade B to Grade AA, were to account for most of the complaints and applications for injunctions, Orth declared.

Woman In Kansas Now In Coat Business

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — It looks like a coatless winter for Mrs. T. C. Morris. Two weeks ago she discovered that her winter coat was missing. She bought a new green Chesterfield, set the box containing it on the floor of a luncheon while she lunched, forgot about it. When she remembered it and returned, coat No. 2 was missing, too. The first public library in New York city was established in 1697.

Dishwashing Coming To Attention Of Science

DENVER — (AP) — Dishwashing is to be added to the arts and sciences. The Colorado Medical Society's new president, Dr. Edward R. Murgare, has announced. "We are going to begin next month giving a course of instructions to dishwashers in restaurants. We're going to teach them that there is no substitute for hot water and that you don't need to put your thumb in the middle of a clean soup bowl to pick it up."

Local Draft Boards To Be Big Help To Returning Veteran's Employment

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON—(AP)—A veteran is discharged from the service. He begins his civilian life again. What are some of the main things he should—or must—do? And what about a job?

Here a list of them, prepared by government agencies: Under the law he must report to his draft board in person or by letter within five days after his discharge. If he was not previously registered—that is, if he went into military service some way other than through the draft—he must register, too.

His draft board is a prime contact if he has trouble getting back his old job or if he seeks a new one. If he wants the job he had before entering the service, he must apply to his former employer in person or writing within 40 days after his discharge from the service.

And this means he must also be ready to report for work within 49 days unless the boss agrees to let him delay reporting for work.

If the veteran worked for a private employer before entering the service and wants that job back, these are the qualifications: The job he left must have been permanent, he must have completed his military service satisfactorily, he must still be able to fill the job.

On the other hand: The former employer is required to give the veteran back his job (or its equivalent) if he possibly can, at the same rate of pay and with the same seniority and privileges the veteran previously had, and the veteran can not be fired without cause within one year after re-employment.

If the veteran has any difficulty getting his old job back, he should go to his re-employment committee attached to his local draft board. It is through this committee that the veteran's re-employment problem, if he has trouble getting his old job back, may finally be taken into U. S. District Court without any expense to him.

Getting a New Job Suppose a veteran doesn't want his old job back but wants a new one. He can tell that to the re-employment committee, too. He'll get advice there. Or he should apply directly and promptly to the U. S. Employment Service.

In each of the USES offices there is a special veterans' employment representative. Getting a Government Job If a veteran has a permanent federal civil service employe when he went to war, he should apply to the agency where last employed within 40 days after his military discharge.

If he has difficulty getting that job back, he should apply to the Civil Service Commission at Washington. But if he satisfies the requirements, he is entitled to his old job back or one of similar seniority and pay.

If he didn't have a federal civil service job before entering the armed forces but wants one now, as a veteran he will get special consideration and preference in civil service examinations.

Now, apparently, the Allies have stepped in to take over the whole show, probably with the approval of both sides.

The main job against Germany, of course, is to be done by the Allies in the west and Russian forces from Poland. But a southeastern front is rapidly being developed which may prove, in the long run, more important than the Italian campaign in the actual battle for Germany.

Headaches One of the headaches which the Greek government-in-exile was unable to solve in recent unity conferences was the matter of command. The Elias army of the leftist EAM, which has claimed control of a large portion of Greece, insisted that other partisans, including the Edeas which also had been very active against the Germans, should come under Elias' command. This was refused.

Now, apparently, the Allies have stepped in to take over the whole show, probably with the approval of both sides.

The main job against Germany, of course, is to be done by the Allies in the west and Russian forces from Poland. But a southeastern front is rapidly being developed which may prove, in the long run, more important than the Italian campaign in the actual battle for Germany.

Rain May Give Detroit Break In Pennant Race

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rain sent the "experts" hunting for new angles Friday to figure out whether Detroit, St. Louis or New York would profit most by postponements in the American League pennant race. The answer appeared to be Detroit.

If it pours until Sunday night, the Tigers could sit home by the fire and plan their World Series strategy while the Browns, one game back, and the Yankees, three lengths out, rued lost opportunities.

All clubs were scheduled for doubleheaders Friday after Thursday's complete washout but even another day of rain wouldn't wash any games off the calendar for keeps. The same teams play one another the rest of the season four games and could make them up with twins on both Saturday and Sunday.

Cards Swamp Giants

In the East, the pennant-winning St. Louis Cardinals were polishing off some unfinished business with the Giants and getting lined up for Wednesday's opener in Sportsman's Park. Billy Southworth took Stan Musial, Walker Cooper, Ray Sanders and Marty Marion out for a rest and used only Johnny Hopp in the last of the ninth Thursday

Hoople Expands Usual System In Dark Room

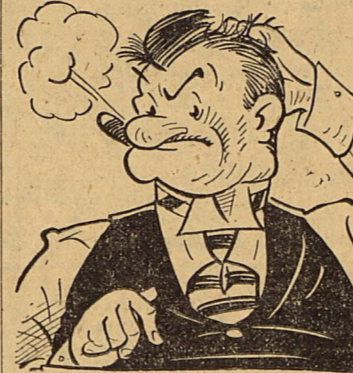

By MAJ. AMOS B. HOOPLE
Inventor of the Buck Touch

Egad! Hello there, millions of readers! Also, scallions to the few quibbling souls who wrote in last fall to cast aspersions at my football prognostications!

Here we are, with a clean slate and a season of the grid sport stretching out before us. Let those who claimed that I was only 99 per cent perfect in my forecasts last year cast their eyes on that!

Of course, I'm making my first predictions of the season, but I expect my average for 1944 to be well above 99.

I am expanding my usual system this year. Ed. Note: Also his waist-line. Heretofore, at frequent intervals, the equations and formulae by which I reached my inescapable

Football Season Gets Under Way In Full Swing With Close Ones This Week

By ORLO ROBERTSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The football season swings into high this week-end and we're hoping we'll do the same after a not to be proud of performance last week of 23 victories, five defeats and one tie.

Wake Forest-Georgia (Friday)—Wake Forest surprised by whipping North Carolina last Saturday but it's never safe to bet against the Bulldogs, Georgia.

Arkansas-Oklahoma (Friday)—A tough but year-in, year-out, it's usually a good policy to pick a Southwest Conference team over a Missouri Valley eleven. So it's Arkansas.

Kansas-Denver (Friday)—If for no other reason than home state pride we'll string along with the Jayhawkers.

Alabama-Louisiana State — The word is out that Frank Thomas has combed the highways and byways and come up with a pretty fair outfit, Alabama.

Duke-Pennsylvania — Wish we could pass this one. Our Southern scout says the Blue Devils are loaded, but the Quakers like Franklin Field. On a hunch, Penn.

Georgia Pre-Flight-South Carolina—A close one, with the Navy boys from Georgia taking the decision.

From The Press Box

By JACK LIVELY

Thursday night the Bulldogs received a rousing send-off as the girls and boys of Midland High School marched to the steps of the courthouse and held a pep rally. We observed most of them on hand and while the boys seemed a little worried about the game prospects still the Bulldog spirit was there and it is felt that ever effort will be made to hang the Austin High School scalp on the Bulldog hook.

Coach Gene McCollum said the opponents outweighed the Midland team by several pounds although no official weights had been obtained.

It also was said that the majority of the gridgers are 1943 lettermen and of course that means an experienced team. But to counterbalance this factor, it is to be remembered that the Bulldogs acquired a lot of experience in the game with the Pampa Harvesters last week.

Bulldogs Are Ready

At the start of the game, the Bulldogs were said to have made all the mistakes in the book, but before the tilt ended, they were performing like a bunch of seasoned veterans and operating like a well-oiled machine.

It is this well-oiled machine which will win football games for Midland. As long as the boys hold to any semblance of their home practice, Midland has little to worry about.

Coach McCollum, like every other coach in the country, has been trying to impress on the team the fact that if every man on the team does his part and handles the man that he is assigned to, EVERY PLAY IS A SCORING PLAY.

This fact, while absolutely true, is the most difficult thing in the world to make a squad understand. However, the coach says he believes that this year's team seems to feel this more than any that he has coached for a long time.

Bulldogs Leave Friday

The team left Friday for El Paso and plans to workout on the El Paso field Saturday morning, "just to get the feel of the ground," said the coach.

Looking out over the state, we see that in addition to the Randolph Field tilt that all the teams in the Southwest Conference in addition to all the teams in the schoolboy football league are playing games. That means seven college games and fifty-nine high school meets.

In picking them from this corner we decided on Arkansas (as this will be a close one) over Oklahoma; Texas Christian over South Plains Army Air Field; Texas over Southwestern; Southern Methodist over North Texas Aggies (a runaway); Texas A&M over Texas Tech by several tallies; and Randolph Field over Rice.

Going out a little farther into the field, we will pick Pennsylvania (but Duke this will be close, however); Tennessee over Kentucky; Northwestern over Wisconsin; Ohio State over Missouri; Notre Dame over Pittsburgh; Army over North Carolina; UCLA over California; North Carolina State over Virginia; and Purdue over Marquette.

And Midland over Austin High.

Chalky Claims He Wants Pep Scalp

NEW YORK (AP)—Albert (Chalky) Wright, the Mexican-born Californian, was a happy warrior as he awaited Friday night's 15-round title bout in Madison Square Garden with Willie Pep, the Hartford, Conn., flash who lifted his featherweight championship in November of 1942.

"I'm in much better shape than I was the other time I met Willie," Wright said, "and that one was pretty close. I'll take care of him this time and win that championship back."

Chalky will have to be pretty good to make good his boast, for only one foe of 79 has been able to beat Pep. That was Sammy Angott, former lightweight king, to whom Willie gave plenty of poundage.

Each boy is expected to enter the ring around the 125-pound mark, a pound under the featherweight limit.

No New Golf Balls Predicted For 1945

CHICAGO (AP)—The Nation's golfers,uffers and sharpshooters alike, will have to get along without any new golf balls in 1945, says L. E. Coleman, president of the Golf Ball Manufacturers' Association.

Coleman, addressing the group's meeting Thursday, said the only solution to the ball shortage—critical the last season—will be for all players to turn in used balls for reprocessing during winter months.

NEW GLOBAL COMMISSIONER

NEW YORK (AP)—Ray Dumont, President of the National Baseball Congress, announced Friday that J. G. Taylor Spink of St. Louis, publisher of the Sporting News, had accepted appointment as global commissioner of semi-professional baseball for the 1945 season.

Midland Couple On Hollywood Broadcast

HOLLYWOOD — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wycoff of Midland, Texas, will stage another farewell football performance in the Brooklyn Bowl game Monday... Gil Dodds will appear in Madison Square Garden Saturday night, but not in a track suit. Rick Perrell, who will be 38 in October, wants to stick around long enough to break Gaby Hartnett's record of catching 1,730 major league games. Rick has about 40 to go.

Block Buster

Ross McKelvey, Canadian rugby star from Toronto who went South to play American football at Auburn, was given a defensive assignment in a recent practice game... Art Ballard, the offensive end, drove in hard to take the Canadian kid out of the play... Before Ballard could put his block on McKelvey, he found himself blocked instead with a beautiful hip-rolling job that flattened both... Explaining the unrehearsed maneuver, Ross said: "The Coach said we had to be good blockers to make the Auburn team."

Large Number Of War II Discharges Are Recorded Here

One of the first acts of returning veterans of World War II should be recording of their discharges with County Clerk Susie G. Noble, H. A. Palmer, adjutant of the Woods W. Lynch post of the American Legion, said Friday.

There are now 123 discharges of World War II veterans recorded at the courthouse, including one woman's.

The GI Bill of Rights with all of its benefits make it more important than ever veterans have their discharges on record, in case they lose the originals. Discharges, or certified copies of them, are necessary to receive benefits provided by the law, Palmer pointed out.

There is no charge for recording a discharge at the county clerk's office.
